

Complete Text Of Constitution Of United States With Amendments

We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Section 1. All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors of each State shall have (the) Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

Section 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Electors in each State, in the Manner which the Legislature thereof may direct.

Section 4. The Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

Section 5. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.

Section 6. Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide. Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behaviour, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member.

Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may in their Judgment require Secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House on any question shall, at the Desire of one fifth of those present, be entered on the Journal.

Neither House, during the Session of Congress, shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any Place other than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Section 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other Place.

Section 7. All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

Every Bill which shall have passed by both Houses, and shall have become a Law, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections, to the House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections thereon, and proceed to reconsider it.

Section 8. The Congress shall have Power to lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but in all Duties, Imposts and Excises, shall be uniform throughout the United States.

Section 9. The Congress shall have Power to lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but in all Duties, Imposts and Excises, shall be uniform throughout the United States.

Section 10. No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Compact; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; coin Money; emit Bills of Credit; make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts; or grant any Title of Nobility.

Section 11. No State shall, without the Consent of the Congress, lay any Imposts or Duties on Imports or Exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its Inspection Laws; and the net Proceeds of such Duties and Exports, shall be for the Use of the United States; and all such Laws shall be subject to the Revision and Controul of the Congress.

Section 12. No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage, keep Troops, or Ships of War in time of Peace enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of delay.

Section 13. The Congress shall have Power to borrow Money on the credit of the United States of America. He shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same Term, be elected as follows:

Section 14. Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or Person holding an Office of Trust or Profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector.

Section 15. The Electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two Persons, of whom one at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign, and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates, and the Votes shall then be counted.

Section 16. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall inmediately choose by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the List the said House shall in like Manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation in each State having one Vote. A quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two thirds of the State, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice. In every Case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors shall be the Vice President, but if two or more shall have equal Votes, the Senate shall choose in them by Ballot the Vice President.

The Congress may determine the Time of choosing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes; which Day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No Person except a natural born Citizen, or a Citizen of the United States, at the time of the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to that Office of President; neither shall any Person be eligible to that Office who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty five Years, and been fourteen Years a Resident within the United States.

Section 17. The Migration or Importation of such Persons as any State may think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the Year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a Tax or duty may be imposed on such Importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each Person.

Section 18. The Privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public Safety may require it.

Section 19. No Bill of Attainder or ex post facto Law shall be passed. No Capitation, or other direct Tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census or Enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

Section 20. No Preference shall be given by any Regulation of Commerce or Revenue to the Ports of one State over those of another; nor shall Vessels bound to, or from, one State, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay Duties in another.

Section 21. No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time.

Section 22. No Title of Nobility shall be granted by the United States; And no Person holding any Office of Profit or Trust under them, shall, without the Consent of the Congress, accept of any present, Emolument, Office, or Title, of any kind whatever, from any King, Prince, or foreign State.

Section 23. No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Compact; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; coin Money; emit Bills of Credit; make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts; or grant any Title of Nobility.

Section 24. No State shall, without the Consent of the Congress, lay any Imposts or Duties on Imports or Exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its Inspection Laws; and the net Proceeds of such Duties and Exports, shall be for the Use of the United States; and all such Laws shall be subject to the Revision and Controul of the Congress.

Section 25. No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage, keep Troops, or Ships of War in time of Peace enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of delay.

Section 26. The Congress shall have Power to borrow Money on the credit of the United States of America. He shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same Term, be elected as follows:

Section 27. Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or Person holding an Office of Trust or Profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector.

Section 28. The Electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two Persons, of whom one at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign, and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates, and the Votes shall then be counted.

Section 29. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall inmediately choose by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the List the said House shall in like Manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation in each State having one Vote. A quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two thirds of the State, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice. In every Case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors shall be the Vice President, but if two or more shall have equal Votes, the Senate shall choose in them by Ballot the Vice President.

The Congress may determine the Time of choosing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes; which Day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No Person except a natural born Citizen, or a Citizen of the United States, at the time of the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to that Office of President; neither shall any Person be eligible to that Office who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty five Years, and been fourteen Years a Resident within the United States.

Section 17. The Migration or Importation of such Persons as any State may think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the Year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a Tax or duty may be imposed on such Importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each Person.

Section 18. The Privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public Safety may require it.

Section 19. No Bill of Attainder or ex post facto Law shall be passed. No Capitation, or other direct Tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census or Enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

Section 20. No Preference shall be given by any Regulation of Commerce or Revenue to the Ports of one State over those of another; nor shall Vessels bound to, or from, one State, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay Duties in another.

Section 21. No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time.

Section 22. No Title of Nobility shall be granted by the United States; And no Person holding any Office of Profit or Trust under them, shall, without the Consent of the Congress, accept of any present, Emolument, Office, or Title, of any kind whatever, from any King, Prince, or foreign State.

Section 23. No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Compact; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; coin Money; emit Bills of Credit; make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts; or grant any Title of Nobility.

Section 24. No State shall, without the Consent of the Congress, lay any Imposts or Duties on Imports or Exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its Inspection Laws; and the net Proceeds of such Duties and Exports, shall be for the Use of the United States; and all such Laws shall be subject to the Revision and Controul of the Congress.

Section 25. No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage, keep Troops, or Ships of War in time of Peace enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of delay.

Section 26. The Congress shall have Power to borrow Money on the credit of the United States of America. He shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same Term, be elected as follows:

Section 27. Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or Person holding an Office of Trust or Profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector.

Section 28. The Electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two Persons, of whom one at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign, and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates, and the Votes shall then be counted.

Section 29. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall inmediately choose by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the List the said House shall in like Manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation in each State having one Vote. A quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two

The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall inmediately choose by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the List the said House shall in like Manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation in each State having one Vote. A quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two dors, other public Ministers and Consuls, and those in which a State shall be Party, the supreme Court shall have original Jurisdiction. In all the other Cases before mentioned, the supreme Court shall have appellate Jurisdiction, both as to Law and Fact, with such Exceptions as the Congress shall make.

The Trial of all Crimes, except in Cases of Impeachment, shall be by Jury; and such Trial shall be held in the State where the said Crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the Trial shall be at such Place or Places as the Congress may by Law have directed.

Section 3. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No Person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same overt Act, or on Confession in open Court.

The Congress shall have Power to declare the Punishment of Treason, but no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood, or Forfeiture except during the Life of the Person attained.

Section 4. Full Faith and Credit shall be given in each State to the public Acts, Records, and judicial Proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general Laws prescribe the Manner in which such Acts, Records and Proceedings shall be proved, and the Effect thereof.

Section 5. The Citizens of each State shall be entitled to all Privileges and Immunities of Citizens in the several States.

A Person charged in any State with Treason, Felony, or other Crime, who shall flee from Justice, and be found in another State, shall on Demand of the executive Authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having Jurisdiction of the Crime.

No Person held to Service or Labour in one State, under the Laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in Consequence of any Law or Regulation therein, be discharged from such Service or Labour; but he shall be delivered up on Claim of the Party to whom such Service or Labour may be due.

Section 6. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the Jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the Junction of two or more States, or Parts of States, without the Consent of the Legislature of the States concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Section 7. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion, and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence.

Section 8. The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislature of two thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress; provided that no Amendment which may be made prior to the Year One thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any Manner affect the first and fourth Clauses in the Ninth Section of the first Article; and that no State, without its Consent, shall be deprived of its equal Suffrage in the Senate.

All debts contracted and Engagements entered into, before the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby, any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the Members of the several State Legislatures, all executive and judicial Officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by Oath or Affirmation, to support this Constitution; but no religious Test shall ever be required as a Qualification to any Office or public Trust under the United States.

Section 1. The judicial Power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain or establish. The Judges, both of the supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold their Offices during good Behaviour, and shall, at stated Times, receive for their Services a Compensation, which shall not be diminished during their Continuance in Office.

Section 2. The judicial Power shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution, the Laws of the United States, and Treaties made, or which shall be made, under their Authority; to all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls; to all Cases of admiralty and maritime Jurisdiction; to Controversies to which the United States shall be a Party; to Controversies between two or more States; between a State and Citizens of another State; between Citizens of different States; between Citizens of the same State claiming Lands under Grants of different States, and between a State, or the Citizens thereof, and foreign States, Citizens or Subjects.

In all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, and those in which a State shall be Party, the supreme Court shall have original Jurisdiction. In all the other Cases before mentioned, the supreme Court shall have appellate Jurisdiction, both as to Law and Fact, with such Exceptions as the Congress shall make.

The Trial of all Crimes, except in Cases of Impeachment, shall be by Jury; and such Trial shall be held in the State where the said Crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the Trial shall be at such Place or Places as the Congress may by Law have directed.

Section 3. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No Person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same overt Act, or on Confession in open Court.

The Congress shall have Power to declare the Punishment of Treason, but no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood, or Forfeiture except during the Life of the Person attained.

Section 4. Full Faith and Credit shall be given in each State to the public Acts, Records, and judicial Proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general Laws prescribe the Manner in which such Acts, Records and Proceedings shall be proved, and the Effect thereof.

Section 5. The Citizens of each State shall be entitled to all Privileges and Immunities of Citizens in the several States.

A Person charged in any State with Treason, Felony, or other Crime, who shall flee from Justice, and be found in another State, shall on Demand of the executive Authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having Jurisdiction of the Crime.

