'Enthusiasm' To Be Key To MAC Success Story

MAC Membership Only $10; Anyone Can Join Group

"Enthusiasm" is the key to the Muleshoe Activities Committee, as announced in a general membership meeting Thursday morning at the Muleshoe State Bank community room.

"We've re-grouped, and the executive board has met, and we believe we have the situation pretty well under control.

"We are now in a position to be able to do things in a hurry," said Harvey Bass, chairman of MAC.

He added, "The word 'activities' means do something -- and that's what we're for."

Bass told the group, "We do NOT want to hear one negative word -- we're not going to talk against anybody -- we're going to talk for the town."

Using Biblical references, he encouraged all the group to maintain enthusiasm and work hard, and work together, for the good of Muleshoe.

Negative people are stumbling blocks, he cited, and added, "MAC is going to go forward -- and do things to help our town."

Bass told the MAC members and others present that both the Muleshoe Independent School System and the Muleshoe Industrial Foundation had heartily agreed to work with MAC. He also commented, "I'm not going to give my time to someone who is not wholeheartedly working together for the good of Muleshoe and the people here.

"A lot of people will be working with MAC, from different aspects of life. We are seeking all organizations, clubs, and individuals.

"No ONE person will get credit for MAC's accomplishments. We are aiming to get more money to be able to give more money away -- and to show our shoppers that we do appreciate them keeping their shopping dollars at home -- in Muleshoe.

Nelda Merriott spoke on the Mule Day Parade, and told how four women, including Kathryn Taylor, Billie Downing, Bobbie Harrison and herself agreed to take over responsibility of having a parade this year. She told of the special 'Parraid Offise' and the overwhelming response they had received having just over a week to put a parade together.

She told of area news media, including radio and television stations in Texas and New Mexico who have picked up on the unique parade and plan to help publicize it.

Mrs. Merriott added her plea to Chairman Bass' for the people of Muleshoe to pull together and to work together, commenting, "I don't want to make waves. I like to make boats to cross the waves."

Darla Rhodes of Joe's Boot Shop and Country Junction told of an outdoor play they had seen in New Mexico and suggested an outdoor play about the 'mules.' Her suggestion was taken under advisement for more consideration.

There are 38 business and memorial pages sold for the Bailey County history book, according to a report made by Vivian White.

"The book won't look like something we just threw together," said Mrs. White. "It will be in print and back in Muleshoe by December 1.

Making a brief report on the Bailey County West Plains Fair was George Nieman, president of the Muleshoe Rotary Club. Dick Chitwood, who is coordinator of the commercial booths for the fair, told Nieman that inquiries and interest had picked up greatly since it was announced that the 75th birthday celebration of Muleshoe would be held during the same time as the annual fair.

As Southwestern Public Service Company had asked for the MAC group's cooperation and assistance to help beautify Main Street by removing cables and poles no longer in use, MAC has agreed to assist with the pole-cable removal process.

Speaking briefly, Robert Hooten commented, "It we as a town, and if we as a group, expect to help each other, we must help Physicals for all girl athletes in the Muleshoe Independent School system will be conducted at 3 p.m. Sunday, today, in the Muleshoe High School gym.

Kimberlee, Michael, and David Vaughn of Muleshoe have returned home from a two week visit with their father, Gerald Vaughn in Tyler.

Other relatives visited included their grandmother, great-grandmother, and aunts, uncles and cousins they had not seen for two years.

The 1989 Senior Class Parents will host a youth dance on Saturday, August 20, at the American Legion Hall, from 8 p.m.-midnight.

Music will be by Scottie Snipes of Clovis.

Bailey County Civic Center manager Joyce Holmes said the first fall youth skating is Friday, September 16. It will be sponsored by the Jennyslippers.

More fall sponsors are needed. If your organization is interested in sponsoring a Friday night youth skating, call Mrs. Holmes at 272-4051.

IT'S ROUNDUP TIME IN MULESHOE--During the noon hour on Wednesday, Muleshoe City Police officer Julian Dominguez, in the patrol car in the foreground, and DPS Trooper Manuel Ponce played cowboy when a black calf was reported roaming the streets and highways in town. After checking out the back door of Damron Drug, the calf ambled down Highway 214, then doubled back to the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center (perhaps in an effort to turn himself in). However, after stopping to get a drink of water from a puddle on the corner, he was finally roped, put in a trailer, and removed from the city streets.

