

Advocates Of School Bond Issue Mobilize To Garner Votes In Tuesday Election

Advocates of a proposal designed to remedy crowded conditions and eliminate building hazards in the local schools mobilized forces this weekend for a broad campaign to win approval of a $65,000 bond issue which will be before voters of the district on Tuesday.

Sum Supplemented By PWA Grant

Under terms of a PWA offer, the district's fund raised by the bonds would be matched by an outright government gift which will approximate $40,000. Many school and civic leaders expressed the belief that the added attraction of the grant will win a majority of voters to the bond issue.

Cite Need For Removing Hazards

Advocates of the issue, who will seek to contact all qualified voters before the polls close Tuesday, have cited the need of additional classroom space, the necessity of removing the danger from construction faults in the east wing of the high school building, and the requirement of better facilities to meet state education department standards.

Trustees On Record For The Issue

"We, the undersigned members of the board of education, Big Spring Independent School District, desire by this method to express ourselves unquestionably in favor of the $65,000 bond issue to be voted on by the voters of the school district Tuesday, Nov. 2.

"Believing that the federal government's participation comes at a time when such assistance is vital to the general welfare of the district, inasmuch as it enables the district to erect adequate housing facilities in the nature of a gymnasium-auditorium costing between $35,000 and $40,000 located on the high school campus east of the present high school building; a six room elementary building costing approximately $35,000 to be located if a site is available in the vicinity of Eighteenth street; $10,000 for the purchase of this site and equipment for the two buildings named above, and $15,000 for the repair and strengthening of the present high school building, thus relieving temporary construction as well as repairing hazardous structural faults, which must have attention in the very near future.

"This space will be made available for the proper teaching of physical education which incidentally is being stressed more and more by the state department of education and is a matter which must be satisfactory taught in the future if we are to maintain an accredited school.

Market Celebrates 'Recovery Week'

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK BY JOE PICKLE

Price Gains During Period Best Since January, 1937

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP)—The biggest stock market advance in nearly four years brought sunshine into the deep canyons of Wall street this week after more than two months of almost uninterrupted gloom.

Prices of shares of several leading corporations at the close of trading were from $5 to nearly $15 above the levels of a week ago.

Voting of the bonds will mean the granting of an additional $40,000, or thereabouts, by the PWA. In other words, it will mean a $105,000 building program for a cost of $65,000 to the schools. This is, no doubt, a bargain in building. However, voters should bear in mind that $65,000 bonds means that much more on which the district must pay annually—or the necessity of more revenue to carry the load.

Cat Burglar Sought By Scotland Yard

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Scotland Yard tonight hunted a "human cat" who twice invaded London's most fashionable apartment and flashed a light in the sleeping face of 13-year-old Patricia Mountbatten, cousin of King George VI, and sometimes called England's richest little girl.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Events are shaping to focus attention on President Roosevelt's message opening the coming special session of congress more sharply than on any similar utterance since his first inaugural address in 1933.

No suggestion has yet come from the president himself of any purpose to expand that address beyond the outline of a legislative five-point program such as he sketched in his recent fire-side chat.

Schwarzenbach, 79 years old on October 15, was holding a position at the time of his retirement, highest authority rights an engine-man between Baird and El Paso. He would look back on a long career with the T&P, a career that started at Baird in 1882, when he became a section hand with the truck department. Later, he worked on the coal chute

Mooney Fails In Final Try For Freedom

His Argument Of Perjury And Frameup Again Rejected

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30 (AP)—The State Supreme Court today smashed Thomas J. Mooney's "final" California effort to upset his conviction 20 years ago as a parade bomber—a case thrice denounced by government agencies and by laboring classes around the world.

The court rejected Mooney's demand for freedom and vindication on the ground he was convicted by perjury and frameup.

In San Quentin prison, Mooney said he had been "anticipating this action for two years" and that the case would go quickly before the United States Supreme Court.

The decision dismissed as incredible the great volumes of evidence which Mooney produced—his alibi of the street clocks, the recantations of an eye-witness, John McDonald, and the accusations of perjury against another state witness, the late Frank C. Oxman.

Twentieth Century-Fox, owners of Shirley Temple's contract, are accomplishing something new in the way of keeping a child star in demand. Those producers are finding stories to suit Shirley's new talents as that charming youngster grows up.

mer, Mady Christians and Sig Rumann. The story of "Heidi" calls for more dramatic talent than have Shirley's earlier pictures, and she is said to pass the test. Sequences are arranged for her to display her dancing, singing and dimpling ability, principal of these being a Colonial fantasy in which she appears in fetching costume, and a Dutch episode in which, on a novel set depicting the Zuyder Zee, Shirley and a large chorus enact an elaborate dance sequence. In this she sings a new novelty tune, "In Our Little Wooden Shoes."