No Person held to Service or Labour in one State, under the Laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in Consequence of any Law or Regulation therein, be discharged from such Service or Labour; but he shall be delivered up on Claim of the Party to whom such Service or Labour may be due.

Section 6. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the Jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the Junction of two or more States, or Parts of States, without the Consent of the Legislature of the States concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Section 7. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion, and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence.

Section 8. The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislature of two thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress; provided that no Amendment which may be made prior to the Year One thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any Manner affect the first and fourth Clauses in the Ninth Section of the first Article; and that no State, without its Consent, shall be deprived of its equal Suffrage in the Senate.

All debts contracted and Engagements entered into, before the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby, any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Section 7. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion, and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence.

Section 8. The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislature of two thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress; provided that no Amendment which may be made prior to the Year One thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any Manner affect the first and fourth Clauses in the Ninth Section of the first Article; and that no State, without its Consent, shall be deprived of its equal Suffrage in the Senate.

All debts contracted and Engagements entered into, before the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby, any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

Constitution, 150 Years Old, Still Topic Of Controversy

Judiciary Squabble May Be Revived As President Makes Address Tonight As Spokesman Of Celebration

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—The nation celebrated today the 150th anniversary of the signing of the federal constitution amid controversy reminiscent of that which raged around the historic document at its birth.

President Roosevelt, whose proposal for reorganizing the supreme court instigated the present day constitution dispute, will be the chief spokesman at the nation's official celebration tonight.

His speech, scheduled for 8:30 p. m., (Central Standard Time), was awaited with widespread interest for a hint of his future course on judicial changes.

Observance of the event was begun last night by Senator Borah (R-Idaho), who told a Masonic audience:

"Constitutional government is the only government which, in restoring the economic welfare of the people, at the same time preserves their rights and their liberty."

He made no specific mention of the president's court program, but asserted:

"Until the people speak, until the people make known their desire, the constitution is sacredly binding upon the people, upon officials upon the congress, the executive and the courts."

"It is sacred against the right or power of congress or the executive or the courts, or of all combined, to change or modify it through unwarranted, forced or strained constructions. Such changes are unjustified—none the less vicious because not openly avowed."

How Long Has It Been?

"When did you read the U. S. Constitution last? Or have you ever read it? In observance of the document's sesquicentennial, The Herald today presents the Constitution, with all amendments, in entirety. It appears on Page 1. You might gain a new light on present day controversies by reading the whole document. Complete on Page 1. The Herald's copy will make a convenient clipping for you to save for future use.

Opponents of the president's court program, who have been watching plans for his western tour in the belief that it might develop into a new drive for judicial reorganization, awaited his constitutional speech with particular interest.

They were on the lookout for signs that would indicate the president's attitude toward the constitution and the courts in the light of his defeat of his reorganization bill and the more recent controversy over his nomination of Justice Black.

Borah said it was frequently contended the constitution was not sacred, but that he believed any instrument of government with the record of the constitution sacred by every rule which measures the worth of human progress or human freedom."

Arms Embargo Is Protested By Chinese

Envoy Claims Action Helps Japan And Hurts Own Nation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—Chinese Ambassador C. T. Wang protested formally to Secretary Hull today against President Roosevelt's partial embargo of arms shipments to the far eastern war zone.

Benefits Tokyo

The envoy expressed to the secretary of state on behalf of his government its disappointment over the action which, Chinese officials claim, benefits Japan indirectly and inflicts direct damage on China.

The presidential order forbids American merchant ships owned by the government to carry armaments, to either China or Japan because of the undeclared war now raging between them.

The presidential order also warned all other American merchant ships that they proceed at their own risk if they attempt to transport such cargoes to the Far East.

China's objection is based on the fact that the government must rely on foreign imports for most of its war materials while Japan is able to manufacture its own in considerable quantities.

In announcing at his press conference that he had received Ambassador Wang's protest, Hull said he had replied to the envoy that the president's action is a government order which speaks for itself.

The Washington decision, forbidding government-owned merchantmen from transporting war supplies to either Japan or China, was characterized by a Nanking spokesman as "certainly not impartial."

"It may be neutrality," he added, "but a complete embargo would at least be fairer, for it would halt all shipments to either China or Japan."

TOKYO, Sept. 17. (AP)—The Japanese government broke its long official silence today on the munitions embargo declared by the United States against both Japan and China. The foreign office spokesman declared:

"The Roosevelt munitions embargo is interpreted here as an effort by the United States government to avoid entanglement in the far eastern situation and it is generally supposed here it will render invocation of the neutrality act unnecessary."

Storm Warning For Coast

Small Craft Advised To Take Precautions

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17. (AP)—The United States weather bureau here today warned of a disturbance of unknown intensity forming in the Gulf of Mexico and Texas coast. The bureau's advisory follows:

"Northeast storm warnings ordered 9 a. m. central standard time, Louisiana coast and Texas coast, Louisiana coast and Texas coast, since of unknown intensity apparently forming in western Gulf of Mexico with center at 5 a. m. about 300 miles south of Port Arthur, Texas, probably moving north, northeastward. Caution advised vessels in north-central gulf and small craft Apalachicola to Galveston should remain in port."

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 17. (AP)—Small craft warnings were hoisted along the gulf coast from Galveston to Corpus Christi today as a precautionary measure.

Northerly winds of not more than 28 miles per hour were expected tonight with rain tonight and tomorrow.

GALVESTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—No signs of a gulf storm were apparent here this morning. The barometer at 10 o'clock stood at 29.97, a rise of four points since 7 a. m. The sky was cloudy with a light northeasterly wind. The gulf was slightly rougher than usual.

CORN SKYROCKETS 7 CENTS A BUSHEL

CHICAGO, Sept. 17. (AP)—September corn skyrocketed almost 7 cents a bushel today as the deadlock between opposing speculative interests in the grain market tightened.

While board of trade and commodity exchange officials probed recent dealings in the corn market for evidence on price manipulation, "shorts," or previous sellers of September contracts were "squeezed" again as the price vaulted to $1.16 3/4 a bushel.

SCHACHT OUT AS FINANCE DIRECTOR FOR GERMANY?

BERLIN, Sept. 17. (AP)—The definite disappearance of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht's wizard hand from the direction of Nazi economic policy appeared to have become a reality today with the revelation that he and his aides have moved from the economics ministry.

Business men, inquiring of competent government officials, were told that the man once considered Germany's financial magician "no longer has any influence."

He is now in Italy on a "private trip," it was said here. His resignation or removal long had been rumored and it is known he has not set foot in the economics ministry for about six weeks.

TAMMANY TAKES WHIPPING IN N. Y. MAYORALTY PRIMARIES

BOMBS DROP NEAR AMERICAN LINER

Chinese Base Captured In Jap Drive

Invaders Go Ahead With Strong Offensive In North

PEIPING, Sept. 17. (AP)—Japanese army headquarters tonight announced that Chochoo, Chinese advance base 40 miles southwest of Peiping, had been captured in a steamroller Japanese offensive along the Peiping-Hankow railway.

The Japanese announced their mechanized forces, estimated at 60,000 men, had gained 12 miles in the last 24 hours after spectacular crossings of the Yungting and Chama rivers, south and southwest of this city.

Japanese officers said the capture of Chochoo had cut off some 50,000 Chinese troops along the railway north of that walled city. These Chinese were said to be in danger of being crushed between Japanese columns moving pincerwise from both sides of the railway.

The Japanese command claimed further advances for its highly mobile column which has penetrated Shansi province from the north.

(In Nanking, however, Chinese military headquarters reported a strong counter-thrust against Japan's Shansi expedition. Chinese airmen were said to have bombed it and inflicted heavy damage.)

Two armies of crack Chinese central government divisions were reported being rushed into North China to end the slaughter of half-armed regional troops and break the Japanese advance to the south.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 17. (AP)—Additional Japanese reinforcements for the halted drive against the Chinese defense line were reported today to have landed on the lower reaches of the Yangtze river.

A Japanese spokesman declared the troops had already started advancing inland.

Foreign military observers believed this foreshadowed an imminent major campaign for the Shanghai area on the south side of the Whangpoo river.

The continued rainy weather, reducing visibility almost to zero, was holding up major operations in the sector. Sporadic air raids and artillery fire to the north where the new Chinese line has been established were the only operations in progress today.

WAR SHIPMENTS ARE CHECKED BY HIGH INSURANCE RATES

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (AP)—Sky-rocketing war risk insurance rates have put the damper on shipments to war-torn China, a survey today indicated.

Rates have shot to as high as 21 per cent of the value of the cargo on shipments of war materials or supplies, and to get these rates, it is necessary to go out and dicker with the underwriters.

Domestic marine underwriters stopped posting minimum schedules at the beginning of this week, and British underwriters yesterday followed suit.

Volume of goods moving to China is comparatively small, shippers report.

Shades Of The Old West! Posse Takes To Airplanes

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 17. (AP)—The picturesque old West, swiftly fading under new characteristics, was given what may be a death blow today.

Lean, leathery Sheriff Ed Echols called out his posse. Instead of saddling their horses, bucking on spurs and strapping six-shooters to their hips, the possemen polished their goggles, warmed up airplane motors and took to the air.

Union In Thought Is Cited By Roosevelt

ANTIETAM BATTLEFIELD

Md., Sept. 17. (AP)—President Roosevelt said today the nation during the past four years has been "not only acting but also thinking in national terms" for the first time since the civil war.

