

Old Settlers Meet Despite Showers

Gathering Believed To Be Largest In Several Years

Another one of those July rains Friday noon disrupted the order of the 14th annual reunion of Howard county old settlers, but it failed to dampen the ardor of the pioneers renewing of old friendships.

Despite the showers, leaders of the Howard County Old Settlers Association believed that the largest number of old timers in several years were on hand for the gathering.

Bill Thompson, J. S. Winslow and other pioneers had to move their musical equipment to the Casino where they planned to play the tunes of early days during the afternoon. A dance—old fashioned in every sense of the word—was scheduled for 8 p. m. at the Casino and again at the same time Saturday night.

Because the crowd was slow in gathering and because scheduled speakers failed to appear, E. F. McKinney and T. J. McKinney, president and vice-president of the unit, said that the morning speaking was abandoned. They anticipated further visiting at the city park during the afternoon.

At noon the number of pioneers was increasing and several out-of-town people who lived in Howard county in the "old days" were putting in their appearance.

Among them were Louis Scroggins and family of Abilene, Eli Satterwhite and family of Sterling county, Jim Yell and family of Martin county, and many others.

Approximately two score other familiar names such as Coleman, Thompson, Cauble, Logan, Harper, Anderson, Fisher, Rice, Bell, Winslow, and others were listed among those attending.

Opens Dams To Stop Loyalist Movements

Government Forces Deny Bridges Have Been Swept Away

HENDAYE, France, (At The Spanish Frontier) July 29 (AP)—Spanish insurgents opened all dams today in the Ebro river and its tributaries in an attempt to sweep away bridges behind the government's advancing armies on the Catalan front.

An insurgent news agency report from St. Jean-De-Luz, France, said Generalissimo Francisco Franco's high command had released a swirling nine-foot-high wave of floodwater from dams high in the Pyrenees mountains.

It said the torrents "made the river impassable" in 30 minutes. Government advisers admitted the Ebro had risen noticeably, presumably from the opening of dams. They denied, however, that their bridges had been swept away and insisted their communications lines were intact.

Insurgents said they had reached all of the dams of the Nougera-Pallaresa river and the Serge hydro-electric system above the government's feeder lines across the Ebro.

HENDAYE, France, (At The Spanish Frontier), July 29 (AP)—Dispatches from Barcelona said today that Spanish government millmen were advancing north and south of the insurgent headquarters city of Gandesa on a circular front extending 15 miles.

The line was said by government observers to reach from north of Villa Alba De Los Arcos, a secondary communications center five miles from Gandesa, through the eastern outskirts of Gandesa, to Bot, an insurgent communications junction 12 miles to the southwest.

Labor Board Examiner Accuses Ford Of Violating Wagner Act

FBI Agents Aid In Search For Ted Walters

Badman Believed To Have Been Seen Near Chicago

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—Federal agents joined police today in pursuit of a man they believed to be Huron Ted Walters, 25, a Dallas, Tex., badman wanted for bank robbery at Bradley, Ark., who escaped in a running gun fight with suburban Summit policemen.

An automobile carrying five persons speeding past the Summit station started the pursuit. Chief John Van Ort took after it, exchanging shots. The car stopped abruptly and the man believed to be Walters escaped on foot.

Chief Van Ort seized the other four occupants who gave their names as Robert Warren, 35, and Theodore W. Lee, 39, both of Coal City, Ill., and Lorraine Wilson, 20, and Neal Hearn, 20, both of Strevport, La. The chief said there were four rifles, two pistols and a shotgun in the car.

Congregated At Camp
The party had congregated last night at a tourist camp in Joliet, Ill. A friend of the fugitives had stayed there when the others started for Chicago, police said.

The girls, they said, identified this man as Floyd Garland Hamilton. Police records showed Hamilton also was an ex-convict wanted for the Arkansas bank robbery.

The man believed to be Walters got back to the Joliet camp, picked up his friend and escaped ahead of pursuing policemen, they said.

Van Ort said he accepted the story of Warren and Lee that they merely were casual acquaintances out for a ride, and unaware the car carried guns or an alleged bank robber.

HUGHES STOPS IN CHICAGO

With the millionaire flier were flight engineer Ed Lund, Radio Operator Richard R. Steidart, and co-navigator Harry P. M. Commer. Lieut. Thomas L. Thurlow, the other navigator, was unable to go and his place was taken by Albert I. Lodwick, president of the Stinson Aircraft company and Hughes' flight manager.

From Chicago, Hughes and his friends will fly to Hughes' home at Houston, Tex., continuing on Monday to Los Angeles.

Mussolini Passes 55th Birthday

ROME, July 29 (AP)—Premier Mussolini had something today he didn't like—his 55th birthday.

Italian newspapers, usually lyric about any occasion involving the duce, were silent; in the Mussolinian concept, fascist Italy personifies youth; Mussolini personifies fascism; hence any notice of his advancing age is taboo.

When his fellow-dictator, Adolf Hitler, has a birthday, German flags fly, orators orate, troops parade. But on his anniversaries, Mussolini works.

Il Duce doesn't look much older than a year ago. His head is almost completely bald, his waist is thicker, but his vigor continues.

NEGRO EXECUTED

HUNTSVILLE, July 29 (AP)—Foble Grays, negro, convicted of slaying Paul Henig, Glen Flora merchant, was electrocuted at Huntsville state prison early today.

A death house statement by Grays had won a reprieve of 30 days for Sam Cash, negro, convicted in the same slaying, when Grays sponsored Cash from any part in the killing.

