Large Group of Parents Attend Dunbar PTA Meet

Last Tuesday evening was an exciting one for the members of the Dunbar High School PTA. It was the first time this year that 27 parents of students of Dunbar attended a PTA meeting. "This can be attributed to the hard work of the publicity and membership committees," says Dr. Heenan Johnson, president.

"We must continue to let other parents know how important it is for them to attend our PTA meetings," he continued. At the present time, there are forty paid members of the organization.

Reports from the various standing committees, namely; project, public relations, program and members, was given to the body.

Coach Van Jefferson asked all parents to come to the Booster Club Meetings. "We need your support in this organization, because our young people enjoy knowing that you (parents and patrons) are behind what they are doing," he said.

The Dunbar Stage Band, under the direction of Mr. Billy Maiden, was the program for the evening. The band gave a preview of what their future concert will be about this year.

The next PTA meeting will be held November 4, and the Publications Department and Choral Department will be on program. Their theme will be a Bicentennial one.

sponsorship of the The Greater Lubbock Press Club.

The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Voters will decide on the new constitution during a special election Nov. 4. The proposed charter is broken into eight propositions to be voted on separately. Those propositions will govern the powers of the legislature and the governor, new practices in taxation, changes in the powers of county government, education and voting.

Sherman is a member of the Senate Committee on the Constitution and helped put the proposed charter in its final form. He will present the supporting viewpoint on the new constitution.

Hance, in his first term as a state senator, has been asked by the group, Citizens to Preserve the Constitution, to present its arguments against the proposal.

Tuesday's program will permit each speaker to discuss the pros and cons of each of the eight propositions on the ballot. They will then answer questions from the audience.

Sherman, an Amarillo attorney, is 11th in seniority in the Texas Senate. Hance represented the 28th Senatorial district for the first time last session. Both are members of the Senate Finance Committee and the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

Symposiums for Women Interested in Returning to School Set at Texas Tech

Two symposiums for women who are interested in returning to school after being out for a length of time will be offered October 23 and 28 at 7:30 p.m. in Continuing Education building X-15, on the Texas Tech campus across from the Municipal Auditorium. Produced as part of the Women's Continuum, a new program for returning women students, the sessions will acquaint women with the options and opportunities available at Tech, and help streamline their entry or re-entry into the university by providing some "how-to's."

The two symposiums, which will be the same in content, will present information about academic programs and services at Tech that have been of special interest to mature students—such as different academic plans and options they may enter, admissions processes, the possibilities of credit-by-examination, and information about academic advancement. Additional areas to be covered include availability of financial aid, where career opportunities information and guidance may be obtained, and special services of the Division of Continuing Education and the Counseling Center. Practical problems affecting returning to school, like finding help to care for young children and scheduling time around family and career commitments, will also be dealt with.

The symposiums will provide an opportunity for returning women students to establish contact with

Jose Ramirez Presented Award

Local restaurant owner and school trustee, Jose Ramirez, was presented with the 1975 Human Relations Award at the State Human Relations Conference sponsored by the Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) this past weekend in San Antonio.

Ramirez was one of two school trustees in the state to receive the award in a special category that includes non-school employee recognition. Other awards are presented in categories for individual TSTA members, local teacher associations, and district associations for distinguished service in promoting human relations activities in Texas, according to Ramon Abarca, chairman of the Lubbock County Unit TSTA human relations committee and assistant principal of Lubbock High School.

The District XVII TSTA human relations award was presented last spring to Ramirez based on his nomination by the Lubbock County Unit TSTA. He then became the district unit's nominee for the state honor. In the County Unit TSTA nomination, Ramirez was cited for a wide range of involvement in civic undertakings, including membership on the Board of Trustees of Lubbock Independent School District. He came to the Board in April, 1974, and is the first person of Mexican-American descent to be a member of the board and to hold a major elective office in Lubbock County.

Ramirez said that he was very impressed by the teachers at the state convention. He noted that there was an emphasis on people, not on colors of skin, at the conference. In accepting his award, he paraphrased a famous quotation of a nineteenth century president of Mexico, Benito Juarez: "El respeto al derecho ajeno es la paz," which translated is, "Respect the rights of others, and you will have peace."

New Metro Center Will Help Downtown Lubbock

It was approximately five and one half years ago when the Great Plains Building withstood a tornado blast nearly equalling the force of an atomic explosion. Many people believed that the building would not be here today, but it is standing as tall as ever at 1220 Broadway. This can be attributed to Gaut and Gaut Real Estate Investments of Amarillo, Texas, who purchased the building in February of 1974.

Today, its name has changed to "Metro Tower". It is a strong and beautiful structure with new reflective, non-glare windows throughout the building. The Tower has installed one of the most effective and modern fire safety systems on each of the twenty floors. There are four high speed automatic elevators that give quick service to any floor at a speed of 700 feet per minute.

