More than two hundred friends, relatives and co-workers came out last Sunday afternoon to pay special tribute to two ladies who have given over fifty years together for the education of boys and girls in the state of Texas. The reception was held at Mae Simmons Community Center.

The two retirees, Miss Dethara Lewis and Mrs. Permilla P. Woods, were honored with a tea by the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Lubbock Alumnae Chapter, for a job well done.

Each lady received lovely gifts from sisters of the local graduate sorority. Mrs. Venita Holmes, president of the local chapter, told the group: "This is only a small token of love from sisters who appreciate what each of you has done in our community for the welfare of young people."

Rejoiced and filled with tears for the lovely affair, each lady expressed their sincere appreciation for the efforts each person responsible for the tea.

Wheatley First Grade Class Receives Good Citizenship Award

This is the second year this "Good Citizenship" contest has been at Wheatley Elementary School.

Mrs. Dorothy Phea a counselor at Wheatley initiated the contest because she believes in "classrooms without failure." Mrs. Phea said, "if students strive to make 'H's' and 'A's' in citizenship their academic grades will improve."

She visited each class at the beginning of the year to explain to them what they would be graded on. She took notes on how the class performed in reference to citizenship.

Each month visitors from the Central Office would go to each room to congratulate Mr. and Miss Citizenship for the month. In some of the rooms the students had special decorated chairs, crowns, or a special bulletin board with their names on it. Most of the children strive for this honor.

At the end of the school year the room that has achieved the most "H's" or "A's" received the award.

Mrs. Susan McPherson and her first grade class will receive the first place award. Mrs. Melessa Symons and her third grade class will receive the second place award. Miss Patricia Lampert and her fourth grade class will receive third place award.

The program has been a success at Wheatley School. Mr. Don W. Rocap is the principal at Wheatley.

Mrs. Susan McPherson's 1st Grade Room, First Place Winners.

Melessa Symons 3rd Grade Room was the Second Place Winner.

Patricia Lampert's 4th Grade Room was Third Place Winner.

EDITORIALS

We've Just Got to Vote Saturday

There is too much talent in the City of Lubbock for us not to get out and vote on Saturday, June 1st from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Many experts are predicting a light turnout. If this be the case, then residents of East Lubbock can easily determine who will win each of the three posts being sought this time.

In our community, there are educators, administrators, blue collar workers and others who can do their thing and make this election on Saturday something else. We've just got to vote this Saturday and let the entire world know that we care and can contribute something to the welfare of our community.

We've been on too many ego trips and have sit back and watched things come our way without sounding our exactly how we feel at the polls. All of us can contribute to this upcoming run-off election and be glad that we did. As many politicians are saying in some corners: "People in East Lubbock will not and don't want to vote."

If you agree with this above statement, you will not vote. But if you differ and want to do something for the benefit of your children, you will get out and vote like you never have before. It's that important that you put away all your feelings about the situation and do your thing at the polls.

Looking at two specific voting boxes, No. 6 and No. 20, black people can work hard in these boxes and start a revolution. Voting box 6 is the Alderson Junior High School area and voting box 20 is Ella Iles Elementary School area. Truly, we all know where these locations are and let's get on with the voting and let those persons in position know that we can and will do our part on Saturday.

If every person reading this sincere editorial on the part of the West Texas Times would be responsible for talking to and seeing that ten persons go to the polls Saturday, you will be happy over the outcome. We hope everyone of you will do your part and be concerned about the local situation. We are down to the point where voting is a must. If you need a ride to the polls, call our office and we'll do what we can to see that you get transportation.

Young people, all of you who can read and dance, please insist that mom and dad, grandma and grandpa vote. Get on the phone Friday and Saturday to persons who are qualified voters and tell them how important it is.

If you disagree with this, then you'd better check it out. It's looking bad for citizens in East Lubbock and if we don't show more interest, it will get worse.

All America Game Not Far Off

The American Football Coaches Association "All America Game" will be staged in the Hub City for the fifth year on Saturday evening, June 22. This is a healthy activity and is viewed over national television by millions of Americans. This game does more than show an outstanding game of football, but it shows good sportsmanship by those All Americans who come from throughout America to show their many talents to the nation.

This year, we at the West Texas Times would hope that more organizations in East Lubbock would get involved and show that we appreciate this type of effort. It doesn't take much to show how you care about an activity which will help our community.

There will be, as in the past, many talented black football players who will participate again this year. These young men need to know that the black community is behind them. We can do this by sponsoring some type of affair which they can attend and meet the many beautiful black people of Lubbock and West Texas.

No, it's not too late for some organization to coordinate this type of effort. It's something to think about. We're sure if some organization would contact George C. Miller, All American Game Committee, at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, his committee would be willing to see that this would become a reality.

