

Other Powers Eye Outcome Of Hitler-Duce Conference

Britain Turns To Czechs' Problem

France Moves To Boost Power Of Armed Forces

By The Associated Press
ROME, May 3 (AP)—Adolf Hitler arrived at Rome's Ostiense station tonight for the state visit which is to dramatize the solidarity of Europe's two great fascist states.

Europe's fear of war if Germany attempts to make her dream of eastward expansion a reality was thrown to visit into sharp focus by the visit of Reichsfuehrer Hitler to Premier Mussolini.

Fascist Show
On one side, Italy and Germany made the occasion a resplendent show to dramatize the strength of Europe's great fascist powers.

On the other, Prime Minister, Chamberlain used British prestige to avert any crisis in troubled central Europe. He won approval of the house of commons to the treaty which erased British and Italian differences. He sought to impress on Czechoslovakia the necessity of compromise to end the clamor for self-government by nazis among her 3,500,000 German minority.

France's "national defense" government ordered increases in man power for all the nation's armed forces.

The picture has changed since II Duce went to Germany last September and der fuehrer arranged his present visit to return the courtesy.

German absorption of Austria has made the Rome-Berlin partners actual neighbors.

Hitler today moved onto Italian soil through the Brenner Pass, in the Tyrol where 250,000 Italians of German blood live. The fuehrer, who stands for the union of all Germans in one Great Germany, has said he would never seek to extend his frontiers beyond the Brenner. But many Italians are not happy to have Germany as a next-door neighbor.

Big Occasion
But the Italian government left nothing undone that would magnify the occasion. From the border to Rome, millions of Italians crowded vantage points to watch Hitler pass.

Meanwhile France, pledged to assist Czechoslovakia against aggression, took determined steps to strengthen her position.

The government of Premier Edouard Daladier, now ruling by decree, ordered increases in man power for the army, navy and air.

One Fugitive Recaptured

Won't Tell Whereabouts Of Two Companions

MONTAGUE, May 3 (AP)—Ervin Goodspeed of Bowie, one of three prisoners who escaped the Montague county jail Saturday night after stabbing the jailer, was recaptured at Nocona late last night.

He offered no resistance to sheriff's deputies Dick Lawrence of Montague and Warren Williams of Nocona when they took him in custody shortly after 11:30 p. m. at a house in Nocona which they had been watching.

With Floyd Hamilton, brother of the late desperado Raymond Hamilton, and Ted Walters of Dallas, Goodspeed had been the object of a wide-spread hunt since the three overpowered Kenneth Chandler, 23, the jailer, and fled after looting the jail arsenal of three shotguns and two pistols.

Mrs. H. T. Chandler, sheriff of Montague county, who blamed Goodspeed with the stabbing of her son, said he came to Nocona late yesterday.

After he was captured he would not talk about the whereabouts of his two companions, with whom he was to have gone to trial here tomorrow in connection with the burglary of a drugstore at Ringgold, Texas.

"I don't believe he knows much about where they are," Mrs. Chandler said.

DEFER ACTION ON BANKING MEASURE

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Members of a senate banking and currency subcommittee said today they had agreed "unanimously" to defer action for this session of congress on the Glass bank holding company bill.

The action has the effect of killing the bill unless there should be a special session of congress before next January when the present congress dies. To be considered by the new congress it must be reintroduced.

RUSSIAN IS TAKEN TO DEL RIO

SAN ANGELO, May 3 (AP)—Border Patrolman Richard Martin this morning left for Del Rio with a Russian doctor who has been held here for investigation of his entry into the United States and in connection with investigation of the Frome mystery slayings.

The Russian physician could not be held here further unless complaint was filed and authorities thus evolved upon taking him to the regional immigration headquarters at Del Rio, where he can be legally held until his entry is investigated in Washington. He will remain in Del Rio at least two weeks, authorities here said.

Three Doomed Men Denied Clemency

Pardon Board Says They Must Pay For Crimes

AUSTIN, May 3 (AP)—The state pardon board decided unanimously today against clemency for Henderson and Roscoe Young, negroes sentenced to be electrocuted Friday, and Paul Laves, whose execution is set for next Tuesday.

The young negro brothers were assessed the extreme penalty in connection with an assault in Harrison county on a white couple from Longview. The woman was raped and her husband robbed.

Laves, 27-year-old hitchhiker, was convicted in Hays county of murder of Martin Salazar of Donna, who had given him a lift.

Henderson Young is 18 years old and his brother 19. Regarding their night assault on the motorists from Longview, the board said:

Merit The Penalty
"The detailed facts are so revolting to the court of criminal appeals declined to relate them in its opinion. x x x "There is no doubt about their guilt. Each made a written confession.

"Such crimes merit the penalty assessed and that regardless of the color of the offenders. There are no extenuating facts—neither the youth of the condemned.

"Citizens should not have to undergo the harrowing experience of these young married people when (See DOMED MEN, P. 3, Col. 2)

National Issues Involved, Voting In Florida Attracting Interest

(By The Associated Press)
Florida Democrats chose their nominee for United States senator today in a five-cornered contest, whose national aspects made it outstanding among primary elections in four states.

Senator Claude Pepper asked nomination as a consistent supporter of President Roosevelt's policies. He bore the endorsement of James Roosevelt, the President's son and secretary.

One of his opponents was Representative Mark Wilcox, who has opposed several White House recommendations. Wilcox is a campaigner criticized the "brainstorm" of brain trusters.

Former Governor Dave Sholtz, another candidate, aligned himself

Chinese Stage Sensational Advance

Jap Lines Reported Crumbling Before Onslaught

SHANGHAI, May 3 (AP)—Chinese dispatches tonight reported a sensational seven-mile advance on the southern Shantung front, focal point of the war, and declared that the Japanese lines had buckled completely under the Chinese onslaught.

The advance was said to be the first thrust of a general Chinese offensive, in which 800,000 men were declared ready to participate. The reports said the advance was made between Taiichwang, scene of a major Japanese defeat early last month, and Pihai, 15 miles to the southeast, in Kiangsu province.