Metro Center, the 'Landmark of Lubbock', will be an asset to downtown Lubbock. It is situated within walking distance of Metro Square—the $8.5 million West Texas Hospital and the new $13.5 million Civic Center which is presently under construction.

Lubbock will continue to have the skyline it has had for twenty years. Metro Tower received no structural damage from the May 11th tornado. We can be proud that there were men in West Texas who saw the need for this building remaining a part of downtown Lubbock. Lubbock needed that extra shot in the arm. We are a booming city on the South Plains of Texas and will continue so with giant undertakings like the removal of the old Great Plains Life Building to the lovely and sound structure of the Metro Tower.

Metro Tower will help downtown Lubbock. Thanks is due to the Gaut Brothers of Amarillo for helping in this regard. We've come a long way since May 11, 1970.

As I See It!

by T.J. Patterson

As I See It, the hard working members of the Dunbar PTA should be commended for their grass root effort to inform parents about attending these important meetings. There were twenty-seven parents in attendance last Tuesday. This is good! I've always been one who believes in quality not quantity.

Officials of the association tell me that all parents were called, via phone, a day before the Tuesday meeting. This system proves that something can happen when concerned parents do their part to help better the institution.

If you are a parent of a Dunbar student or an interested patron, I would advise you to start attending these meetings if you are not at the present time. Sure, more parents can and should attend these meetings.

The next meeting of the Dunbar PTA will be held Tuesday evening, November 4th. A great program is on tap for you. Get involved and attend these meetings.

Many students on the campus of Texas Tech University always ask me if I'm really from Waxahachie. Sure, I was born on Gravel Street in Waxahachie in 1937. My mom tells me that I was born at 4:00 in the afternoon.

You know what, I'm glad to say I'm from Waxahachie, Texas.

Not many people in West Texas knew David Porter, former principal for years of the Woodson High School in Abilene, Texas. He was killed in a two car vehicle in Kansas City, Mo. in a dark rainy afternoon last Tuesday. He was a friend to the field of education and had contributed a great deal to this area of development.

A very quiet man, but persistent. His death was shocking to me, and well as those who knew him.

October 20 through 26 is "Texas Railroad Grade Crossing Safety Week as proclaimed by Governor Dolph Briscoe earlier their month. We, as citizens and drivers, need to pay close attention to the importance of this act by the Governor.

"Accidents at railroad grade crossings continue to claim many lives and result in significant property damage," said the Governor. Statistics indicate that deaths due to collisions between automobiles and trains increased by 10% in 1974. The first half of 1975, however, the number of deaths has decreased by 22% compared to the same period last year.

It is good to see the steps taken by the Governor's office to see that there is public awareness and cooperation, teamed with improved engineering of automatic protection devices at public grade crossings. Because of this, there should be a continued progress in the reduction of deaths and injuries at these crossings.

Regardless of how you may feel about the upcoming State Constitution Election on Tuesday, November 4, please go out and vote. It is our duty as taxpayers of Texas to vote in important elections as this one. No doubt, history will be made in this upcoming election, regardless of the outcome. As you know, it is the first time in 100 years that a State Constitution electin has been held in Texas.

Why not be a part of history being made in Texas and go VOTE on NOVEMBER 4th. Your vote is of most importance, don't let anybody tell you different.

In a recent article appearing in the American Management Association publication, Richard R. Conarroe suggested ten ways to get out from under your job. He says that you can stop "hating your job and literally start loving it by taking these ten actions." Those actions, which I think are quite positive, are:

- Root out your hidden resentments of your job,
- Stop fighting against your job and start fighting with it,
- Isolate those parts of your job you dislike most and, one by one, eliminate or change them.
- Isolate those parts of your job that you like most and, one by one, expand them and build them up.
- Upgrade your health, then stay in shape,
- Escape from your job,
- At all times, keep your personal job goals in mind,
- Improve your own work environment,
- Identify the critical success factors in your job and focus your work on these, and
- Stop complaining about your job and start thinking about how lucky you are to have it.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

CORRUPTION OF THE CIA

by Jack Anderson with Joe Spear

(Copyright, 1975, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.) Washington—Legislators investigating the CIA have admitted privately to us what they refuse to say in public—that past Presidents were fully aware of past CIA abuses and may actually have ordered some of them.

Few of the Senators and Congressmen involved in the investigations want to blame former Chief Executives for the CIA's faults. And the sworn testimony itself is vague. Indeed, there appears to have been a conspiracy to provide Presidents with "credible deniability."

It is clear to those who are looking into the matter, however, that the CIA did not operate without Presidential direction.

The agency, in short, was not out of control. To be sure, some details of their complicated schemes were never discussed with the President. But the general plots and dirty tricks appear to have emanated, for the most part, from the White House.

