Citians Turn Thumbs Down On Paving Bond

Voters went to the polls in Earth Saturday 202 strong and turned thumbs down on the paving bond for the second time, indicating they do not wish to spend money to pave streets of Earth.

The vote tallied out 113 against and 89 for the paving bond.

Consensus of the opinions is that the bond issue failed because those who had paid to have their streets paved only seven years ago might have it all dug up, so proper drainage could be had throughout the city, and again have to pay to have it paved a second time.

In some instances, citizens were ready to pay a second time in order to see the town develop, but in several instances city property owners felt it was double jeopardy.

However, if the streets had been torn up, those with curbing and guttering were not being asked to pay for their streets to be paved, curbed, and guttered a second time, the city would stand that cost. Those who had paved and did not have curb and guttering would have had to pay a second time to have their streets paved, had the city engineers deemed it necessary to tear out paving in order to provide the city with proper drainage.

This election did create much more interest this time, as a third more people voted this time than did in the July 30 election when the vote was 67-60.

NEW HOMEMAKING COTTAGE at Springlake-Earth School is going up fast. The new 43' by 80' brick cottage will have a large living room, sewing room, kitchen, office, and rest room.

City Dads Canvass Votes Cast in Saturday's Election

City Dads met Monday night in a regular session and canvassed the ballots cast in Saturday's paving election. They also approved the count.

City officials approved the continuation of keeping the dump ground open for dumping each Thursday, but voted to require a permit from the city before trash could be dumped. Each truck load dumped will require a fee of $1 payable before trash can be dumped.

The group instructed the city attorney, Andy Scoble, to draw up an ordinance prohibiting the parking of trucks, busses, campers, and including pickups over half ton, in the two blocks on Highway 70 between the caution light and the Citizens State Bank. This ordinance will cover both sides of the street on these two blocks. Signs will be erected in the near future to discourage parking within the boundaries of these two blocks.

The ordinance will also include a clause making it illegal to make a U turn at the caution light. This will also be enforced following publication of the ordinance.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, and a vote was made to pay current bills.

Those present were mayor E. G. Kelley, and aldermen, Don Chesney, Neil Poonds, Eldon Parish, Richard Stockstill, and Donald Runyon. Also city secretary Mrs. Rubye Anderson, and assistant, Mrs. Betty McAlpine, city attorney, Andy Scoble, city water superintendent Sammy McGuire and Ross Middleton.

Streets Being Surveyed In Effort to Improve Drainage

The drainage problem within the City of Earth is a number one problem to City Dads, according to Mayor E. G. Kelley, who along with the aldermen, have studied the layout of the city with engineer Ralph Douglas, to find that with each rain the inferior drainage from the streets cause additional and costly street repairs as well as delay to motorists.

City Dads have secured an engineer to survey the city with the intentions of grading down all unpaved streets to the lowest level in an attempt to create improved drainage within the city.

The cost they believe will be greater than the city's cost in the recent paving proposal. However, they feel they must not give up on improving city streets and have again figured out another way.

Jan Cleavinger Selected Good Guy of the Week

Jan Cleavinger was chosen by popular ballot the second junior high Good Guy of the year. Jan was chosen because of her help to other students at any time.

Each Friday the "Good Guy" contest is held, and is open to all junior high students, male or female. On Monday, the Good Guy of the week is revealed.

The W. L. Mann Chapter of the Springlake-Earth Junior High National Honor Society is sponsor of this contest.

Purpose of the contest is for students to notice specific good actions by their fellow students during the course of the week.

Balloting involves both the students and the teachers. It has been emphasized that balloting be done on the basis of the actual actions by the students involved, and not simply because he or she happens to be a good guy making the rounds of the campus, nor for his personal popularity with his fellow students.

Mrs. Peggy Lindley and Coach Earl McKinley are supervisors of the Good Guy Contest.

County to Collect $449,000 in Taxes

Lamb County tax office employees mailed out tax bills in the amount of $449,000 last week. This figure seems high to most citizens, and it is, but the amount of taxes to be gathered by the county office has been reduced almost $50,000.

Increased amount of evaluation of property is one reason and another is that one Highway District is through paying on a certain section of highway. These two add up to good news about reduction.