Entomologist Discusses Large Wasp Seen Around Muleshoe

By Mike D. Blanton
Extension Agent-Entomology
Parmer-Bailey Counties

In recent days, I have received several inquiries regarding an extremely large wasp found in area yards. Wasps of this group are commonly called "cicada killers" or "ground hornets." The scientific name of this species is Sphecus speciosus.

This wasp is approximately one and one half inches long and is one of our largest species. It is active during July and August.

Both male and female wasps may be encountered on flowers and in nesting areas.

Males exhibit territoriality and investigate all intruders vigorously. Territories may be 100 sq. feet in size in the vicinity of an emergence hole. Mating occurs when a newly emerged female flies through a territory.

The burrows angle into the soil for a distance of .3 to 1.2 meter, ending in a number of branches and cells. Each branch may terminate in 2-3 loosely grouped cells. Burrow entrances are left open during provisioning and may not be closed until the job is complete.

Depending upon their size, 1.4 adult cicadas are provisioned per cell. They are usually paralyzed by a single sting in the membrane at the base of a front leg. Eggs are laid on the last cicada in a cell. As many as four females may provision on a single nest simultaneously, although only one of them made

Meals Available For All Students

When the doors open to the four Muleshoe schools on September 1, meals will again be available for all students.

Students may buy lunch for kindergarten, first and second grades for .85; third, fourth and fifth grades for .90; and sixth through 12th grades for $1. Students may buy breakfast for kindergarten, first and second grades for .40; third, fourth and fifth grades for .45; and sixth through 12th grades for .50. Extra milk will cost .20.

Persons who receive Food Stamps or Aid to Families with Dependent Children, will need to list their child's name and food stamp or AFDC number, print the family name and sign the application for free or reduced price meals.

All other households must provide the names of everyone who lives in the household, including parents, grandparents, all children, other relatives and unrelated people who live in the house hold; list the social security number of each adult age 21 or older and list total monthly income and amount of income before deductions for taxes, social security, etc. each person received in the preceding month and where it is from, such as wages, retirement, or welfare.

Eligible children can receive free or reduced price meals, priced at .40 for lunch and .30 for breakfast.

Parents or guardians may file

Bailey County Youth Learns A Lot In Germany

(Editor's note: Matt Sowder, son of Mickey and Ann Sowder of the Goodland-Maple community, and graduate of Three Way High School, has just returned from a year in Germany, where he resided in a castle with a Baron and Baroness. This is a part of his story of his 'special year.')

Participating in a Future Farmers of America (FFA) pilot program, Matt Sowder was given an opportunity to reside in Germany for a year, attend school and work with the German people.

An excited Matt Sowder left Muleshoe and went to Washington, D.C. first, then on to Germany.

Upon arrival in Germany, he spent two months learning to speak and understand the German language before going to live for almost a year with his host family, Baron and Baroness Friedrich Freiherr Von der Leyen and their three young daughters.

When asked what specifically he learned in his 51 weeks in Germany, Matt commented, "I gained lots of insight. I learned very much about human nature. Before I went to Germany, I had no basis on which to compare societies. Now, it is so much more evident why people act the way they do."

By American standards, most German people are 'cold,' added Matt. Also, many German people think the same thing. But, he said he found Germans to be very formal; very straight-forward and to be people who face realities more than people in America do.

He said almost all families in Germany are much, much more liberal than American people and are also very private people. If their child doesn't come in until "time to milk the cow," they don't get excited at all.

And where American families are very friendly with each other and discuss family problems, German people will just tell you "that's not my problem." They are not about to discuss their family problem, and don't want you to discuss your problem with them.

He said some parts of the country are more friendly to foreigners, but it depends upon the location.

In lots of places, he said the only things the people have heard about Americans is from older people who are grateful it was the Americans who liberated them and are occupying their country.

However, in the locations where the big military bases are located, the Germans believe have become "too Americanized" and the impression of foreigners is not nearly so good.

Matt grinned as he said some of his colleagues through the FFA program lacked international experience, and some really felt the ill-concealed resentment of American intruders.

The Bailey County youth said he was in the British sector, about 20 minutes from the border of Holland. He said he was one of two people in the FFA program who could not receive the American Services Network on the radio.

In Germany, he attended school one half day, five days per week, 8 a.m.-1 p.m. from October to the middle of March.

