The Lone Silent Hoosier, Deaf Mute Globe-Trotter, In City For Visit

Glasscock Strip Of Highway No. 9 To Be Appraised

Work by a jury of appraisement appointed by the Glasscock county commissioners court will be started this week to place a value on right-of-way for Highway No. 9 across the northeast corner of that county, said W. F. Cushing, rancher, who was in town yesterday.

The state highway department, following a policy used in cases where a county's only state highway is far removed from the county seat, will pay the entire cost of paving the 12-mile strip, provided right-of-way is donated.

This strip of road will extend the paving on Highway 9 to the Howard county line and will shorten the distance between Big Spring and the Sterling county line from 56 to 21 1/2 miles.

With paving of No. 9 in Concho county, which recently voted bonds for the purpose, the road will form an all-weather surface continuous from Mason county to Howard county.

The Lone Silent Hoosier again is in Big Spring. Ralph Kennedy Bradford of Indianapolis, deaf mute globe trotter, who has trekked across 35,000 in the last eight years, is visiting his aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennedy, 508 Johnson street.

Bradford is one of those men who hear not, neither do they speak. Alone he travels; alone he lives, commuting with nature as he traverses his native land, and foreign countries. But does it matter that he can neither hear nor speak? Seemingly it does not. He gets along.

Stricken with paralysis at the age of three years, given up as a hopeless cripple, the youth set out to improve his condition. The call of the great outdoors; the herald of the open road appealed to him. He heeded, and accepted. Today he is satisfied with his travels. His feet have carried him across the states of the union. He has visited Central Europe, Alaska, Havana, Hawaii, Mexico, Panama Canal and other foreign ports. His eyes, clear and crisp, have absorbed the things he could not hear.

The lone hoosier has tramped through the best years of his life. He attended the Indiana state school for the deaf, from 1910 to 1923. He sold newspapers on the streets of Indianapolis. Factories claimed several months. Then his health gave way.

From Lubbock The Hoosier dropped into Big Spring, Thursday, coming from Lubbock after encountering snowstorms, Texas blizzards, freezing temperatures. It is his second visit here, he having been here late in 1928.

When details are assembled and studied, Bradford is a hitch-hiker; one who has stood the baptism of fire, and is still hitching and hiking.

"I accept rides," he said, "but am not offered many." He blamed the roads in this section. Yet, this youth—for he really is a youth although his looks belie it—has invaded Germany, and Honolulu, and Havana. He has dropped off of ships at Liverpool, and waded in the voluminous clothes of Alaska habits. He has visited Alaska, marched over Canada, traversed Central America and commuted with the Panama Canal residents. He has lounged in the beckoning resorts of Tia Juana, and visited the dives of Juarez. He has seen the blue grass grow in Kentucky, and the desert wastes of Arizona. The East, the west, the north, the south, have signalled to the mute—and in every instance he has walked.

Sells Cards The Lone Hoosier lives by his life. He sells cards, relating his experiences as he trekked along the open—and often lonesome—road that leads to somewhere. At the present he is on his way to New York. Within a few days he will place his voluminous scrapbook beneath his arm, strap his knapsack upon his back and depart.

His objective is one Robert L. Ripley—just plain Believe It or Not Ripley—who recently portrayed the Hoosier. Following the Easter holidays he will go to Fort Worth, Dallas, Oklahoma City, Kansas City and St. Louis. From there he will make New York his objective.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Fryar announce the birth of a son Saturday morning at the Big Spring hospital.

Big Spring's New Sewerage Disposal Plant

This is not a picture of an automatic sprinkling system for your garden but a landscape view of the city sewerage disposal plant in operation. This plant, which disposes of all refuse without motive power was built from proceeds of a bond issue approved last spring by voters of the city. In the background is the caretaker's house and in front of it the Embork tank. Sewerage solids settle and are drained out from it to the sludge bed which is the white area to the right and back of the sprays. The liquids flow into the trap of concrete, which appears as a box in the center and thence through pipes to the sprays which go into operation periodically when the water reaches a certain level in the trap. The water is sprayed and goes through a gravel and sand bed thence into the creek just behind the dump at the right. When it reaches the creek bed it is clear and odorless.

County Judge Opposes New Bus Line Here

Debenport Writes Railroad Commission In Seeking Denial

Protesting establishment of a bus line from Texarkana to El Paso by the Sunny Line Bus Company, County Judge H. R. Debenport has written the State Railroad Commission. He asks that permit be refused H. Lassar and V. Pugsley, operators.

Judge Debenport's letter follows: "I wish to object to the issuance of a permit for this company, on the ground that:

1. There exists no reason for such a line, as we are properly served by the existing bus lines, and the Texas & Pacific Railway Company.
2. Highway No. 1, over which said bus line would travel, is already congested with buses and trucks, sufficient to make private travel dangerous.

"I trust that you will see your way clear to refuse permit for this line."

T&P Defendant In $50,000 Suit Filed By Widow

Suit for $50,000 damages was filed in district court Saturday by Mrs. Ida Inez Short, widow of Reuben A. Short, railway fireman, against the Texas & Pacific Railway.

Short succumbed to injuries received when the Texas & Pacific passenger train on which he was working left the rails at Eagle Ford, between Dallas and Fort Worth, Oct. 12, 1930.

Mrs. Short asks $30,000 for herself, and $20,000 for her son, Ben Elroy Short, 3.

Short, a resident of Big Spring, at the time of the accident, was said to have been a new man on the Dallas-Fort Worth link of the line. The plaintiff alleges negligence on the part of the railway company. Grisham, Patterson and Grisham of Eastland represent the plaintiff.

Communist Organizer In Fort Worth 'For Safety' Says Counsel

DALLAS, April 4 (AP)—G. C. Edwards, attorney, declared here today that Lewis Hurst, communist organizer, returned to Dallas from Kansas City yesterday, but went to Fort Worth "for safety."

"The Dallas county jury yesterday returned a report that Hurst's recent kidnaping and beating here was a story concocted for publicity purposes."

The building will be a one-story brick and tile structure. It will have a 90-foot frontage on East Third. An automobile drive will lead from East Third to the repair shop on Goliad. A filling station will occupy the corner space.

E. N. Ivey will operate the filling station, with Sinclair products being handled. A battery and electric shop will be maintained. Work on the new building will start Monday. The contract calls for completion in 50 working days.

Melva Gene Handley Member of Honor Society

Name of Melva Gene Handley, daughter of Mrs. Lee Weathers, was inadvertently omitted from the list of members of the National Honor Society, Big Spring high school chapter, in an article in Thursday's Herald. The management offers its apologies to Miss Handley.

School Trustees Re-Elected Here; 61 Cast Ballots

Sixty one votes were cast in the election of four trustees of the Big Spring Independent school district held Saturday at the Howard county courthouse.

Mrs. Della K. Agnell was manager of the election, with Mrs. E. R. Watts and Mrs. C. T. Tucker, as clerks.

The voters were as follows: Mrs. Fox Stripling, 59; Dr. E. O. Ellington, 60; W. R. Purser, 61; L. S. Patterson, 61; Sam Hathcock, 1. The first four were re-elected for the posts.

25,000 Bow Heads As Knute Rockne Is Laid To Rest

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 4 (AP)—Knute Rockne, famous football coach of Notre Dame university, was buried here at sunset as 25,000 persons bowed their heads in final tribute to the "rough and ready gridiron psychologist."

Burial services were held at Sacred Heart church on the Notre Dame campus, near the football stadium. Pallbearers were Tommy Conley, captain of the 1930 team; Tommy Yarr, captain-elect, and Marchmont Swarz, Frank Carideo, Marty Brill and Larry Mullins of last fall's famed eleven.

Thermometer Drops Nearly To Freezing As New Month Opens

Carrying on where March left off, April presented a variety of windy weather Saturday.

The mercury started falling at 2 p. m. Friday afternoon, reaching a minimum of 37 degrees, two degrees above freezing point.

The temperature dropped from 61 degrees, the maximum for the day. Although Saturday dawned cloudy and cold, the sun appeared Saturday afternoon to send the mercury on an upward trend.

Flurries of snow, and a bit of rain fell Saturday morning.

DALLAS, April 4 (AP)—The weather man heralded Easter Sunday in Texas with cool weather generally, giving comfort in forecast of rising temperatures in most parts Sunday.

Festivities, Easter services and celebrations were planned over the state.

One of the features is Galveston's Easter egg hunt at which 5,000 children are expected to hunt eggs hidden in beach sands by business clubs here.

Name Of L. L. Freeman Omitted From List Of Candidates For Office

Fuller apology is due L. L. (Roy) Freeman by The Herald. Mr. Freeman, long-time resident of the city who is a candidate for election to the board of city commissioners in Tuesday's balloting, was unintentionally omitted from an article in Friday's Herald listing candidates for the commission. Mr. Freeman announced his candidacy more than two weeks ago.

