Mount Vernon Celebrates 53rd Anniversary

First S.T.E.P. in Traffic Enforcement

The Lubbock Police Department has devised a program as a first step in cutting down traffic violations. The Selective Traffic Enforcement Program (S.T.E.P.) is effective as of October 1, 1978.

The program will last for a year.

According to Mayor Dirk West, "Either you drive right or you pay the price." The mayor also said that "if necessary we will try to set a world's record on the issuing of tickets."

One step in the program is the increase in the fines. The majority of the fines have increased to help cut down on traffic violations.

In 1977, there were 51 traffic fatalities and the highest death rate in Lubbock than any other comparable city in the nation. Because of this, the Selective Traffic Enforcement Program was made effective to cut down on the traffic fatalities.

There will be people who may not agree with the increase in the issuing of tickets, because it would seem as if the police department is directing their attention to traffic fatalities more than other important offenses. The police department is not doing any such thing. It is only interested in decreasing deaths and injuries in traffic accidents along with their other duties.

More policemen have been added to the police department as a part of S.T.E.P. There will be policemen patrolling areas that have the most recorded traffic fatalities, at a certain time of day. Most of the fatalities occur on the weekends.

If the program is successful, then five lives may have been saved in October of 1979; and the city taxpayers will have saved more than $400,000 by the decrease in fatal accidents alone.

The program may not bring welcoming news but we hope it will eventually bring satisfactory news.

NAACP to Meet

The Executive Committee will meet Saturday, October 14, at 7:00 p.m., an hour before the Branch meeting.

opportunity to continue active involvement with Scouting while maintaining and initiating friendship and experiences through the Scouting program. The association is for Eagle Scouts of all ages, and local chapters are being established in Scout Councils across the United States.

It is estimated that there are nearly 500,000 living Eagle Scouts in the United States today, according to Council Chairman, Rick Palmer.

For more information about the Eagle Scout Round-Up and the National Association, Eagle Scouts are encouraged to call the South Plains Council at 747-2631, or visit the NESA booth at the 1978 Scout-O-Rama, being held on November 11, 1978 at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

JACK ANDERSON WITH JOE SPEAR WEEKLY SPECIAL

MEDICAL INSURANCE PEDDLERS HUSTLING SENIOR CITIZENS

WASHINGTON—Thousands of senior citizens are being hustled by unscrupulous medical insurance peddlers. The salesmen are taking advantage of elderly people who are caught in a health care squeeze.

The government's Medicare program won't meet the high costs of medical treatment and hospitalization. So at least half of the Americans over 65 have purchased private supplemental policies. It is estimated that the premiums may run as high as $1 billion every year.

The slick-talking insurance agents have a list of suckers. It's called a "goose" list and contains personal details about potential customers. We have seen a typical goose list that was kept by a group of Texas insurance hustlers.

The agents talk their way into the homes of the lonely, old people on the list. Often, the salesmen conceal their purposes until they get through the door. Sometimes, they try to make the prospective customer believe they are from Medicare or some other federal agency.

They offer a policy which they claim will provide comprehensive "gap" coverage. This is the difference between what Medicare will pay and the actual health care costs. The Federal Trade Commission told us that no such coverage exists.

If the elderly person already has a supplemental policy, the agent tries to get him to cancel it or purchase extra coverage. The agents rarely tell the customer that Medicare supplemental insurance carries an extremely high first-year commission.

Occasionally, as much as 65 percent of the first year's premium may actually be paid to the agent as commission. In some instances, the commission may be 100 percent of the premium.

The gullible buyer is unaware that the new policy may deny coverage of many past medical ailments during the first year after the purchase. Others are never told that, in case of overlapping insurance, they can be paid on only one policy.

A spokesman for the health insurance industry candidly told us: "Frankly, we don't know how many agents there are out there committing these abuses."

Debt-Ridden Dictator: The embattled Nicaraguan dictator, Anastasio Somoza, apparently has defeated the guerrillas who were trying to depose him. Now he has turned to the United States to bail him out financially.

Somoza has usually managed to get a handout from Congress when he needed it. Our sources say he has appealed privately to his friends on Capitol Hill to save Nicaragua from financial disaster.

He has blamed his adversaries for driving the country to the edge of bankruptcy. A paralyzing businessmen's strike has shut down most stores in the key cities, which drastically reduced sales.

