A San Antonio educator, Richard Santos, director of Ethnic Studies at Our Lady of the Lake College, Monday (July 22) told participants in a Mexican American Education workshop at Texas Tech University how to use the past and present Mexican culture as a motivational tool for Mexican American children.

He was the opening speaker of the four-day workshop sponsored by the College of Education at Texas Tech University and the National Education task Force of De La Raza.

More than 80 public school and college teachers and students in the College of Education at Texas Tech have enrolled for the workshop.

Dean of education Robert H. Anderson delivered the opening remarks to the conference. Welcomes were extended by Dr.

Texas Education Agency Approves Equal Opportunity Program

The "Affirmative Action Program and Plan for Equal Opportunity", a new guideline for filling vacancies and promoting staff members within the Texas Education Agency, was given final approval Saturday, July 13, by the State Board of Education.

The plan, approved earlier by the Governor's Equal Employment Opportunity Office, has been in effect since April 19, 1974.

Board action Saturday formalized both the policy and the detailed administrative procedures for carrying it out.

Designed to locate the barriers to full employment opportunity and to remove those which may still exist, the plan will help achieve a work force balanced with a proportionate number of minorities and women to the qualified available population, according to Dr. Marlin L. Brockett, Texas commissioner of education.

The plan will continue in effect for the next three years. During that period, it will be reviewed on March 31, June 30, September 30, and December 31 of each year.

Under the new plan, all Agency executives are required to establish equal opportunity goals for their departments and divisions and to analyze their hiring and promotion patterns each month to make sure the goals are being met.

Authorization for an equal opportunity coordinator will be requested to develop, implement, and maintain the Agency's affirmative action plan and to serve as a liaison between the Texas Education Agency and minority organizations and community action groups, Brockett said.

Home From The Bahamas

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Graves, three of their children and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hines and son, have returned from a two and one half week vacation which included Houston, New Orleans, Orlando and Miami, Florida.

At Orlando, they visited the famous Disney World. From Miami they flew to the Bahama Islands where they took in many sights.

The Graves children reside in California, but will spend several more days here with their father and stepmother.

They traveled to Florida via car and reported a very interesting and enjoyable trip.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Graves are employed by the Lubbock Public School system. Mr. Graves began work Monday and Mrs. Graves will start in August.

Similar plans for the state schools for the deaf, blind, and deaf-blind operated by the Texas Education Agency are now being developed. These will, however, follow staffing requirements similar to the public schools throughout the state.

Texans are Urged to Claim More than 18,500 Undelivered IRS Refund Checks

Dallas—More than 18,500 undelivered income tax refund checks are waiting for Texans to claim, the Internal Revenue Service says. The number grows annually. Of that figure 8,003 are from this year's crop of returns.

The most common reason for an undelivered check, A.W. McCannless, IRS District Director for North Texas explained, is that the taxpayer moves and leaves no forwarding address with the U.S. Postal Service.

The Director said that a taxpayer who is due a refund from either 1972 or 1973 tax years should call IRS if he has not already recently contacted the Service on this subject.

In a case where the taxpayer suspects that his check may have been lost or stolen, the Director urged the person to telephone IRS as soon as possible so that action can be taken to trace the missing check.

McCannless stressed that in all refund inquiries to the IRS, the taxpayer should provide the name and address as it appeared on the return, the actual name and address is different, the social security numbers, and the type of form filed.

IRS can usually remain an undelivered refund check within a few days to the new address, he said. However, after October 1 all undelivered refund checks are cancelled. IRS must then follow a more time consuming procedure to issue checks in response to inquiries.

Dallas taxpayers who suspect that they have an undeliverable refund check due them should call 742-2440. Fort Worth residents should call 334-3811. All other North Texas residents can use the IRS toll-free number 800-492-4830.

Man Reformed After Attend Black Church

Miami — (NBNS) — After a month of court-ordered attendance at Saturday breakfast in a black church, Joseph Fales says he's learned something about black contributions to society.

Fales, a 20-year-old white, was sentenced to six years of Saturday attendance by a circuit judge after he was convicted of shooting into the home of an interracial couple. "I guess I've learned that blacks play a more important role in the community. I didn't realize they were active," he commented.

NAACP Raps Zebra-Type Searches

New Orleans — (NBNS) — The stop-and-frisk searches of black men during San Francisco's "Zebra" manhunt was condemned recently during the annual NAACP convention as dangerous overreaction by police.