According to Matt, German schools are much more professionally organized and operated.

In American schools, they are the center of social life. "It's not like that in Germany," said Matt. "The schools there are social, but in a very small, small way."

"In German schools, the kids are choosing careers by what grades they make. They start establishing their careers as early as the fourth and fifth grade."

General schools are for the 10-11 grade students; Gymnasium schools are for the most advanced students, who can go on to universities and then there is the Real School, where the teachers start recommending their career, depending on their grades. It's up to the student to hold your own," he added.

Students in Germany receive a lot of peer pressure, not from other youth, but from society itself, he commented.

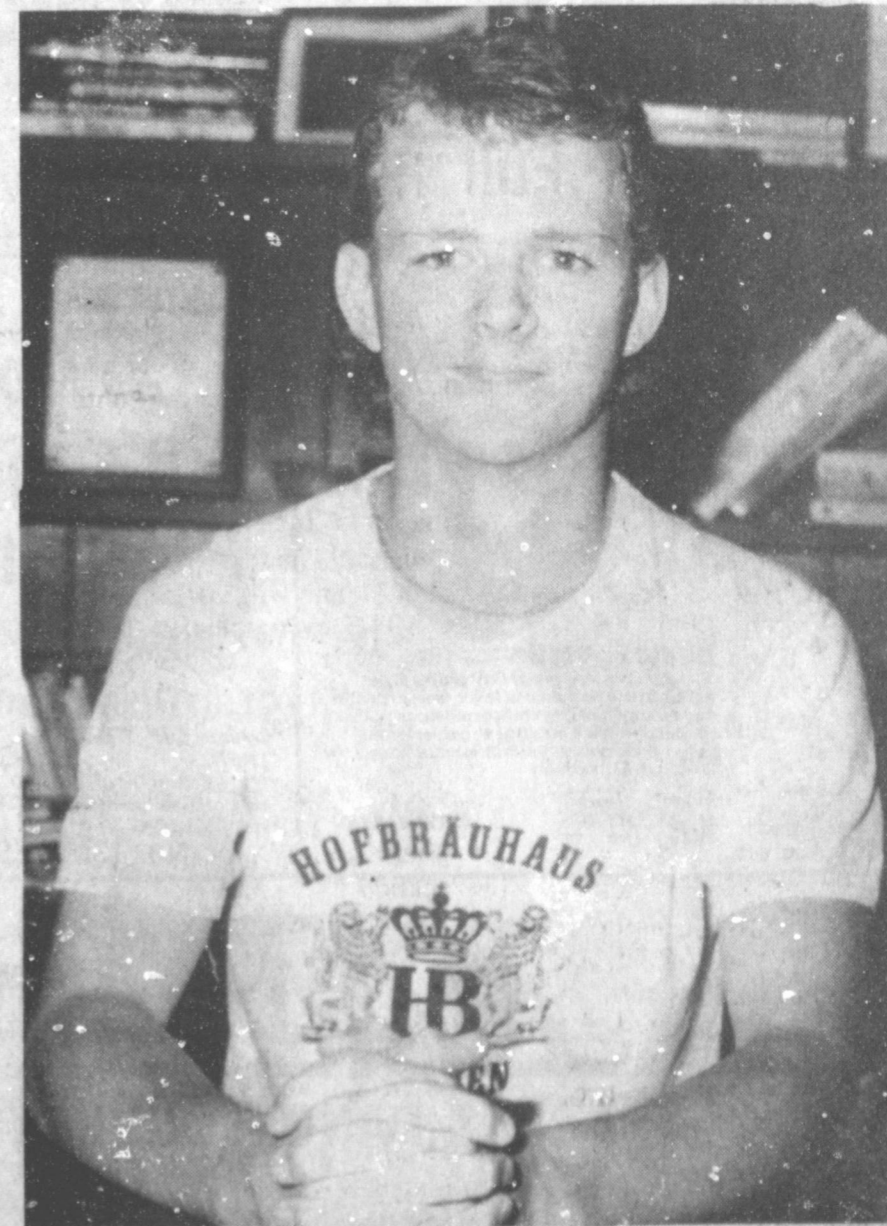

German youth are hard to describe, said Matt. You do see the radicals and the punkers, but youth in Germany is ages 12-25 where they are still in career training.

