NOSIN... WITH POLLY

I've come to one conclusion, I surely do not need any enemies with a friend like I am to my OWN self. However, the more I think about it I feel we are all more or less alike, aren't each of us our own worst enemy? Each Day, though I tell myself I will arise at 5 a. m. to start the day off I somehow lag behind and drag out at 7. Then beginning my day late, I neglect to start with prayer for guidance this day, instead I rush for a cup of coffee.

he can still at the end toward which he sets out, or if not quite the goal, he won't have missed it by far. Even so, all is not lost as he will have improved for all the effort.

Arriving at the office there is always news to be gathered, ads to be sold, layouts to be made and what have you. Then instead of stopping momentarily to give Thanks for past blessings, I rush madly into the hustle and bustle knowing full well that if I ask in faith I should receive.

When obstacles arise do I try another way to reach my goal, rather than become like so many other, Mediocre? Did you begin the day with a positive attitude or did you start with a defeatist attitude? Do you have enthusiasm and faith to meet each day?

then, you might ask yourself, "Who is truly my worst enemy?"

NOSIN

The most Complimentary event I have attended in a long-time was the appreciation dinner Tuesday night for our State Representative Bill Clayton. There were so many, nice things said about Bill that later on down life's pathway, should he be fortunate enough to be hung with a brand new rope, one couldn't expect a flicker of favorable response.

Bill, Delma, their children, his mother and others of his family were gracious and humble as each speaker in turn spoke a good word for Bill and his dedication to his work as a state law maker.

Do You Know A Serviceman?

Christmas is just around the corner--the joyous season--the time of renewing acquaintances with old friends and with relatives with whom we have lost contact.

But Christmas can also be a very lonely time for our servicemen. These men, that you know as boys, as high school classmates, or as the son of a friend--will be alone at Christmas, unable to share with their families and friends the joys that Christmas brings.

In an effort to make this Christmas a happier one for our servicemen, the Earth News will print the names and addresses of the area men in service. We ask those knowing the names and addresses of men in service from this area, whether stationed in the States, in Vietnam, or in other countries, to please mail, phone or bring the information to the Earth News office.

Let us show these men that this Christmas they will not be forgotten.

"Salute To Soldiers" FHA Project

In their regular meeting, October 9, at the Homemaking Cottage, the Springlake-Earth FHA discussed their "Salute To Soldiers" project.

The group collected razor blades, unbreakable toilet articles, pre-sweetened Kool-Aid, nonperishable cookies and candy, and red-pop pop corn to send to the boys in Vietnam Monday, October 14, the deadline for collection; the articles were then packaged and mailed to the Red Cross Headquarters in San Francisco, California. The Red Cross will deliver the packages to servicemen stationed in Vietnam.

In other business the group discussed a scavenger hunt for canned goods to be held Saturday, November 2, from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. The girls will canvass the Springlake-Earth area to collect canned goods, which will be presented to a needy family.

The program for the afternoon was entitled "Fashion Review" and was presented by Mrs. Joy Breedlove of Wares Department Store in Littlefield. Mrs. Breedlove told the group of the new colors, fashions and textures that will be the style this fall.

Guests at the meeting were the mothers of the FHA members.

School Board Discusses Enrollment

The school enrollment figures were the main topic of discussion at the 6:00 a. m. breakfast meeting of the Springlake-Earth School Board Monday, October 14.

The board noted there were 445 students enrolled in the elementary school, 160 in the junior high, and 245 in the high school, a total of 852 students. The total enrollment was then compared to the September enrollment of 858 students.

It was noted that although the overall enrollment figures were down somewhat from recent years, the 245 pupil enrollment in High School is the largest in the school's history.

The board then reviewed the annual audit report of F. E. Cone of Amarillo, school auditor, and heard a letter from Carlton L. Harry, tax consultant. Mr. Harry stated he would like to serve as tax consultant for the school. Discussion on the letter was tabled.

Present for the meeting were Bill Mann, superintendent; O. M. Cleavinger, president; Weldon Barton, secretary; Norman Hinchliffe, vice-president; and board members, Jerry Kelley, John Bridge, Gene Templeton, and P. A. Washington.

Parcel Rates Go Into Effect Saturday, October 19

Postmaster Harold D. Miller reminded postal customers today that higher parcel post and catalog rates will go into effect Saturday (October 19).

The rate increase will average 10.5 per cent and in most cases will mean an additional ten cents postage per parcel.

The higher rates were approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission in July.

Under the new rates the minimum charge for local parcel delivery will go from 40 to 50 cents. The minimum charge for parcels destined outside the local delivery area will be raised from 90 cents to 60 cents.

Almost all parcels that are charged up to $1.10 under present rates will go up 10 cents. This accounts for more than 80 per cent of all parcel post. Postmaster Miller pointed out.

There will be a 15-cent hike on most parcels now charged between $1.10 and $4, and 20-cent increase on parcels now charged over $4.

Parcel post rates are based on the weight of the package and the distance it is mailed.

Higher rates for the delivery of packages and catalogs are required to bring revenue from this type of mail within four per cent of operating costs, as required by law. Postmaster Miller explained. The higher rates are designed to put parcels and catalogs, which are fourth class mail, on a break-even basis.

Additional revenue is needed from parcel post and catalogs to offset higher costs resulting from pay increases approved last year for Postal employees.

1200 Attend Appreciation Day Dinner for Representative Bill Clayton

State representatives, senators, and supreme court justices, along with delegations from Farmer, Castro, Bailey, Deaf Smith, Cochran and Lamb, the host county, overflowed the banquet hall in Littlefield Monday night as they gathered to honor Bill Clayton, representative for the 72nd Legislative District.

Friends numbering nearly 1,500 made the event the largest indoor gathering in the history of Littlefield.