Undertaken in a drive to end terrorist-style murders of whites by blacks, the searches later were ruled unconstitutional by a federal judge.

"The lawless acts of the police created such an intolerable condition of tension and apprehension in the black community that it could have led to an explosion of enormous dimensions," the resolution declared.

Army Has First Female Chaplain

Atlanta — (NBNS) — The Army has its first woman chaplain and its a black woman, too. The Rev. Alice M. Henderson, who was accepted into the North Atlanta Georgia Conference of the African Methodist Church in 1966, graduated from Turner Theological Seminary in 1969 and got a master of divinity-philosophy and theology degree.

A native of Indian Springs, Ga., Captain Henderson will attend Army chaplain school in Ft. Hamilton, N.Y. Then she will be given her first duty assignment.

JUNIOR HIGH STUDENTS ATTEND MEETING—Young junior high school students from throughout the state of Texas attended the Texas Association of Student Councils (TASC) Leadership Workshop last week at Abilene, Texas, on the campus of Hardin Simmons College. Students from the Lubbock schools reported a week of education and fun.

Reflections Make You Think

If you had an opportunity to watch "Reflections", a special television documentary on the private black colleges in Texas last Sunday afternoon over Channel 13, KLBK, then you're probably glad you did. This program made a lot of sense as it told a story in which all black students of colleges and universities in Texas can recall.

We would like to thank the United Negro College Fund, Inc. and the Texas Association of Developing Colleges for making this documentary a reality. No doubt about it, black colleges and universities in this country have contributed a great deal to the American society.

The efforts of these predominately black colleges and universities should not be forgotten as they have contributed a great deal to this country. Although we are living in an age in which blacks have an option to decide which college or university they'd like to attend. We should still keep the efforts of the black college and university in our heart.

The program was staged on the campuses of Bishop, Jarvis Christian, Huston-Tillotson, Paul Quinn, Texas and Wiley College. Black people in West Texas and the state are familiar with the efforts of each.

As the United Negro College Fund, Inc. (UNCF) is always repeating: "A mind is a terrible thing to waste." This should have been the thought one received while watching "Reflections" last Sunday afternoon. We need more programs as this for the citizens of Lubbock and the great state of Texas.

Without a doubt, one did get a reflection of what black colleges are going through in Texas and the nation. We hope those reflections won't go unnoticed in the black community.

What About Divorce Laws?

How often have you paid attention to our divorce laws in this state. In a recent article in the "Reader's Digest", an article from "Woman's Day" puts the finger squarely on the growing problem of American divorce laws. They will vary from state to state, but only a few of the states have acted to reform antiquated, unfair, and primitive laws for termination of marriage.

Without any doubt, today we find a third of all marriages are ended, one way or another, in a few short years. This is not necessarily bad. According to the so called experts, they feel that a successful marriage is the best one can hope for, the desirable goal. But it's increasingly being recognized that human beings cannot all make the perfect choice in marriage, especially on the first try.

Would you believe that an overwhelming majority of the experts on marital relations now agree that when two are miserable, or grown to hate one another because they are badly matched, it is better that they divorce—and both again have a chance to live happy lives with someone else.

This is true whether or not there are children in the family, according to the experts. It is not, as so many assume, better to bring up children in a home filled with hatred than in two happy homes.

No-fault divorce, so successful where tried, is almost certainly the divorce system of the future. The experts point out that even bad marriages, when ended under today's laws, leave both partners wounded and hurt. Because obsolete laws force divorce proceedings to be adversary—pitting one partner against another, lawyers reap a rich harvest and often have much to gain in keeping litigation, especially over children, going for years and years.

Likewise, they usually talk the wife into charging her husband with cruel behavior or conduct—and since that's the only way the husband can achieve divorce, he often agrees to play the role of the guilty party—which is totally unfair. Many husbands are victims of circumstances in this area.

In the field of legal reform, then, divorce law ranks with estate probate law and automobile accident law, as a priority target.

The question we'd better ask ourselves is: "What about our divorce laws?" Are they really fair for all parties involved? You check it out.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

It is always good to encourage young people who are doing things to help their community. Last week, for example, young people from the junior high schools in Lubbock attended the Texas Association of Student Councils (TASC). These young people, from what I have observed and heard, who attended this week long meeting at Abilene, Texas, on the campus of Hardin-Simmons College, did a splendid job.

