Mexico Meats Sold

As USDA Inspected

It was discovered by the American Agricultural Movement that fat cattle ready for the butcher shop has been coming across the border from Old Mexico into Texas and 30 minutes later tagged as American beef and sold as such.

All concerned people are urged to write letters to both Texas Congressmen and gubernatorial candidates asking for stricter regulations to be enforced on imported beef. Mrs. American Housewife has every right to know where the meat she is paying hard earned dollars for, came from and she should have the assurance that it is truly meat that is being fed and butchered by the USDA standards set for American raised meat. It has been learned that the public has been and is being sold Old Mexico meat raised meat. It has been learned that the public has been and is being sold Old Mexico meat raised by Old Mexico standards; but, posing as USDA graded and inspected meat and sold at the same price as our high quality American grown meat. This should be stopped, but if the consumer does not start demanding it's rights it never will be.

If you care what your family is fed take a few minutes and write postcards, talk with your butcher, insist that you will not be tricked any longer; you should get what you pay for. Check with your school, insist that your children only be fed American raised meats, for their protection. You do have RIGHTS, demand them.

50% Layout

Resolution Adopted

The American Agricultural all day meeting held in Irving, Texas, February 2nd was attended by approximately 500 farmers, representing the entire state of Texas. Those attending from the Earth-Springlake agricultural office were Tommy Wheatley, Johnny and Gaye Pellham. A resolution was adopted calling for full participation in the nationwide movement of 50% lay-out of all acres in cultivation in 1977, thereby cutting production in half and decreasing so called "surplus". The resolution will be presented to each farmer in every county in Texas, they will all be asked and urged to participate. The resolution adopted is printed in its entirety elsewhere in the paper.

Wheat plow-ups were to start as soon as land was plowable. 50% of all planted wheat is to be destroyed as a sign of serious intentions and the "not bluffing" attitude taken by all farmers understanding the very real need for changes in our current farm program to enable the farm family; as we know it, too survive. Many counties have already started this program, wet weather has prevented others.

Plans were made for troops of farmers to go to South Texas in an effort to get the valley farmers' support for the 50% lay-out resolution. Some have pledged support but more encouragement is needed. Hundreds of farmers from northern states are coming to join Texas farmers in this crusade, as planting starts in the valley in approximately 2 weeks and this is the starting point. Many thousands of farmers are expected in McAllen, Texas February 6th, going from farm to farm explaining the need for 100% participation to make the movement a success. There will be a big rally February 10th in the McAllen High School Football Stadium. Farmers able to participate in this crusade are desperately needed, for more information call your local AAM Office, 257-2051.

Many other subjects were discussed, with everyone being given the chance to speak and express their own thoughts and concerns.

Farm Strike Meeting

Tuesday, February 7, the area farmers held a farm strike meeting. Farmers from Springlake-Earth, Muleshoe, Lazbuddie and Hereford were present.

The opening prayer was led by Fred Clayton, Doug Parish then spoke to the farmers, stressed the importance of supporting the organizations that support them.

Ed Hamitt, a farmer from Hereford spoke about national developments and urged that farmers only plant 50% of their available acreage. By planting 50% it is guaranteed that the U.S. and the foreign trade would not starve, but shortage will develop.

Farmers were urged to sign up their acres with the farmers all over the nation in doing their share. It was made plain that their signature was not a binding document, but a pledge.

Many questions were answered by Tommy Wheatley who attended the Strike Meeting in Dallas.

GROWING UP IN COLONIAL TIMES

BY: Stacy Tunnell

This report is over Growing Up In Colonial Times. It is about what the surroundings were like and how the colonist lived.

The craftsmen's surroundings were usually a village or a town. There were craftsmen such as a cobbler, stonemason, or a miller. They made just about enough to buy what they needed. Usually they would live behind their shop.

An apprentice was a young boy that worked for someone so he could learn the trade of his employer. And the employer in return would give him a place to sleep, put clothes on his back and feed him.

On a farm the women usually had a vegetable garden, fed the chickens, and milked the cows. The men plowed, split rails for fences, they also cleared new land. They worked in some way every day of the year, except on Sundays. In harvest all the neighboring farms helped on one farmer's land. They would work from sun up to sun down. Many things were grown and made on a farm.

