Card of Thanks

We shall forever be grateful to all the many friends who gave so generously of their time and services in our tragedy.

Words are so inadequate to express our feelings, but we are humbly mindful and appreciative of every kindness. Especially do we thank those who worked so hard in trying to revive our loved one. Our loss is great, but we are strengthened by the goodness of our neighbors, which was manifested in so many ways.

The comforting services of the minister, the singers, pallbearers and all who had a part in the funeral services were appreciated.

To those who sent food and served it, and those who remembered with flowers and cards we are grateful.

As God has sustained us in our grief, may you also be blessed for your goodness and thoughtful attention to our needs.

The hardest part about parking a Corvair is finding a nickel

That may be a slight overstatement, but such jauntiness comes easily when you're a Corvair owner.

And you can usually buck it up—as easily as you can buck up a Corvair. You'll find yourself doing that occasionally, if only to adjust the brakes—they're self-adjusting. That's all there is to it, and that's a good example of how delightfully easy Corvair is to own, drive and maintain.

But since we began by talking about driving, let's stick with that awhile. A large factor in the fun of driving a Corvair is the location of its engine in the rear. Why the rear? It gives Corvair extra traction on any road surface. It provides a nearly flat floor for more useable interior space. Best of all, it produces steering so light, so responsive, you wonder why no other American-made car thought of it.

Corvair's engine is also air cooled, we might add, which means there's no anti-freeze or water for you to add. Ever.

All that pleasure from something so practical almost makes you think Corvair is unique among American cars. Which isn't surprising, because it is!

Billy Taylor Studying In Mexico City

The University of the Americas (formerly Mexico City College) located in Mexico City is where Billy Taylor of Earth is studying this summer. Taylor, along with students from 20 other foreign countries is taking advantage of the unique opportunity the university presents for a student who desires a college education and a chance to travel and learn a foreign language in an area rich in cultural resources. The University of the Americas is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, credits are transferable to stateside colleges and universities. All classes are taught in English. The diversity of nationalities within the student body gives the campus an international flavor. According to the Institute of International Education, the University has more Americans enrolled than any other institution of higher learning outside the borders of the U.S. "For 23 years the University has been doing what others are just planning to do today--forging links of friendship and understanding between the people of Latin America and the United States" says Dr. D. Ray Lindley, president of the University of the Americas. Taylor, who is majoring in international relations at the University, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Taylor of Earth. He previously attended West Texas State in Canyon. Because of its central location, Mexico City is an ideal base for one-day or weekend excursions to the many archaeological and historical sites located in surrounding areas. The city itself offers many attractions for a student studying south of the border. Whether his interest be in bull fights, music, art or the theater, Mexico City has something to please everybody.

A WEEK AT SCOUT CAMP IS FUN, and judging by the expressions of these local lads who left Sunday morning for a week at Tres Ritos, New Mexico, they anticipate fun, fishing and exploring. Shown in the picture are, Mike Berry, David Jaquess, Thomas Mann, Kelley Earl O'Hair, Neil Armstrong, Brian Hulcy, Elbert Rudd, Jimmy Lawrence, Eddie Mitchell, Randy Clayton, Mark Holt, Arboth Rylant, Dennis Rylant, Eddie Sam Jones, Steve Jackson, Alan Gowdy, Gary Kelley, Bobby Glasscock, Danny Glasscock, Delbert Rudd, and Travis Jaquess.

Contrary to most notions about the living costs in Mexico being low, students have found that the cost is comparable to that of an average college town in the U.S. Most students live in college approved private homes. Because of this living arrangement, and because students come into daily contact with Mexicans and their language, when they return to the U.S. they feel that, not only have they learned a great deal about their Mexican neighbors, but that they have also come to a better understanding of their own country through their experiences in Mexico.

ACCIDENT OCCURS ON SCHOOL ROAD

No injuries were sustained in a car-pickup accident one mile north of Highway 70 on the school road, at 6:30 Tuesday morning.

The mishap occurred when a 1949 Ford pickup, driven by Gregorio Ruiz, Taylor, Texas turned east, of the road in front of a 1963 Chevrolet, driven by Weldon Barton, as both drivers were headed south, causing the Barton car to hit the left corner of the pickup. Damages were estimated at $400.00 to the Barton car, and minor damage to the pickup. Highway Patrolman Joaquin Jackson, Littlefield, investigated the wreck. A ticket was issued to Ruiz, driver of the pickup, for turning without safety.

