Sour Cream Makes Top Chicken Casserole

College Station — Sour cream continues to rise in popularity with homemakers, says the Texas Extension Service.

Rub salt and pepper into the skin of a disjointed broiler or fryer. While this is flavoring, saute chopped onions in hot fat. Sprinkle generously with paprika. Use enough to give the onions a brilliant color. Add just a suggestion of vinegar.

Brown the seasoned chicken in the onion mixture. Then cover tightly and simmer until chicken is fork tender. Remove the chicken from the pan and add flour to the drippings. Stir until uniformly thickened.

Then add equal parts of tomato juice and sour cream. About a half pint each will cover one chicken well. Blend until creamy.

Place chicken in the sauce. Cover tightly and simmer about 10 minutes. Serve hot.

Use this same recipe for individual casseroles featuring a breast of chicken for each guest.

Dwight Banks of Pleasant Valley were here Sunday to attend the tea honoring Mrs. Braxton Dent in the home of Mrs. Willis White. They also called in the home of Mrs. W. F. Banks.

Packers And Stockyards Act Benefits All

COLLEGE STATION — Changes in the Packers and Stockyards Act extends protection in the market place to a greater number of livestock producers, said A. B. Wooten, extension economist.

He points out that the ACT sets up rules for fair business practices which provide protection for the farmer and consumer, as well as for the livestock and poultry marketing and meat-packing industry. The new amendment makes the protection more far-reaching than ever before.

Formerly only livestock markets engaging in interstate commerce and covering 20,000 or more square feet came under the jurisdiction of the Act. Now livestock markets of all sizes, as well as dealers and other agencies handling livestock, engaged in interstate commerce must observe the rules, said Wooten.

Livestock auctions continue to be an important outlet for livestock in Texas. "Posting" them will mean the operators must meet several conditions. An operator must register with the USDA within 30 days after his market is posted, and also file a bond based on the volume of business transacted during the past 12 months and a schedule of rates and charges for all services rendered by the market. The ACT requires that the rates be just, reasonable and non-discriminatory, he said.

There are other provisions, said Wooten. The auction operator may not finance livestock dealers. He may not guarantee prices to be received for live stock, but may protect shipper's interests if reasonable bids are not received at time of sale. He may not permit auctioneers, weighers, starters, or clerks to buy out of commission for any purpose. He should solicit buyers to attend sales and should see that bidding by buyers is open and competitive. The operator should represent the best interests of shippers to the market at all times, sell all consigned livestock without misrepresenting quality and provide equal treatment to all shippers, regardless of size or regularity of shipments. He must also install, maintain and operate scales to assure correct weights, keep complete and accurate records, and maintain sound financial status at all times, the economist added.

Forty-eight Texas plants produce creamed cottage cheese, the Agricultural Marketing Service recently reported.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority
Picnic Paraphernalia

Like picnics? Here are some of the latest gadgets that will make your next outing easier for you and more fun for your family. Get off the grass with the smallest campstool ever made. The whole thing folds flat and compact enough to fit into your purse, coat pocket or car's glove compartment. With a steel frame and canvas seat, it's plenty sturdy.

How about a heavy aluminum griddle, 16" across? It holds steaks or fish to feed six hungry picnickers. It has a wooden handle that guarantees cool fingers and folds over for easy packing.

Like coffee en route? Then pick up an eight-cup coffee pot that has plugs for both car lighter socket and house current. It comes in a kit with cups, saucers, spoons, carrying case. The pot has a bracket so you can hang it on the car window.

If you picnic far from the car, you might like a 7-cup coffee maker that burns propane. The fuel tank fits right under the handle. It makes coffee in about ten minutes.

Your kids will hate you for this! A leak-proof, 2½-gallon water tank that comes equipped with a shallow basin, brush, soap, and towels.

And, finally, if you camp out for any length of time, you may want a two-burner stove that carries six pounds of propane fuel in a refillable tank. It holds enough fuel for over a week of cooking, and the tanks can be filled again for about one dollar at any propane station.

Leaders Named for Wesleyan Service Guild Conference

These Facts Make This Week Important

1. Farm work accidents claim about 2,500 lives each year, more than any other major industry.

2. About 12,000 farm residents lose their lives each year in all types of accidents.

3. A million or more farm people suffer accidental injuries and the accompanying disabilities, miseries and financial troubles each year. "Safety Makes Sense" is the theme upon which many phases of this National Farm Safety Week are being built.

