

Engel Jury Slated To Receive Case Today

CHICAGO, Nov. 1. (U) — The love swindle trial of Sigmund (Sam) Engel was expected to be completed today before a jury of six men and six women in criminal court.

The case will go to the jury, after final arguments, without the 74-year-old Engel testifying in his own defense. His attorneys yesterday ended their defense, expert for closing arguments, without calling Engel to the stand although he had expressed willingness to testify.

The aging Engel is on trial on a charge of operating a confidence game in bilking Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 30-year-old Chicago widow, out of $8,700.

The state, in the six-day trial, presented several other widows and divorcees who told of being swindled out of money by Engel after whirlwind courtships. Some of the women testified they married Engel, but he disappeared after the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Corrigan testified Engel had set their wedding date — late June

Three Children Burned To Death

BAY CITY, Nov. 1. (U) — Three small children burned to death yesterday when fire swept their home. Dead were Jimmie Silva, 2, Robert, 3, and their baby sister, La Verne.

Mrs. Sylvester J. Silva said the fire broke out while she had gone next door to make a telephone call.

She said she was attracted by smoke and returned home, but found she had apparently locked the front door on leaving. She had been gone about five minutes.

An unidentified motorist stopped and broke through the door, but was driven back by flames.

Fire Chief Fred Friday said origin of the fire had not been determined.

Crowded Conditions Are Found At San Antonio State Hospital

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AP STAFF
SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 1. (U) — A patient on Ward A at the San Antonio State Hospital was overheard to remark "I ain't never been asked for nothin' since I've been here and that's all I've gotten plenty of."

While the wisecrack is subject to some discount, a five-hour tour of the institution left me with the impression there was a lot of truth in it.

Just like the food that is dished out in heaps, it appeared that the service the state is giving its mentally ill here is not so much a question of quantity, but quality.

The shortages in quantity are self-evident.

Patients are crowded into the halls, their beds take up space needed for recreation rooms, they sleep on porches open to all kinds of weather, because they aren't enough buildings.

The top floor of the occupational therapy building has been condemned, other dormitories at the best are only partially fireproof and fire escapes have been officially labeled as inadequate.

Beds in some of the wards are spaced so close they almost touch. There were 26 in one where the nurse in charge said there should be no more than 12 in one ward with 60 patients there were just two tubs and two showers.

The shortages in quality are not so apparent, but hospital officials listed these as the mental institution's greatest needs

More personnel, better trained personnel, more and better buildings, better recreational facilities, a stepped-up program of occupational therapy. (Occupational therapy is where patients are treated by giving them something to do.)

The statistics furnished by Dr. Pearl V. Matthaei to a group of hospitalists also had direct bearing on the quality of treatment.

For example: "There are 913 patients in the main building male ward, occupying space and using equipment adequate for only 400; there are 1,073 female patients in this particular building where there should be only 600. The standards quoted are those of the United States Public Health Service."

There are four especially trained psychiatrists for nearly 3,000 patients subject to treatment; all told there are 11 doctors in the institution and two of them are administrative. The United States Public Health Service is sending a team of experts to study Texas' state hospitals, and they are expected to say now far short of standard this patient load is.

Hospital officials estimated it would take four to $5 million right now to bring the institution up to do a real job.

That gives you some idea of the size of the job faced by the Legislature next January — this is just one of the institutions it will undertake to care for.

STATE WATER STUDY RECOMMENDED BY LEGISLATIVE STEERING GROUP

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (U) — A four-part study of Texas' water problems has been recommended by a state legislative steering committee.

It suggested yesterday that the state interim water committee divide itself into four panels, each to take one phase of Texas' water problem for study.

The suggested studies:

Equitable use of Texas water resources.

Administration of water laws and rights including enforcement.

Encouragement of additional storage of storm and flood waters by legislation and constitutional amendment.

Pollution of Texas waters.

The steering committee is to report back to the main committee Nov. 14. At that time, said Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe, two candidates will be recommended for the job of executive secretary of the water committee.