Earth Jaycees To Sponsor Rodeo Dance

TWO TICKETS ISSUED IN WRECK, MONDAY

A rear-end collision between a car and pickup, two and three tenths miles north of Earth, on F-M Road 1055, occurred at 10:45 Monday morning, with no injuries reported. The accident happened when Charlie Waide, driving a '62 Chevrolet pick-up, north, made a right turn into the Billy Homer Hodge residence and was hit on the left rear fender, by the right front fender of a '63 Ford, driven by Raul Cortez, also headed north.

Red Sox Still On Top In League

The Yankee team on the Freshman league have moved to third place in the league, climbing from the bottom, with four wins and no losses the past two weeks. The Red Sox remain on top with eight wins and two losses for the season, with only one game to be made up. Scores for the last two weeks are June 27-Mets 27, Giants 10; June 28-Red Sox 13, Cards 7; June 29-Yanks 25, Giants 5; July 1-Mets 10, Giants 8; July 2-Sox 12, Cards 5; July 4, Yanks 13, Giants 11; July 5, Mets 13, Cards 12; July 6, Yanks 8, Sox 2; July 9, Yanks 22, Cardinals 4. Research Seeks New Uses For Cotton

Four late June developments, announced by the U.S.D.A., should be of interest to producers and consumers of cotton. Three of the developments have to do with research aimed at finding new uses for cotton and evaluating an already announced process for making all-cotton stretch yarns. The fourth development was the announcement of Secretary Freeman of an agreement with India which provides for a record-breaking barter of cotton and possibly other agricultural products in exchange for strategic materials. Up to 300,000 bales of cotton will be exported to India, the largest bilateral barter transaction ever negotiated between the U. S. and another country. The research announced will be conducted under contracts with the USDA. Scientists at North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering will evaluate all-cotton stretch yarns in circular-knit wear. Others at the Stanford Research Institute in California will conduct research aimed at improving cotton fiber strength while a third group at Clemson Agricultural College in South Carolina will seek methods for producing improved cotton knit goods. The research to be conducted at Clemson is seeking a method for producing cotton knit goods with increased bulk, warmth and dimensional stability. Such a process, the USDA said, would make cotton knit goods more suitable for use in winter apparel and thus open wider markets for cotton.

decline in fed beef production. Hog prices may be somewhat lower during the fall and early winter of 1963 than for the same period last year. This will be true if the March-May farrowings were the expected four percent higher than a year earlier.

Farm milk sales for 1963 are expected to be only one percent higher than last year and the national average support price, effective April 1, 1963, will be three cents more per hundred, says McHaney.

There will be little change in the number of layers on farms during the remainder of the year, but because of a higher rate of lay, egg numbers will be up.

The 1963 turkey crop is likely to be the same as last year's though it will have stiffer competition from broilers and red meat in the next six months than during the same span in 1962.

The Mayflower Compact -

From the dawn of Western thought, men like Socrates have wondered what claims the laws have on us--aside from pure force.

Some thought men had contracted to set up and obey the laws to keep the peace: "You don't hurt me and I won't hurt you." But until 1620 at least, nobody had ever seen men enter such a social contract.

True, Socrates in return for the good Athens had done for him, said that he had entered an implied, unwritten contract to obey her laws, even the unjust judgment against him to take the hemlock and die.

Still, not until the Mayflower band twenty centuries later, sailed over to settle in the new world did we get a social contract actually signed and sealed.

It comes down to us in 198 vital words, the granddaddy of all written constitutions, as well as a document in the history of liberty under the law. Its gist:

"We... do by these presents solemnly and mutually in the presence of God, and one another, covenant and combine ourselves together... and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute, and frame such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions, and offices from time to time as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the colony, unto which we promise all due submission and obedience. In witness whereof we have subscribed our names at Cape Cod on the 11 of November..."

Much took place in the next 168 years. But in 1788 the new states wrote and ratified the world's first and now oldest and most successful constitution. Why do men obey the laws? It says:

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution of the United States of America."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

County tax assessor-collectors are meeting in Austin to try to untangle the poll tax puzzle.

It seems that the Legislature created a snarl which will hit the county tax assessor-collectors about October 1. That's the date when people begin paying poll taxes and getting exemption certificates.

In a special election on November 9, voters will decide whether or not they want to repeal the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting.

If they repeal it, a new law will go into effect, setting up a 25¢ registration fee.

To make matters more complicated, the November 9 vote really would not repeal the poll tax. In theory, it still would be due and payable. But not many are expected to pay the tax if the voting privilege is removed from it.

