Lubbock Voters Approve $3.5 Million Bonds

Memorial Services Held At Reese AFB for Dr. King, Jr.

Atlanta Celebrates Birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Col. and Mrs. William E. Brown of Reese Air Force Base are shown congratulating Dr. Emory Davis, Associate Professor of Sociology at Texas Tech University, last Tuesday afternoon after his address to approximately 120 persons who were on hand at the "Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Services", at the base chapel. Dr. Davis spoke on the subject: "A Glimpse of Dr. King". This special program was sponsored by the Black Cultural Club of Reese. (Staff Photo)

Reese AFB, Texas —Dr. Emory Davis, associate professor of sociology at Texas Tech University, delivered the main address at the special "Dr. Martin L. King, Jr. Memorial" service in the Base Chapel Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Davis, who spoke on the "Glimpse of Dr. King", told more than 120 persons on hand what Dr. King was like in his private life.

"I feel as though the other glimpse of Dr. King is important for us to really understand the man who believed in non-violence," he told the attentive group. "Dr. King was a moral crusader who was for social change and he went about his work full of dedication", was emphasized by Dr. Davis.

"The 5th Chapter of Acts of the Apostles will give you the hallmark of Dr. King's life; he was a well disciplined person and well-trained for his works in non-violence," he continued.

This service was sponsored by the Base's Black Culture Club and was moderated by Master Sergeant Brooks A. Benford. Special music was rendered by The Black Voices of Texas Tech University. The group, under the direction of Ken Baker, sang three numbers, "We've Come This Far by Faith," "Yes, Jesus Loves Me," and "The Storm is Passing Over."

Colonel Walter H. Baxter, III, 64th Flying Training Wing Commander, told the group in his welcome remarks, "I can think of few people who have affected our lives as Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr." He went on to add: "Let's leave here this evening wanting to make his dream of love and brotherhood a reality," he continued.

Lt. Hollis Booker and S/Sgt. Archie Hall read scriptures from the Bible; and an interesting address was also given by Sgt. Emory Moss. Chaplain (Col.) William W. Campbell gave the invocation and Chaplain (Major) David P. Wood gave the benediction.

A special offering was received at the close of the service for the aid of Sickle Cell Anemia.

For two days this month, Atlantans celebrated the 45th Birthday Anniversary of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. under the theme "Keep The Dream Alive. Do Something New—Make Nonviolence a Part of You."

That theme reflects Dr. King's life-long affirmation that human conflicts should be resolved nonviolently, and that nonviolence is the best means of achieving social progress.

Mrs. Coretta Scott King, President of The Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Social Change, which coordinated the birthday observance, said that the theme on nonviolence was selected "because a crucial part of my husband's legacy is to teach people his message of the power and morality of nonviolence as a way of life and the most effective method of social change."

All segments of the Atlanta area population participated in this year's celebration.

The events began Monday night, January 14, with the Third Annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Birthday Benefit Concert, which was held at the OMNI and featured Columbia Records' stars Sly and the Family Stone, The O'Jays, Ramsey Lewis, and Maxine Weldon, with Don Cornelius of television's "Soul Train" as the master of ceremonies.

On Tuesday, January 15, the 45th anniversary of Dr. King's birth in Atlanta, there was a Wreath Laying Ceremony at his crypt, followed by a 10 a.m. Ecumenical Service at Ebenezer Baptist Church.

At noon a Celebration March left from the church, proceeded to downtown Atlanta, and ended with a mass Community Rally at the Municipal Auditorium.

Lubbock voters went to the polls Tuesday and voted for the $3.5 million bond issue which will couple with the already available $7.8 million authorized to build a Memorial Civic Center in downtown Lubbock where a devastating tornado in May of 1970 demolished the area. The issue passed by a 56.1% margin and now the Mayor and City Council may get on with the construction of the new facility. Unofficial tabulations late Tuesday night showed a 13,709 vote with 7,694 voting for the issue and 6,015 casting a negative vote.

Bids on the civic center were thrown out last November when the total cost of the project came in at $10.3 million, or roughly $5.9 million more than the amount budgeted by the City and the local Urban Renewal Agency. New bids on the project are due January 18 and with the voter approval last Tuesday, new bids, if within budget could be awarded without delay.

Prior to the bond election early this week, six structures have already been committed to be built on 22.23 acres of land in the area. These structures are LaQuinta Motel, 104 units which are under construction; Denny's Restaurant, a 100-110 seating capacity restaurant which is already under construction; IBM Office Building of approximately 20,000 square feet; the West Texas Hospital, from 150 to 200 beds; the Medical Office Building, 21,000 to 28,000 square feet; and the Regional Department of Public Safety Building, 23,442 square feet of which five acres was purchased from the city by the State of Texas.

Estimated cost of the construction of the six structures listed above will be in the neighborhood of $9, to $12 million, well above the cost for the bonds which were passed last Tuesday. Not only this, but this effort will increase the tax base which is reported to be three-fold to that prior to the May 11th tornado. The estimated yearly city and school tax from the 7.84 acres already sold or contracted for will yield $150,000, as compared to only $60,000 prior to construction and development, according to local officials.

