Why Not??

by
Eddie P. Richardson

I watched 1979 fade away and 1980 emerge on the horizon. The thing which comes to mind was: people spend too much time in the past, and the future usually punishes one to high and the past usually too low.

As 1980 emerged and as I breathed 1980 air, this writer made a vow to live from one day to another making the most of each moment and letting the past lay and the future stay, and trying the best and fullest now!!

The past and future are important, but only for what they are. The past for records and the future for reference. As Michael Walker said here last summer, "The past is gone; the future is not here, and I'm in love with today!!" Since this is 1980, a new decade is upon us. So let's work to make the best of it by making Black Economic Development a reality. One step is by joining the U. S. Black Chamber of Commerce which is being organized here.

Lubbock Black businesses can be a part of a national network working collectively together across America exchanging ideas and helping each other to make their businesses competitive at the market place -- be it goods or services.

Most important, paramount, key and crucial is teaching Black businesspersons professionalism and proper management techniques and things such as if you make $500, you don't have $500 to spend. You must keep in mind that some portions of that $500 has to go back into the business for it to become solvent.

Most Black people fail in business because of basics, not knowing or having a place to turn to for information. This, among others, will be the function of the U. S. Black Chamber of Commerce here. It will have publications, seminars, and workshops to solve these problems. The Small Business Administration (SBA) has been not what it should have been to and for Blacks. Perhaps with a new regional director, things will change for the better for Blacks.

Remember 1980 is a political year. Watch and listen to what politicians have to say. Speaking of politics, many interesting things are being asked of me, and many request that I seek a public office. These requests come from a variety of people. Strange revelations will appear in the 1980 politics.

Since our New Year's resolution is progress for 1980, let's start with our young people and help them get on the right track and forget about peer pressure. Let's remind them to be concerned about doing the right things in life and becoming an asset to society and not a liability. Leave the funny cigarettes and all of those kinds of things and study and prepare for the future.

BLACK SELF-HELP

Our readers should know of a major effort taking place: the encouragement and re-determination of Black self-help, of which this newspaper is a part. Our focus is on unifying our communities, so that we can take the lead in encouraging everyone to be a part of "pulling ourselves up by whatever bootstraps" we might have. Perhaps the most significant thrust for fresh Black community self-development in America today is the program for facilitating community improvement, initiated by the group of more than 100 newspapers associated with Black Media, Incorporated (BMI), of which this newspaper is an exceedingly proud part.

A major and new part of this thrust will be working in tandem with the National Business League (NBL) in both strengthening the efforts of established chapters in building support for Black-owned businesses and establishing new chapters of NBL to assist in the furtherance of our community development programs.

The BMI newspapers work together on the unique premise that by continuous investment in our local communities we build greater benefits for others and for ourselves. This action, designed to lessen the need for welfare, reduce crime and add to the productivity of all, serves primarily to seal, and set into motion, a much broader outreach--that makes America's Black communities not only optimally self-sufficient, but also major contributors to the general security and prosperity of the nation as a whole. Thus, in addition to facilitating local community improvement, the economic climate of the nation is substantially enhanced, with a multiplier effect of bringing benefits to the entire nation.

The publishers and editors in The BMI Cooperative believe that the key to the solving of predicaments in the Black community rests in Black self-development, with strategic encouragement in the turning of the key being afforded by business and other groups who stand to gain--or lose--depending on the status of the Black community's self-help efforts.

Our goals and routes toward achievement are set forth clearly in our publishers Credo For Justice and Equality which is published several times yearly in the New National BLACK MONITOR. Copies of this Credo for framing purposes may be obtained by writing your local newspaper which carries this column.

When major national and other corporations advertise in the BMI newspapers, a broad range of results is immediately accomplished. Not only does the paper carrying an advertisement benefit, all the papers in the cooperative benefit, too. But even more happens. Funds are accumulated for community development work and Black business investment. The major educational work through BMI editorial features is supported, with its intensive focus on crime prevention, decreasing non-productivity among our eligible working class, and instilling group pride as a means of adding to the strength and resilience of the nation as a whole. Finally, the business community--which pays upwards of 25 percent of its taxes for "social remediation"--benefits both in terms of saving its needlessly spent tax dollars and in the generation of sales-producing partnerships and goodwill.

Recently, the BMI national office has developed an extraordinary video presentation for prospective advertisers, emphasizing the partnership and investment in Black community development which results from businesses working with the BMI member newspapers. Heads of major corporations, after witnessing this presentation and seeing how our newspapers are serving as agents for constructive community change and cost reduction for everyone, have remarked that they never anticipated the day when any business groups would so openly and willingly accept responsibility for improving the lives of Black Americans, upon whom so many handicaps have been imposed over many past decades.

A shortened version of this highly-acclaimed documentary is being shown to Black community groups in community development workshops in cities all across America.

What those who are members of The BMI Cooperative seek to do is more than printing the best, most relevant and comprehensive Black perspectives on the news in the most attractive kind of way. The BMI member newspapers set about boldly "to unlock minds" that have been firmly focused on ways of dealing with predicaments which have kept the Black community in its present self-defeating rut for decades. The mind-refocusing papers share with their readers a wealth of materials taken from historical sources and from the experiences of other nations and societies which may be helpful in resolving our own Black community predicaments.

One student wrote to the editorial office which serves The BMI Cooperative newspapers, saying "Your features and your magazine represent to Black people throughout the country what U.S. News and World Report represents to white decision-makers." An exceptionally fine endorsement, by any standard! This young person had caught the spirit and felt the impact of what The BMI Cooperative newspapers have sought to be about.