Although Clayton serves only six counties in Texas, persons came from all across the state to honor the six-year veteran of the Texas Legislature.

House Speaker Ben Barnes, Democratic nominee for Lt. Governor, gave the main address for the night. He told the group of Clayton's record in the legislature and of the tasks he has accomplished during his brief six years in the Texas House.

"Make sure Bill Clayton is a representative as long as he wants to serve," the speaker of the House urged.

But Barnes was not the only one to speak to "Clayton's friends". He was preceded to the speakers podium by Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon and Rep. Gus Mutschler of Brenham.

Sen. Hightower said Clayton has become the House of Representatives authority on water, mainly because Clayton is a businessman, but more important a farmer, who knows the needs of water on the high plains. Barnes said he was glad that so many people had given so much time to show Clayton how much the people of the 72nd district appreciate him.

After Barnes concluded, Dr. Bill Armistead, general chairman for the appreciation dinner presented Clayton with an engraved plaque.

Bill Clayton, 40 is a life-long resident of Springlake. He was graduated from the Springlake schools and received a degree at Texas A&M University.

He is married and the couple have two children: Brenda, 17 a senior at Springlake High School and Tommy, 13, who is in junior high.

Bill Clayton is both a farmer and businessman. He is presently serving as chairman of the Counties Committee of the Texas Legislature. He is chairman of the State Aeronautics Committee.

He is a member of the State Affairs Committee, Rules Committee, Urban Affairs Committee, Conservation and Reclamation Committee.

He was named chairman of the Interim Water Study Committee during his first term in office. He is still serving as chairman of this vital committee.

Clayton said, after everyone had finished speaking, "never knew a time when words were hard to come by for a politician, but they are for me tonight."

"I feel humble and grateful for this honor. If nothing else, it has given me a reason to work harder for the people I serve, for there are no greater people in the state of Texas than those I serve."

"Sure, I was happy to serve on this committee but I'd no idea you'd expect work out of me."

PV Social Club Elect Officers

COLLEGE STATION, Texas—Twenty "bonus" years have been given to you; added to the life span. Where will you put the bonus years—in the middle or at the end of your life?

Geriatricians, those who study the science of aging, says that the life span can look like this: Childhood, Youth, Maturity, Later Maturity and Old Age. Or, if you fasten the bonus years on at the end of your life, it will be this: Childhood, Youth, Maturity, Old Age and Later Old Age.

Too often aging seems to be a sad picture, says Minnie Bell, Extension aging specialist at Texas A&M University. Many persons dread to grow old. Others refuse to think about it. Suddenly they are in Old Age when

Farm Income In Lamb Higher Than Many Others

Lamb County Farms yielded more in the past year, from the standpoint of gross income, than did farms in many parts of the country.

According to the size of the local farm population, the results were better than the average, according to a nationwide survey of farm and Ranch operations.

Credit for it is attributed to increased output, made possible by generally favorable weather conditions, by greater mechanization and by more intensive use of fertilizers and insecticides. They more than compensated for the reduced acreage under the Government's diversion programs.

The facts and figures, showing how the local farm community fared in comparison with others, are contained in a comprehensive survey of farm incomes, released by the Standard Rate and Date Service.

It reports total receipts in Lamb County from the year's farm marketings at $60,408,000. This was the gross amount, before deductions for operating costs.

It consisted of the cash returns from the sale of crops and livestock, together with Government payments and the value of home-grown products consumed on the farm.

Expressed in terms of the local farm population, the gross income per capita was 6.3 per cent higher than the previous year.

Of the amount received locally from the sale of farm products, Department of Agriculture figures indicate that about 75 percent of it came from crops and 25 percent from livestock, poultry and dairy goods.

Despite the bountiful harvests, however, the squeeze on the farmer continues. He finds himself caught in the usual bind of higher operating costs with no corresponding rise in prices.

He has not been able to pass on his higher costs. As a matter of fact, the bumper crops have had the reverse effect, driving prices lower.

What is needed, according to Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, "is a broad-based program to expand markets, increase prices, cut costs and thus provided the basis for increased net farm income."

Pesticides Residues In Soil Can Mean Trouble

Contamination of food crops by pesticides may not always be the producer's fault, because of unknown residues left in the soil. Dr. H. Wyman Dorough, associate professor in the entomology department of Texas A&M University, says, Chemical pesticides used on a crop such as cotton to control insects can show up in food crops later planted on the land. Many of the pesticides in the chlorinated hydrocarbon group, such as DDT, Endrin and Dieldrin, can remain in the soil for years and contaminate food crops if the soil is not thoroughly tested, he says.

"In most cases contamination of food crops can be traced back to misuse of pesticides by farmers, but often it can be a case of residue problems," the professor continues.

Food crops can take in pesticide residues in two ways—direct contact with soil-bound chemicals in such a crop as carrots, and uptake or translocation into the plant with a crop like soybeans.

The amount of residue and its possible availability depend on the type of chemical, the type of soil and the individual crop susceptibility, according to Dorough. Some of the chemicals are very stable, while others can be broken down easily by soil organisms, weathering and leaching.

Such crops as peanuts, soybeans and some vegetables are among the most susceptible, and soil chemical analysis, coupled with a thorough knowledge of the history of the farmland, are the best bets to avoid possible contamination and later seizure of the crop by authorities, he points out.

Forage crops contaminated by these chemicals can also be a problem, especially if fed to poultry or dairy animals. In fact, many livestock producers are now asking for certificates which guarantee the feed they are buying is free from pesticide residues, Dorough adds.

they might have been in Later Maturity.

Each person must decide what to do with the twenty bonus years, says Miss Bell. They will be the outcome of your attitudes and experiences developed all the early and middle years of your life. Whether you are ten, twenty, or forty years from retirement, it is well to take stock of your attitudes, interest and your goals.