Should Rehire CIO Unionists, Says Shea

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—A labor board trial examiner ruled today that the Ford Motor company had violated the Wagner labor act by "spying" and discrimination at its Buffalo, N. Y., assembly plant.

The examiner, Francis M. Shea, recommended that the company rehire 50 C.I.O. unionists and cease "interfering" with union activities.

Shea, listing eight methods of alleged violation of the law, said the company's service men had spied on union meetings and on men at work. At the same time, he added, is "disseminated propaganda" to discourage membership in the United Automobile Workers of America.

The findings were based on a 12-day hearing in Buffalo last winter on charges of unfair labor practices brought by the union.

Shea held that 17 men were discharged for union activity and 33 others were not reemployed after a layoff because of their union membership. He dismissed discrimination charges with respect to 12 other workers.

Among the findings of unfair practices, his report listed the participation by Ford service men in discharges, which the examiner said was an unusual procedure. The service men correspond to company police. They took charge of men notified of dismissal and led them from the plant, testimony brought out.

Site Problem For Oil Mill Is Solved

Machine Being Dismantled At Dawson For Service Here

Problem of a site for a $100,000 cotton seed oil mill here was solved Friday, it was announced by representatives of Smith Bros., who are putting in the new industry at Big Spring.

For more than a week now representatives of the company have been seeking to find a site which would make available ready connection with utilities and railroad.

Thursday evening an agreement was worked out where all conditions could be satisfied on the originally selected site northwest of town.

Fred Smith, who was at Lamesa, contacted Porter Smith at McLean and Vester Smith at Chicago and reported that the three brothers would be here Monday to "get started."

A survey of the land and laying out of a switch route was scheduled for first attention with work on foundations due to start soon afterwards.

The mill, a hydraulic four press affair, is being dismantled at Dawson for reconstruction here. Informal circles rate it as one of the best of its type in the state. It has a 60 ton daily capacity with output of 45 per cent protein content products, has a cooker and cubing units.

REPORTS OF SKIRMISHES

TOKYO, July 29 (AP)—A Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatch from Seoul, capital of Korea, reported today a new incident between Japanese and Russian border guards near Changkung.

It was said 10 Russians crossed the border and battled with Japanese patrol but retired after an hour's skirmish. Casualties were not reported.

NEVADA CITY, Calif., July 29 (AP)—Federal department of justice agents were expected here today to question Herman Devall, 23, of Omaha, Neb., said by county officers to have confessed and then denied the kidnaping-killing of 10-year-old Charles Mattson, Tacoma, Wash.

SHOWERS INCREASE JULY RAIN TOTAL

Recurrence of showers added more to the abnormal July precipitation total here Friday when a noon downpour was gauged at .25 at the U.S. department of commerce weather bureau station at the airport.

The showers, to a greater or lesser degree, were reported elsewhere over the county. The U.S. Experiment farm gauge showed .15 of an inch.

Big Lake-Post State Highway Is Sought

Delegates To Appear Before Santone Commission Monday

Delegations from at least five counties in this area will appear before the state highway commission Monday at San Antonio to ask designation of a state highway stretching from Big Lake to Post City.

The request will be climax of a program of work pushed steadily for the past two weeks by the chamber of commerce road committee, working in cooperation with a similar committee at Post City.

Representatives from Reagan, Glascock, Howard, Borden and Garza counties, all armed with resolutions to furnish right-of-way along a state designated route, will appear before the commission in its session at the Gunter hotel.

Members of the local chamber of commerce road committee and members of the Howard county commissioners court will be present for the hearing. Grover Dunham, chairman of the roads committee, and Ben Cole were given assurances by the commissioners court at Big Lake that Reagan county would have a representative at the hearing with the proper resolution. Dunham and J. H. Greene, chamber manager, were told by the Glascock county commissioners court that the resolution to furnish roadway and appearance of the court at San Antonio Monday was that body's answer to the proposed road.

Post Cooperates
Likewise the two learned at Post that the right-of-way through Garza county would be furnished and that representatives from that city would appear in behalf of the application. Judge Pearce at Gall assured Cole and Greene that the Borden county commissioners were amenable to the idea and that he would be at San Antonio Monday with the right-of-way resolution in hand.

Presentation of the application for designation is the result of a long planned road program to furnish several towns in this area with direct north and south outlets. The road is also a segment of the once promoted Panhandle-Rio Grande highway from Amarillo to Del Rio.

Seek To Halt Depletion Of Water Supply

Local Man Speaks In State-Wide Meet At Austin

AUSTIN, July 29 (AP)—Legislation to halt depletion of Texas underground water supplies was urged by speakers before 200 persons attending a state-wide sub-surface water conservation meeting under sponsorship of the state planning board here today.

Alarming instances of well water withdrawals, salt water encroachment and pollution to important sources of water for irrigation, industrial and domestic use in various areas were cited by speakers.

Mayor R. E. Fonville of Houston, pointing out more than 75 per cent of the population of the state depended upon underground water for drinking purposes, said the industrial development of the city had brought serious problems in water consumption.

E. V. Spence of Big Spring urged stringent enforcement of pollution laws and W. A. Cunningham of the University of Texas' bureau of industrial chemistry offered the services of the bureau to all cities facing water problems.

WALKS TO TOWN

Hansen, his feet blistered, his strength almost gone, remained last night at the top of the cliff to which he and Ryberg were hauled laboriously with ropes from a shelf 1,500 feet below. Ryberg walked ten miles over a rough trail to the small mining town of Terlingue, and was brought here by automobile. He was wearied, but otherwise in good shape.