Tarrant Democrats Issue Invitation To Jefferson Day Feed

FORT WORTH, April 4 (AP)—Tarrant county democrats have issued a general invitation to democrats throughout north and west Texas to attend the Jefferson Day banquet here April 13.

Hugh L. Small, chairman of the county democratic executive committee, announced preliminary steps will be outlined for the coming national campaign.

Orchestra To Play At Legion Meeting

Regular meeting of the American Legion post will be featured Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock by selections from Bob Turner's Nebraskans. A special dance number is being arranged. Routine business will be transacted.

ATTEND RITES Can Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Powell and Mrs. Anna Schull, attended the funeral Saturday at Sweetwater of J. A. J. Bradford, Nolan county pioneer.

Seven Seek Two Places; Both Incumbents Candidates

With one of the longest list of candidates ever to offer in a "short" year, when but two of the members of the board of five city commissioners are elected, voters of Big Spring were making ready last night to go to the polls Tuesday to fill the commission places now held by H. Hinman and W. A. Gilmour.

Mr. Hinman, who was appointed to the election, with Mrs. E. R. Watts and Mrs. C. T. Tucker, as clerks.

The campaign has been one of the quietest in the city's history from the standpoint of public utterances in person or in print. Several of the candidates have issued statements to the press while others have used cards or other printed matter.

However, close observation pointed out that alignments that have characterized campaigns of the past two or three years exist in ranks of the present candidates to some extent, although lines are not as clearly drawn as usual.

In spite of persistent street conversations to that effect, petitions that the commission-manager form of government be replaced by the old aldermanic have been in circulation none has made its appearance in the press or has been filed with the city commission.

One of the surprises of the campaign was entry of W. A. Gilmour for election to a third term. He had previously indicated he did not care to make the race again. This placed both incumbents in the positions sought this year on the ballot. Mr. Hinman, the other incumbent, with J. L. Webb, was the first to announce.

The city commissioners' statement follows:

Recently there has been coming, from a few people, insinuations that the present city government has not practiced that rigid economy so greatly desired by the taxpayer in the expenditures of their money. These insinuations either have or have not foundations. We are requesting any person who has a habit of going around the city talking about abstract application of economy in spending city money to be fair enough to point out the particular instances in which we have not been as careful as we knew how, in trying to get a 100-cent value for every dollar spent, and if anyone knows where we failed to practice the right kind of economy, we think it only fairness in the city commission and to the citizenship as a whole that the particular instances should be pointed out.

We spent a large sum of your money on a sewerage disposal plant, which provided sewerage service to every developed section of the city. The contract for this work was let after keen competition between bidders. We have constructed one of the most modern sewerage disposal plants in Texas, and one that can be doubled in capacity with a small expenditure. Two large water storage reservoirs have been constructed, and this gives storage capacity of two and a half million gallons of water, which is two and a half days' supply, during maximum consumption. On all this work the contractor was required to use local labor, and the rate of pay for skilled and unskilled labor was set at $1.00 per hour and 40c per hour, respectively.

A Waste? Who will say that such expenditures as these were a waste of the people's money?

In order to provide one night's lodging for unemployed transients the Wander Inn was opened up and is jointly operated by the county and city. After four months operation of the Wander Inn we find we have provided for 6,500 men. Who would object to an expenditure of this kind?

The maintaining of the Wander Inn has aided materially in giving to our citizens the police protection to which they are entitled. What do you suppose would have happened if these 6,500 men had been turned loose in our city, hungry, during this period of four months?

Compare the number of robberies in the city of Big Spring with those in some other cities near by, and you will find that robberies have been minimized considerably as a result of the efforts of the police department.

The city commission employed a landscape architect to furnish a

HOME TOWN TALK

By BEDDY

Don't forget to vote on Tuesday's election.

We have a wide range from which to select two members of the board of city commissioners.

In what appears to be a radical reaction following the "warm" campaigns of 1929 and 1930 we Big Spring people have "laid off" practically altogether from public discussion of the candidates or the issues, if any.

We have always taken the position that there are many men in town who would make good commissioners; that the most useful members of such a body must always be those who have to be "concocted" from their busy daily lives to serve the community; and that discussion of the public problems rather than the candidates is the item of most importance.

Our idea of wasting time is one of these mud throwing city commission campaigns where attempts are made to focus attention on persons and personalities rather than on matters of real importance that need to be solved.

Our idea of a thankless job, too, is that of city commissioner. Often in this and other cities we have seen good men allow themselves to be candidates on request of fellow citizens who felt they would be sound, constructive officials, and immediately become targets for all sorts of under-current criticism.

It's one of those "damned if you do and damned if you don't" jobs. Which is why we always wondered why anybody would tear his shirt to get on any city commission.

After all about the only issue here is whether the city shall be represented by constructive, forward-looking and progressive men.

And, we are quite sure the people of Big Spring, at the polls Tuesday, will select men who will work at these thankless jobs in a serious manner for betterment of the city and all its people, overlooking any personal dislikes.

Largest Of World's Deepest Producers Still Running Wild

SAN ANGELO, April 4.—Group 1 Oil Corporation, Texas No. 2-B University, largest of the nine world's deepest producers, located in Reagan county, continued Saturday to gush its oil, equal in quality to filling station gasoline, from more than a mile and a half below the surface.

E. J. Nicklos, vice president in charge of production for the Continental Oil company, which owns Group 1 Corporation, flew from Ponca City, Oklahoma, to superintend the well.

The well blew in Friday and has continued gushing oil at the rate of approximately 32,000 barrels daily. Mr. Nicklos late Friday wired the state railroad commission his company would seek to kill the well to prevent disturbing the already turbulent Texas oil proration situation.

AGGIES WIN TRACK MEET AUSTIN, April 4.—The Texas Aggie track team won a triangular meet here today from the University of Texas and Abilene Christian College. A. & M. won 71 points. Texas 63 1-3 and the Christians 44 1-3.

PROPERTY DAMAGE OF $70,000,000 CAUSED BY MANAGUA 'QUAKE

This Associated Press Photo shows one of the principal streets of Managua, Nicaragua, practically destroyed by an earthquake, which caused the loss of 2,000 to 3,000 lives and property damage of more than $70,000,000. American refugees, including 150 women and children, were being removed from Managua by airplane, while American surgeons had set up improvised operating rooms wherever they could find a building to house them.

Hoover's Trip Good Idea Says Will; Reception Given Chaplin In England Deserved He Says

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. Well Mr. Hoover got back from a part of the country he manages to find some. They was going to try a Battleship to see if it would work after they had it renovated, so he just says, "Here is the time for me to get away from all this mess."

So he picked him out a bunch of congenial friends, mostly standpat Republicans and joined the Navy and started seeing the World. It didn't used to be hard to find some place for Coolidge to go where he had never been, all you had to do was just to suggest any one of the forty-eight States outside of Vermont and Massachusetts, and he was all set for new territory.

When he set sail for Black knolls of South Dakota, why that compared in importance to him to Hoover leaving for Mary Bird Land in the Arctic. Mr. Coolidge did make Cuba one time. I was there at the time, and saw it and he got a great welcome too. But Mr Hoover went on and found the Virgin Islands. But you can't get people good will nowadays unless you bring em something. He took em a speech but no donations. So out side of what fish he got on the trip its kinder hard to figure out just the exact beneficiary results. He told em that he wanted to give every one of them the same as we had up here. Well that depends on how well posted they are on what is happening to us, how they took that remark. In other words if they took him at his word and wanted what we got, they would immediately ask for Red Cross re. But I think it was a mighty fine trip for him to have taken, and it will do a lot of good. Roosevelt went down there when he was president, and everything he did was O K, so I know this must have been.

Well what else we got? Did you ever read such a procession of acclim as Charlie Chaplin is making all over Europe? Why Charley do n't any more than land in a country (till the prime minister grabs him off to his home, like some movie fan asking for an autograph. Charley is pretty foxy though, and mighty well informed on affairs. He can talk and argue with them. He is a pretty rabid Socialist, and has made a pretty serious study of it.

One night a few years ago I was asked to introduce at the Lamb Club in New York, that's the most exclusive Actor organization. It was his first trip to New York in a good while and he was having some unfavorable newspaper publicity at the time. Well I told them that in all my years on the stage and screen that I had only met one person that I could honestly call an "artist" every other person ever saw, some one else could do what he was doing just as good, and that was all a trick, and not real genius. But that Chaplin was all these Real so called Artists are supposed to be. And he is, he is the only genius developed in the films since they started. Any of us can get "Artistic" and say we won't work until noon, or won't do this or that. But we are doing it on some firm's money, but Chaplin can come on his set and turn loose 500 people, tell em he will call em again some other time, and he is doing it on his dough. Art ain't put on when you are paying for it out of your own pocket. He writes directs and acts the whole thing. Any one else making a picture there is at least a dozen people that are directly concerned in its success. Chaplin replaces all of them alone.