I would like to commend those students from the junior high schools in Lubbock who did a splendid job. I am happy to recognize students from Alderson, Atkins, Evans, Hutchinson, Mackenzie, Matthews, Slaton, Struggs, Thompson and Smylie Wilson Junior High Schools.

This writer would like to take this time and congratulate all those students for a job well done. At the same time, I would like to mention each Lubbock student's name for his services last week. Those students are:

Also Price Ainsworth, Lisa Davis, Winston Gipson, Greg Loggins, Ruben Perez, Roy Reyna, Mark Skibell, Mary Sue Stiles, Joey Andrews, Zula Blaylock, Michaela Ham, Mark McClain, David Ordonez, Michelle Pierce, Dewey Turner, Robin Young, Guy Ezell, Rena Flewellen, Dora Garcia, Craig Harriger, Linda Malouf, Bruce Northcutt, Ron Reeves, Tom Tevis, Cynthia Turner and Nora Ybarra.

These young people, without any doubt, are to be commended for a job well done at Abilene last week. I hope, each of them will realize what they have accomplished. Lubbock and the world need their many talents.

As I See It, citizens of Slaton are unhappy over the way an article appeared in this newspaper on July 4. They are disgruntled over why they are not getting the necessary funds to operate their programs. As I See It, something must be done to see why such programs are not being administered in Slaton as reported by a story from the Governor's Office earlier this month.

The story, which appeared in this newspaper, reported that there were programs in the Slaton community funded by the Community Action Board of Lubbock County. According to citizens of Slaton, who wrote a letter to the editor of the Times this week, they are tired of being told one thing and something different happens.

This writer hopes that the citizens of Slaton are taken care of in the near future. There are many problems in Slaton and CAB could help in many areas.

As a weekly newspaper, we have a responsibility to report what is happening and why. Apparently the story from the Governor's Office made some Slaton citizens angry. I would hope that better communications would be given to all parties involved before such stories are released to us. It appears as though there are citizens of Slaton who will tell it like it is, regardless of who is hurt from their effort.

With all sincerity, I hope the local poverty organization will deal with this lack of communications so positive programs can continue to happen in our community.

Regardless of how you may feel over the situation, the Green Fair Manor apartment complex should be dealt with by local officials. I hope Mayor Roy Bass will assign a special committee, composed of Green Fair Manor resident, to study the matter. It could be that someone could come up with a needed solution. Green Fair Manor is a bad scene for all parties involved.

It may be a blessing in disguise that none of us has the power to see ourselves as others see us. It would probably be extremely upsetting to be able to stand outside ourselves and view with a dispassionate eye some of our own actions and tactics that would have to be considered less than Olympian in their wisdom and breadth of achievement.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

U.S., ALLIES MIGHT FALL INTO SOUTH AFRICAN MESS

by Jack Anderson

(From United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—The United States is moving secretly toward close cooperation with the racist regime of South Africa. The purpose is to protect the oil tanker routes around the tip of Africa.

For some time, NATO military leaders have been debating the possibility of extending NATO's protective sphere to include Africa. The proposal was formally introduced two years ago in a confidential document entitled "The Soviet Maritime Threat."

This report states that "50 per cent of Europe's oil supplies and 25 per cent of its food come around the Cape of Good Hope." The expanding Soviet navy is capable of making these southern sea routes impassable.

The report suggested, therefore, that the alliance expand its operations outside the traditional NATO boundaries. The southern NATO command, meanwhile, has gone ahead with "contingency plans" to defend the "Cape route."

Some authorities fear this will lead inexorably to some sort of alliance with South Africa. Another confidential NATO document, this one dated last May, suggests that the European allies should consider helping the white Africans in their battles with black "revolutionary movements."

Many analysts fear that the dark continent could well be the scene of fire fighting in the future. The United States and its allies, it appears, are edging into this mess—on the wrong side.

Tight-Money Policy: The number one concern of most Americans, according to the polls, is no longer the Watergate scandals but high prices. Everything from gasoline to ice cream is costing more.

An alarmed President Nixon has been holding urgent meetings with his economic advisers to seek ways to hold down the cost of living.

At the secret sessions his advisers have assured him that prices will level off and start to decline later this year. They base their optimism on tight money. By holding down the money supply, Americans will have less to spend and prices should start slipping.

But the money shortage will also leave less money for wages. The President's economic advisers, therefore, have warned confidentially that unemployment is likely to rise.