He told how the three entered the river seven miles above the canyon mouth Sunday about 9 a. m., inside innumerable, and tied to ferret, chain-like with a rope, 25 feet apart.

"We floated about seven miles and I reckon it must have taken two hours," he said. "We were all having a swell time, but Buck (Buchman) wouldn't paddle with his hands enough to keep us out of the ledge currents."

Inside the mouth of the canyon a whirlpool on a ledge caught Buckman, Ryberg related.

"Buck, Hansen, and myself were pulled down and then it was a fight to live. All I remember was rolling, twisting, and tumbling against rocks."

"Hansen and I finally came up on the surface about 250 yards down stream. We never saw Buck again. His innumerable came back and we both knew the river had gotten him."

Ryberg and Hansen made their way to a ledge 15 feet above the water.

When they took stock the only supplies they had were a half box of raisins, a knife and a small pencil.

Soldiers Are Saved Just In Time

Stirring Story Related By Leader

MARFA, July 29 (AP)—Two soldiers brought to safety from a ledge in treacherous Santa Helena canyon on which they were marooned five days above the roaring Rio Grande, recalled today fear-stricken moments as the rising stream narrowed their perch each hour.

"Another day and we'd have had to jump back in the river," Sergeant Clyde Ryberg of Minneapolis, said as he arrived at Fort D. A. Russell, last night, hours after the rescue.

He told a stirring story of how he, Private Clarence Hight of Santa Fe, N. M., and Private Harry Buckman of Paris, Tex., "buddies on leave, and attempting to ride the Rio Grande through the canyon on innumerable, were caught in a whirlpool just after they entered the canyon mouth; Buckman was drowned, and he and Hansen struggled to safety.

To Ask Senate To Oppose 3rd Term For FDR

Resolution Would Be Similar To One In 1928

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Senator Holt (D-W.Va.), an administration critic, said today he would ask the 1939 senate to express opposition to a third term for President Roosevelt.

He had intended to introduce such a resolution during the last session, he added, but had held it up "pending proper time."

Holt explained the resolution would be similar to one which the senate passed, 56 to 28, while Calvin Coolidge was president in 1928.

That resolution was introduced by Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) and was considered after Coolidge had issued his famous "I do not choose to run" statement. It said:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the senate that the precedent established by Washington and other presidents of the United States in retiring from the presidential office after their second term has become, by universal consent, a part of our republican system of government and that any departure from this time-honored custom would be unwise, unpatriotic, and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

"I don't see why the members who voted for the 1928 resolution wouldn't vote for it now," Holt commented.

FLOOD WATERS ROAR TOWARD GULF; WHARTON THREATENED

By The Associated Press
The Colorado river roared southward toward the gulf today, its crest spreading into the flat lands of Wharton county and threatening an additional $1,000,000 damage to crops.

The city of Wharton, awaiting a crest of 28 feet, had water creeping into lowlying sections and chasing residents to higher ground.

The 38-foot stage would inundate 6,000 acres in crops, County Agent V. L. Sandling, who estimated possible damage, said.

Search Pushed For Overdue Flying Boat

Clipper Feared Down On Manila-Guam Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29 (AP)—Pan-American Airways officials announced today the army transport Melg had reached the Hawaii Clipper's last reported position. There was no other word from the Melg, however.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29 (AP)—All possibility of the missing transpacific Hawaii Clipper still being in the air was abandoned today, but hope was held for the safety of the 15 men who were aboard when she took off from Guam on a 1,600-mile flight to Manila.

Would Be Safe
Pan American Airways officials pointed out that the men aboard the flying boat would be just as safe as on any other ocean-going craft if the clipper alighted safely on the ocean.

The clipper might have alighted on the open sea shortly after her last report from between Guam and Manila. Or she may have found a haven in one of the scattered islands or uncharted reefs lying between her last given position and Samar Islands, most easterly of the Philippine group, more than 300 miles away.

A year and a half ago a clipper ship found haven in a cove of Samar Island in the only previous case in which one of the cargo boats in service were forced down. It failed to report for several hours.

The recollection of this and the possibility the Hawaii clipper might have encountered difficulty in raising her kite to fly an emergency radio antenna, furnished the greatest hope to Pan American officials that those aboard the flying boat were safe.

The darkest part of the picture, Pan American Airways men admitted, was the sudden cessation of radio calls without any suggestion of a possible forced landing, and absence of subsequent reports.

BARONS AND HOBBS BOOSTERS GO TO BAT AT 8:15 TONIGHT

THE SPORTS PARADE By HANK HART

Promises Fulfilled

Directors of the Big Spring baseball club, who took over operations when Jack Hutcheson surrendered his franchise to the corporation, have done a commendable job and if the game isn't appreciated here it isn't their fault.

Those nine men—E. L. Cook, F. J. A. Robinson, Ray Ogden, Harold Hoeckendorf, E. L. Newton, Ira Thurman, Bill Satterwhite, L. L. Gulley and Hutcheson, the latter of whom took the place on the board after surrendering the presidency—have worked hard during the past two weeks to fulfill the promises made and each and every one of those promises have been realized.

Now, with the worst problems conquered, the officials can look to reap well their rewards. The season is nearing its end but most of the Barons' remaining games are to be played at home. With any sort of break from the elements the club can expect to finish "in the blue."

How different the situation is now from that of a month ago when the professional game threatened to leave Big Spring again.

It should be a simple matter to take up the reins again next year. The club is bothered by no heavy debts and, if any of the players are sold (and that can be expected) then the future would indeed be bright.