No, whether you like him or not (and how you couldn't I don't know) but he is one of the few geniuses developed during our time in any line. So all this hooey is not wasted on some bird that don't deserve it. The Prince of Wales (who is quite a fellow himself, and does some prowling around in the world) why a Zulu wouldn't know him from Senator Borah although he is the best known man in the world. But the old Zulu would pick out Charley on his derby and big "Dogs."

Say what's going to happen to this wheat thing? The government bought up a lot of last years crop, and now they got it, and here is coming along another new crop. Borah wants to give it to China to make rice out of. I would like to see it given to renter farmers in this country to make bread out of. You'd be surprised if you knew how little those poor people had to live on that was issued by the Red Cross. They did marvelous work as usual, the Red Cross, but what I mean is if the same thing come up again, I sure would like to see em have enough more money to the issue of rations would be larger. Of course when you are getting charity you can't be the choosier, but it was barely enough to get along on. Now why can't something be done with some of all this surplus wheat? We are going to have to charge that Farm boards operations off as a loss anyhow it looks like now. Course I guess they did what they thought was right. But people can raise things faster in this country than anybody can buy it, even the government.

Say did you read in the papers about a bunch of women up in British Columbia as a protest against high taxes, sit out in the open naked, and they would't put their clothes on? The authorities finally turned a sprayer that you use on trees, on them. That may lead into quite a thing. Women comes into the tax office nuda, saying I won't pay. Well they can't search her and get anything. It sounds great. How far is it to British Columbia?

Smith Umberson Drove His Model A

1929 Tudor 45.9 Miles on ONE Gallon of Gasoline

YOU CAN SAVE in many ways when you buy a FORD—low first cost is just one of the advantages. Of even greater importance is the saving in the cost of operation and upkeep.

The "almost as perfect as is possible" synchronizing of the rotating parts results from the inbuilt quality—simplicity of design—high quality of materials—adaptation of Johanson gauges to Model A quantity production—and strict adherence to the Ford standard of automobile assembly.

A huge wall could be built around the Ford Motor Company, and inside that, you would find available ALL raw materials which are fabricated into the "World's Outstanding Low Priced Car." This fact should be considered by every person who intends to purchase a new car. A demonstration will convince.

Smith Umberson and His Long-Running Ford Tudor Model "A" Owners Say:

A salesman who travels long distances daily by automobile writes: "I purchased a Model A Ford Coupe on May 8, 1928, and at this writing have run it 75,888 miles. After I had driven 44,400 miles, I spent $45 in repairs and at 61,000 miles had an additional amount of work done costing $25. I have never had the brakes relined. My tire mileage has averaged better than 18,000 miles."

Another Ford owner tells of traveling more than 24,000 miles in a year and says, "the only parts expense was 75c for a shock-absorber link and 50c for a new rubber for the windshield wiper."

A total of 39,721 miles is reported by a Ford owner on 1685 gallons of gasoline.

Large industrial companies which keep accurate cost records are buying more and more Ford cars every year because of their proved economy of operation and upkeep.

Many of these have fleets of fifty, one hundred and two hundred Ford cars and trucks. One large corporation operates more than eight thousand. The experience of these careful buyers is a dependable guide for you to follow in the purchase of an automobile.

As the New Ford extends the limits of man's opportunity, so the Authorized Ford Finance Plans of Universal Credit Company are another phase in the Ford program of making available quality transportation to the greatest number of people at the lowest possible cost.

STEERS WINNERS IN TRACK AND FIELD MEET

Today, being Easter, the galley boy will go to church, he informed us confidentially, if he can find change for a dime.

Those who have been in the habit of seeing Opey Heblsen, helmeted line-man of the Steers football team, perform at guard, probably will have to shift their focus next season. "Opey" Heblsen, who likes his backfield men hefty and heavy, has jacked Heblsen from the forward and dropped him in the full-back berth. Whether he can perform there remains to be solved. He is a huge enough, and is of a nice construction. The trouble with the 1930 backfield was the lack of a weight advantage. Transfer of Heblsen places him running around with Bill Flowers, left over from last year's backfield material. Whether the others will come from is a matter of conjecture. Little Swastie Schweitzerbach is doomed, it appears. Schweitzerbach is willing but underweight. As said before, Bristow looks with glee upon backfield men that spread over great portions of territory. Big backfield men and big ends—not to mention his tackles and guards and a behemoth center. But who doesn't?

The chances of the Steers to gallop through to a flock of first places in the district track and field meet, to be held at Abilene this month, appear just as bright as dark. At the encounters Friday afternoon, the Bovine tracksters appeared rather below the normal. Cox of Lamesa, an athlete who prefers running practically all raw to being burdened with a track jersey, showed up nicely. His work in the 100, which he did in 10.1, and his fourth assignment in the mile relay, stamped him as an exceptionally fast man.

There was some flurry of excitement about the 100 yard event. Flowers, entered along with Rockhold for the event, said he asked starter Wofford B. Hardy to hold the gun a second before it fired. Anyway, Flowers got away to a slow start. Hill, however, would have won the event regardless.

There also was a bit of argument as to what school won the meet. The Big Spring relay team placed second and last in the event. It was maintained that, according to Interscholastic League ruling, last place counts nothing. Had it been counted that way, the result would have been a tie between Lamesa and Big Spring, with 56 1-2 points each. Stevens maintained the meet was staged on the principle that last place counted something, not nothing. After which there was just a bit more argument, and then everyone, including this department, retired home to dine, or eat supper as the case might have been.

Gun club members probably will be interested in knowing—if they don't already—that the annual spring shoot of the San Angelo gun club will be held April 20 and 21. Sweetwater will enter eight shotgun blasters in the meet. It is not known whether Big Spring gunmen will participate in the shoot or not.

It is brought to light that J. T. Adams, Breckenridge high school back of last year, has joined the forces of McCamey high school. There looms over the horizon work for the Midland mentor, and the rest of the high school officials. The transfer season is upon us, hammer and tongs, lock, stock and the proverbial barrel.

But we seem that it won't be long now. The one-year eligibility ruling is dashing down the home stretch with a great amount of momentum. M. H. Duncan the mixer of the brew, is driving his point hard. He wants a one-year eligibility ruling and he wants it badly. He has been wanting it for these many months, and he has not allowed a single opportunity to escape his ponding pencil. Is he right in doing so? There is room for argument. Of course, Mr. Duncan thinks so. He will admit the ruling might cause some hardships, but you can't convince him the evil would overcome the good. The Lubbock official happens to be next door neighbor to Empa, and Empa could use anything right at the present moment but a one-year eligibility ruling. If the rule does become law, more than one 1931 grid macho will be cast adrift without a sail. But we can't help but believe that it is coming—like the dawn or some other simile.

George Genly, the principal of the local high school, scoffs at the idea that a contract for the annual Sweetwater-Big Spring game has been closed. He says, says George that the contract is being used as a paperweight or something to that effect, at the present time. Sweetwater's newspaper recently quoted school officials as saying that arrangements had been made for the Sweetwater-Big Spring game to be played at Sweetwater on Armistice Day this year. There is nothing absolutely nothing, if not less than that, to it, remarks Mr. Genly, so that, kind customer, if any, is simply that.

Were there those within the realm of the City League that hoped the local baseball emporium might be obtained gratis, free of charge, without cash expenditure, this year, they can now rest at ease. It won't. The usual ten per cent of the gross gate receipts will be forthcoming as usual, according to announcement made Friday afternoon. The business is handled by McCall Gary.

Knute Rockne--Master Psychologist

Famous Mentor Always Used Ready Wit

Was Noted For Ability To Make Players Play For Notre Dame

EDITORS NOTE: This is the first of three articles depicting the humor side of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's great coach.

By LOREN DISNEY (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Knute Rockne has coached his last football team.

The lash of his trenchant tongue will be missing when future elevens carry the colors of Notre Dame onto the gridiron; but the legend of the greatest rough and ready psychologist the game ever knew will continue to grow.

So many are the tales of the stocky Norwegian's rich speech and shrewd manner of exhorting the utmost from his famous Ramblers that the "Rock's" exploit are told and re-told wherever football is known.

These Rockne Yarns A Rockne story carries an implication of quality that only the most publicized trade-marks attain. Everyone who has felt the thrill of watching a kick-off to the tune of "Cheer, Cheer for Old Notre Dame" has his particular favorite.

The yarns range from Rockne's habit of charging, in a jovial scornful manner, a blundering linesman will "having a charley-horse between the ears" to his appeal to the team to "win one for George Gipp."

One of the latest uses of his handy wit was in answer to the numerous charges that football is being over-emphasized.

At the start of spring practice at South Bend this year Rockne assembled the several hundred boys who had turned out.

