Well In Smith Making Water

TYLER, April 28.—Believed defining one boundary of the Joiner area extension, the Sinclair No. 1 Wiley, a mile and a quarter north-west of the Guy V. Lewis No. 1 Cook, in the James Jordan survey of Smith county, was reported by company officials as making 95 per cent salt water. The plug was run, oil sand being picked up at 3,853 feet.

NEW AIR DEVICE

RIALTO, Calif. (INS).—A novel device which will aid searchers locate lost airplanes has been invented by T. H. Furman of this city. The device consists of a hot air balloon and 100 feet of wire. The balloon is fastened to the fuselage of the plane and in event of a forced landing or a crash it can be released, rising high in the air to direct searchers. The invention was expected to prove a great aid in locating planes which are forced down in isolated or heavily wooded sections.

PROFECY HALTS WORK

BERLIN (INS).—Frightened by the prophecy of a carvovant, who predicted a big mine disaster at Northberg in the Rhine provinces at a certain date, 300 miners of that coal mine failed to report for work on that day. In most cases the miners' wives stopped the alarm clocks, in order to prevent their husbands from waking up in time to go to a supposedly fatal job.

Court To Decide Whether She Has Pair Of Husbands

SWEETWATER, April 28.—The prospect of finding herself legally married to two husbands confronted Mrs. Maria Lucita Barron of Lubbock.

F. E. Barron, Lubbock business man, is one of the husbands. B. T. Owens, of Presidio, from whom Mrs. Barron obtained a divorce here in 1927, may be the other.

Outcome of the queer marital tangle depends upon a case tried Saturday in 32nd district court, the decision in which will be withheld until next Thursday.

And here's how: in March, 1927, Mrs. Barron, then Mrs. Owens, secured a divorce. The couple had a home here, although Mrs. Owens was teaching school in Slaton and Owens was practicing dentistry in the same town.

An agreement was reached between the divorced couple dividing community property, and was written into the final judgment.

Now Owens is seeking a new property division. To secure it the entire judgment, including the divorce, must be set aside.

This can be done, Owens' attorney argues, because the divorce petition did not properly allege that Mr. Barron, the then Mrs. Owens, had lived in Nolan county for six months. In such case, the court here had no jurisdiction in the suit.

Result of setting aside the judgment will leave Mrs. Barron still married to Owens, and also to Barron.

In this case, according to Judge Milburn S. Long, one of the marriages must be annulled. Since both were made in good faith, it would not represent bigamy.

Judge Long last night told Judge R. C. Crann, representing Owens, and Judge W. W. Beall, attorney for Mrs. Barron that he would withhold decision until he returned next Thursday. He will study the puzzling question until then.

One husband or two? Mrs. Barron doesn't know.

Premiums Paid For Road Bonds

TWO PRETTY FACES

PARIS (INS).—Elderly, obstinate authorities who decide what should go on in the Museum of the Louvre, became lenient this week and allowed a pretty, young American girl to have her photograph snapped beside the world famous 'Joconde' by Leonardo da Vinci.

The usual daily crowds were stopped within a few feet of the painting, the photographer appeared on the scene shot the two lovely faces and it was all over in a minute. It is extremely difficult to obtain permission to use any kind of a kodak in the Louvre.

LIKUM AIR CANOE

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y. (INS).—Chief Haake-Na-Ya, his companion Da-Pah a silvermith, and Ye-Na-Bah, a comely squaw, of the Navajo tribe at Gallup, N. M., climbed into a plane here for their first air ride. When they landed a circle gathered around expecting the redmen in medicine show Indian talk to tell about heap big kick. The chief's only comment was, "You know, I'd like to buy one of these and take it home. It's better than a train."

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y. (INS).—The children of Mrs. Walter Allen are going to keep their tonsils despite the complaint of the school doctor, if the mother has anything to say about it.

She refuses also to have the enlarged tonsils of her three children removed because they belonged to a religious cult "at forbids cutting any part of the body, and Mrs. Allen thinks "doctors operate a lot more than they need to." Walter, eight, has tonsils that cause him to suffer epileptic fits, a doctor said.