If directors decide they want a working agreement League President Milton E. Price would be only too glad to lend his cooperation.

Night play was insured at the park when several reflectors at the high school football stadium were borrowed until the missing equipment arrives from Dallas.

Thanks to Harold Steck, the opener tonight has been well publicized. Steck took it upon himself to tell Big Spring and vicinity about it. His efforts have been untiring toward that end.

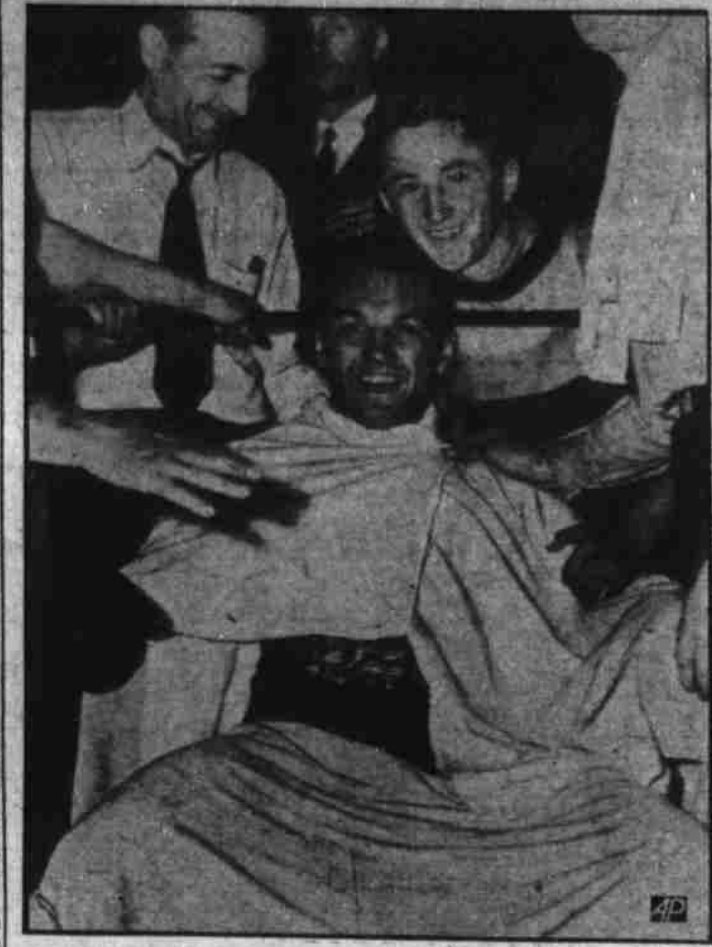

New Way To Win

There's more than one way to win a golf match. In Harold Akroy's West Texas Junior meeting last week one youngster had a comfortable two-hole lead over another going onto 14 and was shooting good enough golf to run out the match but he suddenly ran out of balls. He took a look at the club house, then appeared to his opponent to loan him a ball until he could get back to the club house.

The opponent refused but did make a proposition, that he would surrender a ball if the leader would surrender his lead and he be allowed to start even-Stephen at that point. His opponent finally agreed and he played such good golf thereafter to win, one up.

Hank Henderson and Marvin Keller, both of whom were released from the Big Spring ball club two weeks ago, showed off for home this morning. Henry takes his meals in Chicago while Keller is a Rosebush, Mich., lad.

Beers Master After Warren Is Chased

Dick Hobson Paces Local Attack With Three Licks

MIDLAND, July 29 — "Three Two" Beers did a masterful job in silencing enemy guns after Tommy Warren had felled and the Big Spring Barons lost an 11-6 encounter with the Midland Cardinals here Thursday evening.

The victory enabled the Red Birds to even the count in the four game series with the Big Springers. The Barnabemen got away to a two run lead in the first frame only to have the Cards tie it up in their part of the same frame. The visitors tallied three more runs, two in the third and another in the fourth, before the Midland attack finally got underway and shelled Clarence Trantham unmercifully.

Jake Suytar paced the Midland attack along with Jim Guinn, each collecting four blows, while Dick Hobson and Chick Greer teamed up to lead the Baron stick parade. Dick had a double and two singles while Greer collected a double and a single.

Fishing Prospects Poor Near Shore

Fishermen who cashed in along the gulf coast late this week were doing so for the most part off-shore. Surf, jetty and pier fishing at most points was poor. The detailed report:

Fort Aransas-Corpus Christi— with fishing in Laguna Madre virtually a thing of the past, anglers centered their interest the past week in Corpus Christi bay and the Gulf of Mexico. Tarpon, kingfish and mackerel caught at Port Aransas. Trout and redfish in small numbers brought in from bay.

Galveston—Inshore fishing poor. Few mackerel, few trout and sheepshead. Deepsea anglers getting plenty of kings and red snapper.

Port Isabel-Boca Chica — More snailfish caught in gulf, bringing total brought to gaff this season to nine.

CONOCO Trims West Siders, 7-3

Allison Trims Sidney Wood To Oppose Cook; Riggs, Kovac's Battle In Semifinals

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., July 29 (AP)—Frank Kovacs, 18-year-old Californian who came east "just for the experience," faced the first big climax of his tennis career here today in the semi-finals of the 51st annual Sea Bright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club invitation tournament.

Kovac, who lives only two blocks down from Don Budgs, America's No. 1 star, in Oakland, Calif., was pitted against top-seeded Bobby Riggs, of Chicago, who has high hopes of landing the No. 2 singles assignment on the Davis Cup team.