Six senators, six representatives and nine public spokesmen form the main water code committee.

Attending a meeting here yesterday of the steering committee were Moffett, Sen. John Bell of Cuero; Rep. W. S. Fly of Victoria; and John D. McCall of Dallas.

Amputates Hand Caught In Machine

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Nov. 1. (U) — Charles Rothrock, 65-year-old farmer, amputated his own right hand with a pocket knife after it became caught in a corn picking machine yesterday. Rothrock's wife lost both her legs in the same corn picker in 1942.

Rothrock, after freeing himself, ran a quarter of a mile to the home of a brother and was taken to a hospital. His condition was reported fair.

Rothrock's wife, Clara, was pulled into the machine seven years ago when her slacks caught in its blades. Both her legs were amputated.

After her husband had been taken to the hospital, Mrs. Rothrock said: "Lots of people have worse luck than we do."

UN GROUP TO MAKE REPORT

Decisions Reached On Italian Colonies

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 1. (AP)—A special UN group began putting into final form today its recommendations on the future of Italy's prewar African colonies.

After weeks of discussion the 21-nation subcommittee has reached decisions on what to do with Libya, Italian Somaliland and Eritrea.

But diplomatic sources said the final verdict depends on whether the Latin American and Arab blocs can reach agreement on unified action.

The problem was discussed at the carry-over session of the general assembly last spring but no solution was reached.

The subcommittee of the political committee debated for 18 days before agreeing on:

- 1. Independence for Libya by Jan. 1, 1952. 2. Independence for Italian Somaliland by 1959 and interim rule by Italy under a UN trusteeship.

Final decisions on the colonies must be reached by a two-thirds vote of the general assembly, which is why strenuous log-rolling efforts are being made to reach near unanimity on the question.

The Arab nations, who want Libyan trusteeship, are opposed to Italian trusteeship over Somaliland.

A well-informed source, familiar with some of the behind-the-scenes dickering, said the Latin Americans might offer concessions to the Arab viewpoint if the subcommittee report comes before the political committee.

This informant said one possible plan would be to set up a three-nation trusteeship for Somaliland, with Italy as administrator.

The political committee will take up the report after it disposes of the Balkan question, which it is now debating.

Officers Told How They May Reenlist In Non-Com Grades

Conditions under which officers separated from the Army and Air Force during the officer personnel reduction program, may reenlist in non-commissioned grades have been announced by Capt. Harold Sandford, commander of the Big Spring Recruiting Main station.

Men who held permanent enlisted grades prior to accepting commissions as officers or appointments as warrant officers can be enlisted in the highest permanent grade held before commissioning service within six months after separation, Capt. Sandford said.

Officers or warrant officers who started active duty tours prior to March 2, 1948, may enlist in the first pay grade provided enlistments are accomplished on the day following separation with accrued leave being carried over to enlisted status. Others may reenlist in grades commensurate with training and experience.

HAPPY CHRISTMAS ASSURED

Bethlehem Jubilant Over Strike's End

BETHEHEM, Pa., Nov. 1. (AP)—There is joy in Bethlehem Steel Corp. centers today—joy because purse strings will not have to be drawn any tighter.

The month old strike is over for employes of the nation's second largest producer of steel. It'll probably be at least a week before the huge Bethlehem's mills here, at Johnstown, Pa., Lackawanna, N. Y., and other cities get back to full production.

But the pay checks will be coming long before the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays. And that is what made the Bethlehem steel worker and his family happy today.

"When I work I eat," declared veteran millworker James George at Johnstown, where Bethlehem employs 15,000. "I'm glad to go back to work."

His sentiment was echoed by unionists everywhere. In Bethlehem, where the tents housing pickets at the plant entrances were dismantled in a matter of a few minutes last night, the predominant comment was the "I'm glad it's over."