"I don't know whether we ought to have spring practice this year," he said. "It might take too much time from your drinking and necking."

Rockne always maintained close touch with his players. He made pals of them, jested with them, and greatly helped the 80-odd who now are coaching over the country.

The occasions on which repartee entered into his conversations with his players are myriad. Invariably, however, it was the player who failed to come up with the last reply.

Here is an intimate pose of Knute Rockne taken while he was resting at Miami Beach, Fla., after a rigorous football campaign. With him was his son, John Vincent.

One of the few times that one of the boys ever bettered the coach in a verbal joust grew out of Rockne's habit of buttonholing any player, whether varsity or scrub, at any time and demanding a solution to a particularly difficult problem in football strategy.

What he Would Do A fourth string quarterback, who hadn't seen action throughout the season, was traveling with the team on one of its transcontinental jaunts. He was reading a book when Rockne passed through the train.

The coach hesitated, barked: "The score is 6 to 9 against you, last quarter, two minutes to play, the ball's in your territory, your possession, second down, ten to go—what would you do?"

"Move over on the bench to watch the next play," the quarterback answered.

Rockne had no use for a grandstander. On one occasion he removed a player from a game who ran to a needless touchdown against a weak foe after Rockne had ordered that the Ramblers do no more scoring.

In another instance, a good Notre Dame backfield man who, however, always displayed his talent to best advantage to the gallery, found himself seated on the bench game after game. Each time he asked to go in Rockne would say: "Son, I'm saving you."

Finally one day toward the last of the season the back blurted out: "What are you saving me for?" "For the junior prom," Rockne replied.

Another of Rockne's practices was a word and pat on the back for each player as he came off the field. One youngster, being replaced, dashed into the showers without the pat. There he recalled he hadn't received the benediction, so heck he went.

"What do you want?" asked Rockne.

"I want my pat on the back." "Get in out of the cold or I'll pat you on the head," Rockne said.

Rockne had one ace in the hole which he used only in the greatest emergencies. That was the use of the potent name of George Gipp.

Gipp was one of Notre Dame's greatest backs. He died from an infected throat just after a season's play and his last words to Rockne were:

"When the going's rough against the Army, tell the boys to go out and pull it out for the Gipper."

During a particularly hard Army game, with the Irish being pushed around the field, but the Army unable to score, Rock used Gipp's words during halves.

Finally as the game neared end, the Voodisch crashed over for a touchdown. As the team left the field the winner Ike hurried at Rock:

of a job doesn't require good legs, brother you are haywire. I am after a job with the Sports because I think I have at least three more years of good baseball left, but just because I happen to be a little old some of the boys are claiming my legs are gone—ask Chief Trammell of Dallas who his best "beat walker" is—he will tell you it's old Pete.

Legs or no legs, Lapan seems to have an excellent chance of sticking with the Sports. He has years of Texas League experience, and is one of the hardest hitters in the circuit for the first two months.

Radcliff Gets Lapan Gets Tepid Outfield Post

BY BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, Texas, April 4 (AP)—Evidently, such things as failures mean nothing to Raymond Radcliff's baseball life. Raymond has a stout heart, and take it from him, he is going to play under the big top before the close of his career.

After whamming the nigger for a 250 average in 112 games for Mansfield in 1929, Raymond was purchased by the Dallas Steers. He joined Dallas in time to play 29 games and hit .327. Raymond reported to the Steers in 1930, touted as a cinch for the first base job, but after looking him over, Manager Atz shipped Raymond to Selma, Alabama, in the Southwestern league.

Atz's move must have peeved Raymond, for he stamped the Southwestern league with a batting average of .367 to lead the circuit. He led the league in hits with 109; total bases with 287; home runs with 15; runs batted in with 116, and assists with 50.

The Chicago White Sox glanced at Raymond's startling Selma record, gasped and put in a request for him through the Dallas office. This spring, Raymond was hitting as usual, but White Sox decided he would not do as a first sacker, and returned him to Dallas. When he unrolled his uniform here last week, Manager Morse told him to throw away his first base mitt.

Morse believes Raymond is too short to ever develop into a major league first sacker, so he is going to station the Selma wizard to an outfield post. Fast foot, a hard hitter, always hustling, Raymond should find himself a pasture guardian. He is glad of a chance to get away from first base. "I have failed to make a class A and major baseball as a first baseman," commented Raymond "but this outfield stuff is going to give me another opportunity, and I like it."

When a baseball player starts down the fade out route, sport scribes usually write something about the player's leg giving out on him. It is no secret when a player's legs go bad, he is through. But just the mention of such a thing burns Pete Lapan, veteran major league man, up. Pete is angling for a job with the Shreveport sports this season, and the other day Pete notified a paragraph to the effect, he was still a good hitter and receiver, but it was doubtful if his legs could stand the strain of another Texas league campaign.

"That," roared Pete, "is side-track stuff. During the winter

Class B Schools Will Have Chance At State Laurels

AUSTIN, April 4 (AP)—For the first time in the history of the University of Texas Interscholastic League athletics, Class B schools this year will compete for a Class B state championship. Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the interscholastic league, has announced.

Henderson said a State B meet would be held at Denton on May 8 and 9, the same date of the Class A meet. Henderson said Class B schools placing in county meets will continue to enter against Class A schools in the district meets, and if still winning will be eligible to enter the state meet against the Class A schools. The Class B meet is to be held at Denton for those Class B schools which were eliminated in district competition. Henderson said the Denton meet was being held primarily for those Class B schools eliminated during district tournaments.

Bovines Gain Winning Margin As Forrester Grabs High Jump After Relay Team Loses To Lamesa Four

When Forrester, Big Spring athlete, cleared the bar at six feet to take first place in the high jump, at the close of Friday afternoon's track and field meet, the Big Spring Steers forged ahead to capture the laurels with 59 and one-half points.

Five teams, Big Spring, Lamesa, Colorado, Coahoma and Stanton, entered the meet.

The Lamesa athletes, with 66 1-2 points, were second. Stanton tallied 15 points for third place honors with Colorado gaining 14. Coahoma scored three points.

Lose Relay The Big Spring relay team, composed of Denton, Reid, Richbourg, and Flowers, was easily defeated by the Lamesa four, Wiggins, Davis, Norris and Hill, with the flashy Hill sprinting down the home stretch yards ahead of Flowers.

Flowers took first in the 220 low hurdles, with Rockhold taking the 220 yard dash. Reid of Big Spring easily captured the mile run. Orr of Big Spring took the javelin throw with 145 feet and 3 inches, and the pole vault with nine feet and six inches. Richbourg was first in the broad jump with 20 feet, and Forrester took the high jump event with six feet, beating Cox of Lamesa.

In other field events, Joyce of Colorado placed first in the discus throw, with Hopper of Big Spring second; Anderson of Lamesa took the shot put event with 45 feet, 4 inches.

A stiff wind handicapped runners. Orr of Big Spring and Hill of Lamesa, with 12 points each, were high point men of the day. Orr captured two first places and a third, while Hill was out in front in one event, took two seconds and one fourth place.

The resume of the events: Track Events 120 yard high hurdles—Cox, Lamesa, first; Vines, Big Spring, second; Latham of Lamesa, third; Thompson, Big Spring, fourth; time 20 seconds.

Looking Ahead

PROBABLY the worst of the unemployment difficulty is over-very sign indicates that the depression is ending. Within a comparatively short time the country should be well on its way back to normal prosperity.

Nevertheless, we shall simply be asking for more trouble in the future if we fail to make every effort to understand just what the depression means in terms of human suffering. The depression itself may be ending; our study of it should not be beginning.

In this connection, it is worth while to look at a study of the effects of unemployment on 50 American families, made by the magistrate, The Family, which is published by the Family Welfare Association of America. This shows just what happens in a family whose income is shut off for a long period.

The center of interest in these 60 households, says the report, was food—whether there would be enough or less of it and work whether there would be any at all.

After a shortage of funds compelled public relief agencies to stop advancing these families, it was found that many of them were living on bread, potatoes, coffee and weak soup.
This was especially a common diet for children. Butter, milk, fruit and meat, being the most expensive foods, were the first to be eliminated from the table when unemployment hit the families.

COMFORTING THE SICK

There is more to the treatment of the sick than making a diagnosis and prescribing a remedy.
The comfort of the patient is to be considered—and sometimes this is more important than either di-agnosis or drugs.

For nature may heal of its own accord, but—as an example—bed sheets which wrinkle do not automatically stretch smooth again.
The comfort of the patient is most often neglected in the minor illnesses.

In the more serious illnesses, nursing help usually tends to his wants and his comforts to Children are particularly liable to suffer from want of care, for the older person will complain while the child will suffer in silence or whimper unimpressively.

In all illnesses, particularly those associated with fever, care should be taken to keep the mouth scrupulously clean and wholesome. This implies more than brushing the teeth.

