A STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLE

There is no element more important to a free society than a "loyal opposition." In Western civilization, the concept of a loyal opposition has protected the rights of minorities, has given substance to the legislative processes of self-government and at all times has been a champion of the oppressed. The principle of a loyal opposition is in jeopardy because of a tendency to arbitrarily classify people as moderates, liberals or conservatives--terms which have become virtually meaningless.

For more than 50 years, the Industrial News Review has pursued a nonpartisan editorial policy which, historically speaking, is liberal. Its editors believe in a maximum of individual freedom and a minimum of government.

Notwithstanding the "complexities" of the problems of the time, there is no higher goal than the preservation of the rights and freedom of the individual. They are the basis of Christianity. They are the sole reason for being. If the edifice of modern civilization does not keep the individual foremost in the scheme of things, it will crumble. The devices which we see around us today, designed to protect and care for people in a mass, pay little more than lip service to the individual. Our land can be beautiful; our buildings majestic; our homes opulent; and our highways marvels of engineering--we may have all of these and still be desolate and defeated. What of the minorities who have been shunted aside by urban renewal? What of the countless enterprises from farms to electric power, from medicine to natural resources--fields of human endeavor too numerous to mention--which are being restricted, emasculated or made subservient to a master plan?

The danger is that programs, well intentioned as they may be, designed to protect and care for people in the mass, will lose sight of the individual and see only a vast accumulation of human statistics. It is this danger that must be resolutely guarded against. We all want higher living standards, a more beautiful land, finer homes and buildings, greater opportunity for recreation, adequate help for the ill and the needy. But there will be small profit in them if man, the individual man, is subjugated to the implacable will of the state and shorn of rights, responsibilities, liberties and duties which are his due and his destiny.

The great question, which must soon be answered, is what path will we take and will we see and profit from the danger signs that flank the way. Material progress is not an end in itself.

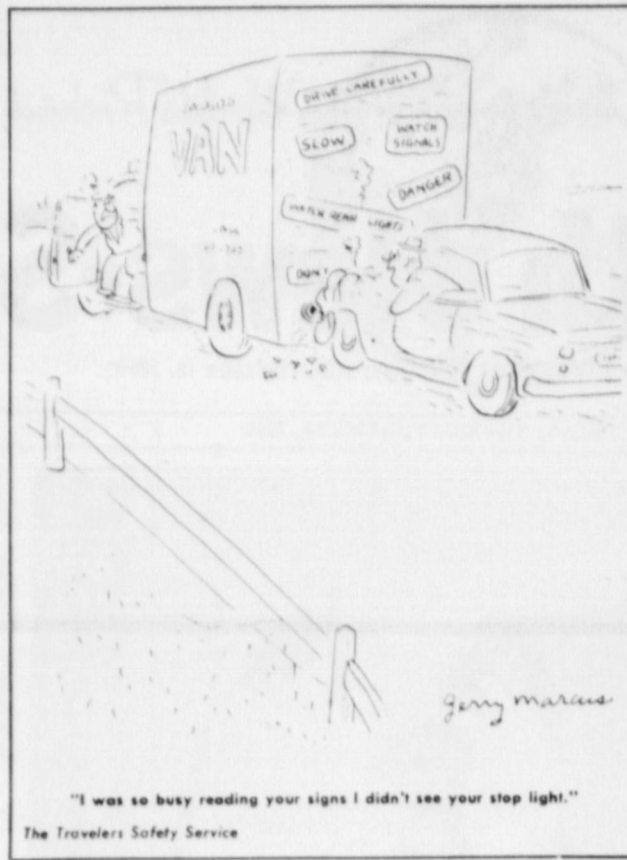

The Industrial News Review believes there is a place as never before for a loyal opposition--an opposition to speak without regard to political party in behalf of the individual, in behalf of private enterprise, private initiative and the right of self-determination. In its weekly comment to newspapers in every corner of our great land, the Industrial News Review presents ideas and opinions in support of the individual, the industries and the institutions which have brought this nation unparalleled progress.