Herbert Dunn, County Tax Assessor, states that the total amount to be collected is $449,262.15. This breaks down in the following interesting manner. The County will receive $245,411.01; the State $115,208.82; Highways $28,600.19; Precincts $45,696.74 and the water District $14,345.39.

The big drop occurs in the highway Department which last year totaled $106,660.90. The rest is actually up.

The way the valuation is distributed is this way. Farms and land are evaluated at $10,573,231.00; City property at $6,777,001.00; personal property at $11,999,270.00; Railroads at $577,350.00; Telephone and Telegraph $405,000.00; Banks at $279,914.00 and Pipe Lines (Gas and Oil) at $53,510.00. This totals $30,666,076.00, which is considerably higher than last year's $29,161,017.00.

The largest single taxpayer is Southwestern Public Service Company, which is billed for $95,615.49. El Paso Natural Gas is second at $10,512.34; followed by Santa Fe Railroad at $6,480.15; Pioneer Natural Gas at $4,350.17; General Telephone Co. at $4,879.74 and Lamb County Rural Electric Cooperative at $3,287.10.

The general rate base of evaluation is $.95 per $100 and is divided between general $.63; Jury $.02; Road and Bridge $.10; Court and Jail $.05 and Road and Jail Special, $.15.

Some people will pay more than this base rate depending on where they live as state and highway percentages are added.

School Taxes For Local District Reach $187,194

Property assessments in the Springlake-Earth School District total $10,696,725 this year. Total tax bills for the year based at $1.75 per hundred of assessed property value is $187,194.00.

Tax bills were sent out last week by tax collector, Mrs. Leon Dent in the amount of $187,194.

This fund is used in school maintenance salaries, supplies, etc.

Mrs. Dent said the assessed property value in the school district in 1965 was set at $10,569,223 and the total tax bill, for the school district last year was $177,562.00. This figure shows a tax increase of approximately $9,632 over last year.

City Mails Out Tax Bills Totaling $20,544.97

City tax bills totaling $20,544.97 were mailed out last week by city secretary Mrs. Rubye Anderson, and her assistant, Mrs. E. R. McAlpine.

Mrs. Anderson said there was very little difference in tax bills for this year compared to that of last year, since last year's total was $19,842.77.

Mrs. Anderson explained the use of the monies. One third of the money goes into a sinking fund to pay on bonds and their interest. The remaining two thirds, she said, goes into a city fund to be used for street repairs, mosquito dust, and all improvements made to city facilities.

FREEDOM'S FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

In this sophisticated era of world-wide communications via satellite, we are sometimes inclined to take the conventional spreading of news and information as a matter of course.

Yet, when a vital issue is being discussed at the national level, one always hears the remark "let's get the thinking at the grass roots" for the national leaders know that this is truly the voice of independent America.

To keep "the grass roots" informed is the responsibility of your local newspaper. Not only are the world's happenings defined in the light of the smallest—and most important—common denominator, the American family, but regional, state and local events are reported. We are the voice of the community—and oftentimes its conscience. In providing the news and information, we tell our readers what is happening, how it is happening, and why it is happening.

While we mirror events for the community to see, we assume the obligation and responsibility to inform you accurately so that we may continue to be a major influence in making this community a better place to live.

As independent citizens, we welcome the privilege of the freedom of the press, and to be a part of the thousands of weekly newspapers who make up the news source for the thinking grass-roots America.

How Long Is A Dime?

The driver who thinks he can stop on a dime and that the car behind him can do the same should reflect that three steps are involved in stopping a car," Michael G. Birmingham of the New York State Safety Council declared today.

"The first is perception of the situation ahead, a recognition of a hazard. Second is reaction. The third factor is braking. The car going 60 may travel 300 feet more—the length of a football field—before it comes to a stop."

EDITORIAL— The Fight For Press Freedom

Americans today take freedom of the press for granted and seldom stop to examine its meaning or appraise its value. Knowing the origin and development of press freedom may help understand why American civilization must have a free press or die.

Few persons in ancient times could read or write. They were dominated by leaders who, backed by prophets and priests, proclaimed their god-given right to rule and perpetuate their rule. Freedom of expression in politics and religion was suppressed. Until printing presses started spreading ideas, there was no means of mass communication. The world hasn't been the same since.