The tongue should be cleaned by scrubbing a halibone or cellulose toothbrush over the tongue in any drug store. To remove the debris that accumulates on the soft tissues a gargle should be used. This may be used by dissolving a teaspoonful of salt in a glass of water.

The citrus foods, that is, orange, lemons and grapefruit, have a decidedly pleasant effect on the mouth.

The nose and throat, too, need careful attention. When discharges accumulate, dry in the nose, and form scabby gelatinous masses, breathing is obstructed. The patient then breathes through his mouth, and this in turn aggravates the condition.

The nose and throat then should be kept clean and clear by means of cotton-covered probes dipped in a simple mineral oil. They may also be cleaned by the aid of spray using a salt solution similar to the one advised for gargling.

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The name of Barrimore, with all its legends and traditions, is still an awesome thing to the less experienced players
of Hollywood, especially if they happen to be playing in the picture with the mighty John.

The juvenile in Barrimore's present picture was doing well enough with his role until the day when Barrymore, who was not in the set watched the others
at work.

Then the young man began to get nervous and falter, feeling the star's gaze upon him. The director, Archibald Mayo, scented the cause of his trouble and proceeded to overcome it.

Taking the lad's hand, he led him over to Barrimore and placed the boy's hand on the elder actor's.
"Touch him," he commanded.
"See, he's human!"
They all laughed then, even Barrymore, who was unaware of the situation.

AT EASE
The incident is typical of Mayo, who, never having worked with Barrimore before, was running the risk of offending his star mightily.
Barrimore fortunately has a great sense of humor.

MYSTERIOUS WAY

SYNOPSIS: No patient in Dr. Charters' nursing home is less welcome than John Wayne. But the alternative open—when the stranger demands an alibi for the murder of "Spider" Schiltz is the exposure of the past crimes of the apparently respectable doctor. Charters, wondering if Wayne knows that he stole from Schiltz and Chink Dorson their shares of the St. Clair diamond loot, plans to have him adjudged insane. Wayne tells Dr. MacAdoo, Charters' associate, to demand a half share of the "Lauderdel" 10,000 pounds, apparently referring to a patient, pretty Marjorie Lauderdell, whose aunt, Mrs. Lauderdell, was the "evil genius" of Charters' earlier life. After a talk with the apparently honest Dr. Studley, Wayne overcomes Mr. James, ally of Charters, when, stung by Wayne's allusions to his past, he draws a pistol. Dr. Charters rushes up and calls Wayne a madman.

Chapter II
"FRISCO FANNY"
EX-SQUADRON SERGEANT MAJOR WILLIAM LEVITT, late of the Queen's Bays and present gatekeeper to Dr. Charters, wheeler Sister Weldon's bicycle out from the gate-house and produced his keys.

"Thank you, Sergeant," smiled Sister Weldon, as she set forth on her seven-mile ride to Hereraph, of which village, her brother, the Reverend Laurence Weldon, was Vicar. At the sound of the opening of his garden-gate, the Reverend Laurence Weldon, with a beaming smile of welcome, rose up from his chair under the huge chestnut tree that shaded the vicarage lawn.

"Dear old Angela!" he thought to himself as he advanced to meet his sister.

The enduring love that existed between this brother and sister was based upon sympathetic understandings, each knowing the well-concealed philanthropy and practical goodness of the other. He of how his sister devoted her income to helping the poor, and her ability to nursing the sick. She, of how he devoted his life to the literal cure of souls.

"Well, Angela! How nice of you to devote your 'afternoon off' to visiting your brother, instead of 'walking out' with Dr. Studley or with some other nice young man. Or are there no other nice young men, just now, at The Monastery?"

"Oh, a lovely one, my dear," laughed his sister, kissing him warmly.

"I may take your bicycle, and you come and sit down. We'll have tea out here."

"And who's the lovely young man?" asked Laurence Weldon.

"He came while I was away for my holiday. Apparently Dr. Charters thought he could do something for him, but it's hopeless. And the annoying part is that Sir Bernard Mathieson doesn't agree and won't certify him. And Dr. Studley supports Sir Bernard."

"For when Sir Bernard came, our lunatic was as sane as you are, and it appears that when he visited Sir Bernard in Halsey Street he only complained of being generally well-rotic. Dr. Charters can't very well call in any other doctor, immediately, in order to get the man certified. . . . Not just after Sir Bernard has declared him perfectly sane, and Dr. Studley has supported him. It's rather hard on Dr. Charters, especially when he only took him in from motives of the purest kindness."

"Is the chap troublesome?"
"Troublesome! He's dangerous."
"Oh! That's bad in a place like The Monastery. Didn't they tell Sir Bernard?"
"Yes, it was rather peculiar. Dr. Charters sent for me, and there were Sir Bernard and Dr. Studley and Dr. MacAdoo talking to this Mr. Wayne, the lunatic, and you'd have thought he was absolutely as sane as they were. . . . And by the time the consultation was over, I myself felt there was nothing for it but to declare he was sane enough then—whatever he had been before."
"How had he shown his madness before?"
"How hadn't he shown it? There was my own experience and Mr. James, which was really rather terrible. And, oh, a dozen other people had seen him and heard him do and say most eccentric and incredible things."
"Why, I was sitting on a seat in the garden when this Mr. Wayne, looking sane, came and seated himself beside me."
"Good afternoon!" he said in a slightly jeering tone. "How do you like the English climate after California?"
"I was never in California, Mr. Wayne, I said."
"San Francisco used to be in California," he observed sarcastically.
"Well, I never used to be! I assured him in some amusement, for the man was talking in the most national manner, and one felt one had to talk gently.
"Well now, isn't that strange that they should call you 'Frisco Fanny,' when you've never been in San Francisco?"
The Vicar laughed.
"Yes, I laughed too!" continued

Sister Weldon. "Fancy me as 'Frisco Fanny!'"
"Ah, that's your too golden hair, my dear," smiled the Vicar, "and your lovely coloring. With that wonderful color scheme you're too good to be true."
"That's apparently what this man Wayne thought."
"Who calls me 'Frisco Fanny'?" I laughed, hushing him.
"Doesn't Half-hung Simon?" he asked, turning upon me with an accusing glare.
"Who's he? I asked, beginning to feel a little uncomfortable, for he was so terribly in earnest.
"Oh, you don't know him, don't you?" he sneered. "Nor, I suppose, Gunman Gryde, nor Louie the Lady? And you don't know who Dr. MacAdoo is?"
"I assured him that I didn't. . . . But he didn't believe me."
"How did it end? Has he still those delusions about you?"
"Oh, while he was referring to all sorts of weird people and places, that nice child Marjorie Lauderdell came up and asked if I couldn't bring her over to talk to you. I somehow don't think she likes me very much, Laurence, but either you made a very favorable impression when you came over and I introduced you, or else it was an excuse to get out of The Monastery."

"I don't see why Charters shouldn't let her come. . . . Do her good. . . ."
"He wouldn't hear of it, I'm sure. Strict rule of the house. . . . Well, directly my lunatic heard that I got only had a brother in the neighborhood, but that he was Vicar of the parish where we'd lived all our lives, he accepted my statement that I was not 'Frisco Fanny,' apologized humbly, and said he could not blame himself too severely for not realizing the moment he first set eyes upon me, that I was Catherine the Great who was the well-beloved of Admiral Nelson."

A hearty peal of laughter shook the Vicar and his creaking chair.

"It's a shame to laugh," he said, "but it is really very funny."
"Yes," smiled his sister, "it would be funny if it weren't so terribly pathetic. . . . And a little worrying. . . . For he came to me a day or two later and, with every appearance of sanity and solemnity, tried to put me on my guard against Dr. Charters himself. He begged me to watch over Marjorie Lauderdell with scrupulous care, and to see that no one but myself gave her any medicine."
"He's got it firmly into his head that some one's going to injure Marjorie, and he more than hinted that the Doctor is an impostor and a criminal—an ex-convict, in fact. Also that among our nurses there are two of his accomplices known as Frisco Fanny and Louie the Lady. . . . Ah, and Dr. MacAdoo and Mr. James are two more villains. . . . But not Dr. Studley. He's all right! . . . Isn't it too funny—or wouldn't it be, if it weren't so sad a case? . . . Pathetic. . . ."

"What was Mr. James' unpleasant experience?" the Vicar inquired.
"Well, apparently nothing more not less than a murderous attack. Mr. James declares that Wayne suddenly walked into his room one night, pulled out a revolver and threatened to shoot him. Mr. James, while quelling him with the power of the human eye, looked at the ball and rang it. Wayne then knocked him down, and when a maid discovered the bell, she saw Mr. James lying on the floor, she's perfectly certain. . . .