If the tax assessor-collector solve their problem this fall, by waiting until after November 9 to fill out and mail poll tax receipts, they may face another crisis in the spring. This because 36 states already have passed a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution outlawing the poll tax as a requirement for voting for president, vice president, U. S. senators and congressmen.

In January, Arizona and So. Dakota Legislatures will meet and if they pass the amendment, it could be carried to law. In that event, a provision by the Texas Legislature would set up a system by which voters would apply to their harrassed county tax assessor-collectors for special registration certificates—at no charge—to vote on days involving only federal offices.

POOL HALLS GET NEW STATUS—Townpeople who have had trouble in the past trying to set curfews on pool halls, because the pool parlors were illegal, can look to one bright side of a law that will become effective on August 23.

City governments then will be able to set curfews because on that date the pool halls will become legal operations in Texas.

CITIZENS COMMITTEES COME TO END—A legislative "rider" in the 1964-65 state budget bill prohibits payment of travel expenses to members of the citizens' advisory committee which meets with the State Board of Education.

This has caused the board to bid goodbye to the system which Herbert O. Willborn of Amarillo calls "one of the strengths of this administration." Rider approved expenses of advisory committees on text books and teacher examiners, but cut out all others.

Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar remarked that the practice of using "grassroots" committees of citizens interested in education "has been the lifeblood of this agency." But he discouraged suggestions that volunteer help be used if committeemen were willing to pay their own travel expenses. He said such a practice would go against the Legislature's intent and cause committees to be dominated by special-interest groups.

Riders on appropriations bills are written at the bottom of budgets for individual state agencies. It is not unusual for such riders to go unnoticed, by the lawmakers, especially when voting on bulky budget bills.

ANOTHER JUNIOR COLLEGE Board of Education has authorized a Travis County junior college election.

But it turned down an application for a Scurry-Fisher Co. junior college. Turn down came after a committee said the oil-rich area could afford a college, but could not dig up enough students to meet state board requirements.

In its refusal report the committee headed by former State Senator Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, implied that the board may change its criteria for establishing junior colleges after the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School makes its recommendations in August of 1964.

Currently, the board requires proof that taxpayers in the district can support a public junior college. But it also requires a minimum of 500 students.

REDISTRICTING SUIT SET—Talk of a special legislative session perked up as a federal court in Harris County set a September 23 hearing of a Republican-sponsored congressional redistricting lawsuit.

Texas' 58th Legislature tried to set a formula for congressional redistricting. But a token bill died in the final minutes

SIGHTS TO SEE IN TEXAS

There's plenty to see in Texas, wherever you may roam on a holiday jaunt or on a vacation trip. Clockwise from the lower left hand corner, some of the impressive sights to see in Texas are: The Big Bend, some of the most striking scenery in the state; Guadalupe Peak, highest point in Texas at 8,751 feet; the Palo Duro Canyon, camping grounds for Indian tribes in frontier days; East Texas oil fields, biggest of them all; the 570-foot San Jacinto Monument, commemorating decisive battle of Texas history; Gulf Coast Beaches, some of the finest in the world; the Alamo, "Cradle of Texas Liberty," and in the center of the state, Texas Longhorn Cavern, biggest cave in the state and third largest in the world, one of Texas' most spectacular natural wonders. Sightseeing is fun in Texas.

of the session. Some who opposed it said they would rather let the federal courts settle the matter. Others said they would rather meet in a special session than leave it to federal judges.

State Democratic Chairman Eugene Lock of Austin has asked the court to dismiss the G. O. P. suit.

VETERANS LAND BRINGS $3 Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler said the sale of 82 tracts of forfeited veterans land (totaling 2,223 acres) was "gratifying", since it brought in more than the state's original investment plus taxes paid since forfeiture.

The block of tracts in Zavala, Maverick and Hidalgo Counties brought $211,753.84. This included $155,001 for an 86-acre unit in Zavala County, which Grady Claude Hogue of Cisco won after some spirited bidding.

TIGHT LITTLE ISLAND—State Highway Department has discovered an island of Mexico in the heart of El Paso.

Highway department claims that there is a quarter-mile section on U.S. Highway 80 in El Paso where you can drive through Texas and see Old Mexico with one eye and New Mexico with the other eye.

Department says Cordova Island became a Mexican oasis in the Texas city of El Paso under the Guadalupe-Hidalgo Treaty of 1848. Treaty provided that artificial changes in the Rio Grande's course would not affect Cordova Island's boundary. Now that the meandering river has changed its course the island is surrounded by American soil.