Communication was either by mail or word of mouth. Traveling was by horse or oxen pulling a wagon.

Many families in the colonies usually had servants or slaves. The employer of an indentured servant had as much rule over the servant as over his own kids.

The colonists brought up their children to be responsible adults. Their main problem was keeping the new-born children alive because there were so many diseases.

The children that went to school had well-off parents. And the poor children were usually taught by their parents.

In the colonies people were very religious. For some of them religion is why they came to the colonies. On the Sabbath nobody would do anything because it was forbidden. Their sermons lasted three hours and they had no piano or organ.

In all the colonies there were only six printing presses. Newspapers and almanacs were the most popular with the colonist, though there were not very many of them.

The clothing was mostly of what was made in the home. Craftsmen and their wives usually wore store bought clothes. The clothing for a woman would be a long dress. The kind depended upon where she lived. The clothing for men would be breeches according to where they were at.

The houses were made of wood and were one story or one and a half stories. Most of them were shaped like a box. They had dirt floors and dutch doors. (They opened at the top and bottom separately.) They did not have glass windows, they had shutters.

The furnishings were mostly homemade and made of wood, except a few pots brought from England.

The colonists used what they had. They rarely imported things from England, but sometimes they had to.

In the eastern colonies the colonist found time for much fun and they would do things like have a spelling bee, quilting bee, or a house warming. The colonist in the north would ice skate or have a sleigh ride.

In the middle colonies such as in New York and Pennsylvania, the people spoke different languages. The people that lived at New York were mostly Dutch. In Pennsylvania they were Quakers. The economy in Pennsylvania was a place that made iron tools, pots and pans. New York would raise wheat, flour, barley, and oats. The people in this area had to import their clothes.

In the southern colonies it would take a long time to travel from Georgia to Maryland. It did not cost very much either because the people along the way would give them food and a place to sleep in turn they would tell them news of other places. Most of the roads were usually paths or overgrown roads. In the south they grew tobacco, corn, wheat, rice and indigo. From pine trees they got pitch, tar and turpentine. Many farmers herded cattle and hogs. Then they were not raising cotton. Tobacco was the crop that sold the most.

That's how it was in the colonies. They had it very hard compared to our life today.

Rural America

IN RURAL AMERICAN, 1978. A DECLARATION OF THE FARMERS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA:

When in the course of human events, it has become necessary for we, the farmers, of this nation to take it upon ourselves to correct the economic injustices wrought upon us by governmental power...

Whereas: President Carter has broken his campaign promises to work for the farmers.

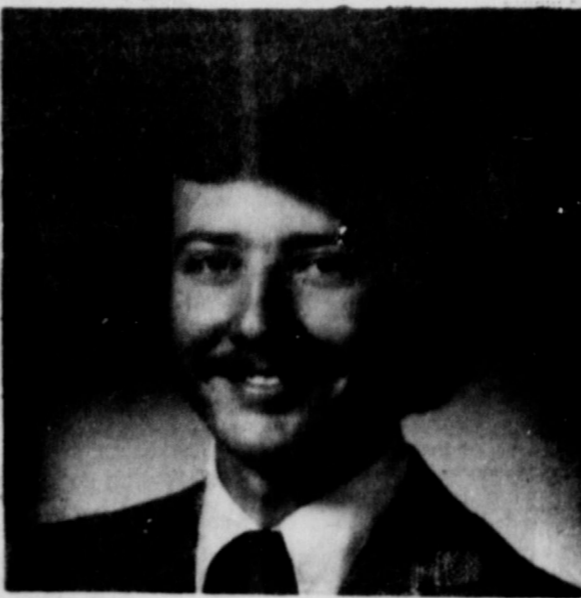

Whereas: The USDA Secretary Bergland claims only a few farmers are in trouble, and would go broke anyway.

Whereas: A cheap food and fiber policy allows imported agricultural products to wreck the economy of agriculture and the nation.

Whereas: The USDA Secretary Bergland allows only a possible 10% set-aside for feed grain, 20% wheat, none cotton, in view of the SO CALLED "SURPLUS" which depresses agriculture to "GREAT DEPRESSION" levels.

Whereas: It is in the best interest of all the citizens of our Great Nation to conserve our resources (fuel, soil, water) and not waste them growing unwanted crops.

