Industry Training Programs Underway in Littlefield

A series of industrial training programs conducted for the new American Cotton Growers textile mill will train and employ over 400 local citizens within the next two years, House Speaker Bill Clayton and State Senator Max Sherman jointly announced last week.

The first of these training programs is already underway, with 12 trainees learning crucial supervisory and instructional skills needed before full-scale production can begin, the solons said.

The $30 million plant is the first textile mill in Texas to manufacture denim material, and involves a cooperative effort between 3000 farmers and 26 Texas communities. The co-op will produce 100 per cent of the cotton for the mill, estimated at 65,000 bales the first year.

This is the first Industrial Start-Up Training program to be instituted through Texas First, Governor Dolph Briscoe's Job Creation Campaign. The program began May 1 with the Texas Industrial Commission designated program coordinator. Texas Industrial Commission projections indicate the textile mill will pump over $20 million each year into the Texas economy. Annual state and local taxes generated will exceed $175,000 annually.

"The plant and the corresponding training program will provide new skills and hundreds of jobs for local citizens and will be a tremendous economic boost to the community and Texas," House Speaker Clayton said. "It's good to see Texas cotton farmers forming together in a co-operative effort to keep the profits in Texas while utilizing this valuable training program available to them."

The training program under Texas First is coordinated by the Texas Industrial Commission and funded through the Texas Education Agency. South Plains College is the local training institution working closely with the management of American Cotton Growers on the complex and highly technical training program required for denim manufacturing.

"The Start-Up Training program is an excellent method of pumping new blood into the local economy and providing employment opportunities for those that otherwise might leave the area," Sherman said. "It's good to see state agencies working with people and industry for the betterment of the state."

Lubbock Today, Local Weekly to Cease Publication Here this Week

Lubbock Today will cease weekly publication in its present form with its Friday, October 31 issue.

The decision, after 25 months of weekly publication, was made early this week by publisher Jim Tinsley, the owner of Star Publications, Inc., Lubbock Today's parent corporation.

"The inconsistent profit factor of Lubbock Today in relation to our other publications makes it impossible for me to devote the time and resources necessary to continue on a weekly publication schedule," Mr. Tinsley said.

Tinsley said there are definite plans at this time for the future of Lubbock Today; he hopes it may return to publication perhaps as a monthly or under a different format.

Those who responded to the recent subscription drive will have their money refunded in full within ten days to two weeks, and advertisers who were in pre-paid contracts that extend beyond the last publication date, will also be reimbursed.

The loss of Lubbock Today leaves the West Texas Times as Lubbock's only weekly newspaper. The Times is in its fifteenth year of publication with plans to continue to grow into other areas.

TSTA Supports Articles VII and X in November 4 Vote on New Constitution

The Texas State Teachers Association is urging its 162,000 members to vote FOR Articles VII and X, those dealing with public education and teacher retirement, in the proposed new Texas Constitution which goes to the voters Nov. 4.

Article VII, titled "Education," will be listed on the ballot as Proposition 4. The first four sections deal with the Texas public schools and the other five sections pertain to public junior colleges and higher education.

Article X, titled "General Provisions," will be Proposition 7 on the ballot. Of chief interest to teachers in this article is Section 21, titled "Retirement Benefits for Public Employees" and covering the teacher and public employees retirement systems, as well as local retirement systems and the judicial retirement system.

A recommendation by TSTA Executive Secretary Clie W. Smith for support of these articles was approved by both the TSTA legislative and executive committees.

As to the other nine articles of the proposed new constitution, the TSTA leaders took no official position but urged all members to study the full document and "to exercise the privilege of citizenship by voting on Nov. 4."

Smith said, "TSTA is supporting the articles directly related to the Texas public schools and those who teach. We feel that our members have already indicated a consensus of teacher support for the provisions on public education and retirement."

He said the association secured input from its 43 affiliated organizations and worked throughout the 1974 constitutional convention to tell delegates what Texas educators wanted to have included in the new constitution.

"The association suggestions concerning public education and teacher retirement were included in that document, and they remain intact in the proposed new constitution which the 1975 legislature approved and sent to the voters for ratification," Smith said.

City of Lubbock Receives Grant

Governor Dolph Briscoe announced his approval last week of a $30,000 grant to the City of Lubbock for a comprehensive management analysis of the Lubbock Police Department.

The money comes from the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office. CJD administers the state's block grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration under the Crime Control Act of 1973.

A professional consultant will be retained to study and make recommendations on the organization, administration and operation of the police department. Increased manpower utilization and operating efficiency are anticipated results of the project.

Vote No On New State Constitution

Many of the provisions proposed by the new state constitution on the November 4th ballot, which were written by the legislature, are so vague and ambiguous that they are subject to many different interpretations by state officials, including some top-notch lawyers in the state.

Presiding Judge John F. Onion, Jr. of the Court of Criminal Appeals and former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Robert Calvert disagree strongly, for instance, on the effect of the judiciary article. Onion contends that combining the state's two top courts into one, which would handle appeals in both civil and criminal cases, would slow down the wheels of justice. Calvert, on the other hand, says it would speed them up.

It must be pointed out, however, that both sides agree that the complete revision of the constitution would give vast new powers to the legislature. It would require annual legislative sessions, permit the legislature to set its own salaries and even permit the members to call themselves into session. Some say that this is good and that the people should just "trust the legislature." The opponents' view seems much more logical: ours is a government of laws, not of men, and should stay that way. We do need a strong constitution for all people to protect our basic rights from a legislature which can change complexion completely every two years.