SAFETY MAKES SENSE IN MANY WAYS

- 1. Fewer Deaths
- 2. Fewer Injuries
- 3. Less Expense
- 4. Less Grief and Suffering

WHO LOSES AFTER AN ACCIDENT? Everyone in the neighborhood affected directly or indirectly, by the annual farm accident toll. Business in general loses economically and socially after a farm accident. The victims and their families, however, suffer the greatest loss.

HUMAN FAILURE, not motor vehicles, farm implements and animals, is the basic cause of accidents. In nearly every case, human failure to recognize and correct a hazard is the real cause of accidental death or injury. HUMAN FAILURES include: HURRY, LACK OF COMMON SENSE, IMPROPER EQUIPMENT, IMPROPER CARE AND USE OF EQUIPMENT, PROCRASTINATION, FALSE CONFIDENCE, LACK OF KNOWLEDGE.

Obviously most, if not all, farm accidents can be prevented. It is a fact that in states where good safety committees with well planned active programs are in existence, accident rates have been reduced. NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK has been an important factor in bringing about this reduction, and each year the effectiveness of this week-long campaign becomes more and more apparent.

Best Hints Listed For Storing Cotton Planting Seed

College Station — Preservation of quality is a major problem confronting organizations which produce and store cottonseed for planting purposes. To help solve this problem, studies were conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to determine the effectiveness of aeration in maintaining viability and preventing an increase in free fatty acid content of cottonseed stored in large quantities.

With permanently installed fans, an air flow rate as low as 5.4 feet per minute (cfm) per ton of cottonseed was effective in preventing a loss in germination and increase in free fatty acid content of cottonseed with a maximum moisture content of 12 percent. The time required to move a cooling zone through an entire depth of seed ranged from 100 to 120 hours of fan operation with an air flow rate of 5.4 cfm per ton, as compared with 50 to 55 hours with an air flow rate of 12.5 cfm per ton.

All the 160-ton capacity bins were equipped with air distribution systems for aerating the stored seed. Under the weather conditions encountered in these tests, an average of 50 days was required to reduce seed temperatures from 95 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit with permanently installed fans supplying air at a rate of 12.5 cfm per ton.

A chart was developed from the tests to aid in retermination of air, static pressure, and horse power requirements to aerate cottonseed with three recommended air flow of 5.4 cfm per ton. To use the chart an operator needs to know only the floor area of a bin and the depth of seed to be stored.

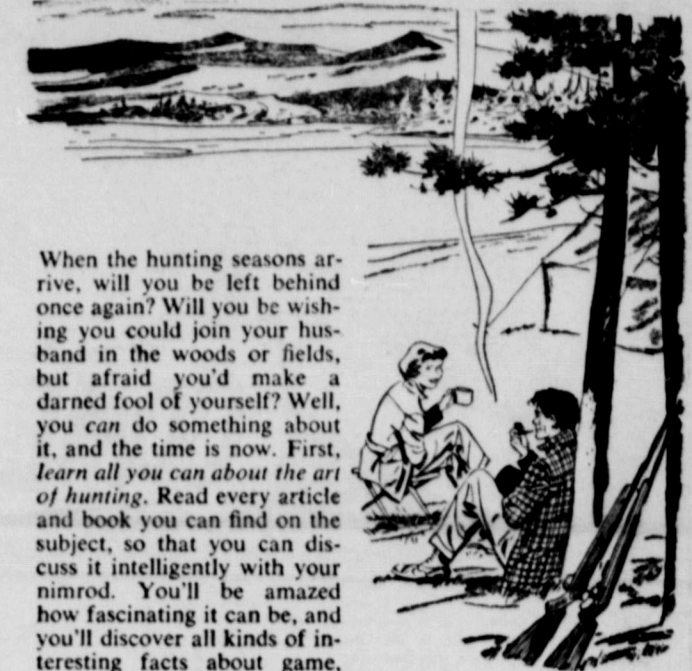

The results of the tests are discussed in a publication released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station entitled "Storage of Cottonseed for Planting Purposes." Write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, for a copy of the publication. Ask for M-P-326.

