Suddenly it is Spring... The trees in Earth are taking on a newness of color... They seem to be awakening from a long winter's nap and budding forth in an indescribable beauty that somehow shows the Master's work of Art.

The lawns are just as suddenly being revived from a dead grey to a beautiful green aliveness, that seems to proclaim, "Spring is here, Spring is here."

With all this new beauty springing forth from a drab bleak world of winter, it seems to declare the untruth of a book recently published, saying God is dead. Could a nation such as ours possibly see the beginning of Spring without realizing God is Alive and Master today, and that no earthly hand could possibly sprinkle the Earth with such loveliness but that of God.

"NOSIN"

Though it's actually Springtime in Earth... today, if it were the bleakest of winter, it would doubtless still be Springtime in the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Anderson... Because today their son, Johnny, arrived home from Viet Nam...

All Earth is likewise thankful for his return, and rejoice with them.

DON'T FORGET TO VOTE TUESDAY---

Tuesday Is Election Day In Earth, Springlake

Tuesday, April 5, is city election day for both Earth and Springlake, with light voting expected in each of the towns.

In Earth, six names will appear on the ballot to fill the vacancies in the city government, the two candidates, Marcus Messer and E. C. "Shorty" Kelley will appear as mayor candidates to fill the expired term of the present mayor, M. E. Kelley.

