We will have to admit, Springlake has some of the most dedicated teachers in the State of Texas. Most teachers give 8 to 10 hours a day to their jobs but this school has teachers that give many more than that to their duty. An example, if you visited the Junior High tournament this week you saw teachers giving many hours to our children behind the concession stand, on the gate, cal ing ball games, coaching and keeping the clock to make it the best tournament possible, Not only are they dedicated to their profession, but have you looked around lately in our churches? They are teaching sunday school classes and help ing our youngsters spiritually as well as educationally. Look at the Boy Scouts and its wonderful leader, who works at the school as a maintance man,

Our children are fast growing into young men and women. The kind that parents can be proud of for they are growing into Americans, capable of becoming leaders of tomorrow. We hope they can pull Amer-ica out of this socialist mess we seem to have gotten our Nation into.

The school program itself is one that stresses the 3R's along with physical and artis tic growth. Our children need the art, music and other types of activities that are necessary to develope a growth of apprecfor later years of selfentertainment. The physical growth has been stressed by the President of the United States so that we may not become weak as a nation and a people.

It takes all of us working together to make Earth-Spring-lake the very best community ever. School teachers, parents and students all make up our area population, so let us really check before we speak and destroy those things that are good for us all. "Better schools make better communities" is more than a slogan but the very essency of life.

Have you been by the school lately? If not the track is real ly shaping up. When I ask Jodie how things were coming along, he remarked it looks like a big piece of cake after a nice big steak.

Lamb County Farmers Contract Castor Bean Crop For More Income

Castor Beans, a crop with a growing reputation for making money, will show up in Lamb and adjoining county fields this year, under a program put into action last week by an Anton elevator and the Baker Castor Oil Company, world's largest handler of Castor beans.

Sixty percent of 2,500 acres sought for 1963 in the area was signed up in a meeting at Spade Monday night, and the Baker company Thursday gave the go-ahead on installation of handling equipment for the crop through the Uhlmann elevator in Anton.

The sign-ups were begun between farmers and the Baker Company, which contracted the crop at $5 per hundred. The meeting was headed by

The meeting was headed by Louis Boothe, who operates the Uhlmann Elevator.

"The production we need is assured with the response already shown," Boothe said Friday. "The handling equipment will be installed in time to handle the 1963 crop."

A film on the development of the castor, "Charlie Castor Bean" was shown. The film pointed up the need for castor bean growing in the United States to meet an ever-expanding need. At present, the meeting was told, 80 per cent of United States castor bean needs are imported.

This is a situation the Baker Company is trying to remedy with South Plains production, and with growing success.

The Plainview area has planted increasing castor bean acreage since 1956, when an initial 500 acres were grown. Baker set up a receiving plant at Plainview and last year, 10,000 acres were grown in the

The crop averaged 2,000 pounds per acre, and brought a market price of $5,08 per hundred.

Plainview growers produced as high as 2,000 pounds per acre in 1962.

There are no federal controls on castor bean acreage, and there is a strong market, its advocates point out. The annual contractual agreements with processors protect against over production.

over production.

The U.S. "offtake" of castor oil in 1961 required 138 million pounds, of which only 28 million pounds were produced domestically, about half of this on the high plains.

this on the high plains.

Per acre cost of raising the beans ranges from $30 to $60, depending upon the degree of irrigation and fertilization.

Profits have ranged from $30 an acre to more than $80, figures which can be improved more with diversionary payments.

Boothe points out that the Baker company is seeking more handling points, to lighten the load on the Plainview station, which is operating at capacity.

"We have an opportunity in this area," Boothe points out, "and we are ready to get into it." He plans another meeting to explain the program and make sign-ups in the next couple of weeks.

Added records on Plains production of the beans show that a sandy land grower in Gaines county in 1962 harvested 1400 to 1500 pounds off Hale castor beans under "less than an optimum amount of fertilizer and water," A net of about $30 an acre was shown.

Some of the better yields in the Plainview area came from the Ted Boedeker farm in the Providence community. Boedeker's yields off Hale variety averaged about 2,700 lbs per acre off approximately 100 acres.

Our subject for the meeting was the parts of a sewing machine. We learned the ten main parts of the machine and later in the meeting had a quiz on them.

There were so many girls who made a perfect score on the test, we had to guess numbers to see who won the four prizes. Ann Bearden, Elizabeth Goode and Pansy Been were the lucky three who won pin cushions. Brenda Henderson was also lucky, but won flower seeds. Everyone enjoyed the quiz and the guessing for prizes.