The Somoza government depends heavily upon sales taxes for its operating capital. The strike has knocked down collections to a mere 10 percent of normal. The chaotic conditions have also scared people into withdrawing their money from Nicaraguan banks. During the past month alone, a reported $70 million has been taken out of the banks and presumably out of the country.

The fighting has also ruined some of the cotton and coffee crops, which Nicaragua will need to achieve economic recovery. So Somoza has almost nowhere else to turn for financial help than the United States.

Of course, the dictator has a huge personal stake in salvaging the Nicaraguan economy. We have documented from State Department files that Somoza has his fingers in just about every juicy financial pie in the country. In the past, a large share of American aid to Nicaragua has gone, directly or indirectly, into Somoza's pockets.

Aristocratic Justice: Chief Justice Warren Burger, who opened the Supreme Court's new season last week, is described by some of his colleagues as conscientious, diligent and shy. Others say he is petty.

He leaves imperious, written instructions for his messenger to fill the water pitcher or check the ink well. He often signs these daily instructions with the terse command: "This is an order."

When the court is not in session, he takes warm ginger snaps and tea, with lemon, promptly at 10 o'clock every morning. The tea is served by Burger's manservant on an elegant silver tray. Occasionally the Chief Justice likes to sip a little wine. His manservant brings five different wine glasses for Burger to choose from.

The Chief Justice, with his white mane and black robes, is the picture of a patrician. He tries to live up to the image.

Headlines and Footnotes: Several months ago, the House of Representatives refused to appropriate $58 million for the completion of a new Senate office building. Now the Senate, in retaliation, is threatening to hold up $3 million which the House wants for solar panels in one of its buildings... The National Aeronautics and Space Administration wants $300 million for a "wrong-way satellite" that would orbit the sun from pole to pole... Richard Kleindienst, one of former President Richard Nixon's attorney generals, has been hired to handle a labor dispute for the National Symphony Orchestra.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—A new Austin based group headed by former Texas Attorney General Waggoner Carr is gearing up for a statewide fight to check taxes and government spending.

Carr announced here hundreds of invitations have been sent to citizens and groups over Texas in an effort to form a far-reaching organization dedicated to fiscal responsibility and economy.

Acknowledging a kinship to California's "Proposition 13" crusade for a property tax rollback, Carr said the "Texas 13 of Travis County" group is interested in all kinds of tax cuts.

"We find the situation is now so out of hand that we cannot turn the tide individually," said Carr. "The job is now so massive that so long as we act individually, we remain ineffective, confused and frustrated. We will organize in order to be heard. We shall not rest until our government returns its spending and taxing to a level of sanity and reasonableness."

Goals of "Texas 13" in the 1979 legislature include:

—A "reasonable but strict ceiling" on state government spending, with no increase for the next two years beyond available revenues from existing tax sources, and return to taxpayers of any surplus funds beyond current revenues.

—No new state taxes for the next two years, and a constitutional requirement that a two-thirds record vote of the entire House and Senate be necessary to pass future tax bills.

—A constitutional amendment giving Texas voters the right to initiate and veto legislation at state and local levels.

—Creation of a blue ribbon commission of citizens to investigate waste and excessive bureaucracy in state government.

More Income Goal

A committee studying money management will recommend substantial changes in state investment practices aimed at increasing government income $30 to $50 million a year.

Rep. Frank Hartung, following a committee session here, said he is still far from satisfied with the state's return on deposited funds by the State Treasury.

Treasurer Warren G. Harding told the Money Management

Committee that the treasury department has earned an alltime high of $117.76 million in depository interest during his administration. The income increased by $27.7 million or 30.8 per cent over the previous fiscal year.

Harding also told the committee an average of 93.7 per cent of more than $2.4 billion in state deposits earned interest during the last fiscal year, and the state depository board has raised the interest rates on state deposits from six to seven and a half per cent in four stages since last October.

Hartung said he expects the committee to recommend competitive interest bidding, a requirement that a "maximum amount of state deposits be placed at interest in Texas banks and that state investments be permitted in U.S. treasury bills and other government securities.

Law Blamed

A new "speedy trial" has confused prosecutors and influenced district attorneys in San Antonio and Wichita Falls to dismiss cases against six accused felons.

The law allows the state 120 days to try felony charges.

Cases were dismissed in San Antonio and Wichita Falls when prosecutors announced they were not ready for trial when they were unable to produce key witnesses...

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals is studying an attack on constitutionality of the speedy trials act after hearing oral arguments last week.

