Although school is out for the summer, Albert Junior of 2301 7th Street tells you that he loves to read the "Lubbock Digest."
At this time, however, you can see that he has two front teeth missing. He's not worried, because he knows they will grow back in very near future.

ROOTS MURAL APPROVED HERE

This past week the Park and Recreation Board of the City of Lubbock gave final approval for the Roots Mural. The mural will be located in the Estebanico Historical Area. The mural will be made of clay (clay can be baked as hard as cement). According to Eric Strong, president, "It (Mural) will be fired at the City's Pottery Center. It will be one of the state's first sculptured murals, and will be vitally vandal proof, and it will be accented by a water fall with a fifteen-foot drop." The Roots Mural will tell the story of Blacks in West Texas. "It will begin with Estebanico and continue with Black Runaway slaves, Black Indians, Black Cowboys, Black Solers, Black Ranchers, Black Farmers and the Black community of Lubbock, Texas. The artist will be hired by the Park & Recreation Department to design and sculpt the Roots Mural. The Park & Recreation Department can be contacted for more

A board of advisors will be selected from members of related historical and art groups throughout the West Texas Area. The purpose of this group will be to organize data for the completion of this project.

The funds for the materials for this project will come from the Black community and grants. This will give the community a sense of involvement. The cooperation of entire community is needed to make this a tourist attraction a success, according to Strong.

"Legislative didn't keep its promise" SALINAS UPSET OVER LEGISLATION

State Representative Froy Salinas, reflecting on the outcome of the recently-completed legislative session, stated that the 66th Legislative didn't keep its promise to give Texans $1 billion in relief from taxes, but found the money to increase the state budget 20 to 30 percent.

However, Representative Salinas said he is hopeful Governor Bill Clements will use his line-item veto power to eliminate some of the "fat" from the state budget and free more money for tax relief. Representative Salinas said the 20 to 30 percent increase in the state budget isn't fair in light of the only 5.1 percent raises authorized for the state's teachers and public employees.

"Our priorities were things, not people," Representative Salinas stated.

Representative Salinas said the Lubbock school district should receive $4 million in "new money" from the tax relief legislation which he hopes the district will use to "do away with unfair car taxes."

The tax relief bill abolishes property taxes on all personal cars unless local governments vote to keep the tax.

He noted City of Lubbock officials indicated they will allow the tax to be abolished, even though they stand to receive no reimbursement from the state for the lost tax revenue.

"If the city is willing to do away with it (tax) without reimbursement, the school district should do the same," Representative Salinas said. Continue on Page 8

"Hard working Black sister in Lubbock" NOMINATED FOR WOMAN OF YEAR

Mrs. Willie M. Washington

Although she didn't win this award, the "Lubbock Digest" is proud to let you know that Mrs. Willie Myrtle Washington, who recently resigned her position as director of the City-County Welfare Department, was one of those seventeen women who were honored here recently. This special recognition was sponsored by the Women in Communications, Inc. (WICS). Mrs. Ethel McCloud, another active woman in our community was chosen and received the "Outstanding Professional Woman's Award." She is owner of Stenocall, Inc.

Mrs. Washington has worked for many years in Lubbock to make it a better place for all citizens of Lubbock. The "Lubbock Digest" and citizens of East Lubbock would like to extend congratulations to Sister Washington. We love her and appreciate what she has done for many people.

"SULLIVAN PRINCIPLES" CHALLENGE CORPORATE AMERICA 110 BLACK NEWSPAPERS SUPPORT NON-VIOLENT ANTI-APARTHEID PLAN

(Editor's Note: Dr. Calvin Rolark will be one of our speakers during the second annual Black Market Seminar, sponsored by the Lubbock Digest, July 23 here. Dr. Leon Sullivan was here last week and was quite elated over his new program which has the support of the 110 Black newspapers.)

Washington Informer Publisher Dr. Calvin Rolark recently joined Rev. Leon Sullivan in pushing for an alternative to violent bloodshed and race warfare in South Africa. They called on corporate America to join the 103 corporations who have already endorsed "The Sullivan Principles" and taken a stand against apartheid.

Dr. Rolark said: "The 110 black newspaper publishers who are associated with Black Media, Inc. will back Rev. Sullivan in his non-violent approach to a solution of the Union of South Africa problem and the elimination of apartheid.

"There are numerous types of approaches to try to solve the problem, but at this time we believe that the one that Dr. Sullivan has embarked upon is one that gives hope of success based on proven results.