Residents of East Lubbock voted for the bonds. Those voting in Box 20, (Iles) were 82 for and 24 against; and Box 6, (Alderson), were 91 for and 90 against.

which began in Roscoe, Texas in 1953. In 1966, Pollard bought out Lubbock Auto Company; in 1973, he limited operation of. Pollard Ford Company for expansion purposes and now claims the largest, full-service Ford dealership in West Texas. The new Pollard building is a total of 51,880 square feet and houses the service, sales, parts, paint and body departments. The 37 member staff of the skelton operation of the past few months has expanded to 80 people.

Pollard believes the tent lowering ceremony—aside from announcing readiness for business—will allow older Lubbock area citizens to relive a bit of nostalgia as they remember earlier circus tents, and give younger ones something unusual for a change.

Association President Outlines Goals to Members Last Tuesday

"Thank God, we have business men and women in our community who are concerned about the welfare of East Lubbock," was the tone of an address given by T.J. Patterson, newly elected president of the East Lubbock Business Association.

Fifty members and interested citizens were present last Tuesday evening (January 8, 1974) at Mae Simmons Community Center when Patterson gave his "State of East Lubbock" address to the group. He said, "As one songster is singing now... 'We must keep on, keeping on'."

Patterson related many problems which exist in the Eastern part of Lubbock and gave an appreciation for the members of the organization who placed confidence in him, be electing him president. He paid special to C.B. Stubblefield when he said: "I would like to thank Mr. Stubblefield for his insight to seeing that something was done about organizing this type of effort. He was willing to do his part to see that something was done."

In his twenty-five minute speech, Patterson urged the membership and citizens of east Lubbock to pay close attention to the progress being made in Lubbock. "There are 19,148 residents (12.8%) living in east Lubbock; and we appear to be out of the picture when you talk about developing our community," he said.

He eluded to the fact that black people are out of the picture when it comes to getting a piece of economic pie or being counted in the political arena. He asked, "Are you willing to travel in the same direction as the city of Lubbock is being developed and receive a piece of the gigantic economical pie which is being baked in our community? Or are you willing to set as we have been in the past and remain status quo?"

He presented fourteen goals to the body and asked for their complete cooperation. "I hope the board of directors will look careful at these goals and place priority on them. If these goals are not completely in accord with the thinking of the board of directors and membership, I'd like to see some goals set so we can get something started as soon as possible," he said.

The following were presented to the membership:

•Goal 1—As soon as possible, I strongly recommend this organization will become an incorporated organization. I recommend that this organization retain Atty. A. Gene Gaines to draw up our incorporation; •Goal 2—The East Lubbock Business Men and Women Association should have exposure throughout Lubbock. The entire public should see our effort. I recommend that bumper stickers be sold and placed on as many cars as possible. A committee should be appointed to handle this effort. Each member should be given one with his membership. A fee should be paid for each sticker to non-members, preferably $2.00.

•Goal 3—The East Lubbock Business Association should have a membership drive to bring in 100 members by April 1, 1974.

•Goal 4—A meeting should be called as soon as possible by the board of directors with the following organizations:

1. Chamber of Commerce
2. BD

Pollard Ford to Take Down Tent Friday Afternoon

Principals of Pollard Ford, Lubbock, are extending a public invitation to the "ending of one era and the beginning of a new one." The occasion is a tent-lowering ceremony, Friday, Jan. 18, 4 p.m. at the site of the new Pollard home, Loop 289 and Indiana. The event will precede grand opening ceremonies to be announced at a later date.

The tent itself is a gigantic 100 by 60 foot landmark used in the interim operation of Pollard Ford the past year and is—according to members of the Pollard firm—reminiscent of the huge circus tents of yesteryear.

But to Dick Pollard, president, it marks a milestone in his career,

Nevada Charged With Bias

Washington — (NBNS) — The Justice Department has charged the state of Nevada with discriminating against women through enforcement of certain state employment laws.

In the suit filed in U.S. District Court in Reno, the Federal Government said the laws could prevent women from working more than eight hours a day and more than six days a week, thus restricting their employment opportunities.

Africans Alarmed Over Bombing

Paris — (NBNS) — African ambassadors have told the French Government they are "profoundly disturbed" about the Dec. 14 bomb attack on the Algerian consulate in Marseille. They also complained

East 19th Street Begins at Avenue A

Since when did the other newspaper, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, have the authority to determine what is east, west, north or south in the City of Lubbock? If you read Friday morning's edition, January 11, 1974, you would have seen that they are now calling the incorrect locations of our community.

In an article, "Road Work Finished on East 19th Street," it said, "City residents who traverse 19th Street between Texas Avenue and University Avenue will no longer have to detour or keep an eye out for construction barriers." Since when did Texas Avenue become a part of East Lubbock? If you pay close attention to this article one would assume this is the way it really is.

If this other newspaper is going to change the direction of East in Lubbock, we feel as though the City Council and Mayor should at least warn the residents of the real East Lubbock community about what is going on and why.

Residents of East Lubbock, without any doubt, would love to have East 19th Street re-developed and made into an attractive area of our city. At the busy corner of East 19th Street and Avenue A, for example, there is a nasty construction problem which has remained the same for a long time. If East 19th Street was ready we wouldn't have to worry about this nasty looking intersection.

At this particular intersection, it appears as though the City Planning and Traffic Department is undecided as to how this signal light should be constructed. We've heard of indecisions before, but the indecision at East 19th Street and Avenue A really takes the cake.

We would advise the other newspaper to consult the City of Lubbock or the West Texas Times if you are not sure on what constitutes the Eastern part of 19th Street. No, East 19th Street doesn't begin at Texas Avenue.

