

Linda Hunter Crowned "Miss Black Teenage of Lubbock" Friday

"I am happy to be chosen as Miss Black Teenage of Lubbock" were the words of 16 year old Linda Hunter, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Adolphus Cleveland of 2625 East Auburn, last Friday evening. She was crowned by last year's queen, Becky Hill, in ceremonies at the Big Texan, in the second annual freedom Fund Banquet, sponsored by the local chapter of the NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People).

Featured speaker for the dinner which preceded the crowning was Dr. Francis A. Kornegay, nationally known black human rights leader. He told more than 250 persons attending the annual affair that if we unite our efforts many of the problems would be taken care of. He said: "We must alleviate institutional racism."

"Progress is taking place on a geometric scale, rather than an arithmetic scale," he said. He continued: "We now have the laws, and these laws are being taken to the courts. The courts have adjudicated cases we didn't think would ever pass."

Dr. Emory Davis, longtime friend of the evening's speaker, introduced him. Dr. Floyd Perry, Jr., associate vice president for academic affairs and dean of admissions at Texas Tech University, served as master of ceremonies.

Other young ladies in the Miss Black Teenage contest were Trina Elliott, Renee Flewellen, Avis Patterson, Vanessa McCloud, Debra Williams, Vera Jackson, and Childers.

Mrs. Maxine McCormick was chairperson of the pageant and Mrs. Kate Noble was chairperson of the Freedom Fund Dinner.

Invocation was given by Rev. Don Coleman, minister of Messiah Presbyterian Church; Rev. Adolphus Cleveland gave the benediction. Remarks were also given by Dr. F.L. Lovings, president of the local chapter. Mrs. Joan Y. Ervin served as emcee for the pageant.

U.S. Department of Justice Files Civil Rights Suit Against City of Wichita Falls

The Department of Justice filed a civil suit today charging city officials of Wichita Falls, Texas, with sex discrimination by refusing to hire women as police officers.

Attorney General Edward H. Levi said the employment discrimination suit was filed in U.S. District Court in Fort Worth, Texas.

Wichita Falls, which is northwest of Fort Worth, has 76 policemen and three policewomen, the suit said.

Named as defendants were the city manager, mayor, police chief, public safety director, personnel director, and six city council members.

The suit said the city officials pursue policies and practices that discriminate against women because of their sex by excluding them from police officer positions.

The city officials have failed and refused to recruit and hire women on an equal basis with men and have selected women for uniformed positions separately from men, the suit said.

Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger, head of the Civil Rights Division, said the matter was referred to the Justice Department by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission based on a complaint.

Mr. Pottinger said the EEOC investigated, found reason to believe that allegations of sex discrimination were true, but was unable to resolve the charges through conciliation.

The suit said the police department employment practices violate the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the 1968 law prohibiting recipients of Law Enforcement Assistance Administration funds from discriminatory conduct.

The suit asked the court to issue preliminary and permanent injunctions barring the city officials from engaging in sex discrimination.

In addition, the suit asked the court to order city officials to recruit women for police jobs, to establish goals for hiring and promoting women in the police department, and to compensate women for any loss they sustained from the alleged failure to hire, assign, and promote them on an equal basis with men.

"It's bigger and better than last year," said Soro Ruby Johns Donldson, co-chairman of the Second Annual ebony Expo '75. This affair is being held at E.C. Struggs Junior High School June 19, 20 and 21.

The purpose of the exposition is basically to help black people become more aware of their culture, heritage, and creativity as well as to develop pride and a sense of self worth.

One of the reasons for selecting these dates is the fact that Texas slaves were freed on the 19th of June. This date was celebrated for many years but dropped. The Eta Delta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority is attempting to make it possible for this date to continue to be celebrated.

Mayor Proclaims Ebony Expo Days

June 19-21 has been proclaimed Ebony Expo Days in Lubbock by Mayor Roy Bass.