The State Supreme Court upheld dismissal of two Pasadena policemen for planting a gun along the path of a fleeing theft suspect.

The high court turned down another effort of a Houston television reporter to stop a Nazi telephone recording that offered a bounty for non-whites.

The Supreme Court also ordered El Paso's city water company to supply a restaurant nearby in New Mexico, and concluded a Port Arthur family didn't move fast enough to enjoin leaking sewer gas from a municipal sewer system.

Public employees, the Supreme Court held in a Corpus Christi case, are entitled to present grievances through a non-striking organization.

Texas Municipal League and Houston filed suit to reverse a Public Utility Commission decision ordering $31 million in city franchise taxes on telephone services included only on bills of customers within city limits.

AG Opinions

Local school districts are not authorized to pay required employee contributions to the Teacher Retirement System, Attorney General John Hill said.

In another recent opinion, Hill concluded a commissioners court has "reasonable discretion" to permit payment of office expenses for official court reporters.

Hearing Begins

The Public Utility Commission last week began hearing testimony in Houston Lighting and Power Company's $174.9 million rate increase request.

PUC staff members recommended a $40.5 million increase with a 13.8 per cent return on equity.

Short Snorts

The Department of Public Safety expressed serious concern about a traffic death toll which has jumped 11 per cent over last year and an increase in violent crimes.

Texas AFL-CIO Executive Board announced unanimous opposition to the tax relief amendment on the November 7 ballot because it would grant tax breaks to corporate farms, ranches and timber interests.

The Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation near Livingston proposes to administer its own federal grants, including manpower training funds.

Not all homeowners will get relief from the sales tax on utilities this month. It all depends on the billing cycle. If the cycle is September 25-October 25, the tax must be paid through October 25. But if the billing period is October 3-November 3, the tax went off October 3.

Joe Carter, veteran chairman of the Texas Water Commission, died here last week.

Debutantes Begin Activities

Twenty very attractive young ladies will be presented into society on December 28, 1978. Activities leading up to the gala affair are presently underway.

Mrs. Nora Robertson, kindergarten teacher and a member of the sorority, was responsible for rounding up the students.

Those debutantes serving as chaperones for the students were Janice Gaston, Delnet Davis, Jackie DeVaughn, Rene Flewellyn, Debra Larry and Paulette Bolton.

Future activities for the deb's include a luncheon/fashion show at Hemphill-Wells, treating nursing home patients to treats on Halloween, charm clinics, a Tech football game, a reception given in their honor, and a rehearsal dinner.

COVER A Wagon?

The wild, wild West. Land of hope and opportunity to thousands of courageous settlers. But, if it weren't for the dollars of thousands more Americans taking stock in their country, there might never have been a West to go west to.

You see, money raised from the sale of government securities helped us purchase the Louisiana Territory from the French. Other securities helped buy the states of California, Nevada, Utah, western Colorado and most of New Mexico and Arizona from Mexico. Even settlement of the Oregon Territory was made possible through the issuance of United States securities.

Today, you can still take stock in your country's growth by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. There's no easier, safer way to save or help your country. After all, U.S. Savings Bonds are still a great way for you to go West. Or East, North and South.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

Those of you who follow the movies and love them, as I do, then know that the lengthy spate of hold-over shows that have dominated the screens in the city for such a long time have, happily, yielded to a whole new crop, for better or for worse!

At the conclusion of last week's column covering the first concert of the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra, I did mention what is possibly the best of the new lot on view, "Death on the Nile," the adaptation of the Agatha Christie mystery, who is now on new at the Fox 4-plex on 19th Street.

Now I want to go into a little more detail about one of the best movies you can hope to see in a spate of movies, a true, old-fashioned kind of film that is a delight from beginning to end and played from start to finish by an all-star cast with impeccable reputations and talents to boot.

"Death on the Nile" is the follow-up to "Murder on the Orient Express," also an all-star effort that involved the key figure of the Belgian detective Hercule Poirot, who finds himself with a line-up of suspects, all of whom could have and, in a way, should have eliminated the victim one or the subsequent. Witty, shrewd, seeing all, knowing all, Poirot is something else. In the previous effort he was played by Michael Caine, if memory is correct, as he has been played by others prior to "Death on the Nile."

But, the urbane, intelligent and warm character actor Peter Ustinov is the Poirot this time and he is simply matchless. He works out the baffling mystery with results of admiration and comedy, with intelligence and canny familiarity and his characterization becomes the hallmark of any future Hercule Poirots to come, hopefully all Ustinov. He is, and always has been, an actor of intellectual ability, warm personality and that gloss of sophistication and mastery that has become his unvarying identification.