He said it is a rapidly changing society, and have the attitude that World War II is the fault of their fathers and grandfathers. They insist they need or want a chance to own their own country, and somewhat resent the occupying allies.

Many feel they do not receive the freedom they could receive. After speaking with older Germans, Matt said at this time, the country is very much in the same state it was in when Hitler was involved. He said the youth are restless and unsettled.

Matt had the opportunity to meet the German President Weizaeker, who was a personal friend of the Baroness's father and was a frequent visitor in the

TDH Sets License Procedure For Home Respiratory Care

According to information furnished recently, the Texas Health Department has set up a licensing procedure for persons who deal with home respirator care.

According to TDH, the it is a requirement that any person who instructs a patient in home respiratory care, such as home oxygen or positive pressure, must have a state license.

The information says that whether it be an LVN or an RN, it is always preferable to have a state licensed respiratory practitioner to set up and instruct a home patient, and/or their family, in use of the equipment.

LVNs and RNs must have special training in order to set up the equipment, and teach its use, according to the information.

It was explained that untrained persons cannot detect pulmonary edema, pneumonia or other problems; cannot make therapy adjustments; or know whether to increase or decrease medication and treatments.

TDH says the primary concern is for the patient's safety and violation of the state law is a Class 'B' misdemeanor.

CONFUSED ABOUT MEDICARE SUPPLEMENTS?

If you own a Medicare supplement which implies that you will owe nothing READ THE FINE PRINT!

Most policies today pay 100% of approved charges or USUAL AND CUSTOMARY charges. These terms protect policies from paying entire bills. This means you could be out of pocket hundreds or even thousands of dollars!

Finally-What you have been asking for-A Medicare supplement which pays "100% of the difference between the ACTUAL CHARGES of the provider of services (physician or hospital) plus Prescription Drugs (optional) and the Medicare payment." And best of all, it is priced lower than the "fine print" policies.

Take the surprise out of your Medicare supplement.

Rapid Fluid Loss Causes Muscle Spasms

Soaring summer temperatures mean everyone who works or plays outside needs to take precautions.

"Drinking plenty of fluids before, during and after outdoor activity can help you avoid heat exhaustion or even heat stroke," said Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Service.

"Inadequate fluid intake can be dangerous. A decrease of more than 4 percent of body weight through rapid fluids loss from sweating can cause muscle cramping and spasms," she said. "It may also affect cardiac function and temperature regulation in some cases."

Four percent of body weight is just 6 pounds in a 150-pound person and 2.4 pounds in a 60 pound child, according to the specialist.

Hunt offers the following suggestions for maintaining fluid intake:

- Weigh yourself before and after heavy outdoor activity. Each pound lost represents two cups of body fluid which should be replaced.
- Drink water often while you are outdoors, even before you feel thirsty.
- Plan jogging or walking excursions in areas where water fountains are available at gas stations, parks or other locations. Take plenty of water if you will be working or playing in an area away from a water supply.
- Avoid soft drinks and other surgery drinks. They can cause stomach cramps because they draw water from the body into the stomach.

Some electrolyte sports drinks may have the same effect as soft drinks. If you want to drink them, dilute them with three parts water to one of juice.