Farm value of milk produced in Texas last year was more than $167 million, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

FALLOUT SHELTERS are the best way for rural Americans to protect themselves from a massive nuclear attack which could unleash dangerous radioactive fallout throughout the country. Some of the shelters recommended by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization are not as elaborate as this one, which includes an auxiliary generator and an electric air filtering and ventilating system. However, all recommended shelters should include the basic features shown here—a place to sleep; food, water and medical supplies, and at least eight inches of concrete or an equal weight of other materials for shielding the shelter against fallout. Free designs may be obtained by writing to OCDM Rural Civil Defense, Battle Creek, Mich. (OCDM Photo)

IN THIS NUCLEAR AGE

CD's a Vital Part of Farm Safety

Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Leo A. Hoegh in a Farm Safety Week statement urges farmers to accept Rural Civil Defense as a vital part of farm safety in this nuclear age. Mr. Hoegh pointed out that fallout from nuclear attack on key military, metropolitan and industrial centers could cover hundreds of thousands of square miles of the United States. "EVERY FARM family, no matter how remote it may be from a target," he said, "should build a family fallout shelter and stock it properly. This means providing a two-week supply of food and water, a battery radio, a first-aid kit, flashlights, bedding and other items that would be essential to your survival." Mr. Hoegh said Farm Safety Week, July 19-25, serves to remind farmers of the need to recognize and support the objectives of the Farm Division of the National Safety Council. He said: "This nation cannot survive and recover from attack without its farmers. Rural America has always carried a heavy burden in times of national emergency. In this nuclear age, it is more important than ever before." Mr. Hoegh pointed out that fallout is one menace of thermo-nuclear attack against which simple protective measures can be taken. "It need not kill," he said. "It is up to you to take action. Nobody can do it for you, any more than they can ship you a packaged civil defense from a factory. "SURVIVAL WILL always be a personal thing. What you know and do will determine whether you—and your family—will live to help the nation survive." Director Hoegh said free plans and designs for various shelters can be obtained by writing to OCDM Rural Civil Defense, Battle Creek, Mich.

Sen. Andy Rogers Feted as Governor For A Day

Thursday, July 9 was a day which will be well remembered by Senator Andy Rogers and his wife, Georgia Ann, and their three children. It was a busy day and activities ranged from a proclamation declaring July 9-16 Agricultural Appreciation Week to a gala dinner at a swank restaurant attended by more than six hundred friends. The busy day began officially at 9:30 when Senator and Mrs. Rogers started receiving friends and relatives in the Governor's Reception Room in the State Capitol Building. Coffee and cookies were served throughout the day. Proclamations were signed and pictures made. The list of official duties included signing of a parole releasing a resident of the 30th Senatorial Dist. and the signing of the two land patents from the General Land Office.

ROGERS GOVERNOR FOR A DAY—Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey is shown swearing in Senator A. J. (Andy) Rogers of Childress as Governor for a day. The State Senator, who was elected June 1 as President Pro Tem of the Texas Senate, served as Governor of Texas

At noon Senator and Mrs. Rogers and their families were guests at a luncheon at the Governor's Mansion, which is another tradition of the traditional "Governor for a Day" festivities honoring the President Pro Tem of the State Senate.

The day ended with a huge banquet and program at the Villa Capri in Austin. Due to the illness of Secretary of State Zollicoffer, Judge Otha Dent of Littlefield, member of the Board of Water Engineers in Austin, presided at the dinner. The invocation was given by the Rev. W. H. Townsend, Chaplain of the State Senate, and the benediction by Rev. John Barclay, of Central Christian Church in Austin, who was Mrs. Rogers' pastor before her marriage. General Earl Ruttler, President of Texas A & M College, told of Senator Rogers' early days, his school life and military service. He was followed by Dolph Briscoe Jr., prominent South Texas rancher and cattleman, who served with Senator Rogers during his tenure in the House of Representatives. Senator A. M. Aiken, Jr. of Paris then spoke of his association with Senator Rogers since he has been a member of the State Senate.

Senator Rogers was then presented and spoke briefly, thanking all those who had participated in the affair.