The Senior Citizen Charter presented at the White House Conference on Aging offers helpful suggestions:

1. Prepare to remain active, alert, capable, self supporting and useful as long as you can. Plan for retirement.
2. Apply sound principles of physical and mental health.
3. Plan to be of service to others in the years after retirement.

4. Plan to make available the benefits of your experience and knowledge.

5. Learn to be adaptable to the changes that come with added years.

6. Attempt to maintain relationships with family, neighbors and friends which will make you a valued counselor throughout the years.

M., Audie Ebeling of Waco, Bill Ebeling of Austin and Frank Ebeling Jr., of Dallas; one daughter, Mrs. Troy Lance of Amherst; two brothers, Rudolph Wiedebush of Muleshoe and Edmond Wiedebush of San Antonio; three sisters, Mrs. Neta Williams of Austin, Mrs. Agnes Duncan of Austin and Mrs. Louise Phelps of Johnson City; nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

If the Son makes you free, you will be free indeed.—(John 8:36)

The struggle for freedom and independence is part of man's history; it is his continuing story. A nation may celebrate a day of independence, as we do in the United States, but the matter of freedom and independence is an individual one. There have always been people who were free in the midst of bondage; there have always been people who were bound in the midst of freedom.

VA Will Help Educate Children Of Deceased Or Disabled Veterans

The Veterans Administration will pay up to $130 a month to help educate each son and daughter of a deceased veteran who died in service or of a service-connected disability, or one who has been totally and permanently disabled as a result of honorable service.

These payments are usually provided for sons and daughters between the ages of 18 and 26. Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco said, "The program is intended for education beyond the secondary school level," he said, "but there are some exceptions."

Marriage does not bar this benefit.

An eligible person may receive up to 36 months of schooling or the equivalent of 36 months if enrolled part time. Monthly payments are lower if the enrollment is for less than full time and no payment is authorized for less than half time.

Eligible people of legal age may file their own applications for this program with a Veterans Administration office, Coker said. For minor children, the parent or guardian must file, he added.

Special restorative training may be provided to young men or women unable to pursue an education because of some physical or mental disability. It consists of training such as speech and voice correction, lip-reading, Braille reading and writing and the like.

In some instances, handicapped children may begin a special vocational or restorative course as early as age 14.

More than 125,000 students have been helped in the program since 1956, when it was established.

Wives Constitute 20% Of National Labor Force

Continuing change of greatest effect and greatest magnitude in labor force participation is among married women. More than one out of three married women (37%) are now in the labor force in contrast to one in five in 1947. During last twenty years, rates of participation for other women have decreased or remained the same. As a result, married women now constitute 20% of the labor force in contrast to 11% in 1947.

Wives with higher levels of education are more likely to be employed than others. Among wives 18 years old and over, 50% with a college education, 40% with a high school education, and 19% of those with 5 years of schooling or less were working in March 1967.

Economic reasons are mentioned most frequently when wives are asked why they work. However, about 40% of the wives whose husbands had incomes of $3,000 to $7,000 were in the labor force in March 1967, compared with 33% of those with husbands at lower or higher income levels.

Texas Takes First Place In Junior ROTC Expansion

Texas leads the nation in the expansion of the Junior Army Reserve Officers Training Corps (JROTC) program for the academic year with 99 high schools now participating.

Thirteen new units in the Fourth Army area bring to 123 the number of high schools offering the program in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico, "according to Colonel Elton W. Duren, ROTC division chief at Fourth U.S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

"This means that more than 20,000 high school students in the area have an opportunity to learn American traditions of duty and responsibility. Although they incur no military obligation, such participation does not exempt them from their lawful military obligation," he said.

Colonel Duren added that graduates of the program may enter the service as privates E-2. If drafted they are promoted to E-2, however, they still are required to take basic combat training.

There are now 532 high schools throughout the U.S. offering Junior ROTC training. With a nation-wide ceiling of 650 units by academic year 1970-71, only 118 high schools remain to enter the program.

Additional information on the Army Junior ROTC program may be obtained from the Commanding General, Fourth U.S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, Tex. 78234.

So far on this 31-day Odyssey around the globe, we have stopped off in Honolulu, Japan, Hong Kong, Manila and now Bangkok. It seems as if we are forever getting on and off our buses, listening to endless chatter, from guides, learning new currencies, searching for shopper's bargains, checking through customs and sitting in airports and in jet airplanes. This is not a complaint. It is, rather, the trip of a lifetime, an unforgettable experience. As we approach the mid-point of our trip, there are countless memories that crowd the mind, pleasant experiences and thrilling sights that later can be called up again and again. Here are some of the more memorable moments:

The sight of Diamond Head above Waikiki Beach framed by a rainbow in the late afternoon sun.

The long, but interesting flight by Pan Am jet from Honolulu to Osaka, Japan, during which we lost a complete day as we passed the International Dateline just minutes west of tiny Midway Island.

The quite beauty of Kyoto, capital of Japan for a 1,000 years prior to 1868, was our home for three days. Temples and Shinto shrines abound there. The ancient city of Nara, capital before Kyoto, where we fed crickets to the tame deer in front of a temple said to house the largest Buddha in the world.

Speeding through the quaint and picturesque countryside between Kyoto and Tokyo on the "Silver Bullet" train at speeds of 130-MPH. We hardly felt a vibration.

The teeming multitudes of Tokyo as you left the train. And the tangy flavor of the "Genghis Kahn" barbecue at the quaint restaurant there in the park.

The "happening" on the full-day excursion by train to Nikko, Japan, when a Japanese man donned cowboy hat, boots, and western leather jacket (borrowed from our party to present his version of the shoot-out at the O. K. Corral).

And at Nikko, the splendid Shinto shrines and Buddhist temples and the incomparable beauty of the highland lake in the National Park.