Twins Appear As A Prince, A Pauper

Bill, Bob Mauch In Film Version Of Mark Twain Yarn

There are a couple of youngsters who are making everybody in Hollywood sit up and take notice—largely because the two are identical twins, so much alike that, so the story goes, their own mother has difficulty in telling them apart.

These look-alikes are Billy and Bobby Mauch, of Berlin, Illinois. One—or the other—has had bit parts in films, but the Mauch lads found a place in the center of the spotlight in a story that might have been written for them. That story is "The Prince and the Pauper," Mark Twain's immortal adventure tale, the film version of which plays Sunday and Monday at the Ritz theatre. Twain was said to have asserted that the story is one of those things that "might have happened."

Radio Announcers Are Only Human, Have Their Slips Of Tongue, Too, With Sometimes Amusing Results

Anybody makes a slip of the tongue once in awhile, but such little embarrassments can be corrected. It's not so simple for a radio announcer who usually, when he says the wrong thing, makes matters worse by trying to back up. Announcers are only human, some jokes to the contrary, and they do make slips. The boys on KBST's staff confess to a few that were amusing.

For instance, one of them was boosting a certain line of radio sets. He said the radios were "high priced, low quality." Another one, giving a laundry commercial, assured his radio audience that "everything will be removed but the dirt." The same fellow, a newcomer to Big Spring at the time, recalled his former home in announcing "KBST, Fort Smith." Not so bad, perhaps, was the slip on "sympathy," when an announcer offered a selection from the "New World Symphony." One of the sports reviewers got his games mixed up, or something, when he told his listeners the ball is now resting on the other side of the arena. And so it goes.

KBST had members of its staff on hand in Stephenville Saturday night to broadcast the Stephenville-Big Spring grid tilt. The broadcast represented quite a long wire haul, and was some sort of a record for a station the size of KBST. Handling the broadcasting were Clarence Barnes and Frank McIntyre. Bill Robertson of a sister-station, KRBC, Abilene, was on duty as a technician. The group was accompanied by Joe Galbraith.

Smoky and Bashful, the Ranges Ramblers, who until recently were heard on an afternoon program, are now doing their stuff at 12 noon. The boys have become a seriously ill at her home, 8115 Gregg street.

Eugene Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Peters, left Friday evening for Shreveport, La. to enter the laboratory of the Shoreline Oil Co.

Gaynor, March Star In Movie About Movies

"A Star Is Born" Is Featured Attraction At The Lyric

Hollywood warns all ambitious comedians that there is a mighty film chance of making the grade in the aspirant's how glamorous is the path upward of those who do meet the requirements. One of the success stories of the studios—and one of the best—is "A Star Is Born," which comes to the Lyric Sunday and Monday with Janet Gaynor and Fredric March in co-starring roles.

Miss Gaynor, herself making a great comeback, appears as the country girl with the determination to make the grade in Hollywood. Her trials and tribulations in search for work, her eventual "break" and ascension of stardom's ladder are revealed in a heart-warming story. On the way up she meets a famed movie actor (March) who is on the way down. An erotist and a wastrel, he develops character under the warming love of the girl, eventually returns that affection. His tragedy of sacrifice for the benefit of the feminine star is one of the poignantly-developed angles in the plot.

"A Star Is Born" is filmed completely in Technicolor. It is one of the better examples of the color process in films. The story, by its nature presents many interesting sidelights on the "inside" of the film capital, with scenes of casting, offices and studios.

Main supporting roles are played by Adolphe Menjou, as the friendly producer; May Robson, Andy Devine, Owen Moore, Lionel Stander, Edwin Kennedy, J. C. Nugent and Gail Winans.

New High School Building At Garden City Will Be Opened Formally With Program Tuesday Afternoon

Garden City's handsome high school building, one of the most modern structures of its type in this section, will be opened formally with a program slated Tuesday afternoon of this week. N. P. Taylor, superintendent, announced program for the affair while in Spring Saturday.

The program will be presented outdoors, in front of the building, and immediately afterward, the title will be taken on a tour of section of the new plant, to be shown under an attractive lighting system.

