Apply Terraclor Super-X

the first time you plant cotton.

Think for a minute what it costs to replant an acre of cotton that doesn't make a stand. There's the cost of seed, fertilizer, herbicides, insecticides, equipment, operators and the precious time. Multiply that by the number of acres you could lose to seed and seedling disease.

Now think about Terraclor Super-X Soil Fungicide. It could very well eliminate replanting. Here's why: Terraclor Super-X is a combination of two Olin discoveries that effectively control the fungi that cause cotton seedling disease.

How important is this to you? The regional Cotton Disease Council reports that losses average $60,000,000 a year to seedling diseases alone.

Terraclor Super-X is applied while you plant. Your cotton seed is surrounded by protection in the furrow, where it counts. As the seed germinates and the seedling emerges, the fungi that kill unprotected plants are held off by Terraclor Super-X. You get a healthy, vigorous stand from only one planting.

About seed treatments: They are great... as far as they go. But seed treatment protection lasts only until the seed coat opens and the seedling grows into untreated soil. That's when you need Terraclor Super-X in the furrow.

Terraclor Super-X is available from your Olin dealer in three formulations: granular, liquid and dust. A special formulation is available with a quality soil systemic insecticide impregnated in the granules for combination fungus and insect control.

If you don't know your local Olin dealer, write to Terraclor Super-X, P. O. Box 991, Little Rock, Ark. 72203 for his name.

You ought to get to know him. He can help you get a good stand from only one planting. That's one good reason he is known as the rare bird in the business.

April 1- Deadline To Secure License Plates

Austin-- The deadline is passed to order 1970 Texas Motor vehicle registration plates by mail, but there still is time for motorists to register their vehicles without a lot of the bother of former years.

The cutoff date for mail orders was March 1. But the three-part computerized form which all Texas vehicle owners received just after January 1 still will save time--if motorists act quickly.

All one needs to do is to take the registration application to his county tax collector's office or sub-station with the fee.

The process is greatly simplified and the lines--if any-- are fast-moving. That's still no guarantee there won't be long lines facing those who wait until the last few days before the midnight April 1 deadline. Each year, thousands of motorists put off registering their vehicles until the last minute.

And, each year, the final days of the registration season find tax collector's offices and sub-stations jammed with procrastinating drivers.

The Texas Highway Department has these tips for quick and easy registration:

Don't throw away your registration application; don't write on it or mar it. However, if the address is incorrect, you should show your correct residence address in accordance with instruction on the form.

Don't separate the three parts of the form. Take it to the county tax office or substation in one piece.

Don't send your application to the Highway Department in Austin; and, remember, the deadline is passed for ordering license plates by mail from your tax office.

If you did not receive a three-part registration form by mail, or if you have lost it, take last year's motor vehicle registration receipt and your car title to the county tax collector's office or sub-station. Your vehicle registration will be processed as before, and you'll receive a time-saving computerized form next year.

WSCS met in the Fellowship Hall of the United Methodist Church on Tuesday morning for the second session of the study "Understanding China in Change."

Mrs. Johnny Williams gave the phase of the study dealing with the relationship of the ideals of U. S. and Canada in regard to China. Probably no country contributed more missionaries to China than the U. S. and although Christianity is taboo there now, the seeds sown in the past may not be in vain.

Present were Mrs. Ida Allen, Mrs. Kenneth Cowley, Mrs. J. A. Littleton Jr., Mrs. Ray Axteill, Mrs. Orville Cleavinger, Mrs. Jane Beavers, Mrs. Doug Parish, Mrs. Beula Coker, Mrs. Jack Hinson, Mrs. Hilbert Wislan, Mrs. Doug Lewis and Mrs. Johnny Williams.

Financial Facts

By Nolan Dudley

The amount of commodity money available is necessarily limited by the available supply of the particular commodity which it represents. There is no such limitation on debt money. The stability of debt money is dependent upon the exercise of due restraint by the issuing authority and the satisfactory function of such currency depends upon the strength and responsibility of the government and a reasonable stability of economic conditions.

History has provided examples of what can happen when the conditions of strength and stability fail and non-commodity money is issued without due restraint. It occurred in Germany in the mid-1920's and in China, Greece and Hungary in the mid-1940's. The monetary structure of those countries crumbled and political and economic chaos ensued.

Turkey Tips For Easter Dinner

College Station, --If you choose turkey for Easter, here's a reminder, buy a large enough bird to provide leftovers. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, says you can save time, energy and fuel by allowing 1 1/2 pounds of turkey per serving. This provides generous servings and enough left for immediate use or freezing.