Arriving at Hong Kong after dark and viewing for the first time the breathtaking beauty of that harbor scene—the millions of lights on the water's edge and in the hills above. This is the most wondrous sight we've experienced thus far. That beauty was verified that next evening as we sailed the harbor in a chartered junk.

Standing on a hill a half mile from the Red China border 20 miles from Hong Kong in the New Territories. Viewing the resettlement area on Kowloon Peninsula where the refugees from Red China are packed in row upon row of dingy high rise apartment dwellings. And yet, these people, you learn, prefer this to the regimented life they escaped.

The myriads of "jeeps" in Manila which are converted army jeeps. They carry 6 to 8 people, have set routes to follow and charge less than a nickel a mile. The cracks in your hotel room in Manila—the aftermath of the recent earthquake. The Rice Experiment Farm south of Manila where scientists have developed a "miracle" variety of rice that promises to triple yields in the hungry lands in the tropics.

And finally Bangkok—truly a fairyland of glittering temples. The Grand Palace and the Temples of the Emerald Buddha (actually of Buddha of solid jade) cover many acres with fantastic architectural structures. Some spires of brilliant gold leaf and nearly every other surface decorated with inlaid mirrors of many colors.

Our next stop is New Delhi and Agra—home of the Taj Mahal. Then on to Beirut, Jerusalem, Tel Aviv, Athens, Rome and home. One wonders how this coming portion of the trip can compare with what we've seen. But, we shall see.

Bangkok, Thailand—The sights and sounds and smells of the Orient assault the senses continuously.

There is nothing in Texas that we can use for comparison. The lands of Asia are studies in contrast. Great wealth exists side by side with indescribable squalor. You view scenes of incomparable beauty followed by dinginess that is always close.

12th Annual Meeting Of PCG Set For October 17

The twelfth annual meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has been set for 2 p. m. on Thursday, October 17 in the KoKo Palace, Lubbock.

The announcement was made by Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of the 23-county cotton producer organization, who said the meeting would be open to all cotton producers, ginners and others interested in the future welfare of cotton on the Texas High Plains.

Principal speaker for the meeting will be Elton Thigpen, highly respected cotton economist for the International Cotton Advisory Committee, Washington, D. C. Thigpen will speak on the "Situation and Outlook for High Plains Cotton Export." He is expected to outline export problems and potentials and to stress the need for cotton industry action to achieve those potentials.

An all-cotton style show featuring around 30 cotton ensembles for both men and women will be staged by women's cotton promotion clubs within the area. General chairman of the style show is Mrs. Leland White of New Home, and Mrs. Nathan Boardman of Crosbyville will do the narration.

Miss Vickie Esty, 1967-68 South Plains Maid of Cotton will be on hand also and will address the group briefly on the benefits received by cotton from the annual Maid of Cotton contest.

In addition, the afternoon meeting will feature the President's report by L. D. (Don) Anderson of Crosbyton and Johnson's annual report of the membership. County directors, elected over the past few months in county meetings throughout the area, will be certified by the membership.

All-cotton door prizes will be given at various intervals during the meeting and two grand prizes—an expense paid trip to the Texas Cotton Ginners Convention in Dallas for one producer and one ginner—will be given just before adjournment.

Johnson said the general meeting will be adjourned by about 5 p. m. and will be followed immediately by a meeting of the newly certified directors for the election of 1968-69 officers. All PCG members will be welcome to remain for the Board meeting, and all will be urged to remain for the Maid of Cotton Ball to be held at the Lubbock Country Club that evening.

Current officers, all of whom are eligible for re-election for another one year term, are Anderson, President; Donnell Echols of Lamesa, Vice President; Ray Joe Riley of Hart, Secretary-Treasurer.

"If you work for a man, in heavens name, work for him; speak well of him and stand by the institution he represents." —Elbert Hubbard

Gridders Warned To Beware Acne

Ann Arbor, Mich. --- Combine glowing fall days, football practice, and males you know what you get? An increase in acne.

This discouraging formulation comes from dermatologists at the University of Michigan Medical Center who maintain that the fall football season regularly brings on an increase in acne problems. Here's why: "When personal equipment doesn't get thoroughly clean, when the players are rolling in dust and their skin is hyperhydrated (very wet) from long contact with sweaty equipment they become much more receptive to the action of the acne bacillus," says Dr. William B. Taylor, associate professor of dermatology.

The physician notes that "sunshine has a beneficial effect on acne, but that football helmets, chin straps, pads, and jerseys block the sun's rays at the same time they capture perspiration and skin oil to increase the irritation." Encouraging note: "It would be extremely rare to find acne so severe that it would cause a boy to give up playing football," according to Dr. Taylor.

Cotton Root Rot Damage Not Limited To Cotton

Cotton is not the only plant affected by the well known "killer" cotton root rot. Dr. Wendell Horn, Extension plant pathologist at Texas A&M University, says about 2,000 plant species are susceptible to the disease, and many are ornamentals used in home landscape plans.

The disease, caused by a fungus, has been more severe this year because conditions were favorable for its development, explains Home. Death to a plant can be very sudden. A plant can show wilting one day and be completely dead the next, he says.

Nothing can be done once the symptoms appear, adds the pathologist, except remove the plant and replace it with one more tolerant to the disease. Fruit trees and ornamental shrubs such as privet or photinia are highly susceptible. Elm trees are also highly susceptible while oaks are much more tolerant, he adds.

Much research has been done on devising methods of control. Some fungicides prevent disease development in the treated zone but persist for only a short period of time. For this reason, fungicide applications do not offer a satisfactory means of control, says Home.

Plants belonging to the grass or lily families are immune to attack by the organism and may be grown in certain parts of the landscape where the disease is severe.

As an aid to homeowner, county Extension agents have been supplied with a list which rates the resistance and susceptibility of most plants commonly grown in Texas to the disease. The plant pathologist suggests a visit with the local county agent for information on the more resistant plants for your area.