This affair is being presented by the Eta Delta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.

A free barbecue dinner is being served in Mae Simmons Park immediately following the ribbon cutting ceremonies at 6:30 p.m. June 19th at Struggs Junior High.

The sponsoring organization is extending an invitation to the city of Lubbock to come out and experience this grand affair.

One of their special attractions this year is a rap session which will be held Saturday, June 21, at 12:40 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. Selected topics will be presented and each interested person will be allotted three minutes to say what they feel about that particular subject. Persons are asked to participate in this part of the program if you feel as though you have something to say.

Mrs. Annie Mae Jones and Mr. Harry Bunton, "Man and Woman of the Year", will be special guests at the ribbon cutting ceremonies at 6 p.m. today.

The following activities are scheduled for the three days. Cut out and save.

"Yankee Doodle Dandy Day" Planned Here by Bicen Group for July 4th

The Lubbock Bicentennial is planning a great celebration on the 4th of July, 1975. The entire day is called "Yandee Doodle Day." Everyone is invited to come and join the fun.

The day begins with a "People Parade". Anyone may march who is carrying an American flag. People may march as individuals, with their neighborhood, or with some organization to which they belong. Groups that are marching together may carry an identifying banner; the only requirement is that everyone must be carrying an American flag. If people plan to march in the parade as a group, the South Plains Shrine Club which is organizing the parade, asks that the Bicentennial office be notified so that they can reserve places in the line of march. Individuals, simply come and bring your flag. The parade begins at the Broadway Church of Christ parking lot at 10 a.m. and will end at the South Plains Fair Grounds. If you do not have an American flag, you may obtain one at cost (10 cents or 25 cents) at the Bicentennial office, 902 Texas Avenue, or the Lubbock Jaycees will have them available along the line of march.

The parade will end at the Midway area of the South Plains Fair Grounds where Gene Brownriggs, Executive Director of the Bicentennial Commission of Texas, will make a patriotic speech. For those who are not marching in the parade, the speech begins at 11:30 a.m. and parking is available in the South Plains Fair parking area.

The Lubbock Fire Department will have a water fight following the speech. This is reminiscent of 4th of July celebrations in Lubbock before 1920.

The Lubbock County Pioneer Reunion and Picnic will begin in the Merchant's Building at the fair grounds at 12:30 p.m. Tickets to the Reunion and Picnic are $3.50 each, and people who have lived in Lubbock before 1930 are urged to attend. There will be a program and awards will be given by Mayor Bass to the person who has lived in Lubbock County the longest, the person who has come the farthest for the reunion, and the person who has the most typical early settler costume. The groups who are helping the 4th of July Committee organize this part of the program are the Retired Teacher's Association, the American Association of Retired Persons, the Retired Federal Workers, and the Telephone Pioneers.

Beginning at 12:30 p.m. in the north part of Mackenzie Park, the Lubbock County Wheelmen will race from 12:30 to 1:30. Later that day, at 5 p.m. bicycle races for other groups will begin.

The Lubbock Trail Riders Inc. Motorcycle Club will have races in the north part of Mackenzie Park. The Women's Open will begin at 1:30 p.m. Young people under sixteen may enter this race and any type of motorcycle may compete. At 2 p.m., regular competition will begin with the Open Riders' Parade Lap. At 2:10 p.m., the Men's Open begins and will last until 4:10.