The tight-money policy, of course, may have no effect on gasoline and food prices. The oil-producing countries can still keep gasoline prices high by cutting back production. Worldwide food shortages should increase both the demand and the price for U.S. farm products.

Under the present policies, meanwhile, most Americans probably will have to tighten their belts while the big corporations pay smaller taxes and collect higher profits.

Political Survival: The first rule of political survival was best stated by the late Sen. Claude Swanson. "When the water reaches the upper decks," said Swanson, "follow the rats."

Already some of President Nixon's most loyal supporters are beginning to weaken as his hour of impeachment draws nearer.

Vice President Gerald Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, for example, remain on close personal terms with the President. But the wary Kissinger, despite public statements to the contrary, is beginning to wriggle loose from the Nixon embrace. Ford is carefully maintaining his independence in case it should become necessary to divorce himself politically from the President.

The most dogged Nixon loyalist has turned out to be his new staff chief, Gen. Alexander Haig, who carries out the President's wishes with unquestioning military obedience.

Another loyalist, who shows no signs of deserting the President, is press secretary Ronald Ziegler. A new White House aide, Dean Burch, has also displayed militant loyalty.

The President has always placed a high premium on loyalty. So it is not surprising that Haig, Ziegler and Burch have become three of the most powerful men around the White House. Kissinger and Ford, in contrast, are slipping in their influence.

President Nixon got into his Watergate troubles in the first place by leaning too heavily on his loyalists. Apparently, he hasn't changed his ways.

$2 Bill Revival?: Over the 200-year history of the American Republic, the $2 bill has been a mainstay. Some 49,000 two-spots were issued in 1776.

The $2 bill, however, was never very popular. Many people thought it brought bad luck and they tore off a corner of it to thwart the curse. In the election of 1880, the Republican Party used the two-spot to buy votes. Finally, in 1966, the $2 bill became extinct.

Now, however, the $1 bill has been ravaged by inflation. Many experts, consequently, are urging that the $2 bill once again be printed. The Federal Reserve Board already has a committee studying the proposal.

Ford's Decision: When the bill of impeachment comes to the House floor, Vice President Gerald Ford will face a delicate decision.

Ford is well respected in the House, where he served as Republican leader. He could swing some key votes to President Nixon.

But Ford is not sure that lobbying against impeachment is proper for a Vice President. On the other hand, if he does not lobby, it may look like Ford is anxious to become President himself.

What will Ford decide? Washington observers predict he will lobby against impeachment. Ford will try to persuade his old colleagues that his new boss should stay in office.

A Secret Deal: Meanwhile, our impeachment sources tell us that Chairman Peter Rodino has struck a secret deal with ranking Republican Edward Hutchinson. The two have agreed to delete Richard Nixon's "characterizations" of Washington personalities from the presidential transcripts.

The impeachment committee has obtained the full transcripts, which include unpublished material. They are said to be replete with racial slurs, profanity and unkind remarks about such persons as Speaker of the House Carl Albert and L. Patrick Gray, former FBI director. These "characterizations," if the Rodino-Hutchinson deal holds, will be censored.

Unqualified President: Juan Domingo Peron, the recently deceased president of Argentina, held sway over his country's politics for almost three decades. Even while exiled in Spain, Peron claimed tremendous following in his homeland. Shortly before he died he named his third wife, Isabel, as his vice president and successor.

A 43-year-old former cabaret dancer, Isabel Peron is supremely unqualified to run her country. She totally lacks political experience. She does not possess her late husband's unique talent for pulling together the country's vociferous factions.

Foreign affairs experts we have talked to expect that the next few months in Argentina will be chaotic. In the end, the Argentine military will once again assume power. And that will be accomplished with considerable bloodshed.

Police Beat

Simple Assault

Norma Jean Thomas, 2603 East Auburn Avenue, reported to Lubbock police that a woman assaulted her by scratching her nose, face and right knee. The incident apparently happened after the pair had a problem.

It was unknown at this report if Thomas would file charges this week against the woman.

The incident happened at East 23rd Street and Fir Avenue at 4:30 a.m. one morning last week.

Assault

Rubbia Johnson, 3424 East 14th Street, reported to Lubbock police that he was cut on the right wrist and left hand when a lady threw a plate at him.

He told police that it was his fault, and he would not file charges against the woman.

Johnson was, however, taken to Methodist Hospital for treatment of an injury he suffered at 1610 Avenue C.

