Soviet Hands Japs Stern Warning

Tokyo To Be Held Responsible For Attack On Embassy

MOSCOW, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Soviet government sharpened its tone toward Japan today with a stern warning against "lawless" bombardment of Nanking in what was believed to be a response to a Chinese appeal for aid against Japanese attack.

Chinese Appeal
The official organ of the Soviet government, Izvestia, published without comment, the Chinese note asking Russia to take measures which would help end quickly such barbarous and inhuman activities as Japanese bombardments.

Government circles did not disclose what steps Russia might take to enter the undeclared Sino-Japanese war, particularly if Japanese warplanes should bomb the Russian embassy at Nanking. Officials said, however, no troops had as yet been moved on the border of Japanese-controlled Manchoukuo.

The Soviet note, delivered in Tokyo yesterday, was considered by responsible circles to be a direct response to China's plea for assistance.

The Soviet government defied Japan to bomb its embassy in Nanking in the "determined protest" which was presented officially to the Japanese foreign minister, Koki Hirota, in Tokyo yesterday by Russian Ambassador Mikhail Mikhailovich Slavutsky.

Fully Responsible
The note declared officials of the Soviet embassy had been instructed to remain at their posts and would be held fully responsible for any damage or injury from bombardment of the embassy in Nanking.

Soviet officials said that Japan had notified Russia that Chinese were planning to draw Russia into the conflict by, falsely, marking their planes to represent Japanese craft and then bombing the Soviet embassy.

This Japanese report officials flatly branded as "pure provocation, showing the intention of some Japanese military powers to bombard the Soviet embassy intentionally and then try to escape responsibility."

Russia told Japan she would be held completely responsible for "any" attack on the Soviet embassy.

Denunciation Of Japs Asked

League Urged To Name Tokyo As Wrong-Doer

GENEVA, Sept. 27 (AP)—Dr. Wellington Koo, China's leading statesman, today urged that the league of nations point out Japan as "the wrong doer of the world."

Dr. Koo, appearing before the league advisory committee, declined the mildest step the league should take in a denunciation of Japan as the aggressor in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

"If the league cannot defend right in the face of might, it can at least point out the wrongdoer to the world," said Dr. Koo, China's delegate to the league.

"If it cannot enforce international law and principles of the covenant," he continued, "it (the league) can at least make it known that it hasn't abandoned them."

Duce, Hitler Assailed In League As They View Nazi War Activity

Forces To Stay In Spain

ESSEN, Germany, Sept. 27 (AP)—The night's meta voice of the Krupp cannon factory roared a war-like welcome today to Premier Mussolini.

Just before he and Reichsfuehrer Hitler strode through the clamor of Germany's "heart of steel," the center of her rearmament, a responsible Italian official said that both German and Italian troops would fight in Spain to the end.

His declaration was made in answer to Spanish government offers to withdraw all foreign troops from their forces if the insurgents would withdraw theirs.

Italy's policy, he declared, will remain as Mussolini has described it, that Italian troops will continue to fight for insurgent Generalsissimo Francisco Franco until Franco's "win."

"He said he presumed the German attitude was the same. Smoky furnaces belched flame, colossal hammers beat a pandemonium on white hot steel as Hitler and his Italian guest entered the immense plant.

Most of the vast factory—which covers about as much area as the rest of Essen—was kept running so the two leaders could see Germany's arms center in full swing.

IN BERLIN
BERLIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—Premier Mussolini of Italy arrived in this capital of nazism this afternoon, to begin a lavish procession through the streets to the cheers of great crowds.

The guest of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, he already had seen the might of Germany's army in annual maneuvers and visited today the factories at Essen, whence come German armaments.

TrUCK DRIVER IS SOUGHT IN CRASH FATAL TO FOUR

HAPPY, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP)—A truck driver was sought by state and county officers for questioning today after a collision yesterday in which four persons were killed and two injured, one seriously.

The dead were Mrs. Bill Adams of Olton; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Coffey of Plainview, and D. S. Gipson, a farmer of near Plainview.

Doctors said Jasper Gipson, brother of D. S., who suffered a fractured arm and severe head and eye injuries, had little chance to survive. King King of Amarillo, a hitchhiker on the truck which collided with an automobile, received cuts and bruises.

King said the truck driver and another passenger disappeared shortly after the collision, which wrecked the truck and the automobile driven by Mrs. Adams.