Riggs was the favorite, but on the basis of his performance against third-seeded Bryan M. (Biby) Grant, of Atlanta, yesterday, Kovacs was conceded a chance of casting a damper on Riggs' cup aspirations.

Kovac whipped the stuffing out of Grant, fourth-ranking U. S. amateur, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2. In the other semi-final today, Wilmer L. Allison, of Austin, Tex., was slated to meet Elwood T. Cooke, of Portland, Ore., upset conqueror of second-seeded Frankie Parker in Morgan, in the quarter-finals. Yesterday Allison blasted the cup team hopes of blond Sidney B. Yoor, of New York.

BERT COLLYER DEATH VICTIM

CHICAGO, July 29 (AP)—Bert E. Collyer, 61, nationally known horse race handicapper and publisher of "Collyer's Eye," a sports and turf information paper, died last night.

Born in Durham, Ont., Canada, Collyer ran a print shop in his youth before going to Alaska during the gold rush of '98. It was there he gained recognition as a newspaperman for his exclusive dispatch on the Chilkoot Pass avalanche April 14, 1898. Sixty persons were killed at the pass and many injured.

Employed by Hearst newspapers in the Pacific coast, he subsequently was transferred to the Chicago American and named turf editor. In 1914, he established his publication, which, he claimed, was the first to disclose the Chicago Black Sox baseball scandal in 1920.

Local Lights Among Tops In League

Crowd Of More Than 1,000 Expected To Be On Hand

The Big Spring Barons, the day "orphans" of the WT-NM league, step out in their finery tonight. They return home to debut under the powerful arcs of Baron park and directors of the ball club were confident that more than 1,000 would be in the stands to help celebrate the Barons' "new deal." Game time has been called for 8:15 o'clock.

Officials have been working furiously a week to get the park in readiness for the initial night game. They had the poles shipped in from Monahans last Monday and went to work immediately to close out the job. Eight poles, holding 48 reflectors, will light the local park one of the best lighted fields in the entire league.

Carpenters have also been busy strengthening the grandstand and bleachers while the infield has undergone extensive improvement. Other improvements include ten-foot barrier has been erected along the right field wall to stop a major portion of the fluke home runs.

An extra ticket booth has been placed on the north side of the grandstand to help take care of the expected rush of patrons at game time.

Band To Parade The Big Spring high school band, under the direction of Dan Conley, will parade through downtown before game time this evening to lend color to the occasion.

The Barons' opposition will be formed by Neal Rabe's Hobbs Boosters. Tonight's affair will be the first of a two game series.

Either Frankie Jacot or Manager Charles Barnabe will take over the mound duties for the Barons. Jacot, in his last start, baffled the Hobbs team on their own ground while Barnabe has yet to be beaten this season. Either Marshall Scott or Charlie Needham are slated to throw for the visitors.

Good Program Outlined By Ruth Jilliam

Approximately 100 young people representing 23 churches in the Sweetwater district are expected to arrive in the city Saturday afternoon for a two-day rally at the First Methodist church.

A tentative program has been outlined by Ruth Jilliam, district director, with registration beginning at 5 o'clock Saturday. Supper is to be served from 7:30 to 8:30 followed by a business session. General theme of the meeting is "You Shall Be Beautiful."

Highlight of the evening will be vesper service on the brow of Scenic Mountain at 9 o'clock with Alex Bickley bringing a message on "Look for the Beautiful."

After a night's rest in the home of various church members, the young people are to arise at 6 o'clock and be ready for a morning watch at 6:30 on the rustic bridge in the city park. "Think of the Beautiful" is the topic to be commented upon by Duane Bruce at the early morning worship which is to be followed with a breakfast.

A district business meeting is scheduled from 8 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock and union meetings from 9:30 o'clock to 9:45 o'clock.

Mrs. Hayes Stripling is to teach Sunday school and at the 11 o'clock hour the Rev. W. C. House, pastor of the local church, is to "Speak of the Beautiful" at a consecration service.

Dinner is to be served at the church and a cabinet meeting held at 1:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens and daughter, Rozelle, have returned from a two weeks trip to Ruidoso, N. M. They were accompanied by Stephens' sister, Miss Fannie Stephens, of Dallas, who left Friday morning on the noon train for her home.

THE COST OF TEXAS GOVT.

Material for the person who ponders over the cost of government, as compiled by Wallace C. Murphy, Ph. D., director of research for the Industrial, Commercial and Agricultural Conference of Texas.

The cost of operating the State Government increased 670 per cent in the past twenty years.

It costs as much to run the State Government of Texas as it costs to run the four state governments of Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas.

Assuming that a comparison of two states in population and wealth is a fair method of estimating what the relative governmental cost should be...

The administrative departments of the State Government have increased in cost of operation more rapidly than State expenditures along other lines.

Government employees, federal, state and local, in Texas are paid more than half as much as all people in the State engaged in farming and livestock raising combined...

The number of employees in the Texas State Government department increased 246 per cent in twenty years.

Total income in Texas in 1937 was 15 per cent less than it was in 1929. But, in 1937 the combined federal and state taxes amounted to $222,500,000, whereas in 1929 they amounted to only $108,788,000.

The cost of court systems of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas combined is less than the cost of the court system of Texas.

Lord Runciman's Mission

PARIS, July 29 — Cautious man though he is, Mr. Chamberlain has had to accept the risks of sending Lord Runciman to Prague as mediator in the Nazi-Czech dispute.

