OF PROGRESS

AND STILL WITH LITTLE OR NO RELIEF IN SIGHT—Snow continued to accumulate in West Texas and on the South Plains this week as temperatures remained below the freezing mark through Wednesday. The National Weather Service predicted a change in the conditions by late today, Thursday, or early Friday.

Many schools, a few businesses and most unnecessary activity slowed to a near halt here Monday and things had not returned to normal as late as Wednesday afternoon.

RECENT CONVENTION SPEAKER—Thomas M. Saucedo, state representative for the Office of Minority Business Enterprises (OMBE) and former acting director of the Small Business Development in Houston, was a guest panelist at the 1972 National Business League Annual Convention recently held in Dallas, Texas.

The major topic for the panel discussion was, "The Delivery System to Minority Business Enterprise." Mr. Saucedo first gave a brief statement of the Small Business Development Center's objectives and services. He noted that the organization of trade associations was one of the goals of the NBL in its "New Thrust Program" and then explained the functions of a trade association and its benefits to members.

Students Will Mark Holiday

All Lubbock Public School students will enjoy a holiday on Friday, January 12th. This is one of the teacher workdays provided in the school calendar year, according to Superintendent Ed Irons. Teachers are on duty 10 days per year in addition to the 180 days of instruction.

In addition to the Friday holiday, Junior and Senior High School students, grades 7-12, will be dismissed at 11:50 a.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, January 10th and 11th. Tests and other end of semester activities are scheduled for these days. Elementary students, kindergarten through 6th grades, will attend regular school day hours on Wednesday and Thursday.

The second semester of the current school year begins on Monday, January 15th.

Congressional Black Caucus Refused Equal TV Time

by Florence Tate

Washington—(NBNS)—The Federal Communications Commission has denied a Congressional Black Caucus request that it order the three television networks to grant it free time to answer President Nixon's State of the Union message last January 22.

The Caucus had wanted to discuss racial and other issues of particular concern to black people that, it charged, were not addressed by Mr. Nixon in his message last year.

The denial came on the heels of former President Lyndon Johnson's suggestion that President Nixon might be approached by black leaders to alter his policies and practices adversely affecting Blacks. Nixon's administration is widely held responsible for the return to more overt racist actions against Blacks in this country.

Food Plan for Nation's Poor Children Facing Death Soon

by Marilyn Henry

Washington—(NBNS)—The Supplemental Feeding Program, set up since 1968 had as its goal to provide poor infants and mothers better nutrition during the critical early months of life.

Due to fading interest in the program on the part of the U.S. Agriculture, this effort appears to be dying. Pleas from administrators of existing programs for more funds are largely being ignored.

A study done by the Children's Foundation revealed that programs in Iowa, Chicago, marin County, California, and a number of other areas are being forced to cut back or close down their programs.

U.S. vital statistics "indicate a major shortage of national resources for medical and nutritional support committed to the pregnant woman and the infant."

Despite this overwhelming factor, U.S. D.A. blatantly returned to the federal treasury $1.92 million that was budgeted but not spent to provide food for these programs.

This appears to be a slap in the face, for Congress had only recently allocated an additional $20 million to help meet administrative costs, which U.S.D.A. refused to spend.

It is the feeling of a number of anti-hunger groups that the Agriculture Department does not like the current feeding program. U.S.D.A. claims the program is too expensive, it does not hit the real targets, and it is too administrative.

In an emotional speech at a civil rights seminar at the Lyndon Johnson Library the former President urged that civil rights leaders seek a meeting with Nixon.

The action taken by the FCC, headed by Nixon appointee and Goldwater disciple Dean Burch, will hardly influence Blacks to put any stock in Mr. Johnson's belief that Nixon wants to "do the right thing."

The FCC said in its adverse decision that the constitutional concept of separation of powers did not "justify the conclusion that the Constitution requires a right of special access to broadcast media for members of Congress."

The recently appointed Black member of the seven-man commission, Rev. Ben Hooks, could not be reached for a comment on the federal body's decision. It was not reported whether the decision was a unanimous one.

However, there seems to be an apparent move by U.S.D.A. to support a recent bill pushed by Sen. Hubert Humphrey and passed by Congress which calls for another special feeding program for pregnant and nursing mothers, this one to purchase special vitamins and mineral enriched foods instead of just extra nutritious surplus foods.