The abuses grew out of the Cold War, when the decision was made that the CIA should emulate the Russian KGB by intervening in the domestic affairs of foreign governments and assassinating unfriendly world leaders.

The late CIA Director Allen Dulles, say our sources, would visit the White House to brief the President. He would lean back, assume an air of mystery, and explain in an enigmatic way what the CIA was up to. The President would frequently give Dulles general instructions.

The meaning of these roundabout discussions was quite clear, but they left the President in a position to deny any direct knowledge of the CIA's activities.

This loose relationship between the White House and the CIA, say witnesses, continued through the Eisenhower and Kennedy Administration. But the President who pushed the CIA to go far beyond its mandate, say our sources, was Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson was convinced that the anti-war protesters who besieged him were stirred up by enemy agents and agitators. The people, he believed, would never turn against him of their own accord.

He instructed the CIA to find the evidence that would support his thesis. Thus began the compilation of dossiers and the massive spying on American citizens. For all their effort, however, the CIA was never able to show that the anti-war movement was supported by enemy agents.

Richard Nixon went a step further. He enlisted the CIA's help in his own domestic political problems.

In June, 1973, he ordered his majordomo, H.R. "Bob" Haldeman, to use the CIA's clandestine activities as an excuse to thwart the FBI's investigation fo the Watergate scandal.

Most people do have to work (that includes this writer)—not just for the money, but because it is our way of fulfilling ourselves. Just think, without work to devote ourselves to, to think about and worry about, to brag about and complain about, to gain experience in and keep learning to do better, to escape from and hurry back to—we'd be miserable people.

As I See It, Brothe Conarroe's article makes a lot of sense.

Letters To The Editor

Dear T.J.,

Is it so what I read in your paper a couple of weeks ago that these black parents are going to sit around and let the white people put the black children completely out of school? The parents see how slow their children are progressing and if the white people take Dunbar completely away from the black children, parents might as well keep them at home and learn them what they can. If they want to close any school, let them close some of the white schools. It is not but four black schools here. They are doing that to keep the white schools open. Is this what they want to do for the black children?

Parents please don't sit around and let Dunbar be closed. If the white people don't want their children to come to Dunbar, let them go to any school they want to go to. Parents, there are just as good black teachers here as there are white teachers. If you all would command for more black teachers to be in all these four black schools and have more teachers with black children, you would see a great change in your child's life.

Remember parents, what you learned wasn't from the white teacher, it was from a black teacher. Just forget about what Stokley and Stubblefield said about paying taxes. Each and every one of us pay taxes. Now I am begging each and everyone, especially you parents. Please don't let Dunbar High School be closed. That will put your children out of school.

S/Mrs. Florence Collier I.
2611 Parkway Drive
Lubbock, Texas 79403

P.S. Please put every word of this in your paper. (Mrs. Collier, the article that appeared in the Times was an opinion article on what citizens of Lubbock thought about whether Dunbar High school should remain open or be closed. Thanks for your input. The Editor)

Haldeman called CIA Director Richard Helms and Deputy Director Lt. Gen Vernon Walters to the White House and instructed them to tell acting FBI chief L. Patrick Gray that the bureau's investigation of campaign funds "laundered" in Mexico threatened to expose the CIA's secret operations there.

Walters passed the message to Gray that very day. The corruption of the CIA, guided and encouraged by four Presidents, was complete.

Tax Avoiders: Some American-based companies pay more taxes to foreign powers than they do to Uncle Sam.

That's just one of the startling findings of a new corporate tax study done by Congressman Charles Vanik, D-Ohio. He found that 142 American-based multinational companies paid a total of $14.4 billion to foreign governments during 1974. Yet they only forked over $10.3 billion to the U.S. Treasury during the same period.

Eight giant corporations escaped American taxes entirely. And 18 firms paid under ten per cent of their income in taxes, which is far less than what the average wage earner must pay.

The average corporate tax bill came to 22 per cent of income—less than half of the 48 per cent that corporations are supposed to pay.

All of this tax-avoiding was legal, of course. The tax loopholes written into the law allow the big corporations to escape without paying their fair share.

Diplomatic Pipeline: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, say our sources, has reluctantly decided not to ask for a resumption of military aid to Chile. Such assistance was cut off by Congress las December. He wanted to make the request, but dropped the idea when he heard that Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., would vehemently oppose it.

—Kissinger, meanwhile, is curious over some recent remarks of former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird. The irrepressible Laird toured the Far East a few weeks ago and assured a Taiwan audience that America's relations with the Republic of China are as strong as ever. This is precisely the message that Kissinger, enamoured with Red China, did not want delivered. Then Laird stopped in Tokyo and asserted to a group of newsmen that it's about time Congress assumed a stronger role in foreign policy.