House Burglary

James Cooper, 1507 East 1st Place, reported to Lubbock police that someone unknown gained entry into his house while he was away one day last week. There was approximately $350 worth of items taken from the Cooper house.

Items taken included two cameras, jewelry, and a clock radio. Entry was apparently gained by forcing a window open to the house.

Aggravated Assault on Female

A Lubbock woman reported to Lubbock police that her common law husband of fourteen years came home one night last week after he had been drinking and beat her up. She said the man accused her of giving him a venereal disease.

She went on to tell police that the man beat her with his fist and choked her and then beat her with two rod and reels.

The police report revealed that she had a two inch slash, approximately one half inch deep, on her right shin. It was apparently caused by the fish hooks on one of the rod and reels.

She was taken to a local hospital for treatment. She did tell police that she would file charges this week.

Aggravated Assault

A Lubbock man, reported to Lubbock police that he had a problem one day last week. The 19-year-old man reported that his 22-year-old brother shot him with a small caliber pistol.

The young man was shot in the upper thigh and backside of his left leg. He was taken to a local hospital by AID ambulance.

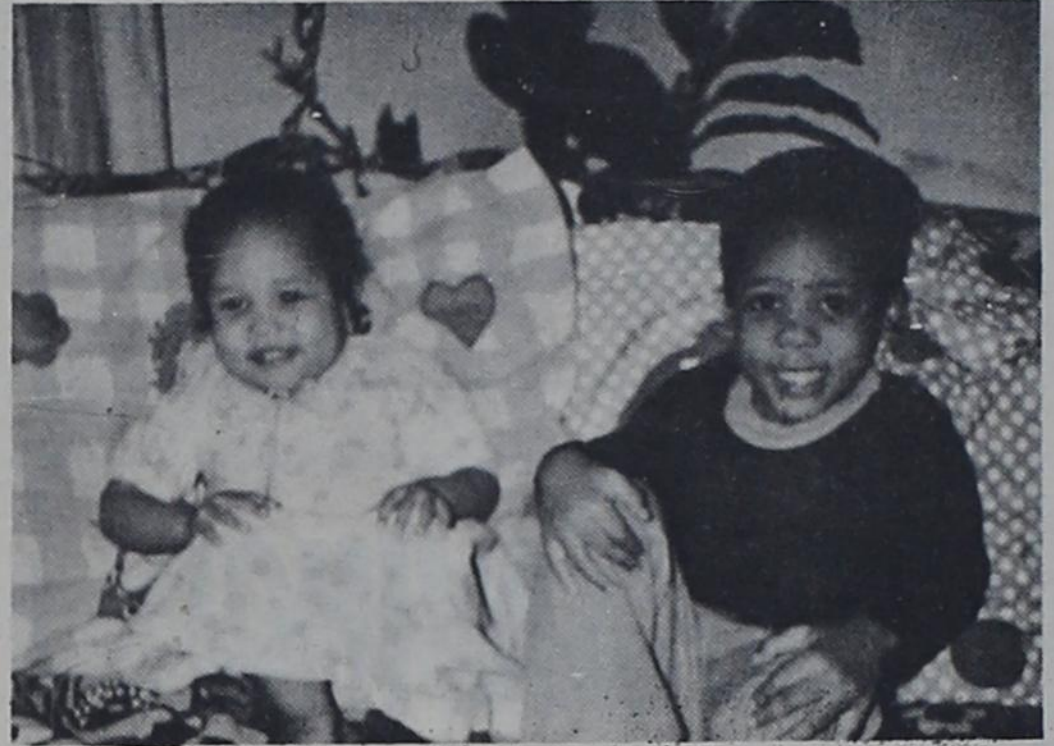

It is believed, by the police report, that he will not file charges against his brother.

The Black Experience: Dateline—Los Angeles, Calif.—It has been some ten years or more since we so-journed here in the City of the Angels, but this has to be the best trip yet. The weather is ideal and we haven't turned on the air conditioner yet. Even the smog seemingly has lifted for us. Most of all, My Girl Friday, is with me and our schedule is not as heavy as it would have been had we left the Madame at home in the Southwest, including friends and relatives. Didn't think there were so many Okies and Texans in the world, but if you really want to see them, come to California. Imagine seven million people living in this one city alone. There are more than twenty million in the state.

L.A. is observing its first year under Mayor Tom Bradley (ex-Texan) and is getting well deserved good press from the daily and weekly press. Word is here that he is being groomed to head a presidential ticket with Ted Kennedy in 1976, with Tom at the VP spot. Wouldn't be surprised to see that happen, if everything goes according to Hoyle.