Former Governor Preston Smith of Lubbock, as well as Allan Shivers, oppose the new constitution. Governor Dolph Briscoe, strongly opposes all eight propositions on next Tuesday's ballot. Not one of these men are running for higher office, and each has had some serious differences on political matters in the past. One thing for sure is that their experiences in government have led all three to the conclusion that the present constitution should be preserved.

Comptroller Bob Bullock says the new constitution would give so much power to the legislature that it is impossible to estimate how much it would cost the taxpayers.

We can't forget about the good features argued by some proponents about the new constitution which out-weigh the bad. But there is no urgency involved in revising the constitution and there is no reason to adopt any provisions which are known to be bad. The good features involved can be singled out in the future and adopted as individual amendments, without turning our Texas legislature into a fulltime "little Congress" which would exercise enormous control over our lives.

The main proponents of the new constitutions are members of the legislature. We at the West Texas Times prefer to keep them as our servants, instead of making them our masters. The way to do that is to vote "NO" on all eight propositions next Tuesday, November 4th, between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Halloween

Halloween had its origin among the Druids centuries before the Christian era and from the Roman festival of Pomona. Later the church adopted the day as a special one, and the name is of Christian origin, referring to the eve of All Hallows Day.

Druid customs were so firmly entrenched that, although the Romans outlawed their observances in both Britain and Ireland during their occupation, many of the observances survive to this day. Halloween is one.

To the Druids, October 31st was the end of the year and thus the festival. The Druids also believed this was the time good souls of the dead went into animals, especially the cat. They believed punishment of the wicked could be lightened by gifts and prayers. (The 31st is also Protestant Reformation Day, dating from Martin Luther's rejection in 1517 of the church's teaching that one could buy indulgences for both the living and dead.)

In the United States the day has come to be associated with young people, who gather in goodies in trick or treat calls—a vast improvement over the mischief and destruction of former years.

As I See It!

by T.J. Patterson

As parents and relatives of small children, let's keep Halloween enjoyable this year for our little people. This familiar date is Friday, October 31. It is up to us as adults to see that the little goblins and ghosts have a fun time, not one of tragedy.

Here are some tips that the Texas Safety Association would like for adults to know about:

- Don't costume your little trick or treaters in flammable outfits. The use of crepe paper is an invitation to trouble, and probably won't survive a walk around the block even if it doesn't catch fire from a candle powered Jack-O-Lantern.

- Accompany the small-fry when they go a-haunting. Even if you must stay near the street or hide behind a tree, they'll be safer from traffic and the possible sadist who would trick instead of treat the kids.

- Beware of any suspicious treats. Please instruct your youngsters to refrain from eating anything until they have arrived home where careful inspection under the light can expose razor blades, glass or other booby traps not so easily detected in the dark. Watch for unwrapped or tainted candy, fruit or other goodies. The sick minded can be most proficient at sabotaging a child's happiness.

- Be a responsible parent. Some children, especially older ones, may think fun consists of pranks alone. Tell your kids to respect the properties of others.

- Protect your own property. If you leave your car unlocked, in the street or driveway, you are tempting it for a soap-wielder. Lock your car. Prevention of vandalism is far better than trying to cure it after it has happened.

- If you are in your car driving, slow down and watch for the little trick or treaters. They may be having too much fun to watch for you. So don't spoil it for them or yourself.

There has been so many bad acts happening to our young kids in the past Halloweens. Let's do our part to make it a safe one for the kids of our community. Halloween should be fun for everyone, and it can be, if everyone does his part to keep this happy night from turning into a nightmare.

Every time I go to Austin to a meeting of the Texas Employment Commission's Advisory Council, I get a better picture of what TEC is all about. This agency (TEC) is doing a splendid job in Texas as well as Lubbock and the South Plains. The only thing that bothers me is that the public is not totally aware of the efforts of TEC.

SKEPTICISM OF THE WARREN REPORT

by Jack Anderson with Joe Spear

(Copyright, 1975, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—President Ford's closest advisors are alarmed over the Congressional investigations of the John F. Kennedy assassination. They fear the President's name may be linked with yet another cover-up.

The President, then a House Republican leader, was an active member of the Warren Commission, which determined that Kennedy was killed by Lee Harvey Oswald alone.

But opinion polls and letters piling into the White House show that a majority of Americans don't believe the Warren report. Neither, apparently, do some prominent Senators and Congressmen who have launched in-depth probes of the Warren Commission's findings.

For example, Senators Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., and Gary Hart, C-Colo., both members of the special CIA Committee, have begun an investigation of the Kennedy assassination. Schweiker has announced they will take a look at three different theories that would explain the affair, and he has already predicted that the Warren report "will collapse" under intense examination.

He doesn't believe the Commission deliberately published a false report, Schweiker told us, but he suspects they were misled by the FBI and the CIA.

President Ford himself heatedly disagrees with Schweiker's attitude. In his private talks with advisors, he has fiercely defended the Warren Commission's findings. He believes they covered up nothing.

His own conscience, Ford has insisted to intimates, is completely clear. He was a Republican on a Commission appointed by Lyndon Johnson. He therefore looked upon himself as a protector of the "minority interests" and attempted to be the group's gadfly. He spent more time examining the available evidence than any other member of the Commission.

White House insiders, however, view Sen. Schweiker as a maverick. Anything he turns up that disagrees with the Warren Report, say our sources, will put President Ford in a bad light.

Fairly or unfairly, Ford will be associated with a cover-up. In the aftermath of the Nixon Administration's Watergate coverup, this would spell disaster for the Republican Party.

Indeed, some White House cynics fully expect the Democrats to use anything the Congressional probe turns up as an excuse to paint the GOP as the "Cover-up Party."