NEW SCHOOL AT GARDEN CITY

Klapproth To Speak
Principal speaker of the day will be District Judge Charles L. Klapproth of Midland, and three state school officials will appear on the program. These will include Miss Sue B. Mann, deputy superintendent for this area; J. W. O'Bannon, high school supervisor; and S. O. Murdock, another deputy superintendent. The last named will sing a solo.

The program will open with sections by the Garden City high school band, and following a hymn, Rev. W. A. Cox will offer the invocation. The choral club and the band will give selections before the speaking program.

Two Wings
The new building, done in cream colored brick, contains two wings which converge in a rotunda off the front entrance of the building. Around this space are trophy cases ready to receive cups won by the girls at Big Lake in 1936, the boys at Rankin this year, and two cups presented by Joe Calverly in 1934.

West wing of the building contains three classrooms, a book storeroom, and girls rest rooms. Opening into the rotunda are offices for the superintendent and principal. The north wing has the library, reading room and study hall, general science and biology room, band room, all on the east side, and a home economics laboratory (kitchen and living room) and manual training workshop with full width sliding door on the other side. The home economics room is equipped with the latest kitchen gadgets, cabinets, electric ice boxes, and gas ranges. Building windows have a trick "no draft" ventilation arrangement.

Heat for the new and old building will come from a boiler in the basement. Adjacent to this is a pressure tank, giving the school water under pressure equal to that of city mains.

Gymnasium
The elementary school, erected in 1930, has eight classrooms and an auditorium capable of seating up to 500 people. The school has a gymnasium with full sized playing floor, seats up to 800 people, and makes possible a full time physical education program, fall, winter and spring.

Crane, Ector Fields Are Extended

Cochran Producer Increases After Acid Treatment

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 30.—A half mile east extension of heavy production in the Jordan pool in northern Crane county, an indicated one mile west extension of north end of the Harper pool in Ector county and increased production by southeastern Cochran county's third well following acid treatment were among this week's principal West Texas oil developments. It was between the Jordan pool in northern Crane county and the Penn (Juddins) pool in Ector county, to the north, that record prices for University of Texas oil and gas leases were paid on Oct. 22.

First and final reports showed a decline from the preceding week. Locations were staked for 44 field tests and six wildcats in 11 counties compared with 53 and six, respectively, the week before, and 49 field wells and six failures were completed in 10 counties, one each less than during the preceding week.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 2-27 University, east extension of the Jordan pool, made a natural flow of 28 barrels of oil in one hour and 25 minutes through open 7-inch casing, bottomed at 3,965 feet, and was shut in for storage. It topped the pay at 3,547 feet and had gradual increases to the bottom. The well is 2,310 from the north, 330 feet from the west line of section 12-35-U, one-half mile east of The Texas Co.'s No. 1-D University, which early in the month registered a daily potential of 11,576 barrels, based on a three-hour natural flow of 3,527 feet. One-half mile farther is a dry hole, Sinclair-Prairie No. 1-27 University.

3500 Feet of Oil
Fred Turner, Jr., No. 1-A Parker, one mile plus one location west of Amon G. Carter's No. 1 Parker, a two mile northwest extension to the Harper pool in Ector county, topped pay around 4,100 feet and had 3,500 feet of oil in the hole, swabbed frequently, when drilled to 4,200 feet in line. It is 330 from the south, 2,310 feet from the west line of section 15-14-2s-T&P, Wentz No. 1 Moss, which recently extended the Harper field two miles west and slightly north, flowed 1,053 barrels of oil in 24 hours on a retest, having originally flowed 866.25 barrels in 24 hours, bottomed at 4,114 feet. It is in the center of the northeast quarter of section 25-44-2s-T&P.

Test Abandoned
The Texas Co.'s No. 1 Slaughter, central Cochran county wildcat near failures that showed oil, swabbed only six barrels of oil in 22 hours following treatment with 2,000-gallons of acid and was ordered abandoned at a plugged back depth of 4,872 feet. It was 200 from the south, 3,600 feet from the west line of league 130, Carson county school land.

E. H. Robertson of Lubbock sold to B. A. Duffey of Abilene his interest in the wildcat being drilled by him and George Eitz of Lubbock on the Enochs land in southeastern Bailey county, drilling, with Duffey's tools, had passed 2,000 feet in anhydrite and redrock. Location is in the center of labor 66, league 182, Floyd county school land. J. W. Whittington No. 1 McElvey, wildcat in extreme southwestern Bailey county, showed more sulphur water, with gas, in a core from 4,365-23 feet and cored ahead below 4,365 in line. It is in the center of labor 12, league 162, Presidio county school land.