New Packages Show Both Sides Of Meat

How many times have you wondered how the other side of that prepackaged steak looked? How did you know there wasn't a large amount of fat or that it didn't have a large bone on the underside of it? Up until now, it was impossible to tell because of a cardboard type tray used to package meat.

Recently some retailers have begun using transparent trays to display meat cuts. These trays let the consumer see what the lean, fat and bone composition of both sides of the various cuts are, says Frank Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University.

Prior to this, all meat juices and condensation inside the package were absorbed by the blotter type trays; now the consumer is able to see the various juices and secretions inside the container, although these are not nearly as great as the amount that was absorbed in the blotter type trays.

Also, you can freeze meat for a short period of time in these trays without having to rewrap them, points out the specialist. These new packages let the housewife see both sides of the meat she is purchasing.

Farmers Continue To Meet Production Challenges

The total volume of farm output in the United States in 1967 was a record 4 percent above 1966 and 18 percent above the 1957-59 average. Production increased for cattle, calves and lambs, reports C. A. Parker, Texas A&M University Extension economist.

Poultry and egg production, he adds, was at a new high with record output of eggs, broilers and turkeys. Dairy products remained at about the same level as in 1966.

Cotton production was the smallest since 1895 and only half of 1961-65 average. Record corn and sorghum grain output pushed the feed grain total to a new high. Food grain production increased 14 percent above 1966. Oil crops continued to increase, primarily because of a rise in soybean output.

Labor used on farms in the United States totaled 7.4 billion man-hours in 1967. This, explains the economist, was lower than any previous year and 1.4 percent less than in 1966. Farm output per man-hour in 1967 rose more than 6 percent from a year earlier. The increase in livestock production per man-hour was greater than for crops. Fewer farm workers in 1967 supplied food and other farm products to an increased domestic population. Each farm worker in 1967 supplied 42 domestic and foreign consumers with their needed agricultural products.

The total volume of inputs in 1967 was nearly 2 percent larger than in 1966, says Parker. Agriculture in the United States, he says, is increasingly dependent on the non-farm sectors of the economy for production inputs. The record high volume of purchased inputs in 1967 was 24 percent greater than in 1957-59. The volume of non-purchased inputs has decreased 19 percent since 1957-59. Inputs used in agriculture in 1967, however, were more productive than in 1966. Farm output per unit of input in 1967 was about 2 percent greater than in 1966 and 8 percent greater than in 1957-59.

Sympathy Eases Diet Pangs

Geneva, Switzerland--Seriously overweight women in Communist countries don't get off lightly with a doctor's understanding smile, a diet guide, and appetite-suppressing pills. They are hospitalized and then watched closely for a year to make certain that they stick to their diets.

Eastern European doctors emphasized at a recent Dietetics Congress here that hospitalization combined with surveillance are among the most effective ways to achieve lasting results.

Dr. R. A. Visinesco of the Bucharest University Clinic told Women's Medical News Service that teamwork is essential in working with the obese. In the hospital, a physician, a nurse, and a dietician combine forces to study the patient's habits and needs. Efforts are made to win the patient's confidence.

Once on her way to shedding pounds, the patient leaves the hospital and then what the physician called "social prophylaxis" begins.

The team maintains "permanent contact with all discharged patients, seeing them once a month," the doctor explained. In addition, representatives from the National Council of Rumanian Women call on their stout sisters to give their morale a boost.

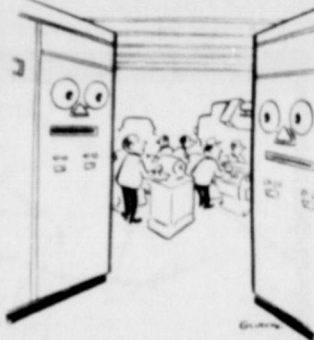

The representatives provide on-going nutritional education and even cooking demonstrations.

Every neighborhood is said to have these pound policemen.

College Offers $6,000 Scholarships To Students In This Area

Santa Fe, N. M., --St. John's College in Santa Fe, N. M., will offer 30 scholarships worth $6,000 each to students in the Southwest, a spokesman announced today.

The scholarships for students entering the college in the fall of 1969 will be awarded on the basis of individual merit and ability, without consideration of financial need.

Friends of the college started the "Southwest Scholars Program" last year to give more young people in Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas the opportunity to participate in St. John's intensive liberal arts curriculum which is built around the reading and discussion of the greatest books of the western world.

Each scholarship is worth $1,500 a year for four years, renewable annually upon successful completion of the previous year's work. Interested high school students should talk to their counselors or write directly to the Director of Admissions, St. John's College, Santa Fe, N. M., 87501.

Highlights From TFB Sponsored World Tour

By Bill Hoover

HONG KONG--The Malthusian theory holds that population will inevitably outrun food supply--thus dooming the world to starvation.

In travelling through the Far East--particularly Japan and Hong Kong--one could easily believe we are fast approaching this saturation point. For this part of the world is a veritable anathema of humanity. It does not seem possible that such multitudes could sustain themselves.