Here again, suspicious eyes are cast at U.S.D.A., and rightfully so, since it appears to be phasing out one program in favor of another less viable one.

The Humphrey program has several things wrong with it. First, it will provide approximately 10 per cent fewer dollars for the administration of the program. Secondly, the program will be basically a research oriented one, which does little to meet the actual needs of the poor.

Thirdly, medical evaluations for the possible recipients will tend to bog the entire output to the needy down in complex red tape.

Fourthly, there are undertones of pro-big business (Mead Johnson) and pro-manufactured foods. The Agriculture Department has pushed corporate supplied foods as opposed to farmers. Mothers get a formula diet with absolutely no protein.

The new program will take the heat off of U.S.D.A.'s apparent move to fade out the old, more viable feeding program, in favor of Humphrey's profit-making, less costly to the government feeding program. In addition the new program will reach less people.

New Orleans—(NBNS)—A student leader at the New Orleans branch of Southern University has denied reports that students attacked and beat the acting dean, Dr. Asa Sims.

Earl Picard charged university officials, the New Orleans press and the national wire services with "sensationalism" and "gross exaggeration" in their reports that Picard, the student body president, and other students had beaten Sims with their fists and books when he refused to meet with them to discuss grievances.

The New Orleans campus has been stirred by protest similar to that which led to the slying of two black students by law offices at the main Baton Rouge campus Nov. 13.

Picard maintains that no students attacked or even threatened to attack Sims. He said the students were concerned about the administration's announced decision to hold final examinations while a majority of students were boycotting classes. The boycott was organized as a protest of the student murders in an attempt to force some restructuring of the institution to make it more educationally relevant to Black students.

Students May Have to Withdraw

Students who did not take the exams would have to withdraw, the administration announced.

"At no time did we hit or attack Dr. Sims," Picard states. "What happened is that he attempted to shove some of us out of his office and we pushed back. A brief scuffle occurred but nothing at all that could be called an 'attack,'" the student leader stressed.

Tim Thomas, a field organizer for the Youth Organization for Black Unity, was present throughout the meeting and the scuffling match.

Representatives at Meeting Threatened

Thomas reported that not only did the students not attack Sims, but that throughout the meeting there was an armed guard present who repeatedly attempted to provoke the students.

"This dude stood between the students and Sims and laid his pistol on the desk and challenged the students to 'come get him if you want him,'" said Thomas.

"He kept talking about 'killing' and 'over my dead body' and 'shooting you if you get him' and all that kind of nonsense," related the YOBU organizer who has been working with the students at Southern since before the student murders.

Picard reported that after a meeting with other administration officials the schedule for finals is "being adjusted" and that there is a "50-50 chance" that the boycotting students will return to classes on January 3, after the Christmas vacation.

"We're using the time now to come to better terms with the administration on a number of issues," Picard said.

EDITORIALS

Black Women Can Sell License Plates Also

In a matter of a few weeks, thousands of Lubbock County residents who are owners of cars, pickups, trucks, station wagons and the like will be lining up in Lubbock County Courthouse to purchase their 1973 license plates. In the past, there has been a lack of Blackness behind the counter selling license plates to taxpayers.

For the past several years this media has called this shortcoming to the attention of local county officials, with particular emphasis to the Lubbock County Tax Assessor-Collector's Office (Mr. Russell Hardin). In editorials over the past two years we've addressed ourselves to this problem—and it still has not been corrected.

With several weeks remaining before the public will have an opportunity to line up in columns of "two or threes", Lubbock County officials will have an opportunity to advertise by any means necessary to find capable young Black ladies who could do a splendid job for Lubbock County.

We realize that this would only be a beginning in hiring our young Black ladies in the downtown political facility, but at least it would be a start. We could begin to build on that and perhaps more Blacks could be hired by the County.

Again, we realize that there are two Black females employed by the Lubbock County Courthouse (at our last check), but time has passed and Blacks should be given an opportunity to work for every department in Lubbock County.

There should be no excuse given for not hiring some young Black ladies this year as license agents for the County of Lubbock. There is too much talent available to fill such positions for a short period of time. It's time to quit "shucking and jiving" about there being no qualified Blacks for such positions.

It was quite interesting to hear that the County had put forth a great effort to do something about this shortcoming, to no avail. With the exception of the two Black females who were hired several years ago, there has been no positive results from the County's efforts. We are not taking under consideration those persons who do custodial work for the County. Of course, they could be perfectly happy with their occupations at the Court House, but there certainly must be other positions that our young Black ladies could do, if given an opportunity to participate in the job market.

