With Polly

In Earth, folks seem to be busying about getting their Marys and Joes ready for school, some are embarking upon this sea of educational desires for their first time... and doubtless within six weeks first graders will look at their parents anew, and wonder in amazement how parents can be so dumb... This view point will doubtless vary from time to time, until the student becomes a senior in high school and in some rare cases, it takes at least one year in college... Then in the eyes of your beloved child, Mary or Joe, as the case may be, there comes this day, the day of days, when they finally let you know, that they know, what you've known all along, that you're pretty smart to have ignored that look in their eyes until they were smart enough to outgrow it...

NOSIN'

The Big March on Washington began Wednesday 3, m... Colored folks from all over the nation converged on Washington, D. C. to stage this drive for sympathy in the Big Civil Rights question... They met at Lincoln's Memorial to begin the march... I viewed the Lincoln Memorial in Washington three years ago... I stood spellbound with huge goose pimples playing up and down my spine, before the huge monument to Lincoln, and read anew the Gettysburg Address, (that Lincoln never dreamed at the time he made it, would become so outstanding in history...)

I can't help but wonder today just what Lincoln would say if he could advise... surely our nation's condition today would be sadly alarming... the extent that the Federal government has entwined its pincies into every business and choked the very heart out of private enterprise... The Civil Rights program outlined may correct a national evil by creating many others, which will have many harmful and lasting evils... The section that would force integration of personal services under federal pressure is an abridgement of the right of individual enterprise, and cannot be effected without serious consequences... Other parts of the program flex the muscles of federal agencies, and doubtless, under the guise of civil rights--and it is hard to find a higher cause--this nation may surrender many of its essential liberties that are equally important.

WHAT ARE LITTLE GIRLS MADE OUT OF?? Sugar and spice and everything nice, including big round, smiling eyes, manners unequalled by anything slight of an angel... They have the unbelievable ability to twist parents around their little fingers, their smiles early in the morning make the day somewhat brighter, a hug, and a good night kiss at bed time make life's many trials and efforts of the day seem suddenly worthwhile, and tiredness suddenly seems to vanish from the body unnoticed, in comparison with the joy those tiny arms around your neck can make you feel...

Little girls have a way of wanting to be just like Mama, their playtime is spent all dolled up in high heels, long dresses, purses and jewelry, as they clutch their dolls closely in their arms in hopes of being exactly like a "miniature mama".

These two lovely little lasses are typical American girls, dressed for play. They are like our neighbors all over America... Left to right are Karen Hulcy, three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henshel Hulcy, and three year old Kristi Lynn Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thomas, of Earth.

A THOUGHT FOR LABOR DAY

"Doing for people what they can and ought to do for themselves is a dangerous experiment. In the last analysis, the welfare of the workers depends upon their own initiative."

"Whatever is done under the guise of philanthropy or social morality which in any way lessens initiative is the greatest crime that can be committed against the toilers."

"Let so-called busybodies and professional 'public morals experts', in their fads, reflect upon the perils they rashly invite under the pretense of social welfare."

It may surprise you to learn that those words were spoken by the late Samuel Gompers, generally regarded as having been the father of the organized labor movement in this country.

We do not know of a more statesmanlike Labor Day message.

Turn that they may see, and know, and consider, and understand together. — (Isa. 41:20).

To show our gratitude for the freedom that God has given us we should be thoughtful, considerate and understanding of all the people with whom we come in contact.

It takes 10 to 20 pounds of feed to produce a pound of lean beef.

Card of Thanks

To the people of Earth, Springlake, and around the area:

Cold type and printer's ink cannot convey to you our heartfelt thanks for the many things you did in our recent loss of C. L., Jr. A few, we will mention: the hospital and all who visited, stayed with our son, and helped every way, the doctor, nurses, ministers, neighbors.

We know our daughter-in-law and children share this feeling with us. The most perfect tribute paid to C. L., Jr. by the ministers, the sextette who touched our hearts very much with their songs, the Scouts, and the column in the Earth News by "Polly". This article lifted us a little closer to Heaven, May God's richest blessing be with all of you good people.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Berry, Sr. Harold Berry and family Mrs. Arminta (Berry) Cain and family Mrs. W. J. Berry

We wish we could express to each of you individually and personally, our appreciation for all that you have done to make the loss of our husband and Daddy more bearable; but since that is virtually impossible, may we take this means to say "Thank You." Though mere words can never express that, which we feel in our hearts, we do deeply and humbly appreciate every kindness shown us, our family and loved ones. Every call, every visit, every word spoken, every handshake and embrace, every tear shed with us, every prayer uttered, every card and letter, and every offer to help and deed of kindness somehow made our burden of grief a little more bearable.