Many of you in East Lubbock have given your time and effort in the past. Some of you have been host families and contributed other things. This is another year, so let's pitch in and do something different for the black athletes who will be in our community for two weeks. As it is named an "All America Game", we are all Americans. Let's show it on June 22.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

In the newspaper business, one never can imagine who is watching and reading what is in print each week. This was the case, last Friday afternoon, when this writer and Hershel Sanders of 2814 Weber Drive, Apt. B, had an interesting conversation about the local situation. The outcome of the conversation, to me, was quite informative and interesting.

Mr. Sanders, a man who apparently has had a great deal of training in many areas of community development, did a beautiful job in explaining his position on how he sees the local situation. He made it very clear, and I must agree, that the solution to many of our problems can be solved by working with the young people. Those young people are very dear to all of us.

He said: "If we would start utilizing the little ones in a positive situation they will help us older people solve many of our problems." What he was making references to was that, many times, our younger citizens are bored because there is nothing for them to do. He gave examples which were used in Chicago, Ill., while he was a community worker in the hardcore areas of that windy city.

As I See It, his concept of block clubs would be effective in the Hub City as it would create a credibility between each neighbor. This was a means of communication in Chicago which made things happen for residents of that community.

At the present time, Mr. Sanders is concerned about the land across from the Greenfair Manor Apartments. This property, which was recently acquired by the local Housing Urban Development (HUD), would be of a great advantage to the younger people who reside in Green-Fair Manor because of the lack of recreational facilities there.

It is good to see men like Mr. Sanders stepping forward with ideas and willing to involve the younger people of the community. As he said: "We will need the complete support of all parents of the Green-Fair Manor complex as well as all parents in East Lubbock to get something done. To me, it makes sense, for the parents hold the key to many programs for our young people. Let us think about what Mr. Sanders is saying and join him in this type of community effort.

Like I told Mr. Sanders, we shall talk again about what Lubbock holds for our younger people. This conversation makes people like me want to keep on, keeping on, regardless of the obstacles in our path.

Mr. E.W. Reed, the principal of Estacado High School, informed this writer that something will be happening in the next few weeks to get started on a Parent Teachers Association (PTA) at the high school. He seems real positive that next year's PTA will be something we all can be proud.

It's good to see Mr. Reed involved in this matter. I hope all parents of Estacado High School students will do their part to help put this package together so Estacado can set an image we all can be proud of.

As I See It, more parents are attending the Eastern Little League baseball games. I hope parents will continue to be present and help with the young people. The young people should be commended for a job well done last week at the ball park.

I must still report, however, there are still some who are continuing to behave as they have in the past. They are only young people and I know they will do a better job in the future. If all parents would get involved, we can lick this problem and make things better for their children.

The Eastern Little League needs our support. If you are a member of an organization and you have monies to contribute to youth organizations, why not think of the Eastern Little League. Your financial support would purchase baseballs for the teams. I'm sure if you will contact the president of the league, Dr. F.L. Lovings, he would be willing to work with your organization to see that baseballs or any other item would be well used by the league.

Another area of involvement for parents, would be the purchase of snow cones for the winning and losing teams each game. It has been the tradition of each winning team to receive snowcones after each game. In the past snowcones have cost five cents, now they are fifteen cents. This could be an area of supplying each team with snowcones after the games.

There are many other things the league would appreciate. There are sororities, fraternities, business and social clubs who could help in this regard. As each club or organization does his or her part, our kids would appreciate it and their attitudes would become more positive. Think about it and check it out.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

THE TROUBLE WITH HENRY by Jack Anderson

(Copyright, 1974, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—In these days of Watergate, the conduct of our foreign affairs is almost totally controlled by one man, the irrepressible Henry Kissinger. The problem with having an impresario for secretary of state, however, is that he can handle only one problem at a time. While he is trying to bring peace to the Middle East, the rest of the world is ignored. Here is a brief rundown of some of the problems awaiting Kissinger's attention:

—Experts predict the Greek military junta is bound to fall within months. Many Greek people resent continued U.S. support of the dictatorship. No matter who assumes the reins in Athens, we are likely to lose a valuable ally.

—The white supremacist nations in Africa are gearing for war with their black neighbors. Here in Washington, a few powerful military men, congressmen and lobbyists are working behind the scenes to aid South Africa and Rhodesia. The State Department is opposed to helping these racist governments, but everyone is waiting for Henry to come home.

—Detente with Russia and China is showing signs of strain. Peking is going through one of its periodic purges. Russia is irritated over Kissinger's Middle East successes.

—India desperately needs financial help and wants to normalize the strained relations with Washington. Kissinger can't find the time, however, for a long-planned trip to New Delhi.

These are just a few of the pressing problems. There simply don't seem to be enough Henry Kissingers to go around.

Meanwhile, the spreading famine around the world poses an agonizing dilemma for U.S. policymakers.

Kissinger favors rushing more aid to the starving nations. He views food exportation not only as humane but as good foreign policy.

The diplomatic superstar thinks the United States can score points with many underdeveloped nations by helping them now. Food may even help bring peace to the Middle East, in Kissinger's view. Syria is only one crop failure away from starvation.