Meat prices are cheaper here than in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and Dallas, Texas, as well as food period. Rents and homes are way up, however, but you can't have your cake and eat it too, one bellringer put it.

The City is said to have one of the best organized police departments in the country and there is good public relations between citizenry and police and L.A. is a hot seat for the criminal minded folks. If you do it in L.A., most likely you will be caught.

And contrary to most reports, gas is about like it is in Dallas, with a few stations selling premium fuel for around 58 and 60 cents. The daily press reports "plenty of gas" in Southern California and all of the state and some are advocating a "roll back on prices" to spur the economy.

There are perhaps more black churches in L.A. than in any other city in the world, located sometimes six and seven in one block. There is an old saying in L.A. that when a liquor store or night club fails, a black church opens. They range in names from the Whole Gospel Truth to "I Say the Star in the East" Baptist Church. More on this later. A great number of them are located deep in the heart of the ghetto, however.

Enroute back to the Southwest and Dallas, we stopped in Lubbock, where there is much discussion going on with the fact that Miss Brenda Lockhart, a devotee of Muslim religion, has won the Miss Black Texas title. There are a number of critics but many bellringers we talked with said that the gospel of hate "whites" formerly preached by Muhammad is being toned down and even Muslims will learn to respect one's own religion and economic views. We hope so. There is enough hatred and polarization in the U.S. today. We do need to get it together. It is later than we think.

They drove to and from California. Among the relatives they visited were Mrs. Hattie Thomas, a former resident of Lubbock; Mrs. Dorothy Quellas and daughter, who is a sister of Mrs. Carroll.

They also visited with Rev. and Mrs. Nolan Sams. Mrs. Carroll (nee Nannie Pitts) enjoyed her first trip to the West Coast and saw many scenic spots in California.

Rev. T.B. Reece remains about the same. Mrs. Willie Jewel Sedberry is reported not much improved.

Mrs. Catherine Precipha of Mexia, Texas, has returned to the Hub City to be at the bedside of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jewel Sedberry, who has been a patient at St. Mary of the Plains Hospital for three weeks. Her condition is undetermined. Her daughter, Cynthia Yvette, was with her aunt as she had spent several days at Mexia.

Mrs. Earnestine Davenport and her brother, Ralph Alexander, left Wednesday evening last week for Meridian, Texas, after receiving message that their mother had gone into a coma.

Several Lubbock families and residents attended the American Legion Convention at Laredo, Texas, last week. The full story will be reported next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wright of San Francisco, California, returned to their home last Friday after spending a few days here visiting relatives and friends. Local Member of "Gay Movement" Protests Over Suspension by TI

"was in protest of how TI had treated him." He went on to say: "I am a homosexual." You know "gays are people," he continued. The Times learned that he was suspended and "under investigation" after a woman employee complained that he had gone into the ladies' room. Gonzales denied the charge. After arriving in front of TI, located at the Parkway Mall, he was met by five TI security guards and asked to leave the building. A Lubbock patrolman, Bill Johnson, was present at the scene and advised Gonzales to talk to his lawyer if he felt he was being discriminated against. Gonzales repeatedly called through the bullhorn for his supervisor, Paul Rodriguez, to come out and talk to him. No one came out. A Times reporter contacted Mr. Rodriguez Friday morning to confirm if Mr. Gonzales worked the night shift on Thursday. He would give no comment. A TI official, however, did verify that Gonzales did work on Thursday evening. It was also learned from Gonzales that he had contacted the National Gay Liberation Office in New York City on last week. "I talked with Rick Wendel, National President, and he told me that they were behind my effort," continued Gonzales. "I have also talked to local gay members on the campus of Texas Tech and others in Dallas and Houston," said Gonzales. Gonzales, a graduate of Estacado High School where he was a cheerleader and participated in other activities, said he was not going to give up the fight.

A Lubbock man, who claims he's been gay since age eleven, protested against Texas Instruments because of an alleged story which placed him on suspension last week. The individual, Joe "Scandy" Gonzales, told the Times that he was reinstated last Thursday evening, several hours after he had led a march on the industry.