Especially do we appreciate those who provided food and lodging for our families and friends from out of town, and those who stayed so faithfully at the home, receiving calls and callers and taking responsibility of doing many things that we could not do.

To the many, many men who so faithfully and willingly sat up at the hospital watching over our Loved One, we give a special "Thank You" with all our hearts.

Next to the love of our Heavenly Father, Lord and Saviour, we cherish the love of families and friends. And though our hearts are deeply saddened, we know that God cares for us, and may He, our Heavenly Father, richly bless each and every one of you, in our prayer.

Mrs. C. L. Berry, Jr., Mike, Cindy and Tim Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Berry, Sr. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ferrell

We are truly grateful to the many good friends for the many kindnesses shown us during our recent stay in the hospital. For those who visited us,

News note: The bi-partisan BUSINESS-INDUSTRY POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE has been organized to enlighten voters and help Congressional candidates who are dedicated to principles of constitutional government and free private competitive enterprise.

For the cards and flowers and especially to the doctors and nurses at the South Plains Hospital who helped make our stay at the hospital more pleasant.

This is the Ford first, now service-proved by millions of owner hours, that ends forever the physical strain of foot clutching and stick shifting, that gives them effortless, non-stop, power shifting to any gear.

Don Smith Wins Again

Two winners have been announced at the Earth Gulf for the free 50 gallons of gasoline that were given away Saturday night at 10 p. m. Don Smith won the 25 gallons, which makes him winner twice this month. Raul Munoz was winner of the 10 gallons and ticket number M164037, a yellow ticket, was drawn for the 15 gallons, but the holder hasn't matched tickets at this time. Two tickets that were drawn Saturday night, August 17 have not been claimed. The 15 gallon was a green ticket, number P722084 and the 10 gallon ticket was white, number S384394. CHEMURGENETICS: SOLUTION TO FARM SURPLUS

Chemurgeneitics is a new word for a relatively new field. Simply put, it describes the process of breeding plants for specific industrial uses—a sort of "you name it, we'll grow it" process.

In chemurgeneitics an industry determines the properties it wants in an agricultural raw material; then the geneticist, working with the chemist, attempts to breed those properties it wants in an agricultural crop. Chemurgeneitics is research aimed in a positive direction toward crops that will have an immediate demand.

Recently the USDA and corn refining companies participated in a chemurgeneitic effort to increase the amylose content of corn. Pure amylopectin starch has important applications as a thickening agent, in the manufacture of adhesives and in textile printing and finishing. Potential uses for amylose also include permanent textile finishes, plastics, film making and paper pulp fiber bonding. Today a 50 to 60 per cent amylose crop called amylo maize is being reproduced commercially on a contract basis.

Changing the starch composition is not the only chemurgeneitic interest in the corn kernel. Since corn is the most widely used agricultural raw material for industrial products and processes, and since more is known about the genetics of corn than of any other crop, it is not surprising that many of the developments of chemurgenetics are with corn. Work is currently progressing on a "super-sugary" sweet corn, a new sweeter eating corn. There is also considerable interest in increasing the protein and oil content of corn. Most of the breeding to date has increased the zein present in corn. Zein is not as good nutritionally as the proteins, but is used in laminating adhesives, printing inks and plastics. There is a great increase in demand for corn oil which has advantages of polyunsaturated fatty acids such as linoleic.

Chemurgeneitics is a useful, significant word that describes what has in fact become a challenging new field, worthy of serious consideration by our college-bound young people, and a field which has broadened the market for agricultural products substantially.

Langford received his Bachelor of Science Degree in general agriculture from West Texas State College in May, 1963. Loyd will be assistant to Delbert Langford, Associate Agronomist, in crop and fertilizer research. Loyd and Delbert are not related.

Loyd farmed with his father on a section and one-half dry land farm near Quail and Wellington, Texas. He later farmed on his own, raising cotton, grain sorghum and livestock. He completed his high school education at Quail, and received part of his college training at Clarendon Junior College before entering West Texas State.

Loyd was a member of both the 4-H Club and the Future Farmers Chapters. He worked in the ASC office in Wellington, and since graduation, has been a salesman for the Northrup Seed Company in Amarillo, before joining the Foundation staff.

At West Texas State College, he was a charter member of the Block and Bridle Club where he participated in securing a quonset hut, and also cattle and sheep for the club. There will be seven stops on the tour where agricultural research in many fields will be observed and explained. The Special Flame Cultivation Day of previous years has been combined with the larger Field Day for 1963.

New research projects initiated for this year will add to the interest of the large number expected. Among the new research projects to be observed will be the sunflower breeding; new soybeans; results on the use of a chemical hormone on cotton to reduce

Men Needed To Fill Ranks in State Patrol

The Texas Department of Public Safety is in need of approximately 100 "better than average" young Texans to fill the ranks of the Highway Patrol and help stem the tide of traffic tragedy and rising crime in the Lone Star State.