It does not expect everyone to agree with its views, but as its states across the state each week, a free interchange of ideas will enable our people to arrive at fair and intelligent decisions on questions of public interest.

If it is destined to be cast in the role of "loyal opposition," it will play that role with conviction and good will.

A Tragedy of Errors by Jerry Marcus

"I was so busy reading your signs I didn't see your stop light." The Travelers Safety Service

Carelessness and inattention are killers on the highway.

Pretty Weather Could Kill You

Death had a field day in 1964 on American Highways. Last year, according to the annual report of the Travelers Insurance Companies, 48,000 lives were lost on the highways and 3,840,000 persons suffered injuries.

And a look to the future is even more disconcerting. More cars are being added to already congested highways. More miles are travelled each year in automobiles. With this in mind, it is a frightening likelihood that even more persons will be killed or injured in highway accidents.

The American highway system is being enlarged daily, but construction can't keep up with the number of cars being produced. Cars are made to last longer, the post war baby boom has skyrocketed the number of young drivers on the roads, and the young driver is blamed for a greater proportion of the accidents than other age groups.

Driver error, lack of judgement and excessive speed all are major factors in the accident statistics. Fog, rain and snow are becoming less incident to the figures. In 1962, for example, less than 85% of the death and injury producing accidents occurred in clear weather. In 1963 the figure climbed to more than 80% and in 1964 to about 90%.

This indicates that the driver is beginning to take it easy in bad weather, but at the same time is becoming more reckless in clear weather.

Perhaps the safety messages concerning fog, rain and snow have gotten across to the motorist. At the same time, however, he has developed a false sense of security in good weather. This false sense of security can kill him.

And it could kill you!

Jack Rylant welcomed the parents and served as master of ceremonies for the evening. It was announced that 52 boys were re-registered with the Scouts and 16 adults, making the largest number ever to register from Earth. Steve Jackson and Eddie Sam Jones conducted the flag ceremony. Boys receiving Life Scout ranks were: Kelley O'Hair, Thomas Mann, Elbert Rudd, Jimmy Littleton, Delbert Rudd, Eddie Sam Jones, and Steve Jackson. Each boy receiving Life Scout badges in turn presented their mothers with miniature Life Scout pins.

The boys were encouraged to continue to do their best in Scouting and to work even harder toward becoming Eagle Scouts by committee man, Bill Mann. Travis Jaques, announced that the boys would not attend the District Camporee on the George White ranch this year but would have a camporee of their own, the date to be announced later.

The Boy Scouts have been using their new flag pole, donated by the El Paso Natural Gas Plant, during regular Scout meetings and are very proud of it. Jaques announced that 30 boys have signed up for camp so far and stressed church attendance of the boys for making better Scouts and citizens of them.

The mothers of the Raven Patrol served refreshments, following the meeting.

Spray new Caparol when planting your cotton to control weeds.

Spray new Caparol* in a band or broadcast when planting your cotton for effective, early-season control of most annual broadleaf weeds... like carelessweed (pigweed), annual morning glory, cocklebur, lambsquarter and many other problem weeds.

You'll also get control of many grass-type weeds, such as crabgrass and goosegrass.

Early-season weed control with Caparol means you'll be able to eliminate that first, slow cultivation. So you won't be plowing out or covering up young cotton. All it takes is moisture to move Caparol into the soil.

You can also apply new Caparol after your cotton is up six inches or higher, or at layby. Just direct the spray to the base of the plants and apply to weeds no larger than two inches in height.

Whatever program you decide on, you'll have no soil residue carryover to harm next year's spring-seeded crops when you use Caparol.

Ask your local supplier or custom spray applicator for new Caparol. Geigy Agricultural Chemicals, Division of Geigy Chemical Corporation, Ardsley, New York.