Army's Veteran Pigeon Succumbs

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J., Nov. 1. (AP)—One of Uncle Sam's most faithful soldiers died last night. He was Kaiser, the Army's 32-year-old carrier pigeon, who had outlived a dozen wives and served his adopted country through two world wars.

Back in World War I, American doughboys found Kaiser in a German front line trench during the Meuse-Argonne offensive. They put the well-trained carrier pigeon to work against the Germans. During World War Two the Army used Kaiser to train other pigeons, some of them his own great-great-grandchildren.

Ask Commutation Of Death Sentences

NEW DELHI, Nov. 1. (AP)—Nearly 5,000 persons in Bombay Province have appealed to India's Gov. Gen. C. Rajagopalachari, to commute the death sentences against N. V. Godse and N. D. Apte, who are scheduled to hang Nov. 15 for the assassination of Mahatma Gandhi.

One group of petitioners contended that Gandhi, as the apostle of non-violence, would not have tolerated the idea of hanging his own assassins.

Hammer Slayer Faces Arraignment Today

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 1. (AP)—John A. Harding, 67-year-old hammer slayer of his wife and mother-in-law, faced arraignment in municipal court today on a charge of first degree murder.

The Toledo businessman spent the night in city jail after being brought here yesterday from Detroit, he had raced there in his automobile to tell his daughter what he had done, and she called the police.

The victims were Harding's 46-year-old wife, Mildred, and her mother, Mrs. Maude Thompson, 67. Mrs. Harding's body was found by police in her bedroom. Her mother, critically injured, lay nearby. She died en route to a hospital.

Det. Capt. Ralph Murphy said that shortly before the slayings Sunday night, Harding and his wife had knelt in prayer in an upstairs bedroom and "asked God to make them both see the light."

"Two minutes later, Mrs. Harding was a hammered corpse, slain because of her husband's unverified suspicion regarding her fidelity," Murphy reported.

Murphy and Prosecutor Joseph Rhinehart heard one of Harding's three oral statements admitting the double slaying. Others were made to police in Grosse Point, Mich., Det. it suburb, where Mrs. Robert Goodhand, Harding's daughter by a previous marriage, lives, and to Asst. Prosecutor John J. Rusinack of Detroit, officers and Rusinack reported.

According to Murphy, the Hardings slept in different bedrooms. The detective said Harding told him and Rhinehart this story: He and Mrs. Harding went to a movie and returned home about 11 o'clock. Harding couldn't sleep.

"I called for her to come to my room and she came," Harding said. "Then I discovered something that to me confirmed suspicions that had been torturing me the last three weeks."

sweats in my misery and had been going to see a doctor about my worries. This morning after we had talked things over about us, I asked her to kneel in prayer with me at my bed.

"We both knelt and we both asked God to make us see the light. She got up and immediately left for her own room. I got up and without another thought started downstairs to the kitchen.

"I was going to kill her. "I got a bread knife and a claw hammer and went back upstairs. There was Mildred sitting up in bed reading a book. She saw me and screamed. She tried to knock the hammer from my hand.

"I had dropped the bread knife. I hit her and hit her. I turned around and there was her mother in the doorway. I hit her, too."

In Detroit yesterday, Harding was quoted by Asst. Prosecutor Rusinack as saying he was angered by his wife's interest in her musical career.

Mrs. Harding was head of a music studio located at the Harding home. The studio had a staff of five teachers.

New Cosden Unit To Get Shake-Down

Cosden Petroleum Corp. is preparing for its shake-down run on its new fluid catalytic cracking unit, probably this week.

Blowers were put through their paces during the weekend and Monday the process of heating the unit to 1250 degrees got underway. When this has been accomplished, the temperature will be brought down slowly, then back to the required operating level.

They will follow the charge of catalyst and raw materials for the trial run. First gasoline from the unit, one of the very latest in design, may issue before the end of the week. Crews are still at work putting finishing touches to the big project, representing one of the major advancements in the history of the plant here.