Most turkeys on the market today are frozen but defrosting the bird need no longer present a problem. Research studies now provide a basis for more convenient methods of thawing fresh-frozen birds. The method you choose depends on the size and when you wish to cook your turkey:

1. Cook it day after tomorrow--leave in original wrap and place on tray or drip pan and thaw in refrigerator. It will take from 1 to 3 days.
2. Cook it later today--leave in original wrapper. Thaw in cold running water or water that's changed frequently. Thawing time - 3 to 7 hours. Cook or refrigerate immediately.
3. Cook it tomorrow--leave in original wrap. Place frozen

Stolen Credit Cards Aid To Automobile Thief

DALLAS, --Stolen oil company credit cards often prove to be of great value to car thieves, according to the National Automobile Theft Bureau (NATB). C. C. Benson, manager of NATB's southwestern division, says that stolen gasoline credit cards often provide an excellent means of "false identification for the car thief."

The credit cards enable him to buy gasoline, oil, tires, etc. for the stolen automobile and they can also be used to cash checks and for payment for motel lodgings and food.

The NATB official warned automobile owners never to leave their credit cards in their cars to keep accurate records of the serial number of all credit cards, to consult with their insurance agents about credit card insurance and to promptly notify the oil companies and their insurance companies if credit cards are lost or stolen.

Changes In Grain Inspection

College Station, -- Restrictions in the U.S. Grain Standards Act have been eased to allow licensed employees of grain elevators and warehouses to draw official grain samples, according to John J. Seibert, Extension grain marketing specialist of Texas A&M University.

The relaxation of restrictions should speed up official grain marketing, says Seibert. Until recently, the official sampling has been done only by employees of official inspection agencies; but now, representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture Consumer and Marketing Service may license employees of grain elevators and warehouses to draw samples of grain. The samples will then be submitted for official inspection by a certified agency.

The new program is the "Warehouseman's Sample - Lot Inspection" certificates. Seibert says that only approved mechanical sampling equipment or other approved equipment yielding comparable results can be used; but this does not include the common grain probe used by many elevator men.

Four other inspection certification programs are being started during March. The Export Certificate is used for officially-inspected grain for export and must be inspected in the United States and sampled-inspected by licensed employees of official inspection agencies.

Also requiring inspection by licensed employees of official agencies, the Official Sample-Lot Inspection certificate will be used for grain in domestic commerce. Under the Submitted Sample Inspection Certification program, samples of grain for domestic commerce is taken by the applicant and sent to an official inspection agency for testing and certification.

The Official Certificate will be used only by licensed employees of official inspection agencies for grain sold in domestic or export markets when checkweighing or checkloading sacks, official sampling only or when an examination of the condition of the carrier for grain shipment is desired.

Four other inspection certification programs are being started during March. The Export Certificate is used for officially-inspected grain for export and must be inspected in the United States and sampled-inspected by licensed employees of official inspection agencies.

Also requiring inspection by licensed employees of official agencies, the Official Sample-Lot Inspection certificate will be used for grain in domestic commerce. Under the Submitted Sample Inspection Certification program, samples of grain for domestic commerce is taken by the applicant and sent to an official inspection agency for testing and certification.

The Official Certificate will be used only by licensed employees of official inspection agencies for grain sold in domestic or export markets when checkweighing or checkloading sacks, official sampling only or when an examination of the condition of the carrier for grain shipment is desired.

Diabetes Easier To Control If Detected Early

If you had diabetes before 1921, you didn't give too much thought to leading a normal life—you worried about death. Then, researchers discovered insulin—a protein hormone—and a daily shot helped keep you alive. Although the discovery of insulin was a major scientific discovery, the search continued for an orally active antidiabetes medication. Such a medication has now been found and your doctor or local health department can discuss it with you. Some diabetics are able to control the disease with the new oral medication. Those able to do this are no longer a slave to the needle, which is used when injecting insulin. And, hopefully, those who are treated early enough seem to have fewer complications later in life—problems with sight, kidneys, heart circulation or nerves. Diabetes is your body's inability to use food properly—especially sugars and starches. Diabetics have difficulty turning these sugars and starches into energy, which the body must have to operate normally. Insulin affects the body's use of food by regulating the use of sugar, which in turn supplies the energy that keeps our bodies going. Half the people who have diabetes don't know it. They need to find out. Here are some of the symptoms which may mean you have diabetes:

Excessive thirst, frequent urination, excessive hunger, weight loss, falling eyesight, intense itching, pain in fingers and toes, weakness, tiredness and drowsiness. Not all these symptoms are present in every diabetic. Some diabetics have only one or two symptoms. Others don't have any apparent symptoms and are called "hidden" diabetics. Periodic blood tests can uncover hidden diabetics. In addition, Texas and other states, participate periodically in diabetic detection programs, whereby the local health department and migrant health program personnel screen what is known as "high risk groups." In Texas these groups include: close blood relatives, at 45 years of age and older, of diabetics; persons 45 years of age or over, particularly; obese persons, 45 years of age or older; and parents of large babies (nine pounds or more at birth) when the parent is 45 years of age or older.