DUCE'S SON TAKES A LOOK

While his father was with Hitler in Germany, talking international problems, Vittorio Mussolini, 20, son of Il Duce, takes a business-like look into a camera in America. He has reached Hollywood, where he will study motion picture production methods. He is with Hal Rosson, who has an interest in a projected film venture in Italy.

Justice Black's Robes Ready For Use When Court Convenes Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—A new black silk robe hung today in a supreme court ante-room awaiting the arrival from Europe of its owner, Justice Hugo L. Black, and the reconvening of the tribunal next Monday.

As the law jurist approached the United States on a small liner, speculation increased as to whether he would issue any statement on allegations that he is a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

When Justice Black arrives Wednesday at Norfolk, Va., President Roosevelt will be in the far West. The chief executive does not plan to return to Washington until a few days after the court begins a new eight-month term.

Hence, if the new justice decides to don his robes next Monday and March into the crimson-draped courtroom with his eight colleagues it will be before any personal meeting with the president.

Black's new robe has arrived at the locker assigned to him in the robing room, just behind the court chamber.

Some lawyers say there is nothing to keep the new justice from taking his seat next Monday, even though the president might wish to remove him from the bench.

Shot Boosts Well's Yield

Moors-TXL Test Flowing At Rate Of 600 Barrels Daily

An 800-quart shot of solidified nitroglycerin Sunday afternoon has apparently tripled the production of the Moore Bros. No. 1 TXL, discovering well of the new Snyder pool, 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 33-30-1s, T&P.

Shot from 2,700 to 2,900 feet in line, the test made several repeated heads and Monday was flowing at the rate of about 600 barrels a day. Pressure of the heads kept operators from lowering tools to locate a bridge.

After the shot, the test headed at 30-minute intervals, cut their flow to intervals of 15 minutes and Monday had settled back to regular flows about every 40 minutes.

Powers Are Requested To Act

GENEVA, Sept. 27 (AP)—Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, Spanish government delegate to the league of nations, demanded today that the league "call the bluff" of Germany and Italy.

"This two-headed monster which appears to want to declare war on all Europe," he created a tense atmosphere with his impassioned appeal and condemnation of German and Italian intervention in the Spanish civil war on the side of the insurgents.

Del Vayo demanded the adoption of five proposals presented by Juan Negrin, Spanish government premier, to the league assembly. They are:

1. Recognition of Italian and German aggression.
2. Study of ways to restrain it.
3. Granting of rights to the Spanish government to buy war materials freely.
4. Withdrawal of all non-Spanish combatants.
5. Extension of the protection of the Nyon anti-piracy patrol to the Mediterranean.

"A year of Europe's 'hands off Spain' policy Alvarez Del Vayo declared, 'has helped produce a situation admirably described by President Roosevelt in his recent commemorative address on the 105th anniversary of the constitution of the United States when he said:

'Fear is spread throughout the world; fear of aggression, fear of invasion, fear of revolution, fear of death.'

He told the committee, 'the other party to the Spanish conflict, if you wish to reduce the problem to personal terms, is Hitler and Mussolini.'

"If the democratic countries declare a collective decision—before it is too late—that peace shall be preserved," he pleaded, "neither Germany nor Italy nor the two together will dare to start a European war."

GOES TO TRIAL IN DEATH OF G-MAN

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 27 (AP)—The jury box in federal court was half filled at noon today as the government opened its trial of George Guy ("Bud") Osborne, lanky Oklahoma ex-convict, charged with the murder of Truett E. Rowe, agent of the federal Bureau of investigation.

Nearly two-score taleamen were examined in the morning session with a half dozen jurors tentatively accepted.

Rowe, working out of the bureau's El Paso, Tex., office was fatally shot near Gallup, N. M., when he sought to arrest Osborne as an escape from the Bufala, Okla., jail. Osborne was taken in custody a few hours later by McKinley county officers.

Fear Kidnaped Chicago Man Is Dead

No Word From Abductors Of Aged Man; Wife Awaits Call

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP)—Fear that Charles S. Ross had died in the hands of kidnapers increased today as hours passed without word from the retired manufacturer or his abductors.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's police theorized the 72-year-old victim, suffering from high blood pressure and a heart ailment, might have died of shock after he was carried off Saturday night.

His captors, the captain added, might have hidden the body. Gilbert's officers and detective squads were stationed at strategic points awaiting receipt of a ransom note or telephone call on the alternate premise that Ross was still alive.

His wife remained near the telephone in their luxurious apartment in Chicago, as he was driving in from Sycamore with Miss Florence Freibrage, 45, office secretary of a greeting card company which Ross headed until his retirement two years ago.