We must admit that everything east of Texas Avenue is in a bad state of condition and it appears not to be a cousin to west Lubbock. This, however, is no reason for the other newspaper to mis-direct the citizens of Lubbock about the directions of our community.

We would like to inform them that East 19th Street really does begin at Avenue A. If you don't believe us, then travel in the eastern part of the city and you'll discover where the east begins.

East Lubbock Business Assn Makes Sense

It appears as though the businessmen and women of east Lubbock have finally woke up to the many opportunities which exist in this city of our. It appears as though there are individuals in East Lubbock who are concerned about the economical pie of our community. This is good and something should happen because of this effort. We wish the members of the East Lubbock Business Association all the luck in the world.

We hope that all residents of East Lubbock as well as other areas will get behind this important effort which is in its infant stage, and help develop some programs which benefit the entire populus. Of course, the nearly 20,000 residents who reside in the eastern part of Lubbock will benefit from this outcome, but a ripple effect will be seen throughout our community.

We say keep pushing hard for something in Lubbock and all residents will have an opportunity to establish something which we all can be proud. A successful program as this can erase the many welfare bags we have in our community. This type of program will create some positive images for our young people. This will give hope in a situation which will motivate our entire effort.

The West Texas Times is behind the East Lubbock Business Association. We wish you well in your effort and open our doors to help in any area of concern. Lubbock needs you and you need Lubbock.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

It is about time for politicians to know that the West Texas Times pays close attention to their actions in any given situation. Not only will we pay attention, but we will inform our many readers of the actions of those whom we are responsible for voting for each election. It is very essential that our readers know about what is going on and exactly how politicians pay close attention to the impact of the black voter in Lubbock.

It was quite interesting to me last week when Max Arrants placed his announcement for re-election as County Commissioner in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and the Slatonite newspapers. He evidently forgot that there are 19,148 residents in the eastern part of Lubbock (this does not include Lubbock County) and did not choose to inform the West Texas Times that he was seeking re-election.

If he had been the only one running for the office, it could have been an oversight, but when it comes out there is another resident of Slaton seeking the same position, it bothers me.

I want every resident of East Lubbock to know that when people appear to forget about you, then you should forget about them when it comes to voting at the polls. This newspaper has been in business for over twelve years and there's no excuse for any professional politician to overlook this fact.

It's time for every resident (not only black) in East Lubbock to pay close attention to what is going on in Lubbock and Lubbock County. Just because we happen to live east of Avenue A doesn't mean that we are nobody. Ask any smart politician if 12.8% of the city population has anything to do with the outcome of any given local election. If he's smart, he'll nod a favorable answer.

I would advise Mr. Arrants to be careful about slighting this newspaper when it comes to making public announcements about re-election. Of course it's his privilege to inform who he wishes, but it is our privilege to inform our many readers that he did not inform this newspaper about him seeking for another term.

I hope our readers realize that East Lubbock, if it is put together, can determine the outcome of this County Commissioner's seat. Keep in mind that the city of Slaton has less than 6,000 residents and there are 19,148 residents in East Lubbock. By the way, some of the residents of Slaton are even black and they read this newspaper.

It was learned last week from The Better Business Bureau of Lubbock that there is a so called "Reverend" Moses who is calling into this area by telephone attempting to sell advertising to the National Negro Press Pitch. Not only this, but he is indicating that proceeds would be used for various NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) projects.

In talking with Dr. F.L. Lovings, local president of the Lubbock chapter, he says he knows nothing about it and would advise caution. Dr. Lovings said: "I don't know anything about this type program".

Information received by the local BBB agency reveals that this "is only one of 45 names of publications used interchangeably but every telephone pitchman calls himself "Reverend."

I have written, in the past, about people with their hands out and begging for monies from various business establishments. I would like to make it aware to you of this type of effort.

I know we are all concerned about conserving energy in our city, but if you look at East Lubbock it appears as though we are in combat with a foreign country. Must it be that we are always cut out of everything all the time.

Driving over the narrow overpass on East 24th Street during the evening hours is becoming darker each evening. At least something could be done about the lighting on this overpass since it is so darn narrow and shakey.

True, we must conserve as much energy as possible under the present situation. This does not mean we must make areas unsafe for taxpayers to drive to and from their work and other destinations.

I think this overpass lighting needs to be looked at by City Hall or the City Council and mayor. It's terrible!!

BONANZA FOR OIL BARONS

by Jack Anderson

(Copyright, 1974, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—The federal energy office has announced an investigation into oil profits.

Rather than wait for the results, we have conducted our own investigation. We have talked to sources inside the big oil companies and managed to obtain corporate papers which were never intended to be read outside the executive suites. Here are our findings:

The oil companies definitely have squeezed higher profits for themselves from the oil shortage. For example, the Persian Gulf countries have increased their oil income by doubling the taxes and royalties from three dollars to seven dollars a barrel.

The oil companies, however, are permitted to charge off these payments, dollar for dollar, against their U.S. taxes. Then the companies add the foreign tax to the price of the oil. In other words, the consumers really pay the overseas tax increase, but the companies take credit for it on their U.S. returns.

The oil companies have also used the shortage as an excuse to cut back some of the products that aren't too profitable. The oil industry produces around 3,000 products, some of them vital to other industries. Now oil companies are channeling the available oil into the products that make the most money for themselves.

The majors are also closing their less profitable gas stations and putting the squeeze on independently-owned stations. This means the oil shortage will wind up increasing the profits that the big companies get from their retail outlets.