It was 250 years after Gutenberg developed the printing press that licensing of printers and newspapers was abandoned in England. Efforts to muzzle and muzzle the press continued for still another 100 years, but with decreasing success as people realized how closely their freedom was linked with a free press.

Church and state leaders in the American colonies disapproved of freedom of thought and expression, believing control of the press essential to preserve public morality and maintain constituted authority. So, when newspapers first appeared, they were promptly suppressed or licensed and heavily censored.

Early American patriots would have been unable to marshal public opinion and spread the news of their actions without the printers and publishers who risked imprisonment and bankruptcy to criticize the colonial government and agitate for independence.

Historian David Ramsey said, "In establishing American independence, the pen and the press had a merit equal to that of the sword."

The first significant victory for freedom of the press in America was won in court in 1735 by John Peter Zenger, against a libel charge. It established the right of the press to publish news or criticism of government officials, if the facts published were true.

But this was by no means the end of government interference and harassment of newspapers. They were goaded and annoyed by discriminatory taxation and other oppressive acts until the Declaration of Independence was adopted, the Revolutionary War fought, and the guarantees of free speech and a free press were written into the United States Constitution.

Attempts continue down to the present day to abridge or restrict the right of the press to report certain types of news, to comment freely on the government, or to criticize the actions of public officials.

It is the absence of licensing that makes newspapers free. It is the absence of restraints, within responsibility, that defines freedom. This is the essential character of our political process, and the vigilance of newspapers in keeping taxpaying citizens fully informed is one of the primary factors in preserving and protecting individual freedom in our nation.

By DPW

She walks through the corridors and her demeanor never varies. Her countenance remains steady, very unexcitable and very stable, and wherever she appears you are filled with a sense of graciousness and humbleness. Each time I see her I am reminded of the now famous phrase of the late Winston Churchill when he said, "Never have so many owed so much to so few." Substitute the word one for the words so few and you have our school nurse, Dorothy Woods.

She is more than school nurse. The duties this remarkable lady performs are endless and never a frown or complaint is seen or heard. Go to her for any reason and she is there in both body and soul. It is somewhat like going to mother who always have a seemly and reasonable problem and after only a few moments, you take your leave and feel as though you could now conquer the world and the problem has vanished. Never to be thought of again. And it is even with a sense of shame that you take your leave for you now feel somewhat ashamed for going in the first place with such an insignificant problem.

She is kind and she is gentle. She is thoughtful and unselfish and I wonder if she knows the meaning of the word no. I doubt it very much.

The little ones look up at her with the trust of a newborn babe for they can sense they are in the right hands. They are comforted in their illnesses and pains and are

Foundation Shows Desiccation of Grain Prior to Harvest Increase

Scientists at the High Plains Research Foundation have received numerous inquiries recently from farmers and Businessmen regarding the use of flame to desiccate grain sorghum, according to Dr. E. H. Collier, Director and Executive Vice-President of the Foundation.

The unusual heavy rainfall recently has increased the problem of the loss of grain at harvest time because the grain often rides through the combine on the large green leaves and the grain falls on the ground. Research at the Foundation has shown that desiccation of grain sorghum just before harvest has increased the yield from 330 to 450 pounds per acre. Through the use of flame, the amount of residue handled by the combine has been reduced considerably, thereby permitting the machine to operate at a greater speed. The pounds of threshed grain normally carried through the combine on green leaves and lost was reduced 78.7% by desiccation. The yield increase obtained in studies at the Foundation was a result of reducing the amount of grain normally carried out of the combine on green leaves. The dried leaves will crumble and more or less blow out of the machine. Considering the reduction of a large scale of 100 acres, the combine would have to handle approximately 61 tons less material as a result of desiccation of the grain sorghum.

Large size burners were used by the Foundation scientists to desiccate the grain sorghum with two burners per row, one on each side of the plants and raised just above the foliage. The flame was directed down soothed with words of sage and gracious medication which they can easily understand. Some even look for causes to go see the "Nurse" for they love the treatment and the care and the warmth they receive.

She gives unselfishly of her time and her own expenses but one would never know this unless they were around her with ample time for observation. She would be the last to say how very much she does for the people in this community.

She is grateful as only a person with soul can be grateful. No matter the size of the gift or the amount of the aid, she receives each with humble gratitude as befits a person of such voluminous character.