Former Correspondent Queen Candidate At ENMU

The 30th annual Ag Club Rodeo at Eastern New Mexico University will be staged Friday and Saturday (April 30-May 1) at the Mounted Patrol Arena in Portales.

The prize in the competition will be a new roping saddle which will go to the contestant winning the "All-Around Cowboy" title. The runner-up will receive a pair of hand-made boots or a $50 scholarship to Eastern.

Floyd McAllister of Floyd, Ag Club president, said 85 entries have been received--60 Eastern students and 25 high school seniors. A trophy belt buckle will be awarded to the winner in each event.

Events for the rodeo will include calf roping, ribbon roping, bull riding, bareback riding, girls' barrel race, and girls' goat tying.

A highlight of the rodeo will be the naming of the rodeo queen. The announcement will be made during the annual rodeo assembly at 11 a. m. Friday in the ballroom of the Campus Union.

Queen candidates are Jan Borden, Portales Junior; Sheryl Stevens, Earth, who was formerly Pleasant Valley correspondent for the Earth News-Sun; freshman; Barbara Sturgeon, Santa Fe sophomore; and Carolyn Tate, Clovis junior.

The annual rodeo parade will begin at 12:30 p. m. Saturday at the Liberal Arts Building, proceed on Second Street to Main, then north to Price's Creamery. Leading the parade will be the rodeo queen and Dr. Donald C. Moyer, university president.

Prizes will be given in two divisions of the parade--university floats and mounted patrols. Floats will receive either a trophy or cash. The cash prizes will be $20, $15, and $10. A trophy will be awarded to the mounted patrol winner.

This week has been proclaimed by Dr. Moyer as "Rodeo Week." His proclamation read, "It is my pleasure to proclaim the week of April 26-May 1 as Rodeo Week at Eastern New Mexico University. I hope each person at Eastern will observe this fine western tradition during this week by participating in all rodeo activities."

Rodeo performances at the Mounted Patrol Arena will be at 7:30 p. m. Friday and 2 p. m. Saturday. The rodeo will be climaxed with a dance Saturday at 8:30 p. m. in the Campus Union Ballroom. Music will be provided by the "Aggie Ramblers Western Band."

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Smith honored his father, W. B. Smith, Amherst, with a 90th birthday dinner in their home Monday, April 26. Also present were Mrs. Effie Beach, Amherst, Roney and Carol Smith.

Weekend guests in the C. L. Hamilton home were Mr. and Mrs. Bo Bryant and children of Dimmitt.

Area Farmers Try Mulch Experiment

Melvin Barton, who farms south of Hereford and D. L. Thompson have each planted five acres of cotton in a plastic mulch experiment. A third farm, operated by Charles and Harland Frye, has a one-acre plot of mulched onions.

The farmers hope to gain increased yields; early planting, about two weeks before other farmers start; few weed problems; decrease in irrigation; and earlier vegetable markets. It was estimated that there was cost of $50 per acre on installations, but a prediction that costs could be brought down to $30 or $35 by next year.

Narrow plastic strips of polyethylene plastic are used in test plots for the mulch. They stretch the length of the rows, warming the soil, conserving water, choking out weeds, and preventing erosion, hoping to increase yields.

The program, sponsored by the Spencer Chemical Division of the Gulf Oil Corp has already been used and become popular in Arizona.

If the crops yield according to plans, new agricultural practices could ensue in the future.

Assign Gilmore To Midwest Relay Station

Weekend guests in the C. L. Hamilton home were Mr. and Mrs. Bo Bryant and children of Dimmitt.

Yesterday's Small Fry-Today's Seniors

No. 1 Wholesome and Happy

This little Miss wore that happy wholesome smile like a badge of identification in those early years of childhood. Today, though a grown young lady, a senior in high school, she has maintained a wholesome outlook on life and the smile is so characteristic of her radiant personality.