So far, the oil shortage has been a bonanza for most companies. Only their customers are hurting.

Delicate Stage: The Arab-Israeli talks have now reached a crucial juncture. The Israelis have offered to pull back about 18 miles from the Suez Canal into the Sinai mountain passes. In return, they want the canal reopened and the towns along its banks resettled. This would be insurance, the Israelis feel, against a renewed Egyptian attack.

The Egyptians, however, have refused any "partial settlement." They will accept the Israeli offer only if it is tied to a timetable for total Israeli withdrawal from Egyptian lands. The Egyptians want to go back to the border that existed before the 1967 war.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan flew to Washington to win U.S. support. Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy flew to Moscow to win Soviet support.

But in the strictest secrecy, Fahmy has informed Secretary of State Henry Kissinger that the Egyptians would rather not work too closely with their Soviet allies.

The Soviets, for example, wanted a seat on the military working group which is trying to separate the Egyptian and Israeli forces on the Suez-Sinai front. Fahmy confided to Kissinger that Egypt didn't want the Soviets on the working group.

It will take delicate diplomacy, meanwhile, to achieve a settlement. But Kissinger privately is optimistic.

Crack In Latin Left: The overthrow of Salvador Allende's Marxist regime in Chile has thrown the leftist movement throughout Latin America into a tizzy.

Secret intelligence reports quote Cuba's Fidel Castro as calling Allende a weakling and blaming his timid leadership for the downfall of Marxism in Chile. Allende's failure, Castro has said, only confirms his own convictions that a Marxist revolution is impossible without mass mobilization and a complete crack-down on the opposition.

But other Latin American leftists, according to the intelligence reports, have bitterly blamed Castro for letting down the Allende regime. They have complained that the Soviet Union also backed off when Allende needed support.

Increasingly, the leftist movement in Latin America is sharply split between the regular Communists who follow the Moscow line and the splinter groups. These range from extremists and terrorists to moderate socialists.

The anti-Soviet leftists look upon Castro as a Kremlin lackey. They believe Cuba has fallen under the influence of Moscow until it no longer supports revolutionary movements for the sake of reform but merely carries out Soviet policy in Latin America.

Watergate Whirlpool: Some of our most respected government agencies have been caught in the Watergate Whirlpool. The Central Intelligence Agency became a cover for laundrying campaign cash in Mexico. The former FBI director destroyed incriminating evidence in his fireplace. The Secret Service has been accused of ordering millions of dollars worth of improvements on President Nixon's private homes.

But the agency which has been hurt the most—and the one that can least afford it—is the Internal Revenue Service. The American people pay their taxes on the honor system. We suffer in silence on the assumption everyone else is doing the same.

Over the past year, however, we have learned that the President got away with paying less taxes than the average working family. Anyone else who had virtually wiped out his taxes with huge deductions would have been subjected to a thorough audit. Yet all Nixon received was a whitewash.

Now the President has invited a joint congressional committee to review his taxes. Our sources inside the IRS say this made the agency nervous. Fearing congressional sleuths might find something its own agents had missed, the IRS hastily ordered a reaudit of the President's tax returns.

Our sources say the agents are taking a particularly close look at the financing of Nixon's San Clemente estate. The President bought the estate with money loaned to him by his millionaire friend, Robert Abplanalp; who canceled the debt in return for a deed to a part of the property. Yet the President wound up with the most valuable section and he has been using Abplanalp's portion rent-free.

Our sources confide that the President is almost sure to have to pay some back taxes.

Austin—Lawmaker delegates to Texas' first Constitutional Convention since 1875 got off to a bumpy start last week.

They lost little time in election of House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. as "president" but they wrangled for two and a half days over procedural rules.

The rules fight appeared to center largely on concern of some delegates over yielding too much authority to the presiding officer and professional staff.

Some observers feared the preliminary wrangles indicated a minority of delegates really do not want a new constitution at all.

Some were sniping at Daniel, and others were following legislative custom and trying to leave their imprint on the rulebook of a historic event.

Top officials, including Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Daniel, offered words of encouragement to delegates and predictions of success.

Plain citizens are supposed to get their chance to express their views to the delegates when committee hearings get underway, probably this week.

Convention planners hoped to run off a fast-paced 81 day schedule before the spring primary election, but hope for keeping that pace dimmed with the drawn-out rules debate. Mood of delegates appeared to be to take all the time they want. They can work until July 31 if they insist on it.

Speed Limit Cut—Starting January 20 at 12:01 a.m., the speed limit will be 55—not 70—miles per hour.

Governor Briscoe issued the official proclamation hours after the Texas Highway Commission approved lowering the limit in line with federal directive as a fuel-saving measure.

President Nixon January 2 signed a new law providing for withholding of federal highway aid funds in those states which refuse to establish a 55 mph limit in 60 days.

An earlier effort by the Commission to reduce the limit was rejected by Atty. Gen. John Hill, who said special legislative authorization was necessary. Briscoe then called the legislature into session and asked for a new law giving the Highway Commission power to lower the limit with his concurrence. Lawmakers granted that authority last month.

Efforts will be made to protect those who get early speeding tickets under the law from jacked-up insurance premiums as a result.

Politicians In, Out—Some state office holders bowed out of and some jumped into statewide races during early January.

Comptroller Robert Calvert, 81, announced he would retire at the end of his present term. And Speaker Daniel indicated it is unlikely he will enter any state race.