For Lord Runciman does not go to Prague in the role of an academic adviser who can, if his advice is disregarded, wash his hands of the consequences.

We may be sure that Mr. Chamberlain would be taking no such risks if any safer course were open to him. But the fact is that the problem of Czechoslovakia is on the point of exploding in the face of all the statements of Europe.

The same grim threat of a great war which has caused Mr. Chamberlain to entangle himself in central Europe has also caused Hitler to accept outside intervention.

It became clear to that this time Hitler would be compelled by forces within Germany to act, that he could not again retreat, as he did in May, without losing more prestige than a dictator can afford to lose.

It was due within two weeks when the Czech-German negotiations broke down that Mr. Chamberlain, with French support, decided to intervene.

Man About Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — I missed Les Farrington when he was in New York. And that's too bad, because Les doesn't get mad at a guy for not liking a town.

Unless, of course, he happens to dislike New York. And if that's true you can't hate him for that. You can't get mad at a guy for not liking a town.

It must have been six months ago that I wrote Les a letter and asked him to notify me the next time he got to town.

But that moment wasn't a very happy one for me. That was the day I was laid by the heels by Of Man Bronchitis, and by the time I was back on the high road, he was back out there in St. Paul.

I'm certainly sorry I didn't get to see this tall (six-foot-five or is it six?) friendly fellow whose general traffic manager for Northwest Airlines. Traffic is his business.

So with this as a working basis he organized some 30 poets throughout the line and established local traffic executives. Only he didn't choose Joe or Jim. With a crafty eye he chose 30 of the prettiest girls you ever saw.

I know about this because I was falling through Rockefeller Center this afternoon and ran smack into Loy Warwick, a Georgia boy who has his kite to this town. He said, "Son, I suppose I will have to introduce you to Karen Erickson. She's a farmer's daughter but don't let that fool you. She's the line's representative in New York, and Farrington's her boss."

I only had a couple of minutes, give or take a few seconds either way, but during that time I managed to possess myself of this vital data: Miss Erickson is not pretty. She is beautiful. She has raven hair and very dark eyes. She uses to manage a hospital at Cando, North Dakota. Her home town is Edmore, N. D. She is single.

(Miss Jones, take a letter to Mr. Leslie B. Farrington, Municipal Airport, St. Paul, Minnesota. Dear Les—When are you coming back to New York? Please call me the moment you check into your hotel. Sick or well, I will be Johnny-on-the-spot. There are some important matters I would like to talk over with you, and besides I think we ought to kick around some and see some of the town, if the traffic will bear it.)

As reactions they build some of the world's fastest planes and as aviators they fly superbly, slow balloons.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

(Guest columnist today for Robbin Coons, who is on vacation, is Geoffrey Homes, who has written the Robin Bishop murder mystery series. His new whodunit called "There Were Three" will be published this fall.)

HOLLYWOOD — There should be nothing mysterious about Hollywood. Save for women who go about in slacks and men who wear pink sports shirts, it looks like any other small town.

But it isn't like Hartford, Conn., or Abilene, Texas, or Fresno, Calif. Where else in the world would one find so many unsolvable problems, so many unanswerable questions, so many mysteries beyond the comprehension of a Sherlock Holmes or a Philo Vance or my own Robin Bishop. For instance:

Why, with all the talent in the world, are 95 per cent of the pictures dull?

Why do studios insist on remaking, under other titles, stories that have been filmed a dozen times?

Why do the producers excuse trite situations by claiming that the public will like them—the public always has?

Why, in the face of diminishing box office receipts, do the picture makers continue making the same kind of films instead of experimenting, with something fresh and new?

Why do they spend money seeking talent and make no provision for training promising material?

Why do they make musicals? Why do they build such tremendous plants that the overhead makes the cost of film production almost prohibitive?

Why doesn't Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release "Hallelujah"? Why doesn't Warner Bros. release "The Green Pastures" — to my mind the finest picture ever made?

Why do producers manifest a growing tendency to resent critics who criticize bad pictures honestly?

Why do they go further than that and blame boxoffice slumps on critical attacks?

Why do they make musicals? Why do they build such tremendous plants that the overhead makes the cost of film production almost prohibitive?

LOVE ON THE RANGE

Chapter 26 CUTTING WORDS

When Ankrum finally faced Lee his face was calm. "Get it over with," he said.

"The remarks you've been saying up since that affair you misconstrued in the bunkhouse—the analysis of my character you've hit upon from observation of my conduct."

"Your conduct," she answered coolly, "is your own affair." And now her green eyes flashed. "But Claydell," Ankrum said, and fed his buckskin steed.

Claydell's ranch house was a rambling, single story affair with a thick sod roof and adobe walls that were tinted pink.

Ankrum dismounted before the porch, dropped the buckskin's reins and strode within.

He found himself in a long, broad room that was neat and clean. Its walls were adorned with trophies, an Indian blanket or two, a mounted antelope head, a rack of rifles. Back of a desk beside a window Claydell was rising to his feet, an expression of polite wonder on his face.

"I'm Ankrum—foreman of the Rafter T."

Claydell was regarding him curiously. "Ankrum? Seems to me you're the chap who made Tom Rafterford back down over to the Trone place that night the pseudo Struthers man was killed. Seems like I recollect your name was Streeter..."

Ankrum grinned coldly. "Your memory's good, Claydell. However, I didn't ride way over here to enter into a discussion of names. I hear you're interested in railroads."

"Railroads?" Claydell's face was blank.

"A particular railroad, then." "I'm afraid I don't quite get you," Claydell said. "I'm not interested in any railroad. Whatever gave you that notion? Were you expecting to sell me some stock, or something?"

