An article from the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in the April issue of Science, stated the family size and order of birth had a direct bearing on the intellectual performance of children. It hit me hard to realize I was the number 6 child in a family of 8. The article written by R. B. Zajonc, professor of psychology, after a 12 year study indicated that children born earlier in the family usually rated the highest intellectually.

However, the article did let me off the hook a wee bit, by stating that children born with a larger age difference between siblings showed an advantage over those that were born in rapid successive births. There were three years difference between my older brother and myself and in most of the others there were only two years difference. Zajonc indicated a distinct difference in intellectual test performance during races, sexes, ethnic groups, regions, and nations. Each, he said, may be at least partially relate to variations in the average sizes of families. He has made a score of National Scholastic aptitude tests over the past 12 years. His findings indicated birth order and time between children was a big factor in the intellectual abilities.

In analyzing the various relationships which may encourage or inhibit intellectual growth, Zajonc found that intellectual performance decreases as family size increases. Children born earlier into the family score higher on tests than do later-born brothers and sisters, if successive births occur within a relatively short period of time. However, extremely large differences in ages between siblings can reverse the trend towards lower scores, particularly for the younger children. Twins score

You can BANK on It!

By: MACKY McCARTY
CITIZENS STATE BANK

The financial crisis of New York last year drew world wide attention in financial circles. The possibility of any metropolis collapsing into bankruptcy, however, has serious implications for every municipality in the country. Most cities raise money for capital improvements, such as streets, sewer systems and water systems by selling bonds. These can be either general revenue bonds, paid off by general taxes, or revenue bonds, which are paid off by the users - a water bill is a good example, since the revenue is used in part to pay off water bonds.

Banks are probably the largest single buyer of municipal bonds throughout the country. But, before banks, or any others buy bonds they must have confidence that the bonds will be paid off at the proper time and at the stated rate of interest.

While the city of New York may have brought on its financial crisis through profligate programs and spending - plus some highly questionable bookkeeping practices - its demise would throw all municipal bond users under a cloud. Ultimately, it could mean higher city taxes, because municipal bond money would be more expensive.

"The more you know about our business, the more we can help you!"

consistently lower than non-twins or former twins who lost their co-twins in infancy, supporting the idea that longer intervals between children are advantageous. Zajonc determined that only children score significantly lower than would be expected from the intellectual benefit of being in a small family. This apparently is because they lack the opportunity to learn by teaching younger children. Last children in a family suffer intellectually from this same disadvantage.

The absence of a parent also critically affects intellectual performance, especially if the loss occurs at an early age. Although being deprived of a parent is generally accompanied by stress in the home from other sources, such as marital conflict or bereavement, intellectual deficits were found to occur even when the father's absence was temporary and free from these stressful events.

Analyses of intelligence tests from the Netherlands, France, Scotland, and the United States indicated to Zajonc that differences in performance between countries, regions and ethnic or racial groups are related to differences in the average number of children and time length between children within the particular group under study. For example, he found that the lower average scores achieved by black children in the United States could be correlated with their larger families, shorter intervals between sibling births, and the younger age of the mothers. He also observed that different family configurations correlate with test performance of children in different countries and in different regions within France along the lines he has suggested.

Zajonc also documented that the slightly higher test scores attained by males corresponds to longer intervals existing between the birth of a male and the next child and the shorter intervals existing following female births. Additionally, females are more likely to come later in the family birth order than are males. While the difference in the average order of births of the two sexes is quite small, in the United States it has been consistent for the past 28 years.

Area Farmers Learn "Farming By Computer"

Area farmers Dolan Fennel and Don Clayton of Springlake recently attended an innovative "farming by computer" seminar, called "Pro-Ag."

Developed by International Harvester, this computerized management analysis system for farmers brings together the resources of manufacturer, dealer, farmer, university and computer to assist in critical decision-making processes.

Accompanying the farmers to the seminar were IH dealers Calvin Wood of Wood-Jordan, Inc., Earth, and Billy Davis of Wood-Jordan & Davis, Inc., Olton.

"Pro-Ag" works by allowing the farmer to use his own records and a computer to formulate a profitable farm plan based on various situations that may arise in the course of crop production. Such situations include land preparation, cultivating, and harvesting.