Applications will be accepted until September 9 for a training school which begins November 19 at the DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin where qualified men will participate in a police training program second to none. Trainees will receive salaries while in training.

Men of the Lamb County area who are interested in making application can contact Patrolman Bill Angel for further information. His office is located in the courthouse.

Application may be made by men 21 to 35 years of age through any Department of Public Safety office, or by contacting a DPS patrolman.

The following will be applicable for men selected for the November 19 school:

1. The school will be for Highway Patrol personnel exclusively; all applicants selected for training will be assigned to the Patrol Service.
2. Every effort will be made to assign them to stations within 100 miles of their present homes.
3. Upon graduation, the new Highway Patrolmen will benefit by a pay increase from the present $412 per month to $453. Highway Patrolmen also receive the following benefits:
 - Two weeks vacation annually, 12 or more holidays each year as provided by the Legislature, 12 days per year sick leave which may accumulate to a maximum of 36 days, $10 per month added to salary at the end of each five years to a maximum of 25 years, modern liberal retirement system based on age and/or years of service, social security benefits, traveling expenses when away from station as prescribed by law, group hospitalization and life plan available, uniforms and the

Turnrow Can Cause Trouble

Unprotected turnrows and bar-ditches can cause trouble, according to Edward Mitchell, chairman of the Lamb County Soil Conservation District.

Mitchell lives in the Spade Community where it is becoming a common practice to seed turnrows and bar-ditches to rye or some other small grain to prevent soil blowing and washing.

The board of supervisors feel that there are many advantages to protecting these areas. It makes a more solid and better turn row for harvesting crops, helps control weeds, and provides cover for the protected area during the Spring blow season.

These areas are more often than not "hot spots" which start blowing and fan out and cause large areas to blow.

It is also recommended that crop residues to be left on the surface of the soil and bare areas, that can, be seeded to cover crops. Unprotected fields during a dry winter and spring can become a hazard to the entire farm, especially on dryland.

If moisture is not available, plowing will only add to the wind erosion problem by pulverizing the soil.

Although small farm forests account for one-third of the nation's total commercial forest land, the productivity of this land is far below its potential, says the USDA. This is blamed on substandard stocking after cutting, the fact that owners don't have adequate protection from fire, insects and other losses, and the lack of proper management to produce timber efficiently.

About seven-eighths of an iceberg remains under water.

WYNNE CHESTER SAYS:
Help "Bar"
Needless Slaughter

Last fall my son Mike — bless his observant little eyes! — discovered something I've been meaning to pass along to you.

Mike saw a farmer harvesting with a long wood or metal bar attached to the front of his tractor. This bar projected horizontally to the same side and to the same length as the mower blade, and had a strip of burlap attached to it which swept the ground. Mike was curious enough to ask about it, and found that this "flushing bar" flushed game well ahead of the mower — game which otherwise might have been killed!

A wonderful idea, isn't it? Pheasant, quail and rabbit prefer open fields for nesting, which gives them good cover during spring and summer, but in the fall too many of them are needlessly "harvested" along with the crops. The "flushing bar", however, will save most of them, and doesn't injure the crop or interfere with the work. Why not suggest it to the farmers in your neighborhood, as a personal way of helping to preserve the local game populations?

We are God's fellow-workers. — (1 Cor. 3:9).

When we use our talents and abilities in the service of God we are freed from all sense of strain or competition.

The first commercial ice plant in the United States was operated in Jefferson, Texas about 1874.

"Ah — there's a cheery group with plenty of refreshments — Range East 46... North 62... Let's go!"

DON'T DROP OUT OF SCHOOL!

IF YOU DROP YOUR EDUCATION, YOUR JOB OPPORTUNITIES WILL DROP OUT, TOO!

Today, more than ever before, a high school diploma is vital if a young man or woman wants a career. In fact, today it is difficult to obtain any job without completing the high school course. When a job is available to the non-graduate, it is often one which stops where it begins... there is little chance for advancement. Look beyond the promise of an immediate salary — look to the future and don't drop out of school.

AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Texas Youth Council's parole division will triple in the next six months or so. But the problem of trying to help "re-form school" graduates become useful citizens is still great.

Until September 1, five state parole officers are responsible for some 1,800 juvenile parolees spread over 169 counties. That's a ratio of one parole officer to about 357 parolees, compared to national standards of one officer to 40 parolees.

Staff will increase to 10 on September 1--a ratio of one to 178. On March 1, 1964 when five more are added, ratio will be down to one parole officer to 119 parolees spread over the Lone Star State.

Biggest number of parolees is centered in big cities where the general rate of crime is always higher. More than a third of the paroled children are in Dallas, Harris and Bexar counties; another 288 in El Paso, Jefferson, Tarrant and Travis counties.