In this sector the Japanese had been making the most intense efforts of their recent drive to wipe the stain of Taiichwang and reach the vital Lunghai railway.

Now, however, said dispatches from the front to Hankow, these Japanese forces are retreating rapidly northward.

InSurgents Capture More Govt. Territory

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier) May 3 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's veteran Castilians were reported today to have captured a deep triangle of Spanish government lines east and slightly north of Teruel.

Steady reinforcements of men and supplies had been brought up through the mud during the recent lull in fighting caused by heavy rains. As soon as the downpour stopped, the insurgents leaped to attack.

The veterans started their drive along the narrow river valleys and treacherous mountain trails of the Sierra de la Lastra yesterday morning and by nightfall, border dispatches said, had shoved their line forward nine miles.

Insurgent communiques indicated a sector of government lines which had extended northeast from the village of El Pobo to Allaga was wiped out.

FD AWAITS CLEAR WEATHER FOR TRIP

CHARLESTON, S. A choppy sea during the day broke the chief executives' good weather luck and prevented fishing.

Man Sought In Slaying Found Dead

Wife Earlier Was Killed And Neighbor Wounded

RALLS, May 3 (AP)—Body of Jim Wright, about 45, farmer of the Emma community southwest of Ralls, was found with a bullet wound in the head in a barn about a mile from his home this morning.

The discovery ended a search which had begun Monday night after Wright's wife, Mrs. Rosie Wright, 37, had been shot to death in her home and T. J. Burks, a neighbor, had been critically wounded in his residence nearby.

Mrs. Wright was shot early last night at her home. Children present said she was shot twice and after the first shot was fired she pleaded with the man to fire no more. A 16-year-old daughter, Ruby Pearl, said the man shot six times, firing once at her as she ran for help.

Burks was shot in the back from outside his house a short time later as he sat at a dinner table with his wife.

Sam Bennett, justice of the peace, and Robert McKee, county attorney, called an inquest.

The yalid .38 caliber pistol was found beside Wright's body in a barn on the Jeff Meeks place a mile southeast of the Wright farm. He apparently had been dead several hours, a physician said.

Seven of the nine children of the Wrights were in the home when their mother was slain, Judge Bennett said he was informed.

He added that the shooting at the Burke place apparently occurred soon after.

Forum Held On City Affairs

Regular Monthly Sessions Are To Be Conducted

Looking toward the organization of a booster club and open forum, a group of citizens Monday evening made arrangements for a regular monthly meeting for discussions on timely community problems.

No attempt was made to weld the group into an organization Monday, but purposes of such a unit were outlined by several speakers.

Dr. P. W. Malone, president of the chamber of commerce, presided as temporary chairman. Needed road projects for Big Spring and Howard county were outlined before the groups. J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, told of plans for seeking a north and south airline line and said that efforts in its behalf were being pushed.

C. L. Rowe expressed his belief that the Big Spring entry in the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league was good community advertising and urged more concerted support of it.

In the absence of Jess Slaughter, Greene outlined plans for the annual rodeo celebration here during the July holiday season. Nat Shick made a plea for a good showing by Big Spring in national air mail week and told of plans for special observance of it in the 19th congressional district.

Dr. Malone said that the meeting would furnish a place for any citizen to freely discuss what had been done for the community or what needed to be done. He urged that any persons interested in Big Spring and its territory should attend the next meeting on June 6.

Big Navy Bill Approved By The Senate

Billion-Dollar Program To House For Amendments

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The senate approved today the administration's $1,156,000,000 naval expansion bill.

The vote on final passage was 66 to 28.

The measure now goes back to the house for action on several major amendments, including a provision to limit to 35,000 the tonnage of three battleships to be built under the measure—unless the president finds that other nations are building larger vessels.

The senate authorized total battleship tonnage of 135,000, compared to 105,000 by the house. It also increased to 20,000 tons each the size of two aircraft carriers, approved at 10,000 tons each by the house.

The bill would authorize construction of 46 warships, 900 airplanes and several auxiliary vessels, but none could be built until congress actually votes appropriations.

As approved by the senate, the bill carries authorization for a $15,000,000 appropriation for experiments with light, fast harbor defense craft. The senate cut out house-approved items of $3,000,000 for construction of a lighter-than-air craft and $12,000,000 for development of inventions.

Just prior to passage, the senate adopted an amendment offered by Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) which would permit the secretary of war to place "educational orders" with manufacturing concerns to familiarize them with production of war munitions.

Affairs Surrounding Wilson-House 'Break' Revealed By N. Y. Writer

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Breaking a silence of fourteen years, Bob Davis, author and newspaper man, disclosed in his column in the New York Sun today Col. Edward M. House's version of his break with Woodrow Wilson in Paris in 1919.

House himself, Davis said, told the story to him and the late Herman Kohlsaat, Chicago publisher, on February 3, 1924, the day Wilson died. With the passing of House on March 28—Kohlsaat died in October, 1924—Davis said he saw no reason to withhold the story.

On the morning of February 3, 1924, Davis wrote, Kohlsaat invited him to go to Col. House's home in East 74th street. They were deep

Restriction By Congress Opposed

President's Firm Stand May Change Committee Course

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—White House objections, an informed person said today, probably will kill congressional proposals to restrict the president's discretionary powers over "pump-priming" and relief funds.

Vigorous Protest
A spokesman for President Roosevelt advised a house subcommittee, this informant said, that it would violate the expressed wishes of the Chief Executive if the practice of appropriating relief money to him were discontinued and the funds handed directly to the Works Progress Administration and other spending agencies.

Subcommittee members virtually had decided on the latter course as a means of ending "blank check" relief expenditures.

So vigorous was the White House protest, however, that Representative Woodrum (D-Va.), in charge of the drafting the legislation, said it was probable the present system would be continued. Efforts to insert restrictions may be made by a group of senators, nevertheless.

The subcommittee completed hearings on the huge spending-lending program yesterday by receiving endorsements from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, head of the United States conference of mayors, and John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee for industrial organization.