She is Dorothy Woods, our School Nurse, and we love her very much.

When those near and dear to us are unhappy or unsuccessful, we may long to help them in every way we can. However, first we should pray for guidance and good judgment so that our help is as effective as we want it to be. Our prayers quicken the Spirit of Christ within them. Our prayers quicken in us the faith that Christ is guiding them in the way of their highest good.

the top of the leaves through to the lower leaves igniting them. A ground speed of three miles per hour was used. It took twenty-two days in Foundation studies to dry non-desiccating grain sorghum from 20% down to 14% moisture under natural weather conditions. The desiccated grain sorghum reached 14% in fourteen days. The cost of per acre from desiccation, been estimated at $1.50 an acre fuel cost. The increased yield resulting from saving the grain gave an increase of $3.40 per acre from desiccation.

County Herds Now Under Federal Quarantine For Psoroptic Scabies

Inspection began Monday within the seven county boundary currently under federal quarantine for Psoroptic Scabies among cattle, according to Buddy C. Logsdon, Lamb County Agricultural Agent.

Logsdon said inspection of Lamb herds would probably begin within the next 30 days with Castro County inspection to follow.

Inspectors will be Denmon Burns, of the Texas Animal Health Department and Orville Pratt, USDA-ARS Animal Health Division.

Included in the seven Texas counties now under quarantine are Lamb, Bailey, Castro, Hale, Floyd, Briscoe, and Randall.

Logsdon said inspection will be made of all 38 counties in the Panhandle between now and next spring. Completion day of inspection of all herds in a 38 county area is tentatively set for March 31.

Federal inspectors fear there is Psoroptic Scabies among herds in Lamb County, according to Logsdon. Therefore to make sure, they are forced to inspect all herds in the county.

He explained the Psoroptic Scabies is a bug or mite that gets into the skin of animals and causes severe irritation and failure of the animal to gain weight.

Logsdon said Psoroptic Scabies does not effect the health of those who eat the beef, but rather effects the comfort of the cattle and their chances for gaining weight.

It's In The Handbooks...

Handbooks were given all students from the seventh through 12th grades in the Springlake-Earth Schools this year so that the students and parents will have available at all times the school policies, scholastic requirements, school calendar and other information.

Parents are urged to read the handbooks to better understand various rules and regulations, according to Principal D. H. Koeninger.

Some of the general policies, which have not been greatly changed from former years, are explained in the handbook. However, to avoid misunderstanding later all parents are urged to study the rules and regulations, he said.

Policies concerning eligibility modes of dress, conduct, buses, textbooks, use of telephones, assembly attendance, withdrawals, leaving the school grounds, use of automobiles, disciplinary actions, student strikes, hazing, boy-girl relationships, etc. are discussed in the book.

It has been designed to aid students, parents and the faculty in enjoying the school year and to act as a guide in understanding the traditions and policies.

Also included is the examination schedule for six weeks, mid-term and final examinations.

Academic regulations pertaining to book reports, term papers, memory work, home-making, agriculture, reporting, writing form and late work appear in the publication.

Requirements of the state and school for graduation, absences and tardiness and other such information is also included.

In the front of the handbook appear sheets for entering grades earned for credit toward graduation so that such is always available.

Students are urged to take care of these handbooks for reference any time the need arises.

How Many Couples Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversaries

Of the 5,530 or so married couples in Lamb County, how many of them are likely to be together to celebrate their golden wedding anniversaries?

What are their chances of marking their silver anniversaries?

Interest in these matrimonial milestones has been aroused at this time because of the fact that one of America's most famous couples, Dwight and Mamie Eisenhower, have just celebrated their 50th year of married life.

That marital landmark will also be reached this year by no less than 160,000 couples throughout the United States.

According to figures worked up by insurance company statisticians here, based upon data taken from their own records and from government sources, the chances are now one in three that a young Lamb County couple, just married, will be able to reach the 50-year mark.

That is the expectation, unless divorce or annulment intervene. In that event, all bets are off.

Locally, there is less likelihood of such split-ups than in many communities. People in the area tend to get married young and to remain married for a longer time than is the case generally.

The latest government findings show that some 74.2 percent of the local population over age 14 are now married.

This includes 74.6 percent of the men and 73.7 percent of the women in that age bracket.