He spoke at exercises commemorating the 75th anniversary of the bloody conflict here in which Union soldiers turned back the Southern forces.

Deploping the "sectionalism" and "misunderstanding" engendered by the era of reconstruction following the civil war and contrasting it with the national spirit of today, the president said:

"Deeply we appreciate that the distress or difficulty of any one part of the Union adversely affects each and every other part. We stand ready in all parts to lend a helping hand to those Americans who need it most."

He dismissed discussions of the "rights and the wrongs" of the civil war, telling the commemorative throng, "We can but wish that the war had never been."

The president's speech, in part: "We know that Antietam was one of the decisive engagements of the civil war because it marked the first effort of the Confederacy to invade the North—tactically a drawn battle, but actually a factor of vital importance to the final result because it spelled the failure of the attempt."

"We can and do reverse the memory of the brave men who fought on both sides—we can and we do honor those who fell on this and other fields."

"But we know today that it was best, for the generation of Americans who fought the war and for the generations of Americans who have come after them, that the conflict end in a division of our land into two nations. I like to think that it was the will of God that we remain one people."

Trade Steps Up At Pace Faster Than Usual Fall Movement

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (AP)—Trade movements expanded beyond the usual fall proportions this week, Dun & Bradstreet said today in the Weekly Review of Business.

"Consumers covered their deferred requirements so generously that retail distribution attained a vigorous momentum," the agency said. "Quick to respond to the faster rate of consumption, wholesale markets recorded rapidly, the size of reorders revealing the incompleteness of inventories in many stores."

"Except in those divisions affected by the customary between-season lag, industrial operations edged upward, with durable goods in the foreground."

The Review estimated retail sales for the country as a whole at 4 to 10 per cent ahead of the preceding week and 5 to 20 per cent better than the like week a year ago.

In the major geographic areas the following percentage increases over a year ago were recorded: New England 5 to 15; east 9 to 21; middle west 3 to 15; northwest 18 to 25; south 10 to 16; southwest 12 to 20, and Pacific coast 8 to 16.

Study Changes Four Assessed For League

GENEVA, Sept. 17. (AP)—A committee of experts studying proposed separation of the league of nations covenant from world war peace treaties was reported today virtually decided on a redraft which it was believed might bring Germany back into the league.

The "divorce" project has long been a favorite among league universality enthusiasts as a device for smoothing the way for German re-entry to the fold.

The committee's method of meeting Germany's and other long-standing objections to covenant references to post-war settlements included blue penciling of all such phrases as "allied" and "associated powers."

This phase of reform was one of the planks of British policy outlined last September by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Copeland Is Defeated In Two Races

New Deal Candidate Is Demo Victor, La Guardia Wins In GOP

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (AP)—The New Deal won a smashing double victory over Tammany in New York City's mayoralty primaries.

Tammany's candidate, United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, New Deal foe, was defeated in both the Democratic and Republican primaries. Today's count of yesterday's election showed:

La Guardia Wins Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, head of an anti-Tammany fusion movement and also a friend of the new deal, wrested the republican nomination from Tammany's candidate by more than 30,000 votes.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney, choice of James A. Farley as candidate of anti-Tammany, "New Deal" faction, defeated Copeland for the democratic nomination by more than 160,000 votes.

Latest totals were: Democratic—Mahoney 411,548, Copeland 240,140. La Guardia (write ins) 55,337. (68 election districts missing).

Republican—La Guardia 79,862, Copeland 46,560. (46 districts missing).

To add insult to injury, more than 50,000 registered democrats without any organized backing wrote in the name of La Guardia on democratic ballots.

The new deal's triumph and Tammany's defeat may be even more marked than now appears, inasmuch as results in more than 10 per cent of the election districts in Tammany's stronghold, were withheld.

Crushing Defeat The defeat is considered by some Tammany leaders to be the most crushing their organization has ever received for Tammany leader Christopher D. Sullivan, Copeland, and their chief adviser in the campaign, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, were determined to administer a lesson to both La Guardia and President Roosevelt's new deal administration.

Tammany schemes have rankled because neither La Guardia's local fusion administration, nor the national democratic administration, have seen fit to hand out patronage to Tammany's favorites.

More trouble is in store for Tammany, because Mahoney, with the skillful coaching of Farley, who now serves the democratic committee of the other four boroughs of the city, is expected to conduct a war of attrition against Sullivan, Smith and their allies in the present Tammany leadership.

Tammany is threatened with still another beating in the general election November 2, when, on the face of the show made in the primary election, she appears almost certain to surrender her last grip on her more than a century's rule of New York City politics, when an automatic reapportionment takes place under proportional representation. Brooklyn, which has shown itself today anti-Tammany by a heavy margin, will thereafter control city legislation.

SNEAD SCORES FOUR UNDER PAR FIGURE

CANTERBURY CLUB, CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 17. (AP)—"Slammin' Sam" Snead tore the 6,800-yard Canterbury course apart today in the first round of the 37th annual Western Open championship, scoring a four under par 68.

Jimmy Thomson took second place with a two under par 70, while Ralph Guldhall, the defending national and western open champion, toured the course in exactly par 72.

$5,000 A BITE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17. (AP)—Pretty blondes are valued in superlative court here at $5,000 a bite in case you should want to eat one.

Blonde Lorraine Lively thought she was worth $50,000 a bite. Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. William F. Wilson, whose bulldog Miss Lively said did the biting, intimated blondes should be served free.

A superior court jury yesterday fixed the legal value of one bite at $5,000.

NEW BOSTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—Five business buildings in the Bowls county town were ruins today, the result of a fire yesterday which did damage estimated at $25,000.

Spain Patrol Dropped As England Concentrates On Piracy War

'MISS AMERICA' AT HOME

Action Seen As A New Rebuff To Fascist States

LONDON, Sept. 17. (AP)—Britain today ended the unsuccessful non-intervention patrol of Spain to make available her full quota of warships for the "more important task" of driving pirate attackers from the Mediterranean.

France joined in the decision. The foreign office announced the end of the patrol, formed by the 27-nation non-intervention committee in an effort to keep arms and men from either side in the Spanish civil war.

The decision to end the patrol, carried on by French and British warships after Germany and Italy withdrew in anger because of attacks against their ships last June, was considered a new rebuff to Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Add to Resentment Italy and Germany already are openly resentful of the nine-power agreement drafted at Nyon and giving Britain and France major control of the pirate war in the Mediterranean.

The withdrawal of warships now on duty to patrol Spain to strengthen the pirate control, foreign observers believed, merely would add to the Italo-German resentment.

The decision was called a major change in policy on the part of Britain, marking perhaps a stiffer attitude against piracy and dissent in the Mediterranean, and came as the Nyon powers met in Geneva and reached virtual agreement today on the question of adding warships and airplanes to the work of the naval patrol. Only technical details remained for discussion.

Submarines are the major objection in the new anti-pirate patrol set up last week by the nine powers at Nyon, a conference boycotted by Italy and Germany.

The decision to abandon the non-intervention patrol was regarded as pushing the non-intervention committee definitely into the background.

This was particularly pertinent because Italy has insisted the committee is the only body competent to deal with the "piracy" menace.

Thus, the action was seen as placing an additional obstacle in the way of Italy's participating in the "anti-pirate" plan, since she has indicated her intentions of bringing the "piracy" question before the non-intervention committee.

MANVILLE'S MISSUS IN RETIREMENT RENO, Nev., Sept. 17. (AP)—Flax-haired Marcelle Edwards Manville went into voluntary retirement today as the first step in her third trip here—and the last one, says she—to divorce Tommy Manville, the New York asbestos fortune heir with a penchant for blondes.

"You may say that Mrs. Manville is going into retirement for a few days," the attractive former show girl said at the home of Judge and Mrs. George A. Bartlett, where she will reside.

"I'm tired out about all this hullabaloo," added Mrs. Manville, who arrived here by plane yesterday along with reports her husband had settled $200,000 on her in pre-divorce negotiations.

BOND RECORD READY

Transcribe of the bond record on the $50,000 issue sold by the city last Tuesday had been completed Friday, City Secretary H. W. Whitney said.

The document will be submitted to the attorney general's department and then forwarded to bond lawyers approved by the buyers. With approval, the city will order the bonds printed and delivered.

TWO KILLED, FOUR HURT IN MISHAP

BRADY, Sept. 17. (AP)—Mrs. Debra Gerza of San Antonio and her son, Bernard, were killed and four other persons were injured, one probably fatally, in a highway accident today 12 miles west of Brady.

The names of the injured, all members of the Gerza family, were not available immediately. They were brought to a Brady hospital.

Sheriff Love Kimbrough and County Attorney J. J. Burns started an investigation. They said the Gerza family was out of their car when struck by another automobile.

Blonde Bette Cooper, who retired to her Hackettstown home immediately after winning the title of "Miss America," 1937, smiled happily despite a cold. The trophy she won was mailed to her.

Wheeler Joins Is Robbed Of Car, Cash

Home Demonstration Agent Victim Of Holdup By Pair

NACOGDOCHES, Sept. 17. (AP)—Miss Beulah Blackwell, district home demonstration agent for the Texas extension service, was held up by two men here last night who robbed her of $3 and escaped in her automobile.

Miss Blackwell, a niece of Dr. T. J. Blackwell of Nacogdoches, said one of the men struck her on the head before she could bring her car to a stop. She said the men, both armed with pistols, overlooked $20 in her purse.