She loves sports, however, her favorite of all sports is basketball, and she has played forward on our super femmes team throughout her high school years. For a hobby, she has chosen tennis, it keeps her in shape.

She loves to read Daphne Du Maurier's books, however, busy seniors find little or no time for reading, as the pace picks up as they go into the final four weeks of schooling.

At the movies she likes Paul Newman and Paula Prentiss, while on TV, her favorite program is "Peyton Place."

Her favorite song is "Stranger On the Shore," and her favorite color is blue.

At the table her favorite food is shrimp, and she can usually put away her fair share. She has attended Springlake - Earth Schools throughout her school career.

C.E. BOWLES, Secretary of Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, Lubbock, discussed cotton marketing at the Earth Co-op Stockholder's meeting Monday night in the Springlake Earth School Cafeteria.

Aloha Nui Nui Cub Scout News

By: Marsha Dawson

Aloha! Saturday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. the members of the 1965 eighth grade class of Springlake-Earth Junior High attended one of the most important events to remember, their banquet.

As each person entered, he was given a lei and then saw the beautifully decorated cafeteria, centering its scenes around the Polynesian theme. In the front entrance, a bamboo print covered two walls. On the back wall of the cafeteria hung a fish net with decorative sea shells and animals. The front portrayed a beautiful scene of a Polynesian with a guitar, leis, a large palm tree, beachcomber hats, orchids, and palm leaves encircling the word "Aloha" in orchid letters.

The center of the room was an island. It was made of imitation green grass, surrounded by sand, covered with many beautiful shells and sea animals. On the grass was a grass hut, a waterfall, and a tree, featuring a variety of fruit beneath it. Each table had a centerpiece composed of a Hawaiian light, a palm tree, two Hawaiian figures, and orchids.

The invocation was given by Gary Haberer, followed by the Welcome, which Ricky Byers gave. Mr. Mann gave the response.

By candlelight, the Luau took place. It consisted of a delicious green salad, accompanied with crackers, dressing, and punch. The main course consisted of chicken-fried steak, stuffed potatoes with cheese, green beans, hot rolls, butter, and iced tea. The meal was completed with delicious strawberry shortcake and whipped cream.

Neal Armstrong, master of ceremonies, announced the talented Joan Baccus, the special guest from Wayland. She and two other guests entertained the group for thirty delightful minutes. Then, the Springlake-Earth School Stage Band played several numbers, which were enjoyed by all.

Madame Luna (Judy Hitt) and Delbert Rudd gave the prophecy. The scene took place in a gypsy booth. As part of the prophecy, an "old maid" play was given by Jamie Washington, Cathy Dent, Kathy Sectors, Kathy Myers, and Marsha Dawson.

A group of eighth grade girls sang "Moments to Remember." They were LaCretia Washington, Ann Bearden, Brenda Clayton, Ann Bearden, Shieela Blackwell, Susy Ruby, Jennifer Angeley, and Jody Angeley. The pianist was Marsha Dawson. The benediction, given by Steve Jackson, closed an evening enjoyed by all.

TAILWATER RETURNED

Water is money to the Farmer! It means increased production and increased profit! Gifford Hill-Western can design and install a Tailwater Return System that can make your water produce more profit from your farm. Check these advantages:

1. 20 to 25 percent increase in additional water for irrigation purposes.
2. Use of a large head of water to get water to end of rows quicker, providing more uniform moisture penetration.
3. Improved plant growth because of warmer water temperature. Cold ground water causes a temporary cooling of the soil and reduces rate of growth for a few days.
4. Prevents ponding at lower end of field which interferes with plant development.

4 good reasons to learn more about a tailwater return system for your farm. Your Gifford Hill-Western Sales Engineer or Sales Office can help you put your tailwater to work. It's the cheapest water you can pump!

Check Dietetic Food Labels Carefully

If you are among the one out of four women or the one out of five men who are overweight, perhaps you'll want to consider some of the low-calorie foods available.