Whereas: The farmers of this nation are losing their equities in farms and are

Bill O'Hair Commissioned

Bill O'Hair, son of Mrs. Jeanette O'Hair and the late Edwin O'Hair, was one of 110 Baptist students from across the state commissioned as summer missionaries for 1978.

Services were held Saturday evening, February 4 at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. Speaker for the services was Jesse Fletcher, president of HSU.

Bill will be serving this summer, in Jackson Hole, Wyoming in a resort type ministry.

Gayle Price, friend of Bill's was also commissioned to work in Lufkin State School this summer. Both students are Texas Tech Sophomores.

Attending the services from Earth were Mrs. Jeanette O'Hair, Mr. and Mrs. Ed O'Hair and Mr. and Mrs. Pete O'Hair.

being forced into BANKRUPTCY allowing even foreigners to purchase our farms and ranches.

Whereas: Soil conservation is a prime concern of farmers. Cover crops may be needed to control erosion from wind and water. Production from these cover crops will not be used. The cultural practices that were followed in 1977 is to be followed in the 50% planted acres. This is to include herbicides, fertilizer, chemical use and planting pattern.

Whereas: The loss of income for the nation caused by 64% parity farm prices is causing our country to become insolvent.

Whereas: All citizens of this nation, INCLUDING FARMERS, are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, and that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That we the farmers of this nation adopt the following plan to help achieve 100% PARITY for agriculture.

This family recognizes that we are only one farm family, but we believe that we must do our part to support this effort.

ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME

The key to saving IS INSIDE...

THE WALLS AND CEILINGS
The outside walls of the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME meet standards according to three options. The first option uses 6 inch studs with 5 inch batt-type (R-19) insulation. Option two has 4 inch studs and 3 inch insulation (R-11) with 3-4 inch styro-foam sheathing. The third option uses R-15 minimum insulation with any other method. All options include a vapor barrier of 6 mil. polyethylene or foil-backed sheetrock. Sill insulation or sill caulking between the bottom plate and the floor also is required. The ceiling is insulated with R-30.

THE DOORS AND WINDOWS
Outside doors and all windows on the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME are weather stripped and caulked. In addition, double pane glass or storm windows and insulated core or storm doors are vital contributors to the dollar-wise built to save ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME. A recommendation is made that maximum glass area comprise 8% or less of floor space.

THE FLOORS
The very foundation of the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME - the floor - is an important factor in saving energy and money. Slab floors contain vermiculite in the cavity between bricks and slab up to the top of the floor. An alternate is a layer of rigid urethane or styrofoam (minimum of 3-4 inch thickness) from top of floor along the outside edge of the slab down to the brick ledge. Wood floors (pier and beam) must be insulated with R-13.

When you're planning to buy or build a new home, you start by taking a really good look inside. Because the key to comfort and saving is INSIDE... INSIDE the walls, in the doors and windows, under the floor and in the ceiling. So peek INSIDE the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME - really INSIDE. You can see that it's BUILT TO SAVE - Energy and Money.

Senior Adult Of The Week

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kelley were chosen as Senior Adults of the Week of the First Baptist Church.

Helen was saved during a revival under brush arbour and joined the Buffalo Baptist Church when she was 10 years old. Ray was saved when he was 10 years old and joined the First Baptist Church at Meredion Oklahoma. Later he moved to Sweetwater Oklahoma where he was a member until he married and moved his membership to Buffalo.

The First Baptist Church of Buffalo was located in a rural community 12 miles north of Erick, Oklahoma. Ray and Helen were married 55 years ago in Erick Oklahoma. In 1926 they moved to Earth and helped build the first church building. They have been members since that time.

Ray was on the building committee and he and Gill Starnes hauled the lumber for the new building. Ray has been a deacon 48 years, he has served as church treasurer, Sunday School Superintendent and Department Superintendent. His favorite scripture is the 23rd Psalm and his favorite song is "Did You Think To Pray."

Helen has taught in the primary Department, Young People Sunday School Class and been W.M.U. President. Her favorite scriptures are II Chronicles 7:14 and Matthew 6:33. Her favorite song is "I'll Meet You In The Morning."

They have two children and four grandchildren. All of which have been saved and baptized in this church. They also have three great grandchildren.