The farmer simply takes his records, writes them into a special workbook which includes data for his state gathered from land-grant ag university resources, and plugs this information into the computer. In what would require years of manual preparation, the computer prints answers in ten minutes.

Furthermore, once the "model" is set, the farmer begins feeding in alternate plans. He can ask "Should I shift more land from corn to soybeans? Buy a bigger combine? Put on an extra man?"

The ultimate objective is to show the farmer end results, just as if he had farmed through a year based on his plan, acreage and machinery. And that means helping to find a better, more profitable way to farm.

The qualified dealer, like Calvin Wood and Billy Davis goes through the computer training session and computer workshop to be able to work with the farmer in the future. Also, the IH dealer is the contact for farmers wanting to get into "Pro-Ag."

Starkey-Stanley Vows Exchanged

Miss Linda Starkey and Jess Stanley were united in a double ring ceremony May 9, in a candlelight service performed in the chapel of the YWCA in Amarillo. Reverend Dave Sullins, minister of the Fairlane Church of Christ officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Starkey of Earth. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stanley of Amarillo.

The bride given in marriage by her father was adorned in a floor-length gown designed with an empire style bodice, cusped of lavender crepe with lavender floral chiffon overlay. She wore a picture hat with a band of matching chiffon that flowed around her shoulders into a shoulder length veil. The bridal bouquet was designed of lovely spring flowers tied with purple streamers. For something borrowed the bride wore a single strand of pearls belonging to her sister Joyce Woodward, she also wore the traditional blue garter and for something old she carried a gold cross given to her father during World War II. The brides gown served as something new.

Attendants for the bride were her sister, Mrs. Joyce Woodward, matron of honor, Miss Tommie Blue Stanley, daughter of the groom, served as flower girl.

The two wore dresses designed identical to that of the bride. They were customed in varying shades of pink overlaid with pink chiffon. They carried bouquets of spring flowers with pink streamers.

Attendant for the groom was Rodney Woodward, brother-in-law of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the YWCA Club Room. The table was covered with a white lace tablecloth with appointments of crystal and silver. The bride's bouquet served as centerpiece, flanked by white candles with lavender bows. Mrs. Melvin McClure, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Joyce Woodward served.

The couple will reside at 2041 S. Hughes in Amarillo.

Shepard Triplets Attend Birthday Party In Arlington

James, Johnny and Jack 6 year old triplets, sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Shepard of Earth were invited to attend a big birthday party in Ft. Worth on the Arlington Memorial Hospital's lawn. The event marked the bi-centennial year and the city of Arlington's 100th birthday.

The Arlington Memorial Hospital opened in 1958 and since that time 25,000 babies have been born in the hospital facilities. Of that number, only two sets of triplets have been born there and 18 sets of twins. The local triplets were born there on February 16, 1970. The other set were ten year old triplets living in Arlington. The local triplets were interviewed and were aired on television, radio and their picture was in the Arlington newspaper.

Prior to the interview, a television representative indicated to Mrs. Shepard some of the questions he would be asking the boys. Mrs. Shepard then told the boys some of the questions they would be asked. One question was what year were they born? She carefully told them to say 1970.

Boys have their own ideas and when the interview was in full swing, the local boys got their heads together and came up with the answer, we were born in 1999. This brought laughter to the entire birthday party attendance.

A birthday cake approximately 6 feet high made of white cardboard decorated the lawn along with balloons and birthday paraphernalia. Animals from the Safari were brought along to add excitement to the party.

A musical group from Hawaii entertained for the event while attendance were served delicious cake and ice cream.

Mrs. Shepard and the boys were accompanied to Arlington by Mrs. Deloris Gover. They left Tuesday and returned home Thursday.

KATHY WINDERS... Was the recipient of the $75 scholarship presented by the local Young Homemakers Club of Texas. Mrs. Retha Pittman presented the scholarship to Miss Winders on behalf of the local club.

TOPS 217 Plan 10th Anniversary Party

Roll call was answered by seven members present.

Mrs. W. B. Hucks was Queen for the Week.

The group discussed plans for the 10th birthday anniversary party for the club. The event is set for Tuesday 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.