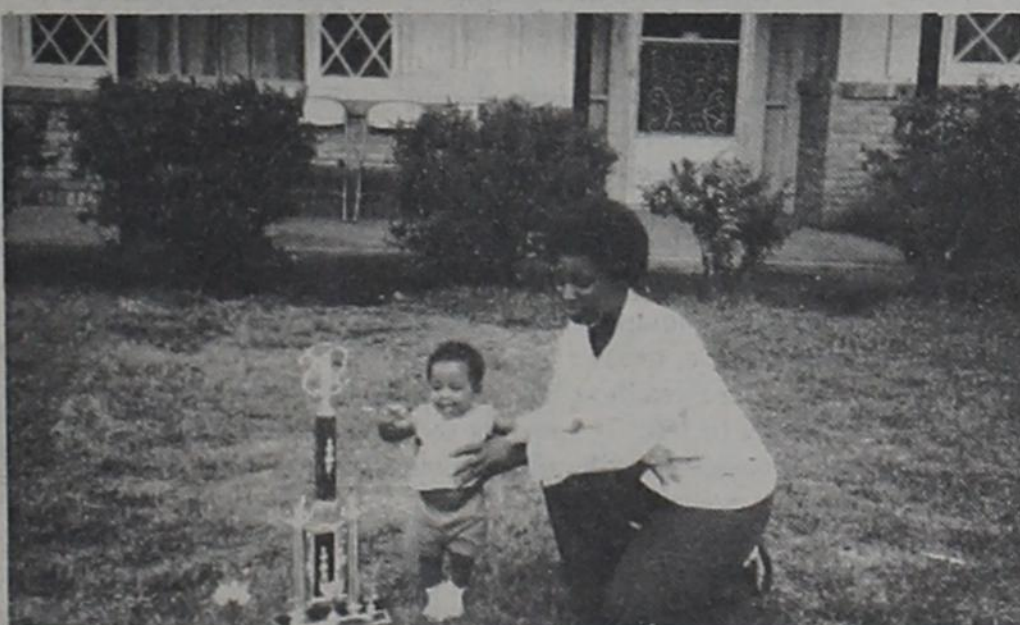

Following the motorcycle races which end at 4:10 p.m., the bicycle races will resume with the Lubbock Wheelmen supervising the races.

Also from 12:30 p.m. on, the city of Lubbock Parks and Recreation Department will sponsor men's and women's "slow ball" tournaments. Three diamonds will be in action on the bluff in north Mackenzie park. Steve Paxton of the Parks Dept. is organizing this tournament and each team that wishes to compete is asked to submit a roster one week before the tournament. Call the Parks office for registration information, 762-6411.

The Lubbock Tennis association is sponsoring the Highway Tennis Tournament which will have from 400 to 500 competitors. This tournament will be played at tennis courts all over town.

The public is invited to attend any of these events. Entry blanks and information for the races may be obtained from the organizations sponsoring the races or in the Bicentennial office at 902 Texas Avenue.

Baby Pageant Winner

WINS FIRST PLACE—Little Zebbie D. Lethridge, Jr. won first place, one to three month division, and became supreme duke in the Lubbock Baby Pageant. This affair was sponsored by the Pythian Sisters, Lubbock Friendship Temple 55. The coronation was held Sunday afternoon, June 8th in the Municipal Auditorium.

The trophies pictured above are ones he won in the contest. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zebbie D. Lethridge, Sr. of 1507 East 1st Place. His mother is shown with him.

Raise Salaries At County, Hire Minorities

Anyone could understand why some of the present employees of Lubbock County believe the salaries should be higher. At the same time, however, the County Commissioner's Court should see that minorities are given an opportunity to work for Lubbock County.

The Lubbock County Commissioner's Court has stalled on the idea of increasing salaries of personnel at the County Court House long enough. We think the County Commissioners should look into the matter as soon as possible and see that everyone working has enough of a pay increase that their families could live.

And while the County Commissioners and County Judge are making up their minds about the raising of salaries for county employees, they should also look very carefully at the lack of minorities employed by this political subdivision. As Evelyn Matthews, chief deputy of the county clerk's office who screens job applications for the department said in an article recently in the A-J, "Most of our new employees are young, inexperienced kids because we can't pay salaries that an older, more highly qualified person could get somewhere else." If this be the case, then hire minorities to get the job done, since a great number of minorities are inexperienced and need to work to take care of their families. This would beat handout programs.