Military School Launches Drive To Raise Funds

NATCHEZ, Miss., Nov. 1. (AP) — Rich in tradition but poor financially Jefferson Military College today began a fund raising campaign directed by former Vice Adm. Aaron Station (Tip) Merrill.

The 147-year-old prep school had expected to solve its desperate financial situation with a $50 million endowment. The board of trustees turned down the offer last week, however, when it learned Millionaire Donor George Armstrong wanted the college to advocate white supremacy.

Merrill, famed commander of Task Force 36 in the Pacific during World War II, agreed to become superintendent of the college if it reaches financial security. Meanwhile, he became chairman of the school's endowment committee and public relations officer during the campaign.

A. J. Armstrong, son of the oil and steel millionaire, resigned last night as trustee and business manager of the school. Gerard Brandon, Jr., Natchez attorney and son of the board president, was named to succeed him as trustee.

The board and Merrill felt that enough contributions would come in to save the school which Jefferson Davis, first president of the confederacy, attended as a student. James Aubudon, the naturalist, once taught there.

Already the school had received contributions ranging from $5,000 from Nathan Kleim, ice cream manufacturer of Houston to $100 from the Argo Lodge 413 of B'nai B'rith of Washington, D. C. The Chicago Negro Chamber of Commerce also sent $100 as "a token of our interest in your refusal to sell yourselves and your school for $50 million."

Allegheny Steel Workers Begin Another Strike

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1. (AP) — Employees at the five Pennsylvania and New York plants of the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp., began a strike today as thousands of Bethlehem Steel Corp. workers ended their month-long walkout.

The company employees about 12,500 workers at Brackenridge and West Leechburg in Pennsylvania and Buffalo, Dunkirk and Watervliet, New York.

The strike got underway at 12:01 o'clock less than 10 minutes after another conference had failed between the CIO-United Steelworkers and the management. A few hours earlier Bethlehem Steel Corp. settled its dispute with the union.

Neither the company nor the union issued a statement as to why they failed to get together.

The issues before the negotiators were mainly the same which sent a half-million other CIO United Steelworkers on strike a month ago—the 10-cent-per-hour pension and insurance package recommended by President Truman's fact finding board.

Sherman's Unification Record May Make Him New Naval Chief

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP) — It was Vice Adm. Forrest P. Sherman's record in the long controversy over military unification which first fastened attention on him for possible appointment as chief of naval operations.

Back in 1946 he and the then Maj. Gen. Laurie Norstad of the Air Force found common ground on which to work out a compromise on unification. Both were air officers.

Sherman was the negotiator for the Navy when the Army and the then Army Air Forces sought to produce a compromise bill that would meet some of the objections to unification raised by the Navy Department.

The proposals produced by the small group of high Navy and Air Force officials, of which Sherman and Norstad were members, received the approval of President Truman and the compromise version became the unification law with passage by Congress.

The admiral is thoroughly familiar with carrier operation, which now has become the basic plan around which all naval striking forces are built. He knows the administrative problems in Washington—where he has served a number of times — and the harsh realities of combat. Of that, he saw much in the Pacific campaign of World War II. Among his war commands was the original carrier Wasp, sunk in the Solomon Islands battle in September, 1942.

It appears to have been Sherman's experiences in the air-land-sea Pacific war that convinced him of the need for unified command at Washington. He has said that every successful offensive in the Pacific was made possible by combined planning among the sea, air and land commanders of that theater.

Sherman, 55 years old last Sunday, is a native of Merrimack, N. H., and a Naval Academy graduate — second in his class of 203 in 1917. He went overseas almost immediately after his graduation, assigned to American naval forces in the Mediterranean.

From 1917 to 1922 he was a junior officer aboard a number of destroyers, cruisers and battleships. But in that year he decided he wanted to cast his fortune with naval aviation, then a tiny fraction of seapower. He has remained in that service since.