They had these comments: "We thank God for this church and all the blessings we have received through the church all these years. Our greatest desire and prayer is that this church will grow in spirit and bless other generations as it has ours."

Mental Health Asso. Month

Mrs. John Dayton of Springlake, will lead Bellringer workers in a house-to-house drive during May, Mental Health Month.

"Proceeds will benefit the Mental Health Association in Texas," said Shirley K. Camfield, state President of the voluntary citizens association.

As a non-governmental agency the association can and does speak for the consumer—the person who needs professional help for an emotional disturbance.

"The association is a moving force to get services established where there are none. It also serves as a monitoring agency to see that treatment services are doing what they were set up to do," said Camfield.

The Mental Health Association strongly promotes more community-based care as well as more research into the causes and prevention of mental illness.

For free information about mental health topics, such as depression, contact the Mental Health Association in Texas, 103 Lantern Lane, Austin, Texas 78731.

Association Of W's

The Association of W's will meet Thursday, February 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall in Dimmitt.

WE BELIEVE . . .

"When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice: but when the wicked rule, the people mourn" (Proverbs 29:2).

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . that we were created by God and endowed with inalienable rights.

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . that the Holy Scriptures constitute man's guide for spiritual attainment and moral conduct.

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . that the fundamental principles set forth in the Declaration of Independence and the U. S. Constitution are the most effective instruments ever devised to provide God-given rights, individual freedom, and economic opportunities for the largest number of people.

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . that families form the building blocks of a prosperous and stable society, and we endorse the Biblical family structure, including rights and responsibilities.

- (a) the right of husband as head and provider for the family.
- (b) the right of wife to be full time homemaker.
- (c) the right of families to be given by law certain protections and privileges not granted to those choosing other lifestyles.

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . in the rights of women.

- (a) the right of women to equal opportunities in employment and education, in a manner consistent with an employer's right to determine the employee best qualified.
- (b) the right of women to be full time homemakers, if they choose, with full legal protection requiring the husband to support her and the children.
- (c) the right of women engaged in physical-labor employment to be protected by laws that

BECAUSE WE BELIEVE

. . . the Association of the W's (WWW) was formed (1) to educate on issues which affect the moral and spiritual fare of your family, and (2) to determine specific things EACH PERSON CAN DO, and (3) to unite our efforts for greater effectiveness.

YOU ALSO BELIEVE in God, the Bible, the family as a divinely-ordained institution, and in the rights of parents over their children. THIS IS THE TIME FOR YOU TO STAND UP AND BE COUNTED. JOIN WITH US: YOU NEEDED! MEN, WOMEN, AND YOUNG PEOPLE (16 and over), if you endorse the foregoing principles, join us in this mighty movement to restore decency and morality in our nation.

The following is the creed of the Association of the W's.

recognize differences in physical capabilities and family responsibilities of men and women.

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . in view of the foregoing statements, that the proposed Equal Rights Amendment (27th Amendment to the Constitution) will harm, rather than help, the entire social structure, including men, women, and children.

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . that it is the right and responsibility of parents (not the government) to train children.

- (a) that parents therefore have a right to approve the curriculum of schools (or pre-school institutions) to insure that such does not conflict with parental values.
- (b) that the use of public educational institutions primarily as agents to change children's values is a desecration of the educational process.

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . in the right of churches to designate different roles for men and women.

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . in the right to life of all innocent persons from conception to natural death.

WE BELIEVE . . .

. . . that the following Scripture furnishes a divine commission and lays upon each Bible-believing person an urgent and weighty responsibility to combat all anti-moral, anti-family, anti-Biblical forces wherever found - whether in the highest office of our nation, the halls of Congress, educational institutions, the television screen at home, or the corner drug store pornography shelf:

"Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places" (Ephesians 6:11, 12).

A Dimmitt High School student spoiled two thieves attempts to remove stereo speakers from another students car last week and discovered later that his own tape deck was missing from his car.

Russell Birdwell was going to his car on the Dimmitt High School parking lot to get a library book when he spotted two men apparently removing the speakers from another car. When the men saw Russell they dropped the speakers and ran to a car and drove away. Russell was able to get part of the license number then ran inside and called the police. When he returned to his car, he found the tape deck and all of his tapes missing. Birdwell said the missing tapes were later found in the street and had been turned in to the high school where Russell later claimed them.