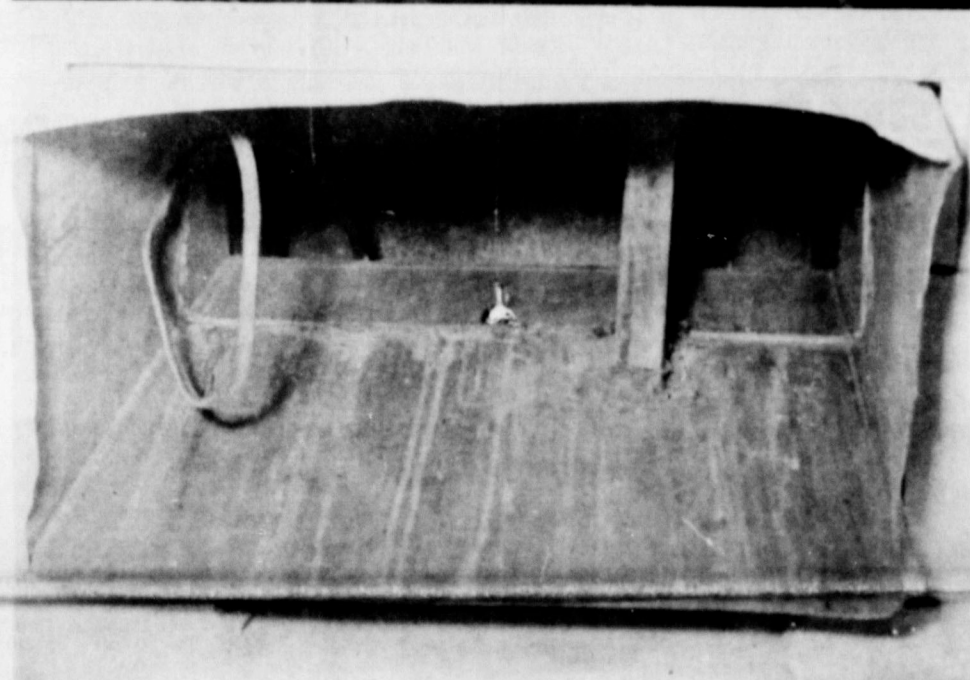

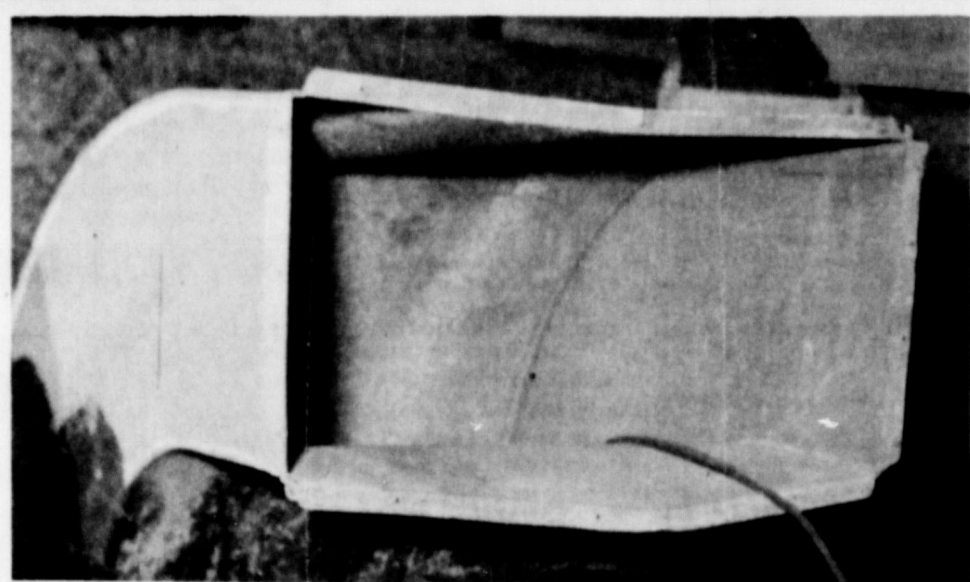

The alderman candidates are Jimmy Bitner, L. H. Galloway, Neil Pounds and J. D. Chesney. City voters will cast their ballots in the Earth community room. Polls will open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Phil Raught will serve as election judge, Leroy Wilkerson as alternate, Jack Rylant and Minnie Pate will serve as clerks. In the Springlake election, no one filed for the five vacancies made by the expired terms of Mayor, Floyd Crawford and the four aldermen, Jim Stephens, Howard McClure, Clifford Hopling, and Arden Field.

Since no one has filed, no names will appear on the ballot. Therefore the vacancies will have to be filled by write-in votes.

The election will take place in the community center, with Wilbur White serving as election judge.

The polls will open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

A THIEF ENTERS WHITES TUESDAY NIGHT through a 12" x 21" Air Conditioner Duct from the roof of the building and emerges forth below inside the store through the air outlet. The air conditioner had been removed from the roof of the store and the duct boarded up. The boards were found removed and laid aside on the roof allowing easy entrance to the store.

APPROXIMATELY $1000 IN MERCHANDISE TAKEN---

Whites Burglarized

Approximately a thousand dollars in merchandise was taken from Whites Store in Earth Tuesday night after a thief had gained entrance through the 12" x 21" air conditioner duct on the roof of the building after removing the boards nailed over the duct, and winding through to emerge forth inside the store from the small 12" x 15" air outlet.

Doug Avery, owner-manager, of the store surmised that after the small thief wedged his way inside, he perhaps opened the side door or the sliding service door to admit an accomplice, if he had one, and to load the merchandise that was taken in the burglary.

The list of merchandise discovered missing early Wednesday morning was as follows: 1 used 30-06 Remington with 4 power Weaver Scope and Leather Sling, 1 30-30 Carbine Winchester, 1 used 12-gauge Savage Automatic shotgun, 2 21 inch Portable Catalina T. V., Ivory color, approximately 5 boxes of 30-30 and 30-06 ammunition, approximately 75 long-playing albums, 2 standard transistor radios A. M. and F. M., 2 Arvin Brown leather case radios, 2 pellet pistols, 1 black gun case, approximately 7 Arvin transistor radios, 1 or 2 Nor-elco electric razors, 1 big hunting knife, 1 Delmonico Radio A. M. and F. M., also short wave, and 4 Tensol lamps.

However, Avery said there may be other items stolen that had not been discovered when the list was made Wednesday morning.

Avery said the robbery took place sometime between 11 p. m. and daylight, as City Marshal, Troy Coon, said he drove down the alley back of Whites at 11 p. m., and that everything looked alright, and he noticed that the lights were all on in the store.

When Joe De La Garza opened the store Wednesday morning, he noticed the lights were off in the store, but the doors to the building were locked as usual, so he went about the job of sweeping the floor.

Avery arrived shortly following De La Garza and waited on his first customer of the day without notice of the robbery. As the customer was leaving De La Garza noticed that two televisions were missing from his regular floor display.

A quick survey of the firm found merchandise missing from various departments in the store. Though the store showed no customary signs, like scattered paper or merchandise in disarray within the store.

Avery said it looked as though the thief or thieves knew where everything they wanted was located, and went right to the spot selecting their items, as nothing else in the store looked as though it were touched. Avery said no cash was taken as the cash register was left open each night, with no cash available.

City Marshal Troy Coon, and Deputy Sheriff Clarence Hazlett are being assisted on the case by a deputy sheriff in Littlefield.

Friday Deadline for Cotton, Feed Grain Sign Up

With Friday at 5 p. m. as the deadline for signing up for the 1966 Cotton and feed grain program, Lamar Aten, head of the County ASCS office said Tuesday afternoon that all but sixty farmers of the 2,300 farmers in the county had signed up for the cotton program and about 75 percent had signed up for the grain program.