Reports were received here today that two men believed to be Miss Blackwell's assailants, robbed a highway construction employe of $22.80 near Henderson. They were driving an automobile without license plates similar to the one stolen here.

It also was reported that two men of the same description crowded a school bus off the highway at Troup and robbed the driver of between $6 and $10. The driver was said to have walked to Henderson to report the robbery after the men took his bus keys.

Wheeler Joins Klan Fuss

Board To Investigate Justice Black Is Demanded

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont) joined today the critics of Justice Hugo L. Black's alleged membership in the Ku Klux Klan, declaring President Roosevelt should appoint an impartial investigating board.

"If the charges are true, the president should ask for Black's resignation," said Wheeler, field marshal of the senate opponents of the Roosevelt court bill.

"This is a good illustration of what happens when an administration acts hastily and what happens when senators vote blindly for every suggestion that is made by the White House."

Shortly before Wheeler issued his statement at Fargo, N. D., Senator Reynolds (D-NC) declared that opposition to Black was "a lot of spite and political propaganda."

The furor created by published reports alleging Black was a life member of the Klan became so broad that Speaker Bankhead declared that he himself ever had been a Klansman.

Rep. Fish (R-NY) had hinted an inquiry might find several southern congressmen "on the Klan payroll or affiliated with the organization."

Questionnaires To Be Mailed To Get

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Roosevelt administration is arranging a little piece of home work for the nation's unemployed this fall.

Officials said today the forthcoming unemployment census, first of its kind, probably will be handled by mailing simple, understandable questionnaires to all the 30,000,000 American homes.

Only a few questions will be asked, authorities said. They will be designed to gather only such information as degree of unemployment, ability to work, skill and former occupations of the registrants.

Advisers to John D. Biggers of Toledo, O., who accepted the directorship of the census yesterday, said the great majority of unemployed could fill out the questionnaires in their homes.

In some areas, where large numbers are illiterate or speak only foreign languages, special registration offices may be set up. Census workers, some of whom could act as interpreters, may aid the jobless in preparing their registrations.

Biggers, president of the Libbey Owens-Ford Glass company, said he hoped the survey could be completed by Dec. 1.

J. H. Stiff accompanied by his sons, James and Vest, and B. J. Michael to Austin this week where charges of assault with intent to murder in connection with a gun fight with officers at Rock Island.

STATE SMUGGLING LIQUOR PROBLEM

AUSTIN, Sept. 17 (AP)—Liquor smugglers from neighboring states are giving Texas officers more trouble than those in Mexico.

Bert Ford, liquor administrator and author of the statement, contends the "dark of the moon" method is practically a thing of the past.

"It doesn't pay," he said. "The border is too well guarded, Mexican roads are bad in the isolated regions and the punishment meted by the federal government is discouraging."

"Automobile hauls from Arkansas, where the state tax is $1.08 per case lower, he continued, are more profitable. Sometimes these violators clear more than $50 a load. And they're hard to catch."

COTTON SHIPMENTS TO ISLANDS LOWER

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 17 (AP)—America's declining cotton textile shipments to the Philippines dwindled to a mere 26 per cent of the total imported by the islands last year, the Philippine-United States joint preparatory committee was told today.

The committee, investigating economic phases of forthcoming Philippine independence, was told Japanese manufacturers have steadily squeezed Americans from a virtual monopoly of the market in the last ten years.

What To Do—

If A Burglar Gets Into Your Bedroom

- 1. If your bed is near a telephone, quietly take the receiver off the hook. The operator may become suspicious and send police.
2. Pretend you're asleep until a chance comes to act without getting hurt.
3. If within easy reach of a fire-arm, and sure that it really is a burglar, use the weapon at the first opportunity, probably when the burglar's back is turned.
4. Try to take a mental picture of the burglar without being observed. This will help when notifying police.

By the AP Feature Service

Just how far you would go in following some of these suggestions of New York City's police commissioner, Lewis J. Valentine, depends on how tough the burglar is.

Night house burglars, says the commissioner, fall into two general classes: Sneak thieves who steal money from pants pockets and purses after climbing fire escapes to get in.

The dangerous type who carry weapons which vary according to the kind of robbing in which they specialize.

Other factors governing your action would be how many burglars there are, how big and how well armed; who else on your side may be around.

If you live in an apartment where there are other people of a door an handy, or if you're in a well-patrolled neighborhood you naturally stand a better chance of attracting help than the person in a secluded private home.

Sunday: If your date stays too late.

-AT THE CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST Alonzo Bickley, Pastor Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. Clyde Thomas, superintendent. Preaching, 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Morning subject, "Evidences of Growth." The choir will render the anthem: "Some Day You Will Need My Savior." Evening subject: "The Tragedy of the Insufficient." This is the second in the series of Sunday evening sermons on "Some Modern Tragedies." Ray Ogden will direct a special song service at the beginning of the service. The Young People will meet in their groups at 7 p. m. You are cordially invited to all of these services. "Come Thou With Us and We Will Do Thee Good."

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN 501 N. Gregg T. H. Grahlmann, Pastor There will be no service this coming Sunday, since the pastor has been asked to hold services at Plainview. Services will be resumed next Sunday at the usual time.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES Room 1, Settles Hotel "Matter" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Sept. 19. The Golden Text is: "Turn ye not unto idols, nor make to yourselves molten gods: I am the Lord your God" (Leviticus 19:4).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon are: "Loving from the Bible: 'O Lord our God, other lords beside thee have had dominion over us: but by thee only will we make mention of thy name' (Isaiah 26:13). The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "That matter is substantial or has life and sensation, is one of the false beliefs of mortals, and exists only in a supposititious mortal consciousness. Hence, as we approach Spirit and Truth, we lose the consciousness of matter" (page 278).

Enchanting Motif

Pattern No. 521

This unusual combination of 6 squares forms one of the most attractive quilts you can imagine. The flat motif is dainty enough to be appealing alone, and the large squares that join them are the loveliest possible. All in all, they produce a pattern that will be charming as dinner cloth or bedspread, or for smaller pieces if you prefer.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with block and space diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 521 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring Herald, Needlework Department, P. O. Box 172, Station D, New York, N. Y. (Copyright 1937, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Intermediates Have Picnic At The City Park

Sunday School Class Meets In Home Of Mrs. Dabney

The home of Mrs. George Dabney was the scene of a meeting of members of the Home-maker's class of the First Christian church Thursday afternoon when Mrs. W. W. Inkman was co-hostess.

A display of Chinese wares which were brought to this country recently by a brother of Mrs. Dabney occupied guests for the afternoon along with a business session.

Refreshments were served during the social hour to Mrs. G. C. Schurman, Mrs. J. R. Michael, Mrs. C. A. Murdock, Mrs. M. C. Lawrence, Mrs. C. M. Shaw, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Glass Glenn, Mrs. Borros, Mrs. H. W. Neal, Mrs. J. H. Stiff, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. J. R. Parks and Mrs. Richarda.

Late Missionary To Africa Is Given Appreciation

Appreciation of the late Miss Lucille Reagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Reagan of this city and a Baptist missionary to Lagos, Nigeria, Africa, is given in the current issue of the West African Review, an English magazine publication.

The publication has this to say: "Miss Reagan was principal of the Baptist academy at Lagos. She was for long periods the only European (white) in that large school and was entirely responsible for all its activities and the direction of the African staff. Her achievements gave rise to expressions of sincere admiration from all who visited the school. If the untimely loss of any individual can be described as irreparable, this one is."

Miss Reagan fell victim to yellow fever at her post in Africa, a few months before she was to have had her biennial furlough.

To Dallas

Miss Doris Cunningham left Wednesday night for Dallas, where she will be guest of Miss Emerett Sanford, 2809 Sheppard, during rough week for S. M. U. Miss Sanford and Miss Cunningham were "classmates" when they attended Gulf Park in Gulf Port, Miss.

for Women Only

CARDUI is a special medicine for the relief of some of the suffering which results from a woman's weakened condition. It has been found to make monthly periods less disagreeable, and, when its use has been kept up awhile, has helped many poorly nourished women to get more strength from their food. This medicine (pronounced "Card-u-i") has been used and recommended by women for many, many years. Find out whether it will help you by giving it a fair trial. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.—adv.

Soy Bean Dinner Is Served By Food And Health Specialist

Dr. Fraser Stresses Importance Of The Balanced Diet

Dinner, a menu of which featured the soy bean product, was prepared and served to special friends and invited guests Friday evening when Dr. Rose A. Fraser, food specialist, was hostess entertaining in the banquet room of the First Methodist church.

Dr. Fraser, nationally known food and health specialist, will today complete a series of lectures on health which have been conducted this week, and during which talks she strives to develop and teach higher education along health lines.

These lectures are for the purpose of teaching the importance of a balanced diet and for that reason the lecturer featured the soy bean in her dinner menu. The soy bean contains ten of the sixteen vital elements of the human body and contains only a small trace of starch. Elements found in the soy bean product are calcium, magnesium, potassium, sodium, phosphorus, chlorine, sulphur, iron, copper and silicon.

Dr. Fraser states the body builds from stimulated foods, the brain is therefore it is as important to have rest along with a balanced diet as is the diet itself important.

Dinner guests included Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Bickley, Miss Nel

Hatch, Mrs. L. C. Chopin, Miss Eva Nell Barron, Mrs. J. D. Barron, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Howie and daughter, Mollie Anne, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cole and son, Mrs. Iva Coleman, Miss Fredrick Adkins, Miss Edith Gay, Miss Mildred Creath, J. R. Creath, Mrs. J. R. Creath, Albert S. Darby and Miss Laura Rupe.