He, then, is the keynote and the mainstay of this adventurous and mysterious journey down the River Nile in past days wherein a murder (murders) is done. His technique in the solution, the old line-up of all suspects on the ship with motivation, is to picture each one at the time of the actual crime and to picture how each could have perpetrated the act.

The solution comes as a surprise and startling, to say the least, and is just right.

Of course, Ustinov is not the solely responsible person for all this. That comes with the stunning plotting of the story and all production involved, the major person in line for compliments is the production by John Brabourne and Richard Goodwin, and, certainly, most of all the astute direction of John Guillermin. There is little or no flaw in this story. The Egyptian backgrounds are superbly recorded and the Nile trip is a fascinating background for the multiple goings-on. Jack Cardiff is the color cameraman and the music by award winner Nino Rota compliments the action.

Of course, as I said at the beginning of this column, the cast is all-star, in every meaning of the word. The arrogant future victim on the river journey is the heiress, Linnet Ridgeway, who has stolen her best friend's fiance for her own husband. Lois Chiles couldn't be more annoying or better. She deserves what she gets, besides being very beautiful.

There is a finely-etched portrayal of Ridgeway's held-in-bondage servant, Louise, by Jane Birkin.

Now we have Jacqueline De Bellefort, the loser in the marital battle, or is she?, played compellingly by Mia Farrow. Jon Finch is Mr. Ferguson, the Marxist man, and down the line you have names, both familiar and new to the general public, as Simon MacCorkindale, David Niven as Ustinov's Colonel Race as urbane as his companion, Jack Warden as the none-too-stable Swiss physician, I.S. Jonar who is superb as the manager of the river ship on which the action occurs, and then come the familiars.

Bette Davis has the best role in years as the overbearing socially-conscious Mrs. Van Schulyer, while another Oscar winner, Maggie Smith scores as her bitter but entrapped travelling companion.

We have George Kennedy as the business tycoon, smoothly done, and Olivia Hussey (remember "Romeo and Juliet"?) as Rosalie.

And, a delight all the way, Angela Lansbury as the imbibing romantic novelist, a large than life portrayal that wins to the finish line.

The Agatha Christie books are legion but it took a master of his craft, such as Anthony Shaffer to fashion this stunning screenplay out of the original.

"Murder on the Orient Express" was a delight, but "Death on the Nile" is in a class by itself. It is recommended beyond reservation and not for a long time has this critic had such an enjoyable or rewarding time at the movie house. You can't go wrong on this one, believe me. It's reminiscent of older movies when plot and acting, writing and direction were paramount concerns. The film is rated PG and runs 140 minutes. Don't miss it, please.

Food and Gift Festival to be Held Here Oct. 14

The Altrusa Club of Lubbock invites area citizens to their annual International Food and Gift Festival, Saturday, October 14, at the field house of Lubbock Christian College. Live entertainment is scheduled all through the day.

From 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. American and international foods and gifts will be on sale from a number of booths.

Altrusa is a professional woman's club that takes an active interest in civic affairs and supports a number of service projects in Lubbock.

Current Project

Last year Altrusans began developing a "Language Bank" and hope to have it in operation by the end of this year. The purpose of this project is to assist those people who do not understand English by furnishing interpreters who can help in filling out standard forms for employment, government records, reading driver's manuals, and performing routine chores such as marketing. The file of names of volunteer interpreters will be placed in a centrally located place and the telephone number well-publicized.

Mrs. Christine Pappas is chairman of the board of directors for the 'Bank.' Board members are Margaret Henderson, representing the Chamber of Commerce; Jay Gordon, assistant superintendent of the Lubbock School System; Dr. Hugh Paik from the medical community of Lubbock; Larry Elms, representing the legal community; Dr. Donald Dietz, chairman of the Department of Classical and Romance Languages at Texas Tech University; and Roshan Mehdiabadi from the volunteer interpreters.

Mrs. Pappas emphasizes that the purpose of the 'Bank' is to make available a number of volunteers who are fluent in a language and who are willing to communicate for and with others when called upon.

Those interested in volunteering may contact Mrs. Pappas at 795-5547 between 1 and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Other Projects

Other current projects also deal with literacy—the biennium theme and goal of Altrusa International as well as the Altrusa

Altrusa's Monday bazaar is an effort to raise funds to establish an international language bank in Lubbock. All nationalities are taking part in the event to be presented in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. building.