As it has been since the beginning of the sign-up program practically all of the farmers are taking the maximum reduction in both the cotton and feed grain programs.

Aten also announced that within the next two to three weeks photo copy maps of their farm will be mailed to each farmer in the county to assist the farmer in making his own certification of cotton, grain sorghum and diverted acreage this year.

Under the new program a farmer can make his own certification and then return it to the ASCS office.

Aten stated that under the program his office will make checks on a random basis similar to checks by the Internal Revenue of income tax returns and cautioned farmers to stay within their allotment.

If the checks by the ASCS office show that a farmer has exceeded his allotment by less than two acres or five per cent whichever is larger, he can be penalized twice the county loan rate for that portion which exceeds his allotment and if it is found that he has exceeded his allotment by a higher percentage he can be put out of the cotton or feed grain program, Aten outlined. He also explained that farmers may plant slightly less than their quota because if at least 90 per cent of the allotment is planted the farmer can still receive payment for the full allotment.

Aten also stated that the ASCS will be available for assistance to farmers concerning questions concerning the maps and that as in former years the ASCS office will provide a measuring service to farmers requesting it at a cost of $5 per farm and $2 for each additional plot and three cents an acre for area measured.

Aten stated that under the program his office will make checks on a random basis similar to checks by the Internal Revenue of income tax returns and cautioned farmers to stay within their allotment.

If the checks by the ASCS office show that a farmer has

Postmaster Announces New Rates

Increases in money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and C. O. D. rates became effective March 26, 1966 Postmaster Harold D. Miller said today.

The cost of operating these five special services now exceeds revenues by $60 million annually. The fee increases will narrow the cost-revenue gap by $36 million, based on business handled in Fiscal Year 1965.

Fees for money orders, registry and C. O. D. were last changed in 1961; insurance and certified mail in 1957.

The fee changes, announced in the January 11th Federal Register and confirmed in the register on February 25th, are put into effect under the existing administrative authority of the Postmaster General.

The increases include: MONEY ORDER FEES: Domestic and international money order fees will be increased by 5 cents.

INSURANCE FEES: The minimum fee bracket will be increased from $10 to $15 and minimum fee will be 20 cents instead of 10 cents. The revised insurance fees will be as follows:

$.01 to $15, 20 cents; 15.01 to 50, 30 cents; 50.01 to 100, 40 cents; 100.01 to 150, 50 cents; 150.01 to 200, 60 cents.

REGISTRY FEES: The present 60 cents and 75 cents fees will be combined into a single fee at 75 cents for values up to $100. Registry fees for articles valued in excess of $100 will remain unchanged.

C. O. D. FEES: The present 40 cents and 50 cents fee brackets will be combined into one fee bracket at 60 cents for amounts up to $10. There will be no change in the fees covering items valued above $10.

CERTIFIED MAIL: The fee will be increased 10 cents from the present 20 cents per item to 30 cents.

Losses incurred in the operation of special services are paid from funds drawn from the Federal Treasury. The fee increases will shift a substantial portion of the special service cost borne by the public to the users of these services.

Mrs. A. C. Barton was in Muleshoe Monday on business.

Farm Labor Included In Unemployment Pay Bill

Legislation is expected out of the House Ways and Means Committee before the end of March on revampment of the unemployment compensation. But just because some of you have not yet fallen under this in the past doesn't mean you should not take interest in this legislation.

If you are now paying unemployment compensation taxes you can compute what you will pay if 8282 becomes law and in full effect by multiplying what you now pay annually by 1.74.

For example, if you are now paying $2,000 in federal and state unemployment taxes annually, you will under 8282 pay $3,480 annually, or $1,480 more annually than you are now paying.

If you are not now paying unemployment compensation taxes because you have less than four employees, you will start paying unemployment taxes under terms of 8282. (Employers with less than four employees are presently exempt.)

The amount you will pay will be $62.71 per employee per year ($24.49 federal and $38.22 state taxes.) This estimate assumes that the average wages and experience for these employees would be similar to those now covered under employment compensation.

Passage of 8282 will nearly double the unemployment tax bill now being paid by Texas employers. The increase for Texas employers will be $50,000,000 by 1967, $80,000,000 by 1970 and $100,000,000 by 1975.

This increase will be brought about by increasing the employer tax from .4 to .55 percent; raising the tax base from $3,000 a year to an eventual $6,600 a year; and raising the weekly payments to an average of approximately $70.

The key feature of the bill is that it imposes "federal standards" on all states. This will take away from the states and place in the hands of the federal government the sole authority to determine the amount of duration of benefits, eligibility to receive benefits and disqualification. Further, "federal standards" will penalize Texas, and other states operating solvent programs, by using Texas tax payments to subsidize unemployment compensation programs in states that do not have solvent programs. This will be "equalization" of cost among the states.