B. Hucks. The remainder of the session was spent in reminiscing over the past 10 years of club activities, events, goals reached, and general highlights of the club's history.

The meeting was closed with a re-dedication pledge to lose more weight and try to attain better health in the future.

Those present were Mrs. Gerald Inglis, Mrs. Irvin Ott, Mrs. James Packard, Mrs. Carl Perkins, Mrs. Bob Robinson, Mrs. Ralph Rudd and Mrs. W. B. Hucks.

Power Project Phase I To Receive $2.2 Million

LUBBOCK--Phase I of a solar power project, to receive $2.2 million in funds from the national Energy Research and Development Agency (ERDA), could change the face of West Texas and relieve energy headaches both for farmers and small towns in the sunny Southwest.

Announcement of the funding was made Saturday (May 1) in Washington by Rep. George Mahon.

As proposed, the project would in Phase II erect a solar energy prototype plant to serve Crosbyton, a town with a population of about 2,200.

Dean John R. Bradford of Texas Tech University's college of engineering said that, while the concept involved is more than a century old, the project has unique features which promise highly practical results.

The first phase will be devoted to research leading to cost estimates for mass production of units similar to the installation planned for Crosbyton.

"We are hoping," he said, "that eventually farmers could invest as little as $50 to $100 per acre to bring their irrigation fuel costs back down to a level comparable to that invested in fuel three or four years ago."

In addition, he said, the prototype at Crosbyton will be an operable system which could serve as a model for other towns of a similar size, helping them to produce electrical energy at pre-crisis levels.

The difference in the system proposed for Crosbyton and most solar energy collection systems is the "Fixed Mirror-Distributed Focus" (FMDF).

Most systems call for a different concept, using a reflector of a parabolic shape which moves with the sun and focuses its rays on one hot spot.

"This is an extremely complex and costly installation," Dr. Bradford said, "while the fixed mirror, with the focus of the sun's rays distributed across the collector as the sun moves, is more within economic reason for the purposes of agriculture and small communities.

Cost for the Crosbyton installation will be great, he said, but if that installation proves useful, it is hoped that the mirrors and associated equipment could be mass produced at an estimated $1 million to $2 million.

For irrigation energy requirements, one such mirror might serve about 25 square miles of farmland, or one mirror could serve one community in supplementing its fossil fuel generated energy.

"One of the interesting things about using Crosbyton as a pilot location," Bradford commented, "is that solar energy collected and converted to electrical energy would be fed into the power system Crosbyton already has."

A critical factor in the research problem will be study of the interface between solar and fossil fuel systems in order that electrical frequencies, energy loads and all other elements can be matched to make the two systems work in harmony.

The initial research for which ERDS funds have been designated will be theoretical, Bradford said, and will determine probable limits of the system.

Phase II will involve actual construction of a complete solar energy power production system.

Bradford said that discussions on the project began about two years ago when Mayor Pro Tem T. J. Taylor of Crosbyton approached faculty working in the Institute for Energy Research within the Texas Tech college of engineering. Involved in those discussions were Dr. Stanley R. Liberty, assistant director of the institute who will be project manager, and Dr. John D. Reichert, project director, both Liberty and Reichert are on the electrical engineering faculty.

The project will involve faculty from other departments, however, Bradford said, including college of engineering departments of civil, chemical, mechanical and systems, Bradford said he also anticipated that faculty in the department of physics would take part.

Free Welding Clinic Set May 24 - 8 p.m.

A free welding clinic is set for Monday, May 24. The session will begin at 8:00 p.m. in the Vocational agriculture building on the school campus. The clinic is co-sponsored by Farmers Cooperative of Springlake and S-E Agriculture Department.

A factory representative of Century Manufacturing Company will be present to teach the latest techniques in equipment repair and the use of new specialized welding material. He will give instructions in the use of modern welding electrodes for both AC and DC Arc Welding also gas welding. He will demonstrate the latest in modern welding equipment for the farm and home shop.

Those interested in attending the clinic may register by contacting Melvin Chisum at S-E School, telephone 257-3310 or at his residence 965-2602 or call Eudell Baucum at Farmers Cooperative in Springlake 986-2661.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served and a few door prizes will be given away.