"Because of Sullivan's dedication and his desire to wage peace in the Union of South Africa and win peace without loss of blood, we wholeheartedly endorse and support the 'Sullivan Principles' and call upon corporate America to take a stand versus apartheid in South Africa even while working to solve racism in America."

Rolark joined Sullivan in a press conference at the National Press Club in Washington where the challenge to corporations who have not yet signed up was announced by the initiator of the movement to wipe out segregation wherever Americans do business.

The Beginning

Two years ago, on March 1, 1977, a group of twelve giant U.S. corporations with South African subsidiaries announced their support of a "Statement of Principles" for employment practices in South Africa. These principles now bear the name of their author, Reverend Leon H. Sullivan, a black pastor from Philadelphia and a board member of the General Motors Corporation.

Since this beginning, the Sullivan Principles have been expanded with amplified guidelines and objectives and have evolved into a world-wide movement to promote equal opportunity for blacks and other non-white employees in South Africa. As of now, there are 110 corporate signatories from the United States and several from foreign countries.

Supported by U.S. State Department

The principles have had a broad effect in the world. In a statement delivered by the Secretary of State, Cyrus R. Vance, not long ago in New York before Chief Executive Officers of signatory companies, he said:

"The Sullivan Principles implementation movement is lighting a fire which is spreading around the world."

This comment aptly characterizes the thirteen different employment codes that have already been inspired by the American effort led by Sullivan in the past two years.

Richard Moose, Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs, in an address before university and college trustees said:

"I think it is fair to say that no single initiative to date has had the impact of (what) launched by Rev. Leon Sullivan. His initiative in launching the six principles and subsequently in detailing them and setting up reporting and monitoring procedures has in fact set the pace in this entire area and in our view continues to do so.

"We believe that the best course of action for the United States is to give our strong support to Reverend Sullivan's efforts, and to urge that others do the same."

In addition to the endorsement of the United States government, however, the Sullivan Principles have received strong support from black unions in South Africa (UCSA), the Organization of African Unity (OAU) and other black groups in the monitoring effort to watch and measure the progress of bringing down the wall of segregation and apartheid in plants and facilities of American companies.

WHY NOT?

POWER THROUGH MONEY & UNITY!!!

Recently in Washington, D. C., officers of the Black Media Cooperative of newspaper representing a bulk of 65% of the nation's Black newsprint, which this newspaper is a part, have urged their cooperating papers (Lubbock Digest included) to stir "grassroots" pressure for two major national concerns.

One of these is to assist President Jimmie (James Earl) Carter in his "clearly" forthright stand on behalf of naming Black judges to the Federal Bench. See this week's "Black Empowerment" editorial by Dr. Nathan Wright, Jr.

The other concern is the ratification of the District of Columbia voting rights legislation. Think of the reason why there is so much debate over the ratification issue. No doubt about it, it will help Blacks and legislation that is positive to Black people from the local, throughout the national level of government. There is always a lot of debate and reasons why it is not good. This writer wonders if it is racism. Think about it! Any bill before anything that favors Blacks will have high hard hurdles.

Both of these issues would mean immeasurably increased power for Black Americans. With 1980 approaching, let's look ahead to the elections for the City as well as the County, State, and National. If we cannot get Blacks in office, which is the number one priority, then we will have to wait longer to have proper representation.

Think about this Black people, if our forces are not strong enough, let's at least unite together with others who have the same or similar needs, views, and political beliefs as ours to remove from office those who oppose and help elect or re-elect those we support.

No one knows the future, but there is a possibility that we may have city single member districts, but if not, we have to make the best out of what we have. Keep in mind that our votes together for a common good is good for all.

Readers of this column has heard this statement: "Black people want political clout, but there will be no political clout until there is economic clout; so we have to work on economic clout, like 40 years ago. We have to run like to run like hell to catch up."

The thing that disturbs this writer is that most of the FEDERAL MONIES in Lubbock (this includes the millions of dollars, plus the amount of SBA money) disbursed here, and the small amount of these funds which affect the Black community. Even today, there is no debate over the 4 million dollars available for this area from Economic Development Administration. The local SPAG Executive Committee are not sensitive to the needs of poor people in this regard. To hear the chairman of this board talk nonchalant about the need for economic development for all citizens is a disgrace.

All of this more has made this writer stand firm on the following: "If we can't have it; they don't need it." Let the record show that this writer is 10,000% for the Black, Brown, poor whites, and other disadvantaged people to profit from these monies. This writer has talked to numerous Blacks in our community, and they feel the same. If things don't get any better, we will need to pull a Jimmy Marshall on all Federal Monies until Blacks, Browns, poor whites, and other disadvantage people profit with their goods and services from the Federal Government. NUFF SED!! WHY NOT!!!!