New Garbage May Solve Problem

College Station, --A new appliance may solve the home's never-ending collection of boxes, cans, bags and paper that fill garbage cans too full too fast. One manufacturer has developed an appliance that squeezes a week's accumulation of trash into a specially designed plastic-lined bag, reports Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University. Under 2,000 pounds of pressure, trash such as bottles, tins, cartons and aerosol cans is reduced four and a half times in less than 60 seconds. The refuse bag is lined with polyethylene plastic for odor, moisture and germ resistance, Mrs. Myers says. U. S. sanitation departments haul away half a million tons of rubbish a day so the appliance is sure to make a hit in the home and with the trash collector, the specialist notes.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Fuller and Ricky from Suldo were overnight guests last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Brown.

Texas Rates No. 1 In Industrial Development

With a total of 901 new plants, Texas has earned No. 1 rating among the states in industrial development of 1969--first time in its history. Gov. Preston Smith announced that Dun and Bradstreet Corporation, in a report published by the Fortune Magazine marketing research staff, bestowed the recognition. Number of new plants in Texas last year exceeded California's by 42 per cent. California was in second place. Texas is the only southwestern state to rank in the top ten of new industrial locations. Only six other states now exceed Texas' overall total of 15,576 manufacturing plants. Number increased by six per cent during last year. Smith credited the increase to efforts of the Texas Industrial Commission and "the close-knit alliance between local, regional and state development groups and the partnership of industry and government that we have in Texas to promote a better life for all Citizens. Top ten states invested $7.9 million in programs to attract industry last year. Texas spent only $385,570--or less than five per cent of the total. State's share of the 3,813 new plants nationwide was 24 per cent. "For an investment of one half the average, Texas has been able to accomplish nearly three times the results," Smith boasted. Other states among the top ten were Georgia with 609, Illinois with 290, Alabama with 289, Indiana with 240, Florida with 224, Minnesota with 224, Ohio with 212 and North Carolina with 189.

PCG Advises "Never Look Back, Something May Be Gaining On You"

Among other sage utterings, baseball great Satchel Paige once said "Never look back, something may be gaining on you." And that folksy bit of advice might well be taken, literally, by High Plains cotton farmers as they plan for the 1970 crop.

Following two years when markets were sluggish at best for the longer, stronger cotton from newer varieties bred for the High Plains area, some farmers will arrive for the morning services Monday morning. The singer Sammy Nichols will arrive for the night services. Services are 10:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The Annie Armstrong Easter Offering goal for Home Missions exceeded the goal Sunday. The goal was $515.00.

are inclined to look backward to the varieties that made the most money for them in years gone by. But many will find those old gray mares "ain't what they used to be."

As Dr. Levon Ray, head of cotton research at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, pointed out recently. "Many High Plains fields now have disease organisms to an extent unheard of 10 or 15 years ago, and some of the older varieties that have little or no resistance to these diseases simply won't make the yields they once made."

Ray was chiefly referring to verticillium and fusarium wilt seedling diseases that have become much more widespread and much more intense on the High Plains over the past 10 or 15 years. Resistance to these diseases has been bred into many of the varieties released in the late 1950's and the 1960's, Ray said, while such resistance is almost totally absent from some of the varieties which made such bumper crops in a decade or more ago.

He notes also that the newer varieties have yield potentials equal to or above the old timers, plus longer and stronger fibers that command higher physical prices whether the cotton is sold in the market or placed in the government loan program.

So, like Satchel Paige, Ray's advice to farmers is to look forward, not backward.

Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. is emphasizing the necessity for maximizing net income from cotton lint sales on the High Plains.

"With cotton production costs on the rise and with an economy-minded Administration and an urban-oriented Congress placing strong downward pressure on government price supports," he says, "the need for utilizing all known technology to increase efficiency and to obtain the highest possible physical prices is greater than ever before."

His remarks were triggered by the release of cotton production guidelines for each county by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The guidelines stress the advantages in cost and quality control from proper land preparation, fertilization, irrigation, selection of varieties and planting seed, insect and weed control, harvesting and

Labor Department Looks At Those Not Seeking Work

Washington, D. C., Sixty-one out of 100 U. S. civilians over 16 years of age were in the labor force in the Fall of 1969.

The other 39 were neither working outside their homes nor actively seeking work, according to FINANCE FACTS, a monthly newsletter on consumer behavior published by the National Consumer Finance Association in Washington, D. C.

Of that 39, some 25 were not working because they had home responsibilities, 4 were retired, 3 were in ill health or disabled, 3 were in school, and another 4 were not in the labor force for other reasons.

To complicate the picture of the total 52.5 million who are neither working outside their homes nor actively seeking work, some 4.4 million are reported to want a job. In this group are 3.3 million women and 1.1 million men. Some 200,000 of the men and 400,000 of the women are not actively seeking work because they think they cannot get a job.

Others are in school, disabled, or have other reasons for not trying to get employment.

The U. S. Labor Department plans to publish detailed information on persons who are not seeking employment but who may be available for work to help employers find them.