The tape deck cost around $54.00. Russell had bought it with his Christmas money and had only had it about a week.

The theft is under investigation by the police Department of Dimmitt.

According to Sheriff Granville Martin investigating officers feel there is a connection between the break in at Bruegel and Sons Elevator and an armed robbery of Alsups convenience store here. Both incidents occurred early last Thursday morning.

It was reported that two Mexican American males, one armed with a snub-nosed pistol, entered the Alsups store about 5:25 a.m. and approached the clerk, Wanda Jovett. City Police reported that the men took Miss Jovett to the back and told her to stay in the restroom, but then they couldn't get the cash register open. They went and brought Miss Jovett back out to open the registers for them, then they took her back to the restroom, telling her to stay for 10 minutes before she came out. Miss Jovett stayed until she heard a customer calling her. She came out and called the police about 5:40 a.m.

The men were described as both being about 5 ft. 7 inches tall weighing about 130 pounds. They both had ski caps pulled down over their faces with holes cut out for the eyes, nose and mouth.

The break-in at Bruegels was reported at 6:50 a.m. The thieves had apparently entered through a broken window at the back of the office building. Items taken include an 18 inch black and white TV, a radio, a brief case, vacuum cleaner, an electric razor, billfold, clock radio, several felt tip pens and the United States and Texas Flags.

The Commissioners Court of Castro County decided at the Monday morning meeting to set the salary of the Justice of the Peace in Precinct 2 at $8,820 and for precincts 1, 3, and 4 at $10, per month effective January 1, 1979.

MR. AND MRS. Fred Clayton in 1974.

MR. AND MRS. Fred Clayton in 1925 with their first two children.

"Making Earth Tracks"

BY: CAROLYN HAMILTON

The Fred Clayton's Story: "10,000 head of sheep going down Main Street..."

(Note: An interview with the Claytons in 1974 in their beautiful Earth home. At the time they were preparing for an Alaskan trip.)

Fred Clayton, aged fourteen, his mother and her six children, moved to the Earth in 1925; Mrs. Clayton and her family came in 1928. They were married in January of '29 and lived in one room in the Clayton family home until they built a little two room house of their own, in which they lived until 1942, building on other rooms as needed, later.

Mrs. Clayton remarked: "We were so homesick out here in the wide opened spaces for a little while, but then after I went back to Oklahoma, where I was always used to the hills and trees, it wasn't the same. We bought an old lumber yard at Amherst; you know during the war you couldn't get anything."

I asked Mr. Clayton how many dugouts were in Earth in 1925.

"Oh, about ten to twelve. Most of them were half dugouts, made on the inside of cement. They were nice. Sometimes the sand blew for three days, and we'd scoop sand by shovels full out of the house, hang wet sheets and quilts on the doors."

I agreed. "How well I remember... in the 1940's too."

Mr. Clayton continued: "In the fall of '27 a funny thing happened in Earth. A circus came to town. When a farmer looked out on his land and saw an elephant on the wild plains of West Texas, he really thought he was seeing things! They got him (the elephant) back to the circus tent for the next performance, and figured that elephant traveled 9 miles an hour. He was unruly. A horse had to pull him. The trainer hit him right between the eyes with a bar, and walked him from one town to another. A few people got hurt when he took off from the tent in Earth, tromped a bit, but nothing serious. The story was a Mr. Mudd, an old Halsell Ranch cowboy found him in his feed patch. He got his old rifle, slipped around and looked him over, then came to town and said: "I know no one's going to believe it, but there's a big elephant in my feed patch." (Laughter) Most people knew the circus was in town, and knew the elephant got away, but anyway, the circus went on to Muleshoe the next day and this feller got his horse and went down and got the elephant and chained him behind a signboard and fed him a sack of corn. This was in '27. They had a regular circus tent and old trucks for equipment, but that elephant wouldn't load. Mr. Mudd was pretty 'shook up' when he found the elephant in his field, but later he found it had come from the circus."

Mrs. Clayton: "Now some more about dugouts. I've been in Elsie Hawkins dugout lots of times. It was pretty fancy, concrete or plastered walls inside, one big room as I can remember."