While that trio was calling the legislation imperative because of increased unemployment, the program was assailed at the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce by Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chamber National Bank of New York.

Risking Govt. Solvency
"By following this course," Aldrich said, "we are risking our national solvency, the credit of the government and the future of the currency."

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), on the other hand, said in a radio address that the program was "safe and sane."

Backers of the revised wage-hour measure began a new attempt to pry the administration proposal from the house rules committee.

An informal steering committee solicited promises from legislators to sign a petition to force the legislation to the house floor. Chairman Norton (D-N.J.) of the labor committee spoke optimistically for getting the required 218 signatures at once.

READING AND WRITING

THIS FASHION NEVER DIES

In his quiet, precise way, Sophus Keith Winther is telling the story of the immigrants who have made so much of America what it is. He already has done two novels about the Danish Grimsens in Nebraska, and now he is publishing a third. The cycle can end here, or it can be carried on indefinitely. It would be good if it went on.

The third book is called "This Fashion Never Dies." Its predecessors took the Grimsens through their bitter early days as renters to the time in 1917 when, with land prices absurdly booming, they bought the farm on which they had struggled as renters.

But this was an illusion, and the post-war slump was the beginning of old Peter Grimsen's defeat. Peter was, by so-called American standards, a hard man, one for whom there was a positive right and a positive wrong.

Old Peter, inevitably, is defeated. For that matter, most of the family is defeated, and they are by no means unique among Nebraska farmers. Land sharks, the odd tricks of the bankers, the more complicated maneuvers of magnates far removed from the Grimsens farm, were more than any of the Grimsens could manage.

There was a kind of victory in the Grimsen defeat—what it is Mr. Winther himself must say. The novel is not remarkable for brilliant writing; it moves slowly, often even clumsily. But always with precision, except when Mr. Winther has Hans and his wife take a train west from the Pennsylvania station and see a sunset in the Adirondacks.

Decides To Wear B'Spring Colors

For the first time in history Big Spring will soon be officially represented in a national golf tournament...

Jack's professional work here is growing all the time. He has lined up in Colorado this morning and the entire day will have to be used for that purpose.

Must Improve To Stick In WT-NM

Like Tom Baker, late of the New York Giants and now of the Jersey City International League club, Grover Miller of the Hobbs West Texas-New Mexico league outfit seems to be a lot of form and nothing else.

He was pitiful in his attempts to get the local ball crew out in Barren park Monday and will have to improve almost out of sight before he should warrant a chance to stick in this circuit.

Another lad in this observer's opinion who won't be with us long is George Zemek of the Midland Cardinals who, although he managed three for the off Big Spring Sunday, simply doesn't have it.

Zemek can't run, can't field and certainly can't hit. We still think Manager Fletcher Withers should have given Red Cowley more consideration for that shortstop berth. Red was hardly looked at.

The case of Cowley is strange. One of the best prospects in baseball anywhere, no one will give him a chance because he is too young. Within a few years we think you are going to hear a lot of young Mr. Cowley.

Glasses Big Aid To Doug Harkey

Douglas Harkey, the Brons' sensational centerfielder, who is just about the best ball hawk in the entire league, is trying to help his somewhat ailing batting average with a pair of cheaters (glasses to youse) and the new eyes apparently had good effects yesterday. He collected a pair of blows and finally seems to have straightened out.

Harkey's fielding has been sensational thus far. He covers more ground out there in centerfield than a tent.

Al Bernd's first hit of the season was especially pleasing to the young catcher. He clouted about 350 in a semi-pro league in Washington last season but he hadn't been able to get into the groove here before.

The blow, garnered off Miller in the first inning, landed cleanly in right field and bounced against the fence.

Barons Share Loop Lead; Defeat Boosters, 19-9

Amer. Loop Situation Is Surprise Of Year

Detroit And Washington Doing "About-Face," DiMag Parks One

By HUGH S. FULLERTON Associated Press Sports Writer While the next couple of weeks of inter-sectional scrapping may change the picture, two of the biggest surprises so far in the major league season are the Washington Senators—or Nationals if you prefer—and the Detroit Tigers.

Washington opens its first home stand against the western clubs of the American League today in second place and Detroit starts next tied with the St. Louis Browns for sixth. That just reverses the way they were picked in the Associated Press spring poll.

The Senators, of course, have profited greatly by the weakness of the Philadelphia Athletics, winning four out of five from them, but Washington's half-game margin over the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees can't be laughed off. The Senators gave the Yanks a whole of a tussle yesterday before going down 2-2 and they may make trouble for Cleveland when the league-leading Indians invade the capital today.

Error Costly Joe DiMaggio's second homer in two days was the big Yankee blow, but it was Joe's error, too, that gave the Nats their second run.

The New York Giants, invincible against the eastern clubs of the National League, polished off Brooklyn for the sixth time, 7 to 4, in their last home game before starting west. Cincinnati's Reds, who tackle the champions next, tuned up with their third straight triumph over Pittsburgh, 8 to 6. Two homers by Ival Goodman paced the Reds and, incidentally, gave Goodman the big league lead in four-base swatting.

The St. Louis Cardinals, with Joe Medwick leading a typical "Gas House" uprising, belted over the Chicago Cubs 6 to 3 while Boston's Red Sox routed the Athletics 13 to 1 in the other big league games. The Bees and Phillies and White Sox and Browns took the day off.

KNOW YOUR BS BARONS

HENRY JOSEPH HENDERSON "Homie Hank" hails from Chicago, the same burg Harry Siebert is from but he's a South Sider and likes those White Sox, or did until Jimmy Dykes cut Zeke Bonura loose and took on Joey Kubel. The cleanup hitter of the Barons was born Sept. 27, 1917. Performed for a church team in the CIO league while playing in Chicago. Hit about 250 before he headed west into Los Angeles where he enrolled in the National Baseball school under Jess Orndorff. Believes it or not, the grinning lad used to be a pitcher but he's too valuable over on the left side of that infield to be moved. Wears his uniform like he never had one before but he could play the game with an overcoat on. Rather small for a cleanup hitter, he can lambast that rock. Peppers the offerings of two Hobbs pitchers yesterday for two mighty triples. He weighs 180 and comes in at around five feet, ten inches. Started playing in the Arizona-Texas league. Bishop almost put him on the line, but somehow he landed here and Manager Barney immediately started smiling. Says Hank is just beginning to play ball and is just about the best prospect in this league, which is something.