Meanwhile, Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace of Athens, appointed last year by Governor Briscoe to fill a vacancy, said he is seeking an elective term.

State Sen. Jim Wallace of Houston sounded like a likely contender for Calvert's job, as did Hugh Edburg, head of the comptroller's accounting, revenue and statistics section. Former Secretary of State Bob Bullock of Austin has been campaigning for comptroller since last summer.

Courts Speak—The State Supreme Court found a Jefferson County welder was due the maximum 200 weeks of workmen's compensation benefits for an injured knee, although he refused corrective surgery.

In other cases the High Court held:

- Lower courts were wrong in directing a Nacogdoches highway contractor to pay school taxes on construction machinery located outside the school district.

- Claims by 14 ex-employees of a pipeline construction company that the company owed them $71,728 in bonuses on promise of the president are not valid.

- A divided (3-2) Court of Criminal Appeals once more ruled against the appeal of former State Representative Walter Knapp from a four-year prison sentence for theft of $1,200 in state postage stamps.

Gas Firms Hit—A Texas Railroad Commission official charged refusal by natural gas pipeline firms to give the state information on their reserves is delaying development of an apportionment plan.

The Commission can't draw a plan for dividing gas over the state until it finds out specifics about reserves, installations, where gas is coming from, how much companies pay for it and how much is being piped out of state, according to Frank Youngblood, TRC gas utilities director.

Short Snorts

Texas church related colleges cannot get state financial aid if they require their staffs to hold certain religious beliefs, Attorney General Hill held.

Texans may be buying gasoline by the half-gallon, because some pumps don't register prices more than 49.9 cents per gallon.

Cotton growers in Pecos, Ward, Reeves and portions of El Paso and Hudspeth counties face a February 1 deadline for stalk destruction.

A 20 per cent insurance reduction is promised for Chrysler, Volvo and American Motors 1974 cars with stouter bumpers.

The League of Women Voters is maintaining a Constitutional Convention office in Austin to furnish information on action.

The State Board of Insurance is monitoring the impact of the energy crisis on all aspects of property and liability coverage, particularly with regard to effect of slower speeds on auto insurance rates.

People Power

Pedal cars, battery powered vehicles and even wood or charcoal burners are coming back into fashion, according to reports describing the world's reaction to the energy crisis.

Battery and pedal powered cars are not new. In fact, some of the first automobiles were battery powered, and a few of these antiques are still owned by collectors. Pedan powered cars and vehicles are, actually, "people power."

If the present energy crisis induces more people to use them, the nation will be healthier.

Frankly, the longer we travel this road of life, the less we know about it.

cut—about 50 cents in taxes. Then, to finance growth, the average firm keeps half of the remaining 50 cents for capital. So regular stockholders, like you, get the 25 cents that's left. But, if you're a typical investor, you're in the 40 percent tax bracket. So Uncle Sam winds up with 10 cents of your 25-cent dividend, and you wind up with 15 cents. Out of the original $1 of profit, 60 cents goes to Washington."

"Des Moines zoo director Robert Elgin has a roaring good idea," notes an American Mutual Insurance Alliance publication, "on how to discourage vandals. Following a costly incident where vandals sprayed zoo animals with paint and set some species free, Elgin provided the zoo community with a roving watchdog. A lion was allowed to patrol the enclosure after dark."

"I am very much alarmed at the possibility that in the very near future the energy crisis will force the shutdown of businesses, widespread unemployment, and a depression at least as bad as that of the thirties. Once that happens, it will be too late to remove the barriers and allow the utilities to do the things necessary to provide adequate energy."—Mr. George I. Bloom, Chairman, Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

According to the National Association of Manufacturers, "Interest on the public debt cost U.S. taxpayers $10.3 billion in 1963. For 1973 they will have to shell out an estimated $23.4 billion."

Arson is growing at a faster rate than other types of fires and even faster than most other crimes, a Stanford Research Institute report warns. Despite a general slackening of violent incidents nationally, arson is occurring at a rate ten times as high as in 1950 and is spreading to the suburbs, wrote Mr. Kendall D. Moll, a socio-economist and author of the report. The study recommended that investigative efforts in connection with arson be tripled, especially in small suburban and rural communities. According to statistics compiled through 1971 but still valid, arson losses account for possibly 30 percent or more of all building losses—greater than all the other costs of violence combined. The number of deliberate burnings had tripled since 1960 and jumped by 13 times since 1950—a tenfold increase when population growth is considered. "The efforts currently being devoted to arson investigations are entirely inadequate to the needs," the report said. Unless arson squads are increased, said the report, "...all areas of the nation will soon be facing an arson problem as serious as the inner cities have confronted during the past five years."

"According to native legend," it is noted in an information sheet entitled "Forest Facts and Features," published by the National Forest Products Association, "mahogany trees that are cut by the light of the moon are sounder, freer of sap, and of a richer color at night. The National Forest Products Association reports this has no basis in fact, but the belief persists."

November's Elections

This November's elections and others this year will provide a clue as to how badly Republican candidates are handicapped by the Watergate scandal of the past year.

Democrats who assume Watergate will be enough to dislodge Republican office-holders are perhaps overly optimistic. Recent polls have found the average voter disenchanted with the "in" politicians of both parties, however illogical this may seem.

What seems clear is that fresh faces, candidates whose credentials for honesty and integrity are beyond doubt, will have an added asset going for them in elections this year.