—There was apparently a frightening moment aboard the Kissinger plane during one of his recent shuttle flights between Tel Aviv and Cairo. The smell of something buring wafted through his aircraft. After a hasty search, the culprit was finally located. It seems someone was running documents through a copying machine aboard the plane when one of the papers got stuck and began to smolder.

Budget Fuss: Some White House budget experts are grumbling because their superiors have refused to allow the powerful Renegotiation Board more staff members. The board reviews more than $40 billion each year in government contracts. With a few more staffers, they say, they could save the government millions. But the Budget Office has steadfastly refused to put any more auditors on the payroll.

A young Lubbock husband had his problems with his young eighteen-year-old wife last Saturday night. He told police that he had left his house early Saturday morning and didn't return until that evening.

When he returned, according to the police report, they had an argument. "She thought I was with another woman," said the young man.

While the argument was going on, he pushed the young wife and she got scared and stabbed him with a steak knife. After stabbing her love, she ran across the street to a neighbor's house and called an ambulance.

The young man told police that he would not file charges after being treated at a local hospital. As they always say, love is a many splendor thing.

Theft

Hattie Fleming, 2913 Parkway Drive, reported to Lubbock police that while her car was parked on the campus of Estacado High School, persons unknown raised the hood of the car and took the alternator.

resource persons from the different services, and to meet other women who re interested in coming back to school and who have already returned.

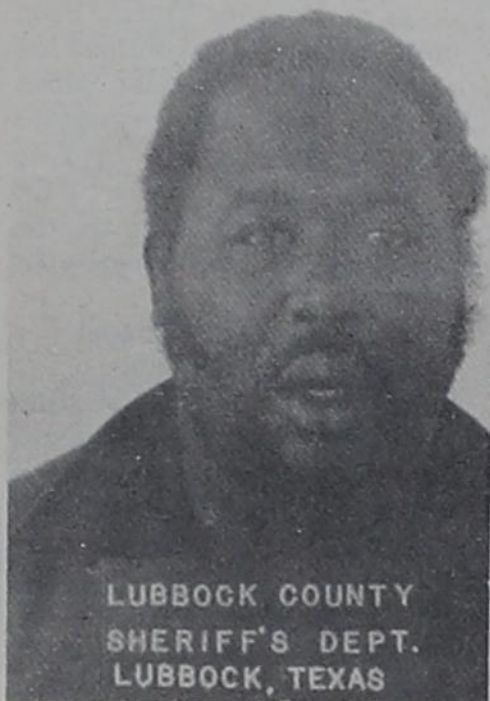

The Women's Continuum, which is presenting the symposiums, was created in September to assist women with the desire to come back to school—whether it be to take a few classes or to complete a degree or two, and entering on any level—freshman, upperclass or graduate. The Continuum is also to provide returning women students with an overview of information about what is available at Tech, and to put them in touch with resource persons who can advise them in developing an educational program and schedule of classes tailored to their individual background, interests and needs. The goal is for the returning student, by being well informed, to be able to profit the most from her learning experience at Tech.

James Baker Faces Life In Prison

by Dean Glaze

James Baker, 35, of Lubbock, faces life in prison as a "habitual criminal" following his tenth felony conviction here since 1961.

LUBBOCK COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPT. LUBBOCK, TEXAS

Judge Eugene Jordan handed out the sentence in 99th District Court Tuesday after Baker was found guilty of four felony counts of the same nature. Judge Jordan explained that "habitual criminal" status and subsequent life term can result upon conviction of the same felony, less than capital offenses, twice.

Baker was initially convicted of theft in 1961, then passing a worthless check in 1964 and passing a forged instrument in 1964, 1966 and twice in 1969 and once in 1971. Also on his criminal record are three counts of forging in 1974.

Services Held Last Tuesday for Longtime City Resident, Mrs. Maude Hamilton

Services were held last Tuesday for Mrs. Maude Marie Sedberry Hamilton, a longtime resident of Lubbock, at Bethel A.M.E. Church with Rev. Sam B. Laine officiating. Rev. A.W. Wilson, pastor; and Rev. James R. Gilmore assisted in the services.

Burial was held in the City of Lubbock Cemetery under the direction of local funeral directors.

A native of Meridian, Texas Bosque County, she was the third child born to Mr. and Mrs. William Sedberry, both deceased.

She attended elementary school in Meridian and completed her high school work in Austin, Texas at Samuel Houston College. Mrs. Hamilton moved to Lubbock in 1922 with her family and became a first grade teacher at Ralls.

She confessed hope in Christ at an early age joining the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Meridian. When she moved to Lubbock, she along with her family organized the Messiah Presbyterian Church. She was active in the church school. Participating in the Presbyterian Women's Organization and choir were a favorite of hers.

She is survived by a son, Robert Hamilton; a sister, Mrs. Beatrice Barnes of Houston, Texas; three brothers, Charles and Almo Sedberry of Lubbock, and Douglas "Toots" Sedberry of Houston; an aunt, Mrs. Ella Robinson of Meridian; nieces, nephews, other relatives and many friends.