Stasey Takes Second Game Of Campaign

Clarence Trantham Is Up For Duty Today

The "hit and run" system was in effect at Barren park Monday afternoon although no specific orders of that effect came from Manager Charles Barnabe. The Big Spring outfit simply hit and hit the attractive pitching that was offered them all afternoon, then almost run themselves into the ground. When the whole thing was over the locals had won another ball game, 19-9 and were still leading the West Texas-New Mexico league along with the Lubbock Hubbers.

Young Stasey, who has been retired but twice during his professional career, hurried shutout for six innings but, on orders from the bench, took it easy during the twilight innings. The Boosters got to him for four black marks in the seventh while he was coasting and came back with three runs in the eighth and another pair in the ninth to improve their own outlook.

As far as the Big Springers were concerned, the whole thing was over in the first frame. They batted completely around at that stage and jumped away from the barrier in grand fashion.

Stasey's mates contributed another in the third after missing out in the second and managed to score in every inning thereafter save the sixth. Grover Miller, the big right hander whom Detroit sent along to Mgr. Rabe who, disgusted with the fact that he was going to need a lot of it before he could receive any consideration as a hurler. He proved more effective in hitting the Barons' bats than did the 3 o'clock bating thrower.

"Homie Hank" Henderson, the ambitious third sacker, rapped out two triples and batted in four of the locals runs, the latter of which came in the eighth frame with the bases loaded. The blow came off Neal Rabe who, disgusted with the poor efforts of both Miller and his successor, C. Needham, took the mound.

Angelo Teams To Play Here The Maurice Shoppe and Coca-Cola outfit, boys' and girls' softball teams, respectively, will appear in exhibition games here Thursday night, H. P. Malone, recreation director announced. Both are of San Angelo. Ben Daniel's Devils will oppose the boys' crew while the girls will play a local all-star aggregation. The girls' game will be played before the scheduled league encounter while the second attraction will follow the 8:15 o'clock game.

LOCAL TENS SET FOR OPENING

Four of the teams picked by league experts to be "also-rans" in the title chase this season will open the 1938 Big Spring softball season officially tonight. The first game is booked for 7:30 o'clock. Wooten's Grocers, beaten in a one sided duel last night by the Big Spring Motor company, will face their first test in the T&P Clerks. Both teams have suffered defeats during the practice season and are not expected to supply any big threats for the crown held by the Anderson Devils.

The second game, scheduled to begin at 9:15 p. m., will find the West Siders opposing the Lone Star Chevrolet company. The West Siders' practice drills have been limited but apparently are ready to open.

The two outstanding Industrial league favorites, the Devils and the Big Spring Motor company, will not swing into action until Thursday night. The Motorists will battle WPA while the Devils will meet Montgomery Ward.

Midland Loses To Hubs, 6-4

Lubbock Shares Top Wrung; Clovis Trims Wink, 10 - 9

MIDLAND, May 3—The Hubbers played errorless ball and hit successfully in the late innings to defeat the Midland Cardinals here Monday and share the league lead with the Big Spring Barons. The Lubbockers won, 6-4, scoring in each of the last five innings to turn the trick.

Score by innings: Lubbock . . . . .000-011 211-6 10 0 Midland . . . . .004 000 000-4 11 5 Batteries—Wilson and McEwen; Franklin, Parks and Beers.

WINK, May 3—The Pioneers choked down an eighth inning rally on the part of the Wink Spudders to win their third game of the West Texas-New Mexico league season here Monday, 10-9.

The Spuds tied the count in the fourth with six runs but the Clovis crew marched back in the seventh with three tallies and scored again in the eighth before the Tatemmen could account for the remainder of their runs.

Score by innings: Clovis . . . . .022 200 310-10 10 2 Wink . . . . .000 600 030-9 7 6 Batteries—Poteet, Gore, Duncan and Ruffiff; Lucas, Christy, Marcy, Hay and Williams.

Motorists Smash Wooten Grocers

Buster Johnson's Big Spring Motor softball team "went to town" behind the one hit pitching of L. D. Cunningham to defeat the Wooten Grocers, 10-1, Monday evening on the Mundy diamond.

Bateman, Wooten pitcher, escaped trouble until the fourth inning when the Garagemen sent 13 men to the plate. They bunched most of their five blows in that one frame and capitalized on four Grocer errors to tally a total of nine runs.

The Johnsons open their Mundy schedule Thursday evening with the WPA.

Score by innings: Ford . . . . .000 91-10 5 11 Wooten . . . . .100 200 05x-8 8 2 Batteries—Cunningham and Davis; Bateman and Priddy.

Dutch Mantell Comes To Town To Referee In AC's Outdoor Show

That stanch old man of the Panhandle who believes in those axioms, "life begins at forty" and "you're as young as you feel," Mr. Dutch Mantell, is working here again, at least for tonight when he arbitrates the outdoor wrestling opener at the Big Spring Athletic club. The new location of the battle ground is the second block on Scurry street.