Getting More Mileage Out Of Toy Buys

By now the "newness" may have worn off this year's Christmas toys and the children are bored with their playthings.

Mrs. Ilene Miller, a family life education specialist, says,

"She's with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Parents often complain that their child has a room full of toys he doesn't play with and he doesn't seem to appreciate all they've done for him."

If this sounds familiar, Mrs. Miller suggested that the key to understanding is to see the situation from the child's point of view. Children have short attention spans and may lose interest in the toys they play with day after day.

"Toys are not as appealing if the child sees and uses them everyday. So alternate some of his toys. Send them 'on vacation' for a month or two. When the child's interest in his toys begins to fade, it's time to bring some toys back from 'vacation' and put other toys out of sight for a while," she advised.

allow him to get to his toys easily and to see what he has to play with," she explained.

$100 Million May Be Wasted On Underinflated Tires

Washington, D. C. -- Motorists may waste more than $100 million in needless tire wear this summer unless they pay more attention to proper inflation than usual, the Tire Industry Safety Council said today.

Estimates by the U. S. Department of Commerce are that tires underinflated by four pounds of air pressure have tread life cut by ten per cent, and underinflation by 12 pounds can cut 40 per cent. The Department also has estimated tire consumers spend $4.9 billion a year on new replacement tires.

"Even with only five per cent excess wear, underinflation would cost tire users $250 million this year," Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr., chairman of the Tire Industry Safety Council pointed out.

This means at least $62.5 million would be lost during a quarter-year. But, turnpike records show that passenger car travel doubles or even triples in peak summer driving months compared with winter.

"Underinflated tires waste gasoline, too, because they use more energy," Lovell said.

Government surveys have shown that more than one out of four cars has at least one seriously underinflated tire.

Correct inflation pressure for your tires can be found in the car owner's manual or on a sticker attached to the door or glove compartment. Maximum inflation pressure is molded into the sidewall of the tire.

Pressure in tires should be checked before starting out when tires are "cold." Up to four pounds of air pressure should be added if driving for long periods at high legal speeds, but maximum tire pressure must be observed.

Other tire safety and maintenance tips for summer drivers suggested by the Council are:

- *"Bald" tires with less than 1/16th inch of tread remaining are skid-prone and get more flats. They should be replaced.
- *vacation luggage and recreational equipment are often heavy. Don't overload the tires or the vehicle's suspension.
- *"Don't let air out of "hot" tires after driving. Some air pressure build-up occurs naturally with use and will subside as the tires cool.

- *Rotate tires according to patterns in the car owners manual or as recommended by tire manufacturers.
- *Remove foreign objects such as stones, glass fragments, or metal from tire tread before it becomes imbedded and possibly damages the tire.
- *Check wear patterns on tires as clues to proper wheel alignment, balance, and condition of brakes and shock absorbers.
- *Beware of "summer ice" when rain falls on top of oily road film, particularly after long dry spells.

These tips and others are listed in the Consumer Tire Guide. Motorists may obtain a free copy by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business size envelope to Tire Industry Safety Council, Box 1801, Washington, D. C. 20013

LETTER TO

THE EDITOR

Dear Polly,

I received notice in the mail that my subscription to the Earth News-Sun is about to expire, so I'm enclosing a check for renewal.

As a former Earth resident and student of Springlake-Earth schools, I am very interested in the news around there and your paper is the only source I have. My family and I lived there from 1961 to 1967. My parents Jack and Rose Rylant now live in Perryton, Texas but will be retiring down near Galveston this summer. Each week after I read the Earth News paper, I send it on to them. I live in Amarillo and work at Iowa Beef where I occasionally run into someone I knew from Earth. I still feel like Earth is the friendliest "little" town on Earth. I want to attend the reunion of the 1967 graduating class next year if someone will let me know when it is.