The first substantial clue was furnished by employees of the Fargo hotel in Sycamore, where Ross and Miss Freibrage had dined Saturday evening.

Captain Gilbert said bellhops and a desk clerk reported a man in a gray cap had talked with Ross alone in the lobby.

Gilbert pointed out, "that this man was a spotter for the kidnapers." The captain deprecated an early theory that the abductors merely planned to rob Ross.

The captain said federal agents would not enter the case until it was definitely established that Ross was held for ransom.

Tell Of Jap Sub Attack

Survivors Assert 300 Killed When Fishing Junks Shelled

HONGKONG, Sept. 27 (AP)—Ten survivors declared today 300 men, women and children were killed when a Japanese submarine sank a fleet of Chinese fishing junks off Cheeloung Point on the South China coast.

Some of the junks were understood to be sailing under British registry and authorities of this British base started an immediate investigation.

The ten survivors, themselves all wounded, and their grisly tale of war on the high seas were brought here aboard the German liner Scharnhorst.

They asserted the Japanese submarine rose to the surface suddenly while they were fishing off Cheeloung Sept. 22. The underwater craft opened fire and sank junk after junk.

While the wounded, the dying, including 100 women and children, struggled in the water, the submarine steamed away. The survivors said no effort was made to pick up any of the victims.

SECURITY PROGRAM REQUIRES NEARLY SEVEN MILLIONS

Governor Urges Steps To Balance Budget; Favors Levies On Natural Resources, Utilities, Pipelines

AUSTIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred appealed to the legislature today to place Texas financial ship of state on an even-keel without further delay.

In a message personally delivered to a special session which convened at noon, the governor assessed $6,926,000 was needed at once for the "people's social security program," urged increased taxes on natural resources, corporation franchise, utilities and pipelines and voiced opposition to a general sales tax.

Declaring there was need for new taxes for general revenue to take care of increased appropriations and to wipe out a huge deficit, he urged immediate steps to balance the budget.

Set Hearing Dates
Joint session of the houses was in order after preliminary organization to hear Allred's recommendations.

Rep. Alf Roark of Saratoga chairman, said the house revenue and taxation committee would set dates for tax hearings at a meeting tomorrow. The senate cannot work on revenue-raising until the house passes a bill.

Rep. Frank Man of Houston introduced a resolution calling for immediate adjournment of the session.

"We should terminate this meeting and the governor then should call us back to effect economies," he argued.

Another resolution proposing that the house investigate the status of Texas' finances quickly to reconcile conflicting reports from the auditor, the treasurer, the comptroller, the governor and others was ready for introduction by Rep. Albert L. Darden of Marble Falls.

In the social security program, Allred estimated $1,626,000 was required to retire outstanding old age assistance warrants, $300,000 to aid the blind, $1,500,000 for assistance to dependent children and $1,500,000 for teachers retirement, all except the first item annually, or more than $10,000,000 for the biennium.

He noted that the state auditor had estimated the deficit in the general revenue fund would be $15,194,000 at the end of this fiscal year, $20,000,000 at the end of the next and $24,000,000 at the end of the biennium unless new income was provided, but did not make detailed recommendations as to how it should be eliminated.

Through his message rang the thought that the people had approved the social security program; it was the duty of the legislature to provide money to carry it out and unless there were better alternatives, the people were going to suffer.

"Texas people have made their wishes known at the ballot box," he said. "You and I must meet this challenge with action or stand indicted for breaking faith with the people."

Priority Rulings On Land Upheld

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 27 (AP)—Priority rulings on land included under the Taylor grazing act were upheld today in an important decision handed down by S. H. Moyer, examiner for the division of grazing.

Moyer, in a decision mailed here from Washington, D. C., affirmed the ruling of the regional grazier for Colorado, denying Joseph E. Livingston and Joseph E. Cook of Pagoda, Colo., grazing permits.

Moyer ruled that Livingston and Cook were unqualified to obtain grazing permits because they had not grazed their sheep on public lands in Colorado grazing district No. 6 for two years prior to passage of the Taylor grazing act, June 28, 1934.

'SLEEPING BEAUTY' CRITICALLY ILL

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP)—The condition of Patricia Maguire, Oak Park's "sleeping beauty," became increasingly critical today as bronchial pneumonia set in.

A proposed operation for an abdominal tumor, for which she was taken to the Presbyterian hospital yesterday, was postponed, her attending physician, Dr. Eugene Traut, stated in a bulletin.