Honorary bearers were the Presbyterian Women Elders of Messiah, Ladies Social and Art Club and Sheldon Sedberry and Ralph Alexander, Jr. Active Pallbearers were Perry Clark, Sr., James Craven, Sr., Sidney Hall, James Roy Lewis, Bert McCutcheon, George Woods, Harvey Davis and Alexander Johns.

Jordan said that unless an appeal is made, Baker will be formally sentenced Monday, Oct. 27. However, because of the length of his sentence, Baker would have to wait out any appeal in prison.

According to a state parole board spokesman, Baker could be paroled in approximately 14 years, depending upon his behaviour at the Huntsville correctional facility.

Looking Back Over the Years

"We Didn't Have Rape Cases Like We Do Today," says Mrs. Williams

by T.J. Patterson

(Editor's note: This is an interview with Mrs. Hunter Williams, a resident of Lubbock since 1925. She tells of how Lubbock was in those days. She says there were no rape cases in those days.)

Mrs. Williams, when did you come to Lubbock?

I came to Lubbock in May, 1925 from Temple, Texas in Bell County. I came to be with my sister, Mrs. Katie Tanner, who was going to have surgery. She was the first colored person to have surgery in the West Texas Hospital. My sister has been in Lubbock since 1924 and we are now living together.

What kind of surgery did your sister have?

"She had an operation on her appendix. They didn't have any x-ray machines, so the doctor had to mash on me. It was about a month before she had surgery. They gave me first class treatment at West Texas Hospital."

Where was the hospital located in 1925?

"It was located where it is now, on Main Street."

How did Lubbock look in those days?

"Well, in those days, Lubbock was like any other small town. Of course, there was nothing developed as it is now. There was no such thing as paved streets. Most all of the colored part of town just had little two or three room houses."

How did you travel around town in those days?

"There were a few cars then. Most of the time before Mr. Craven (owner of the Fresh Air Taxi Company) got his cab company or before bus service, we had to walk everywhere we went. After Mr. Craven got his taxi, we rode down here on Sundays."

Mrs. Hunter Williams, extreme right, is shown with her sister, Mrs. Katie Tanner, and brother, Mr. Andrew Sparks, who is now deceased. This picture was taken December 8, 1969. "We didn't have rape cases like they do now in Lubbock in those days," reported Mrs. Williams.

Where did you live then?

"I lived in a place they called the 'Hill.' That was the first job I ever had. I worked in a boarding house taking care of Texas Tech kids. I lived and worked there for twenty years. They built a room for me and my son, J.J. (who is deceased now). It was Mrs. Gregory's Board House."

How much money did you make a week at the boarding house?

"My salary was five dollars ($5.00) a week. Five dollars went a long way in those days. My son and I did pretty good because I didn't have too much to buy. I only had to buy clothes for me and my son. We stayed there twenty years and were happy. Of course, clothes were real cheap in those days. When I left the boarding house, they had raised my salary to nine dollars ($9.00) a week. From the nine dollars they raised me to $74 a month."

What type of job did you do at the boarding house?

"I was hired to cook for about 135 kids who were going to Texas Tech University. The boys at Tech would do the dishwashing and table waiting. I was also head cook. A part of the time, my sister worked there also."

Did you work for anyone on the campus of Texas Tech?

"Yes, I did. I worked for Senator Will Bledsoe. He's the one who got Texas Tech College here in Lubbock."

How did white folks and colored folks get along?

"Well, I thought they got along pretty good. I really did! They got along about as well as they do today, maybe even better, considering everything. Things were a whole lot better then in that regard."

Did the black man act more like a man in those days?

"I really believe he did! I'll tell you one thing, you never heard of any rapes in those days. Our girls were not raped by anyone then. And you never heard of this stealing and breaking into people's houses. Our house was right on the alley and we came way down here to church on Sundays and no one would ever break into our house."

But today they will break into your house while you are away."

Why were there no rape cases in Lubbock in those days?

"I believe our young ladies respected themselves. Of course, we had men who respected our young ladies. I don't think it is always the girl's fault. I think it is the type of man involved. A man should be a man."

What do you think causes these kinds of acts in the black community?

"Well, I really don't know. But it may be because in those days, people would go to work. In those days, nearly everybody had a job. People liked to work. Now, there are so many who don't want to work for a living. They are getting better wages now, but people just don't want to work. I think it's because people are being brought up not knowing how to work, and really wanting something for nothing. I think the Welfare Department is the cause for a lot of this."

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

Horrible Thought Dept.: Maybe, just maybe, Texas Tech has won its last football game in 1975.

If you rush for 340 yards and pass for 182 more, you've probably won a ball game, haven't you? Yes, you probably have, unless you play for Texas Tech.