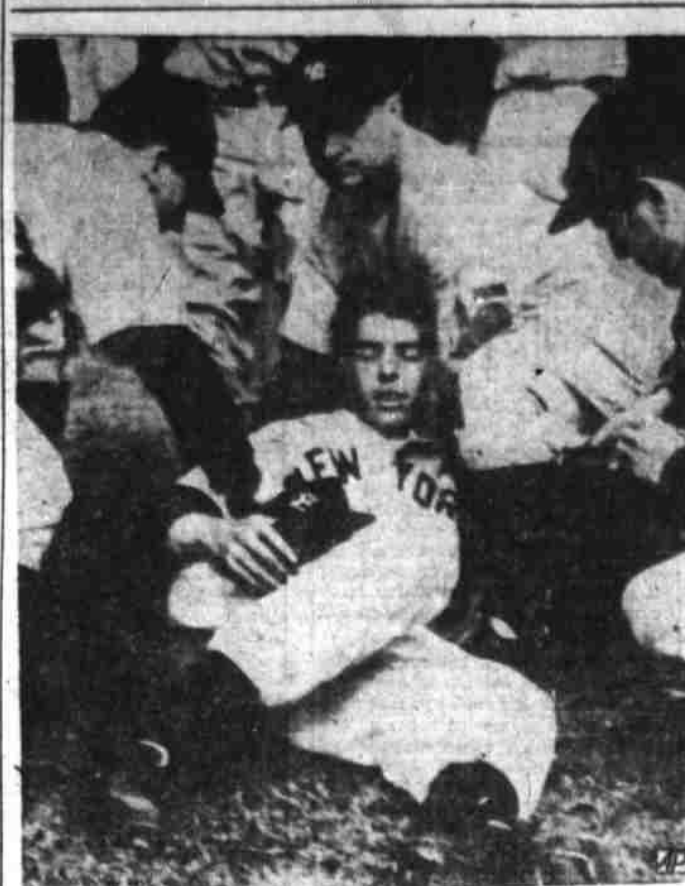

Mantell, the Amarillo rajah who made a business out of wrestling several years ago and was active almost up to the time that congress threatened to pass a law and have him retired, still keeps busy in his home town and when he pays a visit to the local port he's always greeted with enthusiasm.

When he was building toward the future and adding to his past the old Dutchman supplied action, craft and color that struck the true note in gate attraction and he certainly hasn't lost any of that. He still demands a fight between the boys of the bout he is working. Even though he won in any fashion he saw fit, he can see the difference between right and wrong ethics and always demands a clean brawl, if there is such a thing.

FORSAN OILERS DROP GAME TO TEXON AGGREGATION, 8-7

TEXON, May 3—Forsan's Continental Oilers lost their second game in a row to the Texon Oilers here Sunday afternoon, 8-7.

Tip Gressitt, twirling masterful ball and doing double duty by batting in cleanup position, limited the Permian Basin loop club to eight blows but Noble and Kosek put together base hits in the eighth frame to send their outfit into a permanent lead.

Gressitt collected three base hits in five trips to the dish but Tommy Hutto's hot proved more effective. He hit in all but one of his five attempts.

The Forsanites will probably oppose San Angelo's Sheep Herders in San Angelo next Sunday.

Score by innings: Forsan . . . . .001 004 200-7 12 1 Texon . . . . .100 200 05x-8 8 2 Batteries—Gressitt and Harlow; Haven, Ritter and Barbee.

Schreiner In Repeat Show

DALLAS, May 3 (AP)—Schreiner Institute's Mountaineers successfully defended their track and field title, and carried away a goodly portion of honors in tennis and golf here yesterday at the Texas Junior College conference athletic carnival.

Schreiner scored 49 1-2 points in track and field, beating the 42 amassed by Paris Junior college, under good weather and track conditions at Southern Methodist university, which saw three conference records fall.

Wesley college of Greenville scored 21 1-2; Texas Lutheran of Seguin 20 1-2; Texarkana Junior college 20; Kilgore Juniors 13, and Edinburg Junior college five.

Lefty Edward Brown of Schreiner defeated Harry Thornberry of Wichita Falls' Hardin Junior college, 6-3, 6-3 for the men's singles tennis title.

ONLY FOOLS TAKE CHANCES

In recent years we have become so accustomed to astronomical figures that a mere thirty million dollars fails to impress us, yet is still a sizeable sum in any man's language.

The remedy he suggested is the old familiar one of efficient enforcement of traffic laws, a standard driver's license law and proper inspection of motor vehicles.

The National Safety Council reports a steady decline in traffic accidents every year in Texas, according to E. G. Waters, state casualty insurance commissioner.

It totals up to one-fifth of the total expense of state government in this expensive state.

"If the mangled human bodies and twisted cars from any single month's toll could be assembled they would present a picture as horrifying as any war-torn city in China or Spain," Mr. Waters said.

The remedy he suggested is the old familiar one of efficient enforcement of traffic laws, a standard driver's license law and proper inspection of motor vehicles.

One reform the country will have to effect. That is to make it unprofitable to drive recklessly. Among younger drivers especially it is thought smart to take chances.

It is disgraceful to drive sloppily or dangerously which, of course, is the accident would show a sudden drop. Public opinion can bring about that alteration in attitude toward a serious problem.

GOVERNOR LA FOLLETTE'S PARTY

The crucial test of the National Progressive Party, founded on Thursday at Madison, will be whether the large organized groups of contemporary progressives will in fact accept the leadership which Governor La Follette has offered them.

For it is clear that the philosophy and principles which the governor has set forth in his address and in the series of radio broadcasts during the past ten days are based on a radically different set of ideas from those which have been regarded as progressive in the post-war era.

The ideas are, I believe, wholly consistent with the traditional progressivism of this country. But they are irreconcilable with most of the recent philosophy and with much of the recent practice of the New Deal, of some if not all of the great farm organizations, of virtually the whole labor movement, both C. I. O. and A. F. of L., and of the general spirit and intellectual attitude of journals like "The New Republic" and "The Nation."

Obviously, the question is whether these groups and these makers of opinion will accept Governor La Follette's leadership. Unless they do, the party which he has founded will not become a great party and while it will be progressive in theory it will not be national in fact.

For this new party starts off very differently from other third parties and movements of the left. The contrast is striking. The usual tactics of a new party are to outbid the existing parties by offering discredited groups either government favors or a vent for their anger. The main ingredients of their programs have been dollops of the good of the gods.