The 32-year-old girl was given a blood transfusion.

FDR Ignores The 'Petty' Quarrels

Says He Is Thinking Of Bettering Industry, Agriculture

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt told a large crowd at the capitol grounds here today that on his current trip he was thinking more of the "bigger things," such as a wider distribution of control of industry and a better agriculture rather than the "petty" quarrels of the day.

Facing a crowd estimated by local police as around 10,000, the president said he was trying to think about planning, how to make a better nation for the future generations, a more prosperous agriculture, timber, conservation, a better coordination of industrial activities, and a wider distribution of control of industry.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) and Pope (D-Idaho) were in the official automobile party which paraded for an hour with the president through the Idaho capital's crowded streets.

When the president mentioned a "wider distribution of the control of industrial activities," he said parenthetically "that sounds like Senator Borah," bringing laughter.

He asserted he also was thinking of the "influence" the United States can have on the rest of the world in bringing about peace, adding in another aside "that sounds like Senator Pope and Dean Hooper."

The statement about "bigger things" pointed up an announcement of last night which said the president will refrain from discussing the controversial court issue on his western trip.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

READING AND WRITING

By JOHN SELBY

It would be nice if some discerning person could decide what the dividing line between a historical novel and history may be—certainly the publishers observe none.

There is issued today, for example, what the publisher calls a "majestic novel" on the life of the Henry of Navarre who became King of France in 1589. Mann (brother of the more able and more famous Thomas) calls this long book Young Henry of Navarre. Although it has some dull gray patches, it is on the whole a readable and workmanlike job, and probably deserves more of an audience than the other Heinrich Mann books so far published in the United States.

But it is neither so rapid nor so colorful a job as a book of history written in the modern manner by Marcelle Vieux and published a few months back as "Henry of Navarre: Le Vert-Galant" (Dutton, $3). This book not only runs rapidly—it gallops at times. Mann needs chapters to describe a scene, his French contemporary gets it done in pages, and so vividly you don't forget. The essential gaily of Henry has been beclouded by Mann to the point where you fail to see it at all most of the time. His mistress, his stupid but exciting escapes and foolhardiness, his curious balancing of wife against concubine, child against child, his flexible attitude toward religion—these are the sides of the story which attract the general reader. One presumes the general reader is the one a historical novelist aims at. And it is curious to see the mark hit squarely by a chap who doesn't call his work a novel at all.

Which is not to say that "Young Henry of Navarre" does not cover the chosen ground acceptably; it does, albeit ponderously. Any book on a period so remote may be forgiven lapses—there are some who will feel that Mann has made Henry react sexually in an adult manner too early, however. A boy of four, unless a monster, does not observe, compare and speak about such matters as maturely as Mann believes Henry spoke.

KILLED BY TRAIN

TRINITY, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP)—Officials sought help today in identifying a man who was injured fatally when he fell beneath the wheels of a freight train near here. He was about 30 years old. He wore a felt hat apparently sold by Fendley's department store in Jackson, Ala.

Court Fight Big Issue At Bar Session

Two Noted Lawyers Assert Tribunal Is Threatened

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27 (AP)—The supreme court fight was swept to the fore today as the outstanding theme of the American Bar association's convention, two noted lawyers, declaring the court is threatened with serious impairment, even destruction.

James A. Reed, former United States senator from Missouri, greeted delegates at the opening session at "protagonists of the constitution" and said destruction of the court would mean "the death of constitutional liberty."

"It is useless to deny that we have arrived at a tragic period in our history," said Reed, a democrat "when the segment of religious intolerance, emerging from the covers of ignorance and hate, can drag its slimy folds across the centuries and in the city of Washington, thrust its forked tongue into the face of justice."

Frederick H. Stancfield, of Minneapolis, president of the bar, said the Roosevelt administration's apparent determination is to "destroy" the court as it is known today and the people of the nation may have to choose "between the president and the lawyers of the United States."

Reed, emphasizing that the oath of office taken by every president is "without mental reservation," asked:

"What then shall be said of those who would lavish that solemn obligation of its purpose and make it read: 'I take this oath with mental reservation'?"