Ankrum said, "Are you interested in acquiring the Rafter T?" "Not especially," I made Trone an offer once, several years ago. He didn't want to sell, he said.

Ankrum's white teeth gleamed coldly behind his parted lips. "Didn't want to sell, eh?" "What are you driving at?" Claydell snapped.

"You wanted the Rafter T because you'd learned that a big road was planning to lay track from Amarillo to El Paso and would have to cross that land. You offered to buy, but Trone wouldn't sell. So you set out to smash him—to put him out of business so you could steal the property from Trone's daughter, for a fraction of its worth. You hired a bunch of saddle bums to rustle Rafter T beef. You bought Mose Hackett to help that deal along."

Claydell's eyes were widening; the first look of bewilderment was giving way to incredulity—to anger.

"You weren't making headway fast enough," Ankrum continued. "You were afraid news of the railroad would be leaking out. So you bought Heffie, the sheepman, body and soul, and sicked him onto the water at Rafter T's southwest line camp. To hold that water in case Rafter T kicked up you gave Heffie a bunch of gun-slicks—an' you brought Bandera, the Mex killer, in to strengthen Heffie's hand."

Rebellion In Greece Dies
Order Restored On Crete Following Uprising

ATHENS, July 29 (AP)—A revolt against the regime of General John Metaxas, dictator of Greece, apparently was crushed today.

The governor of the Island of Crete, where the uprising broke out, cabled Metaxas that order had been restored in Canea, the Crete capital.

All rebel-held government buildings have been recaptured by authorities, he reported, and the revolutionists have fled.

Four hundred armed men, reported to be sailors, effected the coup by taking advantage of a weakened garrison at Canea. Most of the troops there had been sent to northern Greece to provide vacation relief for other garrisons.

Crete's last revolt, in the spring of 1935, led by the late, former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, was crushed after bloody naval and land engagements.

Venizelos, a native of Crete, started his revolt there. The capital, population about 26,000, is an important port.

Premier Metaxas, who became premier April 28, 1936, established dictatorial powers on August 5, a crush what he said was an attempted communist revolt.

He announced the first of this year that, in a continuing purge, he would use "severity without pity" to crush opposition. He rounded up nearly 100 oppositionists in May.

Voyager On German Vessel Finds Interesting Facts About Hitler
In The Reading Of His Book

By HOUSTON HARTZ

SS RELIANCE, In North Atlantic—As the Reliance is a Nazi ship it is in reality German, so the cheerful courtesy which their long service and natural desire to make the voyage enjoyable has given them, provides one with a most favorable impression of the new Germany.

Wondering what it is all about—I went to the library to get Adolf Hitler's "My Battle." If you read it you will find some very startling statements. When you have finished you will not ask any questions about how it comes that although we have sent four notes to Berlin in June we have had no answers from any of them. In diplomacy we are in quite so severe a no reply. Here are some passages picked at random from this book, which may tell you something about Herr Hitler:

"Social democracy knows how to make people believe that it alone has the secret of peace and tranquility, while it cautiously but unflinchingly conquers one position after another, either by silent pressure or by downright robbery at moments when public attention is directed at other matters, or when the affairs seem too paltry to call for public interference. These are tactics calculated absolutely on the sum total of human weakness, and their result is a mathematical certainty. (This gives an insight perhaps to the game of pitch and catch now going on in the world between three aggressive powers.)"

"It is difficult for a reader of newspapers to imagine the evils involved in this modern institution of democratic control by Parliament, unless he has learned to think and examine for himself. It has been the primal cause why all our political life has been so unbelievably flooded with all that is most worthless. One thing we must and may never forget: a majority can never be a substitute for the man. It is always the advocate, not only of stupid, but most cowardly policies; and just as a hundred fools do not make one wise man, an heroic decision is not likely to come from a hundred cowards."

"The binding force of an alliance decreases the more it confines itself to maintaining an existing condition. On the other hand, an alliance waxes stronger the more the individual contracting powers are able to hope they will gain definite, tangible aims of expansion; in which case, as always, strength lies not in defense but in attack." (How is that for an inside view into the treaty signed in Rome "against Communism.")

"The struggle of 1914 was not forced upon the masses, Good Heavens! but was passionately desired by the whole nation. They wanted to see an end of the general uncertainty. That is the only reason why over two million German men and youths willingly joined the colors for that fearful struggle and were prepared to defend them with the last drop of their blood."

"As regards the question of humanity, Moltke has said that in war the essential is to bring the matter to a quick finish and that the severest methods conduce most effectually to that end."

"All propaganda should be popular and should adopt its intellectual level to the receptive ability of the least intellectual of those whom it is desired to address. Thus it must sink its mental elevation deeper in proportion to the numbers of the mass whom it has to grip. The proper thing is to lay the burden without cease upon the opponents, even if this does not correspond with the true course of events. The masses are in no position to distinguish. (This is evidence of the real danger of government propaganda in all forms and in our own nation as well.)"

"It is essential interest of the State and nation to see that the people do not fall into the hands of bad, ignorant and ill-disposed teachers. It is the state's duty, therefore, to watch over the people's education and prevent its taking the wrong direction, and it should keep an eye on what the press in particular is doing, for its chance in a thousand of some guy finding that tube," Ryberg said.

John McGovern, David Wise, and Wise's father, J. C. Wise, chanced by accident on a Mexican who lived in the river bottom below the canyon's end. He gave them the tube which had been picked up by his son.