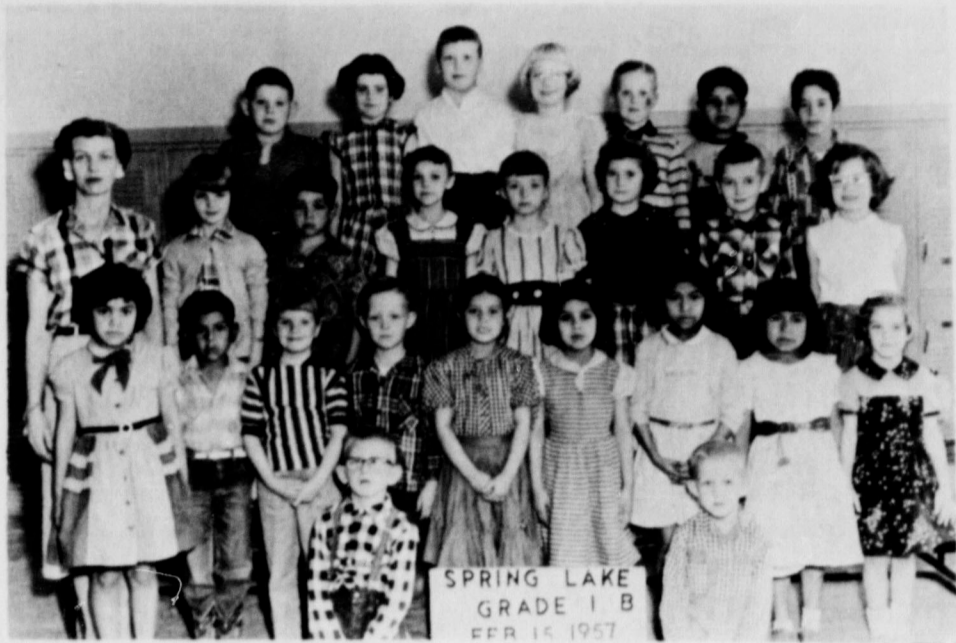

Yet, Japan is one of the world's great industrial and commercial nations with a per capita annual income of about $950 compared to about $235 for the U. S. and Hong Kong--even with its millions of refugees from Red China--has the second-highest per capita (after Japan) in the Orient.

Japan and Hong Kong manage to exist and even prosper because of hard work. One concludes from their frenzied scurrying about that the people suspect they cannot sustain themselves without hard work. There are no easy government handouts here.

Texas farmers and ranchers on this tour see in these masses of people a great potential market for their grain and livestock. However, the market is not here for the asking. Price is the key to this market, and to a certain degree, it determines eating habits of the Orientals. The U. S. farmer has competition from all of the surplus-food producing areas of the world--and in many cases, the U. S. product is priced too high to come in here.

Japan is a nation of 101 million people--11 million in Tokyo alone--and consumes vast amounts of food. Mr. James Frink, U. S. assistant agriculture attaché in Tokyo, told our group at a special dinner briefing that Japan is by far the largest customer in the world for U. S. farm products, that it buys almost as much from us as all of the Common Market countries combined. A grain buyer for a giant Japanese import firm, Mr. Mitsuhiro Ito, told our group that the Japanese will buy where-

Flu Immunization Suggested For Ill And Aging

Atlanta, Ga. --Although influenza is not expected to reach epidemic proportions this winter, the U. S. Public Health Service Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices urges shots for the chronically ill and for persons over 45.

Routine vaccination is not advised for children and adults who are under 45. But high risk persons who should get the shots include those with rheumatic heart disease, diabetes, circulatory disorders, as well as those who have asthma, chronic bronchitis, and cystic fibrosis, among other conditions.

ever the price is best. He mentioned that grain sorghum from Australia is a growing competitor. He said U. S. capital is behind the Australian grain development. Mr. Ito did point to a growing market in Japan for broilers--and said Japanese imports of U. S. broilers could reach $500 million in four or five years. He said there was no chance for Japan to substantially increase its meager broiler production. He said credit facilities and other problems would prevent this. He said that although the Japanese diet included very little red meats, that beef and pork consumption was increasing. Here, too, the Japanese will import the processed and frozen meats rather than try to feed their animals. The Texas farmers on this trip learned that Japanese prefer other rice over U. S. long-grain rice because it handles better with chopsticks. However, here in Hong Kong, we were told by Mr. Norman Kallemeyn, assistant agricultural officer at the U. S. Consulate General, that the people here like our rice--in fact, have increased imports of U. S. rice. We now have about a 10% share of the Hong Kong rice market. Most of Hong Kong's rice, meats and vegetables come from Red China. We do sell Hong Kong about one-third of the cotton it purchases. This amounts to about $18 million a year. We were told that Hong Kong textile manufacturers do not intend to build any more mills for cotton--that any future plants will be built to handle synthetics.

Hong Kong is unique because it is one of the world's last bastions of laissez-faire--where supply and demand call the tune. Hong Kong imports raw materials from all over the world, fabricates products and sells them to all the world. Textiles dominate its industrial output with the U. S. its largest customer. Plastics run second here, followed by a burgeoning electronics industry. There is a lot of American capital and management behind the latter.

Although Hong Kong's wages are low, it no longer depends upon manufacturing its products on a low-wages basis. There are even some labor shortages in some industries. The per capita income for Hong Kong's four million inhabitants is about $570 per year--second to Japan in this area. Taxes are low--income tax maximum is 15%--and there are very few excise taxes. The British-run government even manages to build hundreds of large low-income housing developments.

Infant Dental Plates Treat Cleft Palate

Boston, Mass. --Within hours after birth, infants born with cleft palates at the Tufts-New England Medical Center are being fitted with special "dental plates" which they will wear about 23 hours a day from five weeks to a year.

The individually fitted devices help realign the bony deformities and cause a thickening of the soft tissues of the upper jaw.

The device is reshaped frequently to conform to the changing shape of the infant's mouth and jaw. It causes the deformed cleft to become much smaller and in some patients almost to close. Surgical problems are simplified because of the changes made by the device.

The device enables infants to

WOULD YOUR CONGRESSMAN VOTE FOR GEORGE WALLACE?

Some fine Texans are tempted to vote for the 3rd party candidate because they admire his stand and his statements on some of the major campaign issues . . .

STOP AND THINK WHAT WILL ACTUALLY HAPPEN . . .

The best that Wallace supporters can hope for is enough strength to throw the election into the turmoil of a Congressional election by the House of Representatives . . .