It may be worth your time, however, to be informed about what these foods actually are, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Texas A&M University Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Some of these foods are on the dietary food counter only because they are salt-free, and not because they are any lower in calories in the dietetic form than in the regular form. Dietetic canned vegetables and tomato juice--which generally cost about one cent more per serving--are examples of salt-free foods.

Low-calorie dietetic foods may contain non-caloric vegetable colloids instead of oils--as in salad dressings--or they may be packed in water rather than in oil--as in brine packed tuna fish. Or they may have fat extracted, as in beef slices in barbecue sauce.

It's important to read the labels on these products to know exactly what they do contain and to note their caloric value. Some show little caloric difference from their non-dietetic counterparts.

Other foods, such as salad dressing and gelatin desserts, do reduce caloric values considerably.

Another consideration is to determine if the caloric reduction is significant in relation to cost. A dietetic gelatin, for example, might cost 1 1/2 to 2 cents more per serving. Home-makers can make low-calorie gelatin desserts for less by combining plain gelatin and unsweetened fruit juice.

"Consumers need to decide whether the calories saved in low-calorie dietary foods are worth the extra cost," Mrs. Clyatt says.

Many Farmers Watching Soybean Experiment

Many area farmers are watching with interest the development of soybeans as an additional crop that can be grown on the Plains of Texas. At this time, Texas stands twenty-third in the nation in acres devoted to soybean production.

Some of the characteristics for which the Hinn was developed are; higher yielding ability than the other varieties being grown in the area; shatter resistance; fruiting higher from the ground for better harvesting and reduction of loss at harvest; will not lodge or fall down. One important characteristic of the Hinn soybean is its ability to produce heavy branches which help compensate for skips and will also help in shading for weed control.

Reports from some of the growers who planted part of the 6,000 bushels of the Hinn soybean seed during 1964 indicated that an average yield of 33.66 bushels per acre was obtained. This is a composite of all the yields that were reported to the Foundation.

Don Robinson, Farming at Spearman, made these comments concerning the Hinn soybean, "I would say that the very best aspect of the Hinn soybean for the North Plains area is its shatter resistance. It also has a good yielding ability, is easy to harvest, doesn't lodge, and holds its seed late into the season. My Hinn beans were grown at Spearman, and due to wet weather, harvest was not completed until January 4, 1965. Even at this late date, I had an average of 31.06 bushels per acre on 136 acres. I don't believe that I lost more than 3 bushels per acre due to shattering even after the first of the year. I had some trouble at the first of the growing season caused by rain and wet weather during June, and was not able to plant the Hinn beans until July 2. They had only about 10 days of growing weather until the first frost on October 20."

One other grower of the Hinn Soybean from the High Plains reported that he felt there was a potential of 50 bushels per acre from this bean.

Orville Nash, of Guymon, Oklahoma, states, "I think the Hinn has a potential of 50 bushels per acre, considering the 32 bushels we received on a poor stand, I like the way it performed and the way the pods hold the seeds."

Some of the growers reported high yields of over 50 bushels per acre and the yields ranged down to 16 bushels grown on dryland. In general the Hinn out produced all the standard varieties by from 3 to 8 bushels per acre. During harvest time, most receiving points were paying around $2.50 per bushel. At an increase of 3 bushels, this would mean $7.50 per acre extra income to the farmer.

During the crop year of 1964, Texas had only 63,000 acres of land planted to soybeans. Most of the available land is planted with either cotton or grain sorghum, but each year soybeans gain some in popularity.

Due to the unusually dry year in 1964, the yields on all varieties of soybeans were down. In most years, there is some supplemental rainfall to help in crop production.

1965 will see an increase for the nation of over 2 million acres of soybeans that have been planted in some other crop in years past. This demand for soybeans is brought about by the large percentage of the U.S. bean being exported to other countries.

Some of the soybeans come from the USA. This ever increasing market is demanding not only more soybeans, but also a product of better quality. At this time, soybeans are the leading agricultural export, bringing into the U.S. more export money than any other agricultural commodity.