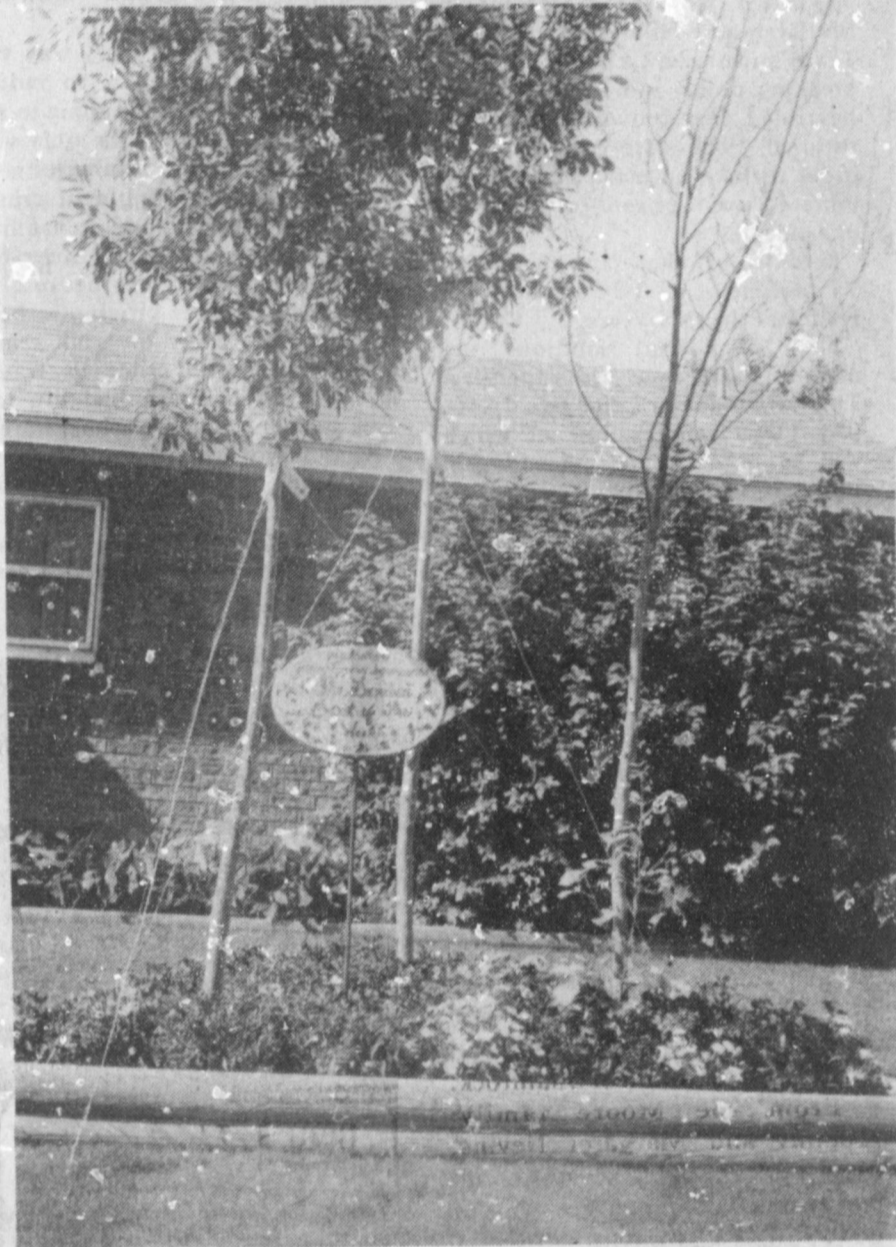

Eat plenty of fresh fruits such as melons, strawberries, nectarines, peaches and other summer fruits. A high water content makes fruit a good source of replacement fluids.

MICROWAVE TIPS

By Linda Attaway

Recently there has been much ado about microwaving ladies' underwear. All manufacturers of microwave ovens state that their oven is not to be used as a clothes dryer. This message should be heeded.

As a lady in Utah found out, careless use of the microwave will set the garment on fire and perhaps cause your house to catch on fire. Then one must explain how "hot pants" caused a house to burn down!

If you must use this method, (boiling your undies can also kill germs), use extreme caution, don't throw the garment into the microwave sopping wet.

Baron's castle.

He was impressed by German welfare and pension programs, which included pension plans for farmers. It is paid with taxes, as the socialistic country has placed taxes on 'everything.'

"Everything in Germany is regulated," said Matt. "They have enjoyed good economic times since the value of the dollar dropped.

He said Germany currently has an unemployment rate of about 12 percent.

Prices for agriculture are good, and he said the German agriculture programs appear to be more sound than the American agriculture programs.

According to Matt, he was homesick for awhile, and had culture shock at first, but learned to cope with it, and adopt the attitude, "If you don't like it, don't worry about it; and if you do like it, then all right!"

One important thing, he stressed, was to keep an open mind, with no stereotyping.

German food was outstanding, he said. "I probably ate better for the past year than at anytime in my entire life," he added. "The Baron had a cook, and she was outstanding."

Kaegel, a form of bowling, with a ball about the size of a cannon ball; hunting; going out with his friends and traveling occupied Matt's free time while in Germany.

He visited many of Germany's major cities; and visited in Switzerland, France, Holland and England.

And, when asked what he would change about the past year, he contemplated for a minute, then said, "I wouldn't have changed a thing."