This newspaper would be more than happy to make it known to young people that the County of Lubbock is willing to hire young Black ladies to serve in the capacity of licensing agents if it were made known to us. We've received many inquiries from members of the Black community about there being no Blacks doing the same jobs as the white ladies who work the counters during license purchasing time.

We would suggest to the County Commissioner's Court that they look into this matter as soon as possible. We would also suggest to the County Commissioners that they instruct, talk to (or use whatever method necessary) Mr. Russell Hardin about the possibility of hiring members of the Black community to help with the job at hand. There is still time to look into the matter and there certainly should be something done about the problem as it now exists. We might also point out that Mr. Hardin's situation is not at all unique in an almost lily-white County Courthouse—as many other departments also refrain from or do not attempt to employ Blacks.

This could certainly help the image of the Lubbock County Courthouse—as well as make it possible for some of our young and talented Black sisters to look forward to working in County government, regardless as to what the position might be.

Remember, please, Black women can sell license plates, too!

Meat Costs Keep Climbing by Jack Anderson

1972 Pulitzer Prize Winner for National Reporting
(Copyright, 1973, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—The Price Commission somehow seems incapable of holding down the price of meat.

The Agriculture Department recently claimed that beef prices, over a four-month period, had gone down half-a-cent a pound. This must have startled housewives who paid more, not less, for beef during the same four-month period.

In the Pacific Northwest, for example, beef prices jumped 10 to 40 cents per pound in a two-month period. A Seattle housewife, shopping for an average steak, now must shell out two dollars a pound. Hamburger meat costs about one dollar a pound.

The Price Commission has quietly investigated spiraling meat costs. Yet its investigators claim they found no evidence of unfair or unwarranted price increases.

One excuse for higher meat prices is that the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union has driven up feed grain costs. Another excuse is that there are simply fewer cattle to satisfy the national appetite for beef.

But the excuses don't square with the USDA figures which show cattlemen getting lower, not higher, prices for their beef.

Sources at the Agriculture Department suggest that some of the big meat packers and retailers have been skinning the customers as well as the beef. There is so little competition, my sources say, that the big meat dealers can get away with jacking up prices. And they can always find excuses to justify it.

But the feed-grain rise and the cattle shortage undoubtedly will affect the meat market in the future. Housewives can expect another nationwide meat price increase later in January.

—Whistle Blowing—

Whistle blowing is a hazardous occupation, when it's done by reformers seeking to protect the public. When Ernest Fitzgerald and Gordon Rule blew the whistle on military waste, for example, the Pentagon retaliated against them. These cases made the front pages, but there have been some unsung whistle blowers who also deserve public recognition.

In Texas, biologist Richard Baldauf—the environmentalist in residence at Texas A&M—published a scathing report on the environmental dangers of building a dam at the mouth of the Trinity River.

When Baldauf continued to speak out against the project, university officials began to harrass him. They couldn't fire him outright because he had tenure. So they assigned him to teach a course at Uvalde, Texas, and another course at College Station, Texas. The two sites are more than 200 miles apart. He got so tired that he finally gave up and moved to Kansas City.

In Mississippi, another biologist, Jim Williams, stirred up citizens in the sleepy town of Columbus against the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway. He took to the stump and told his neighbors that the waterway would turn the picturesque, lush area in the northeast corner of Mississippi into a muddy ditch. Because of his crusading,

As I See It

by T. J. Patterson

There was an election last Tuesday. I hope you cast your vote for the right persons who were running for positions on the Lubbock County Water District Board. It has come to my attention, that it is the land owners at the Buffalo Lakes area who are trying to, quietly, close the gates to the hundreds of persons in Lubbock who fish there each month.

Information came to our attention that some of the persons running for office in this unpopular election are trying to develop the Buffalo Lakes area into another Lake Ransom Canyon. I don't have to tell you about that closed-in private area, for if you are not a land owner, you can't come into the area. I hope we'll pay close attention to the only place we have to utilize outdoor recreation, whether it be fishing, boating, or camping.

You know, we're gonna have to start paying a great deal of attention to whatever is coming our way. If we don't, the "Man" will continue to run those fast games on us. It was done in 1972, now don't give him all the opportunity in 1973 to do the same thing.