"I'm a little puzzled about this Doctor's attitude," she continued. "But I don't want to bring The Monastery here with me."
"Right!" agreed the Vicar, grinning mischievously. "Does Studley show any signs of . . ."
"That will do, my lad," interrupted his sister. "Dr. Studley is part of The Monastery."
"Thank God!" she added, smiling happily.

 posture despite mercury, the city league alone will meet Monday night and start the grist in the mill. The meeting will be held at the Herald office. Ash trays will be furnished those carrying own cigarettes. Representatives of the Bankers, Coahoma and Mexican Tigers are asked to attend. Otherwise, there is no need in having the meeting. Someone with a copy of the 1930 rules of urged to tuck it in the waistcoat and bring it along. There must be rules, regardless.

Joe Williams sports writer for the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain, in speaking of Rockne, declares:

"And in the little cottage on East Wayne Street, the widow of this man, between sobs, told of his opulent qualities as a husband and a father. She remembered their early struggles together. . . . She had seen only too little of him in recent years. But she had become resigned to his wearing regime, assured that he was building toward the day of retirement and ease. And now the dream was blasted—the builder was dead."

"She remembered their first game with West Point, 18 years ago—the contest that had had so powerful an influence on Rockne as a player and had fashioned him as a coach. He had started out to be a druggist. Then, in his second year at Notre Dame, he had turned to chemistry, and a fine chemist he had become. For on graduation he became a member of the chemistry faculty."

"But that game on the plains at the Point in 1913 started a series of events that turned Rockne from everything else but football."

"He played that game in 1913 for me," Mrs. Rockne said. "We were engaged then, and the following July after his graduation, we were married. Everything was so quiet and simple then, and now . . ."

"He had great courage, and of death he was unafraid," she went on. "I spoke to him about his flying. He felt that if a man had to meet his Maker at a certain moment, death would overtake him in an airplane or a street car."

"Last fall Rockne's doctors forbade his flying. But recently he had taken to making most of his trips by air. He took the keenest delight in boasting of the speed he was making, the hours he was saving. He flew from Miami to Atlanta not so long ago, and then took a plane to the University of Illinois relays at Champagne."

"Flying now is as safe as rail-roading," Rockne told Jack Chevigny, his assistant, when he left here the other day."

"But over the plains of Kansas a wing cracked, a plane bearing eight men twisted and crashed to death, and America was left to mourn one of its greatest sportsmen of all time."

Caustic Words Fly Fast As Election Nears For Chicago

ANTON J. CERMAK

WILLIAM HALE THOMPSON

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—Biting adjectives and scorching adverbs are flying again in Chicago as Anton J. Cermak and William Hale Thompson remind voters why the other should not be elected mayor April 7.

A lull followed the rough-and-tumble primary of February in which Thompson won the republican preference from John H. Lyle, municipal judge, but that armistice is ended.

Cermak, who breezed in to win the democratic primary, has designated Thompson, the "friend of gangsters" and a waster of public funds on public improvements.

"Cermak is a tool of wealth," charged Thompson, adding that the county board president had sponsored a re-assessment of Cook county property which took more than $300,000,000 off loop property and passed the load along to the little county to run for the United States senate. He lost, but Cook county went to him.

Cermak, 53, of Bohemian parentage, is an organization politician, believing in active workers in every precinct. While Thompson has been content to let others build the vote-getting machinery, Cermak has always supervised that function.

Cermak is a fluent, conversational type of public speaker, with none of the flair for the dramatic that is Thompson's forte. "Big Bill" points to the street-widening projects, the Wacker drive, river bridges, extension of streets and erection of school buildings to justify his appellation, "the builder."

"Tony" believes he is entitled to credit for extending the county's expansive forest preserves and construction of the new criminal court building.

Miss Mary Happell and friend, Miss Sallie Banks, of Austin, are spending the Easter holidays with Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Happell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thomas will leave today for Winnabro, where Mrs. Thomas's mother, Mrs. J. S. Brock, is seriously ill. They will drive through.

Judge Kensaw M. Landis, star of baseball, will dedicate the Beaumont, Texas, park April 28 and Galveston's stadium April 29.

They have tried to 'hand me Capone,' asserted the mayor. "I never saw Capone, never shook hands with him; never was in the same room with him. But I received a report that a Capone attorney organized a democratic club for Tony. I hand Capone back to them."

In the February primary "Big Bill" used a circus to advance his campaign and to burlesque his opponents. A fat pig, for this campaign, is designated "Tony." Cermak, he said, wants to be mayor, retain his county post, and win through a legislative act the tax-levying powers in Cook county.

In the fleshy, round-faced former mine breaker boy, Thompson meets a vote-getter who has won county elections by large majorities. Three years ago he stepped outside Cook county to run for the United

Mrs. S. C. Lamar of 1404 Nolan street has just received a letter from Gaylord J. Stone, president of the Universal Mills of Fort Worth, accompanied by a check for $15.00, as third prize in the Gold Chain Flour receipt contest, which has been conducted by the Universal Mills during the past year.

Hundreds of receipts were received from women all over the southwest and it is indeed a signal honor for Big Spring that Mrs. Lamar's receipt was selected as a grand prize winner from all those submitted. All receipts were very carefully tested by the Universal Mills culinary expert and the prize winners were selected strictly on their merits.

William Haines Opening At Ritz In "Tailor Made Man"

Screen's Lovable Naughty Boy Runs Borrowed Suit Into Fortune Of Million Dollars

A pants-presser by day, a man about town by night! That's William Haines in "A Tailor Made Man," the feature picture for Ritz programs of today, Monday and Tuesday.

He runs a borrowed suit into a million dollars and wins the ladies' hearts—then comes the crash.

Dainty Dorothy Jordan, as sweet as ever, plays opposite the screen's lovable naughty boy in this picture. Joseph Cawthorn and Marjorie Rambeau have important roles.

Nancy Carroll Cavorts Over Florida's Beaches In Picture Coming To Ritz Late In Week

From New York's back streets to Florida's brilliant, sun lighted beaches, Nancy Carroll moves in her latest starring picture, "Stolen Heaven," the Ritz theatre attraction for Friday and Saturday of this week, a picture as vivid in its contrasts, as breath taking in its emotional climaxes, as real and as beautiful in theme as anything ever seen on the talking screen.

"Stolen Heaven" is the intriguing story of two waifs of life. It moves swiftly, surely for a definite effect, and gets it. Without a moment of static pause for explanation, it unfolds its dramatic meaning in scene after scene of forceful action. From the moment Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes meet in the darkness on a back street in New York, until they find the real road to happiness in the drawing room of a Cuban mansion "Stolen Heaven" flashes and flares with movement and change.

Dana Burnett, author of one of Miss Carroll's earlier dramatic successes, "The Shopworn Angel," wrote the story. Phillips Holmes, the blond leading man who played opposite Miss Carroll in "The Devil's Holiday," has the leading male role. And Miss Carroll outdoes those superb performances of "The Devil's Holiday," and "Laughter," which lift her into the ranks of the foremost dramatic stars of the screen.

"Stolen Heaven" is the story of Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes both hopelessly mired in a large city, both seeking death as an outlet. Police are looking for Holmes who has just burglarized a factory and has the money on his person. Nancy saves him from the law. Together, they plan a last wild fling on the money Holmes has stolen, and then death together. Florida, Palm Beach and a frenzied rush to crowd as much happiness as possible into their last moments of life. Then their money nearly gone, Holmes lays plans for the final scene. Nancy, however, gambles on their last few dollars, and wins enough money to pay back the sum Holmes stole. Police, however, overtake them, and they flee to Cuba, assisted by a millionaire who wants to marry Nancy.

Faced with the necessity for a decision, Nancy persuades Holmes to return to the city and pay his debt to society, promising to wait for him, and their life together until the law releases him.

"Stolen Heaven" marks another step forward for Nancy Carroll, who flashed on the American moving picture public as a singing-dancing sweetheart, and made a name for herself in the exclusive list of real dramatic stars.

After searching throughout the nation for a girl who could 'stand in' as her double while cameramen adjusted lenses and electricians arranged lighting effects, Nancy Carroll found that girl right in the studio. She is Mas Slattery, who is seen above, at the right, with Nancy in a scene from "Stolen Heaven," which will be the Ritz feature Friday and Saturday.

Barbara Stanwyck Star In 'Illicit'

The complications of so-called modern marriage arise in "Illicit," a daring comedy-drama portrayal of the experiences of a girl who refuses to marry the common law husband she loves, and things that happen after his millionaire father persuades her to marry the young man. Does romance die at the altar? Such questions arise in "Illicit," at the Ritz Wednesday and Thursday.

'Illicit', Due At Ritz Wednesday And Thursday, Offers Example Of 'Modern' Marriage Practices

"Illicit," a Warner Bros. and Vitaphone comedia-drama of modern love and marriage, comes to the Ritz theatre Wednesday for a run of two days.