It compares with an average of 67.5 percent in the rest of the United States and 69.1 percent in the State of Texas.

In 1916, when the Eisenhowers were married, the chances were only one in six that they would live out their 50 years together.

Since then, with the great medical advances of the last half century, the odds have been brought down to one in three.

That is what Pat and Luci Johnson Nugent now have going for them. And, with the further gains to be expected in the next 50 years, their chances will probably become considerably better than that.

As for celebrating a silver wedding anniversary, the likelihood is excellent for today's newly-marrieds. Even when a man marries as late as 34, if his bride is not appreciably older, their chances of living together for 25 years are better than seven in 10.

"It's nice to know what you are talking about, but it isn't always necessary to talk about what you know."—Vonnie Matison, Cavalier County (N. Dak.) Republican.

Wolverines Riddle Frenship Tigers 33-8

Fans that back the green and gold of Springlake-Earth found something to yell about early in the game Friday night against Frenship. For the first time this year, the Wolverines started the game out by getting a comfortable lead in the first half and then had to battle for their lives through the third quarter and finally break the game wide open in the final stanza.

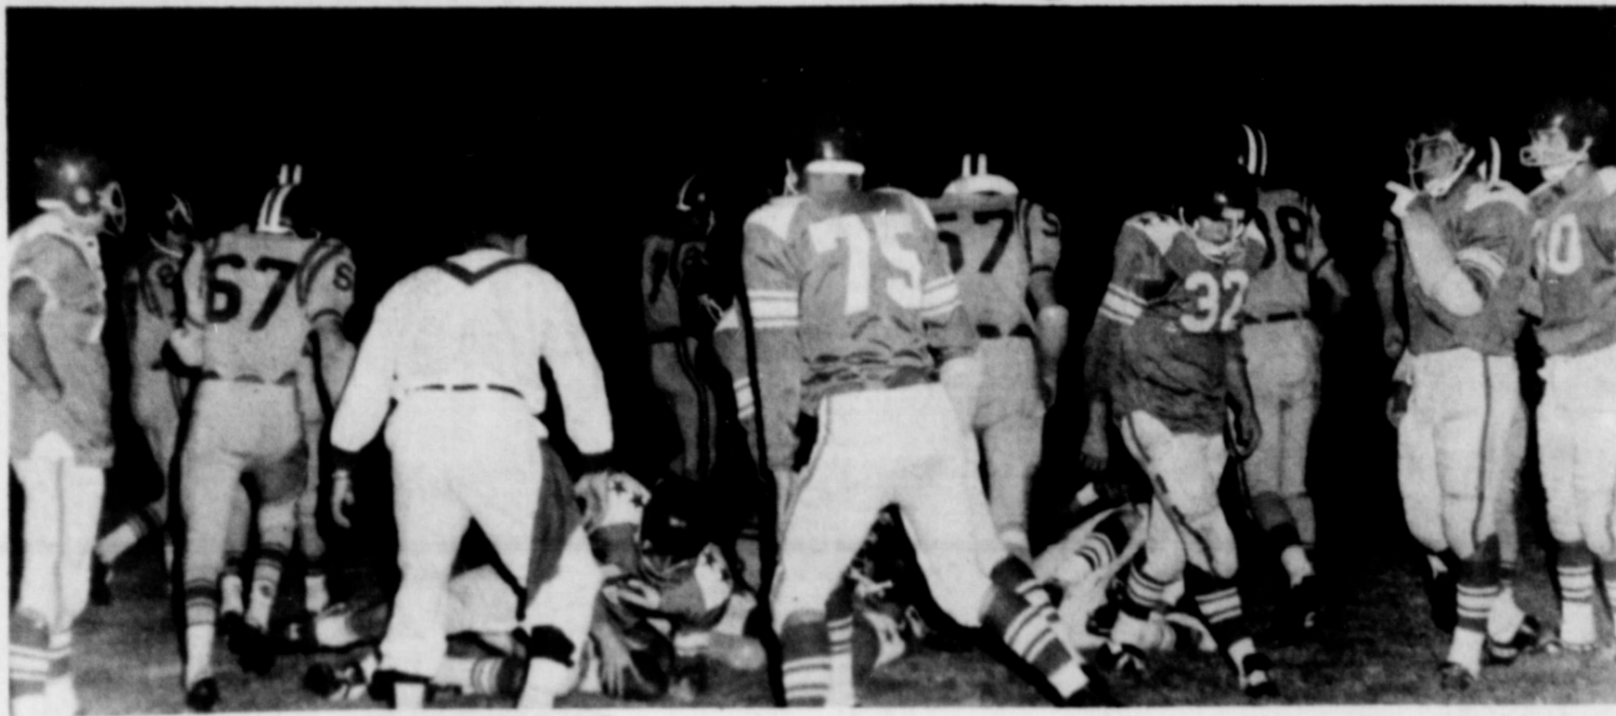

Doug Messer, the Wolverine south paw quarterback, had trouble in finding the range with his passing game and turned to his backfield, consisting of halfbacks, Logan Armstrong and Terry Parish and fullback, James Thomas, who were delighted to accept the challenge and slashed out good yardage all up and down the Tiger line. The old saying "If you can't go over them, plow through them" surely came true in the final period. Moments after the game got underway, Logan Armstrong went to the outside and found running room, going over from 23 yards out for the first touchdown. Jose Triana politely booted the ball between the goal posts and the Wolverines started rolling.

The next scoring play was Doug Messer who did some beautiful faking to his halfbacks, who ran up the middle, while Messer rolled out all by himself and ran for a touchdown from 15 yards out. He was untouched. This time Triana's kick was blocked, and the Wolverines were out front 13-0.

Then Frenship managed to get a sputtering offense into gear and marched down the field, with the help of two fifteen yard penalties, and sent Lewis Alvarado plowing through the center of the line for two yards and pay dirt. Then the Tiger quarterback, Randy Curry, called on Johnny Carrizole to scamper around his right end for two more points. By halftime the Tigers had cut the point margin to 13-8.