In addition, "federal standards" will transform the unemployment compensation program in Texas from a system to provide benefits only to those who are truly out of work through no fault of their own to another welfare-type program.

Shops, stores and businesses with one to three employees now exempt from the tax, would be brought into the unemployment compensation program, and these employers new in the program will pay an estimated $75 per year per employee.

Charitable, religious and non-profit organizations would be subject to payment of the unemployment compensation tax under terms of 8282. This can be expected to be a particular burden to non-profit hospitals which can only add this additional expense onto the hospital bills of patients, thereby increasing medical cost of the general public.

Also to be taxed under terms of 8282 will be all agricultural employers who use at least 300 man-days of hired farm labor during any quarter.

Workers who voluntarily quit their jobs for any reasons, including just plain laziness, could still get benefits.

Even most employees dismissed for outright misconduct could get compensation.

Any jobless person offered a suitable wage job and working conditions could turn it down--and still get compensation.

The American Enterprise Institute estimates New York's weekly maximum compensation payment would shoot up from $55 to $102.

The maximum for each state by 1971, would be set at two-thirds of the average weekly wage.

Agricultural Diversification Essential To Area Growth

(Editors note: This is a reprint from the County Wide News, seemingly essential to the area as a whole.)

As the production of cotton becomes less and less profitable, the need for diversification becomes more apparent if the Lamb County area is to continue its growth.

Events of the last few growing seasons have led growers and businessmen of the area to re-evaluate the local conditions and to begin surveys of neighboring counties, which are faced with the same problem.

These surveys have revealed just how far the county has fallen behind in the production of cash crops, other than cotton and grain. In addition the work by the Chamber committees and farming organizations has revealed how profitable the right type of diversification can be, and have pointed to the benefit of a more diversified economy.

While the subject of diversification is a rhetorical question, work is currently under way to seek feasible solutions, which could be put into practice by the growers of the region.

Tuesday the Agricultural Development Committee of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce met with area farmers and representatives of the Agricultural Division of Southwestern Public Service Company to discuss mutual problems. From this meeting came several ideas, but more important a realization of a dire need for diversifying was evident. Using a report on a survey conducted by the utility company, the committee considered the growing of ensilage, and feeding of cattle, either on a contract basis, or the outright purchase and sale of "warmed-up" cattle to commercial feed lots.

A 1965 irrigation survey of the High Plains district, showed Lamb County to have a total of 284,300 acres of cultivated irrigated land, of which 276,500 acres are devoted to only five crops. Broken down, the report shows Lamb to have 154,000 acres in cotton, 104,000 in grain sorghum, 6,000 acres designated to grow alfalfa, 6,500 acres in pasture land, and 6,000 acres to other small grain. The remaining 7,800 acres is divided between wheat (4,000 acres), pinto beans (3,000 acres), cucumbers (300 acres), Irish potatoes (400 acres) and onions (100 acres). Giving the county a total of, at the most, eight cash crops, all of which have a relatively common harvest date, meaning a heavy fall season, carrying over into the early winter for cotton.

The current problem facing the area is the development of a cash crop which will result in a constant economical base, a crop with an early spring harvest, a feeding operation with two production dates per year, or a development that would result in luring related industrial payrolls to the area.

The Chamber of Commerce is encouraging farmers of the area to visit neighboring counties to review and discuss the methods open, in the hopes a pilot program can be started this year, and next year the project will expand.

In comparing Lamb with neighboring counties, the local region holds its own in the production of cotton and grain but can not meet the performances of Castro, Bailey, Deaf Smith, Hockley, or Hale Counties in diversified crops.

Bailey County, which bounds Lamb on the west has a total of 171,000 irrigated acres with 21 crops, ranging from cotton and grain to tomatoes and watermelons, being grown each year.

Hockley to the southwest has a total of 219,000 of irrigated land under cultivation, with 11 crops. Hale on the east has 539,000 acres and 21 crops, 1000 acres, and has been successful in planting crops with diversified harvest dates. The economy of the county has benefited from payrolls brought about by the different crops.

The most completely diversified county in the area is Parmer County, which on 346,000 acres of land produces 24 separate crops, each with a good market.

Deaf Smith County, of which Hereford is the county seat, has been able to use its agricultural production to promote industrial growth. In addition the cattle operation has resulted in several feed lot operations. The lettuce industry brought into being a lettuce cigarette manufacturing plant. This growth has been accomplished on a total of 281,480 acres of diversified crop land, producing 17 crops.