Club of Lubbock is Action for Literacy.

Previous projects that are being continued are the Altrusa Music Scholarship and the Pat Moore Law School Loan at Texas Tech, and donations to the international vocational aid and scholarship funds.

Lubbock Altrusans also have given aid to the blind and Meals on Wheels.

Each year the club recognizes a woman-of-the-year and vocational women students from Lubbock's high schools; two of the students receive an award.

Altrusa Officers

Mrs. Inez Moore is president of Lubbock Altrusa; Mrs. Mary Butcher is vice president; and Miss Clara Pratt, a charter member, is the presidential advisor.

Mrs. Marguerite Key is chairman of Altrusa Information; Dr. Norma Porres, Community Service; Mrs. Pappas, International Relations; and Mrs. Kathryn Sawyer, Vocational Services.

The club meets the first and third Thursday at 7 p.m. and 12 noon at the Lubbock Women's Club, 2020 Broadway.

KELLY'S HEROES

by Joe Kelly

It was many years ago and Texas A&M had just beaten Texas Tech, in Lubbock, by about the same score as it won by last Saturday. Mickey Herskowitz, a Houston Post writer, stopped to shake hands with Bill Holmes, Tech SID, and remark:

"You know, Bill, I'm sorry, but I just couldn't find anything good to write about Tech tonight."

I don't know if Mickey was at last Saturday's game. If so, he might have made the same remark. It wouldn't have been accurate, of course. The Red Raiders did have bright spots.

Still, we must be honest. Freshman quarterbacks usually are not consistent and green offensive lines lack the same quality. Thus, big breaks early should have shown 14 points, not six. The Tommy Duniven would have seized the initiative.

No, this is a building year, a learning year. You can't expect the Raiders to have that kind of machine. They will make it interesting, but no brass ring in 1978. They deserve credit in unlimited measure for standing and fighting to the end.

If things go according to Hoyle, Tech will have played almost half of its schedule and the baseball season won't have ended, while pro basketball and hockey will be in exhibitions. The World Series is here and soon baseball will be a memory.

It has been a great season, with the Phillies standing off a brilliant charge by the Pirates and the Yankees astounding the sports world with a great stretch run. Kansas City held off the Angels and then collapsed, while the Dodgers took charge and ran away with the NL West title.

By the time this is in print, one game will have been played and the second will be today. The question is whether the Yankees can hold together against the Dodgers.

Injuries have hurt the New Yorkers and Ron Guidry is tired. What's more, he probably won't pitch before Friday. It doesn't look promising for Yankee fans this year.

But don't count the club out. The Yankees are still the Yankees and capable of meeting challenges.

Is Texas A&M the best team in the league? It just might be. So far the Aggies have gobbled up everything in sight and show no signs of weakness.

Texas, which didn't impress in its victory over Tech, showed many weaknesses in taking a sound beating from Oklahoma. The Longhorns, without Earl Campbell, are not the same team—and Donnie Little is far from being the answer at quarterback.

Arkansas has been playing games close to the vest, but continues to roll, while Houston beat a Baylor team that Grant Teaff said was the best he's had since being at Baylor. Houston has yet to taste defeat in the conference and definitely is a factor.

But what about SMU? The Ponies have lost only to powerhouse Penn State, while the tie with Ohio State on the road has to give them additional confidence. You can't count the Mustangs out of contention. They're a real darkhorse—and pun intended.

The top affair this week is A&M at Houston and it promises to be a beauty. The Aggies will get their test, but they ought to win, as should SMU over crippled Baylor, while TCU could get its first league win against hapless Rice.

North Texas State gets Texas at a perfect time, right after OU and just before Arkansas, but it won't be enough. And Tech ought to fatten its 1-3 record against New Mexico. It's one of the few games in which the Raiders will be favored—but not by much.

Yankee fans are the most puzzling in the world. On one hand they set an example to the world for great fan support. On the next, they set an example on how now to behave.

Yankee fans start roaring without players in the dugout having to wave towels, or organs constantly and monotonously trying to incite them on. (Personal opinion—all organs ought to be outlawed from stadiums).

And then Yankee fans, as after the last KC game, flood the field, tear at players, rip up the grounds and generally act like spoiled brats away from home for the first time.

New York fans can be intimidating. I'll never forget standing near the memorials in centerfield at Yankee Stadium during a New York Giants football game.