That's what the Raiders did Saturday night in a wild battle with Arizona. Tech rushed 68 times to 46 for Arizona, completed 12 of 14 passes, compared to 12 of 28.

But, as they say in the comics, a funny thing happened to Tech. It certainly wasn't funny, hah! hah! But weird.

The Raiders managed to fumble six times, keeping their consistency up, and they drew 10 penalties for 83 yards, compared to only two for 10 against the Wildcats.

And the kicking game fell down on three occasions: 1. A missed 56 yard field goal; 2. A missed 41 yard field goal; and 3. A weak punt of 33 yards late in the game that set up the winning Arizona field goal.

Missed field goals you can forgive, because there's a large element of luck involved. Weak punting in clutch situations is something else. It was caused by a 10-man rush and protection that failed, with an Arizona player almost blocking it.

Still, Arizona managed three field goals, the margin of victory—three of three for Arizona, NONE of two for Tech.

The Raiders continue to cause elation one minute and complete despair the next. There is no consistency and the defense is about at Border Conference standards.

Junior high school teams tackle better than the Raiders, who probably have no fingernails left. They trap a back and then let him get away for a good gain. They reach, instead of putting shoulders into the tackle—like A&M did.

And when it comes to pass defense, the Raiders hardly seem to know how to react. Two completely unnecessary pass interference penalties were called, and they hurt.

But the way Tech was beaten deep was pretty horrible. Sure, 12 of 28 seems like pretty good defense, except when the opponent gains 204 yards and scores twice through the air. And especially when two key passes are completed to lead up to the winning field goal.

Let's be honest, friends, this is not a good football team. It makes far too many mistakes, silly mistakes, unnecessary mistakes. It beats itself.

The offense is beginning to click and look like a winner—until a delay of game penalty, a fumble, a missed assignment, or something else crops up. The less said about the defense the better. It must be learning and that will help in the future, at least.

Above all, I feel sorry for Steve Sloan and I hold him in great respect. Not once have I heard him alibi or complain. All he has done is grit his teeth and go back to work, to say nothing of taking the blame for the poor showings on his coaching.

There's an old saying in baseball that you can't make chicken salad out of a certain ingredient. Players who consistently make mistakes may be hustling, but they leave a lot to be desired in thought processes.

And, continuing on Steve Sloan, not once has he mentioned the veteran players who quit the Tech squad, players who might well have made the difference in half the losses.

Nor has he cried because he is using a lot of inexperienced sophomores and freshmen. This obviously isn't going to be the year, but the foundation, as I've said before, is being laid. Steve Sloan is a winner; Tech will be too, one of these days.

Rain halted the World Series and, by this time, the outcome is known. Never having had the reputation as a gambler, I'd have to say that the rain helped the Reds and that they won the Series.

Regardless of how it came out, the first five games were good ones. Don Gullett was overpowering his second time out and Luis Tiant showed guts and craftiness in his two tries.

The Red Sox made a fight of it, daring the Reds when they were on the bases, fighting back when down, showing some good pitching and getting hits, lots of hits, off probably the best mound staff in the National League.

Cincinnati might just have one of the best three or four teams in baseball history. They have hitting, power, pitching, defense up the middle—everything it takes.

My personal pick for the most valuable Red is Pete Rose. He's a battler and a hustler. He'll beat you anyway he can, with bat or glove. He may look bad this time, but don't let it deceive you. He'll get you the next time.

He reminds me a lot of Jackie Wilcox, when he was a Hubber. He also would battle you every step of the way and he'd do anything to win. And winning is the name of the game.

What's with A&M? The Aggies barely got by TCU and it makes you wonder if the Aggies were so sky high for Tech that they suffered a letdown, or whether they held TCU in such low regard they couldn't get mentally ready for play.

This week the Cadets face Baylor and, even though the Bears have fallen on rocky ground, they could prove to be embarrassing. The Aggies, up and down all year, will have to be up for this one.

Texas' defeat of Arkansas was, and wasn't, a surprise. It is beginning to become apparent that the two best teams are Texas and A&M—which might make the finale between A&M and Arkansas a redfaced

Donna Jean Nelson Wins Again

Donna Jean Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Nelson of Carlisle Community, has a stigma for winning trophies. She was another on October 18. A participant in the N.F.L. tournament at Muleshoe, she won first place in competition with ten other area schools.

Donna, a high school student at Lubbock Christian College, is about to run out of places for her trophies in their lovely home. She has been in contests in various cities and has always been victorious.

Besides being a winner and a popular student, she is a lovely young lady with a beautiful personality.

Her mother, Mrs. Sammie Nelson, is employed at the Lubbock State School and has been promoted recently to a very lucrative position. Her father has received a promotion in his services at the U.S. Post Office.

Donna has the background for a genius which an old adage says: "is born every few generations."

prediction by ABC Sports.