MIGRANT SCHOOL EXPERIMENT—Five school districts will be able to take part in a pilot program of six-month school sessions for the children of migrant workers during the 1963-64 school year. That is if the Texas Education Agency can find five districts that can handle the program.

San Benito and Edinburg school districts are ready to participate.

McAllen and Pharr-San Juan Alamo districts are readying proposals to submit to the State Board of Education.

Pilot program would be an experiment. Hope is to solve the problem of educating children of migrant laborers who are on the move so much that their youngsters miss almost as much school as they attend.

FARM ROAD MILEAGE EXTENDED—State Highway Commission has approved construction of more than 1,000 new miles of farm-to-market roads in 172 counties at a cost of some $24,000,000. Completion of the 1963 F-M road program would bring the state's F-M system to more than 37,000 miles. That's just 13,000 miles short of the commission's ultimate goal of 50,000 miles. Most of the farm roads have been built since 1949.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greet linked development of the system to burgeoning city growth in the state. "Farms and cities will always be interdependent," he said, "... getting goods to market is as fundamental to commerce as is the transaction between merchant and customer."

MORE WORKERS WORKING—Texas Employment Commission reports that 3,567,700 out of the state's estimated 10,317,000 population were employed by someone other than themselves during the month of May.

Number of employed was way up from April's 3,543,200. So too was the estimated population of the state. Population in April was figured as 10,297,000.

Thirty day gain in population was 20,000 persons. Employment increased by 25,500 persons.

Soil Conservationist Advises Folks To "Know Your Soil"

For the suburban dweller who has a soil problem in his garden, or the engineer looking for a building site, the latest publication by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service will come in mighty handy. It is called "Know Your Soil" and explains how soil scientists of the Department of Agriculture are gradually mapping the soils of this country and what these maps mean to every citizen.

A copy may be obtained from the local SCS office, in the Lamb County Courthouse, Paul F. Larson, Work Unit Conservationist, said. A soil is three-dimensional according to the publication.

"It is bounded on the top by the surface of the land, on the bottom by rock, and on the sides by other soils. The first job of the soil scientist is to distinguish between these separate soils. More than 70,000 different kinds are recognized now."

"While the original purpose of making soil surveys was to provide information to the Nation's farmers so that they could better take care of their food-producing soil, gradually more and more people in all walks of life are seeing the need about soil," Mr. Larson said. "Septic Tanks that won't work, houses that slide from their foundations, and highways that crack up, might be prevented by knowing more about soils.

New Market Potential For Cotton Goods

Old King Cotton, Texas' major crop, may get a much needed shot in the arm from experiments aimed at "fluffing it up a little."

For years, the cotton usage has been sagging downward from the competition of synthetic fibers. As new "miracle fibers" were developed in laboratories, cotton was pushed further aside.

Now comes a project to make cotton knit goods more nearly like wool--without the scratch! The goal is to give the cotton knit clothing like sweaters and undergarments more bulk, warmth and dimensional stability. A scientific breakthrough which would fluff up the cotton thread and make it stay that way regardless of cleaning processes could widen markets for cotton--particularly on winter-wear clothing.

The advent of wash and wear cotton clothing a few years ago proved to be a good stimulant for the cotton market. Scientists had succeeded in "stabilizing" the cotton thread with finishing agents to give the cloth its wash-wear properties. However, when dimensional stability of cotton was achieved, no increase in bulk or warmth of the material was gained.

Scientists now believe, however, that means of applying the chemicals can be developed that will also increase the bulk and warmth of cotton fabric. Ordinarily, fabrics treated with wash-wear chemicals are passed through squeeze rolls to remove excess treating solution. The high-pressure squeezing at present reduces the bulkiness of the fabric.

The task now is to find new processing methods that will impregnate fabrics with the proper amount of chemicals, fluff up the fabric to increase the bulk and warmth of cotton fabric. And stabilize the fabric in its bulky state. The end result would be a fabric much like wool, with many new uses opening up for cotton in the winter garment trade.

Clemson Agricultural College in South Carolina is in charge of the cotton research program in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. The eyes of Texas cotton growers and market men will be on the South Carolina research laboratory for the next year or so. If the experiments are successful, King Cotton may recapture much of its clothing trade volume that has been lost in recent years.

Caution Urged In Use Of Herbicides

The use of hormone-type herbicides--sometimes called weed killers--has proved to be of considerable value to many Texas farmers and ranchers.