It's on the national level that the Republican Party seems likely to suffer most. For even with a new candidate two years hence, Watergate is an albatross around the G.O.P. neck. Governor Reagan and Rockefeller, of California and New York, though not compromised personally, must buck the stigma attached to their party, as must other potential Republican presidential candidates in 1976.

If November's congressional elections are a G.O.P. rout and Democrats emerge with better than two-thirds majorities in both houses of Congress, there could be added pressure on President Nixon (from both parties) to resign, to give the party a new image and to lay Watergate to rest—and to avoid a bitter struggle between the White House and Congress in 1975 and 1976 which could be costly to the nation in many ways.

Congress and Spending

The second session of the 93rd Congress will be judged on its spending record as much as on any other one standard. With this in mind, it should be noted that in its first session the 93rd Congress spent four or five billions more than President Nixon asked it to spend.

The President checked congressional spending in other cases with vetoes or first session spending would have been more. In this election year, with the President still at bay over Watergate scandals, Congress will probably be tempted to spend liberally, even if it means new taxes for the average citizen next year.

The official budget forecast as outlined this month by Budget Director Roy Ash is a $3 to $5 billion deficit in the current fiscal year and a $6 to $8 billion deficit for the 1975 fiscal year. (The current year's deficit would have been higher except for unexpectedly higher revenue collections in recent months.)

With the nation facing an economic slowdown, if not a recession, by the fuel crunch (and Ash doesn't foresee a recession), Congress squarely has a moral responsibility to hold spending within reason. The dollar's stability was only recently saved by two devaluations, which have forced the American consumer to pay more for thousands of imported products. Reckless spending, producing huge budget deficits, will rapidly produce another dollar crisis—and higher taxes. Only responsible action (limited spending) by the second session of this 93rd Congress will avoid that fate.

The Postal Service

In a lead editorial "Reader's Digest" in its January issue warns that proposed postal rate increases will almost certainly bring about the death of much of the magazine industry.

The plight of the magazine industry raises fundamental questions about postal service in America, questions which were not properly addressed when Congress in 1970 abdicated its responsibility to the American people and turned postal service over to a private corporation—so that it could earn a profit.

Moreover, the Postal Service enjoys a monopoly in many areas. In defense of the present service, it should be said that the Postal Reorganization Act of 1970 required that within five years every class of mail pay its own way. That is one reason why the Postal Service recently proposed sharply higher rates, though this hike has been postponed for two months, until March.

The situation as the 93rd Congress convenes is therefore that postal service has not improved since the congressional abdication and that rate increases have already helped kill several major magazines and will surely kill others. As "Reader's Digest" argues, magazines are a seedbed of ideas among the people and a means of educating the masses, and are thus not to be killed off lightly, leaving the job almost entirely to the new television giant, to a large degree controlled by a few cliques in New York and Hollywood entertainment and money circles.

Congress should eventually reacquire the postal service, see to it that it is run as a service to the taxpayers, which means a subsidy to guarantee cheap delivery of printed materials. If the 93rd Congress can't move that quickly, it should enact legislation proposed by Senator Gale McGee (D-Wy.) to slow second class rate increases. In the long postal policy: "I believe that the Postal Service should continue to be what its name and historical role imply—a service to the American people."

Brownsville, Pa., Telegraph: "In three years Saudi Arabia may have greater financial reserves than the United States, Western Europe, and Japan combined. The speaker, a high U.S. official, was underlining the pivotal role played by King Faisal's desert realm in the monetary and energy future of the Western World. 'In 1974', he said, 'Saudi Arabia may earn $15 billion in oil revenues, of which the Saudis can spend only $3 billion on internal development.' At that rate, the official went on, the Saudis by the end of this decade 'may have accumulated $100 billion in reserves,' becoming in a real sense the 'bankers of the world.' "

Bentleville, Pa., Courier: "Speaking of the energy crisis, a friend of mine in Washington, D.C. called attention the other night to what he called the 'second house mania' in this country. He intimated that unoccupied summer and winter second homes in the mountains and at the beaches, often with heat, lights and appliances aging, may be blamed for a part of the energy shortage. The same could be said for second, third and fourth automobiles, cycles, boats, etc., largely idling for no necessary reason."

Police Beat

Destruction of Private Property

Otis Priestley, 2212 Redbud Avenue, Apt. A, reported to Lubbock police that a 17-year-old youth threw two Coke bottles at his car while it was parked at 1001 East 28th Street, No. 21, one day last week. He said the damage caused a light to be knocked out.

Mr. Priestley told police that the youth "threatened to kill him" in the presence of police, according to the police report.

The 17-year-old youth had in his possession a butcher knife when he threatened Mr. Priestley. It was learned that Mr. Priestley would file charges against the youth. We hope he did.

Assault

A Lubbock woman who has been living for seven years with a man was quite upset over the treatment he gave her one night last week. She told police that after a very heated argument the two had a terrible fight.

She told police that her "common-law husband beat her up after the argument." A sister of the lady, who happens to live next door, jumped into the affair and she received a "blow in the face" for helping out.

House Burglary

Nevie Povall, 1804 East 1st Place, reported to Lubbock police that someone broke into his house while he was away. He reported that the screen was removed in order to gain entry to the house.

According to the police report, persons went through the house and upset the bedroom by going through a chest of drawers looking for money. There was approximately $92 taken from the house including $20, a woman's watch, and two dollars in green from a piggy bank.