The third quarter was strictly a defensive battle with neither team mustering enough steam to really keep a drive moving.

Then the Wolverine backfield answered the challenge with James Thomas, the Wolverine fullback crashing through the center of the line, carrying three tacklers with him and going over for his first touchdown of the year. Again Triana's kick was blocked and the Wolverines took a 19-8 lead.

When a stubborn Wolverine defense stopped the Tigers with no gain, and forced them to punt, Doug Messer, with perfect faking, rolled out to his right side and raced over from 70 yards out for a TD, but as fate would have it, a clipping penalty nullified the play. With a show of determination the entire backfield hit the line, finding holes being opened up by the linemen and soon found themselves on the Tiger 20 yard line. Then Logan Armstrong ran around left end for his second touchdown of the night, Messer then called on hard running James Thomas to carry the pig skin and carry it he did, right up the middle for two more points and a comfortable 27-8 lead.

The final touchdown was scored by Doug Messer on a 5 yard run around his right side and the conversion was no good. With a 33-8 lead, Coach Smith sent his second team in to play the remaining few minutes of the game. The Wolverines picked up 398 yards on the ground and 54 yards through the air. Punted one time for 40 yards and had 8 penalties for 80 yards. The Tigers of Frenship managed 235 yards rushing, 35 yards through the air and punted 3 times for 86 yards, and were penalized 3 times for a total of 15 yards.

This week the Wolverines will take to the road and play the Slaton Tigers in Slaton at 8 p. m. This should be one of the better teams the Wolverines have faced this year, and I'm sure it will be an exciting game.

Soil Covered With Residue Absorbs More Water

Tests by the U. S. Soil Conservation Office here indicate soil absorbs more water when covered with straw or crop residue.

The agency has advised farmers to begin planning now to utilize high residue crops such as sorghum to help hold moisture from later fall, winter, and spring precipitation.

In addition, it has been discovered that stubble left on the ground surface will greatly reduce both wind and water erosion. In the instance of wind erosion, the stubble helps shield soil particles from direct contact with the wind.

The conservation service claims that cropland with a residue cover will take rainwater at a faster rate than will land with no stubble cover. They conclude that the structure of soil is broken by the impact of raindrops, which causes a dense layer of soil at the ground surface to stop water seepage. In effect, the raindrop "jiggle" the soil particles until they will fit closely together, at which time they cease movement and water cannot penetrate as quickly, causing heavier runoff.