Pale Floral Tints, Replace White For June Brides' Wedding Gowns

PARIS (AP)—Brides preparing for June weddings this year are choosing bridal gowns of color instead of the once popular white.

Although white bridal gowns still are much worn, many of the prettiest and smartest brides are preparing to march to flower-banked altars in gowns of pale floral tints.

Pale pink, ice blue and rose beige are among the favorite shades.

One bridal gown is designed of shell pink tulle embroidered in seed pearls. Another of pale blue satin has a cloudy veil of ice blue tulle caught at the side with orange blossoms, while a third of palest orchid satin has a filmy orchid veil banded with lavender gardenias.

For the bride who wishes to cling to the white tradition there are white and ivory laces and satins, or white organdies made over satin foundations.

Most of the wedding gowns are simple in design, with long tight sleeves, circular skirts and only medium-long trains. The tulle veil, caught closely about the collar, falls into a voluminous train which gives the length to many spring bridal gowns.

Bouquets continue to be part of the average wedding accoutrement, although several recent brides have varied the procedure by carrying a single stalk of lilies, a misal or a tiny muff matching the wedding gown.

Child attendants are more fashionable than grown-ups these days. One recent Paris bride, who wore a pale blue satin gown, had little girls, wearing a deeper shade of blue satin, as her attendants on the march to the altar.

Many June brides this year are choosing wedding gowns in colors, although white still is popular. Here is an ensemble designed for the 1931 bride.

Widows Of Noted Men Hide Away In Capital Unnoticed By World

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Widows of famous men so successfully seclude themselves in Washington that few know their whereabouts.

The busy world rushes by them as they shut themselves away in their homes and it is only when one of them dies that they appear again for a brief moment in the public interest.

Admiral Dewey's widow, who died recently, once took a brilliant part in Washington society, but had, in her later years, completely withdrawn from all social life. She spent hours, friends say, sitting at an upper window of her house which she had shared with the admiral, watching "traffic" all about her.

Those present were Sidney Robinson, Ralph Lamar, Jack Hutchins, James Williams, Ray Wilson, Billy Mercer, Mrs. G. F. Williams was the leader.

Miss Grace Collard and T. B. Harrison Married In Dallas

T. B. Harrison, assistant manager of the Settles Hotel, and his bride returned Monday afternoon from Dallas. Mrs. Harrison was Miss Grace Collard, of Dallas, before her marriage.

They were married Sunday evening at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. M. E. Lancaster, at 4802 Gaston Avenue. Miss Lary Louise Collard, the bride's sister, was her maid of honor, and Elmer Stevens, a friend of the groom, was Mr. Harrison's best man.

The living room was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of bluebonnets and ferns. The bride came down the stairway, accompanied by her sister and met the groom before a lovely improvised altar of palms and bluebonnets.

The Rev. W. A. Anderson, pastor of the Fundamentalist Baptist Church of Dallas, officiated. An impressive single ring ceremony was used.

The bride wore a very becomingly traveling suit of orchid and beige with matching accessories. Her carriage was of roses.

Only friends of the family were present. The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison will make their home in the Settles Hotel.

This coffee has everything that you want coffee to have because Hills Bros roast it evenly... continuously... a little at a time

TO THOSE carefully chosen coffees which make up the Hills Bros. blend, nature has given the utmost in flavor. And to develop that flavor to the fullest extent, Hills Bros. roast their blend by a process that has no equal in exactness.

Evenly... continuously... a few pounds at a time... the coffee passes through the roasters in which the heat is automatically controlled. Every berry is roasted evenly—to a degree that gives Hills Bros. Coffee its ever-satisfying flavor. What's more, it's a flavor no other coffee has because no other coffee is roasted the same way.

Whenever or wherever you buy Hills Bros. Coffee it is always fresh. Hills Bros.' vacuum packing process removes air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, from the can and keeps it out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh.

Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab—the trademark—on the can.

No can of Hills Bros. Coffee will ever "go stale." The vacuum can keeps it FRESH ALWAYS!