Lamb Property Taxes Get Government Assessment

Data is now available on the 67,449,000 pieces of real and personal property that are carried on local tax rolls in the United States.

This is the first time since 1957 the Government has made a full-scale survey of property tax values of Lamb County. This is a project of the Census Bureau in connection with its 1962 Census of Governments.

Governments.
In Lamb County, it shows, the gross value of local property came to $26,507,000 as compared with the total on the 1957 books of $24,346,000. Deducting the portion that was exempt locally, the net amount was $26,219,000.

ount was $26,219,000.

This constituted the tax base upon which local tax rates were applied, but it was not the full market value of the property involved. The county assessment roll, which was the basis for tax payments due in 1962 consisted of real property in the sum of $15,919,000 and personal property of $10,300,000.

The survey shows that the property tax continues to be major revenue at that level.

It lists $367 billion in property available for taxation by county agencies. Not included in this total are buildings belonging to hospitals, schools and churches with tax-exempt status and public buildings.

Lamb County Commissioners Sign Agreement On Draw

Edward Mitchell, Chairman of the Lamb County Soil Conservation District announced recently that the Lamb County Commissioners Court at their regular meeting signed cosponsorship agreement with the SCD to sponsor the Runing Water Draw Water-shed Project, The City of Olton also added their endorsement by letter this week. Five of the six counties involved now have necessary co-sponsorship a greements. Only Running Water Draw SCD is awaiting co-sponsorship of the Castro County Commissioners Court.

When all the Soil Conservation Districts have the necessary co-sponsorship they will apply for an Engineering Planning Party from the State Soil Conservation Board. The State Board will assign a priority to the Running Water Draw Project for planning. As soon as funds and a party are available the actual location of structures and works of improvement along the draw can begin. Due to a large backlog of applications it will be some time before a planning party will be available. However, this project will carry a lot of priority because of the benefits derived and it is hoped that the delay will not be too long. The SCD Board expects that the earliest construction could begin, would be two to four years. Considering the complexity of a project of this size this would be making good time. The SCD Board points out that cooperation of everyone concerned will be necessary if this project will be a reality in the near future.

Most important, was the fact that the new record bale count was produced on less acreage. In 1962, Lamb County had 208,865 acres of cotton "Uncle Sam's ahead again!"

Rural Electrification Administration loans, made to help rural people build their own electric lines, are turning out to be one of the best investments our Nation ever made.

Since 1935, REA has advanced more than $33/4 billion to nearly 1,000 locally-owned and operated rural electric systems. Rural peopleby-passed by stockholder power companies as too small or too unprofitable to serve-have used these loans to build 11/2 million miles of line serving 20 million people.

Rural electric loans are good investments. Already, America's Rural Electric Systems have paid back more than $11/2 billion in principal and interest on their REA loans.

Best of all, these loans, which help rural people help themselves, benefit all Americans. Rural electrification helps farmers produce an abundance of high quality foods for everyone. It hikes rural living standards, and improves rural schools and churches. And it creates new jobs and opportunities through a multi-billion dollar annual market for electrical products.

These economic and social contributions of America's non-profit rural electric systems are another bonus for all Americans. Uncle Sam's ahead again!

misrepresentation and errors. Staff Reporter Burt Schorr wrote in the January 31 issue of the financial daily. important, many state administrators have an authority over securities issues that far exceeds tha power of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Uncle Sam's watchdog."

One of several incidents used to illustrate the effectiveness of state securities regulation was the refusal of a permit to sell in Texas any of a $59 million offering in trust deeds, mortgage participation certificates and preferred stock which Trustors Corp. of Los Angeles proposed to market in 26 states.

"A detailed prospectus cleared the SEC all right, but "A detailed the company then ran smack into Texas Securities Commissioner William M. King", the article said, "Mr. King viewed the Trustors proposal as too risky and refused permission to sell $4.4 million of the mortgage participating certificates to Lone Star investors. Trustors Corp. promptly filed suit to upset Mr. King's ruling. Fumed the company's president: 'The State of Texas stands alone in denying its citizens the opportunity invest in these securities. But the case came to naught. In fact, it was withdrawn some months later -- about the time Trustors was placed in bankruptcy under the Federal Bankruptcy Act.'

Also mentioned was the denial of a permit sought by Southwest Memorial Hospital, Inc. to sell$1,275,000 of 8% bonds to build a "non-profit" hospital near Houston. The Wall Street Journal said it was brought out at a hearing that the Arizona promoters of the project lacked experience in ospital management and that the financial setup would allow them to make exorbitant profits on real estate and also to make interest payments out of the principal without the knowledge of bondholders.