With a residue cover, the impact of the raindrops is broken up on stalks, etc. and water moves gently into the soil, according to the conservation agents.

In a test, water was applied artificially by a sprinkler system on a sandy-clay loam soil, the plowed soil intake was .49 of an inch of water per hour. When straw covering was added to the ground, the rate of soil intake increased to 3.50 inches per hour.

The Soil Conservation Service maintains that soils have the capacity to absorb large quantities of rain water provided the surface is kept open and that the more rain water stored in soil, the less irrigation water is needed to grow the next crop.

SORGHUM STUBBLE IS PLOWED into field after grain harvest to help accumulate rainwater, prevent wind erosion and runoff of rainwater or water erosion. The stubble increases soil intake of rainwater by as much as seven times.

Residents Offered Opportunity To Zip Code Mailing Lists In October

Residents of Earth will be offered an opportunity to ZIP Code their mailing lists during October, Postmaster Miller announced today.

Letter carriers will deliver "no postage needed" cards to each of the city's residential delivery stops beginning October 10, the postmaster said. The cards will have blanks for addresses used most often, but for which individuals do not know the proper ZIP Codes.

Throughout the nation 95,000,000 of the cards will be delivered. In cities with more than one ZIP Code, there will be two cards for each household; one for local addresses, the other card for out-of-town.

In rural areas and cities with one ZIP Code assigned, only an out-of-town card will be delivered since all local addresses will have the same ZIP Code.

"This is a good time to get the ZIP Codes missing from your lists," Postmaster Miller noted. "This Christmas, ZIP Code will be as important as shopping and mailing early for the efficient and on-time delivery of the record-breaking avalanche of mail expected in the pre-holiday weeks."

After filling in the street number, city and state, the cards are to be mailed back to the postmaster. Post Office personnel will add the proper ZIP Codes and return the cards to the sender.

President Johnson has proclaimed October 10-15 as "ZIP Code Week" to promote greater use of ZIP Codes.

Postmaster General O'Brien announced May 19 that steps were being taken to make ZIP Codes more accessible to the mailing public. The present program resulted from a search for the most effective method to get the codes in the hands of private mailers. A poll conducted by Elmo Roper and Associates earlier this year found that about half the population is using ZIP Code. Of the remaining half who are not, 80 per cent said that the reason was that they did not know the ZIP Codes for the people to whom they write.

Previously, the Post Office Department has embarked upon an extensive effort to help volume mailers convert their lists to ZIP Code.

"The Roper poll strengthened our conviction that the public generally is ready and willing to cooperate with business mailers who will be presorting their second and third-class mail after January 1, 1967," Mr. O'Brien said. "I am convinced that the 'ZIP-A-LIST' project will go a long way toward accomplishing our goal of ready availability of the proper ZIP Codes in the home."

Local cards will be printed with blue ink and out-of-town cards in red.

Addresses which cannot be ZIP Coded because of insufficient or improper addresses will be forwarded to the city indicated on the card, if legible, and the codes will be added there.

Only addresses, not names of correspondents, should be listed on the cards, the postmaster said. ZIP Codes represent delivery areas for the postal service, not individuals.

During the summer, a "dry run" of the ZIP-A-LIST project was conducted in Columbus, Ohio and Richmond, Virginia. Information gained from these tests is being incorporated in the national program.

Cottonseed Prices Upped By The Law of Supply and Demand

Lubbock, Friday, September 30, 1966---

Indications are that cotton producers on the High Plains and elsewhere will get considerably higher prices for cottonseed this year than they have gotten in many, many years.

It's the result of an old law almost forgotten in High Plains cotton circles, the law of supply and demand.

The estimated national 1966 crop of just less than 11 million bales, about 30 per cent below 1965 production, has brought on a proportionate reduction in the prospective supply of cottonseed for crushing. The demand for cottonseed and cottonseed products has not seen a similar drop. Unlike lint, there's no surplus from which to fill the gap.

On the Plains cottonseed at the gin has opened at about $70 per ton, basis quality index of 100, as compared to from $42 to $50 per ton paid in recent years. How this price will hold through the season is anybody's guess, but most observers see little chance of a decline back to $50 a ton or less.

There's about 800 to 850 pounds of seed per bale, worth $28 at $70 per ton. Ginning charges, including bagging and ties, average from $18 to $20 per bale. So farmers as of now can expect to realize from $8 to $10 per bale above ginning.