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by Dr. Lago Giddens
Dr. Lago Giddens, Annapolis of Medicine

THE NARCOTIC DRUGS

Opium and its derivatives, morphine and codeine, as well as cocaine, have been called by Sir William Osler, "God's own medicine."

In many conditions, the narcotic drugs are the only agents which the physician can employ to make life tolerable and to relieve a patient from excruciating pain.

In certain conditions, such as in those suffering with gall stones, or when a kidney stone is passing down through a ureter or when the pancreas is inflamed, the suffering is so great that the afflicted individual prefers death. Under such circumstances, the narcotic drugs are a God-send.

Again, there are times when adversity is too much for man. Grief, sorrow or disappointment rob him of all ability to relax. Sleep cannot be won, and the fevered brain reels on in a mad dance.

Here too "increase of sorrow," as the poet puts it, can be secured through the use of one of the milder narcotics.

There are also the hopeless sick, those suffering from inoperable cancers, whose few remaining days on earth can be made tolerable by one or another of the narcotic drugs.

In all these circumstances and in many others, the narcotic drugs are indispensable.

And yet the unique nature of "God's own medicine" makes possible the great tragedy of drug addiction, which afflicts, it has been estimated, more than a million persons in the United States.

It is a common belief that many drug addicts result from prolonged medical treatment with narcotics. Even by taking the often unreliable word of the addicts not more than 25 percent charge their plight to medical experience.

More often addiction results when one who with little will power takes narcotics to achieve an artificial state of happiness.

MYSTERIOUS WAY

SYNOPSIS: When the wife of the wealthy John Way, Claire leaves him, his consolation is his daughter, Rosemary. But her happy life together is interrupted by her abduction, and Wayne pledges his life and riches to recover her and trap the crooks.

WAYS HOPE DEFERRED

I had returned in search of further loot, to see whether his victim were dead or not, to recover something incriminating that he had dropped.

Or had he perhaps seen me kneeling by the body, and fearing that I had seen sufficient of him to be able to identify him, had returned to silence me?

Very improbable, as I certainly did not look like a person who might be worth robbing—dressed as I was for the part that I was playing.

These thoughts flashed through my mind as I rose to my feet, to face a policeman—who, I felt, stood menacingly glaring his other hand resting on the pistol that protruded from its opened holster.

"Put 'em up," he growled, "and."

I put one up like lightning, straight from my hip to the point of his jaw, and even as the tremendous blow went home, I realized that in my sudden wrath, I had committed the most foolish act of my life.

No judge would believe my story that the policeman had struck me first, struck me down without a word.

Not even if the policeman had admitted it, would he have been severely blamed for adopting that method of arresting what he supposed to be a murderous highway robber, caught in the very act of examining with wet blood-stained hands the purse he had so violently and brutally stolen.

No, I had made an awkward position into one just about as dangerous as it could be. Had I meekly accepted the situation, I might possibly have been able to prove that I was not the thief and murderer, or, failing that, I might perhaps have been given the benefit of the doubt at a later date.

But in the most unfortunate and suspicious circumstances in the world, I had acted in the worst possible way—by my own act confirming the suspicions.

Why should an innocent man resist arrest, and with such desperate violence?

My blood boiled at the thought that I had been betrayed by this ruffianly policeman's illegal violence into doing that which would send me to prison, and so interfere with my life's business, of tracking down Rosemary's murderers.

As the policeman drew his pistol, I struck again with all my strength, and even as I did so, again blamed myself for what I was doing.

But no reason told me that if I could double the man and get away, I might yet escape the net in which fate and my folly had enmeshed me.

All this had flashed through my mind in the time it takes to deliver a couple of swift blows.

My first had sent the policeman staggering back, probably a little dazed and shaken. My second knocked him down, but not out.

I now rushed, and kicked with all my strength—not at the prostrate man's head or body, but at the hand that grasped the pistol. This I sent flying, and, as the policeman scrambled swiftly to the point of his jaw. This he perth dodged, caught me a splendid clip with his left and swung up his club to brain me as I staggered.

Ducking, I sprang in, flung my arms about him, and heavily we fell together to the ground.