Develop Young Ewes Before Breeding

College Station — Size or weight of yearling ewes when they enter the breeding flock has a major influence on their subsequent breeding performance, according to a study made on Rambouillet ewes at the Sonora experiment station. Ewes weighing 100 to 115 pounds performed better than those weighing above or below this range. For each pound increase in yearling breeding weight up to 100 pounds, there was an increase of approximately 5 pounds in total lamb production and 0.6 pound increase in total wool production throughout a lifetime of use. This shows that young ewes should be permitted to make most of their development before they enter the breeding flock.

This information comes from Progress Report 2081 released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station titled, "Importance of Size and Proper Development in Respect to Breeding Performance of Rambouillet Ewes." It was written by Maurice Shelton, assistant animal husbandman and geneticist of the McGregor Experiment Station.

Weaning weight of ewe lambs was much less important in relation to breeding performance than size at later dates. This indicates that if an opportunity is provided for adequate development before they enter the breeding flock, size at weaning is not a critical factor in selecting replacement ewe lambs.

but large lambs are preferred, says Shelton.

Apparently the optimum breeding weight for mature Rambouillet ewes under Edwards Plateau range conditions is around 120 pounds. Lamb production did not increase above this weight and, assuming feed consumption is related to size, there would be little advantage for intentionally producing and maintaining ewes above this weight, the author added.

The report includes charts that show the relationship between lifetime lamb production in pounds compared to lamb produced per ewe bred in pounds.

Fun Insurance

Modern transportation puts seven-league boots on today's vacationers. From supersonic plane to easy-driving family car, the accent is on speed and convenience. Travel time is pared to new lows; vacation time counts for more.

Developments in medical research take the trial out of travel, too. Previously, most families had at least one member whose bouts with motion sickness took the gloss off vacation fun. To the victim of nausea, giddiness and weakness, vacation trips were more a nightmare than a joy ride.

A new medication has been developed to combat these unpleasant symptoms for as long as 24 hours at a time. Raspberry flavored Bonadette tablets are acceptable even to medicine-shy children.

With an emergency supply of a good motion sickness remedy and a few sensible precautions, every family can travel far, fast and have fun this summer.

- Just remember, while traveling, to:
  - eat simple foods in small quantities at more frequent intervals
  - avoid alcoholic beverages
  - maintain adequate ventilation
  - avoid becoming over-tired
  - do your reading on terra firma and keep your eyes off the moving horizon
  - choose a seat in the most stable section of train, bus, ship or car.

For a copy of the report write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for PR-2081.

GREATER ROOMINESS
Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make this point abundantly clear. For example, Chevy's front seat room is up to 5.9 inches wider than in comparable cars. And Chevy even offers more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars!

MOST ADVANCED ENGINES
We'll let SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED talk about Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." And every motor magazine concurs! There are eight V8's to pick from—the widest choice in Chevy's field.

FRESH STYLING
POPULAR SCIENCE magazine's experts took one look and said, "In its price class, Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling."

HIGHER TRADE-IN
N.A.D.A.* Guide Books carry the proof of Chevy's extra trade-in value. They show that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to a solid $128 higher than comparable models of the other two cars in Chevy's field.

BIGGER BRAKES
Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

WHY DO WITHOUT THIS CONVENIENT LITTLE TOUCH... LET ALONE THESE BIG CHEVY VIRTUES!

ONE-KEY CONTROL
One-key control: only Chevy in its field has done away with fumbling for two or three keys. The same key unlocks the door, starts the engine, opens the glove box and trunk.

FULL COIL RIDE
You've almost got to find a really rocky road to show off Chevy's easygoing ride to full advantage. MOTOE TREND magazine gives you an idea, though: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

BIGGER SAVINGS
Two Chevrolets packing our pennypinching 6 with Powerglide delivered a whopping 22.38 mpg in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, winning the first two places in their class and walking away with top honors among all full-size cars. How can you argue with a figure like that?

No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets in '59 than any other car.

Cotton acreage for the '59-'60 season is estimated at a little more than 15.8 million acres.

Just what kind of production will come from the increase will be forecast by the Department of Agriculture on August 10... with a production figure of 466 pounds per acre (that's what happened this season) or a little more—and some people think it may be more—a crop of better than 14 million bales would be in the offing... what would we do with this cotton??... some long range projections by some pretty smart cotton people indicate that none of it will go into the surplus we now have on hand.