Church Leaders Convene In Abilene

Christian Churches To Present New Five Year Program

National leaders in all departments of Christian Churches of this district are convening in Abilene today considering the theme "The Effective Church and the Kingdom."

The purpose of the meeting is to announce a new five-year program of advance. The program will be two meetings in the morning at 10 o'clock and one in the afternoon at 7 o'clock. The program will be a session of all church leaders. At this session the new program will be presented.

A large delegation from Big Spring is attending the conference, announced Rev. G. C. Schurman, local pastor.

Tomorrow is Somebody's BIRTHDAY

What's the date today?... Why, say... tomorrow... why... tomorrow is somebody's birthday!

Someone you love and hold dear. Mother, dad, sister, brother. An old friend. A teacher, a little boy or girl, a baby. Show you haven't forgotten....

Send a Birthday Present!

Maybe it isn't tomorrow; maybe it's the day after, next week, a month from now. Maybe it was yesterday... but even so, it's not too late. Send a birthday present.

Send a birthday present to the nephew or niece away at school who thinks you are, well, just the grandest person in all the world. Prove it. Put a piece of your heart in a package and write that boy's, that girl's name on the label. Send a birthday present.

Send a birthday present to your sweetheart. Make it a personal gift. It needn't be expensive. But pick it out yourself. Choose it just to please the one you love best. And then, send it with your love.

There's a newsboy down at the corner. A birthday is a big thing to him. Show him you remember. Give him a smile when you buy your paper; and with it give a book, a box of candy, a baseball glove. He will grow up to be a better, finer man just because you remembered his birthday with a present.

Send a birthday present to the boy or girl you used to pal around with as a child, the boy or girl who watched you blow out the candles on your own birthday cake in the long ago. Old friendships are the best; don't lose them. Keep them—with a birthday present.

The nurse who took such good care of you when you were small. She won't have many more birthdays. How delighted she will be to know you haven't forgotten! Don't wait—next year may be too late. Send a birthday present.

Send a birthday present. There's no finer, grander custom. Every one sends Christmas gifts—that's habit, it's expected, counted on. But you don't have to send a birthday present—it's unexpected, it shows thoughtfulness, consideration—and that's what makes it so welcome. Give! It is the most wonderful thing you can do. You get so much back. Love, happiness, friendship, affection. All the things that really count.

Just because you don't have to do it—send a birthday present!

Send a birthday present. Don't send money... send the one thing you know that person will like best. It really doesn't matter what—or how much—it costs. A present that cost one dollar—a present that you picked out yourself—is better than a new ten dollar bill. Just because you have said, "There! That is just what he wants!"

Chip in and help buy your boss a birthday present. You know the grief he's had steering the business through the rough water, trying to meet the payroll, to keep up salaries. Your troubles have been his troubles. Show him you know—with a birthday present!

Send a birthday present to the man you do business with, the customer whose trade has meant so much to you. He won't misunderstand. Just to make sure he won't, send a present to the man who sells you goods.

Send a birthday present! It doesn't matter what you send. Flowers, a toy, your picture, a pipe, a rug, a clock, perfume, a puppy, a pair of socks—send anything!

But send it! It's a birthday present—and it's from you.

Locals Seek To Score 2nd Win

Steers To Take Field Without Regulars, Injuries Crop Up

Tapering off with a light drill Thursday afternoon, Coach Pat Murphy pronounced his Longhorns charges ready as the high school gridirons departed at noon today for Wink and a game with the Wink Wildcats that will open the season for both teams.

A second victory in succession will be the Herd's objective and the locals line up at 8 p. m. on Wildcat gridiron against the seasoned eleven of the Class B power.

On opposite benches will be first year coaches, strange faces to what the field a year ago and won the game, 19-7, after trailing by a touchdown at the half.

Our own Pat Murphy succeeded, with George Brown and brought with him a new system that the Steers have been learning for the past four weeks.

Turner New Mentor

The Wildcats have been tutored by Lacy Turner who succeeded Lee Johnson at the Wink job.

Thus it may develop that fans who flock into Wildcat stadium—and there may be as many as the 3,000 that grew into the field last year—may get an entirely different show than that presented a season ago.

The Herd will take the field in a weakened condition. Ineligibility plus injuries have cut a gaping hole through the front lines. Two regulars, Smith and Rayborn, will not play and a third, Ross Callahan, will be favoring a bruised heel when he lines up for the kickoff. However, the secondary will be intact and that may write a happy ending to this little chapter.

The five backs have all been blazing away consistently through the past weeks and there was little indication this morning as to which four would start the battle.

Red Cunningham, late in reporting, has opened up and is sure to see a lot of action. However, Harold "Lefty" Bethel continued to shine in pre-game drills and may get the call to that fullback slot.

Raymond Lee Williams will be barking out the signals, however, and Charles Ray Settles and Weldon Bigony are sure to line up as part of the secondary. Settles has been moved back to the safety position, succeeding last season's Louie Madison.

The Wildcats may get a look-in at a passing show, Murphy and his assistant, Carmen Brandon, have been drilling the wings and backs in angling the heaves of Williams and the southpaw flipper, Bethel.

Kicking duties of the team will be taken care of by Bigony and Cunningham. Clyde Smith is slated to do the kicking off.

The Wildcats will depend on a pair of "sneakdown twins" to carry them to victory. Johnny Hodgett, a 155-pounder, flashed brilliantly in Class B circles in 1936, teaming with Charles Webb, fullback, who tips in at 168 pounds and is the heaviest man in the Wink secondary.

Both Hodgett and Webb are out after their fourth letter.

Backfield but the forward walls of the two teams should measure up evenly.

Both average around 160 pounds.

Experts Say 290 Needed in 39th Western Open

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 17 (AP)—Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, bulky national open golf king, hoped to write another chapter today in the story of his climb to gold and glory by beating back the challenge of a field of 140 in the 37th annual western open tourney.

The huge western open field started the 72-hole medal play today with "Lighthouse Harry" Cooper, Canadian champion, in the role of favorite at 5 to 1 odds. Guldahl was bracketed with several other top fighters at 8 to 1.

Walter Hagen won the western at Canterbury in 1932 with a score of 287, but the tricky layout has been lengthened several hundred yards and the experts say 290 will be good enough to take the pot of gold.

Negro Finishes Defoe

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Henry Armstrong, the busy negro featherweight from Los Angeles, continues to be the scourge of the featherweight and lightweight divisions.

Henry's latest exploit was a four round knockout of Johnny Defoe of New York at Madison Square Garden last night, in his farewell to New York until November. He returns then to fight Patsy Sarason for the featherweight crown.

Play Begins Saturday In Local Meeting

Qualifying rounds of the Big Spring women's golf tournament will be terminated this afternoon and first and second round matches will be played Saturday.

Finals in the annual affair, won last year by Mrs. Gordon Phillips, will be played Sunday afternoon over the 18-hole route.

Only local women are eligible to enter the meeting.

San Jose Four Loses To Greentree, 14-10

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Argentine menace has been removed and the final mallet-awing for the open polo championship Sunday at International Field on Long Island will be strictly a Whitney family affair.

Jock Whitney's Greentree riders won their way to the final bracket yesterday with a stirring 14-10 victory over the San Jose four, otherwise known as the Gallopers. Gauchos from the Pampas, Pete Bostwick, Tommy Hitchcock and Gerald Balding tamed the hard-scraping South Americans while Jock himself minded goal.

The old Westbury combination, captained by Sonny Whitney, Jock's cousin, previously had qualified for the final in impressive fashion by shelling Templeton, a good team, 19-5.

Krause, Mackay In Ring Tonight Hagen Comes Back With Lowrig

Watkins Billed With Gus Johnson In Semi-Go

Provided several things turn out all right, silky little Tarzan Krause, who has been coasting to deadlocks much too much, and the hammer-headed Cyclone Mackay will monopolize the arena at the Big Spring athletic club tonight in the last of a belated three bout card—bun, those things have to happen for the best for us to get anywhere.

To begin everything, a lad by the name of Otto Lowrig, a Dutchman who never heard of Louisiana until two or three weeks ago, will take a gander as to how the Mississippi Mudcats lick a 'feller' in that part of the country. He's battling Jack Hagen (remember?), a gentleman from the pelican state, and heaven only knows how that one will end.

It may be a good thing that this one is on for only 20 minutes because "The Hag" wasn't in such a delightful humor the last time he appeared under the lights here.

Following that brawl the going gets good and rough. Gus Johnson, a lad of methods, beats the trail of one Tex Watkins for the 30-minute semifinal. Now Gus slammed Mackay around the ring last week to prove conclusively that he was good in his own small way and the promoter took it for granted that he was ready for the lions. Nothing but the head cut was available so there we have it.

Scientifically minded persons may get a kick out of the featured party. Krause delights the kiddies with his marvelous display of technique but he seemingly never gets anywhere.

His temperament is as unruffled as his hair despite the fact that he is Experiment No. One for several of the wrestlers that have shown here.

Maybe he's eaten some tacks by now. He may need them against the unpopular Mackay whose star seems to have fallen.

Krause and Mackay begin operations at 8:30 p. m.