The Razorbacks finally got untracked in the second half, but the Horns already had done the damage. You can't spot Texas that much lead and win, unless you have a super team.

A lot of excitement is left and much of it may be over the order of finish among the "also rans."

Angelic Choir

The Angelic Choir of Mount Gilead Baptist Church, Rev. S.R. Roberts, is making plans for a gigantic musical program to be held Sunday afternoon, November 9, at 3 p.m.

There will be as many as eight churches of Lubbock participating in this program. "It will be one of the largest musicals we've had," said a spokesman of the choir.

The program will include solos, groups and choirs singing God's praises on the program. This program will be open to the public. "We hope to have a joyous time in the Lord," said Ms. Bettye Gant, president.

Mrs. Verna Thompson is program chairperson; Rev. S.R. Roberts is pastor.

Lubbock District Joint Meeting

The Lubbock District Joint Meeting will be Saturday, October 25, 1975 at 8:00 p.m. at Lauderdale's Memorial Church of God in Christ, Ralls, Texas, with Rev. S.R. Anderson, host pastor and Rev. R.L. Caro, president.

The public is invited to attend. Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity! Psalms 133:1.

Alexander Chapel Church of God in Christ

Sunday School was called to order at 10 a.m. with Supt. E.C. Collins and the majority of the teachers present. The 11:30 service was inspiring. The spirit was high.

Supt. M.J. Alexander brought a magnificent message. His text was "Lord to Whom Shall We Go? Thou Hast the Words to Eternal Life." Saint John 6:68.

We cordially invite you to worship with us at any time.

Hope Deliverance Temple

The Hope Deliverance Temple, 2812 East 4th St., presents Evangelist Leo Stallworth of Plainsfield, New Jersey. He is one of America's most traveled preachers, and also one of the greatest faith teachers. He's traveled through the United States, and for several years in the foreign field. His ministry has touched the lives of thousands of people across the country, from the ghettos, off the streets, from all walks of life have been blessed.

As you attend the services of Rev. Stallworth, I'm giving the public, an invitation to hear this man of God. People that have had to suffer with some dreadful sickness, or disease, and it seemed that all hope was gone, through his ministry they caught hope in Christ and were healed of these conditions. People that were tied up and their lives destroyed by the devil, have been rehabilitated through his ministry and by the power of God.

Make it your business to attend the week of October 27 through November 2. Services will begin at 8 p.m. each night. You must get there early in order to get a comfortable seat. We are expecting people from in and out of the city. If you have loved ones or friends that need help, bring them to the services. God can heal your body and deliver you from whatever might have you bound.

This is the church where there is hope for the hopeless and salvation for the lost. Regular services are Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11:15 a.m. each Sunday.

Twentieth & Birch Street Church of Christ

A twelve hour seminar designated to enrich, strengthen, and vitalize the marriage relationship will be held at the Vandelia Church of Christ November 7th and 8th. This relationship was designed by God for man's good.

Beginning Sunday, October 26, Carson Stephens from the Sunset Church congregation will be coming by to teach us some of the songs we haven't been singing from our song books. Brother Stephens will also be giving hints on song leading, which should be very useful to the young prospective song leader. This will take place in the auditorium prior to our evening worship service.

The 19th annual Lubbock Christian College Bible Lecture-ship was a successful meeting this year. It concluded Tuesday evening of this week. A distinguished list of speakers appeared during the three day meeting.

Let us continue to pray for and visit the sick. Those on the sick list include Brothes T.E. Ray and Nelson McCormick and Sisters Rosetta Jackson and Ella Williams. Some of our members are down with sinus conditions and touches of the flu.

Mount Vernon United Methodist Church

Services were well attended last Sunday morning with our pastor, Rev. Nathaniel Johnson, delivering a splendid message.

The 50th Anniversary of our church will be held Sunday afternoon, October 26. Rev. Meredith C. Stone of the Mackey Chapel United Methodist Church of Odessa will be guest speaker.

Words from the pastor: "If you can live with your brothers and sisters and friends on earth, you can live forever in heaven. Let's live now. God will do the rest."

Continue to pray for our sick and shut in members and friends.

Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church

Members of the Eunice Circle will meet in the home of Sister Annie Sanders tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the Queen of Sheba and Dorcas Circles met this week in the homes of Sisters Alberta Horton and Florene Guyton.

Brotherhood Union meets at the church each Monday evening at eight. Mission Two and Junior Mission also meets at the church at eight each Monday evening.

Prayer meeting is held each Wednesday evening at seven. The church and family that prays together stays together. The only hope we have is in Jesus.

Let us pray for and visit our sick and shut in members. Sister Florence Guyton is shut in at her home. Sister Dolly Howard is still ill.