Gonzales led the march dressed in a white jumper suit, and pale yellow shirt with lace at the collar. He explained the purpose of the march at a vacant lot at East Broadway Avenue and Quirt. He said the march, while speaking to newsmen with a bullhorn in hand,

Girl Scouts Attend Camp

Fifteen Girl Scouts from the East Lubbock and Robin Service Units had the opportunity to attend Camp Rio Blanco at Crosbyton this summer for one and two week sessions. Girls came to this scenic spot from all parts of the Caprock Girl Scout Council and formed camp units with other girls their own age. Units hiked, cooked out, camped out and swam, all under the supervision of a competent staff. The girls made new friends, learned new skills, and worked on badges.

Those attending camp were: Eunie Young, Carolyn Davis, Margaret Crawford, Arletta Gilbert, Adrienne Gilbert, Yolanda Crowder, Charlane Burrell, Pam Brooks, Alberta Lee, Ophelia Prieto, Judy de la Garza, Brenda Griffin, Christina Gonzales, Sara Bass, Sheila Taylor, Cheryl Flewellen. These girls represent troops in Mary and Mac, Ella Iles, Posey, Wheatley, Bozeman, Hunt, and Parkway elementary schools.

An additional thirty girls from this area took part in the day camp programs held at Mackenzie State Park during June.

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

"Well, we've lost a good friend," Bill Metzger said by way of greeting last Friday. Bill was referring to the late, great, Dizzy Dean, of course, and he put it about as well as it could be put. Dizzy was the type who was your friend, my friend—the friend of everyone.

Like the late Will Rogers, I doubt if Dizzy ever met a man he didn't like. If he did, he kept it pretty well to himself. I never heard him bad mouth anyone.

Dizzy—and what a misnomer for someone as sharp as a tack—was not unlike a big, cuddly bear, although he wasn't really cuddly. He was just big, and a man with a purpose.

He attacked golf the way he did baseball. He didn't shuffle; he strode with a purpose. He kept up a rapidfire conversation. And he had opinions about almost everything. He expressed those opinions and there were not too many to argue with him.

I remember one time when he came here to visit his brother, Paul, then general manager of the Lubbock Hubbers. Dizzy arrived early and climbed to the pressbox, where he got comfortable.

As the crowd poured in—something it hadn't been doing that year—he kept up a steady stream of comment. He couldn't, or wouldn't, accept the fact that the crowd came to see and hear him. To heck with the game; we want Dizzy. They didn't come for the game.

During the course of the fray, Dizzy took the PA microphone and described an inning. The crowd loved it! This is what they had come to hear.

Before I met Dizzy, I remember the classic remark he made in answer to an English teacher, who chided him for using "ain't." Dizzy, well on his way to fame off the diamond, answered that "a lot of folks that ain't saying 'ain't' ain't eatin'."

He was one of the first men inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame, and he was at that first luncheon, I believe, held in Beaumont. He attended several after that and always a standout.

I tried to see him three years ago, for an interview, when he was here for the Donny Anderson golf tournament. I just missed him and I'll always regret it, for it was the last time I'd have had the chance to talk with him. I had dozens of questions to ask, probably never would have been able to get them all in.

A sports giant has passed this way and left us. We all will be richer for having had him in our midst.

The World Football League struggles on and the striking NFL players still picket. Oh, my, what a sorry mess sports is in. The WFL just doesn't cut it, in my book.

As for the NFL, soon it will be fall and the longer the strike runs, the poorer the football will be. I imagine a lot of the rookies are praying that the strike lasts a bit longer. The more prolonged it is, the better for their chances of playing.

Initial picks in the Southwest Conference race have been published and it's Texas, Arkansas and A&M, in that order. Hooray! I'm glad that Tech wasn't picked in the top three. That relieves some of the pressure on the Raiders, puts it on the others.

Not that it's not logical to pick the Orange, Razorbacks and Maroon in that order. On paper, at least, they appear to have what it takes. It will just make it that much sweeter when Tech wins the championship!

The National Baseball Congress tournament here tonight through Sunday, ought to give ball fans a good chance to see topflight semipro ball. The NBC always produces its share of top players.

Winners in the state tournament here go to Wichita, Kansas, for the national tourney, a meet that attracts top scouts, because many of the graduates there have gone on to major league careers. So here's a chance to see some of those future stars. Take in those games.

The Associated Press has been running an interesting series lately on the role of black athletes at SWC schools. They started with a breakdown of the total number, by sports, at each school.

The black athlete has come a long way in the league since the line was broken. It took a long time for anyone to get up the nerve to do it, but once the line was broken, others followed suit. And many of these athletes went on to outstanding success.