Mill Use Up
The projections offer this food for thought: Consumption in domestic mills next season may reach nine million bales... that's 300,000 bales more than expected consumption during the current season... exports may top five million (they are running less than three million this season) as a result of the lower price... so, if these projections prove accurate, none of the new crop cotton will add to the surplus, which will be about 8.8 million bales at the end of next week.

TOTAL BAKER WHOLESALE PRICE	16.2¢

*Agricultural Marketing Service study of selected bakeries showed net profit after taxes at less than one-half cent per pound.

Increased operational costs in the bakery and flour mill are responsible for the higher price of bread, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

A USDA bulletin, "Marketing Margins for White Bread," points out that bread prices have increased 39 per cent in the past 10 years. The study disclosed that the cost of bread ingredients has remained fairly constant during the past decade. The cost of wheat to the miller in 1948 averaged 2.8 cents per pound loaf of bread, and the same in 1938. The cost of flour to the baker rose from 3.5 cents in 1948 to 3.6 cents last year.

The survey shows that the farmer's share of the consumer bread dollar for all agricultural products used in bread has declined from 24 per cent in 1948 to 18 per cent last year.

"The increase in bread prices resulted from the higher costs of labor, transportation and other non-ingredient expenses," the bulletin stated. "Hourly earnings in bread-baking and similar establishments are 33 per cent more than they were 10 years ago. Fringe benefits have increased ninefold."

The baker received 16.2 cents for a pound loaf of bread last year, as an average. The retail margin, according to USDA, was 3.1 cents. The baker retained nine-tenths of a cent as a profit before taxes, less than one half cent per loaf after taxes.

A separate study made by the Department's Agricultural Marketing Service showed that the profits of six leading baking companies have declined 42 per cent on the basis of sales during the 10 year period. Profits decreased from 4 per cent of sales in 1948 to 2.3% last year.

The report stated that "Even if the farmer had donated his wheat, white bread would still have cost consumers about 17 cents per loaf (retail) in 1958."

Take The High Road

Going mountain climbing this summer?

If you do it the easy way—in your car—you can use these tips from Shell automotive experts. They will help you get safely to your mountain retreat, scenic view or trout stream, and back again.

Make sure your car is in perfect mechanical condition before starting out.

When coming into the hilly area, check at a service station to see if the carburetor needs adjustment for high altitude. The adjustment—if any—is the same as for very hot weather: a leaner fuel mixture to deliver full power in rarified air.

Don't expect to make your usual mileage. If you do 300 miles a day, straight driving, figure on 150 in the mountains.

Keep to your side of the road—especially on curves. Don't cut in from the outside lane or swing wide from the inside. This means extra slow driving; don't attempt it in "high."

Keep the driver's seat as high and as far forward as you can, while still being comfortable. This improves close-up vision.

If there are wide "pull off" spots, stop, get out and enjoy the view—and give the engine a chance to cool off. Always leave the car in gear, with the hand brake on, front wheels turned.

When going down steep grades, never coast in neutral! Your momentum can easily make the car unmanageable. Shift into second—or even first gear. ("Low" on automatic shift.)

Don't ride your brakes. Their constant use can "fade" them—make them so hot from friction that they become slippery. Let the gears do the work.

Bluestem Grasses For Cultivated Pastures

College Station — Several grasses of the bluestem group have been introduced and grown in Texas under trial and observation as warm-season perennial forage plants, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist.

Eight of the more important grasses in the group are: Angletongrass, Medio bluestem, Pretoria 90 bluestem, Gordio bluestem, Kieberg bluestem, Caucasian bluestem, Australian bluestem, and K. R. bluestem. These grasses are the subject of a miscellaneous publication written by Trew entitled, "Introduced Bluestem Grasses for Cultivated Pastures," and released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The publication gives a description of each grass, where it is adapted, how to establish each, and management after establishment. Also included is a section on how to determine the pounds of pure live seeds in a sack when you know how many pounds of seed is required to plant an acre.

The publication has a table which shows the pounds of hay cut from several of the grasses at four different locations in East and South Texas.

For a copy of the bulletin, contact your local county agent. Or you may obtain the bulletin by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station. When writing, ask for MP-340.