Grain Complaints: Despite the Ford Administration's special relation over the Soviet-American deal to swap our grain for their oil, some top policymakers have nagging reservations.

They feel that President Ford, in his eagerness to strike

This is what the Advisory Council is all about. We are in the process now of creating a larger image of TEC. This can be done, and, hopefully, will be done in years to come.

TEC doesn't have money to utilize for public relations. This is one problem that we talked about last week in Austin. If monies were available at the state level, TEC would be better understood by the different publics in Texas.

As I See It, this can be accomplished with a lot of hard work.

It was learned by this writer recently that local members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People visited Federal Judge Halbert O. Woodard and Supt. Ed Irons about the integration situation in Lubbock. At this time, there hasn't been much said about both meetings.

It would make a lot of sense, however, if this local chapter or some organization would start working on a plan with necessary people to see that those ninth graders attending O.L. Slaton Junior High School would be sent to Dunbar High School.

This writer also learned from reliable sources that steps were attempted by the Dunbar P.T.A. this year to work on this project of bringing the ninth graders back to Dunbar. That's what the P.T.A. is all about, doing things for the benefit of the kids attending school.

Moving the ninth grade back to Dunbar would be a good move at this time.

This $30,000 grant to the City of Lubbock for a comprehensive management analysis of the Lubbock Police Department may bring out a lot of things. Maybe outcome of this analysis will ask the question: "Why are there no more blacks and browns in the Lubbock Police Department?"

If this question is asked, I hope something will be done about finding a solution to this problem. Not only should people from minority groups be given an opportunity to be hired, but allowed an opportunity to move up the ladder.

After the comprehensive management analysis of the Lubbock Police Department is completed, something of the same type effort should be done in the City of Lubbock Fire Department. At least the police department has hired several minority residents over the years. The fire department has no history of such an effort. The findings of the fire department in that regard should be quite interesting.

a bargain with the Soviets, may have been outdone by them.

Under the terms of the arrangement, for example, the Russians can buy at least 8 million tons of grain a year from the U.S. Some federal economists suspect, moreover, that the way the agreement is worded may permit Moscow to buy as much as 10 million tons annually.

Thus there is a chance that the Russians once again will wreck havoc on the American economy.

Our sources are also disturbed over Ford's failure to come up with a Russian commitment to supply the U.S. with any appreciable amounts of oil.

The Soviets, concerned about their image with their Arab allies, drove a hard bargain. The United States, which consumes 17 million barrels of oil each day, can buy only 200,000 barrels daily from the Soviets.

Some experts are convinced the Russians agreed to a means of salvaging the President's pride. He had boasted publicly that the pending deal with the Soviets would provide "good insurance against Mideast oil decisions."

Other government economists question the wisdom of the U.S. becoming even slightly dependent on Russian oil. It is much better, they argue, to be dependent on traditional allies like Saudi Arabia than on a declared enemy.

Bad News For Agnew: Former Vice President Spiro Agnew might be in the news again, and that's bad news for Agnew.

It seems that an Agnew crony landed a whopping $45 million lease from the government for some office space in Washington. As part of the deal, he was to provide a cafeteria in one of the buildings.

But that was four years ago, and the government employees who work in the building complex still have to trot out to the local delly for lunch.

Now the FBI is investigating the whole government leasing operation. They want to find out whether political favorites were handed government leases.

Their findings may put Agnew back in the news.

Under the Dome: Sam Steiger, the redoubtable Republican from Arizona, has found a way to economize on his airport parking costs. He recently parked his black Mercedes at a Dulles International Airport meter and left it there for over a week. His parking ticket was cordially emblazoned with this stamp: "Void—U.S. Representative." This is the second time we have caught Steiger abusing his parking privileges. Other citizens are routinely ticketed and towed out of the meter zone.

—Freshman Congressman Jerry Patterson, D-Calif., recently sent out fund-raising appeals to shipping and banking magnates. These are the very industries whose activities he oversees as a member of the House Merchant Marine and Banking committees. Patterson insisted to us that his fund letters created no ethical problems for him.

—A mysterious white Cadillac bearing the license plate "CIA-1" has been showing up in Capitol Hill parking lots lately. We were sufficiently intrigued to check on the owner, who turned out to be former Congressman John Hunt, a CIA buff and World War II intelligence expert.

Police Beat

Theft of Food Stamps

Frank Cheek, 2829 62nd Street, reported to Lubbock police that while he was selling fruit one day last week in east Lubbock, a small boy, about 11 years of age, came from behind him and pulled some food stamps from his pocket.

According to the police report, Cheek claimed that he had about $10 to $15 worth of food stamps. A witness told police that the boy reached into Cheek's pocket and took the food stamps.

The kid was confronted and asked if he had taken the food stamps, according to Cheek. The young fellow denied that he had them.

When Cheek could not get the truth about the stamps, the police report said, he (Cheek) called the police to make the report.

Attempted Murder

Lloyd Harol Crawford, 1418 Avenue D, was stabbed by a 22 or 23 year old man one night last week. His stabbing was reported by a friend.

Police found Crawford lying on a couch in the front of his house. His clothes were covered with blood.

Crawford told police that a man came into his bedroom and stabbed him. He suffered two stab wounds, one under his chin and another on his left finger.

"I was in my own bedroom when this man just came in and stabbed me," admitted Crawford. He walked out of the house to get into his car, but was apparently too weak to drive, so he came back to his house where he laid on the couch.

Crawford was taken to Methodist Hospital by AID Ambulance.

House Burglary

Margaret Dickson, 1514 East

28th Street, Apt. 13, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown forcibly entered her apartment while she was away by tearing the screen on the west window and raising the window.