I know I've written this before, but the general consensus was that the line wouldn't be broken until Texas shattered it. The other schools waited—and waited—and waited. Texas didn't crack.

There was an athlete at Dimmitt about that time, an all-around athlete named Junior Coffey. Now, Junior was a little more than just an athlete. He also was a National Scholarship lad. He also tutored the, shall we say, less able Bobcat players and kept them eligible.

Junior was modest, but when the whistle blew, he became more than a Bobcat in name. He had a fine personality and folks in Dimmitt were behind him, 100—let's not say 1,000—per cent.

Coffey would have been the ideal black athlete to break the line. Texas pondered the possibility, and people waited. Finally, Texas passed him up, certainly not because of his ability, in athletics or with the books.

Students petitioned. Sports writers wrote. Pressure was brought to bear. But Texas stood firm. No Coffey—with or without cream and sugar.

So, Coffey went out to the state of Washington, became an All American and went on to play in the pro ranks for years. Texas goofed—and probably never has lived down that fact. By the same token, so did the other schools that timidly waited for UT to make the first move.

Today, the black athlete on campus no longer is looked at as a novelty. He has fit right into campus life and is accepted for what he is personally. That's the way it should be.

Where there once was soft talking behind raised hands "about that black you've got," today there's little such talk—and those who still feel—in the minority, I might point out—that all white is beautiful, swallow, say nothing and try to show enthusiasm.

Oh, it will be some time before we have a black president (today, how lucky can a black get?), and not too many corporations are headed by blacks, but the way is opening up.

In future times, people can look to athletics and say that here was where the black really got his start. The way hasn't crumbled, yet, but the plaster is getting porous.

DEAR EDITOR

Dear Sir:

The people of the Slaton Community are very disturbed because of the article printed in your paper, July 4, 1974, concerning the $34,796.00 grant received by the Community Action Board in Lubbock.

This article is false or, it made false statements concerning the Slaton community receiving any part of that money for its garden project. We did not receive any of that money for a garden project. The article states "Johnnie Taylor, Neighborhood Program Director, says that the board has leased land for garden in Lubbock and Slaton. They have not leased any land in Slaton, the land that we are using has been donated free of charge, with no help for Mr. Taylor or his colleagues." The neighborhood councils which are administered by the board but operates as independent organizations, are charging $10 each for designated plots in order that this can be a long term project." The above is stated as it was printed in the West Texas Times, dated July 4, 1974. These statements are untrue as far as Slaton is concerned. We have not received any help from the directors, only promises and lies.

Here is another false statement printed in the same article: "The board operates three neighborhood centers in Lubbock and Slaton, during the summer months classes in arts and crafts are provided for the children." This is a false statement as far as Slaton is concerned; there is not any programs going on in the Slaton Center, not this or any other summer.

We as representatives of this community would like to have a re-traction from Mr. Taylor (Johnnie) because the statements are not true for Slaton, and the people are thinking that we have received money for the garden project of which we have not received a penny.

We hope that we will read or hear from you and Mr. Taylor as to why such a statement was printed in the newspaper and Mr. Johnnie Taylor knows that Slaton has not received any of the $34,796.00 for garden projects.

We will base our follow up actions to this article depending on if and when we receive a satisfactory answer concerning the article mentioned above.

Sincerely Yours,
Mr. Ernest Gipson (Chairman)
Mrs. Eula Clemons (Secretary)

Bethel A.M.E. Church

Services were well attended last Sunday morning when Brother Gary Bunton preached his first sermon to our congregation. He used several scriptures as his background. His subject, "Judge Ye Not", was quite appropriate for this day and time. His text was found in Matt. 7, John 7:24 and Proverbs 29:26. He had his audience following as he gave a testimony on how God has been good to him.

Brother Bunton encouraged all members present to keep their house in order and quit criticizing those who are trying to do good for the Lord. He climaxed the message for the morning by singing "When I Come To The End of My Journey." There was a high spirit when he finished his first presentation.

Youth Choir Number One rendered music for the morning services. Youth Choir Number Two also rendered music for the morning service.

Visitors present on last Sunday morning included the husband of Mrs. Dorothy Williams Scott.

Let us continue to pray for our sick and shutin members. Those on the sick list include Mrs. Estelle Pierce, Mrs. Maunita Terrell, Mrs. W.J. Sedberry, Miss J.L. Bonner and Rev. T.B. Reece.