The High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, has been carrying on an accelerated breeding program on soybeans. This first new variety released by the Foundation and given the name of HINN has proven to be a good producing and high yielding soybean.

DRIVER OF AUTO involved in the accident Thursday afternoon was charged with transporting alcoholic beverages, found in the rear of the car.

Feed Grain Law Approved By Sorghum Producers

Farmer-directors of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association at a meeting in Amarillo, on Tuesday, April 20, unanimously approved the continuation and extension of the current feed grain law. The law provides for a program of diversion payments, price support loans and certificate payments for farmers who divert parts of their crop land from farm production. The action is in effect an endorsement of the program requested by President Johnson and outlined by Secretary Freeman before Congress several days ago and it is now known as the Agricultural Act of 1965. The directors also endorsed several changes asked by Freeman from the current operation of the law including:

1. Removal of a 20% minimum requirement for participation in the program.
2. The number of certificates received by each farm to be based on the "projected farm yield" rather than the "normal yield."
3. The taking into action "the extent of participation by the producer" in determining the scale of payments, which in effect moved to a graduated scale rather than a fixed percentage of participation scale.

4. The permission for producers to have acreage devoted to soybeans considered within limits set by the Secretary.
5. The provision for distributing certificates on a "fair and equitable basis" instead of requiring them to be distributed on the basis of respective shares between landlord and tenant, but added that the provision should not in any way alter the contractual agreement for the farm rental.
6. The establishing of a "tolerance" between sign up for participation in the program and slight errors in acreage planning.
7. The limitations of payment of 50% of the price support rate to be removed from the acreage diversion program.
8. A continuation of the current provision for permitting substitution of wheat and feed grains.

6. The establishing of a "tolerance" between sign up for participation in the program and slight errors in acreage planning.

7. The limitations of payment of 50% of the price support rate to be removed from the acreage diversion program.

New Process Keeps Cotton Knits From Shrinking

A new process, which involves compressing the fabric and making it highly resistant to shrinkage in normal laundering, has been developed to keep cotton knits from shrinking when machine washed and dryer dried. This information comes from Lynn Paris, Texas A&M University specialist in consumer education. Investigations by the Good Housekeeping Institute show that new processed knits, which are released under the descriptive names of "pac-nit" and "perma-knit", shrink about 1 percent, whereas conventional knits shrink about 10 percent. These computations were based on the knits being machine washed and dried 20 times each. All knits still need proper laundering, however, Miss Paris emphasizes. She says that the use of warm, not hot, water and low to moderate setting on the dryer will result in less shrinkage. When using an automatic dryer for cotton knits, do not dry them bone dry. Remove the garments just before they are completely dry and pat and pull them gently into shape. Species of cotton are found native in all continents except Europe.

Approximately $600 damage to each car was incurred when a wreck occurred Thursday, April 22, at 4:15 p. m., north of Earth, on Farm Road 1055 in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Clayton.

According to Bill Angel, Littlefield Highway Patrolman, "The Clayton car, a 1962 Chevrolet, driven by Vicki Clayton, (who was accompanied in the car by Rhonda Clayton), was on the wrong side in a private drive area. The car, which should have been on the east side, was on the west side. A 1960 Ford, proceeding South, down the highway met the Clayton car, applied brakes, and slid thirty feet into the front of the Clayton vehicle on the west edge of the pavement.

TWO CARS in which four people were injured Thursday, in front of the Rex Clayton home, north of Earth.

The Clayton car was forced back approximately thirty feet coming to rest, facing South in the center of the roadway.

Rhonda Clayton was thrown into the windshield. She received head sutures at the Earth Family Clinic by Dr. C. H. Bausman, and was later moved to the Amherst Hospital.