Bulldogs Lose 25-0 Opener

LAMESA, Sept. 17.—Lloyd Devan's Coahoma Bulldogs suffered a 25-0 defeat at the hands of the Lamesa Reserves here Thursday night in the season's debut for both teams.

Superior weight plus experience told the tale in the end as the Coahomas attempted to duplicate the feat they pulled last season, in upsetting the Sandstorms.

Fusses resulted in all the Lamesa touchdowns. The Dawsonites tallied once in the first quarter, twice in the second and again in the fourth. The Bulldogs advanced to within the enemy's 25 yard marker on two different occasions but did not score.

J. E. Brown, tackle, stood out on defense for the Devan forces while Ralph Marshall was a factor in the team's futile offensive drives.

San Jose Four Loses To Greentree, 14-10

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Argentine menace has been removed and the final mallet-awing for the open polo championship Sunday at International Field on Long Island will be strictly a Whitney family affair.

Jock Whitney's Greentree riders won their way to the final bracket yesterday with a stirring 14-10 victory over the San Jose four, otherwise known as the Gallopers. Gauchos from the Pampas, Pete Bostwick, Tommy Hitchcock and Gerald Balding tamed the hard-scraping South Americans while Jock himself minded goal.

The old Westbury combination, captained by Sonny Whitney, Jock's cousin, previously had qualified for the final in impressive fashion by shelling Templeton, a good team, 19-5.

Sutherland To Have Veteran Team At Pitt

(This is another of a series dealing with football prospects of major college teams.)

By JUDSON BAILEY, PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17 (AP)—Jock Sutherland, the silent Scot, will talk plenty now—about anything except the strength of his Pitt football team.

Most of the teams the Panthers play this fall will be stronger than last year, while Pitt not only lost three regulars and half a dozen reserves, but had the weakest freshman team in the country.

And that 21-0 Rose Bowl victory—oh, what an anchor it will be to carry through the season.

As a matter of record Pitt has six letter men at ends, four at guards, three at tackles, two at center and seven in the backfield.

This group is overflowing with last year's sophomore sensations—such as Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg, who gained approximately 1,000 yards in 150 tries and Bill Daddio, greatest end prospect in years. Paul Shaw, a regular end two years ago and out all last season with a leg injury, is back to pair

Norton Has Too Many Kickers In Aggie Land, Worried About Bowl?

Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of first-hand stories on the Southwest Conference football race.

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT, COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Sept. 17 (AP)—If better kicking doesn't crop up soon in the Texas Aggie camp the railbirds who thoughtfully and prematurely conceded them the Southwest Conference title can start hedging.

It is a problem that almost drowns Coach Homer Norton's enthusiasm for an otherwise brilliant team.

"Look at that," moaned the coach as he paced back and forth behind a mob of ten kickers. "There's ten of 'em—and they're all alike. None of them extra good and none of them experienced in punting technique."

"Sure I've got a good kicker—I've got two of 'em, but they're on the third string. Watch that Frank Wood kick. See that one for 70 yards? Great kicker that boy—but a sophomore who won't play much."

Todd May Boot

To Dick Todd, most talked about sophomore in the league a year, probably will fall the task of kicking. His stride, drop and leg motion is better than any of three other regular starters now in the midst of Coach Norton's rugged course on "How to kick—in 50 hard lessons."

Most powerful of all the kickers is Zed Coston, 225-pound center, but Norton hates to think about tearing up his line each time a kick is needed. Karl Steffens, 192-pound fullback seeking his first letter in his junior year, and Jim Shockey, a left-footed ball slammer, are other punting possibilities.

Two other backs due for a lot of football playing, Bob Nearst and Bill Audish, will be capable of kicking hands—when they are in there.

Get Cash Norton off his kicking subject and he is almost optimistic.

Todd Better Ever

Todd, the slippery halfback, who despite a serious head injury last year, lived up to all they said about him, is looser and better than ever. His footwork in drills has put a gleam in Norton's eyes and his passing has "improved 100 per cent."

Two deep in every backfield position with capable hands, Norton however has tentatively decided upon Todd and Shockey for his halfbacks. Steffens at fullback and Dick Vitek, moustached, 165-pound peppercorn at quarterback.

Norton wants it understood, however, that four more backs—Owen (Slick) Rowe, Bill Audish, Ned Crista and Herman Price, a hog-bomber in his first varsity year, will do more than just watch proceedings from the sidelines.

Classiest of all the sophomore talent at hand is Price, a ham-handed six foot, 182-pound youngster from Newcastle, Tex. (see postal guide). He's another Sammy Baugh, experts believe, only along a slightly different line. His passes are "softballs" the kind with handles on them," Coach Norton explained. His accuracy is deadly and his coolness would make the Sphinx look like a wimp.

200-Pound Line

Norton could, and will, put a line on the field that soars past a 200-pound average with Rankin Britt, Bill Seago and Bruno Schroeder, all lettermen, at ends; all-conference Roy Young and either Joe Boyd, George Branson or Bill Minnock at tackles; Joe Rout, the all-America terror, and Virgil Jones at guards and Coston at center.

Schroeder, fullback two seasons ago but out of school last year, has put all of his ring and deception into the business of making himself an end and is succeeding. Norton believes he will be a top-flight wingman.

To replace John Whitfield, the bulky tackle of '36, Norton will have Boyd, Branson and Minnock; with the latter, standout "utility" man of '36, likely to play lots of tackle and just about as much guard.

(Tomorrow: Will "Baughless" Texas Christian threaten again?)

Second Over Cubs

Yesterday, Turner who has won all three of his starts against the Giants, chalked up his second win at the expense of the Onps with a seven-hit, 7-0 shutout. At the same time, the Giants, behind Cliff Melton's classy six-hit elbowing, trounced their cousins from Pittsburgh, 3-0 pick up a full game to leave the pennant race in this condition:

Team	W. L.	Behind Play
Giants	82 52	20
Cubs	87 57	31-2 17

The Cubs were absolutely helpless before Turner. Once they loaded the bases with none out and then let they stay that way as they went down one-two-three. The Giants took advantage of their only two scoring chances to beat the Bucs and Jim Tobin.

The Yankees boosted their American League lead to 10 1/2 games by taking the Cleveland Indians, 8-0, behind Lefty Gomez's three-hit pitching. The outcome eliminated the tribe from the pennant race and left Lefty with his 19th victory. The second-place Detroit Tigers were handed a 7-6 defeat by the Washington Senators.

The Cardinals got back into the National League chase with a twin win over the Phillies, 6-2 and 8-1. The Dodgers and Reds split, Brooklyn taking the first game, 6-5, and dropping the nightcap, 5-1. Harry Kelley's hit won his own ball game as he pitched the Athletics to a 4-3 decision over the Browns. The Red Sox and White Sox were idle.

with Daddio. George Deligh probably will fill Daniel's vacancy at left tackle with Tony Matias on the right side. Walter Rasbowski will be at guard with Steve Petro, who started for the first time in the Rose Bowl. Another Rose Bowl star, Don Hensley now has the call at center over Henry Adams, last year's regular.

Harold Stebbins, who scored Pitt's winning touchdown against Ohio State last season, will pair with Goldberg at the halfbacks and Sutherland probably will alternate two men at the quarterback and fullback posts again. Johnny Chickering and John Micholzen are battling for the former and Bill Stapulis and Frank Patrick for the latter.

If you're looking for an argument, step up to Bill Terry or Charley Grimm today and tell them baseball is a young fellow's game.

They've been coming aging Boston Bees out of their hair for so long this season that you'll be lucky if you get away with only an argument.

It'll be no thanks to Bill McKnight's ancient stingers if either Terry's Giants or Grimm's Cubs wind up with the National League pennant.

Largely through the efforts of their old man pitchers, Jim Turner, Lou Fette and Danny MacFay, the pennant race has been as tight, up to now, as a frankfurter and its skin. And virtually exclusively through the mound mastery of the two rookies and the come-backing MacFay, the Cubs are now 3 1/2 games behind the Giants, although the New Yorkers' favorite stogee, the Pittsburgh Pirates, obliged as usual.

Forsan Closes Season Sunday

FORSAN, Sept. 16.—Forsan Continental Oilers will attempt to avenge a 7-3 licking Sunday afternoon as they close the season against the Lubbock Hubbers on Parris field, Lubbock, in a game beginning at 3:30 p. m.

The Oilers will depend on Lefty Maxie Beard, Coahoma portlander, who twirled five innings of scoreless ball against the Hubs two weeks ago.

Bill Brown, leading Forsan twirler, will be on hand in case Beard should falter.

From the Coahoma team will also come Aubrey Harlow, who will

Vernon Gomez

However, while the Cubs lost ground by dropping three-out-of-four to the Bees in their just-concluded series, there isn't much for the Giants to sneer about. For they have four games to play with the old fellows from the hub during the last week of the season—and those four meetings are packed into two days full of doubleheaders.

The Giants have lost ten games to the Bees already this season and the Cubs have dropped nine. And in each case, six decisions were chalked up to the credit of Messrs. Turner, Fette and MacFay.

Of whom are looking back on their 31st birthdays.

Season Ducat Sale Begins Monday

Tickets Priced At $3.75 For Five Games Here

Sale of season tickets to the high school football games will begin Monday morning and continue for five days, according to Principal George Gentry who, with Edmund Notestine, is directing the distribution of the ducats.

Price for the grandstand seats, which will privilege the buyer to attend five conference games here, has been posted at $3.75. Oil Belt rules do not permit a reduction in prices but the buyers' advantage will lie in the fact that their seats will be assured throughout the five games.