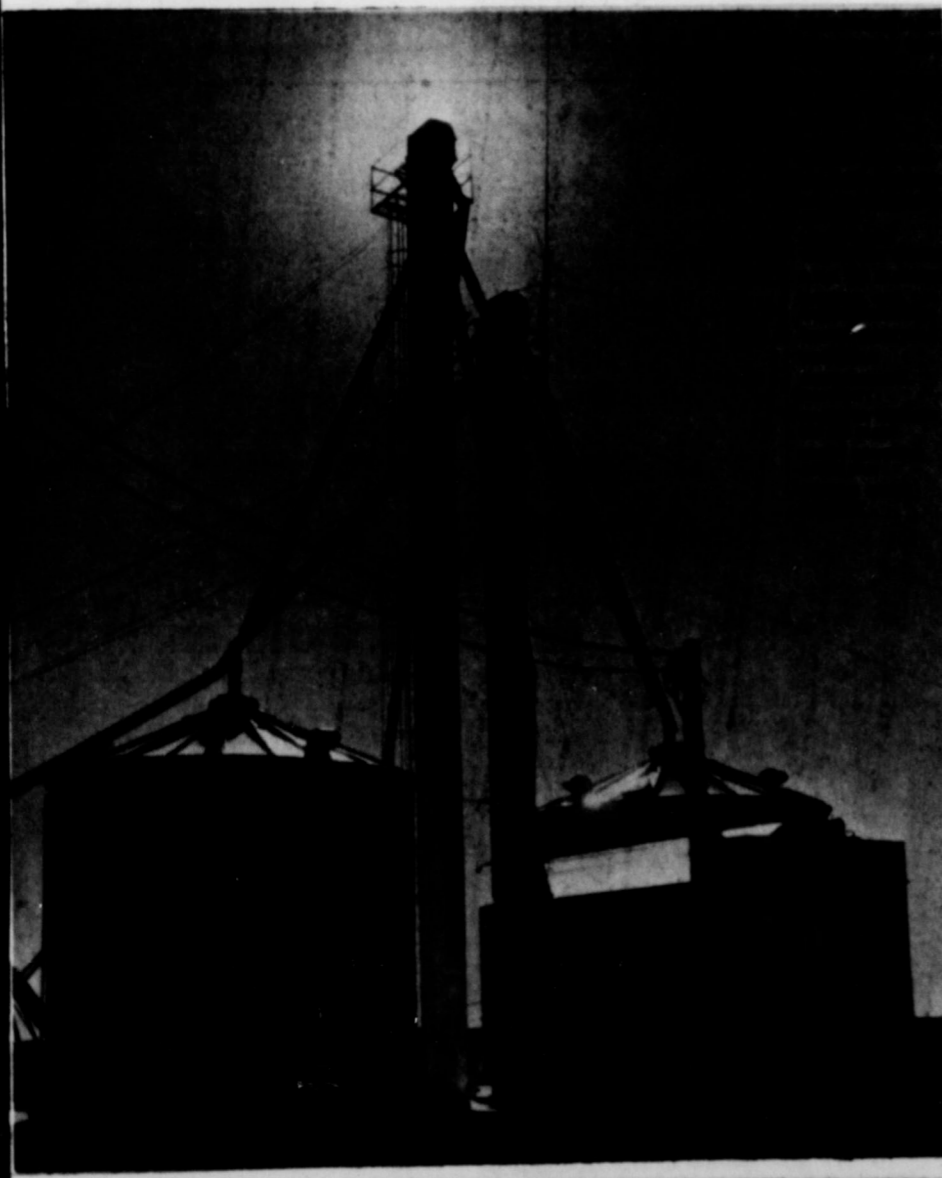

Polly, please renew my subscription today so that I will not miss any issues of your paper.

Sincerely
BECKY WALKER

Gardening Great For 4-H's

Party Line

Just imagine a meal with homegrown, mouth-watering cucumbers, tomatoes, green beans, watermelons, radishes, onions and lettuce. It's enough to make anyone, especially a youngster, jump with joy. And youngsters can take an active part in growing these tasty treats through a 4-H gardening project. Buddy C. Logsdon, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says gardening is a good way for 4-Hers to help their families beat the high cost of living and provide good homegrown meals. Furthermore, a gardening project helps youth learn responsibility as well as learn about seed germination, plant growth and development, pollination and flowering. Young people can also learn the basics of insect and disease control and fertilization principles.