The window had a board to brace it on top and keep it shut, but by wiggling the window, the board fell and it was easy to gain entry.

The only thing missing from the house were some work uniforms which were taken from the closet.

Exit was apparently through the same window.

House Burglary

Michael Burleson, 1014 East 28th Street, Apt. A, reported to Lubbock police that a black vinyl couch, an unknown amount of baby clothes, red and blue purse, and an undetermined amount of earrings were taken by persons unknown.

There was no point of entry that police could find.

Aggravated Assault

Mary Tennell, 3412 East 16th Street, reported to Lubbock Police that she was at a cafe at 8th Street and Avenue C when an unknown person fired a gunshot.

The shot hit her in the right upper arm on the inside of her arm. At first, the shot just grazed her, causing a 2-inch laceration.

She told police that before the shot struck her arm, it went between her index and middle finger.

"I don't know who shot me, but I heard the shot and looked down and I was bleeding," she said.

There were several people in the cafe, but no one saw what happened. It is always interesting that people in a small room do not see who is responsible for shooting a gun.

"Welfare Has Ruined a Lot of Our People", says Mrs. Williams

by T.J. Patterson
(Editor's note: This is part two of a series with Mrs. Hunter Williams, a resident of Lubbock since 1925. She talks about how Lubbock was in those days. She says: "I think welfare is a ruination for young folks.")

What church did you attend?
"I attended Mount Gilead Baptist Church. I united with this church about 1926. For Baptist, this is the oldest church in Lubbock for colored people. It is the first colored church I know of in Lubbock."

How did people get along then?
"Well, really and truly, I think they got along much better than they do today."

Why do you say this?
"There wasn't a lot of killing and stealing like we have now. Of course, the settle people didn't mix with the rough type of people. You would hardly hear of any kind of killing in the colored community. Sure, there were some bad peopl in Lubbock at that time. These bad people didn't bother us and we didn't bother them."

Is welfare helping people?
"No, welfare has made a lot of people not want to work. Welfare has ruined a lot of our people. Or course, you know, there are a lot of young women who could have jobs today, but they are on welfare. I think it's a ruination for young folks to be on welfare."

What did kids think about Dunbar High School in those days?
"Well, I think they thought Dunbar was a great school. I think the kids were happy going to their school. They were more happy then, I believe, than they are now."

What makes you say that?
"I think young people want to be with their own race. I think they were happier going to Dunbar High School with their own race. I believe they had something which belonged to them. When I was going to school, we had prayer every day. We would recite the 23 Psalms, but now you can't do it. You see they've cut out the prayer. When I was going to school and my son also, the teachers would whip you if you need it. My son wouldn't tell me when he got a whipping, because he knew I wouldn't mind if the teacher would whip him. I think it's wrong to cut out whipping children in school when they have done wrong. I think that's a very sad mistake."

Why don't black people vote like they should in Lubbock?
"Well, I can't say much about that, because I don't vote like I should. I just don't know why colored people don't vote like they should."

What would people do on a Sunday in Lubbock?

"There wasn't much to do but go to church. After church services, we would sit around Mr. Guy Sefus' cafe. There wasn't really much else going on. There were dances for those who liked to dance, but I never did care for that."

What was a dust storm like then?

"One Sunday evening, I remember, it was so dark you couldn't see each other sitting across the room from you. You just couldn't see. This was in the middle 1930's."

Name some of the families that were here when you came?

"There was Waymond Henry and Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Green and Mr. Johnny Green, Mr. Leonard "Cat" Means and Mrs. Means, and the Banks family. Mr. Silas Johnson and I believe Mrs. Ella Lewis and her father, Mr. James Roy Lewis. The Sedberry family was also here then."

Why don't parents want neighbors helping them raise their children?

"Well, I don't know what to say about that. I just don't know, because I know people would help each other with their children in my coming up and in my son's coming up. If people would see him doing wrong, they helped me. If he was not in school, they would call and ask why he wasn't in school. We don't do that anymore. They knew that he was supposed to be in school and that I would appreciate their interest in my son. You tell parents about the wrong things their children are doing now and they get mad at you."

Mrs. Williams, can you think of an experience that has stayed with you?

"Yes, I can. I went to Hemphill Wells to buy a hat, and the white lady asked me if I wanted her to try on the hat for me. I said, No, because you don't look like me. She then told me, 'I can't let you try it on.' So I didn't buy the hat that day. Today you can go into any store downtown and try on a hat or dress. You couldn't do that in the 1930's in Lubbock. They didn't want you trying out the merchandise."

What kind of advice would you leave for young kids today?

"Well, I would say to work for a living. Be concerned about making an honest living. Of all things, all young people should get an education. I didn't have an opportunity to get an education. I would say, stay in school and work hard."

PTSA Meets at Struggs Tuesday

The E.C. Struggs Parent Teachers Student Association (PTSA) will meet Tuesday evening, November 4, in the cafeteria of the school at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Annie Sanders, president, says there will be some important business to discuss.

Struggs band will be responsible for the entertainment of the evening. An "open house" will follow the meeting.

Plainview Church Receives New Building Recently

The Rev. Mr. Carlton H. Thomson of 1410 Amarillo Street, Plainview, Texas, and popular superintendent of the Plainview District of the United Methodist Church, recently demonstrated by action that "the Methodists are one people."

For a number of years the small struggling congregation of Beard Chapel C.M.E. Church needed and sought a new church building and never gave up hope. It was only recently that Superintendent Thomson interceded and a well constructed church sanctuary was provided without cost to Beard Chapel.

When Bro. S. Sanford exclaimed to Rev. Thomson that "you are the answer to our prayers," the modest bearing clergyman replied, "It was God Bro. Sanford."