La Follette put it of "inducements" coupled with the promise of punishment for their enemies. There is none of this in Governor La Follette's address. Not only does he expressly disavow the whole notion of bidding for the support of pressure groups by offers of government favors but he rejects entirely the notion that a progressive party can be consolidated merely by amalgamating the groups that consider themselves progressive. He does not propose to make a progressive party by a logrolling compromise among all the progressive and so-called liberal factions. If he is to be taken seriously as meaning what he says, he proposes to begin the creation of a progressive movement by reforming the ideas of the existing progressives, and so, while his program will, of course, encounter conservative as well as reactionary opposition, the initial test of its importance is whether it will command the genuine support of the progressives.

The first thing which distinguishes Governor La Follette from the left wing of the new dealers and from journals like "The Nation" and "The New Republic" is that he is not attempting to organize a class party based on a farmer-labor alliance. This has been the political ambition of the American left in the post-war era. Nothing has ever come of it. But the thinking of the advanced progressives has been determined by the notion that political progress could come only from aligning the farmers, the working men, and the professions against the owners and managers of industrial enterprises.

It is, I believe, an accurate description of post-war progressivism, as made articulate in "The Nation" and "The New Republic," in the speeches of men like Mr. Tugwell and even in certain of the president's speeches, to say that it accepts the Marxian idea that social progress is the outcome of class conflict. The practical consequence of this idea has been the alignment of the progressive intellectuals in support of almost any demand made by a pressure group among the farmers or workers. They have either approved, or at least tacitly sanctioned, the whole vast distribution of doles, subsidies, monopolies and special privileges provided only farmers or labor leaders were asking for them. They have tried to make a progressive movement by catering to pressure groups, and they have justified their course by telling themselves that in a class struggle the unity of the disoriented is more important than the justice or the wisdom of measures.

At last we have reached the point where the present-day intellectual leaders of progressivism and liberalism have virtually ceased to ask whether an idea is true or false, whether a measure is sound or unsound. They look instead to see whether the advocate or the opponent of an idea or a measure belongs to their camp or to the other. And under such intellectual leadership as has become sterile, complaining, impotent and to a shocking degree vindictive.

Governor La Follette is most refreshingly free of these preconceptions, and the proof of it is that he has no more hesitation in criticizing the labor unions which lack up to an economic level wage rates or the farm organizations which

Man About Manhattan

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I had known Irving Eastman for years, but it was not until an assignment carried me over to West 54th street the other day that I met his brother Nat. They are twins. They look exactly alike, except that Irving's shirt run more to vivid hues. The Eastman boys are interior decorators. They invented a special kind of stained glass, which is used in the Rockefeller Church. They design hotel bars and night-clubs. They paint scenery for theatrical productions and design costumes. Now they are very much, and justly, excited over a new home they have built in Florida.

"What about it, Nat. I didn't know you were the home sort." "Well," he replied. "Once I visited a women's penitentiary, and it has windows just like that woman's penitentiary. Plenty of air and light but nobody can get out, or in, and they remain open even when it is raining."

"Look at this picture," he exclaimed, holding up a photographic vista of a house which resembled something as lavish as a motion picture director's dream. It was streamlined, with 15-foot glass windows "for more sunlight"; it had white Venetian steps leading down to the water. All the doors were operated by an electric eye. Even the garage had a new sort of electric eye. If you roll out, the doors remain open; if you roll in, they lock automatically.

"We call this house the Futura," explains Nat, who went on to describe what a really unbelievable place he and Irving have on Pine Tree Drive in Miami. All the stair railings are of stainless steel. It is built of blue glass bricks, imported from Belgium. There is a special built-in safe in the master bedroom. And the house does exactly what we hoped it would do."

"What is that, Nat?" "Well," said Nat, "for some reason Florida has gone bugs over Spanish architecture. Now, Spanish architecture means rows and rows of gloomy arches, which are all right if you want to become a monk or raise mushrooms. But people go to Florida for air and sunshine. Irving and I just decided to build a house that really gives you sunshine. Plenty of sunshine, even on gray days. We built this place, modern to the last curl of the window sill."

Nat went on to explain that he was in New York "because it is Irving's turn to spend a year in Florida." They take turns, these Eastman boys, running the business from Pine Tree Drive, Miami, and West 54th street, Manhattan.

About that house: it has become so publicized that now it is listed in the guide books, and tourists flock there in droves. Nat says they may sell. The Futura is their second experiment at home building. The other they called the House of Tomorrow, which was similarly anti-Spanish, and designed to filter the sunlight.

Meanwhile, Nat is slaving away and thinking ahead. Of next year, he says, he will recall, it will be his turn to go to Florida.

Hollywood The Boxwood Barrier

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS Chapter 43

OLIVERS, NOT GOODDOES Lying wide-eyed in the night, the Judith who had clung stubbornly to the belief that all that was fine and desirable lay here! She had lived only to get back to it and to the man who embodied this enchanted life fought many scarring battles with a strange new Judith, who had the habit of rising defiantly and girding her sword like a gladiator in defense of a life of struggle and uncertainty. In defense of a big, whimsical man in khaki who came and went quickly.

This duty she regarded as her frightening task, wearing her down. "I'm going crazy, I think! I belong here. I've always loved Gary."

The battle went on. Gradually the old Judith went down to defeat at the hands of the Judith who had bought lard and beans in Fordney's Gulch. Who had tolled, rebelled, tolled again through the heat, cold, hunger, dizziness of Casper Street. That Judith had watched the circle of light grow dim and dimmer on bare hospital walls. Had heard the faint cry of her first born—her son and Reuben's—a defiant cry. A fighter's challenge to life.

What was that Judith doing here riding, dancing, playing at living while somewhere, out under the trees, a man worked— "He hates you!" The old Judith made a final struggle. "He wants to be free to marry Cissy. Have you no pride?"

But a dozen times a day, the toss of Judykin's leaf brown head, or a crooked smile chasing across Jimmy's whimsical little face would squeeze Judith's heart to pulp. How could she ever hope to forget Reuben so long as Jimmy and Judykin lived? She must have been mad to have ever believed she could. And then, coming from her own scorn, Judith confessed to Judith that she didn't want to forget Reuben—ever. If she could see him once more—

She knew she would never be happy again unless she could share her life with Reuben Oliver—the man from nowhere. Too late she knew. She had muddled her life. Reuben would marry Cissy. She, Judith, would be Mrs. Gary Brent.