Sherman no sooner finished his arbitration role in the 1946-47 unification dispute than he found he was headed for another tough job — command of the United States task fleet in the Mediterranean.

There the fleet, built around aircraft carriers, represents the "implementation" to American foreign policy, of which diplomats speak. Its commander has to be part diplomat, part Navy officer to sail the precise course through international shoals in that part of the world.

Sherman is about six feet tall, gray-haired, with a round but rugged face. No middle-age bulges have touched his figure; exercise takes care of that.

He has a reputation of getting along with people both outside and inside the Navy — a quality which presumably contributed to the interest of the Pentagon high command in the admiral.

Reynolds Seeks Round-World Flight Record

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1. (AP) — Penmaker Milton Reynolds is in the air today in quest of a new round-the-world flight record — this one via scheduled airliners.

The Chicago manufacturer, whose hobby is globe-circling, took off from Los Angeles International Airport at 11:15 o'clock, last night on a TWA Constellation bound for New York.

He will have a five minute lay-over at La Guardia Field, New York, before hopping into a Pan American Clipper for Istanbul, Damascus, Karachi, Delhi, Calcutta, Bangkok, Hong Kong, Manila, Guam, Midway, Honolulu and Los Angeles.

He hopes to be back here by 10 o'clock, Saturday night after some four days and 23 hours of globe circling.

That's a little slower than his 1947 global flight. Then he sponsored the late Bill Odom's record-breaking trip of 78 hours, 35 minutes and 30 seconds in a reconverted Army bomber. Reynolds was navigator on that trip.

Eddie Egan, New York state boxing commissioner, is the current holder of the airliner mark. He made the trip last year some 30 hours slower than Reynolds' hoped-for schedule.

Egan spent 39 hours 50 minutes on the ground and 107 hours 25 minutes in flight. Reynolds' itinerary calls for 23 hours on the ground and 96 hours in flight. His longest stop-over will be at Hong Kong — five hours and 55 minutes.

U. S. To Stay On Okinawa

OKINAWA, Nov. 1. (AP) — The United States plans to stay put on this island base only 400 miles from the China mainland, now almost gobbled up by the Communists. Okinawa has a new $73 million building program.

The program includes quarters for troops and their families; hangers, warehouses, supply buildings and repair shops. It will be rushed under direct authority of Gen. MacArthur, who has set up a special section in his Tokyo headquarters. Top engineers already are here.

The reason for urgency is twofold:

1. Residents are continually battling typhoons which tear away quonset huts in which most of them are housed.
2. The new decision to build up the island ended a long period of indecision which prevented allotment to funds for housing. This decision has been made by the joint chiefs of staff in Washington.

A bill designating $75 million for construction on Okinawa was signed by President Truman last week. The job will be done in two years with the first units ready in six months.

Hangers, housing and other facilities will be built to withstand the typhoons which are spawned on an average of 45 a season in the Western Pacific. Six or eight usually buffet Okinawa each year.

The request for Congress to provide construction funds was the tip-off that the U. S. is here to stay for a long time. The U. S. took the island from the Japanese at a cost of 7,000 American lives. Its ownership still has not been decided. It has been claimed at various times by China, the Philippines and Japan.

Why?

Officers said yesterday he dusted downtown pedestrians with a large feather duster and then tried to hand each of them a dollar.

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 1. (AP) — Employees of the SKF Corp. here took today off to go hunting — and they get paid for it.

The company said it was shutting down in line with a union contract agreement which makes the opening day of the small game season in Pennsylvania a paid holiday.

THIS WAS THE REAL THING

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1. (AP) — It cost Frank Catalbo $230 to learn that a holdup was not a Halloween prank.

A man wearing a Halloween mask walked into a supermarket last night. He waved a gun at Catalbo and said "This is a holdup."

"This is a Halloween prank," laughed Catalbo.

The man fired a shot into the ceiling and then dug his gun viciously into Catalbo's ribs.

"This is the real thing," he snarled.

A moment later he left with $230 from the cash register.