THEN WHAT HAPPENS?

The answer is certain and simple. Wallace supporters are at the mercy of Washington Politicians! Every vote for George Wallace automatically becomes a vote for Hubert Humphrey!

THERE IS A BETTER CHOICE . . .

A vote for the NIXON-AGNEW ticket is a positive vote for "change" with the definite promise that our National Affairs will take a new direction . . . the direction you want it to take!

Jehovah's Witness Set Convention Nov. 8-10

"Share Fully in Preaching the Good News" is the theme for a 3-day convention planned by Jehovah's witnesses in Levelland, November 8-10, with more than 500 expected to attend.

The Levelland High School Auditorium will be the scene of three days of intensive Bible education for the local witnesses who are planning to attend the Christian gathering with many from this area already making preparations to share in all the sessions.

More than 15 congregations will participate in the training meeting that will be designed to encourage the witnesses to continue their ministry in the home towns that will be represented. Delegates from some 30 communities in the area will attend according to convention officials.

"Twice a year congregations tied together as a 'Circuit' meet for a 3-day circuit assembly," stated Loyd Lowery, local presiding minister who will have a prominent role in the gathering. "In addition to special talks and demonstrations an opportunity is presented for those who have recently made a dedication of their lives to symbolize it by public baptism," he added. "Such an event is planned for Saturday morning in Levelland where new ministers will be dipped under water at which time they become an ordained minister."

The ordination ceremony will be conducted by Lester Dugan, new District supervisor for this area who was recently assigned to Texas Circuit #9, sponsored by the convention in Levelland. Dugan is widely traveled and has been delivering Bible lectures throughout the west for many years.

"Christian conventions such as the one in Levelland afford an occasion for Jehovah's witnesses to be of encouragement to one another as well as to their neighbor," Mr. Lowery said as he directed the interest of the local congregation to the spiritually upbuilding program to be presented in Levelland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hickman returned Wednesday, October 9 from Houston where Mrs. Hickman underwent eye surgery Monday, October 7.

Stop, Look And Listen!

According to a new book on marijuana, 2.3 million Americans use the drug regularly. "Why Not Marijuana," newly published by the TANE Press Division of Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education, says that there are 50 million users in the world, and that the number in the U. S. is rising.

Dr. Lindsay R. Curtis, surgeon-writer, of Ogden, Utah, is author of the cartoon-illustrated book. He says "There is no evidence that the use of marijuana per se will lead to the need for the heavier narcotics, but many studies have shown that many heroin addicts began their drug careers by smoking marijuana." One study, conducted in New Orleans, showed that 44 of 58 addicts tested made their start with marijuana. In another study, 83 of 96 addicts started on marijuana.

"Although marijuana is not physically addicting, the user often develops a psychological drug dependence. He has no withdrawal symptoms, yet experience finds him returning again and again to the drug," Dr. Curtis said.

The euphoric, "high" feeling of marijuana use often progresses quickly to irritability, excitability and sometimes to violent behavior, including homicidal and suicidal, the book says.

Dr. Curtis has written several books on drug problems, including, alcohol, goof balls, and pep pills, glue sniffing, and tobacco. They are distributed by TANE Press, mostly through schools and churches.

The parent organization, called "TANE", is a non-profit organization chartered by the State of Texas. Its materials, however, have wide acceptance nationally, and throughout the English-speaking world. Some are being translated into other languages for use in the Far East and South America.

Most of Dr. Curtis' cartoon-illustrated books have been adapted to color film strips. "Our purpose is not to sell books, nor film strips, but to convey a vitally-needed message-to save the health and lives of young people, by simply giving them the facts. Through the books and visual aids, we can convey the facts," said Albert F. Tucker TANE Executive Director.

The organization is supported financially by Texas churches of several denominations and individual contributions. Programs include public school assembly programs, a free film lending library, production of audio visual aids, publishing, and a 100-man speakers bureau.

TWO WESTEX MEETINGS ON RANGE MANAGEMENT--Two range events, one at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research Station at Sonora on October 24, will feature a tour of the Station's research pastures. Stocking rates, best combination of livestock and grazing systems will be emphasized. Starting time is 10 a.m. The second will be at Abilene Christian College on November 1 and will feature a program of practical information for ranchmen. All interested persons are invited to either or both of the events, says B. J. Ragsdale, Extension range specialist.

SHEEP SHEARING WITHOUT CLIPPERS--A young man with just a few minutes' instruction quickly took fleece from a sheep in a recent demonstration at USDA's Beltsville, Maryland, research center. He duplicated a job performed by highly skilled sheep shearers but without clippers. The sheep had been dosed with an experimental chemical previously used mainly in cancer therapy. This innovation was made possible by biologist Dr. Ethel H. Doinick and colleagues in USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Mrs. George Runyon, Mrs. Gladys Goodwin, Mrs. Marie Ross, and Gus Parish visited Monday with Mrs. W. C. White a patient in the Amherst Hospital, and with Mrs. Mildred Free and Mrs. Lula Whitford, at the Amherst Manor Rest Home.

TERRY BRIDGE NO 31... Clears the way for Hoyt Glasscock no 12 to pick up good yardage against Anton. No 62 is Anton guard Bill Kiser and 84 is end Dub Cate.

Wolverines Muzzle The Anton Bulldogs 39 - 14

By Eldon Trotter

The Anton Bulldogs wasted little time Friday night, dominating the first quarter of play with trap plays up the middle, and put 7 points on the scoreboard before the Wolverines were able to get their hands on the pigskin. There was 5:57 left in the first quarter before the Wolverines offense had a chance to show what they could do.

The Bulldogs took 15 plays to march 65 yards and sent, Johnny Hodges the flashy 155 pound senior halfback over from the one yard mark to put the Bulldogs on the scoreboard, Quinn Williams booted the extra point and Anton went out in front 7-0.