About 154 are Nueces, McLennan, Bell and Lubbock Counties.

But sizeable juvenile parole populations are centered in smaller counties, such as Cameron, Grayson, Brasoria, Ector, Galveston, Gregg, Hale, Hidalgo, Howard, Hunt, Midland, Navarro, Potter, San Patricio, Smith, Taylor, Wichita and Williamson.

Some counties only have one paroled child, but the state is responsible for every one it has "retained."

Some loan companies said they now give credit insurance free. They feared the proposed rules might outlaw this practice.

A second hearing with new proposed rules will be aired on September 10.

MONEY MEN--The Legislative Budget Board, lawmakers who make the Legislature's financial decisions "between sessions," recommended $4,644,000, 00 worth of state building to Gov. John Connally.

Plans approved included one by the State Hospitals Board to equip a genetics lab and follow up clinic on mental retardation in the State Psychiatric Institute at Houston; new dormitories for Gatesville School for Boys, Gainesville School for Girls and Crockett School for Negro Girls; and several prison system units.

Authorization was recommended for $25,000 worth of partitioning to provide 23 new offices in Atty. Gen Waggoner Carr's department.

But the board balked at Texas A&M University's request to spend some $100,000 on a home --exclusive of land and furnishings--For A&M President, Earl Rudder, to replace the one destroyed by fire.

A compromise recommendation of about $60,000 for a 4,500 square-foot home was the outcome.

CITIES GROWTH FORMULA--About 500 city attorneys, city engineers and city councilmen gathered in Austin to hear a Texas Municipal League explanation of the Texas Municipal Annexation Act, which will become effective on August 23.

Annexation act sets out "extraterritorial jurisdiction" dictating the extent of a city's growth in any three year period. For cities of less than 5,000 population, the extraterritorial area extends a half mile beyond city limits; cities 5,000 to 25,000 one mile; cities 25,000 to 50,000, two miles; cities 50,000 to 100,000 three miles; and cities 100,000 and up, five miles.

But a city would not have to expand all the way around its rim. It could swing arcs or "fingers" out to "desirable areas for growth" and obtain the annual area allocation of 10% of its square acreage in these areas.

For example, officials of a city of 20,000 acres could annex up to 2,000 acres of "desirable land" one year; 2,200 the next, etc., without ever annexing undesirable new territory.

SCHOOL LAND BOARD---Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, Governor Connally and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr members of the State School Land Board, make and revise leases on public school lands, including river beds, bays & inlets of the Gulf of Mexico.

Attorney General requested that he be removed from the land board. After August 23 he will be replaced by a private citizen of his choosing.

Before Carr leaves the board he will sign the deed which conveys state-owned land on Padre Island to the federal government for a national seashore.

SHORT SNORTS---Rep. Sam F. Collins of Newton asked to be allowed to serve as a state representative without pay, when he accepted a job as assistant to General Manager, John W. Simmons of the Sabine River Authority.

Governor Connally appointed Hudson Davis of Borger as Canadian River Compact Commissioner, and R. Leighton McKinney Jr. of Denison, Interstate Compact Commissioner for the Red River.

The State General Revenue Fund finished July with $19,500,000 in the black.

Texas Tag Cost Lowest In Union

License plates for Texas motor vehicles are produced at the lowest comparable cost of any state in the Union, the Texas Highway Department said today.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said a report compiled by the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators showed that Texas' delivered price on its 1962 license plates was only 14.2 cents a pair—lower than any other state making two plates per motor vehicle. ("Delivered price" includes both manufacturing and freight charges needed to get the plates to County Tax Assessor-Collector offices all over the state.) The 1962 figures are the latest available. The Highway Department supervises the production of license plates, which are manufactured by prison labor at the Huntsville State Prison. Forty other states also use prison labor to make license plates. The Highway Department derives a net profit for the highway fund of more than 97 per cent of the revenues it receives from license plates, Greer said. Only about 2 1/2 per cent is required for administrative cost. Revenues derived from sale of license plates constitute about 22 cents of the total highway dollar. About three-fourths of the revenues from license plates goes into the state highway fund; the other one-fourth is returned to the counties and used to defray the cost of commissions and refunds.

Greer said the Highway Department built a new warehouse last year to stockpile raw steel for license plates and has already saved enough money on the 1964 plates (now being manufactured) to pay for half the cost of the building. The warehouse storage space makes it possible to buy steel on a firm commitment for one year.

Certain new developments in the manufacturing end have contributed to Texas' low-cost plates, Greer said. Paint chemists in the Highway Department have developed a way for the steel plates to be dipped in paint without first having to go through an expensive acid bath. The prison also bought a new baking oven last year which