What Two Things Happen When You Are Constipated?
When you are constipated two things happen. FIRST: Wastes build up in the bowels and press on nerves in the digestive tract. This causes nervousness, headache, a dull, lazy feeling, bloated belly, loss of appetite and dizziness. SECOND: Your digested food starts to decay forming GAS, which on your stomach (and intestines), and heartburn, flatulent you up until you sometimes gasp for breath.
Then you spend many miserable days. You can't eat. You can't sleep. Your stomach is sour. You feel tired, weak, grouchy and miserable.
To get the complete relief you seek you must do TWO things. 1. You must relieve the GAS. 2. You must clear the bowels and GET THAT PRESSURE OFF THE NERVES.
As soon as offending wastes are washed out you feel miraculously refreshed, bloated vanishes, the world looks bright again.
There is only one product on the market that gives you the double action you need. It is ADDELIXA. This efficient carminative cathartic relieves that awful GAS at once. It often relieves bowel congestion in half an hour. No waiting for overnight relief. Ad-delix is safe on the stomach and bowels. Ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Ad-delix has been recommended by many doctors and druggists for 35 years. No griping, no after effects. Just QUICK results. Try Ad-delix today. You'll say you have never used such an efficient intestinal cleanser.

Getting Ours

Under the head, "You Can't Eat Your Cake and Have It Too," Herbert Harrison, secretary of the East Texas chamber of commerce, has an editorial in the chamber's magazine for October which is well worth reading and heeding.

The burden of taxes has become so great that it is the chief concern and handicap of business men today. Expenses of government—national, state and local—threaten to kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

As a people we are guilty of inconsistency, in voting for new and expensive services of government without adequate provision for paying the bill.

Chambers of commerce have been guilty of condemning new taxes and appointing committees to secure plums from the government at the same meeting.

Our excuse for this attitude has been that the money is going to be spent so we might as well get ours. This ungodly financial program must stop sometime.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—If you are in a mood for discovery, a variety of odd shops offers delightful surprises to those who care to look or them.

One is a shop for fat men, and its slogan is: "If all men were fat there would be no wars!" No girl is too ample to be fitted, no beam too massive!

Another is an emporium specializing in sandals made from the skins of reptiles. There are slippers of rattlesnake skin, alligator hide, and even toad skin.

There is one shop with a decided macabre touch. Its merchandise is mainly haberdashery, but its decor gives one the shivers.

In a similar mood is the display of waxen figures near Brooklyn Bridge, on the Brooklyn side. These are simulacra of notorious villains who have come to untimely ends.

Then there is a Japanese florist in the west seventies who deals exclusively in oriental plants. His specialty is miniature Japanese gardens.

Nearby is another florist and a fishing tackle shop, but they seem to have their windows mixed up. The florist's window is a miniature lake with five pickerel...

A chain of hat stores makes a specialty of filling its windows with photographs of celebrities, mainly from the sporting world, who wear their brand...

I have never seen it, but I am told there is a sandwich shop near 110th street with a huge life-preserver hanging on the wall. It was from the Titanic and saved the life of one of the passengers.

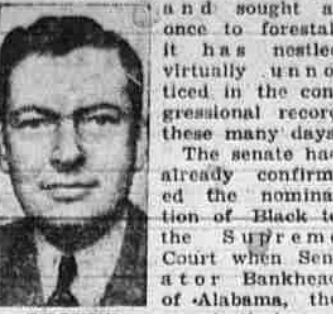

Incidentally, one of the most graphic descriptions of the Titanic disaster was written by Jim Tully, who got the story years later from an eye-witness.

Then, arm in arm, they move away, revealing a life preserver with the ominous legend: "S. S. TITANIC."

WASHINGTON—Evidence that Senator Justice Black foresaw the possibility of an anti-Klan kickback...

GROVER: The message was in the form of letters and telegrams to Black from Jews, Catholics, negroes and foreign-born residents of Alabama and elsewhere.

But this is what he did. Bankhead read into the record what Senator Black had prepared in the nature of a reply to Klan accusations made against him by Senator Copeland of New York and others in the debate on confirmation.

The message was in the form of letters and telegrams to Black from Jews, Catholics, negroes and foreign-born residents of Alabama and elsewhere. These are the classes made the special subjects of Klan hate.

Comments By Black

Bankhead did not say that the messages had been turned over to him by Black, but without exception all were addressed to the new justice.

Bankhead said he had intended reading them into the record during the course of the debate but had found no opportunity until a late stage. By then, he said, it had become evident Black would be confirmed, so he passed over the opportunity.

It is going in for "westerns," it is reaching into the open spaces. "Big outdoor romances," they call it. "Big, with lots of money in 'em."

The people who make money from "western" production are not confined to Hollywood. At Kernville, location where about a third of the westerns are made, the town has built a western-street set.

It was signed Louis Pizitz. Said Bankhead: "He is the largest merchant in the state of Alabama, a Jew."