The cast that presents this daring picture is headed by Barbara Stanwyck, as a modern young woman, the daughter of divorced parents, who honestly believes that marriage is inimical to happiness, and for that reason refuses to marry her common law husband whom she deeply loves. The tongue of Mrs. Grundy, the kindly urging of her lover's millionaire father, and that of the lover himself finally make her consent to marriage. What happens to prove or disprove her theories—make up the enthralling picture. Those who appear with Miss Stanwyck are James Rennie, Natalie Moorehead, Joan Blondell, Chas. Butterworth, Ricardo Cortez and Claude Gillingwater. Harvey Thew did the adaptation from the play or book, and thus gain access to places where a human being could not penetrate. Count Dracula is the strange vampire of this startling story, and a trail of error and death results from his horrible influence. The picture, it is said, has been produced in such sincerity and such artistry that the spectator is apt to forget for the moment that the story is what might be described as a glorified fairy tale, and to be completely carried away by the strange atmosphere of the play.

Bela Lugosi plays the title role of "Dracula" while other members of the cast are Helen Chandler, David Manners, Edward Van Sloan, Frances Dade, Dwight Frye and Herbert Bunston. Tod Browning directed.

SCION ENTERS KITCHEN LONDON (INS)—Because he wants to learn the hotel business from the ground up, David Rhys, youngest son of Lord and Lady Dynever, has started work in the kitchens of the Hotel Metropole, a London hotel much patronized by American tourists during the season. Rhys, who is 23 and was educated at Eton College, will become a waiter's helper after he leaves the kitchen.

"OLD COLLEGE" IN USE EVANSTON, Ill., April 4 (INS)—"Old College," first building at Northwestern University, stands on the lake shore at the southeast corner of the campus, and is still used as a meeting place for classes. Built in 1855, Old College was then a pretentious structure, 50 by 40 feet and three stories high, with an attic and a belfry. Today it is the only wooden building on the campus.

STORY FAILED NILES, Mich., April 4 (INS)—Justice Hardy Landston could not believe the plea of Chester Moud when he was found drunk and sentenced him to 15 days in jail. Moud, who was found drunk with a half empty bottle of hair tonic in his hand, told the justice he drank the hair tonic to cure a toothache.

Buffalo Bill, Jr., Coming To Queen Friday, Saturday

A thrilling talkie play of the plains, "Trails of the Golden West" will be shown at the Queen theatre beginning Friday. Buffalo Bill, Jr. and Wanda Hawley are co-featured in this production.

The story involves the overland journey of a covered wagon train crossing the great plains and desert waste in the early forties. The film is pecked with suspense and many exciting incidents which depict the many hardships encountered by frontiersmen along the trails that led to the golden west.

It's a story of combat to win against red-skins on the war path, white renegades and the ever present fear of dry water holes. It unfolds a beautiful story of love that will thrill you with its pathos and devotion. You will marvel at the beauty of its natural settings.

FAN LETTERS INFLUENCE SCREEN STAR Nancy Carroll, star of the Ritz theatre feature for Friday and Saturday, "Stolen Heaven," reads every fan letter she receives. That she is influenced by this correspondence is evidenced by her determination to follow the advice of the

James Rennie Gets New Kind Of Role In Nancy's Picture

"Illicit," the Warner Bros. production which comes to the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday features Barbara Stanwyck and James Rennie. Rennie, who has won such favor with the picture public, is cast as a lover who wishes his sweetheart to marry him, but she feels that matrimony is a death-blow to love. Others in the cast are Charles Butterworth, Joan Blondell, Natalie Moorehead, Ricardo Cortez and Claude Gillingwater. Archie Mayo directed.

James Rennie is a Canadian. He graduated from the Collegiate Institute in Toronto, majoring in English. Though the school did not offer a course in navigation, this subject occupied the off hours of the screen favorite. Later his mind turned to air navigation and he was a pilot in the British Royal Flying Corps during the World War. Among his outstanding pictures are "Clothes Make the Pirate," "His Children's Children," "Girl of the Golden West" and "The Bad Man."

STAR PITCHER OF CARDS IS WED

Burling Grimes, St. Louis Cardinals' star hurler, and the former Mrs. Virginia Phelan, of St. Louis, were married at Bradenton, Fla., where the Cardinals are in training. This picture was taken just after the ceremony.

BERGER'S PUNCH TO AID BRAVES IN FLAG RACE

Spry as usual in the "Grapefruit league" pre-season tilts, the Boston Braves this year are working out kinks for the coming National league pennant chase at St. Petersburg, Fla. A large share of the club's power this year rests with "Rabbit" Maranville, veteran shortstop; Lance Richbourg, outfielder; Earl Sheely, hard-hitting first baseman, and Wally Berger, outfielder, who smacked 38 homers last year.

WOMAN HELD AS HAMMER SLAYER

Mrs. Miriam Diller, 34, wife of Herman Diller, New York druggist who was found beaten to death with a hammer, was charged with homicide in connection with his death. A blood-stained hammer was found in the couple's bedroom. Mr. and Mrs. Diller are shown with their children, Howard and Martin.

NEW WITNESSES IN GORDON CASE

New faces appeared in the investigation as Charles B. McLaughlin (right, center), Bronx district attorney, sought to throw light upon the mysterious murder of Vivian Gordon (lower right). The story of Helen Davis (left), "girl friend" of the slain woman, was heard by the grand jury. Two important new witnesses to be examined are Lewis Zeng (shown above, left) and Harold Worthington Doman (center, hiding his face), both friends of the dead woman.

MOTHER SAILS TO AID DAUGHTER

Mrs. James R. Nash (left) of St. Louis, photographed in New York as she sailed for France to join her daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Nirdinger (right), who is being held at Nice charged with killing her husband.

F. A. Bartlett, Kansas City, Mo., musician, legally adopted the girl baby which he's holding despite his wife's revelation she "borrowed" the infant from a mother who couldn't keep it and pretended it was her own.

AUTHOR SLAPS SINCLAIR LEWIS

Sinclair Lewis (left), author of "Main Street" and winner of the 1930 Nobel literary prize, was slapped by Theodore Dreiser, novelist (right), at a dinner in New York. The incident, traceable to a literary feud starting in 1928, occurred when Lewis made remarks about Dreiser when called upon to speak.

Champion Cobbler

Joe Brasington, Gastonia, N. C., was voted champion shoe mender at the convention of shoe dealers in Chicago.

IT'S FOXX AND HIS HOMERS AGAIN

Jimmy Foxx Philadelphia first baseman, was up to his old tricks when the Cardinals and Athletics engaged in a "little world's series" during their spring training in Florida. Foxx is shown crossing the plate after he socked his first home run in a 1931 game. Bing Miller is going to bat.

Apple Blossom Queen

Patricia D. Morton of Winchester, England, who will reign as Queen Shenandoah VIII at the eighth annual Shenandoah apple blossom festival in Winchester, Va., early in May.

MINNESOTA INVITES THE HOOVERS

Dunn's Lodge (above) on Lake Lizzie, near Pelican Rapids, Minn., would be the summer White House if President Hoover could accept an invitation of the Pelican Rapids commercial club. Fishing is good, was an all Minnesota offering.

State Trooper Slain

Sgt. John G. Frey, a New York trooper, was slain by one of two men who had been arrested for vagrancy. The suspects who escaped gave their names as Stanley Chero and William Schernowitz.

SOUTHERN GOVERNORS IN ROW

A statement issued by Gov. Huey P. Long (left), Louisiana, in which he criticized Mississippi road construction and suggested that that state "ought to get out and get itself a governor" was answered by a counter-attack by Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo, Mississippi, who said "Louisiana's politician governor is trying to cover too much territory when he butts in on Mississippi affairs."

Her Death Probed

The mysterious death of Lucia Dickens, vice inquiry witness, who also used the name of Georgia Gray, was investigated by New York officials. Pneumonia first was given as the cause.

GAMBLING LEGALIZED IN NEVADA

Gov. Fred B. Balzar (left) of Nevada signed bills to legalize gambling and to shorten the residence requirement of divorce seekers to six weeks. Above is a scene in Reno, America's "divorce capital." Roulette wheels like the one below are being prepared for business.

PRINCE OF WALES PLAYS POLO IN CHILE

Uncle Walt Smith, chairman of the foods committee for the scout rally announces that he is all set with enough food to feed 400 hungry scouts and scout leaders who will come marching to town on the morning of April 25 for the first rally of the year. If you have never seen this many scouts in one place you have a rare treat in store for you when the parade starts at 9:30 of the 25th.

There will be an executive board meeting of the Buffalo Trail Council in Big Spring Monday evening April 6 at 8:30 p. m. All local members are urged to be present. The matter of the annual council camp will be taken up and decided upon at this time.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits for the first two days of April totaled $425. Permits for the following work were issued:

100 were issued.