Suddenly by a kind of mutual consent, we released holds and scrambled to our feet. Instantly I struck, and again I got in a heavy blow before his club whirled away. Then the club fell, and as it did so, I raised my almost useless left arm to protect my head while I delivered a tremendous drive that was to finish the fight.

Almost simultaneously we struck, and as my left arm broke, so did the policeman's jaw. As I staggered back, he dropped without a sound, and lay like a sack of flour, inert and motionless.

THE WHEEL

(Rolled by the students of Big Spring High School)

300 To Appear In May Fete

The Wheel Program Announced By Miss Wingo, Sponsor Of High School Spectacle

Published each Tuesday by the students of Big Spring High School through the courtesy of the Big Spring Daily Herald.

Editor: Gertrude Martin
Associate Editor: Cecil McDonald

Editor: Miss Jacqueline Ruffner
Reporters: Carmen Compton, Nancy Davis, R. V. Jones, L. A. Wright, Jr., Hudson Hentze, Worth Vanatta, Fred Roberg, Bill Van-ta, Catherine Van Open, Vera Debenport, Bob Ridwell, Louise Hayes.

In accordance with an old English custom, approximately three hundred high school girls will take part in a May Fete to be presented on Friday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. Music for the occasion will be furnished by high school students as follows: Nancy Davis, piano; Walter Deats, saxophone; L. A. Wright, violin; and Beverly Rockhold, flute.

The queen's royal attire will be a display of great splendor. The train, which was especially designed by her and Mrs. Wilburn Barredas as Miss Waco in the Cotton Palace, is made of chiffon and is embroidered with gold sequins in fish design. The train harmonizes beautifully with the queen's dress and dapples which are sea-green in color. The crown with which Superintendent Blankenship, as the archbishop, will proclaim Her Majesty the Queen is made of white and emerald rhinestones. It was designed and made by Miss Georgia Kirk Davis of the B. S. H. S. faculty.

Miss Kitty Wingo, instructor of physical education and sponsor of the affair, has announced the following program:

Chatter Here, Moreso There About Things

(By Lucille Rix)

Well, it's over! Of course, everyone should know what I'm thinking about—the Junior-Senior Banquet. The ability of these girls at school to make themselves charming for their boy friends is really remarkable. Beautiful girls, beautiful gowns and handsome young men!

What more could one desire for a perfect picture with the Settles ballroom as a setting! And it was so appropriately decorated!

There should have been several detectives, or perhaps a squadron of them at the banquet—so I've heard. There was a certain person who kindly gave himself the job of keeping a watchful eye on the silverware. Maybe someone turned the tables on him. Really? We're not that bad—and some of high school students have had some lessons in etiquette at home—and some of them have some common sense. I wonder if some of the teachers will ever be able to forgive the boys and girls who took the flowers from the vases on the tables. After all, we're only humans—when a person feels inclined to be lively—which he certainly cannot be while in school—don't condemn him—give him credit for surviving!

Surely was a good dance at the Crawford Friday night—lots of amateurs attended. Surely was crowded too. If one didn't get his neck stepped on by some one's sarcastic remark—the got his foot stepped on by a stray number twelve. But so far, every one has lived over it. Thank goodness!

Respectability seems to be the main topic for discussion lately. We wonder if everyone wouldn't be just a little bit happier if the older people didn't have a little more respect for the younger people. You know, inferior people have sensitive feelings. Try this on your piano.

And now the Seniors have to write a theme about their leisure time. Now I ask you—do such busy persons as Seniors have leisure time?

The Seniors also have a chance to display their dramatic ability due to the fact that the Senior Class play which is entitled "Fowl Play" is about to get underway. Right now I couldn't say just who will have the lead, but we guess whoever it is will be all right. We can't all get first. We'll just have to be satisfied with what we rate and wish power to the others.

Mr. Bedichek complimented the table at which I happened to be seated at the banquet Thursday night by saying something to the effect of a choral club. Thanks, Mr. Bedichek, we never had any idea that we were so good.