SUMMER COULD BE A VERY HOT ONE HERE

Unless something positive is done now for the many youth of our community, it could be a long hot summer in our community. We need to find a way to meet the needs of the youth of our community this summer. Even if we focus our attention summer employment opportunities for our young people, we need to find a way to help these young people throughout the calendar year. This newspaper is most concerned about the welfare of all young people in our community. We just can't continue to sit back and wish for something to happen, here. Don't you think it's time for these programs to become visible here for all young people? It appears here as though we always start at the last minute to find something positive here for the young people of Lubbock. Our young people are more important than all of that.

Perhaps the summer programs met the needs of the time, but what happens after summer ends here? We've got to find a means to contribute to the welfare of these young people who really need help here. We are not talking about a situation which will help hurt or cripple the efforts of our young people.

We realize all young people should be given consideration on summer employment opportunities, but this newspaper is most concerned about the welfare of our many young Blacks who will be looking for these opportunities.

Unless something is done for the young people in our community this summer, it will be a hot one. This heat could come from any community, not necessarily the Black community. All young people need help, because they deserve the help and assistance.

Check it out, if nothing is done here, our young people will be tired and upset on the local situation.

Black Americans have, as perhaps their top political priority over the next several years, the securing of the ratification for the District of Columbia Amendment.

When the enabling legislation was passed by the U.S. Senate last year, former Republican Senator Edward W. Brooke commented:

"This action is long overdue. For almost two centuries the residents of the District have had all the obligations of American citizens. They have paid taxes, obeyed the law, and defended the country in time of war. But they have not had the right to elect their own voting representatives in Congress."

"This legislation will grant that right and provide the citizens of the District of Columbia with the same rights, privileges, and duties that other citizens throughout the nation have enjoyed."

I fervently hope that the states will expeditiously ratify this necessary and important constitutional amendment and that my own state of Massachusetts, as it has done so many times in the past when freedom and human rights are at issue, will lead the way."

BLACK FEDERAL JUDGES

Blacks face in 1979 an unprecedented opportunity to achieve, for the very first time, some semblance of at least the spirit of equity in the numbers of blacks represented in the federal judiciary. Between 125 and 150 new federal judges are to be appointed this year. 125 alone have been mandated by a recent federal law. The additional numbers will come about through the normal process of retirement.

The tremendous significance of these vacancies rests in the fact that if blacks—for the first time in our history—insist on equitable or proportionate numbers, there is a mechanism open to us for achieving our goal.

In the past, we as blacks unfortunately have primarily asked for "more black appointees" in every branch or level of government. This may be seen to be a tragic mistake.

When blacks ask, as they doubtlessly should do, for equitable or proportionate numbers of appointees, several considerations come into operation. One is that blacks would be seen as being distrustful appointees in proportion to the population proportion. Hence, at least 12 to 15 percent of the appointees, at the very least would be black on a proportionate basis.

Then, by use of the term "equitable numbers," it would become clear that the effects of the past should be overcome through restitution. The legal or technical term for this latter process is "equity and restitution." It would suggest, in a court of law that all appointments be made with an eye to overcoming the effects of past discrimination so that 12 to 15 percent of all of the judges on the federal bench would be black.

This could mean, for example, that more than one half of those appointed to fill the new vacancies should be black. Any lawyer or able historian will understand the principle here readily. It has been a part of the ancient Mediterranean World law and has been incorporated into Northern European law since the beginning of modern times.

In a court of equity such as we have in our judicial system, the basic rule is "triple damages" in order to compensate or to "make restitution" for past or hidden damages. That black Americans have not used this principle in the past may be clearly understandable. But it is no longer reasonable to overlook this most timely and strategic principle today.

In this light, a concerted effort should be made in every state and region to secure the most nearly proportionate and equitable numbers of blacks appointed to the federal bench at this time.

Here is a case in point for your arsenal. In all of Massachusetts history no black or woman has been appointed to the federal bench. In order to set a national example, the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which must approve all of the new federal judicial appointments, Massachusetts Senator Edward Kennedy has nominated one black and one woman.

On the surface this seems "just great." But looking further, it is a well nigh travesty. There are five vacancies for which Mr. Kennedy will make nominations. On an equitable basis and/or proportionate basis, all 5 of these nominations should have been from these overlooked categories; and still real equity would not have been achieved.