85 John Nutt, remodel residence on Lot 4, Block 2, Highland addition.

430 A. B. Gardner, remodel building front 209 1-2 Main street, $225.

The treasure hunters of old had nothing on the Boy Scouts when they started on their first treasure hunt of the year Saturday morning. Scouts, scouts and then some more scouts, some six or seven dozen scouts, in number assembled at the First Presbyterian church at 8:30 a. m. to receive their final instructions. The first clue was given them and a blast of the whistle sent them scurrying to all corners of the city in search of further clues.

The trail carried the boys to Central Ward, Austin-Jones, West Ward School, Old Golf course, top of Seane Drive, over to the Gun Club and then across to the scout council ring in the southeast corner of the city park.

12 Smitty Smith was the first to reach the council ring but found he had had one clue on the way. While he was looking for that clue Clarence Atvis of Troop 2 breezed and wheeled in to cop first prize, a dandy scout ax donated by Handy-Andy. Smitty managed to get back in time to cop second place for Troop 1 and a scout knife for himself. The knife was given by the Courtesy Service Station, J. C. Eady of Troop 2 won the first trophy for Troop 2.

Other scouts came in in the following order: Robert Haley No. 1, William Denton No. 2, Tilman Crane No. 1, Antonio Garcia No. 7, Richard Harr No. 3, Wendell Owen-Cosden No. 7, Jess Hernandez No. 7, Bruce Phillips No. 4, Elvin Berry No. 4. The other 55 or 60 boys were still laboring along the trail at a late hour.

Robert Haley while not winning one of the first three prizes uncovered a box of old coins on top of the Seane Drive. There were eight in the selection from seven or eight different countries.

Notless from Troop 42 of Sweetwater, El of Midland, are that the winner of the rally here the 25th will be each of these troops. It is a difficult proposition to get three first places and in addition to the three self names winners listed above several of the local troops have declared their intentions of copying the first place ribbon. Regardless of which wins there will be plenty of hot competition.

Troop No. 7

Troop No. 7, Boy Scouts (Mexican) were organized by their scout masters Friday into two patrols of ten members each.

The Hound Dog patrol selected Pilar Yanez as patrol leader and Antonio Garcia as assistant. The members of this patrol are Gus Rodriguez, Timoteo Trivino, Antonio Garcia, Joe Yanez, Jesse Hernandez, Luis Contreras, Chon Marquez, Frank Mendoza, Ynez Yanez, and Pilar Yanez.

The Bob Cat patrol selected Aureliano Cenicero as patrol leader and Fidencio Aleman as assistant. Members of this patrol are Victorio Yanez, Fidencio Aleman, Jose Hernandez, Francisco Martinez, Rodolfo Rodriguez, Martin Paredes, Guadalupe Torres, Rosendo Cruz, Eusebio Martinez, and Aureliano Cenicero.

Thirteen of this number have already passed the Tenderfoot test and are now working for Second Class. The troop is making preparation for entrance into the contests for honors in the Scout rally which is to take place in our city on the 25th of this month.

Troop No. 7 is sponsored by the Lions club and it has assumed their responsibility with an ardent interest. Recently it had the scouts at a luncheon at the Settles Hotel. A majority of the troop has secured uniforms and the boys are paying for them by working on afternoons and Saturdays for members of the club.

We are glad to welcome to our ranks a new troop from Wink. Ap

TROOP NO. 1

Troop 1 held its regular weekly meeting at the First Baptist church Friday evening with 18 scouts in attendance. Scoutmaster Charles Quereau was out of town and the assistant scout master, Harshon Morrison, was in charge of this troop.

Teams to compete in the various events of the council rally to be held here this month were organized and put to work. Troop 1 will be represented in every event.

All patrol leaders will attend the patrol leaders training school which will be held during the coming week.

Troop Scribe.

"Queen, point out the woman with the green dress," Gatchell commanded. Queen did that very thing promptly.

Queen, half Collie and half Shepherd, is four years old and knows more than 900 words. Semi is nearly three years old and knows 800 words, said Gatchell.

After-Easter Offering Of Women's Spring Frocks GREATLY UNDERPRICED

At this time of year when women need a change of climate a sale of this type is welcomed. There are frocks of crepe, georgette and prints for smart misses, "young marrieds" and older women to wear. The unusual design, subtle color shemes, fine fabrics will suit the most fastidious woman. They really surpass in good taste and value any frocks we have ever offered at this low price. Sizes 14 to 40.

ALL SALES FINAL
(This does not include our entire stock)

each and every citizen of Big Spring to investigate any or all of our official acts, as well as our records, and if you find where we have wasted your money, you should point out the particular case, or cases, to the city commission, and have us correct them. If the city is not being run, as you would have it run, it is your duty, as a citizen, to suggest the changes that would result in a benefit to the majority of the citizens, and not practice condemnation, unless you are willing to offer a solution for the problems undertaken by your representatives on the city commission.

Fire Department

Surely no one could say that the maintaining of an efficient fire fighting force is waste of the people's money. With our present organization we can depend on at least five men at the fire when the truck arrives, whereas heretofore, volunteers have been depended upon, and in a number of cases there were not enough volunteers in the city to fight fire, as was the case when the Gav building burned on East Third street, before the regular firemen were employed. We do not wish to leave the impression that the effort of the volunteer firemen is not appreciated, but it is natural for them to go ahead with their personal affairs in preference to holding themselves in readiness for fire fighting, when their services are volunteered.

We ask you if you would be in favor of turning back to the gas company the sum of $8,000.00 yearly which is three per cent of the gross receipts of the gas company, plus 25 cents per meter, for the reading of the meter. We are paying the same rate that Sweetwater, Lubbock, Odessa, Midland and Colorado pay for gas, but these cities were not fortunate enough to have a city commission when our gas franchise was acquired. If, as a result of this $8,000.00 per year, the gas was costing citizens more money we would gladly stop un-this revenue, but such is not the case. The gas consumers would not be benefited one cent, if the city commission agreed to relinquish this $8,000.00 per year.

Who is it that would be in favor of amending our charter to eliminate the commission - manager form of government back to the ox-wagon style of aldermanic government, which has been discarded in most progressive cities?

We have spent $2,500.00 of your money on charity in the past twelve months and a big portion of this went for hospital bills, doctor bills, medicine, burials, etc. Now who is ready to say this should not have been done?

Finally, the city commission wishes to serve the public in a way that is pleasing to the majority of the citizens, and if that majority would make their wishes known, the work of the city commission would be simplified.

CITY—

complete plan for the City Park in four sections, with the idea of appropriating funds for one of these sections each year, and in that way at the end of four years the city of Big Spring will have a park that would be a credit to any city in the state. What has been done to date constitutes one fourth of the complete plan.

The city commission has worked on the theory that a park was one thing each citizen could enjoy, and would appreciate. The work done on the park provided labor for many who were in desperate circumstances. In fact, at this time, approximately fifteen men are employed in that work.

Any Objection?
Is there any person, or group of persons, in our city who would offer an objection to the money that has been expended in the development of this enterprise, which is for the pleasure of our entire citizenship?

During the recent water development program a number of extra wells were drilled on land leased from Hardy Morgan, in an effort to insure for Big Spring an adequate supply of water now, as well as providing for the future. Unfortunately Big Spring is one of, if not the most expensive water systems to operate in the state of Texas. Possibly there are many who do not know that at the present time we have pumping equipment, installed six wells, scattered over a distance of seven miles. These facts alone will be sufficient for the average person to know why Big Spring, unfortunately, has a high water rate. It is the intention of the City Commission to continue searching for a water supply of such nature that will permit a material reduction in water rates.

At present the wells now being operated or equipped ready for operation, will produce two and one half million gallons per twenty four hours, which is a supply of two and one half days under consumption.

Why Seek Water?
The question might be asked, why is it necessary to spend more money looking for water, if we have such a supply. The answer to that question is that underground water supplies are treacherous. We have no means of knowing what a heavy draft on this water sand during the summer, and possibly with the T. & P. railroad company taking most of their water from the city, would do to our supply.

If we were as fortunate as our neighboring cities that get their water supply from two or three wells, or an impounded supply, certainly we could have a cheaper water rate.

The water rights on land, other than mentioned above, have been secured from Hardy Morgan, and tests are being made along the lines recommended in 1928 by Hawley, Freese and Nichols, consulting engineers, working in conjunction with E. A. Kelley of our city. This is done with the view of being prepared for any emergency.

The city commission thinks it is acting within the limits of sound business to spend money out of the water department's funds for this purpose, and would like to know if there is anyone who considers this a waste of the citizen's money.

Business Methods

Another thing we submit for your consideration is that Big Spring's city affairs are operated as a business institution. On April 1st, we had in the general fund more than $18,000.00, and in addition to this, we had in the interest and sinking funds enough money to protect warrant and bonded indebtedness. We have recently paid cash for three lots to be held as a possible site for a city hall, paid for all park improvements and all operating expenses from the general fund. We want to invite