The congregation of Beard Chapel has now launched a $15 thousand dollar campaign to add a fellowship hall to the facility on North Austin Street and construction is scheduled to begin within a very short time, according to a statement from Rev. Mr. Bob Tieuel, Jr., pastor.

Rev. Mr. Carlton H. Thomson
Cooperating in the effort are the Rev. R.L. Kirk, pastor of First United Methodist Church, Bishop C.D. Coleman of the 8th Episcopal District of the C.M.E. Church, with headquarters in Dallas, Texas; Rev. George R. Patterson, presiding elder of the Wichita Falls-Amarillo District and many area Methodists, as well as friends of several other denominations, it is reported.

Topics have been selected at the national level and chosen for their particular importance in both an historical and contemporary perspective. Panelist will present a topic formally. Time is allowed for a dialogue through audience participation and discussion.

The Lubbock Bicentennial Committee has designated the American Issues Forum as a Bicentennial Event. It will continue through May, 1976, meeting on a once-a-month basis. Admission is free.

Texans:

If you are tired of bigger government and higher taxes, vote NO on the proposed new constitution November 4.

Don't give future Legislatures a blank check.

The Houston Chronicle calls the new constitution "a dangerous document." Governor Dolph Briscoe warns it will "lead us down the road to a state income tax."

Governor Briscoe says: "It is my personal view that the current Constitution under which Texas has grown and prospered for a century is preferable to the proposed new constitution. Accordingly, I believe it is in the best interest of Texas that all eight propositions on the ballot be rejected."

Play it safe. Keep our present Constitution by voting NO on Tuesday, November 4.

Bob Bullock Says "No Free Rides"

Austin—Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday that there are no free rides for either individual taxpayers or local governments in the Finance Article of the proposed constitution.

"Where the constitution giveth, it also taketh," Bullock said of the Finance Article's mandatory homestead exemptions for the elderly and putting all personal property, including automobiles, on the tax rolls.

"What the constitution taketh may come as a surprise to one million taxpayers in Harris County who own automobiles if they wake up after November 5 and find a stack of personal property tax bills on their cars from the county, the city and the school district," Bullock said.

Putting all cars on the tax rolls would cost motorists more than $72 million a year in taxes, Bullock said, pointing out that more than 500 cities, schools and counties do not now tax automobiles.

Likewise, Bullock said, making homestead property tax exemptions for the elderly mandatory would take $21 million in tax money away from another 500 local governments which do not now grant the exemption.

"That $21 million would have to be made up from somewhere—and that 'somewhere' is the rest of the taxpayers in the cities and counties and school districts affected," he said.

"In the past this very good exemption has been permissive, completely a local option, and you can rest assured that any local government which could afford it has granted it," he said.

FIRST GRADE OF DUNBAR HIGH SCHOOL IN 1927—Can you identify some of these young people who were first grade students of Mrs. Ella R. Iles in 1927? The teacher is Mrs. Iles. One of these students is M.J. Williams, son of Mrs. Hunter Williams who made this picture possible for publication. Dunbar was located at Avenue C and 18th Street in those days.

Services Held for Local Minister

Final rites were conducted last Wednesday, October 22, at 2:30 p.m. at New Hope Baptist Church for Rev. George Flemings with Rev. A.L. Dunn, pastor, officiating. He was assisted by Revs. W.L. Grimes, A.W. Wilson and Bishop J.E. Alexander. A mass choir furnished the music with Mrs. T. Nelson of Pampa, Texas and Mrs. Vivian Jones of Eastland, Texas as organist and pianist.

Also appearing on the program were Mr. Joe Butler, Mrs. Joan Y. Ervin, Rev. C.D. Collins, and Mrs. Iris B. Smith.

Rev. Flemings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Flemings, was born at Tracy, Milam County, Texas, May 10, 1913. He confessed hope in Christ at the age of 15 years and was reared in a Christian atmosphere. His first pastor was Rev. Westbrook. Later in adult life, he entered the U.S. Army and served his country well.

Rev. Flemings was a conscientious servant in his church and was very fond of children. He came to Lubbock in 1947 where he was called to pastor Reiks Chapel Baptist Church in 1956.

At the time of his death, he was serving the Mt. Zion Baptist Church which is a part of the West Texas Baptist Association of which he was an integral part.

In 1934, he was united in matrimony to Miss Arene Nelson and this union was blessed with a child, Harry Lee Flemings who preceeded him in death. They enjoyed 41 years of married bliss.

He attended the State B.M.&E. Convention all week here prior to his death early Sunday morning at 1:00 a.m. at Methodist Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival after suffering an apparent heart attack about an hour earlier at his home at 3212 East 17th Street, October 20.

Survivors include his widow, Arene; five sisters, Ms. Lovie Ward of Lubbock, Ms. Gussie Lee Green of Cameron, Ms. Verline Lewis and Mrs. Lorene Massey of Lamesa, and Mrs. Annie Burns Ford of Houston; a host of other relatives and friends.

South Plains Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements and burial was in the City of Lubbock Cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Rev. S.R. Anderson, Rev. A. Cleveland, Rev. R.S. Stanley, Rev. G.D. Brown, Rev. E.L. Hasting, and Rev. R.D. Brenner. Flower bearers were members of the Ministers Wives Alliance.

Wonderful Thought Dept.: Did you ever stop to think that Texas Tech might win its last five games!

There. That balances last week's Horrible Thought Dept.

It was so quiet in the SMU dressingroom that you could hear a sock drop. It was almost that quiet at Steve Sloan's post-game press conference, too.