Speaking about choral clubs reminds me of the group of girls that go over to a certain person's house every day at noon singing to their heart's delight. I guess it's a choral club—sounds pretty good though. They get pretty sentimental at times. Someone, or all of them were singing that very popular song called "Heartaches" one day last week just like they really did have a heartache. Maybe someone of them had been hurt by someone and only through song were they able to give vent to their feelings. They do that in the movies. Listen in some time. Entertaining to say the least.

Everyone take notice. The Seniors' English classes had a picnic Friday evening at the City Park! This is indicative of life in the old school yet. Where there's life there's bound to be hope. So don't be discouraged. Use Lifebuoy. It seems to have been a big affair. They had picnics and ice cream and everything that goes with a picnic. They played three deep too. Everyone says that they had a big time so I guess all of them did.

Seems like the weather question is firmly imprinted on my mind. Some time ago I said something about warm days, etc. Now what do you think about a place where the weather is so changeable that one never knows whether to bundle up in last winter's coat or to come blossoming out in last year's summer dress? It's so trying one's god nature.

Rev. J. T. McKissick
At School Assembly
At the regular assembly period on Monday, April 27, the students were favored by an address by Rev. J. T. McKissick who is conducting a revival service at the First Christian Church.

Mr. Gentry introduced Rev. Lindley, who in turn introduced the speaker.

Rev. McKissick brought a message on Success, bringing out the following points. The key to success is "work." When a student goes to school they receive instruction and examples are set for them. Then the student must be obedient to their parents and teachers.

This program was enjoyed by all present.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Senators and Minorities

Philadelphia Public Ledger
A SENATOR may be sure of reelection by the majority if nominated, but he is always in danger of being defeated for re-nomination. So senators in voting on measures before them in the senate take into account organized minorities of a few hundred votes.

When a minority turns up with nominal control of 50,000 or 100,000 votes in a state the senator from that state rushes to do its bidding. Of course, if a senator comes from a state which is itself closely politically he is doubly worried about the requests of organized minorities.

Such a senator may be beaten either in the primaries or, if not afterward in the election, if he alienates a comparatively small minority of voters.

Can't Be Said Too Often

Marshall News
CARL WILLIAMS, member of the federal farm board, warns the Southern cotton farmer of impending disaster if he continues to produce large cotton crops. He says the Soviet government of Russia announces that that country will increase its yield of cotton this year by 80 percent. Hereafter Russia has been buying an average of 400,000 bales from this country, but expects to sell to other countries this year no less than a million bales.

We not only lose a customer but gain a competitor in this way. Mr. Williams urges that the South diversify and that what cotton is raised must be produced at the lowest possible expense. The farmers of the South must somehow learn to feed themselves or agriculture is doomed. There seems to be a prevalent impression that the cause of distress among the tenant farmers of this section was the drought of last year. This is almost entirely untrue. This county made almost a normal crop of cotton but the low price and the failure to plant food crops was why the Red Cross was needed. It is not likely the price will improve this year. In fact the indications are it may be lower. But the farmer can fortify himself against hunger for himself and family by planting food crops. This East Texas soil will produce a dozen food crops in abundance. Has the lesson been learned? If not the farmer's case is hopeless.

W. W. Barker Bankers

Life Representative
W. W. Barker, formerly of Tulsa, who has been a resident of Big Spring since last December, has been appointed special representative of the Bankers Life Co. of Des Moines, Ia. Mr. Barker is a brother-in-law of Stanley J. Davis, chief engineer at the Couden Oil Company refinery.

A. D. Haynes, district agent of the company, with headquarters in San Angelo has been in Big Spring for several days training Mr. Barker in underwriting work.

Eliminating The Hokum

A GOOD deal of the money business attending the injection of the insanity issue into criminal cases has been removed by a bill signed Thursday by Governor Ross Sterling.

The new bill, offered by Senator Woodward of Coleman, will permit insanity affidavits to be made only by two physicians, of the superintendent of a state hospital.

We are going to work upon a good many of our modern judicial practices as they are, but such is not always the case. For instance more than forty years ago the Abilene Reporter and other newspapers were giving the insanity doctrine "Hot Columbia Happy Land." It seems that the doctrine crept up in almost every criminal case, and was invariably called a "dodge." Yet not every such plea is a mere device to escape punishment. A good many criminals are abnormal or subnormal mentally.