Any election is important when it comes to being a part of the local political sub-divisions (city or county). Our tax money is used to upkeep Buffalo Lakes, and as far as I'm concerned, it is our business to know what is being done to anything we put our hard earned money.

Let's get ready this year for all the elections which will be coming our way. This is an off-year election, but it is still a year when anything could be turned our way to be used against us. When it comes to the spending of our money, it is all of our business. As I See It, we've got to stay in touch with what's happening.

Thought of the Week: "Knowledge is of two kinds. We know a subject ourselves, or we know where we can find information upon it."

Williams was told not to come back to his teaching job at the Mississippi State College for Women.

In Georgia, Jim Morrison, the public relations chief for the Georgia Game and Fish Commission, mobilized the commission to oppose stream channelization, which can ruin streams and kill fish. As his reward, angry politicians demanded that he be fired. Within six months, the political pressure was so great he was told to resign.

This is what happens, all too often, to citizens who dare to stand up and speak out.

—Behind the Scenes—

Potential Washout—The contingency plans for bombing the dikes along North Vietnam's Red River have been updated. If President Nixon renews the bombing of North Vietnam and the dikes are hit, flood waters could wash out much of the country's ricelands. So far, the dikes have been spared for humanitarian reasons. Meanwhile, Air Force intelligence claims that North Vietnam now has 240 Soviet-built MIG fighter planes. The North Vietnamese have been using them sparingly, however, against American planes. In combat, the MIGs apparently are outclassed. The Air Force claims 177 MIGs have been shot down since they began arriving in North Vietnam.

Lotteries Backfire—Several states have now adopted lotteries to help raise funds and reduce taxes. The advocates have argued that legalized gambling will stop illegal gambling and strike a blow at the Mafia. However, an unpublished study of legal gambling in six states shows that it doesn't curb illegal gambling at all. Instead, the study discloses that state lotteries actually stimulate illegal gambling in some areas and that the Mafia has started to use the official winning numbers as the payoff for their own illegal numbers games.

White Collar Crime—We have been critical of Attorney General Richard Kleindienst for shutting his eyes to white-collar crimes. We contended that the law and order which Kleindienst preached should apply to business executives as well as street criminals. It is only fair to report, therefore, that Kleindienst has now ordered his subordinates to crack down on white-collar crimes. He has stressed that the Justice Department should enforce the laws against the rich and respectable as well as the poor and unpopular.

Black Politics—Black leaders have just completed a postelection survey of their gains in the South. Of 79,000 elected officials in the 11 Southern states, only 1,158 are black. There are 102 predominantly black counties in the South, yet blacks control the county commissions of only five. Despite this poor showing, the number of elected black officials in the South increased by 33 percent in 1972, and blacks generally are encouraged that they eventually will find the solution to their problems in the ballot box.

Buckley Facing Axe—William Buckley's popular TV show Firing Line has only one chance in 10 of returning to public television next fall. Buckley got the work personally from his friend Henry Loomis, chairman of the Corporation of Public Broadcasting, last week. According to a recent survey, more than a hundred program directors of educational stations around the country rate Buckley's show "essential" to their programming. But Buckley, out of favor in the White House, is considered "too much a personality" according to Republicans who control CPB purse strings.

Unpunished Policemen—A spot check of police brutality cases at the Justice Department reveals what could be a disturbing trend. Over the last year, the FBI has referred more than 200 cases to the Justice Department, but the Justice Department informs us it has successfully prosecuted less than a half dozen of these cases.

We (Norman Williamson and me) had a good talk with the vice president and general manager, of the Avalanche-Journal last week about the project, "Lubbock Leads the Way", which is sponsored by the A/J. And we told the official, Robert R. Norris, that we would cooperate with any project which will help put Lubbock on the map.

We are for progress and we'll do our part to see that all citizens of Lubbock will have an insight on what is happening. After twelve years, we can't stop now working for the citizens of Lubbock and West Texas.

At last, we've got an executive director of the newly created Human Relations Commission. He is Ernesto Barton. Congratulations, Ernesto. I wish you all the luck in the world as you look into the many economic and social problems which exists in the City of Lubbock.

Ernesto, I would like to advise you that in order to help poor people or have nots, your department should look into the possibility of finding economic development programs for poor people of Lubbock. That is the only way to fight discrimination in Lubbock or any city. Social programs won't budge anything, and don't you forget it. Find some green and many obstacles will move, volunatrilly.