The Idol Crashes And then, by one of those illogical, human contradictions, which make or mar human lives, the very name, so long enchanted, became suddenly loathsome to Judith. She'd never be Mrs. Gary Brent! Why marry to fool herself any longer?

She had draped her indulgent in a glamorous garment. Now the garment was suddenly, mysteriously, rendered. She saw Gary just a handsome, blond man who skipped along the pleasant path of life, regardless of those whom he knocked into the ditches in passing. He loved her—next to himself. He would be casually kind to her children—Gary would be casually kind to everyone so long as they did not threaten his supremacy. It was the easiest way and made for popularity—but he would never really love her children enough to sacrifice for them.

She was sure now that Reuben, not Gary, had told the truth about the truth. Even while they were quarreling in the cabin she had been sure, but anger and jealousy had goaded her on.

This admission was followed by another. The thing she had deluded herself into calling love for Gary during all these past months, had really been jealousy of Cissy—the desire to retaliate, to hurt, to show Reuben she did not care.

Well, she had shown him and wrecked her life! She had a swift vision of herself living along at Goodloe's Choice, a lonely woman, growing older. Struggling even as Gran struggled. Raising her children to reverse old traditions—

"My children are Olivers—not Goodloes. They're not going to stiffle and stagnate behind a boxwood hedge!" Judith was often reminded of the truth of Reuben's words. Already the young Olivers heard the call of adventure. Already they were peeping through the hedge curious to see what lay beyond.

Again she heard Clem Rogers saying: "You're getting a man with spunk, ma'am, and honesty. Can you match those traits?" "Could she? Yes! She never had, but she could now.

"I Have Changed" Quickly she arose from the rug before the fire and going straight to her desk, switched on a light and commenced to write:

ARMY APPOINTMENTS ARE IN PROSPECT

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt must nominate at least eight more major and brigadier generals this year, officials said today, before completing the biggest shakeup in the army's high command since 1919-20. In four months he has promoted six officers to the rank of major general, nine to brigadier general, and given four colonels the temporary rank of major general as chiefs of infantry, artillery or other special branches. Approximately half the army's 66 general officers of the line will be involved in the changes before the year is out. Thus the army is undergoing a sweeping reorganization, but not in the same manner as Britain's forces. Numerous youthful British officers were promoted recently over the heads of their elders, in the interest of efficiency.

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP) - A group of distinguished theologians undertook today a monumental five year task of revising the Bible to give "an official version embodying the best results of modern scholarship."

Dr. William A. Irwin of the University of Chicago, one of 12 scholars chosen to do the work, said in a special interview that the revision was undertaken because "some words and phrases of the King

"When the King James version was produced it was a great achievement of biblical scholarship," Dr. Irwin said. "And it continues one of the literary treasures of our language, coming as it does from the age of Shakespeare and Milton."

Texas Wheat Crop Estimate Said To Be Too High

FORT WORTH, May 3 (AP)—The Texas wheat crop estimate of 45,272,000 bushels for 1938, issued Saturday by Chicago grain firms, was challenged as too high today by G. E. Blewett, secretary-treasurer of the Texas Grain and Feed Dealers association.

The United States department of agriculture report of April 10, he said, gave Texas 39,562,000 bushels, an estimate which did not take into account damage done by the freeze which came after that figure was compiled.

"The government report to be released May 10 obviously will be below the April estimate, because there has been little improvement since then," he explained.

Blewett said there are some sections in Texas and in the Panhandle counties where rains have helped the crop, but not sufficient to overcome damage done by

Groaning under last night's 23-4 slaughter at the hands of Texarkana, Tyler's Trojans square off against the Liners in a second game tonight (Tuesday), determined not to lose more of their comfortable margin of East Texas League leadership.

The Longview Cannibals, speeding along a come-back trail after doldrums at the season's opening, took their seventh straight game last night with Marshall as the victim, 7-6. The teams meet again tonight.

QUARTET DRILLS FOR TOURNEY

FORT WORTH, May 3 (AP)—Four famed shotmakers teamed here today for an exhibition as a steadily growing list of entrants for the thirty-second championship tournament of the Texas Golf association took last-minute practice swings before opening of play tomorrow.

Reynolds Smith, Dallas Walker cupper and defending state champion, and Walter Emery, former Walker team member, once runner-up in the National Open and winner of the recent Houston invitation, joined forces to play Johnny Dawson, the Chicago stylist, and Billy Coffey, Fort Worth student at L. S. U., who took the Biloxi, Miss., invitation event recently.

Clerks Lose Wild Game To Baptists

The First Baptist church softball crew put the finishing touches on their practice season and prepared to open in the Mundy Church league by trouncing the T&P Clerks, 29-9 Monday evening on the Mundy diamond.

H. C. Burrus had two home runs in two official trips to the plate to paced the victors' attack.

The Maleirmen sewed up the game in the opening frame when they tallied 12 runs.

TO TAKE BIDS ON MAIL VEHICLE

Looking toward a broad extension of the carrier mail service in Big Spring, Postmaster Nat Shick said Tuesday that bids would be called for Tuesday, May 10, for the hire of a closed vehicle without driver. Bids will be on an annual basis and must include maintenance and fuel costs.

One machine would be in use for eight hours daily and another for four hours. Sundays and holidays are largely excepted from service.

Any closed type of car containing 27 cubic feet space could be used for the motor carrier service to be instituted in the outlying sections of town.

Trosky Intends To Go For Base Hits

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Hal Trosky renounced his home run aspirations today. He suggested the reason he leads American League hitters with a fat 465 average is because he hasn't tried to hammer down the right-field walls every time.

Oscar Vitt, Cleveland manager, induced Trosky to experiment and the left-handed batter has changed from a "strictly pull hitter" to one who clubs to all fields.

"I'm not going to break any home run records this year," said the tall first baseman from Norway, Ia. "Instead of 38 or 40 I'll be satisfied with around 25 or 30. But I'll get more hits."