One newspaper publisher's assistant wrote recently: "I attended all of the recent BMI presentations to corporations in our area recently. I was impressed by the number of corporation heads who sat, literally mesmerized, for almost an hour during the film and for the brief discussion which followed."

"Then the 'testimony' began. It was almost like seeing white businessmen attending an old-fashioned Black prayer meeting. They were obviously moved and deeply impressed. I only hope that their advertising agencies and executives will follow through on the enthusiastic recommendations which these company heads have made."

"In the end," the publisher's assistant added, "those of us in the Black community--and especially those of us who mold Black people's minds--have upon ourselves the major responsibility for re-directing Black self-development in more productive ways."

Part of our new editorial focus in the cooperatively owned New National BLACK MONITOR will be in both identifying responsible Black suppliers and providing information on new business opportunities to previously-discouraged minorities interested in establishing businesses. For our general readership, we will be encouraging them to further promote the thrust of our Credo For Justice and Equity. Several major white corporations--insurance companies and other industrial concerns--have shown great interest in providing editorial and other assistance to us.

From the spirit and substance of what now is being generated in a mind-and-action-refocusing manner

Rev. A. L. Dunn returned home last week after spending the Christmas holidays with his sister and husband in San Antonio. He reported a wonderful trip.

Ronald Blakemore left Tuesday for Grand Prairie, Texas where he is employed. He is happy over enjoying the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rueben Blakemore.

Gloria Gene Mitchell flew to Dallas, Texas to spend the holidays with her two sisters and family, Alma Faye Scott and Lillie Ray Scoggins.

Mrs. G. H. Davis attended the funeral

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

Members of the Outreach Prayer Breakfast Club would like to share their favorite scripture with their many friends on this New Year's report.

11 Chronicles 7:14
"If my people who are called by my name, will humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven and will forgive their sins and will heal their land."

Thought For This New Year's Day
"Humble ourselves and pray." Think about it!

The president would like to see everyone present on Saturday services of her cousin in Slaton, Texas. He was also a relative of the McKinney family - Frank McKinney.

Mary McKinney, U. Kelly and others attended the funeral.

Mary Ann Jones of Dallas, Texas came last Friday on time. She wanted to enjoy the birthday dinner with her father, Harrison (Bull) Davis on New Year's Day. Both wanted to celebrate together her birthday.

Prayer is the answer for 1980.

BLACK POETRY

I GIVE YOU THAT PART OF ME (A SONG FOR ANDREW)

I give that part of me that lifts you skyward when you are earthbound.

I give you that part of me that says "yes" to life when the world says "no."

I give you that part of me that says "stand in there" when every door is closed.

I give you that part of me that knows you are somebody when you doubt yourself.

I speak of peace when your mind is at war. I cling to truth when those you've trusted have lied.

I give you that part of me that says "good morning, darling" when no one smiles at you.

I give you the God in me that reaches out to the God in you and tells us that WE are ONE and we will forever RE!

—Annetta Elam Capdeville
(Here the thoughtful black poetess speaks philosophically of "sharing," an art which all of us need to know—in order to truly receive LOVE.)

morning, January 3, at 9 a. m. 1979 was a great year for this group. Let's make 1980 greater. We can do it with God's help.

We would like to thank Mr. T. J. Patterson and Mr. Eddie P. Richardson and staff for their kindness. We think the "Digest" is the greatest.

Our next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Mary Ward 823 Vanda Avenue. Wishing you a prosperous New Year. Mrs. Mary Ward is president; Mrs. C. E. Fair, vice president; Mrs. C. E. Brown, secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Hood, reporter.

gests that you should lay low. By Monday and Tuesday, the 7th and 8th, you'll see a turn for the better in your financial picture.

VIRGO — August 21-September 21
Patience will be required of you on Wednesday the 2nd, and especially so on the following day.

By Friday and Saturday, the 4th and 5th, you'll see momentum picking up. Sunday suggests a good day for love and romantic affairs. Watch how you handle your money, however, on Tuesday the 8th.

LIBRA — September 22-October 21
The 2nd holds romantic relationships in store. Thursday will find you mentally and physically on a natural high... be very positive. It will be on Saturday the 5th that caution should be used, to avoid unnecessary strain of the nerves. Monday will prove to be quiet and peaceful, and you can push your finances the following day.

SCORPIO — October 22-November 21
Use caution and prudence on Wednesday the 2nd, especially with partners and associates. The next day will be more pleasant and fruitful for your plans. Saturday will find a short trip in store for you, as well as some public activity of some kind. Monday will be restful, with pick-up in finances on the following day.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 20
Thursday the 3rd will find your activities expanding now, so take full advantage. The following day will not go as well as you might like. Few delays may crop up for Saturday the 5th, relating to travel or some social event. On Sunday, the 6th, accept all social invitations. Rest on Monday, and expect something financially out of Tuesday.

CAPRICORN — December 21-January 20
Being as this is the period of the year when cosmic vibrations are strongly in your favor, events and plans should move along very smoothly. Expand your affairs on Thursday the 3rd. Expect only the odd and unusual to happen the next day. Saturday is good to get away from it all. By Tuesday the 8th, money or recognition will come your way.

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
This time of the year, Aquarius, is usually a low period for you, both mentally and physically. Therefore, coast as much as possible. Friday the 4th will be important but mixed. Watch against family arguments on Sunday the 6th. Go into meditation on Monday. Be frugal and prudent the following day.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Wednesday the 2nd suggests keeping your emotions under control. The next day should find your affairs picking up dramatically. Saturday the 5th, however, indicates that if you must travel, be careful in this regard. Sunday should find your romantic juices really moving. Avoid excessive spending on Tuesday the 8th.