It was in connection with this message that Bankhead called attention to Black's preparation of the messages. Of Mr. Saks, Bankhead said:

"He was formerly of Birmingham, Ala. (The telegram was dated New York) and has been known to Senator Black, according to Senator Black's notation here, for the last 25 years."

"No Klan Prejudice" That Klandom was in the mind of at least one who congratulated Black was indicated in a message from John W. O'Neill of Birmingham, which, by the way, is Black's latter day home town.

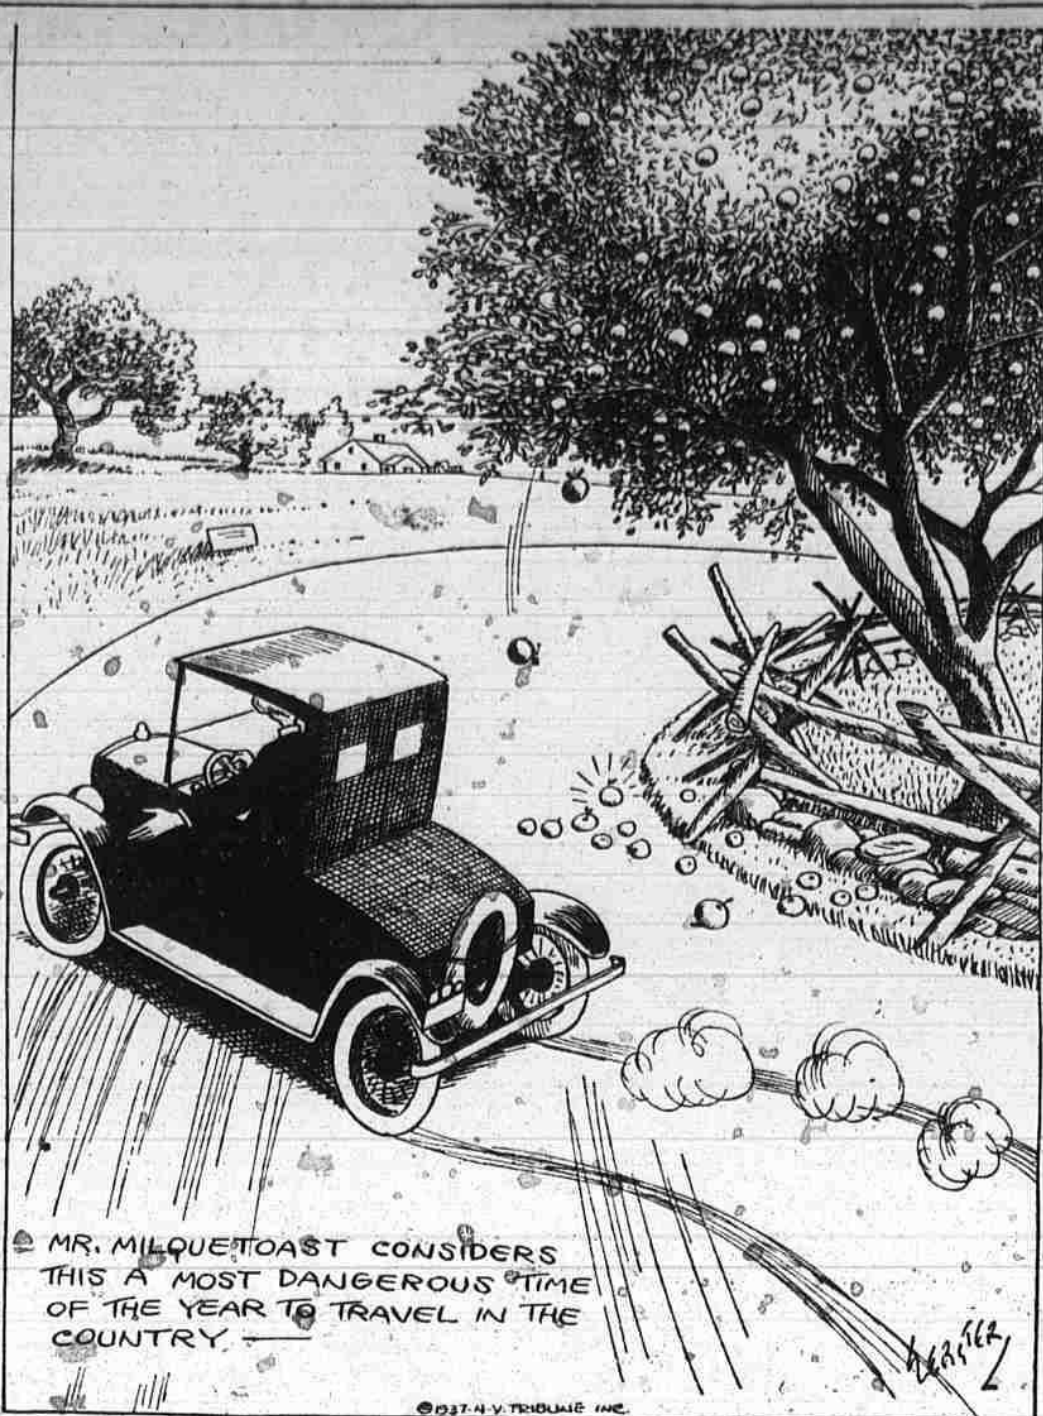

"I desire to endorse your elevation to Supreme Court and state that United States Senator Hugo Black has never demonstrated Klan prejudice in Alabama or shown any but a fair spirit toward members of the Roman Catholic church of Alabama."

HOLLYWOOD—In this day of million-dollar pictures, even the bigger studios are taking out "insurance" on their annual celluloid crop in the form of westerns.

The ride-em-cowboy school of drama is insurance in a very real sense. A million-dollar special may have all the class money can buy but it has to gross considerably more than a million to keep its producer's job long.

Darryl Zanuck's search for an unknown to boost into western stardom is indicative of the major studio trend. Zanuck wanted Gene Autrey, lied up at Little Republic, but couldn't get him.

Philip Wylie's DOUBLE WEDDING THE NEW EXCITING SERIAL ROMANCE

HAPTER XXVIII There was music in Irene's voice. "Here he is!"

Margit blotted away as much of her agony as she could. A handkerchief, however, is somewhat inadequate for the process.

"You stole a cab?" "Yes." "Irene started." "You followed Mr. Jones and me?" "Yes."

"At my orders?" "Yes—and no. You told me to go home when I brushed past you after you had dinner. I thought better of it."

"What were Mr. Jones and I doing?" "In the phaeton, madam?" "Keough gazed glassily at her and then at Irene. "Don't you know, Madam?"

"Of course, I know! I want you to tell Irene." "Keough seemed unsteady. He wet his lips. "Well—" he finally said—"a bit of billing and cooing."

Irene looked wonderingly at Margit. "Gosh," she whispered, "you're bright!" "Margit held herself together, and day before yesterday, Keough?" "The same thing, Madam."

