Eight 4-H Club members at-tended Electric Camp at Cloud-croft, New Mexico last year. They spent a week in the cool pine trees studying electricity as well as enjoying recreation such as swimming and hiking.
Each year 4-H Club members prepare Method Demonstrations on Farm & Ranch Management, Beef Cattle Production, Field Crops, Food & Nutrition and many other subjects. They compete on a county basis to deter-mine who will represent the county at the district contests, District winners are then eligible to compete at state. Last year Lamb County had seven members who won at district, They traveled to College Station in June for the State 4-H Roundup. The Farm & Ranch Management Team made up of John and Lyna Pitts of Pleasant Valley placed fourth in the state. Others competing at state were Vickey Ray of Sudan in Public Speaking and Sam Allison, Freddie Allison, Bobby Allison and Collin Flatt on the Rifle Team. State winners re-

There are many activities on the county level. One of the main events is Rally Day which is held in July. All the 4-H Club members in the county gather at Littlefield for a picnic and a swimming party. This gives everyone a chance to visit with each other and have some planned recreation.

There are many awards and scholarships available through 4-H work. One 4-H member in Lamb County, Iva Tanner of Olton has won a scholarship to go to college. She is now attending Texas Tech at Lubbock. Lamb County 4-H members will wind the year up with an achievement banquet in November. At this banquet, 4-H members will be honored and presented awards they have earn. ed with their projects.

GETTING THINGS DONE

National Newspaper Week, being celebrated October 8 to 14th, is dedicated to greater public recognition of the important functions of newspapers in the everyday lives of Americans.

The theme for the week is "Newspapers Get Things Done," providing an opportunity for editors to point to accomplishments for people, communities, and the nation.

Newspapers inform, entertain, educate, and act as the public's "proxies" wherever public business is transacted. They are a constructive force for the growth and development of their communities. They stimulate progressive action; they encourage good citizenship; they back efforts for better schools, better teachers, and quality education; they act as a watchdog in keeping government in line.

Today's newspapers help with health and safety education and in raising funds for worthwhile purposes. In addition, they give generous support to their communities' spiritual and cultural needs and activities, and help stimulate the economy by moving merchandise for stores and services and ideas.

These are only a few of the many facets of public service. Yes, it is true that newspapers get things

USDA to Prevent CCC Cotton for Selling at Applicable Loom Rate

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has formally announced an amendment to Commodity Credit Corporation pricing policy which will prevent CCC cotton from being sold this year at less than 120 points above the applicable loan rate for given qualities.

The change was made by USDA at the request of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. to prevent current crop cotton, particularly the shorter staples, from being forced into the government loan program.

Previously USDA had sold government owned cotton at a minimum price determined by quotations from the 15 spot markets. That system applied mar-ket discounts on short staple cotton to a fixed 22-cent minimum CCC resale price for middling one inch cotton.

And as the market price for middling inch moved upward the increased discounts would have forced CCC's prices on the lower qualities down to, or even below, the loan value.

Under those conditions producers of the shorter staples would have had little or no chance to sell cotton this year at prices above the loan rate and much of the crop would have moved into the government loan program instead of the market.

Provision for the resale of most upland cotton was set out last year in Announcement NO-C-31, which has now been amended to state that CCC cotton shall be sold at "The current market price as determined by market price as determined by CCC, but not less than a minimum price determined by CCC, which will in no event be less than 120 points (1, 2 cents) per pound above the loan rate for pound above the loan rate for such cotton at the time of described instead of to the fixed Production of short staple cotton (below an inch) in 1967 is being estimated at less than 2 million bales while domestic and export consumption should total around 3, 5 million bales.

This will leave room for CCC to sell something more than 1.5 million bales of its short staple cotton without interfering with markets for the 1967 crop," Johnson said.

He points out that last year production of the shorter staples lell about 1 million bales be-low consumption but that USDA sold 1.8 milli on bales from CCC stocks, depriving producers of a possible market for some 800,000 bales.

This is the kind of thing we think will be avoided this year by reason of the NO-C-31 amendment providing a minimum 120-point spread between loan prices and CCC's resale prices," he stated, adding, "and it should mean additional producer income of at least $1 million on the Plains.

He complimented USDA of-ficials on their recognition of the problem and the prompt action taken toward a remedy.

While the remedial action taken by USDA was not exactwhat we asked for, we do think it will move our cotton into the market this year and accomplish this goal."

Wolverines Dehorn Longhorns Friday Night 22-19 Boy Scout Campaign Kickoff

Springlake-Earth's Wolverines drew first blood Friday night in Wolverine Stadium against the Hart Longhorns and hung on to chalk up a 22 to 19 victory. Gaining 238 yards offensively against 181 for the Longhorns, the Wolverines were behind only once after Terry Bridge erased the goose egg on the host's side of the clock with a 35 yard run in the opening quarter. The try for extra point failed and Springlake-Earth led six to 0.

This was all the scoring in the initial stanza but the second quarter provided back to back scores for the Longhorns and the Wolverines, After both defen-sive units held, Hart scored from about 2 yards out on a sweep. The kick for extra point was good and Hart led the Wolverines seven to six. This was the only time during the contest that the Wolverines were behind.

Hart kicked to the Wolverines, and a big play was provided by Randy Washington on this series of plays. Washington ran for 40 yards to set up a first and 10 on about the 12 yard line. Bridge carried over from there, and the score was 12 for the Wolverines and seven for the visiting Longhorns, Bridge also provided the extra points, running over for the additional two and the score was 14 to seven, with the Wolverines on top. The first half ended with no additional

The third quarter saw the Longhorns narrow the gap. Kicking to Springlake-Earth, Hart held defensively and the Wolverines were forced into a punting situation. The next series of plays were repeats as the Wolverines and the Longhorns held each other on downs, fumbled six times and Hart

In the latter part of the third quarter, Springlake-Earth was once again in possession when they fumbled on the 28 yard line. The Longhorns recovered and took advantage of the break crossing the goal line to make the score 14 for the Wolverines and 13 for Hart, Hart attempted a run for the extra points, which was foiled by the Wolverine defense, and the score remained the same. The third quarter ended with the Wolverines still on top by 14 to 13.

Breaks came to the Wolverines in the 4th quarter as Hart fumbled on about their 10 yard line with the Wolverines recovering. Freshman Tony Barton provided the pay load on this eries as he carried over from about the two yard line. The score was then 20 for the Wolverines and 13 for Hart. Once again Bridge was called on to try the extra points and once again success came his way as he racked up another two points for Springlake-Earth, making the score 22 for the host team and 13 for the visitors,

The game was still not over as about six minutes remained and Hart once again tallied for six. Completing a pass to the Wol-verine five yard line, Hart D and the additional six points, The score was then 19 for the visitors and still 22 for the Wolverines. The try for extra points by Hart was stopped by the Wol-verine defense, and the score remained the same.

The few remaining minutes witnessed another exchange of offensive plays, with the Wol-verines in a blanket defense to prevent any long passes from Hart. The final score once again was 22 for the Wolverines and 19 for Hart.