Personally, I thought that a job as executive director of a program like the Human Relations Commission should have been worth more than $9,500.00 annually.

Anyway, Ernesto, if the West Texas Times can help you, please let us know.

While I'm congratulating Ernesto, I must also pass best regards to Dempsey Taylor who took over recently as executive director of the Community Action Board in Lubbock County. I would advise the same thing to Dempsey as I did Ernesto. Don't be guilty of playing with social programs, develop some economic programs in the Lubbock County community.

Police Beat

Aggravated Assault

Lawrence Gibson, 1709 East 15th Street, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that he put his trust in a friend and the friend took advantage of him.

According to Lawrence, he did take his friend home one night last week. He put his friend out and left. He said that he and the friend had a disagreement prior to that.

He went back to the Lubbock Motor Lodge, 410 Idalou Road, to pick up his brother in Room 34. As he stepped into the room, his friend was waiting for him behind the door. The friend stabbed him in the left shoulder with a butcher knife.

As you can guess, he said he would file charges against him this week. Lawrence was not stabbed serious. Does a friend really stab you from behind the door for nothing?

Car Burglary

Willie Blain Alexander, a resident of Petersburg, Texas, reported a car burglary to the Lubbock Police Department one morning last week. You see, he was parked in front of his brother-in-law's apartment, 2200 block of Redbud Avenue, when he got out of the car to get a beer, about 5 a.m. in the morning.

He told police that when he came back to his car, he found that someone had taken his tape player (8-track). It was valued at approximately $30. Also taken from the glove compartment of the car was a .25 automatic pistol.

It's one thing to get a cold beer at 5 a.m. in the morning, but it's tuff to come back and find that someone has clipped you.

House Burglary

A local school teacher, Elonora Brooks of 2416 East 30th Street, reported to Lubbock police that someone did break into her house one day last week and took some of her belongings.

It was learned that the unknown persons broke into the house by breaking out a window and unlocking it to gain entry. A mink coat, valued at $150, was among those items taken. Also taken were a record player, watch, cassette tapes and other items. There were approximately $800 worth of items taken from the Brooks' home.

House Burglary

Georgia Ann Hall, 2912 East Baylor Avenue, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone broke into her house one day last week through the garage.

After gaining entry through the garage, it was learned that a coke machine was damaged by the burglar. There was approximately $15 worth of damage to the coke machine.

Once inside the house, the unknown person took an 8-track tape player and other items.

Mrs. Billy Jean Lewis returned home from Los Angeles, California where she has had a two-week visit with her father, Mr. E.J. Dawson, and her uncle, Mr. Henry L. Durham. She resides at 2404 Birch Avenue.

Mrs. Etta Mosley has returned from the Christmas holidays. She visited her family in East Texas. She had an opportunity of enjoying her short stay in Fort Worth, Oakwood, Palestine, and Athans, Texas. She explains that it was an enjoyable visit with her sisters and brothers.

Sports of The Times

The New Year, 1973, got off to an ominous start for Southwest Conference teams—Texas was impressive in winning over a good Alabama team.

I was there and the Longhorns, despite graduation losses that will include Jerry Sisemore, looked like a potent machine. And the most ominous thing about it was the passing game. Passing and power, the latter a Texas trade mark, makes the outlook grim.

For most of the game Texas had little success with its passing. Then, with time running out and the ground game slowed to the point where rushing alone wouldn't win, the Steers threw.

Yep, Texas threw and threw successfully, even though Alabama and everyone knew Texas would have to pass to win.

Sure, the 'Horns will have to develop Marty Akins at quarterback—or someone else—but they have proved they can do it. It does not make the outlook good for the other teams.

By the same token, Texas Tech's arousal after the disastrous touch-down call was made, lends hope that the Raiders will be stronger in 1973. They lost, but they looked better in losing than they did during the regular season

Tech has a number of red shirts figuring in plans, as well as a seasoned, veteran squad returning. And there are some players off the freshman squad who can help. The future looks brighter.

Once again, the Cotton Bowl probably had the best, the most exciting, of the various oil games, with the exception of the Sun.

The biggest surprises? The slaughters conducted at the expense of Notre Dame and Ohio State, the blanking of Penn State, LSU's first half failure.

And, in the all-star games, the generally poor performances by the Arkansas players, of whom much had been expected.

so, the college season is over and the Super Bowl is up next. And how do you pick between Washington and Miami? It's the old pro against the eager young upstart.