"You don't need a lot of space to have a garden," says Logsdon. "You can plant vegetables in tubs or pots or any handy container that has good drainage."

A window box can be used to grow lettuce, radishes and beets, and a five-gallon can is large enough for eggplants, tomatoes and pepper plants.

Plants grown in containers will have to be watered and fertilized more often than those grown in the ground. Soil should be a mix of organic matter, peat moss and sand.

Vegetables can also be grown around the edges of flower beds, says Logsdon. A border of lettuce, onions, carrots or parsley is attractive as well as edible. Plant tomatoes, peppers or eggplants with taller flowers and put beans or cucumbers against a fence or screen.

"The first step is planning," says Logsdon. "Decide what you want to grow, how much of it and where. And locate the garden where it will get plenty of sun."

Gardening can be both an enjoyable and worthwhile activity for young and old alike, adds Logsdon.

Services Tuesday For Gwendolyn McNamara And Baby

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in the First Baptist Church in Springlake for Mrs. Gwendolyn McNamara 19, of Nacogdoches and her 21 month old daughter Layla Jan.

Burial was in the Springlake Cemetery under the direction of Parson Funeral Home in Olton.

The two died as a result of a two car accident on the loop within the city limits of Nacogdoches, about noon Friday.

Mrs. McNamara and Layla Jan were occupants in a '71 Pontiac Firebird driven by Donna Estes of Nacogdoches. According to reports the accident occurred as they were driving around the loop, a fast moving automobile came up behind and trying to pass, skidded sideways around the curve crashing into the passenger side of the Firebird fatally wounding the child.

Mrs. McNamara and Mrs. Estes were rushed to the Memorial Hospital in Nacogdoches where Mrs. McNamara died 30 minutes following the wreck. Doctors were attempting to repair a severed artery and other wounds.

Donna Estes was not seriously injured and was expected to be released within a day or so.

Sheila Dunn, driver of the car that hit the Pontiac Firebird was reported to be running from State Troopers, who had been called after two other motorists had been run off the road by the Dunn car.

Funeral services were held at 3:00 p.m. Saturday in Timpson, the former home of the young mother. The bodies were flown to Olton where they laid in state until services were held Tuesday morning.

Survivors include her husband, Frank Stephen McNamara, her mother, Mrs. Dora Beard and a number of brothers and sisters.

Countians To Pick Two In Run-Off Election June 5

A state-wide runoff election will be held June 5. Lamb countians will have only four Democratic contestants listed on the ballots, seeking the two state posts. There are no county-wide run-offs this year.

The two slates on the ballot are for railroad commissioner, and judge for the court of criminal appeals.

Springlake conducted the services. Mrs. McClanahan died at 8:20 a.m. Saturday, May 15 in the Wood County Hospital in Mineola, Texas following a lengthy illness.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Alba, Texas at the First Baptist Church. Rev. Larry Barlow, pastor, conducted the services. Mrs. McClanahan had lived in Alba for the past 7 years and was a faithful member of the Baptist church there.

Prior to moving to Alba she lived at Springlake. She moved to the Springlake community with her husband in 1925. He preceded her in death in 1955.

Mrs. McClanahan taught school in Springlake-Earth school for 12 years.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bill Matlock of Alba, Texas and Mrs. Joy Avery of Kansas City, Missouri, also 6 grandchildren.

inal appeals for the unexpired term created by the resignation of the incumbent.

In the railroad commissioner's race, Jerry Sadler, the veteran incumbent, is facing a run-off with Jon Newton, state representative from Beeville.

Also holding a well-known name advantage, Sadler led in the Primary while Newton finished a strong second ahead of State Rep. Lane Denton, and five other candidates.

The Sadler-Newton runoff is expected to be a heated contest. Sadler, 68, was railroad commissioner in 1939 to 1942 and later served as land commissioner and state representative. Newton, is a 34-year-old lawyer strongly supported by oil and gas interests.

The other statewide Democratic runoff pits W. T. Phillips, 63, a Waco defense attorney, running ahead of Carl Dally, 52, a commissioner on the Court of Criminal Appeals, in a race for that court.

There will be only five polling places in Lamb County for the run-off election. These will be located at the City Hall in Earth for precincts, 2, 6, 7, and 15.