The application of such herbicides as 2,4-Dichlorophenoxy Acetic Acid and 2,4,5-Trichlorophenoxy Acetic Acid, usually referred to as 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T respectively, can be of special benefit in weed control on pastures and ranges because they act selectively on broad-leaved plants.

Along with these benefits, however, there can be an appreciable amount of risk in applying these useful chemicals. This is because many cultivated plants within proximity of the area being treated can be accidentally damaged or killed by herbicides when proper precautions are not used. Cotton, Texas' largest crop, is particularly vulnerable to herbicide damage.

It is for this reason that farmers in many Texas counties are required by law to secure a permit from the Texas Department of Agriculture before using 2,4-D or 2,4,5-T for weed and brush control. Even when granted such a permit, the applicator must follow prescribed regulations when using the chemicals with reference LIGHTHOUSE ROCK—Sculptured by wind and water, this natural stone tower keeps its vigil near Palo Duro Canyon State Park, 35 miles southeast of Amarillo. to such matters as wind velocity, (which would determine the amount of drift from the application area to surrounding acreage) and closeness to susceptible planted crops such as cotton and flax.

In 1963, a marked increase has been noted of people who are using 2,4-D (the more commonly-used hormone type herbicide) for the first time. There has also been noted a significant rise in complaints from people who have cause to believe that the application of herbicides by others has had some effect on their crops. Such complaints are serious and call for prompt attention by the Department of Agriculture, when regulations apply.

It is therefore a matter of great importance that any person not having had previous experience in the use of these important chemicals first of all check with the nearest Texas Department of Agriculture office or write to John C. White, Commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture, Austin, for information concerning regulation and use of herbicides in their home counties.

High Plains Water District Urges Use Of Lakes

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District is urging irrigators to take advantage of the water that fills the many wet-weather lakes which dot the Plains.

Most of the lakes are brim-full with rainfall runoff which will largely evaporate unless utilized in growing a crop. With the days becoming extremely hot, many farmers are cranking up their wells and have begun irrigating. A spokesman for the Water District says, "The best way that we know to conserve ground water is to use lake water as a substitute. In fact, if a fellow has a lake filled with water on his farm and does not put it to work, he is missing a real bet. That's the cheapest water that he can use, and probably the best. You know, it is considerably warmer than ground water and when used should result in less shock to the growing plants."

Tom McFarland, Manager of the High Plains Water District, stated that he had even heard one farmer say that the lake water furnished an amount of "frog-a-lizer" to his crop that is beneficial. The "frog-a-lizer" that he referred to was the tad-poles and other organisms that live in the lake water.

McFarland continued by saying that he was not sure about the value of the "frog-a-lizer" to a man's crop, but that by pumping lake water in lieu of ground water, everyone would benefit. He stated, "The past few weeks we've noticed that several cases of encephalitis have been reported throughout the southern High Plains. The health authorities have told us that certain types of mosquitoes are carriers of the disease and can transmit it to a human being by biting him. One of our major breeding places for mosquitoes is in the wet-weather lakes.

"This is just one more reason for us and everyone else to encourage the use of lake water."

W. L. "Bill" Broadhurst, Water District Chief Hydrologist, made this observation concerning the use of lake water, "Perhaps it's not commonly known, but if rainfall runoff that collects in the playa lakes is not pumped out and used, the greater part will be lost to evaporation. We figure that about 90% of the lake water will evaporate directly into the atmosphere or be taken up by weeds and other vegetative growth which abounds in and around most playas. The water that is saved is that small quantity which percolates through the lake bottom to the underlying ground water table."

McFarland summed up by saying, "When all is said, it's just good business to use lake water and leave the ground water for some future date when there is no lake water available to use."

Safety Hints Offered On Cotton Picking Machines

A few simple precautions, if carefully followed, can make the operation of a mechanical cotton picker safe, says B. G. Reeves, cotton ginning and mechanization specialist Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The first rule is to take the picking drums out of gear before getting off the picker. Service and adjust the picker head only when it is out of gear and remember to replace all safety shields when it is necessary to remove them. Also, Reeves says, to lock the basket in the dump position when the engine is being serviced.

When turning at the ends of rows raise the picking unit to the highest position but do so only at half throttle or less, advises the specialist.

Since cotton pickers have a high center of gravity and are easily tipped over, extreme care should be used when operating or turning the picker near ditches. Steep down grades, such as ramps used to load or unload the machine, should be approached by backing, explains Reeves.

When traveling on the road avoid applying the brakes quickly. A mechanical cotton picker is a heavy machine and is hard to stop, so use care when stopping it.