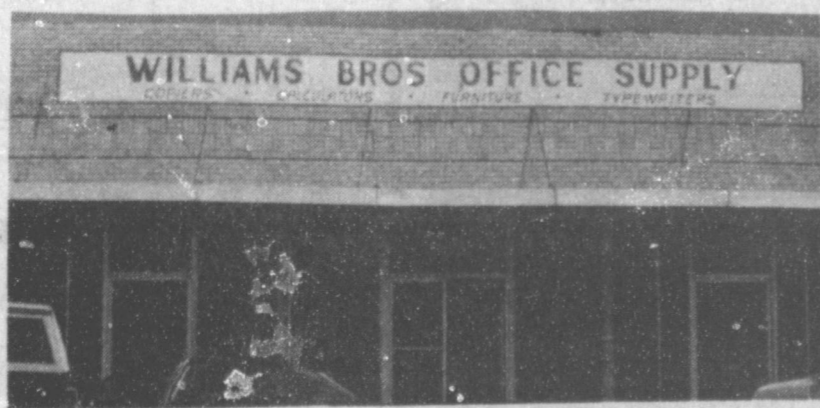

He said all of his experiences for the past year were to be treasured, and he learned so very much about life and people.

The only people who succumb to hard work are those who kill themselves dodging it.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM IN TROUBLE

AUSTIN — More and more people these days share our concern about the state of Texas' criminal justice system, and there is a growing consensus in Texas that changes in the system cannot be delayed.

James Lynaugh, Texas Department of Corrections director, is the latest to voice concerns about the system. Speaking recently to the Texas Daily Newspaper Association, Lynaugh painted a very bleak picture of the existing system.

"The criminal justice system in Texas is not working," Lynaugh told the journalists. "In my opinion, it's broke. We lack an overall goal, and without an overall goal, planning for growth is difficult."

Lynaugh said the symptoms of the system's failure are obvious. Texas prisons are crowded to the breaking point, and a federal court has ruled that crowding unconstitutional. The state is under court order to take no more than 38,900 inmates until prison facilities are expanded.

Because of that, Lynaugh says 95 percent of all TDC inmates will serve less than six years.

The short-term solutions are obvious, and they are expensive. The state is constructing two 2,250-bed TDC facilities, one of which will be in Amarillo. In addition, the state will pay for the construction of four 1,000-bed, medium-security prisons and 12 trusty camps that will house 200 inmates each.

But, Lynaugh says, even more construction will be needed. Lynaugh said he will ask the next Legislature either to fund the construction of 10,000 new prison beds or to divert 10,000 felons into alternative programs. "We don't have a good solution to the overcrowding problem," he said at the TDNA meeting. "We didn't get into this problem overnight, and we're not going to get out of it overnight."

Lynaugh didn't say what he thought the ultimate solution would be, and that's too bad. Because there is a solution. It won't solve our problems overnight; Lynaugh is right there. But, it will solve our problems in the long run.

We refer of course, to an effective criminal and juvenile justice system that focuses on deterring people from a life of crime at the earliest possible age. This is the only realistic, effective long-term solution to our prison crowding problem.

Why? Because the only way you can reduce crowding is to reduce the number of inmates going to the prison system. And, the only way you can cut down on inmates is to deter people from a life of crime.

Now, we understand rehabilitation programs have failed miserably in the past, but that's because so many of those programs have focused exclusively on adult criminals. Many adult criminals, frankly, have lived a criminal life too long to be effectively rehabilitated.

What many people don't seem to understand is that an adult doesn't decide one day, "Gee, I'll be a criminal." A person begins a pattern of criminal behavior at a very early age, sometimes before they even have turned 10. The crimes are petty at first, but they grow and become serious late in a person's teen-age years. By the time the person can be tried as an adult, the crimes often have become violent, even deadly.

TDPS Reminding Everyone Summer Vacation To Be Over

Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, wants to remind everyone that the summer vacation will soon be over, and thousands of youngsters will be starting back to school, many of those for the first time.

So, once again, we will be seeing those big yellow school buses back on the streets and highways. The Texas Department of Public Safety wants to remind you that Texas law prohibits the passing of a stopped school bus that is loading or unloading passengers when the lights are flashing. If you are in doubt--stop--those few moments you lose may mean a lifetime to some youngster. None of us want to be responsible for the death or injury of a young child, so remember to slow down in the school zones in the mornings and again in the afternoons.

Major Cawthon stated, "Just because most of the children will be in school, we must not forget the preschooler who will still be playing in the residential areas. Remember, slow down as you are driving through school zones, playgrounds, and in and around school areas."