While the information contained in the report from the Southwestern Public Service Company deals only with irrigated acreage, it is safe to assume each of the counties are producing diversified crops on un-irrigated land. The base report did not indicate to what extent the production had reached, but Sam Thomas, who made the report said ensilage, for instance, had produced between 300 and 500 tons per acre on dry land.

One obstacle in the way of the Chamber is past experiences growers have had with diversification, which resulted in big losses. Another is the cost of conversion to other crop production, still a third is the repeated high production of the cotton on the remaining acreage.

The Chamber of Commerce and its Agricultural Development Committee does not advocate any specific crop or enterprise, it does, however, encourage growers and businessmen to investigate areas where diversification has proven profitable.

At the present time members of the committee, along with interested individuals, are making a detailed study of several possibilities and will present their findings to the producers of the area, hopefully in the near future.

Should the committee and farmers of the area come up with a workable plan, it is hoped a project can be begun this year. Then, depending on the success or failure of the program, other means of agricultural development can be investigated.

Lazbuddie Leads WTSU Group To Victory Over Tech

by Mrs. C. A. Watson

In a recent encounter between the Texas Tech Counter Guerrilla's and the West Texas Counter Guerrilla's ROTC, patrol leaders met at Clovis and made plans, reaching an understanding as to activities in the night maneuvers battle activities.

Each unit had three checkpoints along their patrol route and a common objective. The Tech men started at Farwell, and the W. T. group between Portales and Clovis.

At 7 p.m. Platoon Leader, Don Watson of Lazbuddie arrived at the starting point and found the 19 Nighthawks from W. T. camouflaged, briefed in formation and eager to start on their objective stopping point to a windmill in the middle of nowhere. The seven miles of sand dunes, barbed wire, bare grass and rolling hills were covered in two hours and 45 minutes and had reached the designated spot the windmill two hours ahead of time.

They then lay down to wait for the Texas Tech unit. The plan was for the two to have a Bull Session between their Units and then hike back to their starting places and return home.

After two hours of waiting in the chilly north wind it was decided the Texas Tech Unit had lost their way. Cadet Don Watson crawled to the top of the said windmill with radio and contact was made between the patrol leaders and it was learned that the Tech Unit led by a regular Army Major had missed their two first checkpoints, windmills and were lost. The W. T. Nighthawks were allowed to start on a new mission with Texas Tech agreeing to follow a collision course with WTSU where the two met and staged the simulated battle.

The next three hours The Nighthawks scoured the country side in search for the Texas Tech Counter Guerrillas. They were found lying on a hillside off the intended battle area.

A furious exchange of shots were fired with the WT Nighthawks came out on top through superior organization and positioning. The Tech Unit expected a frontal attack but were hit from the right and rear flank. Their two machine guns were quickly disposed of and being their main strength they were forced to surrender.

The Nighthawks discovered one of the point men missing as they were preparing to return. The area residents and WTSU comrades searched anxiously for some time when they discovered him on a road. The missing man, Gary James explained he had fallen off a ledge severely injuring a knee. He walked about 9 miles before he was picked up.

The Nighthawks returned to ROTC Headquarters, and wearily cleaned their rifles. Don Wat-

Baseball Camp Scheduled For June at LCC

Final arrangements are being completed for the third annual West Texas Baseball Camp to be conducted in four sessions this summer at Lubbock Christian College. Sessions will begin June 12, June 26, July 3, and July 17. The June 26 session will last only one week, while all others will be two-week affairs. Bobby Moegle, head baseball coach at Monterey, will once again direct the baseball instruction at the camp. Dr. Herman B. Segrest, Director of PE for general college students at Texas Tech, is overall camp director. "We feel as though the camp is becoming well known," commented Moegle. "We expect an increase in attendance this year. Last year we felt as though our program really accomplished the desired results and the comments from parents seem to back up our thoughts. Many parents seemed pleased with their son's baseball accomplishments and the opportunity to associate with our coaches and learn to work and co-operate with other boys."

Joining Moegle on the coaching staff are Kai Segrest, assistant baseball coach at Tech; Earl Parker, head coach at Lubbock

High; and Bill Dean, an American Legion and Colt League coach here the past 10 years. Danny Mason, golf coach at Tech, will offer golf instructions to those interested. Segrest, Parker, and Dean worked at the camp its first two years. Baseball instruction will stress basic fundamentals of all phases of the game. Instruction by position will be covered in morning workouts and in the afternoons boys will be broken Boys who live at the camp will stay, two to a room, in new ultramodern dorms and will eat all meals in the new LCC Student Union-Cafeteria.