In the past and present, minorities have not been seen as employees in the court house by our county government as they should be. Minorities pay taxes just as any other citizen in the Lubbock County community. It's time that something be done about the lack of minority employment.

We say that the County Commissioner's Court should consider the salaries of each employee, and at the same time, look at the rank and file and ask why there are not minority representation as it should be at the Lubbock County Court House.

Minds and Emotions

Sometime ago, a prominent speaker said: "The first lesson that we must take to heart is that people are swayed by their emotions, not their intellects."

This statement is accepted as the truth by astute politicians and by other individuals who consciously set out to persuade the people of this country to follow a given course.

Upon analysis, the statement implies that smart individuals, using their intellects, can stir up popular emotions to gain their desired ends. It should be noted that the people, who act according to emotional stimuli, are but tools which are handled by clever brains. The individual whose conduct or decision is fashioned as a result of his emotional response is like a fish that follows the bait without seeing the hook.

Let no one imagine that people, swayed by emotions rule this country. This is a mistake. The nation is ruled by the clever few who create situations which result in emotional reactions. Back of the popular emotion, however expressed, is the master-mind that takes advantage of the nature of human beings to secure a definite, specific result.

As I See It!

by T.J. Patterson

It is very interesting to note that the East Lubbock Business Association (ELBA) has not been mentioned as one of the groups that is concerned about the lack of representation on the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) board of directors. This organization, including several presentations by this writer, has appeared before this board of directors in regard to minority representation.

Minority representation is necessary in order for SPAG to meet the Federal guidelines for Lubbock County becoming a "growth center." This is only possible with the assistance of the Economic Development Administration (EDA). Since SPAG does not comply with at least 25% minority representation, this program hasn't been allowed to be a part of the SPAG area.

EDA appears to be the only governmental agency, in my estimation, that has the basic tools to upgrade the present economic situation that is seen in Lubbock and the other fourteen counties.

At the present time, however, SPAG members are awaiting on a decision from EDA to change their procedure. SPAG will meet again in several months to decide the fate of this effort in our area.

It is predicted, by this writer, that something will give in order that EDA can become a reality in Lubbock County. Of course, it will be a hard fought situation, but it is very possible that SPAG will relax their bylaws so that this board will have the necessary minority representation.

One way to see that this happens, since minority elected officials are rare in the SPAG area, is for the present board of directors to elect minorities from this area, seeing that every area is represented. This would, perhaps, justify the elected officials, but being elected by a unit of government. This would be feasible, As I see it.

Regardless of the outcome, it is very possible for a "growth center" to become a reality in Lubbock County and the remaining counties of SPAG. It's time for the board of directors of SPAG to get down to business and do something for the benefit of many Americans and taxpayers.

As I See It, it's worth repeating what Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, founder of Operation PUSH, said at a meeting in Chicago recently. He said: "More blacks die from alcoholism than sickle cell anemia. And, most black-on-black crime is caused by someone trying to get money to get high—or who is already high on something." The charismatic preacher told the meeting that vices (narcotics, alcohol, nicotine) have "conditioned" many blacks to meet their wants first and their needs second. He put it this way, "We pay for dope, then beg for shoes."

As the young 33 year old preacher has said: "It's your attitude, not your aptitude, that determines your altitude in this world. It's bad enough that many blacks live in slums, but it's even worse that the slum lives in them, creating despair and a turn to vices."

Quote of the Week: "A black man selling dope hurts communities more than a white man dangling a rope." Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, founder of Operation PUSH.

An expected 4.2 million youth, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, will enter the labor market this summer. Of this number, the school age labor force is 16 to 24 years old increases sharply as students enter the job market for summer work and as high school and college graduates take or look for regular jobs.

In many communities, like Lubbock and other South Plains communities, this creates a great problem for youth, because there are not enough jobs to go around for all young people, regardless of their socio-economic background.