Drive as if you had a child there--because someone has!

Computer Training Slated In Lubbock

Although financial planning has always been an important tool for farmers and ranchers, as conditions in agriculture have declined, financial planning has become increasingly emphasized by lenders, said Dr. Jackie G. Smith, agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Lubbock.

The Extension service has developed the TAMWFARM (Texas A&M Whole Farm Analysis and Record Management) spreadsheet program which makes it possible for individuals to financially plan for their farm or ranch operation.

On August 23-25, the Extension service will hold a short course for producers, training them to do whole farm/ranch planning and financial management using the computer.

The course will begin at 1 p.m. August 23 and end at 3 p.m. August 25. It will be taught by Extension economists and be held on the Texas State Technical Institute campus west of Sweetwater.

There will be a $125 charge for each participant. This will cover four meals, refreshments and educational materials. In order to insure hands-on computer use and a high staff/participant ratio, there is a limit on the number of participants.

Financial statements which can be used in annual production planning, loan applications and other management decisions can be compiled for a farm or ranch using systems such as TAMWFARM. "The spreadsheet makes it possible to run several different plans for comparison," said Smith.

TAMWFARM calculates cash flow, net worth, income statements and financial ratio analysis on a 12-month projected basis. The projected financial plan is constructed from crop and livestock budgets which can be changes to reflect each farm's situation.

More information can be obtained by contacting your county Extension agent, or from Smith at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, telephone (806) 746-6101.

Funds Released For Water Loans

An additional $1 million loan has been approved by the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) to continue the pilot Agricultural Water Conservation Equipment Loan program offered through the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1.

Irrigators who farm within the Water District's 15-county service area and who wish to upgrade their irrigation equipment for better water application and/or distribution efficiency can finance a part of the cost through this special loan program. Any individual, partnership or corporation farming or owning land within the Water District's 15-county service area may make application for a loan.

Landowners or operators who qualify may borrow up to 75 percent of the purchase price of permanently installed equipment and 50 percent of the cost of contract services, installation and non-recoverable items.

Funds are currently being loaned at a 7.27 percent interest rate, and there is a one-time service fee of 2.5 percent of the amount borrowed to cover administrative costs. Applicants may borrow up to $100,000. The terms of the loan depend upon the loan amount.

While most of the funds borrowed to date have been used to purchase center pivot sprinkler systems, other equipment, such as surge valves, low pressure drip systems, soil moisture monitoring equipment and underground pipe, may be purchased with the loan proceeds.

"The response to the ag loan program has been very positive," says Becca Williams, Director of Administration for the Water District. "Those producers who have taken out loans have honored their commitments and have made their payments. We have not had any problem with late payments," she says.

The pilot water conservation equipment loan program is part of the water package approved by Texas voters in November 1985. Through this program, the state allocated $5 million to the Texas

Edith Ferguson Former Muleshoe Resident Dies

Funeral services for Edith Lucille Ferguson Shelby of Danville, Ark., formerly of Muleshoe were held on Wednesday, June 29 at 2 p.m. in the United Methodist Church of Danville with the Rev. Mike Morey and the Rev. James Ragsdale officiating.

Burial was in Havana Cemetery at Havana, Ark. under the direction of Cornwell Funeral Home of Danville. Ms. Shelby died on June 27 at Danville.

She was survived by a sister, Mrs. Audie Moffit of California; and nephews and nieces.

Water Development Board to make loans at low interest rates to underground water conservation districts and soil and water conservation districts.

These districts, in turn, lend the money to individuals at the same interest rate. The Water District first received funds from the TWDB in May 1986 and has been disbursing them since that time.

The two-year Pilot Ag Loan Program was set to expire in August 1987, but the 70th Texas Legislature extended the program until 1989 for further evaluation.

In 1989, a two-thirds majority vote in both Houses will be required to approve a permanent Agricultural Water Conservation Equipment Loan Program involving the sale of up to $200 million in bonds.

servation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405 or call (806) 762-0181.

PARCHED EARTH

The long summer months come and with them the dry season. All growing things begin to feel the heat and show the effects of thirst. Plant life begins to wither and fade away.

When one leaves God out of his life there is the same fading and incompleteness as the plant without water.

This Sunday put God into your life, Attend church.

"If any man thirst let him come unto me, and drink."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