As the Giants emerged from their lockerroom, the cheers and whistles started coming down from the stands. It started slowly and then rose to a crescendo peak. It engulfed the field. It was almost deafening.

That's the kind of support that inspires any team to strain a little harder. It can make the difference.

Ringling the Bell . . .

with Bob Tieuel

The Energy Problem from a Black Perspective: "Dear Bob, Last month the U.S. achieved a breakthrough in experimental fusion that signals an end to the U.S. and the world-energy crisis. At the Princeton fusion labs, a temperature of 60 million degrees was attained in a dough-nut shaped magnetic bottle 18 inches in diameter. Black U.S. Congressman Charles Rangel, (D-NY) commenting on the significance of the breakthrough, inserted this statement in a recent edition of the Congressional Record:

"Miraculously this timetable (about 20 years) coincides with most estimates of when we will reach the end of the world's oil supplies. The implications of this advancement are tremendous. The solution to the world's energy problems is before us. We must seize the initiative and pursue it. This breakthrough compels us to redirect our energy and funnel the necessary funds and attention to the highly promising and vitally important nuclear fusion research."

An aide to the Congressional Black Caucus representative told the black press that this brief Congressional Record insertion has gotten 'more response than tons and tons of other statements the Congressman had entered'.

The response may bridge the gap between the NAACP which has called for an aggressive energy policy, and the Black Caucus, which has had a more go-slow policy toward nuclear power development.

The fuel for nuclear fusion is virtually inexhaustible. It is sea water, from which an isotope of hydrogen is obtained. The energy is cheap, and one day sooner or later, depending on the funding, become mankind's greatest energy source. Clark Watson, president of the American Association of Blacks in Energy commented: "the fusion breakthrough puts the nail in the coffin of the Carter-Schlesinger energy package which is more political than scientific and economic". Yours truly Roy Harvey.

Our Church of God in Christ Bellringer sources report that well over twenty-five young people throughout the nation have been awarded scholarships in the past twelve months and that the goal is to double the number this year. The Scholarship Foundation was conceived by Presiding Bishop J.O. Patterson of Memphis, Tennessee, who is also leading a great financial drive to raise several million dollars to build a downtown headquarters in Memphis, Tennessee for the Church of God in Christ membership in the U.S. and the world, according to our reports. The Holy International Convocation which is held annually, is scheduled for November 7-17th in Memphis.

Operation PUSH has announced a national campaign to stop production on the album "Some Girls" by Mick Jagger and the Rolling Stones, because of what PUSH calls "morally offensive" lyrics. Churches, radio stations, radio and disc jockey associations, sororities, women's groups and record stores are being asked to join the opposition to "Some Girls."

Recent Great Quotes: "We need now, and will need tomorrow, people trained in the art of thought and tutored in the practice of the highest possible moral standard of life, and guided in the highest possible spiritual principles of the universe. Young people, whatever else you do, don't neglect or postpone your opportunity to get an education; for a trained mind and soul is worth more to you, to your race, and to your nation than any material things you might possess." End of quote from Dr. J.H. Jackson, president of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A. Inc., which recently met in New Orleans, La.

The Texas State Baptist Convention will be held at Mt. Gilead Baptist Church, 2510 Fir, October 10-13th. The help and cooperation of all members is needed to make this convention a success.

BILL CLEMENTS WILL CUT TAXES AND GOVERNMENT SPENDING

Texas was built by men with the vision to look ahead and the grit to get things done. Bill Clements is the man to keep this tradition alive for the future of Texas.

Bill Clements will bring a strong, fresh and tough approach to our government in Austin. He is a businessman, not a politician.

Bill Clements started with nothing and built a successful, worldwide company with hard work and the skill to manage men and money. And now Bill Clements wants to preserve the future of our state and he wants the working people of Texas to have the same opportunities he had.

With his proposed "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights," Bill Clements is committed to protecting Texans from excessive taxation and runaway government spending. He is pledged to cutting taxes and returning that money directly to the taxpayers.

As former Chairman of the Southern Methodist University Board of Governors, Bill Clements knows how to make education in Texas the best in the Nation. He's for discipline in the classroom and "back to basics" quality education.

As the son and grandson of farmers, Bill Clements knows the frustrations that an indifferent government can cause people who make their living off the land. He will use the strength of the State Government to fight burdensome Federal restrictions.

"I believe that Texas has always had more promise than problems, but the balance is more delicate each year. We need to get to work now."