Respectably seems to be the main topic for discussion lately. We wonder if everyone wouldn't be just a little bit happier if the older people didn't have a little more respect for the younger people. You know, inferior people have sensitive feelings. Try this on your piano.

And now the Seniors have to write a theme about their leisure time. Now I ask you—do such busy persons as Seniors have leisure time?

Suggestions For Writing Your Want Ad

You want results from your Want Ad. Then give it a better chance by wording it for the convenience of the reader.

The reader of your Ad seeks ALL the information about the article or the service you are advertising. Tell him ALL and tell him the TRUTH.

Unless you do, in all probability he'll answer another Ad which does.

Emphasize the best points in your proposition. Always state the price. People are vitally interested in prices. If omitted, they may believe your price is too high.

Give complete address and phone number. Write plainly. Make figures and initials carefully to prevent errors.

Order your Ad for three or seven days. Lower rates are offered for such service—and the returns are practically assured.

Just Imagine!

By Cecil McDonald

There is a little talk that work will start immediately on the new Big Spring high school. It is to be built of white and black marble and will cost $50,000. It is being built for the complete 10th and 11th grades. Plans call for the installation of four big spud elevators, a soda fountain and lunch room on the first floor, and an up-to-date barber shop, club rooms with pool and domino tables, and many other modern improvements.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on Wednesday, May 20th, 1931, at 10 o'clock a. m., the regular annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Texas and Pacific Northern Railway Company will be held at the office of the company in the City of Big Spring, Texas, for the transaction of such business as may properly come before the board.

Life Meant Much

Life meant so much to "Rock" in his short span he contributed to an amazing range of activity. If, in its course, he was set upon a pedestal by his hero worshippers, it is also true that he was quite capable of stepping off it to maintain his personal balance and popularity.

Hard to Question

At luncheon Rockne had plied me with so many questions that I had difficulty plugging the features of my own trade. What was going to happen at Yale? Would Adam Walsh be the next coach there?

Bouquets And Brickbats

By CURTIS BISHOP

One of the sport "naturals" of the current month should be the visit of the House of David Team, traveling club from Benton Harbor, Michigan, to Big Spring on May 7, bringing with them their colorful manager, Grover Cleveland Alexander, and their spotlights that will send shafts of daylight to even the darkest corner of the local baseball diamond, though the game itself is doubtful if Alexander, who once entered the deciding game of a wild oerles and retired Gehrig, Ruth and Lazzeri in succession with the tying run at third base, will make a personal appearance on the mound during the stay of the Bearded Beauties in this city, but at least spectators will have opportunity of witnessing the greatest traveling club in baseball. That the game will be played under lights should be an added attraction, since night baseball has become the latest thing in sport circles, even being adopted by such leagues as the Texas and the Southern association.

One of Big Spring's best athletes will face the greatest test of her career Saturday when Ruby Smith, local girl who won the tennis championship of District 8, will meet a girl from Mineral Wells for the bi-district championship. The match will be played at one o'clock Saturday afternoon on the Simmons courts at Abilene.

Miss Smith's chances of winning the right to represent this section of the country in the state meet are good. After three years of one defeat after another, with diligent practice thrown in between her matches, she arrived at the peak of her form in time to turn back Edith Wharton of Abilene in the district finals in straight sets to complete as thorough a conquest of District 8 as any girl has ever accomplished, not even excepting such feminine aces as Quantis Adams of Post and Earline Silvey of Abilene, both of whom placed high in state meets.

Coach "Olie" Bristow has ceased instructing his spring candidates in the manly art of tackling and side-stepping. At present Bristow's material seems rather 'poor, but the lightweight and novice arrayed for his inspection during the two weeks of practice were willing at least. Roy Lamb, a former running mate of Bristow's at Oklahoma U., assisted Olie in rendering instruction, as did Ben Daniels, who formerly coached the Sweetwater Hoosters, for years a "Texas" strongest junior organization.