"People come in here," Mr. Clayton continued, "two miles north and 2 3/4 west and built a half dugout on the south side of the road in '26 or '27 where L.J. Welch's house is now, 1 mile west, make a jog, and on the south side of the road. There are improvements there now."

Mrs. Clayton: "Truman Stine's old dugout out there on the Mitchell's place. I've been in it. Believe it's still there."

I asked about storms. "Worst storm I remember," Mrs. Clayton answered, "blew three days. We just had a little boxed house, so you can imagine."

"Mr. Mark Howard lived here then. The house is gone now; the old house set a little east of the Ray Kelley's house. You know, Mrs. Hamilton, Clarence and Beryl's mother, was Mr. Howard's sister. We bought groceries from the Howards. There was a dugout at Mrs. Baker's at Springlake. I've been in it, and Mr. Hollingsworth, Buddy, west of town, had one (dugout) when they first married. Oh yeah, there was one out there across from Arthur Miller's."

I asked them to describe the dugouts.

Mr. Clayton explained: "You see, they were dug down halfway into the ground, with a few windows above the ground. There was a door above, the roof of which as a general rule, in the center was five to six feet above the ground. When you'd come out, it (the door) was built on an angle; they built a 'shoot up' and you had a full length door. There have been people living in complete dugouts, but these were half dugouts and in the early days, if they were fixed right, it was a real nice place to live, real cool in the summer and warm in the winter. You could open those windows above the level of the ground and let air in. On the inside, lumber or concrete would line the dugouts. Aw, some few did live without linings. The people up here on Arthur Miller's place, named Simkins, both had children, then they married. They were named Rapers. (Note: Another dugout, no doubt.) The subject changed, to ropin' and ridin' back in the old days.

Mr. Clayton told that "it used to be an annual affair

"back in '28 or '29 right about where the Methodist Church is now, for the Kellars, the Woods and a few of the old cowboy type people, they'd ride a horse or two, just 'snuggle up to a saddle horn', saddle 'em up and ride 'em on Saturday evenings. "They'd generally make up a $5 pot and have a little rodeo-deal. There was always a good crowd, and there'd be lots of excitement."

He continued: "First year we were here, there were two cowboys and an old wagon-bed windmill and stock tank and one of those cowboys slept out there every night one half mile from town. He kept his bedroll out on the sod in Sam Carley's corn patch and stayed out there and worked for Halsell (ranch). He had to sleep there to keep the cattle from drifting. He'd just roll up his bedroll, cook his breakfast there. I'd go up there and eat with him sometime. (I imagined they used cow chips for fire.) In the fall of '26 when frost came, they took the cattle out and moved them up here. These cowboys were going to move up there and they told me to come up and eat dinner with 'em. They said: "We're going to cook everything we've got". See Mr. Halsell furnished the food. I said: 'Okay.' It was the awfulest mess of food you ever saw. Mostly they had sour dough biscuits, eggs, steak, fried potatoes, gravy, and coffee. (You know in those days, generally everyone had beef hanging up on the windmills). They said 'We don't want to have to pack this food.' They were just going to pick up their wagon bed and haul it off. Then they left, and that was the end of that cowboying deal."

Mr. Clayton was enjoying reminiscing: "In '27 or '28 they said there was 10,000 sheep come through town. There was a sheep for miles; I don't know how many coming out of New Mexico, going on down on the edge of the 'cap'. See, it was open country, not many fences, and you could just drive 'em through.

They passed south of our house, between our place and Ben Ortega's place, one half section of grass in there which I work now. Why, there was a three mile long string of sheep." (Note: I was amazed to hear of so large a herd of sheep in this cattle country, even though they were just being herded through.)

"Mr. Clayton, did you know Mr. W.E. Halsell?" "No, not personally. I talked to him a little, but I was just a boy then, and he was an old man. I also knew Ewing Halsell. Ewing's dad was a real comical fellow, though.

"Did you ever see Will Rogers in Earth or at the Halsell Ranch?" "I never saw Will Rogers up close, but one time he was with the Halsells in a car and I feel that was Will Rogers, because I heard he was here at the time. Will Rogers' nephew came to Earth and played the guitar and sang. We used to go down town Saturday afternoons... Why, I've seen cowboys come off the ranch to town on Saturday night, tie his horse to the fence, lay a gun down, and get his hair cut, then crawl out of the chair, stick his gun back in the holster and head for the ranch. That was back in '26." Mr. Clayton was a real story teller, and I was thoroughly enjoying every word.