Voting precincts 3, 9, 10, 12 and 14 will vote at the Courthouse in Littlefield. Voting precincts 4, 5, 8 and 11 will vote at the Sudan and Amherst City Halls. At Olton, precincts 1, 13 and 16 will vote in the foyer of the H. P. Webb School.

THEN NOW!

Over two and a half centuries ago, the first pianos were created by artists like Bartolommeo Cristofori of Italy, who became known as the Father of the Modern Piano. These pianos were given the name "pianoforte," meaning "soft-loud," because of their ability to produce either a loud or a soft musical tone, unlike earlier keyboard instruments which could produce only one volume level.

Kite Flying Can Be Dangerous

Many varieties of kites are filling the spring skies. Flying snake, bat, box and all the other kinds of kites can be delightful, and dangerous. Children know by heart the catalog of objects that can snare kites. Youngsters have found an equally wide variety of ways to injure themselves getting the kites down. The Texas Medical Association says telephone and electric lines present primary danger sources. Many children have been warned not to climb utility poles but they poke at trapped kites with sticks, rods and have even been known to use lightweight irrigation pipe. Phone or electric companies or even the fire department in some towns might rescue a kite. However, usually a kite is doomed if it gets tangled in a potentially dangerous utility line.

Aside from his high-flown scientific discoveries with a kite and a key, Benjamin Franklin proved kites do conduct electricity. String and wood are not the best conductors but youngsters can get a charge out of a tangled kite.

Many electric lines are deadly because they do not have any insulation at all. They can carry anywhere from 7,200 to 138,000 volts DC. Even a small, supposedly well insulated residential line usually carries about 120 volts DC, enough to injure or kill someone.

Most phone lines carry between 24-48 volts DC and are well insulated if they are in good shape. These lines are in good shape. These lines are usually located 8-10 feet below electric lines if they are on joint-use utility poles, according to a telephone company spokesman. It can be very difficult to tell the differences between more dangerous electric lines and phone lines. Also, some phone lines carry more than the usual voltage, insulation can be wearing out or a kite can act as a conductor. Electricity conceivably can travel from an electric line through a kite touching the line, to a phone line and from there through a string or stick to a person.

Other efforts to handle kites can bring about disaster. People can run in front of cars, fall into holes and crash into other hazards while attempting to keep a kite aloft, or avoid utility lines. String can cut or "burn" hands if improperly handled. Some people, trying to find a substitute for breakable kite string, use fine wire and have a shocking experience when the wire touches a utility line.

Protect Horses From Sleeping Sickness

Mosquito season is almost here and that means the danger increases for sleeping sickness in horses.

Storch L. Lobban, assistant county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that one of the most serious diseases carried by mosquitoes is equine encephalitis, or sleeping sickness. There are three kinds of equine encephalitis, western (WEE), eastern (EEE) and Venezuelan (VEE). Eastern and western encephalitis are the most common.

In 1975, 674 cases of WEE and 55 cases of EEE were diagnosed by U.S. Department of Agriculture laboratories. Also, an additional 105 cases of WEE and 40 cases of EEE were diagnosed by state and public health labs. VEE was a problem in Texas in 1971, but since that time no cases have been diagnosed in the U.S.

VEE has a complex natural history with many hosts and it is not known which of these hosts may exist and harbor the virus in Mexico or in the U.S. Since the virtual disappearance of the disease, vaccination against it has declined considerably, notes Lobban.

Therefore, if the virus were to re-enter this country, it could spread rapidly since most of the horse population is not vaccinated against it.

Lobban encourages horse owners to have their horses vaccinated for all three types of equine encephalitis as soon as possible. Taking the time now to have your horses vaccinated can save a lot of heartbreak in the future.

COFFEE Facts & Figures

Bicentennial Beverage

In 1773, Bostonians held their famous tea party and helped convert Americans to a nation of coffee drinkers. The furor caused by that act of rebellion established coffee as a "patriotic beverage."

Today, Americans drink over 140 billion cups of coffee a year, making it our most popular beverage. And, according to the National Coffee Association, coffee costs only about 3 cents per cup when served at home.