But is not "more" better than nothing at all? Yes, half a loaf is always better than none, and especially so if you are one with a few self-image who would be content to feast on crumbs. But black Americans must see themselves, as far past that stage. We may not achieve equality or proportionality at every stage. Still we must be relentless in pressing upon all others the essential or elementary justice and ethics of such clear goals.

BLACK POETRY

THE JEWEL

Many people talk about the most valuable jewels—Rubies, pearls, diamonds and their value. And it stirs up a question in my mind. If they would look around them. They'd see the most valuable jewel since the beginning of time. This jewel is very priceless; it's something you just can't buy. Because of its mental value it possesses in its mind. By now you must be puzzled, but it's very simple to me. A child is the priceless jewel. Thank God He gave one to me! —Faith M. Turner

(The most precious jewels we possess are our offspring. Prize them, and we must "insure" them by our care and concern... for full value, so the black poetess suggests.)

Black poets, who may wish exposure to our reading public, may send copies of their poetry—for editing and with permission to use—in groups of 12 poems or more to C. May Associates, box 157 Selkirk, N.Y. 12158. Poetry selected should normally appear within 12 to 20 weeks. Because of staff limitations, no copies are returned.

LIFE-GIVING DECISIONS

I SAMUEL 26:6-12, 21-24

I Samuel 26:6-12

6 Then David said to Ahimelech the Hittite, and to Joab's brother Abishai the son of Zeruiah, "Who will go down with me into the camp to Saul?"

7 And Abishai said, "I will go down with you."

8 So David and Abishai went to the army by night; and there lay Saul sleeping within the encampment, with his spear stuck in the ground at his head; and Abner and the army lay around him.

9 Then said Abishai to David, "God has given your enemy into your hand this day; now therefore let me pin him to the earth with one stroke of the spear, and I will not strike him twice."

10 But David said to Abishai, "Do not destroy him; for who can put forth his hand against the Lord's anointed, and be guiltless?"

11 And David said, "As the Lord lives, the Lord will smite him; or his day shall come to die; or he shall go down into battle and perish."

12 The Lord forbid that I should put forth the Lord's anointed; but take now the spear that is at his head, and the jar of water, and let us go."

13 So David took the spear and the jar of water from Saul's head; and they went away. No man saw it, or knew it, nor did any awake; for they were all asleep, because a deep sleep for the Lord had fallen upon them.

21 Then Saul said, "I have done wrong; return, my son David; for I will no more do you harm, because my life was precious in your eyes this day; behold, I have played the fool, and have erred exceedingly."

22 And David made answer, "Here is the spear, O king! Let one of the young men come over and fetch it."

23 The Lord rewards every man for his righteousness and his faithfulness; for the Lord gave you into my hand today, and I would not put forth my hand against the Lord's anointed.

24 Behold, as your life was precious this day in my sight, so may my life be precious in the sight of the Lord, and may he deliver me out of all tribulation."

MEMORY SELECTION:

"As your life was precious this day in my sight, so may my life be precious in the sight of the Lord, and may he deliver me out of all tribulation." I Samuel 26:24.

WORDS OF LIFE

Biblical Inspiration For The Week

"I am fearfully and wonderfully made" - Psalm 139:14

1. God made us. Hence we are each and all of good manufacture. No one is inferior innately. Nor are any naturally superior. We are all alike, creatures or creations of the Great Creator's hand. All talk of racial or moral or spiritual superiority by birth is pure rubbish. It must be dismissed forthrightly by all who acknowledge God and His creation of us.

2. We are touched with the divine hand. What an awesome, fearsome thing this is! To know that every sinew of our being—every true instinct which we possess—is designed by God should cause us to stand in awe, staggering or trembling under the recognition of the magnificent manner of our creation. How fearfully we are made! Let us always reverence, then, the work of God in ourselves...and in all others.

3. We are marvelously made. There is no ugly life. How often are we tempted to ridicule or make light of others who appear not to meet our standards of beauty? How often do we deny fully accepting friendship to others on the basis of some physical difference or other orientation different from our own? We are all marvelously made! We survive and repair our physical losses; we are restored in mind and spirit; we remember, we plan and we create things great and small. Truly, "I am fearfully and wonderfully made."

BLACK POETRY

MYRA

I had a talk with Myra; she is the friendliest spirit I know.
She gave me a report on how we've been doing here below.

She said, "We have an 'A' in intelligence and 'B' in social grace,
But as far as loving one another,
Upstairs feels that we're a terrible disgrace."

She says she prays for us and only some respond,
But if we would pray more every day,
Maybe all prejudices for one another in the world would soon be gone.