By July 1975, according to the Labor Department, the labor force age 16 to 24 is expected to reach 25.3 million, about 550,000 greater than in July 1974. This, too, will look rather dismal as this projected increase assumes a continuation of recent trends in labor force participation rates.

Students entering the labor force for summer work are projected to total about 2.7 million or 64 percent of the expected total increase from April to July. The rest, 1.5 million, will be high school and college graduates entering the work force on a permanent basis. Excluded from the latter estimate are 760,000 students who were already in the work force in April (most of them employed part-time) and who will be shifting to full-time labor market participation by July after they have completed school.

These facts will make you think about the problem young people are having in finding employment.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

(From United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

NIXON'S VIETNAM PROMISES STILL HAUNT

by Jack Anderson with Joe Spear

Washington—The controversy over Richard Nixon's secret commitments to former President Thieu of South Vietnam simply won't fade away.

The charge that confidential, written pledges of support had been made to Thieu was first raised last April by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash. Despite White House denials, two Nixon letters to the new deposed Vietnamese strongman subsequently surfaced.

On Nov. 14, 1972, Nixon gave Thieu "absolute assurance that if Hanoi fails to abide by the terms of (the Paris agreement) it is my intention to take swift and severe retaliatory action." And on Jan. 5, 1973, Nixon promised to "respond with full force should the settlement be violated by North Vietnam..."

These letters, Kissinger privately told a group of legislators, "were not agreements by the U.S. but statements by Richard Nixon of intentions. These did not differ materially from the public statements."

Key congressional leaders, however, are not impressed with Kissinger's semantics. The Nixon-Thieu exchanges, they feel, were a flagrant violation of the law, which requires the President to report all international agreements to Congress.

Senator Jackson has called for an investigation by the Senate Armed Services Committee. And Sen. Clifford Case, the powerful New Jersey Republican, has asked for a probe by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Even some of President Ford's conservative supporters in the Senate are demanding that the full story be told.

In a private letter to the President last April, Mississippi Democrat John Stennis requested "all documentation" which "bears on the nature and extent of the U.S. commitment to South Vietnam..." These materials, he added, "should be provided promptly."

One month later, after Vietnam had fallen, Ford responded with the incredible assertion that the subject "is no longer a relevant issue..."

"I consider our urgent task now," wrote the President, "is to face the future and leave the divisive debates over Vietnam behind us. I ask your help in this effort."

Sen. John Sparkman, C-Ala., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, also requested White House documentation. "I would appreciate . . . the text of all understandings, undertakings or similar statements made by President Nixon, Dr. Kissinger, or other U.S. officials relative to the cease-fire agreement," he wrote on April 10.

The President again refused to cooperate, but Sparkman is sticking to his guns. He has dispatched another letter to the White House and is now awaiting an answer.

Ford's defense of Nixon's secret agreements, in sum, smells strongly of a cover-up.

Economic Disaster: Many economists fear that President Ford's new energy package could lead to economic disaster.

The President's plan to add another dollar to the price of every barrel of imported oil, it is estimated, will cost consumers a staggering six billion dollars a year.

Previously Ford had already added a dollar import tax. So the total $2 surcharge will add up to an extra $12 billion that Americans must pay for petroleum products.

The President is trying to cut down oil use by making it too expensive to waste. On top of this, he wants to decontrol the price of domestic oil. This move, if it is okayed by Congress, will cost the consumers still another $16 billion.

What all this means is that the price of gasoline will be going up to about 75 cents a gallon. Congress, of course, can change or cancel Ford's actions. But right now, Congress can't seem to get together on anything but vacation dates.

The oil companies, meanwhile, are applauding Ford's moves.

Nuclear Advocate: In the backrooms, Defense Secretary James Schlesinger has urged President Ford to use tactical nuclear weapons to stop the next Communist aggression against a U.S. ally.

Schlesinger has North Korea particularly in mind. He fears the Communists might be encouraged by the fall of Cambodia and Vietnam to attempt to take over South Korea.