Margit turned to her sister. "So you see? You don't have to waste another thought on Charlie Jones. We can—all cross him—out of our lives—for good!"

That was as far as her self-restraint could conduct her. She began to cry. Irene leaped in to comfort her. "Keough looked on comely, he. Keough looked on comely, he. Keough looked on comely, he."

"Yes, madam, it's the grease paint and spirit gum. I'm allergic to both." He turned and turned back. "If I may say so—I would like to congratulate you on your wisdom in removing this menace from your life."

"He isn't a menace! He's just irresponsible!" "On the contrary, madam. He is a dangerous criminal!"

Margit started. "A what?" "A felon. Wanted in Vienna and Budapest and elsewhere. A robber. A confidence man. A murderer, no doubt."

Margit shook her head faintly and in bewilderment. "Keough, you must be mad!" "He drew himself up with considerable dignity. From his pocket, he pulled a card. It was the one which Roger Wore had sent to him at the Prince James Hotel."

Margit read it. "With every word, her eyes popped wider." "I would have had him arrested," Keough went on, after she had finished and looked up dazedly, "but for the Roman emeralds and the gold. I wanted to ascertain their hiding places before I closed in on him."

"This can't be—" Margit whispered. Irene took the message from her and read it. She gasped. "Keough taked. "Perhaps the most accomplished and dangerous man in the world," he said with simple awe. "It is true. The emeralds were in his possession at the Prince James. Hidden in the wall. He had scooped out a place for them behind the paper—and stuck it back. I have been trained to notice such things. But he is clever—clever, clever!"

Keough was slipping into a somewhat theatrical tone. Nevertheless his audience of two thunderstruck sisters was with him. He could have said virtually anything about Charlie in those moments—and they would have believed him. "Before I could recover the stones, he had moved them."

"What about his wife?" Irene asked sharply. "Probably," said Keough, "his true wife. Possibly not. Certainly an accomplice. I have had no time to investigate her."