There was no idea of who was responsible for the break-in that caused the damage to the house.

Vandalism

H.C. Jackson, 2710 East 10th Street, reported to Lubbock police that he saw some young boys standing in the alley. One of the boys apparently shot a BB rifle and broke a bathroom window.

What was so bad about the shooting of the bathroom window was that Mr. Jackson was shot in the chin with a BB.

There was approximately $10 worth of damage to the window.

Assault

A Lubbock woman, Shirley Nelloms, 2722 East 2nd Street, reported to Lubbock police that her son, age 12, was walking past the Posey Neighborhood Center one day last week enroute to school when he was assaulted by a 20-year-old man.

She said the man struck her son several times in the face. There was a swelling under the right eye and his eye was bloodshot.

Mrs. Nelloms told police that she would file charges against this 20-year-old man who took advantage of her son.

Vandalism

Austin Lovett, 2640 East Baylor Avenue, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown did knock a portion out of his wooden door while he was away one day last week.

There was approximately $25 worth of damage done to the door.

Auditions will take place on the campus of West Texas State University on Saturday, January 19th in the Fine Arts Building, and in the Women's Gym at Texas Tech University on January 20th. Actors, singers, dancers, players on banjo, accordion, violin, double bass and guitar, and technicians, will have an opportunity to try-out to be a part of the company which produces this world renowned musical drama each summer.

Applicants are invited to appear in Canyon between 10:00 a.m. and 12:00, 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. (Dancers only from 5:00), and in Lubbock from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. (Dancers only from 3:00).

There are a hundred salaried positions ranging from $500 to $1500 for a summer on the stage and anyone who is interested is cordially urged to appear.

William A. Moore, the director of "Texas" since its beginning, will be looking for command of the stage, for a voice that can be heard outdoors, for actors who understand character motivation who can convey a variety of emotion. He asks that the try-out selection be a memorized scene from a play. (3 minutes).

The musical director, Royal Brantley, is looking for voices of quality and precision, and urges applicants to choose audition material which will show the range of their voices and their artistry. Some musical comedy songs, most arias and art songs will do this.

Neil Hess, the choreographer, requests dance applicants to appear in rehearsal dress, and be prepared to follow him in a set of dance routines.

The season will open with a first rehearsal on May 26, 1974. Performances will be nightly except Sundays from June 19, 1974 through August 24.

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

One down and thirteen to go!
It sounds so easy when you write it that way, only 13 to go, but every one of those games will be crucial and probably every one of those games will be hard fought.

I'm talking, of course, about Texas Tech basketball. The Raiders opened the conference campaign at Fayetteville Saturday and came through with an overtime victory.

Psychologically, winning the first game is important. It doesn't mean that a championship is in the offing, but it does mean that you have one less game to win and it gives you momentum.

In addition, the victory was on the road against an Arkansas team that usually is at its best at home. Indeed, the Razorbacks don't lose many in the hills and that makes this first Raider win even more important. The Porkers have killed more than one team's hopes in the Ozarks.

Typically, it was a team victory. I saw that despite the brilliant game by Rick Bullock and the support by William Johnson, Richard Little and Phil Bailey.

Under Gerald Myers, you're not likely to see the type of scoring that Bullock produced. Not that Gerald is opposed to a man scoring high, nor that Bullock isn't capable of that kind of point production. Instead, the Raiders are drilled in unselfish play.

If Bullock was scoring, it wasn't because he was selfish, but because his teammates were getting him the ball, making it possible for him to pile up points.

It's a lot more difficult to defense a team, for one thing, where there is no one high scorer. On a well balanced team, any player should be capable of scoring. That's one of the things that made Tech so hard to beat last year and the pattern appears to be continuing.

Miami proved that the Super Bowl victory last year was no fluke. The Dolphins jumped in front, commanding play and putting the result almost out of reach in the first quarter.

As a matter of fact, the first quarter decided the game and it was academic after that. Minnesota's vaunted defense was ripped to shreds and the Viking offense didn't get untracked until long after the defeat was sealed. After so much anticipation, it was a letdown.

Miami is awesome. I used to think that Green Bay teams came about as close, under Vince Lombardi, as it is to reach perfection. Miami makes you take another look.

Larry Czonka is a ferocious runner. Mercury Morris outside is a constant threat. Bob Griese may not be the greatest passer in NFL history, but you have to respect him. And that defense is something else to behold. They do the job, anchored by Manny Fernandez. The Dolphins are for real. They're also going to be around a long time.

I'm sorry that the mails didn't get the column I wrote in Dallas, for after the Cotton Bowl game, here in time to appear. Maybe when they raise the price of stamps, we'll get something better than four day delivery from Dallas to Lubbock. But don't bet on it.

Anyway, in that column I commented on the Gator Bowl game and the tremendous Tech victory. The Raiders won both the football game and the halftime show, as I remarked.

I also said that Lubbock folks should write bitter letters to ABC and complain about the treatment the Gator Bowl received. Tennessee fans should have been just as unhappy. Any real fan was going to watch the Sugar Bowl game and the over-promotion of that battle was totally uncalled for.

Several Dallasites, including the press, felt the same way. Field Scovell and Ken Dowell were furious. There were many others. It's not too late to let the network know that you resented the shabby treatment, let alone the Tennessee-slanted coverage.

As for the band performance, it was superb! It was what West Texans have grown to expect, but have never become blasé about. The musicians and the players lived up to expectations.