Vicki Clayton, driver, received first aid treatment, X-rays, and dental surgery at the Earth Family Clinic and office of Dr. C. T. Richardson, respectively. She was later moved to the Amherst Hospital, where her knee was sutured. She was dismissed from the hospital Sunday and returned to school Tuesday.

Alfred Arredondo, driver of the 1960 Ford, received treatment on his chin, suture on his right arm, and X-rays at the Clinic.

According to Bill Angel, "Alfred Arredondo was fined on for illegal possession and the transporting of alcoholic beverages."

Vicki Clayton was charged with an unsafe turn.

Care And Storage Of Electric Blanket

It's time to think about storing electric blankets, reminds Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension area specialist in home management at Texas A&M University.

In recent testing conducted by Consumers' Research Inc., the non-profit testing organization in Washington, N.J., results showed that electric blankets should never be dry cleaned or machine washed--no matter what claims the manufacturer might make to the contrary.

Study results pointed out that drycleaning fluids might attack the insulation that covers the wiring, and the tumbling action of a washing machine can cause a break in the wiring that runs through the blanket.

Damage also could result from any excessive twisting or squeezing, which led the researchers and engineers to conclude that electric blankets should be washed only when absolutely necessary--and then only by hand.

In hand washing, the researchers caution against any wringing action and recommend that excess water be removed by gently squeezing the fabric in the direction that the wires run.

If the blanket is not too badly soiled, it may be aired by gently placing it across parallel lines on a still day. After airing, it should be folded gently and stored in a box, the specialist says.

"If it is just placed on a shelf, other blankets may put too much weight on the wires and cause the insulation to break," Mrs. Myers warns.

U.S. Highway 40 crosses the 40th parallel four times on its 3,000 mile stretch from Atlantic to Pacific.

Cordell, Kansas, was hit by a tornado three successive years, 1916, 1917, 1918, and each time on May 29.

Women's Athletic Meeting Held

The WAC's met in the Home-making building on the school campus Monday night, for their regular meeting with nine members present.

Officers for the year of 1965-66 were elected. They include Mrs. Nina Adrian, President; Mrs. Nina Messer, Vice President; Mrs. Matt Patterson, secretary; Mrs. Dimples Sanders, Treasurer; and Mrs. Bennie Pather, Reporter.

It was announced that the group will have one more meeting, to be held on May 10, before adjourning for the summer. All members are urged to attend, as this gathering is of prime importance.

Farm Cottage Features Low Cost Space

A small frame cottage 18 X 26 feet in size has been designed and represents a practical minimum of both space and cost, reports W. S. Allen, Extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M University.

"It is intended primarily for a young couple starting out on a farm," says Allen. "Later, when the farm business is further developed, it can be used as a tenant house. Some families would find it convenient for a lake lodge."

The cottage is also adequate for a retired couple who do not wish to maintain a large house, he adds.

He points out that special space-saving features include an undercounter water heater, a pullout bed, a wall desk, a wall-type heater with a prefabricated metal or asbestos cement chimney, and accordion-type closet doors.

The large porches and generous window areas make the cottage particularly suitable for nice views or relaxing comfort.

For a copy of this plan contact your county Extension agent and ask for cottage plan No. 7137.

General Has Three Rate Classifications On Distant Calls

New terminology and new benefits related to long distance calling became effective April 1, according to information released by General Telephone Company of the Southwest. The new terms describe in a more uniform manner when rates are effective and are as follows: Day rates refer to long distance rates in effect from 4:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Evening rates refer to rates in effect from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m., and all day Saturday. Night rates are rates in effect from 8:00 p.m. to 4:30 a.m., Monday through Friday and all day Sunday. Night rates are the least expensive, while evening rates are higher than day rates, according to a company spokesman. The reduction in interstate rates was effective April 1 was announced earlier this year by the Federal Communications Commission and involves lower station-to-station day rates for calls over distances in excess of 600 miles, with the maximum rate being $2.00 for a coast-to-coast station-to-station day rate call. In Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana the hours during which the day, evening and night rates for long distance calls within a state are in effect will change on April 1 to conform with the new terms described above, the announcement stated, but rates on intrastate calls are not affected. E. H. Danner, president of General Telephone Company of the southwest pointed out that the $1 maximum rate for 3 minute station-to-station interstate night calls was extended on February 1 to cover more hours during the week. "In fact," Danner pointed out, "the telephone industry, along with many other industries, has been able to consistently lower long distance rates because of technical advancements and improved operating efficiency. For example, in 1915, a coast-to-coast long distance call cost $20.70."