He added: "In 1926 between sundown and dark I seen ducks in here so thick, they could eat your crops up in one night. See, this Soap Lake and the lake at headquarters (Halsell's) had water in it, and it rained a lot, and the lakes were full. Mr. Landers lived over yonder five miles west and two north, a little while on a piece of land broke out. He'd furnish shells if you'd come help keep the ducks off his feed at night. Them days they cut feed with a binder. Those ducks would slide up and down on those feed shocks until not a grain would be left in 'em."

"Was there lots of grassland in 1925, Mr. Clayton?"

"About 8 percent, I'd say."

Mrs. Clayton added: "When we first came here, there were no fences, and going to Earth, we'd strike out across the land. Mr. Clayton: "There were no graded roads. We had a Model T Ford. Why, I hauled two bales of cotton with a wagon and a team and ginned it out. "Do you ride now, Mr. Clayton?" "Aw, not anywhere." (He imagined he still personal enjoyment times sake.)

Mr. Clayton said that he lived in Earth years longer than his brother, Elvia, who worked in the oil country, then he and later had the Deere place in Deere place in Deere place. The Fred Clayton four children: Lowry, Muleshoe, Kenworthy, Norman Clayton on the farm; and Clayton. They grandchildren and grandchildren.

Earth?"
 "They were just building it when I seen it. Mr. Halsell built it about '25 or '26. In '28, they made quite a bit of cotton. Quite a few people had moved in here, and they were still hauling cotton seed to the oil mill right across from where those Parish buildings set. They put it in piles, and fed it to their cattle that winter. Seemed to me those piles were as long as this house, 150 to 250 feet long, but," he chuckled, "they probably wouldn't be as big if I'd see 'em now. They were put up by hand. Didn't haul any cotton seed off. Cowboys just came in that winter and got a load and put it out on the sod as they needed it."

Mrs. Clayton mentioned that her brother helped haul cake from Muleshoe in '28. They lived and worked for the Ranch too, and lived on Mr. Hawkins' place (no kin to Elsie Hawkins, however Mrs. Clayton's maiden name was Hawkins) but they lived on that place when they had that dugout over there. They'd go get that cake, four saddles and lead two horses; go to Muleshoe and change about. Make a load a day."

I asked: "Why was there to railroad in Earth?"
 "Well, just not enough business to merit it. Oh, let me tell you how we came here. It was in an immigrant car and a stock car, a columned box car for household goods in one end and a partition in it. We put the plow, tools, etc. a part of it, another partition for the livestock in the middle section. There were bars and windows in the rear and windows in the front."

I asked: "Were the immigrant cars expensive?"
 "Oh, a car from Wichita county up here'd run about $25.00. We shipped into Muleshoe in the immigrant car, just a common box car and stock car, because we had quite a few horses and cattle with calves. I saddled a horse, and we left Muleshoe with the stock. My mother drove a wagon and team in one; then I had cows, horses, colts, mule sitta, and everything in the same bunch, and that's double to drive. I'll tell you, when you get 'em all cinched together. The mule colts tried to make our times as much speed as the others. We were about 12 o'clock (midnight) sitting 'em up here. We set seven to eight head of stock. Next day I had to go back and gather 'em up. As I said before, I was just sixteen years old then. There were seven children in my family, and all are living but one brother, Walter."

(Note: Real pioneering as also evident in Mr. Clayton's mother's driving of the wagons from the immigrant car to Earth.)
 There was a huge sign board on which these words could be read when the Clayton's first moved to the area (1925): 60,000 CRES NOW FOR SALE-HALSELL CATTLE CO.

From the Earth News special edition: "Fred Clayton went to school and was one of Springlake's first school buses to the old brick building which was the only building there. He and a half east and a half north of the school, out in the middle of a section, stood a lonely one, post office, and such building known as Springlake. The post office was moved to the site town of Center, named to many as Punkin star, and the name of the town was changed to singlehubs. Mr. Clayton recalled that the post office in Earth had several locations five years since its establishment. When Mr. Clayton came to Earth, the post office, grocery store, and filling station and hotel were all in one building. He concluded by saying, "This old country has made a lot of changes in the last half-century."