I'd have to go with Washington, not because of the way they handled Dallas, but because the Redskins appear to be stronger on defense. You can argue Mercury Morris and Larry Brown all day, as well as Billy Kilmer and Bob Griese or Earl Morrall.

In short, it shapes up as maybe the most titantic clash of all Super Bowls, where a field goal might be the margin of victory (the edge here to the Dolphins).

Coach Gerald Myers now admits that he hasn't found the combination. The Raiders, who may have fallen victim at Air Force to some alien officiating, seemed to have put it all together in the Creighton victory. Then came the Falcons.

Ron Richardson and Rick Bullock, normally good scorers, had off nights. In partial compensation, William Johnson began to find himself in the Creighton game.

So, with the conference season starting Saturday night here against pre-season favorite SMU, it must be disappointing and, maybe, discouraging to Gerald not to be sure of five starters.

Still, I think that the Raiders are capable of winning, strange as that may seem. If Gerald can rely on four men, by substituting he can find the fifth man, probably, each game.

God cared enough to send the best so we the members of Lyons Chapel Baptist Church invite you to visit and share in our services for the best.

Sunday was indeed a true test for all christians to display their faith in God, simply by leaving their warm homes to attend church on a cold and snow covered morning. In spite of the snow and ice, our services were very good and well attended. We were honored by visitors, Rev. C.D. Collins and a minister from Plainview.

Rev. Emory Moss brought the message. His subject was "The Good Prophet." His text was taken from Deuteronomy 19: 21-22.

We are asking your prayers for Mr. and Mrs. M.E. Collins who are both shut-in. Please make it a point to visit them. Mrs. O.D. Hollins has been sick, but was able to sing in the choir last Sunday.

Mrs. Josephine Smothers was confined to her home last week after suffering an attack of influenza.

Chicagoian Visits Hub City last Week

Mrs. M.B. Bennett of Chicago, Illinois, an advent reader of the West Texas Times, toured several cities during the holidays. She was guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Sams and Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, for several days. Christmas Day, she was in Wichita Falls, Texas in the home of Mrs. Margaret M. Davis, who is head of the Cotton Wood Nursing Home where her aunt, Mrs. Ella B. Woods, is a patient. On December 27, she arrived in Lubbock to visit a relative, Mr. Shephard L. Robinson, and friends. She attended "Watch Services" at Mount Gilead Baptist Church, Rev. S.R. Roberts, pastor.

Mrs. Bennett left Lubbock on Tuesday, January 2, for Fort Worth, Texas to visit Mrs. A.B. Pauls, and from there to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ike Wright in Dallas. She will also visit Mrs. Teresa Mitchell in Springfield, Illinois before returning to her home in Chicago.

Mrs. Joan Y. Ervin is a patient in Methodist Hospital. She is reported feeling some better.

Mrs. Rosa Henry has been removed from West Texas Hospital where she has been in a coma for several days. She is back at Parkway Manor Rest Home.

Mr. T.G. Porter is doing nicely and is recuperating satisfactorily at home.

Mrs. Willie Lusk has returned home from Riverside, California where she was house guest of her sister, Mrs. Ruth Shannon, and family. Mrs. Joseph Griffin, mother of Linda's husband, was also there when Mrs. Rusk arrived.

Mrs. Katie Thomas has returned from California where she spent the season with her sons and families. They gave her Mrs. Thomas' first flight. She reported a lovely visit and enjoyed her first air plane flight.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jones spent the Christmas holidays with their children, grand-children and great grand-children and in-laws. While there they discovered four generations were present. The West Texas Times hopes to get pictures and more information soon. The generation began with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jones of Lubbock, their oldest daughter, Evelyn Jones Hutchin of Denver, Colorado; her daughter, Rosa Jones and Rita Love Cummings, daughters of Evelyn of Lubbock; and Marla Darcel Cummings, daughter of Rita Love Cummings. They are a happy, devoted family.

Mrs. Grace L. Pierce of Forrestville, Md., stopped in the Hub City last week to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Middleton; sister, Mrs. Octavia Givens and brother, Joe Middleton and other relatives and friends. She and her three girls,

Dana, Donnya and Dwanya, are enroute to Honolulu, Hawaii, to be with their husband and father,

S/Sgt. Dwight Pierce. Mrs. Pierce is a graduate of Dunbar High School.