If the North Koreans should strike, Schlesinger favors hitting back with limited nuclear warfare. He wants to put more emphasis on developing mobile nuclear weapons as the best defense against future Vietnams.

At first, President Ford didn't like Schlesinger and wanted to replace him with Donald Rumsfeld. The President thought Rumsfeld would be more successful at handling Congress.

But the President has grown to respect Schlesinger and to listen to him. It remains to be seen, however, whether the President will adopt Schlesinger's idea of limited nuclear wars.

Playing Ball: The Air Force has issued orders to ensure that congressmen have a place to play softball this summer. The generals picked out a softball diamond at Bolling Air Force Base, just a few minutes from Capitol Hill, and designated it the "congressional softball field." They then ordered "any groups" playing in the area to "relinquish the field when congressional groups arrive..."

One team that may be using the diamond, incidentally, is composed of staff members of the special Senate committee probing the CIA. They call themselves the "Steeple" because their chairman is named Church and their vice-chairman is named Tower.

Police Beat

Overdose
Lubbock police were called to an apartment complex in East Lubbock one day last week by a neighbor. Upon arrival, they found a young lady laying on a bed in a stupor. She had apparently taken an overdose.

She was able, however, to point to the pills she had taken. She did advise the police that she was angry and very depressed.

The young lady was taken to a local hospital by AID Ambulance. She was able to walk to the ambulance under her own power. The pills she took, according to the police report, were prescribed for her mother.

Car Burglary
David Traylor, 1701 East Main Street, reported to Lubbock police that he had a problem one day last week. He told police that he observed a blue car pulling away from Britt's Hamburger Stand at a very high rate of speed.

Upon checking his 1962 model car, he learned that his CB radio had been taken. The radio was valued at $65.

Burglary of Box Car
C.H. Beene, special agent for Atchison Topeka Santa Fe Railroad, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown broke the seal on the right side of a box car parked at East 26th Street and South East Drive.

Apparently the unknown persons couldn't gain entry on that side, so they broke the seal on the left side of the box car and entry was gained.

It was unknown if anything was missing at this time. The box car did contain meat.

Car Burglary
Garge Toliver, 1909 East Brown, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that his CB radio was taken from his car while it was parked in front of his house one day last week.

Entry was apparently gained by using two coat hangers which were found not far from the car. The radio, which was mounted to a jacket, was apparently lifted with some wire pliers.

The radio was valued at approximately $250.

Theft
Helen Thompson, 2901 Beech Avenue, reported to Lubbock police that her car license plates were taken from her car one day last week.

Would you believe that her car was parked in the driveway?

Criminal Mischief
Willie Judie, 2916 East Bates Avenue, is a very mad man this week. You see, someone broke the glass out of his rent house, located at 3416 East 16th Street, one day last week.

It is believed to be the activity of some young people in the area. There was approximately $75 worth of damage done to the house.

Father Honored Here Sunday

Miss Billy Johnson, Mrs. Rose Stevens, and Mrs. Wilma Horton, daughters of Mr. Jesse Johnson, honored their 83 year old father with a combination Fathers Day and birthday celebration last Sunday at his home, 2502 Date Avenue.

The three women prepared a very elaborate menu for the occasion. Everyone enjoyed the lovely afternoon of fellowship.

Guests were other members of the family and special guests were Rev. and Mrs. Don Coleman, pastor and wife of the Messiah Presbyterian Church. Other members of Messiah were present also.

Mr. Johnson, a long time resident of Lubbock, has been ill a few years, and unable to attend church services. The daughters thought it would be a chance and opportunity to bring the church to him.

Another daughter, Mrs. Valeria Drake of Amarillo, called to say Happy Dad's Day and wished him well. She could not be present.

The Johnsons have a son and many grandchildren. The affair was indeed enjoyable.

Mr. Johnson, an elder at his church, was very elated. He will celebrate his 83rd birthday this week (June 18).