Though the short training season brought out a few prospective sensations Bristow stole a march on his predecessors by shifting Oscar Heibison, who eked out a letter at last year, to a backfield position. Heibison is built close to the ground, is fast, and with the exception of a tendency to fumble and to forget signals, was the outstanding back on the field.

Bristow was unfortunate in his selection of a year to begin his coaching career. Of the promising eleven that flunked out in the middle of the football season last year after holding Breckenridge to a creditable score and defeating Eastland only four have returned. Flowers, Coats, Heibison, and Hooper are the returning veterans.

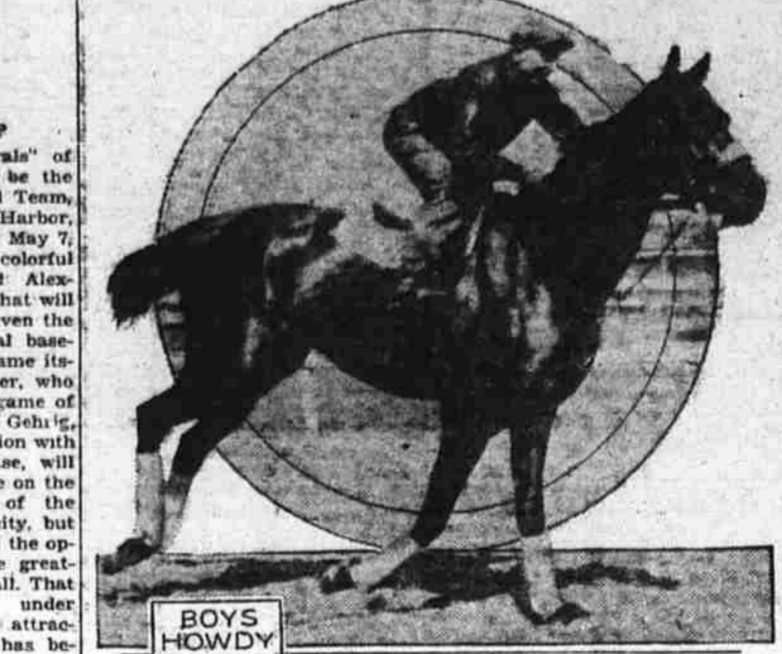

And yet it is the writer's opinion that he will be a success. One cannot properly estimate the popularity of the former Sooner star, and every youth in Big Spring will give in his opinion that Bristow is one of the smartest as well as one of the best athletes to ever appear in any form of sport. He is even regarded as an authority upon tennis.

Each room is to have a built-in cuspidor and smoking stand with detachable ash-trays. The wood work, furniture and walls will harmonize with the deep Persian rugs in soft tones.

Plans are being contemplated for a large ventilated ball room on the second floor in which to hold the students weekly dance.

Books will be carried to and from the school buses by well-trained porters.

NOMINATED FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

Boys Howdy, an E. R. Bradley castoff now racing for the Canadian sportsman, H. C. Hatch, was a sensation of the winter season at Havana. He was nominated for the Kentucky derby at Churchill Downs, May 16.

Ruby Smith, District Champion, To Face Mineral Wells Player In Bi-District Tennis Match

Ruby Smith, Big Spring girl who won the singles championship of District 8, will face the ranking No. 1 of the Mineral Wells district 8 championship team in the bi-district finals at Abilene Saturday. The match will be played on the Simmons University courts at one o'clock.

SPORTSIANTS

By Alan Gould

There has been no greater tribute to any figure in all the history of American sport than the spontaneous and heart-felt character of expressions all over the country following Knute Rockne's tragic death.

Walter Camp, Percy Haughton, Tex Rickard, Miller Huggins, Ban Johnson all have passed on in recent years, leaving records of remarkable achievement and leadership. Beyond these factors Rockne left the effect of his astounding personality in the hearts of boys and men he knew.

It is not exaggerating to say that youths who learned their football or spent much of their college careers under Rockne's influence, now grown to maturity, held a rare affection for the genius of Notre Dame.