Joe Barnes again had a brilliant game, while the defense rose to the occasion. And, after seeing the Cotton Bowl game, it may well be that Texas didn't want any part of Tech again in 1973. I look forward to 1974. That's when I think Tech will rule supreme.

The action by the Southwest Conference in slightly more than slapping SMU on the wrists was anticipated. Both an SMU official and a player told me that this was what they expected.

They expected this because the SMU president personally admitted guilt and reported it. It's a little hard to kick someone in the teeth too hard when they say they're guilty voluntarily. It may have come out later, but by admitting it sooner, SMU escaped more easily.

*****

The player told me that he thought the big trouble with the Mustang football team was that Coach Dave Smith was too demanding. "He made us think that every game was the most important on the schedule. After we lost to Missouri, we really felt that the season was over."

The player also said that a majority of the Mustang squad wanted Bum Phillips as head coach and, when he left because he wasn't appointed, a lot of players resented the treatment.

But look for more action in the conference, because SMU, while admitting guilt, says that it knows of other institutions that are doing just as much, if not more, than they are.

Not that Mustang officials are vindictive, but they would like to see the entire conference brought in line. Tech fans, to the best of our knowledge, can watch with a sign of relief, because the chance of any guilt here are next to zero.

UCLA just rolls on and on and on, despite the loss of Bill Walton by injury or fouls. You know that one of these days the Bruins are going to lose, but you don't know when.

In the meantime, they continue their incredible streak. The Bruins must be considered the seventh wonder of the athletic world. Recruiting, of course, is a large part of the answer, but the lion's share of the credit has to go to Johnny Woodin, a super coach.

NAACP Wins Major Victory in New York City Federal Court

Washington, D.C. (NBNS)—The NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund has won a major victory in federal court here which could set the stage for the election of additional black candidates to seats in the Congress and the State Legislature from New York City.

In the first application of the 1970 Voting Rights Act to a Northern state, the Congressional and Legislative districts in Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx were ordered to be subject to the scrutiny of the Justice Department to ensure racial fairness.

This makes it likely to force the state to redraft district lines for U.S. House, State Senate and Assembly seats in the three counties in time for this year's elections. The Federal District Court order could set off reverberations in other parts of New York State and perhaps other Northern states as well.

Attorneys for the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund believe that application of the Voting Rights Act to New York could result in the creation of several new Congressional and legislative districts that could send more black or Puerto Rican representatives to Washington and the state capital at Albany.

The three New York counties affected by the ruling have 2.2 million black and Puerto Rican residents within their boundaries, more than any two Southern states combined.

Slow Decline in Black Poverty Reversed in '72

Washington — (NBNS) — The gradual decline in black poverty as a percentage of the total poverty population since 1959 was reversed in the 1972 Census Bureau tabulation of low income families.

In 1971, the portion of low income black families had dropped from 55.1 percent of the total poverty population to 32.5 percent. The figure turned up, however, in 1972 to 33.3 percent.

Poverty in 1972 was defined as an annual income of less than $4,275 for a non-farm family of four.

Statistically the identification of black poverty with families headed by women has grown greater, as more employment opportunities have developed for black men. There also has been a failure of welfare programs to promote unity in black families or to deliver on promises to provide more and better jobs for women supporting families.

As a result, black families headed by women now constitute 66 percent of all poor black families, as compared with less than 33 percent in 1959.

In 1972, an estimated 37 percent of the 6.6 million families headed by women had incomes below $4,000. Only 6 percent of the 46.3 million husband and wife families had incomes below this figure.

Black husband-wife families had a median income of $9,170 in 1972 — 70 percent of the white husband-wife figure. The median for black families headed by women was $3,840, or only 62 percent of the figure for white families headed by women.

The number of poor families declined 4 percent from 1971 to 1972, to 5.1 million families. White poverty declined 9 percent, while the number of poor blacks increased.

New Schedule for Lubbock City-County Bookmobile is Announced This Week

Changes in the schedule of the Lubbock City-County Bookmobile may help some Lubbock citizens to save on gas and at the same time prove to be a useful and entertaining way to utilize free time made available by the gasoline curtailment.

The new schedule for the Bookmobile will become effective on January 15. A day long stop at the Briercroft Shopping Center, Avenue Q and 50th Street, will now be made each Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. This stop will begin on January 18. On alternate Thursdays, beginning January 24, the bookmobile will be at 50th and Slide Road, which is a change in days for this stop. The Mackenzie Village stop has been changed from Tuesdays to Wednesdays, beginning Wednesday, January 16. The Redbud Stop will remain the same as at present, each Monday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The out-of-city stops are now Tuesdays in Shallowater, beginning January 15, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., alternating with New Deal, beginning January 22. Wolforth service will change to Thursdays beginning January 17.

Mrs. Janice McCafferty, bookmobile clerk hopes that area residents living near the new bookmobile stops will plan to pick up their reading materials when shopping in these shopping centers.

The collection of books for adults on the bookmobile is only a sampling of the great variety of books available at the main library facility at 2001 19th St. A browsing collection of good childrens books representative of the best in current childrens literature, as well as traditional favorites, is available for children.

"Library borrowers may request books not found on the bookmobile, but which are in the collection at the central library and these will be put on the bookmobile and held for the person who has made the request," says Mrs. McCafferty. Books borrowed from the main library may be returned to the bookmobile.