Two Joes Said To Be Teamed

By EDDIE BRIEZE
NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Joe Gould's insistent denial that he is only a pal (and not the business manager of Joe DiMaggio) are being politely laughed at in joints frequented by both Josephs—so don't be surprised at anything that happens before the Yanks leave the stadium again. From the way they are kicking up their heels in the East, the Giants are determined to stage a May Day parade every day this month.

The Yanks have been starting their home games at 3:15 and the Giants at 3 o'clock. President Horace Stoneham of the Giants thought the same starting hour should be observed by both teams and didn't know just what to say when Colonel Ruppert said: "No, we have a different type of customer."

From down in the Southern Association comes word that Joe (Showman) Engel has been howling for a new umpiring deal in the circuit and has Major Trammell Scott, the president, about sold on the idea. Others point out however that sometimes it is difficult to hire gents who are both showmen and umpires.

Consider the tragic case of Mr. George Bens who operates a joint just off Broadway. Mr. Bens went deer hunting up state in a taxi. He came sitting hour and yelled for the driver to cease driving. Mr. Bens leveled his shotgun on the taxi's fare meter. He blazed away and was delighted when the animal fell. He returned to the taxi to find the blast from the gun had jumped the meter $5. Back in New York, the deer was proudly displayed in front of Mr. Bens' tavern. They were picketing a laundry next door. The pickets became so interested in the deer they soon were picketing the Bens place as well as the laundry. Mr. Bens sent for the cops and soon everything was straightened out.

Barn Dance Feature Is Changed To Wednesday Eve

The Barn Dance which has become a regular weekly feature at the Wally Simpson club on the East highway, has been moved from Friday night to Wednesday night.

A feature highlight of the barn dance will be the Western Melodeers, a new string band, which will furnish novel entertainment as well as good dance rhythms for moderns, Schottisches and squares. Although new to the barn dance, the Western Melodeers are well known to radio fans, having broadcast from time to time over KBST and regularly over KRLH, Midland.

KBST will broadcast, as usual, one full hour of this rural entertainment direct from the Wally Simpson Club, beginning at 8:45 Wednesday night. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock, and low admission prices still prevail—40 cents per person in couples—88 cents per stags.

Livestock Sales To Be Broadcast Wednesday At 2

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock marks the time for the second in a series of interesting and unique programs to be broadcast by KBST under the sponsorship of Davenport and Cooper from the Big Spring livestock sales pavilion.

These broadcasts feature E. A. Tennis, auctioneer from Clayton, N. M., who is considered an expert in his line. Tennis is not only experienced as a livestock auctioneer, but as a radio entertainer as well. His five minute demonstrations over KBST in the past proved his ability to a pleasing degree. The first broadcast of the actual activities, from the Big Spring sales pavilion last Wednesday, under his direction, were enthusiastically received.

The Big Spring sales pavilion is operated in conjunction with the D and C Packing company which has been open for business since April 22. The D and C Packing company was formed in the interest of local distribution of high quality fresh beef and cured meats. Remember, the Big Spring sales pavilion is open for business since April 22. ### The Effects Of Liquor Cannot Be Repealed

Jeff Davis
One of the assurances of repealists was that repeal would reduce drinking. Of course no thoughtful person believed that statement, but many uninformed did believe it, or pretend to believe it. Now, we have government statistics on the amount of liquor being drunk since repeal, which decides the issue.

In 1933, five years ago, the first year of repeal, the American people drank 1.59 gallons per capita, which amounted to a little more than 215,000,000 gallons. Last year 1937, the same people drank 14.69 gallons per capita, or nearly two billion gallons, and that does not include still wines. At the time the above facts were assembled statistics on still wines were not available. If still wines were added to the above, the per capita consumption of liquor would be about 15 gallons for each man, woman and child throughout the United States. But even that does not tell the whole story, for bootleg liquor is still flowing as freely as it did during the years of prohibition. The federal government has nearly twice as many enforcement agents chasing bootleggers today as it ever had during the years of prohibition.

The most successful method ever used against the liquor business is to outlaw it altogether. It is a proven fact that it cannot be regulated. The people are learning that lesson again today, and count after county is voting dry. Another three years will show a marked change in the attitude of the people toward the liquor traffic. That change is taking place in our midst today. (Submitted by, and printed at the request of the local WCTU.)

matches at 8:30 o'clock this evening. This will be the first in a series of broadcasts to be heard every Tuesday night at this same time.

Big Winter Wheat Crop Forecast

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—Although wheat prices today hovered close to the lowest level in four years, crop experts forecast that winter wheat growers within a few weeks will begin the harvest of their biggest money crop since 1930, except for last year.

Releasing their monthly production estimates based on reports from hundreds of farm communities, the six Chicago experts forecast a winter wheat crop of 743,000,000 bushels. This was the average of the six estimates, which ranged from 719,000,000 to 771,000,000.

Such a harvest would compare with a crop of 685,000,000 bushels produced last year.

The latest government forecast as of April 1 indicated a crop of 726,000,000 bushels.

594 SIGN UP FOR IRRIGATION RATE

By Tuesday noon 594 water users had availed themselves of the city's special summer residential irrigation rate. The rate, which permits 10,000 gallons for $3.50, offers substantial savings to those who irrigate their lawns and flowers. On 30,000 gallons the saving amounts to $3.70.

CONFERENCE CALLED IN PORT DISPUTE

TACOMA, Wash., May 3 (AP)—Hope for reopening of the closed port of Tacoma rested today in a conference called by the city council as the 10-mile waterfront remained practically silent.

AFL longshoremen, the waterfront employers association and a federal arbitrator accepted invitations to today's conference called by the council with the expressed hope that it "would lead to a sensible settlement" of the involved dispute.

Employers closed the port Saturday because longshoremen refused to pass a sailors union of the Pacific line to load the Shepard line freighter Timber Rush. Sailors picketed the ship, the only one now in port, because it carried a CIC national maritime union crew, which, west coast sailors said, had violated a contract they had with the steamship company.