From a Black Perspective: A new Sunday School literature designed to correct the impression that Jesus is white-Anglo Saxon or that Christianity is the white man's religion has been introduced by Urban Ministries, Inc. (EMU), the first predominantly black-owned independent publisher of religious curriculum literature. Called Primary Street and planned especially for children 6-8, the literature depicts, more than most church school literature has done heretofore, the Bible characters with the likeness of middle eastern and north African peoples.

According to the Rev. Melvin E. Banks, president of UMI, "the primary purpose of the new literature is to provide black and urban churches with a guide for presenting the teachings of the Bible in a way young people of today can understand and relate to them. There is a weekly student take-home folder for slow, average and advanced readers, a teacher's manual, and 13 Bible pictures and other visuals.

It is interesting to observe that in 1971, the Evangelical Press Association, whose combined member circulations exceed 12 million, ranked UMI's Inteen number 1 in the category of Christian Education. And in 1973 UMI's Juniorway placed second in the same category.

UMI was formed in 1970 by a group of black and white Christian business men and religious leaders responding to the need for relevant urban religious literature. The board includes the Rev. Dr. Tom Skinner of Tom Skinner Associates, the Rev. Dr. Wilbur Daniel of the Antioch Baptist Church of Chicago and the president of Chicago's Seaway National Bank, Dr. Richard Linyard.

In 1974, UMI and the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church (C.M.E.) reached an agreement to distribute UMI publications to C.M.E.'s nearly three thousand churches at home and abroad. UMI's literature is used by individual churches of more than 15 different denominational groups both nationally and internationally.

There are approximately seven thousand black physicians in the country today. A majority of them belong to the black-oriented National Medical Association. It was founded in Atlanta, Georgia in 1895 and for the past twenty-five years membership has been restricted to legally certified physicians. Headquarters are in Washington, D.C. It continues to work toward the complete elimination of religious and racial discrimination and desegregation in American medical institutions, according to George A. Simpson, president.

Here in Oak Cliff, Dallas, where my family has maintained a sort of summer home for nearly a quarter of a century and where I come to spend a few days of quiet retreat every now and then, Dr. Douglas Watterson, pastor of Cliff Temple Baptist Church spoke to the press. "Our nation is literally being torn apart by racial tensions and hatred", Dr. Watterson declared. "The present problems of schools and busing and mixing neighborhoods are not the cause but only the occasion of this hatred. The problem is basically moral, and it cannot effectively be addressed by government."

He concluded, "The Church, beginning with the minister, needs boldly to say that racial contempt, rejection, and hatred is sin! Adam, the original sinner, did not lie, cheat, steal, smoke, or commit adultery. Adam's sin is an inordinate self-love that seeks its own good to the exclusion of the will of the Father or the good of others. God's answer to the world's brokenness is a new kind of humanity—a race of men like Jesus, in whom there is neither bond nor free, male or female, black or white. God intends a race of brothers who recognize and serve the Father in common." A great challenge to the Church from our white brother. Think I'll attend his church Sunday morning and get more of this great message.

Recent great quotes: "Although the U.S. Supreme Court is clearly less activist than during the 1960's, it does not hesitate to wield its power within the confines of its newly defined role. By applying the same literal eye to the guarantees of the Constitution and the language of the laws, the justices have found themselves as often on the side of the underdog as on the side of big government or big business." Elder Witt in the Dallas A.M. News.

Until later, be a good neighbor. They come in all colors.

REBUILD THE HOUSE OF THE LORD—Members of the All Saints Church of God in Christ of Slaton, Texas, are soliciting donations from Slaton businessmen and local citizens to remodel this church. The mayor of Slaton has given the congregation permission to solicit funds. They are asking Slaton citizens to help in their project because the Lord asked in the opening verses of Haggai, "Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your cield houses, and this house lie waste?" A fund for the remodeling expenses has been established at Slaton Savings and Loan. Pastor for the church is J. W. Butler. Donations are tax deductible. (Slatonite Photo)

PERSONALS

THANK YOU KINDLY!
I wish to express my profound, sincere "Thank You" and deepest appreciation to each of my lovely friends who shared our musical Sunday afternoon, October 19, at Bethel A.M.E. Church, sponsored by the Senior Choir of Bethel. The idea was Mrs. A.W. Wilson's; the challenge was mine. The big task was Mrs. L.C. Struggs who allowed us to involve her as she is always ready when music is the choice and chance.
Your presence was almost overwhelming for me, because it really warmed my heart to see so many of my friends who thought a few years ago I would never be able to sing again. I'd like to tell you why I accepted the challenge: "I trusted in God," and He has never left me alone.
For our choir, it was a financial effort and a chance to praise God in songs, for Mrs. Wilson, it's just how she does things; for Mrs. Struggs, it was and is her calling; for me, it was another chance to trust and try God and renew my faith. And without you, dear friends, it could not have been a success. God bless you, and thank you again.
Sincerely and humbly,
M. Terrell