The Texas Co., No. 1 Walker, latest and most southerly of southwestern Yoakum's three wildcat strikes, flowed 19 barrels of oil in one hour after swabbing. It pulled the tubing from 5,122 feet and reran it 90 feet higher. The well first was shot, then treated with 4,000 gallons of acid at a plugged back depth of 5,162 feet. Location is in the southwest corner of section 794-D-John H. Gibson.

Rounding Out Our Community

Big Spring is permitting its development to run sadly out of balance, it seems to us, in working for various commercial, institutional, recreational and cultural advantages...

It is a sad state of affairs when towns and communities all around us—many of them smaller—have better equipped educational plants than we do; but such is the case.

One broad step toward remedying the local situation can be taken on Tuesday, when voters of this independent school district are called on to authorize the issuance of bonds to finance new buildings and improvements.

What needs to be emphasized, as we see it, is that the local school system actually is in pressing need of more and better housing facilities if its program is to meet requirements of the state department.

As one civic leader recently pointed out, "We are making a city here. We have payrolls, industrial concerns and commercial enterprises of which we are proud."

The essential of the proposition is this: a new ward school building would be constructed, to relieve congestion in classrooms all around; an auditorium-gymnasium would be provided to give an assembly space now lacking and permit furtherance of physical education for all children as required by the state department.

This is not too far-reaching a program; it is a very modest one. It deserves even commands support. Put the low tax cost in one hand, your boy and girl in the other; see which outweighs the other.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

The star of stage, screen and radio. Currently the immortal Nana in the film, "The Life of Emile Zola," knocks off a column for George (Tucker).

NEW YORK—To the average New Yorker, who usually is someone born in Minneapolis or Fort Worth or Seattle, it is only when you go away for a time from this town of Broadway and Greenwich Village that you really realize that you are a New Yorker and become almost overwhelmingly homesick for its tall buildings, hurrying crowds and noisy streets.

When you come here very young, and you grow up with New York like that, grows between you and the city that nothing seems able to break.

Sean O'Casey, the Irish playwright, once told me that he liked New York because it was so much like Ireland. Then, reconsidering, he admitted that New York hasn't the slightest resemblance to Ireland, except for its very Irish policemen, but he supposed that it was because New York had become as sentimental to him as his own home in Ireland.

Three years ago I left Broadway and went back to my native California, believing that there meant home to me. I stayed on and on in one picture role after the other, but always there was that definite homesickness to hear the rumble and feel the speed of New York.

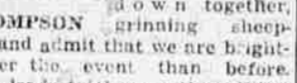

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

(Miss Thompson's column is published as an informational and news feature. Her views are personal and are not to be construed as necessarily reflecting the editorial opinion of The Herald—Editor's Note.)

PLANNING AND PLANNERS

The governors of the Federal Reserve System have reduced margin requirements on stock purchases, and, for the first time, fixed a margin requirement on short sales in an effort to check the deflationary trend.

THOMPSON

Which leads to the question: What price planning, and how far can it go? Obviously it would seem, it can't go any farther than there are brains to distribute.

The middle classes have probably taken the biggest loss in their history. The big boys got out early, for cash. The small investors stayed in because they couldn't afford to liquidate.

"The government was protecting us against the panic of 1929, just as our anti-war legislators are protecting us against a recurrence of the World War of 1914.

We don't even discuss between agencies, concerned with the same materials and objectives. (Now we smile through the medium of Jimmie Roosevelt, "my little son," aged 29, "The treasury decides to make heroic efforts to balance the budget. The federal reserve decides to raise reserve requirements and squeeze out into the public a billion and a quarter of bonds! All deflationary measures, and, apparently, too much at once. At least, now each blames the other. And both the S. E. C.

Chapter 27 THE YOUNG IRISHMAN. A tall young man, using a stick and leaning heavily on the arm of an attendant, approached from the far end of the conservatory. The attendant, who was short and bow-legged, and looked like a retired jockey, raised his eyebrows in an inquiring way, and glanced at the empty chair, next her.

He was dark, with a healthy brown skin and heavily lashed eyes. Which Nina was certain were Irish blue... "You didn't recognize Me?" For the first time, a wistfulness, a hint of all he had suffered, crept into his voice. It made Nina realize that there were other tragedies in the world—greater ones perhaps, than her own.