Attention is brought to peoples' attention that the three most important games of the Longhorns schedule are to be played in Steer stadium this fall. The Breckenridge Buckaroos will come to town Oct. 15, San Angelo's Bobcats will put in their appearance Nov. 11 and the Abilene Eagles will be met here Nov. 25.

In addition the Brownwood Lions and the Eastland Mavericks, will clash with the Steers on the local gridiron.

Box seats are also being offered. Fifty yard line box seats are selling at $25 while others extending to the 25-yard marker are going at $17. A box seat will hold four persons.

Tickets may be obtained at the Steer hotel throughout the week or by calling for the information at the high school. High school telephone number is 415.

Tickets will not be on sale after 7 p. m. Friday, according to Gentry.

Playoff Results

By The Associated Press

The San Antonio Missions and the Fort Worth Cats today held one-game leads in the playoff series in the Texas baseball league.

The Missions, playing in Oklahoma City last night, defeated the league-topping Indians 2 to 1 behind the hurling of "Lefty" Howard Mills. The Texans routed Ashley Hillin, league-leading pitcher, for 10 hits, bunching four of them in the second inning for the two runs that won the game. In the sixth frame the Indians cashed in on Mills' wildness for one run and in the eighth, they passed up a chance to tie the score when Lou Brower got caught between third and home with the tying and winning runs on sacks.

At Fort Worth Big Ed Greer held the Tulsa Oilers to five hits to give the Cats a 4-2 victory.

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 17 (AP)—The Lake Charles Skippers and the Opelousas Indians clash here today in the seventh and deciding game of the Evangeline League championship playoff.

The Skippers evened the count at three games each yesterday with a 5-2 victory borne largely on the crafty hurling of Leon Lefty Sfrayer.

MONROE, La., Sept. 17 (AP)—Lack of a playing field at El Dorado has caused officials to abandon plans for an inter-league series between the Lions' champions of the Cotton States League, and Jacksonville, winner of the East Texas League playoff. J. Walter Morris, president of both loops, announced.

President Morris explained that the El Dorado club used a field controlled by the El Dorado school board and that it had been converted into a gridiron for use of the high school football team. He said no other diamond was available.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (AP)—Columbus and Toledo may have finished 1-2 in the regular American association season schedule, but Minneapolis and Milwaukee are reminding the Red Birds and Millers that it's the playoff victories that count now.

Minneapolis, which finished third in the pennant chase, whipped Columbus 3 to 2 last night to make its margin two games to one in the current four best of seven series. At the same time, the Milwaukee Brewers, fourth place club, took Toledo 11 to 4, gaining a 2-1 edge over the Mud Hens in their battle for the playoff title.

replace the injured Harvey Smith at third base, while Tommy Hutto, Costen first sacker, will hold down the initial sack for the Conoco crew.

TODAY'S ANNIVERSARY—U. S. Constitution signed Sept. 17, 1787.

Orderly Amendment, Not Overthrow

It is a significant thing that the Constitution of the United States has stood the test of time—150 years today—but its more important quality is, it seems to us, that at the end of a century and a half of notable transition, the document still meets, and can be made to meet, the demands of present day conditions.

For the Constitution is a creature of compromise. Almost every provision in it represented an adjustment between factions of far different views.

The men who wrote the Constitution possibly did not foresee the today's great era, but they did foresee that conditions would change and they provided a basis of government to meet the changes.

There always have been, and there are today, attackers of the Constitution, some of them working so subtly that the people are deceived.

It is well to remember these safeguards in times like these when a tendency has been to break down the basic provisions of our governing charter.

I have in mind a recent party which Walter Wanger gave in the studio apartment atop Radio City.

She set the glass down. She advanced upon our now slightly alarmed lensman. "Give me that plate," she cried.

To the surprise of onlookers, the photographer drew out the plate and handed it to Wanger.

"You are getting soft," a colleague jeered later. "I would never have given him the plate."

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—When congress sits down this fall or next winter to write a farm bill, the politicians as well as the farmers will have their eyes on the shape it takes.

The AAA setup was distinctly beneficial to the administration in 1934 and 1935. It provided an organization among the farmers through which they felt directly the fine things being done for them.

Every farmer who receives a benefit check under the AAA becomes a member of a county association. And each township has its local organization to which belong the members of a particular locality.

Complete Organization: These organizations have a specific purpose in the performance of the law. Through them are selected the farm-leaders who initially pass upon claims of individual farmers upon past production, which forms the basis for benefit checks.

It is certainly true that much effort is made to keep politics from influencing the distribution of benefits under the act. It is equally true, however, that each local organization becomes a "cell" interested in preserving the organization through which it derives benefits.

By-laws of the local organizations deal only with administration of the AAA act. But by their very nature they develop into local "town-halls," open to the discussion of everything under the sun, with natural emphasis upon those matters close to the farmer.

Checks Mean Votes: Secretary Wallace recognizes this secondary development of the local organizations, and highly approves it.

Secretary Wallace recognizes this secondary development of the local organizations, and highly approves it. M. L. Wilson, assistant secretary who moved into Rex Tugwell's place, looks upon these local farm committees as important in the development of social-economic democracy in the country.

Almost every farm plan which Wallace smiles upon carries in it provisions which would continue the AAA organization. It was created by him. Very possibly he considers any political function it may have as of minor consequence in relation to the main purpose.

But the political potentialities of the 6,000,000 farmers who received checks in 1936 is not overlooked by those who, in 1938 and 1940, will be more interested in rounding up farm votes than in rounding up farm cattle.

Even Wallace boldly conceded at various pre-election press conferences last year that the farm support for President Roosevelt hit new highs after each check distribution.

Hollywood

Sights and Sounds By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Samuel Pokrass is the fourth, fifth and sixth Ritzy brother. Wild as they are, Sam is the loudest. Three of them together can talk your ear off and drive you nuts.

Sam, aided only by his waving arms and hands and the terrific energy of a talking machine, can do it alone.

Don't misinterpret that. Sam is a great guy. He's been speaking English only eight years, and intimate association with Gregory Ratoff hasn't helped any. Sam has a terrific time expressing himself.

But what a life story—and what a musician! Sam is short and pudgy and beetle-browed. He does not look like Robert Taylor but when he sits down at a piano you don't laugh. Instead you're likely to get a funny feeling in the throat—even when he's doing classical variations on "St. Louis Blues" as Scott Joplin, Wagner, Beethoven, etc. would play it.

Sam arranges and writes songs for the Ritzyes and has done other songs for 20th Century but he's traveled a circuitous path to Hollywood. In his native Kiev, Russia, he was a child prodigy of the violin.

At seven, when his father lost his slaughterhouse business, Sam joined an orchestra and started supporting the family. At nine he composed his first hit song "Two Roses." He's had, since then, about 250 hit songs in Russia and a number all over the world. Remember "Volga Boatman?" and "Ochey Chernyia?" And the score for "Chauve Souris?" All Sam's and the score for the Schubert music of the theater.

Now we have the Gilbert Millers, the Guthrie McClintics, the Sam Harrieses and a quorum of others just as successful, but no wreaths of superlatives are hung around their necks. They are men of the common sense variety who feel that a correct balance in the checking account is as important to success in the theater as a leading lady's figure. Anyway, they produce hits, and that's what this town asks.

Gas And Oil Gathering Lines Now Extend A Total Of 200,000 Miles

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 17 (AP)—Trunk and gathering pipelines which transport crude oil, natural gas and gasoline throughout the United States have increased until they total 200,000 miles, or a distance of about eight times around the world, the Oil and Gas Journal estimated today.

The publication compiled figures in its annual pipeline edition to show that in the past year there has been an increase of 400,000 to 500,000 barrels daily in the transportation of crude oil alone.

No attempt was made to estimate the additional thousands of miles of pipelines in distributing systems in cities and towns.

A picture of the transportation of crude oil was drawn to show that steady night and day petroleum flows through 62,000 miles of trunk lines to 475 refineries operating in 32 states and to marine terminals. Besides that, 50,000 miles of lines are required to gather the day's supply of crude oil from 345,000 active wells in 20 producing states.

Philip Waldo's Double Wedding

CHAPTER XX: Somebody tapped Keough on the shoulder. He jumped a foot. It was Bailey—the night clerk—looking pretty worn, but pretty excited.

"Boy!" Bailey whispered. "You Scotland Yard men sure have quick reactions! If I'd been a mobster you'd have drilled me before I could have pulled my gun!"

Keough didn't know what the Scotland Yard stuff was all about, but he appreciated the awe. "Were trained to move quickly," he said.

Bailey nodded with understanding. "I've got information for you, sir. I thought you ought to know. The Duke has just received a thousand pounds from an English bank."

Keough knew that the universe had fallen apart. Charlie Jones was receiving a thousand pounds! Idiotic! But Bailey was still looking at him. This was no time to move a muscle.

He said, "Ah! Just—ah!" If a man lived in Missouri all his life and was so fascinated by marriage that he made it study a secret habit—if that hypothetical man had no opportunity of ever meeting any of the creatures of the sea face to face—and if he was suddenly invited to go on a specimen-collecting expedition to the South Pacific—he would undoubtedly be excited.

Such was precisely Keough's state of mind when Bailey told him that Charlie Jones had just been cabled one thousand pounds.