Dr. Earl H. Collister, Director of the High Plains Research Foundation, has announced the addition of Howard Malstrom to the staff of the Foundation. Malstrom will be employed as Associate Soil Scientist working with Dr. Arthur Gohlke on fertilizer problems in crop production. Howard attended the University of Illinois from 1952 until 1956 when he received his BS in general agriculture. In 1957 he entered the United States Air Force and was stationed at Holloman Air Force Base in New Mexico. He was commissioned as a Second Lt. in 1957, and was discharged as a First Lt. in 1959. Upon completing his military service, Howard attended the University of California at Davis California, where he received his MS in horticulture, with a major in plant physiology, in 1964. While as a student and after graduation, Malstrom worked for Dr. James Cook of the University as research assistant. The research was geared to find the relation of water and nutrient uptake of soils, with special emphasis on minor elements. During this time, Howard was the author and co-author of several scientific papers and publications. Dr. Collister said, "At this time, we need the experience and knowledge that Howard brings with him. The area farmers will need more and more information on fertilizers; nitrogen, phosphorus, sulfur, and trace elements than ever before for more efficient and profitable crop production." "We are most fortunate to be able to get Howard to come to the Foundation. The work that he will do will mean much to the farmers."

Chance To Speak Up Before June

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is inviting comments on a proposal to revise official cotton standards for micronaire reading of fiber fineness and maturity and to broaden their application.

Under the proposal, the revised standards for "mike" readings would not become effective until about June 1, 1966, since the Cotton Standards Act requires not less than one year of advance notice, says Fred C. Elliott, Extension Cotton specialist, Texas A&M University. "Mike" readings were first made available at USDA cotton laboratories in 1946 on a voluntary fee basis. They are now recognized throughout the industry as an important quality factor in merchandising and processing cotton. Most commercial transactions in cotton now include a specification for micronaire reading. Mike readings were made available on a fee basis in 1962 to producers having their cotton classed under the Smith-Doxey program.

The 1956 official cotton standards for mike readings were established for cotton certificated for delivery on future contracts. The present proposed revision would make the mike standards available for general use without restriction, and would incorporate developments made since 1956 in air flow instruments and in testing procedures used to make micronaire reading of fiber fineness and maturity. This revision would provide an official standard for a third factor of cotton quality. Official standards for grade and staple length were both established prior to 1920.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Littleton and Mrs. Earl Wallace, of Amarillo, recently visited Possum Kingdom.

Notaries Public Must Re-Qualify By May 15

Secretary of State Crawford C. Martin announced that all qualified Notaries Public desiring re-appointment for the new term ending June 1, 1967 must re-qualify by the payment of the required fee and the filing of a new oath and bond with the County Clerk of his residence between May 1, 1965 and May 15, 1965, inclusive.

Martin emphasized that Notaries Public should not send requests for re-appointment or for commissions directly to the Secretary of State. The law specifically requires that the County Clerks approve notary bonds.

Any person not now a Notary Public who desires appointment should apply to his County Clerk before May 20, 1965. Application during this period will assure that the appointment will be made in sufficient time for the applicant to qualify at the beginning of the new term.

The Secretary of State further pointed out that each person applying for a commission as a Notary Public must be at least 21 years of age and a resident of the county for which he is appointed. The exact name and permanent address of the applicant must be furnished the County Clerk.