The silence didn't last long. The Raider coach launched right into things by allowing as to how it felt wonderful to win a game, that it had been so long he had almost forgotten. He paid tribute to the defense for checking the Mustangs the last half and allowing the offense to get a safe lead.

Queried about SMU's fourth down gamble at midfield, Sloan opined that the way the Ponies were swallowing up yardage, three yards wasn't really too much of a gamble. Reminded that the score was pretty close, he said: "If I had known that, I would have been nervous."

Told that Tech only had a one-point lead, Sloan cracked that: "If I had known that, I sure enough would have passed out!"

He was much more relaxed. The victory obviously pleased him and he was more at ease.

"You know, we usually have the squad look at the game films Sunday afternoon, but I turned them loose this week. I think a lot of them wanted to go hunting, doves, I think."

As for Rice coming up Saturday, Sloan said that he really didn't know much about the Owls. "I've only looked at one film," he declared. "They're a lot like us."

In the losing dressingroom, a composed, but somber, Dave Smith paid tribute to his team for fighting back and to Tech for having an outstanding football team.

"They've played four great teams in a row," he declared. "Tech is a lot better than the record shows. I thought that the turning point in the game was when they threw the long ball and got behind (Harold) Perry."

Perry, a freshman, was beaten by Ricky Bates, who got a couple of steps behind his down the middle and went all the way on a 56-yard pass play that put Tech in front, 21-13.

"SMU's a lot like us," Sloan stated. "They have a good offense and an inexperienced defense. They have the type of offense that probably will score on anyone. They have a big line, too. Do they lose any of them after this year?"

A Dallas writer said that they lost all of the offensive line. Sloan shook his head in relief, then asked about David Bostick, the hard-running fullback.

He has another year, a writer said. Sloan whistled silently and remarked: "I sure wish he'd graduate. I hate to think of facing him again. He runs right at you and he runs hard."

"Our defense did a pretty good job of shutting them down the last half," Sloan said. "For a while I didn't know. It looked like it was going to be a high scoring game and close."

So, Tech has its third win of the season and is back in the race to finish in the top four despite a 1-2 record. Arkansas is hanging on with two wins and a loss, while Rice is 1-1 and in danger each week of dropping by the wayside.

Tech, Baylor and SMU all have two losses and are out of championship contention, while TCU is 0-3. The Bears should climb into the runnerup race against TCU, while Texas ought to handle SMU, which makes the Tech-Rice game the top one of the day.

I was proud to read that the Texas Sports Writers Assn. will honor the top pros from Texas, but more especially because E.J. Holub made the team.

Holub played in the days when material at Tech was scarcer than dandruff on a baldheaded man. It helped to make him stand out, although he'd have stood out on a national championship team. There have been few better linebacker-centers anywhere than E.J., everybody's friend and a friend to everybody.

Just an observation on the World Series. The Cincinnati Reds won because they probably are the best all around team in baseball and still one of the best in history.

But the Boston Red Sox battled every step of the way and there was little to choose between the two teams. The Sox surprised the Reds, who didn't hold the Sox in high regard. And the difference between the two teams, in the final analysis, was Burleson striking out with the bases loaded and Morgan getting a bloop single. Otherwise, it was a standoff.

Years ago J.T. King said that, when he was an assistant coach at Texas, they used to figure whether Texas was going to win a football game by comparing positions.

"We'd go down the starting teams and decide which player we'd rather have at each position, our player or theirs. If we had six to their five, we figured we should win."

Sparky Anderson said much the same thing. And, when he went down the Reds' lineup and compared each position the only tossup was Yaztremski of Boston.

On the basis of that comparison, it should have been over in four games. Obviously, there are intangibles that enter into the picture, such as guts and determination. The Sox proved that they had their share of both. It was, in short, a great World Series and the sixth game was a classic.

Basketball is picking up at Tech, but the smile on George Davidson's face Friday night didn't exactly mean that the coaches are all that excited.

Kansas State, against whom Tech officially opens the season, is touted as a team likely to be in the NCAA finals. "And we must have been crazy to schedule Notre Dame in South Bend!" George exclaimed.

Right now the Raiders are still working on fundamentals and haven't really engaged in scrimmages as such. And nagging injuries have cropped up, with four players slowed to a walk.

Still, the coaches appear pleased with the work of several players, like Steve Dunn, Grady Newton, Rudy Liggins, Keith Kitchens and of course Rick Bullock. Liggins, by the way, is having no shoulder problems and is playing with more confidence.

Mike Dooley, former Lubbock Hubber catcher and one of the mainstays of the 1947 season team here that might have been one of the best in minor league history, has moved to town.

He and Jackie Sullivan are operating a Mobil station on University Avenue. Drop by and welcome him "home" and shake hands with Jackie,

Mother of Local Residents Buried At Meridian, Texas

Funeral services were held Thursday, October 16, at Brister-Lawson Funeral Chapel at 2 p.m. in Meridian, Texas for Mrs. T.C. Alexander, a longtime resident of Meridian, Bosque County.

Mrs. Alexander was the second child born to the late George C. and Josephine Robinson on March 14, 1889. She spent 86 years where she was born. She was converted at an early age and became a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church where she was a faithful member and loyal to her duties as long as her health permitted.

December 11, 1911, she was united in marriage to the late Mr. Terrel A. Alexander and the union was blessed with seven children, two of whom preceeded her in death, T.G. Alexander and Janie Marie.

Mrs. Alexander was a patient at a rest home in Meridian where her loved ones, doctors, nurses and friends gave her the best care that was needed. During her illness, she lost her eyesight, but was always alert to voices, especially her children and as well as others who cared and shared.