These simple suggestions have been proven by manufacturers and in the field, says

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Harwell and grandson, Gary, Albuquerque, New Mexico were Friday night guests in the A. C. Barton home. Mrs. Harwell is Mr. Barton's niece.

Reeves, a few minutes devoted to safety can protect the cotton picker as well as the operator, he says.

Governors Can Cut Tractor Fuel Costs

Overhauling a tractor's governor may save farmers as much as $48 a year, says Henry O'Neal, extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M College.

In a study of 50 farm tractors at Kansas State University, it was found that 40 of these tractors had faulty governors and did not maintain proper engine speeds. Of the 40, only 10 could be corrected by governor adjustment while the other 30 required a complete overhaul of the governor. The 10 tractors with governors that could be corrected showed an overall maximum horsepower increase of 9.1 percent and a fuel consumption decrease of 4.8 percent after the adjustments were made.

Thus, O'Neal says, farmers who spent $1,000 annually for tractor fuel can reduce their fuel expense $48 a year on this one service item alone if their power unit is operated with a faulty governor.

Proper engine speeds are essential if maximum tractor efficiency is to be obtained. Speeds higher than those recommended by the manufacturer can lead to overheating and tractor breakdown. Speeds less than recommended cause loss of horsepower and poor performance. A check of the engine speed while it is not under a load is not enough, O'Neal states. Engines must be checked when under a full load as well, to determine the governor response. He recommends having a qualified mechanic check the tractor under load with a dynamometer.

The San Jacinto Monument in Texas is higher than the Washington Monument.

F. H. Vahlsing, Incorporated in Texas' Lower Rio Grande

Valley, is the largest branch of the largest vegetable growing and marketing concern in the world.

From the 25,000 acres of vegetable land which it owns F. H. Vahlsing, Inc. in Texas' Lower Rio Grande Valley, can load a carload of packaged vegetables every 12 minutes.

Louisiana is divided into parishes instead of counties.

In the future it may be possible for every landowner, with a good sized fishing hole or a satisfactory place to hunt, to borrow money to develop the project.

A program has been developed by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to broaden the lending program of the Farmers Home Administration to increase rural recreation facilities.

FHA now will accept loan applications from family farmers for recreational enterprises to supplement their farm incomes.

These same loans also are available to non-profit associations to cover costs involved in shifting land to new and more economic uses, which will include recreation.

Camping grounds, swimming facilities, tennis courts, riding stables, vacation cottages, lodges, lakes, ponds of water for sports, docks, nature trails picnic grounds and hunting preserves may be provided on family farms through such funds, under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962.

Maximum amount a landowner may receive for recreational enterprises is $35,000. Amount of real estate development of land and building, including this development for recreational enterprises, is $60,000.

Operating loans are made for up to seven years, but real estate loans are for up to 40 years. Interest rate is 5 per cent.

These funds are available to farm residents who are unable to provide needed funds or who cannot get credit elsewhere at reasonable rates and terms to finance actual needs. Landowners may get necessary information from their nearest county Farmers Home Administration office.

This can be considered implementation of the national recreational program announced last year, in which the importance of recreation to growing America was shown.

How much of the program that will be used remains to be seen.

Most major landowners admit they would rather not have a bevy of hunters on their places in the Fall. There are a few notable exceptions where places have been made available on a fee basis. Some of these have been possible because much of the deer country now is becoming overrun with deer and the landowners find fees for hunting will help offset the feed bill.

But there has been a general tendency within recent years for landowners to make available their raw lands for fee uses in hunting. Also many places have allowed use of their fish-planted stock ponds at per day rates to fishermen.

It might be generally agreed that most of these places have shown no profit, but they do add some cash to the chicken and egg basket of the household.

Landowners have been able to get fish from the Game & Fish Commission for restocking their tanks and lakes. Some of them have taken advantage of the commission's hatchery to get pen-raised quail to restock their range.

Drouth and other conditions unfortunately made bird restocking an uncertainty, with about as many dismal failures as profitable ventures. Mainly, where landowners have provided necessary cover, food and water, they have found their bird restocking programs worthwhile.

Naturally if a landowner borrows money from the FHA to equip his place with recreational facilities, same must be provided. If he wants to sell per day hunting for birds, or the use of his fishing lake, the customer must be satisfied. Or if it is a nature trail, a swimming pool or just a restful cabin, then the things expected by the man who pays the bill must be there.

Perhaps the local Chamber of Commerce might be a better approach to the program. Even though Federal money is available to individuals, a community project might fare better.

But it is worth looking into.