By rearrangement the three had planned to meet the voyagers when they came out of the canyon. They immediately started a search.

Tuesday afternoon as the two lay under a shelter built of reeds to keep out the baking heat, the last of their small store of raisins eaten, they heard a whistle.

By then the ledge which had been 40 feet wide and 200 feet long, had narrowed to 15 feet in width and 16 in length.

"We ran to the edge, took off our shirts, and yelled," Ryberg said.

Food lowered by ropes

David Wise, standing at the top of the cliff, saw them. Food and blankets were lowered on ropes.

On Wednesday noon the searchers were supplemented by soldiers from Fort D. A. Russell, who lowered a heavy rope, but had difficulty in working it into position, and after several hours of attempts, abandoned efforts for the night.

Yesterday a block and tackle was rigged, and Hansen pulled up in the morning, the ascent requiring about an hour. Ryberg was taken up during the afternoon.

Scanty communications facilities from the section delayed news of the rescue for several hours. The first report that the two had been taken from the canyon came from an army plane which scanned the gorge yesterday for the body of Buckman.

The plane reported it had not sighted either the men on the ledge or the rescue party, nor had it found any trace of Buckman.

Ryberg was sure, he said, that Buckman was dead.

When the three entered the river they were fully clothed, and wore heavy boots and army hats.

They made the attempt at the particular time, because they wanted to catch the stream as it rose, Ryberg explained. They drove Saturday with David Wise and McGovern to LaJitas, above the canyon mouth. Then the latter returned downstream to await them.

Ryberg said he planned to make the attempt again.

"You can bet your boots that when I get out of the army, and that will be in about three months, I'm going back and swim that canyon," he said.

Residents of the Big Bend country said walls of the canyon except for the place where the two found safety, were almost smooth.

Persons who had navigated the canyon at low water, said a successful attempt at flood stage was impossible.

Says Youngstown Firm Rejected Republic Offer

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—J. M. Woltz, veteran superintendent of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company police, told the senate civil liberties committee today that an official of the Republic Steel corporation tried unsuccessfully to get the Youngstown firm to cooperate in labor espionage.

The proposal, said Woltz, came from James L. Williams, chief of Republic's private police.

The white-haired sheet and tube official, who admitted Williams' testimony that the two companies had exchanged labor information. He insisted emphatically that his company did not engage in surveillance outside its plant.

"We had no one engaged in that sort of work," he declared.

Previously, Frank Furlong, gray-haired president of Sheet and Tube, told the committee he always opposed the idea of using industrial detectives.

When the 1937 strike came, Furlong said, he "personally advised" Woltz to "put the machine guns away and not have them available for the sticky fingers of any excited men."

Japanese Lead In Davis Cup Play

MONTREAL, July 29 (AP)—Laird Watt, of Montreal, and Ross Wilson, of Toronto, faced the strenuous task of turning back the veteran Japanese pair of Jiro Yamagishi and Fumitern Nakano in the doubles today and saving Canada's Davis cup hopes.

The same Japanese pair, playing in singles yesterday, trounced Bob Murray and Wilson in straight sets to send the invaders into a 2-0 lead in the five point series. Today's doubles count only one point, but it is the deciding one of the journey. Should the Canadian win today they have a slim chance of winning the two remaining singles Saturday and taking the series.

Most onlookers here were ready to concede victory to the tireless Japanese. The winning team here will meet the winner of the Australia-Mexico series, which starts in Kansas City today, in the American zone final.

Famed Brazil Bad Man Dead
Bandit Who Terrorized People For 20 Years Shot Down

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 29 (AP)—There was rejoicing in Brazil today because death had ended the career of one-eyed Lamepo.

For 20 years he robbed and killed, cut out the tongues of garrulous women, and made them and their menfolk dance naked in the streets.

Lamepo, or Lampeo, 38 years old, bespectacled and pint-sized and his swarthy and eleven of his gang were slain last night in a battle with police near Macaco, Alagoas state, northeastern Brazil.

One policeman was killed and several wounded.

Villagers in the area celebrated in the streets and joyful speeches were made hailing the end of the terrible bandit.

In nearly a thousand previous battles, Lamepo always had managed to fight his way clear of the law, to road through the northeastern Hinterland, continuing to plunder and often cutting off ears or legs of those who fell into his hands.

Cruelty was his pleasure, and he was said to be his particular delight to take over a village and force the leading citizenry to doff their clothes and dance before him.

He had always a supply of women in his hideouts, and authorities said many of them bore him children, to fill the ranks of his bandit army.

Many are the tales of fantastic orgies by the bandits after a profitable theft.

Their tactics were to gallop swiftly into remote towns or attack small clusters of houses, to loot, violate, mutilate, kill and flee.

Many of his victims never told of their terror. If they went to police, Lamepo always warned, "I shall return."

Police Fire Into Riotous Crowds At Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma, July 29 (AP)—British military police fired into riotous crowds of Burmese Buddhists and Indian Moslems today for the first time in four days of fighting in which 47 persons have been killed and more than 300 wounded.

First reports said six were wounded by volleys fired by troops in three different parts of the city.

During the night knives flashed, stones flew and sticks were wielded from the darkness as British troops patrolled the streets in armored cars, set up machine-guns and barricaded trouble areas.

Forty were killed yesterday in the biggest riot of the past several days, when Buddhists undertook to avenge what they held to be an insult to their faith in a new Moslem book.

The book was withdrawn, but Buddhist monks and their sympathizers entered a native bazaar where a Moslem trader was reported to have distributed copies.