Rev. Lynn Mims gave the eulogy and was assisted by Rev. Clodis Oliver and Rev. A.B. Walter. Burial was in the City of Meridian Cemetery under the direction of Brister-Lawson Funeral Home.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Ernestine Davenport of Lubbock and Mrs. Josephine Oliver of Meridian; three sons, John M. of Amarillo, Thurman of Dallas and Ralph of Lubbock; two sisters, Mrs. Maria Griffin and Mrs. Carmell Robinson of Meridian; fifteen grandchildren, thirteen great grandchildren, and many other relatives and friends.

Friends of the family were active casket bearers.

with Bob Tieuel

Man Without a Country: Remember "Nigger In the White House"? It was one of several high selling books by Godfrey Cambridge, a former noted black actor and entertainer. Recent bellringer sources report that Cambridge today is disillusioned, broke and bitter and has dropped out of the limelight because "nobody wants me". The one-time rotund funny man, said he is in serious financial trouble, but no longer desperate. "I don't give a damn about nothin' and nobody no more. This baby has grown up," he commented.

Referring to some of the circumstances responsible for his infamy within the field of entertainment, Cambridge said: "White men have a great distaste for black assertiveness. Just because I ask, 'What are you guys doing for your ten per cent?', I'm labeled difficult. The black man is supposed to trust. Trust in who? Trust what?", Cambridge recently asked.

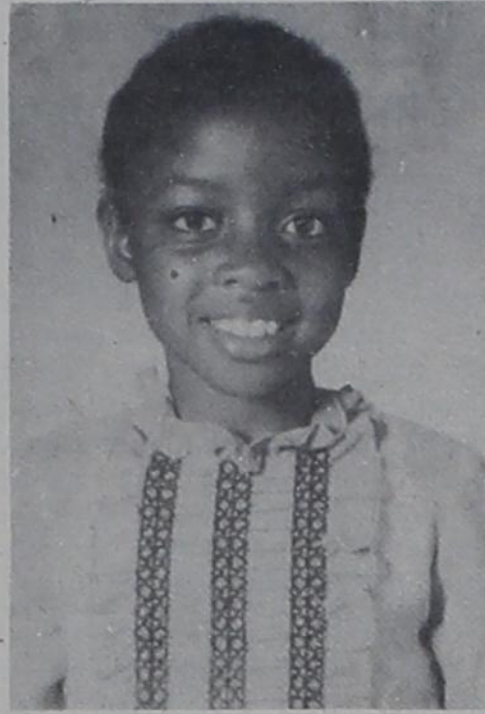

Black Is Beautiful But—"So long as the mirrors of our minds reflect the concept that Black is beautiful, we sit back and smile. And overlook any cracks that appear in that concept. It isn't Whitey junking up our neighborhoods with trash, bottles, and empty beer cans. It isn't Whitey who's responsible for our children losing the desire to stay in school and learn the basics of a good education. Whitey isn't responsible for the high Black-on-Black crime rate. And Whitey isn't telling Black mothers and fathers to toss off the responsibility of parenthood. Sure, some of our problems stem from discrimination. But we're also reflecting a lot of problems we're making for ourselves." End of quote from Joe Black, former baseball great and vice president of The Greyhound Corporation.

Minority Experiences: "We have all suffered similar outrages of discrimination—we Blacks, we Spanish speaking, we American Indians, we Oriental-Americans, and yes, we women. We are victims of the same oppressors. The privileged white American male stands presently supreme. We come, you might say, out of the same oppressive bag. We are the cutting edge of a new wave of social consciousness that ultimately will transform America. It would be disastrous for us to permit oppressive forces to continue to divide us by purposely tossing out a bone of a job and watching with satisfaction as we fight, like dogs, over it. We must respect the aims of each minority group, and of women's organizations. As Atlanta Maynard Jackson says: "We must seek allies regardless of color or sex. Our protracted struggle must be one of good people against bad ideas."

Hard Hitting Quotes: "In those days (before hotel and motel integration) we slept in the 'company beds' of our members and other denominations. We ate in the dining rooms of the people and we led in prayer in the family altar. We laid our hands on the curly heads of many fortunate boys who had no rest until they too were wearing clerical garbs. And because we lived among the folk they followed us to the church and heard the great preachments of our great Bishops and general officers as well as those of the connectional leading pastors. Even one Bishop could upset a town in those days. Today we can slip a dozen bishops in and out of the city and nobody knows that they were there except a few bell boys and hotel maids. This is indeed a new day—but is it a better day for us?" end of quote from A. Lewis Williams, editor of The African Methodist Episcopal Christian Recorder.

Tension Mounts: Our sources report that anxiety is mounting among the more than one million and a half members of the A.M.E. Church, over one of their bishops being expelled from Rhodesia, Africa recently. He is Bishop H.H. Brookins of Los Angeles. It is reported that the 18 bishops of the church have appealed to Secretary Kissinger for intervention. There are six million blacks in Rhodesia and 250,000 whites, it is reported. More later.

The Pantherettes Begin Basketball Practice

The Pantherettes are now discarding their baseball and games and contest for a season of more vigorous activity. This activity is none other than basketball, a sport well liked and enjoyed by most girls.

The girls organized on Thursday, December 10, 1936. The following officers were chosen: Louise Lewis, captain; Lillian Mason, co-captain; Eliza Banks, business manager; Lottie Faye Riddle, secretary. The girls who are interested in making the team and who reported for practice are: Evelyn Davis, Vivian Dickson, Elnora Crawford, Lillian Mason, Lottie Faye Riddle, Lovie Gean

Attends SBA Meet

Mrs. Lucille S. Graves, principal of Mary & Mac Private School, attended a Small Business Administration (SBA) in El Paso last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Graves is a member of the Lubbock Advisory Council Board which is responsible for input on local, state and national businesses.