Certainly there's no assurance that this seed price will hold for the year. But the current price would bring farmers from 160 to 200 points net over loan value for their cotton.

And percentage-wise this factor takes on added importance in view of declining loan values, from 32 cents basis middling inch in 1963 to 29 cents in 1965. Loan price for 1966 is a 21 cents, basis middling inch, but the value of both diversion and price support payments must also be taken into consideration this year, with each individual farmer calculating his own price.

Last year cottonseed was credited with accounting for about 11 per cent of the total value of the crop, and this percentage figure is sure to be higher in 1966.

There is the feeling in some circles that the value of the seed in each year's crop may become progressively more significant on the Plains.

And lending credence to this belief is the research efforts being put into development of glandless, gossypol-free seed.

The National Cottonseed Products Association envisions a vast increase in markets for cottonseed products once gossypol glands are eliminated. Gossypol is well known to be responsible for the troublesome dark color of cottonseed oil. It either eliminates or reduces the usefulness of the oil as a protein feed for poultry, swine or other non-ruminant animals and humans.

Without gossypol, the competitive position of cottonseed oil with other oilseed crops would be greatly improved. And this is especially true in view of the government's "Food for Freedom" program to develop vegetable protein foods from cotton and soybeans for human consumption.

Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., emphasizes that the production of glandless seed is not a matter of introducing new varieties, but rather a matter of incorporating the glandless factor into existing varieties without loss of yield and lint quality characteristics.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Philippines
October 1, 1966

Hi Ross and Polly Middleton,

Would have written sooner, but was kept busy in Hawaii. Our clinics were held at night and the days were taken with tours and luncheons. Have seen many people that know me from the main land. People who had played when I refereed for their teams. They were the ones who gave me the orchid treatment when we landed in Hawaii.

Col. Knablock of Hicham Air Force Base entertained Mr. Shasid and myself with a luncheon and a tour of the Island. He was one of Doolittle's Raiders. When he heard I was from Earth, the conversation turned to Lowell Hite.

The places we stopped was an experience to remember. Everyone was told to remain in their seats until we disembarked and received the red carpet welcome.

The navy entertained us on Thursday with a luncheon and a tour of Pearl Harbor and battleship Row. Out of 1500 officers and sailors on the Arizona, only 200 escaped with their lives. As one stands in silence before the tomb, it will make you choke up as you look down in the opening, where each day many flowers are tossed in remembrance of the young men who lie sleeping in the hull of the Arizona.

Mr. Bob Lawrence of Tokyo met the plane in the Philippines. After three days of tours and four days of clinic we will fly to Okinawa for five days, there on to Japan. Enough good can never be said about the officers and enlisted men who have made our trip so pleasant. We will see you in November.

Let us dwell on the greatness and love of God. We think of Him as the power that holds the universe together, controlling the farthest star, as well as the most minute seed containing His life. Whatever we need, things, talents, capabilities, creative ideas there is no limit for God lives within us. He is our life, our intelligence, our energy, strength and health.

Planning Helps Achieve Goals Financial

COLLEGE STATION--Make your own family financial spending plan based on a simple set of fundamental principles. This is the recommendation of today's money management experts regardless of the total family income, says Extension home management specialist, Mrs. Wanda Meyer of Texas A&M University.

Gain a better idea of where your money goes by keeping a record of your expenditures for a month or so. Then record all the fixed major items of expense you must meet. This would include rent or mortgage payments, heat and utility costs, insurance, car payments, contributions, real estate taxes, and installment payments. You must provide for these obligations first.

Plan your daily expenses, such as food, clothing, and clothing care, car expenses other than monthly payments, and medical and dental expenses. You'll find this area of your budget is flexible. Day-to-day expenses are adjustable. For example, your family's tastes, size, number of times you eat out, and your cooking and shopping skills have a bearing on the amount of daily expenditures.

They go from strength to strength.—(Psalms 84:7)

Often we hear of a person accomplishing some feat of strength that would seem physically impossible under ordinary circumstances. When the strength was needed, we are given the extra power to meet the situation. With God we were able to meet the challenge before us. God is the source of all life, all strength, all power. We can trust God to guide us through every day.