The study of criminal detection had been Keough's hobby. In a moment of over-stimulation, he had even told Margit that he intended to leave her service and become a detective. Actually, however, such an idea had been far from his mind—and only the fact that circumstances had thrown into his lap a situation demanding his cooler skill had caused Keough to participate in any more violent activity than counting the laundry or serving tea.

Bailey's ready acceptance of Keough as a man from Scotland Yard had further over-topped the butler's habits. He had, indeed, reverted to the emotional age of twelve, when there is an Indian lurking around every corner and a wash cloth tucked under your belt becomes a human scalp.

Keough had responded to Bailey's amazing information with an "Ah." Actually his heart was pounding. It was only the fact that he recalled lesson six in Detective strategy—"At times of great emotional stress the investigator must show the utmost calm"—that gave Keough the presence of mind to murmur "Ah!" instead of to shout "Good heavens, man, it's unbelievable!"

Bailey was waiting. Keough was thinking. Obviously, Charlie Jones was not what he seemed to be. Any man who lived in a trailer and drew pictures on the street but who was able to raise five thousand dollars by cabling a foreign country was sailing under false colors. Keough knew all about false colors. He realized also that in order to maintain Bailey in that awe-stricken attitude he would have to do something pretty impressive.

He glanced around the room and assured himself that no one was eavesdropping. "You have the address of the banking firm to which Mr. Banks cabled?"

"Certainly," said Bailey. "A new name on my dossier," murmured the bearded butler. "I will cable the firm at once demanding full particulars insofar as they know them concerning Mr. Banks."

Keough's eyes glittered. He let Keough know that he was in on the secret. "You mean—concerning His Excellency the Duke?"

For an instant, Keough was totally at sea. Then he remembered that he had referred to Charlie as "The Duke" and Irene as "The Duchess" over the phone. Bailey had been listening. He nodded and stroked his beard. "Quite so. The Duke."

Bailey hurried away for a cable blank. Some two hours later, as Charlie was entering the dining room in the company of Mrs. Bly, Margit, Irene, Felice and Waldo—he was tapped on the shoulder by a bell boy. "London calling, sir."

Charlie stared. "London?" "Yes, sir. This way."

Charlie was led to a telephone booth in the main foyer. He glanced from the booth toward the desk and saw that Bailey was sitting tensely at the switchboard. That meant that Bailey was going to listen to his conversation. As soon as Bailey saw him looking, he put down the headpiece. Charlie perceived that the booth selected for him was one from which Bailey could not be seen—so he deliberately chose another. Bailey realized from the expression on Charlie's face that he would be unable to listen in on the call without being observed—so he made no effort to do so—which was what Charlie had intended.

He picked up the receiver. "Hello."

A British voice replied. "Hello, Charlie, old bean! Roger Weed speaking!"

"Hello, Roger!" "Can I speak freely, Charlie?" "You bet. There's a guy trying to listen in, but I've got my eye on him so he doesn't dare."

"Splendid! I say—what's the idea of masquerading under the name of Banks? Where's Lake George? Never heard of the place! Did you get the thousand quid?" "Yeah. Just before lunch."

There was anxiety in the Englishman's voice. "Look here, old man. I just got a rather curious cablegram from your side. From a fellow named Asquith, who says he's a special deputy from the New York Police Department. Wants to know all about you. Shall I answer it?"

Charlie grinned. He had expected that London was calling to check up on the fact that he had requested money to be sent to somebody named Banks. But the realization that Keough, the sleuth, had cabled his London agent for information, amused him highly. "It's part of a gag," Charlie said. "Gag?"

Charlie was laughing. "Booby trap. Here's next. Sort of super-joke."

There was relief in Roger Weed's voice now. "I guessed as much. Shall I answer the thing?"

"Answer it! I should say so! Chance of a lifetime."

Charlie talked steadily for five full minutes. As he talked, the Englishman's voice responded with a variety of "Right's" and several hearty laughs.

When he finished, Roger Weed said, "Excellent! When are you coming over? I want to hear all about it."

Charlie replied, "I'll be over this summer. But you'll probably read about it in the newspapers before I get there. So long."

The trans-Atlantic connection was broken.

Lunch was a rather difficult meal. There were not many guests at the Prince James—which gave the dining room a rather gloomy atmosphere. Besides that, the moods of the diners were highly varied. Waldo seemed elated. Felice was excited. Irene acted peevish. Margit was thoughtful and abstracted. From time to time she glanced at Irene, but more often she looked at Charlie. Charlie was obviously at one with the world—as was Mrs. Bly, who had been maued very hungry by her horseback ride but who interrupted her vigorous dinner with occasional shrewd glances at the butler.

Moreover, every body were all registered under false names, they had a great deal of difficulty in recalling each other's soubriquets and for that reason, whenever the waitress or head waiter approached the table, they lapsed into silence.

Things were pretty much at a stalemate. Irene and Margit both clearly wished with devoutness that they had never heard of the Prince James Hotel.

When the meal was finished, Charlie asked Margit to go for a canoe ride.

Margit said, "No."

Then he asked Irene. Irene said, "No," also. Then she looked bitterly at Waldo and changed her mind.

Waldo asked Felice to go canoe riding.

Margit asked Mrs. Bly to go for a walk.

Thus the sun moved across the heavens into mid-afternoon and the situation of the dining room of La Reine George remained at a deadlock for everyone except Keough.

Keough received an answer to his cablegram about three o'clock. It was a lengthy answer. Its first few words set him tingling. Its total content was almost too much even for his master mind: CORNWALL T. ASQUITH, PRINCE JAMES HOTEL LAKE GEORGE NEW YORK OLIVER BANKS ALLAS CHARLES JONES ALIAS STOP MOSKOW ALIAS THE EARL OF WESTMINSTER ALIAS THE DUKE OF WESTMINSTER ALIAS THE DYNAMITER FIVE FEET ELEVEN INCHES PALE BROWN EYES REDDISH HAIR AGE APPROX THIRTY LARGE NOSE BROAD FOREHEAD WELL SET UP SMALL SCARS ON RIGHT SHOULDER AND LEFT WRIST STOP WELL KNOWN CONFIDENCE MAN SMUGGLER JEWEL THIEF STOP PREYS ON WOMEN STOP SOME TIMES POSSES AS ASSASSIN STOP SUSPECTED POLITICAL ASSASSIN WANTED VIENNA ROME PARIS BUDAPEST STOP DO NOT ARREST BUT KEEP UNDER CONSTANT SURVEILLANCE AND INFORM THIS OFFICE ALL MOVEMENTS STOP ENDEAVOR LEARN HIDING PLACE ROMANOFF EMERALDS ALSO GOLD SHIPMENT STOLEN NINETEEN THIRTY FOUR FROM NORD EXPRESS THANKS GRAPHIC FINGER PRINTS PHOTO LOW BY MAIL STOP BE CAUTIOUS YOUR MAN EXTREMELY DANGEROUS ROGER WEED CHIEF CRIMINAL DEPARTMENT RICHARD WILLIAMS WEED WITHBY AND BROOKHAM LTD LONDON ENGLAND Keough knew he was in.

His first case was going to be a lalapaaloo.

Bailey, who had delivered the message, was calmer about it than Keough—because Bailey expected Scotland Yard men to be involved in nothing simple.

Charlie, who had himself dictated by trans-Atlantic telephone the main points in the message, was afraid he had rather overdone things. But when he came in from his canoe ride with Irene, he knew he had not. The reason he knew was simple. The Prince James Hotel had suddenly acquired a new bell boy—a bell boy with a blonde wig, false sideburns, an ill-fitting jacket and smoked glasses—a bell boy who moved very much as Keough moved and who spoke like a man who had taken correspondence school lessons in foreign accents.

Charlie did not let Keough know he had penetrated this new impersonation.

At last Keough feels that he is on the right track. Charlie is all and worse than that which Keough had suspected. Will he make a capture single-handed? Be sure to read tomorrow's exciting installment.

READING AND WRITING

By JOHN SELBY

"OLEANDER RIVER," by G. B. Stern; (Macmillan) $2.50.

We have the feeling that the quality of G. B. Stern's "Oleander River" cannot be expressed by "telling what it's about." At least, not by synopsis; the story which, for once in a day, is not the most important thing in a novel by Miss Stern.

Miss Stern, for this department, is the current novelist who captures best the incredibly numerous aspects of the French Riviera. She understands its hardness, which has its human reflection in the life of the casinos, now rather a drab life, since so many have decided it's more fun to get something for money than merely to throw it to the dogs.

She understands also that above all this cloisonne hardness there exists a life as simple and as intelligent as the life anywhere, and that the people moving in this circle are much better worth study than the dull creatures E. Phillips Oppenheim writes about, and re-writes.

This "Oleander River" is a novel about the right people on the Riviera. It has a curious mystery in it as well, one that the reader will sense at the very start of the novel, and perhaps not understand fully until the end - the mystery of a man's soul.

The Oleander River is in the Esterel, those hills where the soil and the rocks are frequently red, and the foliage a sharper green by contrast. Here Gillian lives with her author father, and here Piers comes. Piers has an experience at Cambridge, which shows him that his feeling for Gillian is not one of companionship, but of love. The difficulty is that Gillian is not in love with Piers, but with Dominic Rae, who is older than Piers a great deal, and is the man with the mystery in his soul.

The novel is an exploration of the minds and the emotions of these three, with fascinating side journeys into the minds of several others. It is possible to say that most of these characters, most of the situations and all of the setting are stock properties to be had on any shelf. This is true, but there is a difference in puppeteers, you know -