—Faith M. Turner

(Prayer changes things if our prayers ascend from a devoted heart, close to God. So Faith Turner learned and would have us know as well. Thanks, Faith!)

BLACK MEDIA URGES GRASSROOTS ACTION

Washington, D. C. - Officers of the Black Media Cooperative of newspapers representing a 65 percent bulk of the nation's Black newspaper, have urged their cooperating papers to stir grassroots pressure for two major national concerns.

One of these is to assist President Carter in his clerly forthright stand on behalf of naming Black judges to the federal bench. The other concern is the ratification of the District of Columbia voting rights legislation.

Both would mean immeasurably increased power for Black Americans.

Across The Nation

News From Home Folks

This feature is a news compilation from more than 100 black-owned and oriented newspapers across the nation. It deals with what blacks, who are all-too-often little recognized, are doing to promote full participation in American life by black Americans. It is thus a salute from all of our readers to unsung heroes... and is designed to be a challenge for all of us to keep on doing our very best.

With black families having an inordinately high mobility rate, repeated voter registration at each new address becomes quite often a burdensome chore. We can never argue that it is "impossible"; for voting is an unwavering responsibility. But making re-registration easy is always to be commended.

Against this background, our readers may wish their states to emulate California law, as the Precinct Reporter notes this registration procedure in San Bernardino, California:

Prepaid voter registration forms are available now at a variety of locations, Registrar of Voters William H. Clinton has announced.

Since July 1976, state law permits a voter to fill out a registration form and mail it directly to the registrar's office. The postage is prepaid. Within two weeks after the card is mailed, the voter should receive official notice that the card has been received. His name will then be entered on the voter registration lists.

May 8 is the last day to register for the June 6 primary election. Mailed registration forms must be postmarked on or before May 8 and received no later than May 12.

Voters whose registration forms are postmarked after May 8 will not be eligible to vote in the June primary election, but will be eligible to vote in subsequent elections.

Voter registration forms are available at all Dept. of Motor Vehicle offices, post offices, city halls, political party headquarters, various labor union offices, candidates' headquarters, all county library branches, fire stations and all Dept. of Social Services (welfare) offices.

Deputy registrars are available in many public locations as well as their homes.

More information may be obtained by calling the registrar's office, 383-1811, for the names of deputy registrars or voter registration forms.

sented to the Board by the State Department of Education.

The following schools in the Bay Area are participating in the demonstration program this year:

Oakland Unified School District, Roosevelt-Carter—Mathematics.

San Francisco Unified School District, Franklin—Reading; Pelton—Reading.

Although the programs differ from school to school, Fortune said, they have common elements:

- Students are taught individually or in small groups for at least part of each day.
- Most students study in a tative Salinas commented.

Originally, $450 million as earmarked to reimburse local governments for their losses under the tax relief legislation, Representative Salinas said, adding that is one reason he voted for the Tax Relief Amendment approved by the Texas voters last November. However, when it was divided, only $384 million was there for tax relief. The money ended up in the general appropriations bill for the state. Representative Salinas commented further.

"I was disappointed in the amount of tax relief," Representative Salinas said. "We gave about half of what I wanted to give."

The major bills of the session were left for the last hours of the 140-day period.

As for charges that special interest and lobbyists were the beneficiaries from most of the legislation passed this session, Representative Salinas said, "I have to almost agree." He laid part of the blame on constituents who don't contact their legislators about bills been considered.

With our black young people—along with increasing numbers of whites—performing poorly on mathematics and reading test scores throughout the country, our readers may derive considerable inspiration from this fine and hope-filled story from the Oakland, California Sunday Post.

We are grateful to the Sunday Post for sharing this provocative and helpful information with us. The fine story reads:

Intensive efforts in mathematics and reading at 22 California junior high schools are paying high dividends for their 5,326 participating students:

- An average boost of 317 percent in mathematics achievement.
- An average boost of 187 percent in reading achievement.

"These are phenomenal results," Rex Fortune, deputy state superintendent of public instruction for secondary education, told the State Board of Education at its meeting Wednesday. "They prove that special efforts can make a significant difference in the learning of disadvantaged students."

The results of the state-supported demonstration centers in reading and mathematics were disclosed in a new evaluation report pre-learning laboratory at least once per week, working with highly trained teachers, tutors and aides in learning activities designed especially for them.

- Students with different abilities are grouped together.
- Learning activities are planned and directed by the staff of each participating school.

- Learning materials and activities are prescribed on the basis of a diagnosis of each student's ability and learning style.

- Students are made aware of their successes and of the high expectations held for them. As a result, they are motivated to learn more effectively.