Margit was nodding. "That's what she meant when she said Charlie would be a great man to rob a bank with! No doubt she had robbed plenty with him. No doubt she was sitting there laughing at me!"

selves, overwhelming approval has been given to the humanitarian social security program inaugurated and carried on during this administration. The job is not completed. It is the people's will that it shall be.

The governor suggested "caution" against those who say there is no necessity for additional taxes, denounce old age assistance as a dote and term "socialistic" strides made under democratic leadership, asserting they were playing into hands of "selfish interests" and did not speak for the masses.

"It's a self-evident fact there is not enough money in the old age assistance fund to adequately provide for our needy old folks," he said. "Unless some additional money is put into this fund by January 1, they are going to suffer even more. You and I are either for or against adequate and additional funds for these old people. I am for it! Where do you stand?"

He advanced the same argument with reference to assistance for the blind, for dependent children and for the teachers' retirement program.

His views were well known on the subject of how the money should be raised, the governor continued, referring to previous tax recommendations and "the public record in journals of both houses."

"I still think we ought to raise this money from those who are able to pay," he said, "from increased natural resource taxes on franchise taxes, from taxes on the earnings of pipeline companies, utilities and other corporations."

GOP's Jump Gun In '38 Campaign

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Republican leaders, busy preparing up party workers throughout the country, are much further along with their arrangements for the 1938 congressional campaign than are the democrats.

Chairman John Hamilton held today another in a series of conferences with republican stalwarts. This time his visitors were 15 representatives of Young Republican organizations, who gathered in advance of a larger meeting of young workers late this fall.

Democratic chieftains, on the other hand, have made virtually no preparations on a nationwide scale. The party's national headquarters have not been nearly so bustling as the republican offices, which only a few months ago were deserted.

Most democratic workers agree that before they can buckle down to the campaign, the question of reprisals against senators who opposed the Roosevelt court bill must be settled.

Northern Farmers In Texas To See Cotton Growing

DALLAS, Sept. 27 (AP)—Many of a group of midwestern and northern farmers on their first visit in the south, were up at daylight today to get their first view of growing cotton as the train bringing them here swished through fields white with fine bolls.

They were greeted here by George Slaughter, Wharton farmer, at the head of a welcoming committee of farmers and agricultural leaders. Spokesman for the visitors was W. R. Ronald, of Mitchell, S. D., publisher of the Mitchell Republican.

Object of the visit of the 140 agriculturalists from the corn and wheat country was a first-hand study of southern farms and farm problems to enable them to evaluate national problems more wisely. The farmers who had never seen cotton got an eye-full today. Fields in this rich producing area of North Texas were alive with pickers in the midst of a good harvest. The party was broken up into small groups for individual automobile trips through a dozen nearby counties. They were given literature summarizing Texas' agricultural position, and held informal discussions with the farmers who greeted them.

AID FOR FREIGHTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—The steamship Duchess of Athol reported by radio early today to the Radiomarine corporation that two small steamers had reached the British freighter Lackenby and one was standing by to provide assistance.

The Lackenby had sent out an SOS signal at 12:25 a. m. saying it was ashore on the south end of Belle Island and in immediate need of aid.

FACES CHARGE IN DEATH OF WIFE

DEL RIO, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP)—Jose Maria Lopez, 29, was held under a murder charge today in the death of his razor-slashed former wife, Catalina Garcia De Lopez.

Lopez gave a razor to Sheriff A. E. Steinhilber and made a statement shortly after the woman was cut across the throat yesterday. Officers said she ran after she was slashed and her pursuer cut her back and sliced a lock of hair from her head. The couple, married in 1929, had two children and separated last August.

from Montana, the president discussed power and other questions familiar to the section.

Wasteful Nation
"We have been a wasteful nation," the president said, adding not only natural resources but "very often human resources" are wasted.

That was one reason why a president ought to travel—to find out how things are going and how people are getting along.

He said Washington was one of the "narrowest places" in the world, and after telling of a mythological character who redoubled his strength every time his feet touched the ground, said he felt he gained in strength by "meeting the American people."

He concluded by saying he was grateful for his reception and for the "howdy" said to him by the local people whom he described as "just plain folks as all of us are."

After the speech, the president went back to his train for lunch, after which he planned another motor trip to see other federal projects at Nampa, Caldwell, Wilder and Parma, Idaho.

The tour was then to take in Nyssa, Ore., and thence to Ontario, Ore., where he was to rehearse his train for the overnight trip to Bonneville dam, near Portland, Ore.