(Note: I felt the Claytons were very happy, living there in their ultra-modern home which they had well earned. A game table was set up in the living room, and I observed love expressed in family pictures and through their smiles and wit. This was a good life for the Fred Claytons. From breaking out the land to living to enjoy it's progress a half century later.

Yesiree, these were real pioneers who are continuing to leave their footprints in the good Earth.

8th Grade Loses To Kress

The Slew played very well but being cold from the foul line cost them the game, 24-30.

The Slew were tough on defense as they again and again stopped Kress score chances. The Crew was led by Ramon Oliveras, 10 points, and Dave Cleavinger, 8 points, Claude Barlow, 4 points and Roy James 2 points. The Crew closes out their year at Farwell Monday night.

Thanks for your support at home this year.

Slew Loses Heartbreaker

The Slew lost a heart-breaker game 45-52 to Kress. The Slew was behind 9-12 at first quarter and then closed it in the 2nd quarter at 26-26. In the 3rd, the score was 37-38 and with 2 minutes and 30 seconds left in the game the Slew led 41-40 but went cold and scored only 4 points in the last 2 minutes.

The Slew played tremendous full court press defense and changed defense to cause Kress great difficulty. The Slew was led by Hoby Matlock with 14 points, 3 steals, 2 assists and 4 rebounds, Clint Dawson had 12 points, 12 rebounds, 1 steal, 2 assists and 2 block shots. Jim Gonzales had 6 points, Lonnie Neinst and William Flores had 5 points. Byron Vaughn had 3 points.

The Slew played very well as a team.

Slew Drop To Bovina

The Slew kept it close for a half and then fell behind. In their coldest night from the floor in the last 10 games, the Crew could manage only one man in double figures that being Hoby Matlock with 20 points. Clint Dawson had 9 points. The leading rebounder was Lonnie Neinst with 8 and 4 points. Biff Belew had 4 points and 4 steals. William Flores had 3 points, Byron Vaughn had 2 points and Jeff Burk had 1 point for a total of 43. Bovina scored 75.

The Crew play Hart there, then play Farwell, here for their last home game of the 1978 year. Come out and see your young men.

Farmers Asking For Letters To Back Movement

By Maxine Short
 A letter writing campaign by "the folks back home" is now the current goal of the American Agriculture Movement office here, with the return of several county farmers who learned during their visit to Washington D.C. last week that legislators do respond to voters' demands.

The message from the farm men and women who went from Castro County to the "swarming" of the nation's capitol with a plea for a helpful federal farm program, are calling for letters to the lawmakers, Department of Agriculture officials and Administration figures.

They say they found on their trip that public opinion can make a big difference to elected officials, and that letters in support of the American Agriculture Movement program would be effective. They are asking business people and wage earners of West Texas, as well as the farmers, to make their voices heard.

Officials who are of the greatest importance to the campaign, with their addresses are listed here. The house committee on Agriculture has 46 members and names of those from other states can be obtained from the American Agriculture movement office here.

Congressman Thomas S. Foley of Washington is the chairman. His address is 1201 Longworth. Congressman W.R. Poage of Texas, 2107 Rayburn, is vice president and other Texas members are Congressman Jack Hightower, 120 Cannon, and E. dela Garza, 1434 Longworth. All of these are addressed at Washington D.C. 20250.

20500, Congressman George Mahon, House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, Governor Dolph Briscoe, Austin, Texas, 78700, P.R. (Bobby) Smith, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 200 A, Administration Building, Washington D.C. 20250, Bob Bergland, Secretary of Agriculture, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, Senator John Tower, Senate Office Building, Washington D.C. 20250, Senator Lloyd Bentsen, Senate Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, Regan V. Brown, Texas Agriculture Commissioner, Box 12847, Austin, Texas, Texas 78711.

The American Agriculture Movement may come to a halt after all of the commotion that resulted from the movement during the past three or four months. On the other hand, if a substantial number of farmers hold to their resolve to cut their planted acreage in half, and a substantial reduction planted for the following year, it just might be that financial ruin for many of the farmers may be averted. Whatever results from the agony that the farming industry is going through, it is a certainty that the rest of us from Maine to California will prosper or suffer accordingly.