Too many people know all the answers.

Triumph Baptist Church

Slaton—If you don't have a church home, feel free to worship with us.

Sunday School motto text: Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. Pro. 3:5. Devotion was led by Bro. Scott and Bro. Robertson. All the choirs gave A and B selections. Rev. Brown called for the altar prayer, which is a joy for the young and old.

The senior choir sang, "I Need Thee Every Hour" as Rev. Brown prepared himself to bring forth his sermon. His topic was "A Lame Society and A Opportunity For the Church", Acts 3 chapter.

Mrs. Joyce Brown was out of town this week at the bedside of her sick sister in Wichita Falls. Sis. Pearlle Franklin is sponsoring a musical Friday, Oct. 31, the "Inspirational Singers" of Slaton. It will begin at 8 p.m.

Church motto: The church that seeks to continue the life of Christ.

The Triumph Baptist Church is located at 1255 E. Geneva. Rev. M.A. Brown is pastor.

Bethel A.M.E. Church

Services were well attended last Sunday morning with our assistant pastor, Rev. Jack Robinson, delivering the morning message. Our pastor, Rev. A.W. Wilson, Dr. Emory Davis and Rev. Andrew Ross assisted with the morning ceremonies. Senior Choir Number Two was responsible for the music of the morning.

The son-in-law of our pastor, Thomas Campbell of Dallas, passed away early Sunday morning. Services are pending at this report.

Sunday School attendance is getting better and better each Sunday morning. The adult Sunday class, with twenty-three adults, received the attendance banner. The adult class is still growing. Parents are asked to send their children to Sunday School each Sunday morning.

Sunday, November 2, at 3 p.m., Senior Choir Number Two is asked to be on a program at Lyons Chapel Baptist Church.

Let us continue to pray for those members who are on the sick and shut-in list.

The Ministers' Wives Alliance will have their annual program Friday evening, October 31, at St. James Baptist Church at 8 p.m. Both of our choirs, senior one and two, have been asked to participate.

A special happy birthday is in store for Mrs. Maunita Terrell who celebrated her birthday Oct. 26. Pam Cunningham will celebrate her birthday, Oct. 30.

Mount Vernon United Methodist Church

Last Sunday, our congregation celebrated its 50th anniversary. The Rev. Meredith C. Stone, pastor of Mackey Chapel United Methodist Church of Odessa, delivered a splendid anniversary message.

The Administrative Board will meet Monday evening, November 3, at 7:30 p.m.

All nominations of officers for the coming year are in hope to be completed for 1976 and reports of each commission to be completed this week or before November 16.

Words from the pastor, Rev. Nathaniel Johnson, "Use every opportunity to give encouragement with, not someone who psychologically rejects them or beats them down. Accept leaders as individuals with strength."

Mount Gilead Baptist Church

"Mount Gilead Baptist Church, the friendly church where the soul and spirit meet. The church where everybody is somebody. The church extends to members and public a cordial and clarion call to worship with us each week."

The Angelic Choir will be in charge of the 3 p.m. worship service on November 9. Members are asking that you would keep this date in mind for some fine singing and spiritual upliftance. Many guests are scheduled for this program.

The Ushers had a beautiful program last Sunday evening.

Let us continue to pray for those who are sick or berieved. It doesn't take much to go by and visit with someone who is ill.

Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church

Members of the Queen of Sheba Circle met in the home of Sister Ellen Tillman, 4209 65th Street, this week. A most inspiring meeting was held.

Prayer meeting is held each Wednesday evening at seven. The church and family that prays together stays together.

Mission Two meets at the church each Monday evening at eight. Brotherhood and Junior Mission also meets at the church at eight on Monday evenings.

Let us pray for and visit our sick and shut in members. Sisters Florence Guyton and Dolly Howard are shut in at their homes.

Greater St. James Baptist Church

"The church that is growing in leaps and bounds with Christ as the Leader."

Supt. F. Woodall was at his post of duties at Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. The change of time didn't make any difference. It just brought Sister Watley and children to Sunday School on time and a little early. All teachers were present and on time. There was good attendance of students and a good lesson.

At the 11 a.m. services, there was good pulpit devotion. The Rev. Kado Lang, pastor, came forth with a dynamic message. His subject was "Objectives in Life." His text was found in St. Luke 15:13-17.

Remember the sick and shut-in. Pray for peace on the world.

Sunday afternoon, November 2, at 3 p.m., our church is honoring Sister Gertrude Wells, as an outstanding Christian, good teacher and a great tither. Everyone is invited to be present. Mrs. Irish Alexander Smith will be special guest.

Twentieth & Birch Street Church of Christ

The Young Ladies Christian Development Class wishes to announce that a Halloween Party is planned for Friday evening, October 31, at 8 p.m. in fellowship hall. The entire congregation is invited to come out and have fun. Come dressed up and it will be more exciting. Bring your candies, too.

Saturday, November 8, will be the big day for youth at the North 14th Street congregation in Lamesa. A great day is planned. Many great speakers are scheduled. The Hard Travelers will provide entertainment. Registration begins at 12 noon. There will be supper and entertainment from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. If you would like to attend, contact Brother Walters.

The month of November will be "Effort Campaign Monty" here at our church. Each member will be doing something extra, going the extra mile, to promote the growth—both spiritual and numerical—of our congregation. Let's get high on this month.

The regular monthly area fellowship goes to the congregation in Littlefield this Sunday, November 2, at 1 p.m. Brother Johnson is minister.

New Hope Baptist Church