But Kissinger's plan would mean higher prices for American housewives. His foes argue that the poor and elderly in America would wind up bearing the sacrifice. Higher food prices would also contribute to inflation and consumer discontent.

Last Friday, a cabinet level meeting was convened to grapple with the complex food problem. A firm policy has to be worked out in time for the World Food Conference this fall.

Sources privy to the discussions have told us that Kissinger and Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz are competing for the leadership of the American delegation.

If Butz leads the American contingent, the American consumer will be the winner. If Kissinger leads it, the starving nations of the world will get more help.

Either way, the painful decision is going to hurt someone.

Won't Quit: President Nixon has now made a least one thing perfectly clear. He will not resign, even under strong pressure.

Nixon's determination to "tough it out" may turn the impeachment hearings into a political proceeding. Unparalleled political pressures already are being brought on key members of Congress. One source close to the impeachment inquiry warned that "this process will make the Andrew Johnson impeachment seem tame and bipartisan."

Both sides in the impeachment debate have already become sidetracked on tangential issues. For example, the White House has condemned the "leaks" from the committee's closed hearings. And committee members have complained that they still have not received all the essential tapes.

The President's public release of the transcripts, meanwhile, has set off such a controversy about his language and moral character that the criminal evidence and subversion of the system have escaped the public's attention.

Thoughtful congressmen fear that the President's case may not be decided on its legal merits. There is serious concern in the halls of Congress that impeachment may be resolved not in the thousands of pages of evidence, but on the decks of the presidential yacht or in the deleted expletives of the transcripts.

Watergate Woes: Watergate has caused serious problems for the legal profession.

The latest attorney to become a Watergate casualty is William O. Bittman, the lawyer for Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt. Bittman will leave the prestigious Washington law firm of Hogan and Hartson at the end of next month. His departure from the firm came less than three weeks after the release of President Nixon's famous transcripts.

At least the legal profession has been quick to recognize the dangers posed by the Watergate scandal.

The Hughes Papers: One of the Watergate crimes that was planned but never committed was the burglarizing of Las Vegas publisher Hank Greenspun's safe. Watergate conspirators G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt apparently planned to steal a stash of Howard Hughes memos from the safe and escape in a waiting Howard Hughes plane.

We have now obtained copies of the documents that the Watergate burglars planned to steal. These show that Hughes was able to get inside information and favorable decisions out of Washington. He had access to the White House itself.

He was also able to send his emissaries into the Justice Department to reverse an antitrust ruling that had prevented him from acquiring another hotel-casino in Las Vegas.

The Civil Aeronautics Board granted him permission to purchase the Air West Airline after he hired President Nixon's close friend Pat Hillings to intervene.

One secret memo shows that in 1968 he received privileged information that helped him to buy up valuable gold and silver options. His chief lieutenant, Robert Mahew, reported that the inside information came "from contacts in the Geological Department of the Department of Interior."

"They had made a five year study of mining in the Western states. This information becomes public in January 1969. This is the reason for dating the options prior to the release of this information."

Obviously, somebody up there in the high places of Washington liked Howard Hughes.

Police Beat

Aggravated Assault

A Lubbock woman reported to Lubbock police that she was at the Rockmore Cafe, 1701 Avenue A, early Saturday morning when she and her ex-husband had an argument.

She said the man came into the cafe and just began to argue with her. According to the police report, the lady said the man cut her with a knife in the left back of her shoulder blade. The cut was not serious.

She was taken to a local hospital for treatment. She was advised by police that she could file charges this week. There were no witnesses obtained at the place of the incident.

Assault With a Motor Vehicle

James Ayers, 3401 East 15th Place, reported to Lubbock police that he was hit with a car at the corner of 17th and Avenue A last Saturday morning. He told police that his back was hurt and his elbow was skinned.

He said he would file charges on the person who assaulted him with the vehicle at about 3:45 a.m. in front of the Rockmore Cafe.

Vandalism

Eloise Satchel, 2616 Weber Drive, Apt. D, reported to Lubbock police that someone took advantage of her one evening last week. She reported that someone unknown broke her windshield at the 2900 block of East Baylor Avenue.

It is estimated that there was $100 worth of damage to her windshield.

Theft Over $5.00

Patsy Moore, 2707 Weber Drive, Apt. A, reported to Lubbock police that she had $10 taken from her purse in her apartment one evening last week.

She told police that her friend was the only person around when the money was missing. She related to police that her so called friend had on another occasion taken a bottle of perfume from her.

Patsy has no doubt that her friend took the money and will file charges this week. Do you think she will?

Burglary

Wesley Ayers, 1028 East 29th Street, Apt. G, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown entered his residence one day last week through an unlocked back door.

Taken from the house was $260, in an assortment of two $100 bills; one $50 bill; and one $10 bill.

You know it doesn't pay to keep large sums of money at home.

House Burglary

Larry Grant, 2720 East 10th Street, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown took approximately $800 worth of clothing from his house one day last week.

It was learned that entry was apparently gained through a window in the bedroom.

The heist included twelve shirts, and twenty-nine combinations of shirts and pants.