Rockne made almost everyone he met feel that his interest in them and what they were doing was genuine. He had the knack of being intimate while also asserting a mass influence felt by those who knew him only through what they read or saw.

Newspapermen, players, coaches, business associates all appreciated the compelling, magnetic character of the man, his extraordinary breadth of vision, command of language, vivid imagination and grasp of essentials.

All of us like to remember "Rock" in his bantering, humorous moods. He likes to leave 'em laughing, and it was with a smile and a warning not to bet on the wrong horse that I last said good-bye to him and Mrs. Rockne on the Biscayne Boulevard of Miami, bound for the Hialeah track.

CAT MOTHERS RATS. MARION, Ohio (INS).—Although well-known for her ability to exterminate rodents, an Angora cat here mothered nine baby rats when their mother failed to return after a foraging trip. The feline's owner placed "nabby" in the rat's nest and left her to wipe them out. Returning later, he found the cat happily feeding and comforting her charges.

Underground Water Important Resource Of West Texas Areas

Underground water, also called ground water, one of the greatest resources of Texas, is especially common in West Texas.

The Toyah Basin in Reeves, Pecos, Jeff Davis, and Culberson counties was found to be a promising area of underground water.

Other ground water investigations in West Texas will be made in the Palo Verde, in the El Paso area and the valley of the Rio Grande below El Paso.

The Toyah Basin in Reeves, Pecos, Jeff Davis, and Culberson counties was found to be a promising area of underground water.

Wastage of water in the Carrizo sandstone belt is criticized in the report, which points to the necessity for controlling valves on the artesian wells.

Summary of Area: The summary given of the western Texas area—the Toyah Basin is a vast area whose ground-water resources can undoubtedly be more extensively developed than they are at present.

In the vicinity of Barstow water from wells is especially valuable to supplement the supply from the river at certain times when the river is low.

TOYAH BASIN IN REEVES COUNTY: The Toyah basin is situated in the eastern part of Trans-Pecos Texas and occupies all of Reeves county, the eastern part of Culberson county, the northern parts of Jeff Davis and Pecos counties, and parts of Loving, Ward and Crane counties.

About 9,000 acres are irrigated in the Fort Stockton section of the basin at the Comanche Springs.

North Concho Dam Granted Angelo, Carlsbad Parties

AUSTIN, Texas, April 22. (UP)—The state board of water engineers today granted a permit to Mrs. Lulu Jane Turner of Carlsbad, Texas, and R. W. Stepp of San Angelo to dam the north Concho river in Tom Green county for irrigation purposes.

The application of J. M. Wagstaff of Abilene for a permit to erect a dam in Elita Blanca canyon, tributary to the Canadian river, was postponed until June 29.

The basis of the claims of plaintiffs to the mineral rights on the lands is an application filed for permits to prospect for minerals on these lands asserted by other permits had been properly filed and before the lands according to the plaintiffs, had been lawfully patented.

Patman To Seek Impeachment Of Andrew Mellon At Next Session

AUSTIN, April 22 (UP)—Wright Patman, congressman from Texas, said here yesterday he would seek the impeachment of Andrew Mellon, veteran secretary of the treasury, at the next session of congress, which convenes in December.

Patman said impeachment would be the only way to oust Mr. Mellon because President Hoover would refuse to submit his name to the senate again for confirmation.

Patman charged Mr. Mellon was holding office in violation of the law, because he was interested in the "business of trade or commerce," and was a part owner of one or more seagoing vessels.

Patman predicted he would get considerable support for his resolution proposing an impeachment trial from friends of the war veterans.

Senator Glass Attacks Cannon

WASHINGTON, April 22. (UP)—Senator Carter Glass, Dem., Va., has renewed his feud with Bishop James Cannon, Jr., in a statement ridiculing the bishop's plea of sickness and proposing that his constitutional objections be ignored.

SAND DUNES

ALAMOSA, Colo. (INS)—The sand dunes of the San Luis Valley, sixty square miles of brilliant, constantly shifting drifts, rivaling the deserts of Arabia in their lure and mystery, will become a national monument if plans being made by Alamosa and Monte Vista civic groups are carried out.