The Wolverines took over on their own 16 yard line, and let it be known they could move the ball also. On first down, Hoyt Glasscock, making his first start in 3 weeks at quarterback handed off to Tony Barton who ripped through the right side of the line for 5 yards, and was followed by Barden with 3-4 yard gain, first down of the night. Wayne Henderson jumped the gun and was caught offside and cost the Wolverines 5 yards. With first and 15, Hoyt rolled out on a keeper play and picked up a nifty 20 yards, but a holding penalty forced the Wolverines to face a first and 30 yards to go. Barden went off tackle for 4 yards, followed by Hoyt Glasscock on another keeper, picking up 24 yards. Hoyt, having faith in Neil Armstrong, sent him rambling around end for another 20 yards and a first down on the Anton 26 yard line. From there Tony Barton scampered off tackle for the Wolverines first touchdown, Hoyt carried the ball around right and for the extra point and from then on, the Bulldogs could never catch up.

The Bulldogs were able to pick up only one first down on their next march down the field. Things started to get rough and Anton was caught, offside for a five yard penalty, Danny Parish was caught clipping and the Wolverines found themselves with first down and 20 yards to go. Hoyt elected to take off on another keeper play and after picking up 20 yards, fumbled the ball and Anton recovered the ball on their own 40 yard line.

Anton had their speedy back, John Cantu slancing off tackle for 11 yards as the first quarter ended. The Bulldogs continued to move the ball on trap plays up the middle and when they were on the 2 yard line, John Cantu was met at the line of scrimmage by a host of Wolverines and fumbled the ball with Neil Armstrong recovering on the 2 yard line.

Trying to get running room, Hoyt sent Terry Bridge up the middle for 2 yards and repeated with the same play, this time netting 5 yards. The Wolverines on what seemed to be Hoyt rolling out to the right end, stopped and tossed a perfect pass to Steve Sanderson who had worked behind the line backers and went 93 yards for the Wolverine second touchdown. Bridge tried right tackle for the extra point but was dropped and the Wolverines had a 14-7 lead.

Bridge kicked the ball deep to Cantu, who returned back to the 25 yard line and Anton took over. Quinn Williams picked up 5 up the middle and then was stopped for no gain. Tommy Gilbert the Anton quarterback rolled out to pass and was brought down by Terry Ott who had read the play perfectly and dropped him for a 7 yard loss. With fourth and 12 facing the Bulldogs, Johnny Hodges punted out of bounds and the Wolverines went to work once more.

The Wolverines pick up three first downs before they ran into trouble and Tony Barton put the Bulldogs deep in their own territory and took over on their 28 yard line.

Anton tried to move the ball with Hodges getting a minus 2 on first down followed by a 3 yard dive by Cantu and on his second attempt, Cantu was dropped for a yard loss by Gary Haber and on fourth down Hodges punted out of bounds once more on the 40 yard line.

From the forty yard line Hoyt tried another pass to Sanderson which was overthrown, but Hoyt came back with Barton hitting the left tackle slot for 10 yard, but the Bulldogs were caught grabbing the face mask of Barton and picked up a nifty 15 extra yards.

Hoyt's pass to Barton was no good and the Wolverines had an illegal receiver down field and with first and 25, Hoyt rolled out for 14 yards and Tony Barton scampered left end for 29 yards and with the ball resting on the seven yard line, Tony plowed off left tackle for the touchdown. This time Hoyt kicked the extra point and with only 38 seconds left in the first half, the Wolverines were out in front 21-7.

It was midway of the third quarter when Hoyt Glasscock, on a beautiful faking job hid the ball on his left leg and before the Bulldogs found out Bridge did not have the ball, went sailing down the side lines for 30 yards and a Wolverine touchdown. The kick by Hoyt was no good and the score at this point was 27-7, and that was the same score when the third quarter ended.

As soon as the fourth quarter started, the Wolverines were on the Bulldog 30 yard line, and it took only 2 plays to pick up another 6 points. On the first play, Hoyt tossed a strike to Barton for 24 yards then came back with Armstrong scampering around right end for the touchdown. Again the kick was off to the left and the Wolverines were out in front 33-7.

There was only one minute and 22 seconds left to play in the game before the Bulldogs managed to get Johnny Hodges over from the half yard line for their final touchdown, with Williams kicking the extra point.

This seemed to fire up the Anton squad, who tried an onside kick, but the Wolverines were ready and took over on the 50 yard line. Hoyt's pass to Sanderson was no good and when Bridge went off left tackle the ball was jarred loose and Anton recovered the ball on the 40 yard line.

The Bulldogs anxious to get started, was trapped for a loss of 14 yards on 2 plays and on third down, quarterback Tommy Gilbert passed to Hodges, but instead Jerry Barden intercepted the ball and went in from 30 yards out for the final Wolverine touchdown of the night. Try for extra point failed and the game ended 3 plays later with the Wolverines coming off the field with an impressive 39-14 victory under their belt.

This week the Wolverines take on their old rival the Farwell Steers, who will be trying to disrupt the Springlake-Earth Homecoming celebration. Here is hoping the squad will be in top shape and do themselves proud against a very strong Farwell squad.

NATIONAL 4-H CLUB WEEK

Summary Of Accomplishments Of 4-H In Lamb County

October 6-12 was officially proclaimed National 4-H Week in Lamb County by County Judge, Truitt Sides.

There are seven community 4-H Clubs with a total of approximately 340 youths enrolled in 4-H activities. In Lamb County, one of the advances in 4-H project work has been more emphasis on science, experimentation, and efficient farm and home management. Personal development and leadership also have been accelerated.

Any boy or girl can be a 4-H'er. As a regular club member, or a short term project member, The Extension Service has worked out simplified programs to fit families in isolated or low income communities.

The slogan for National 4-H Week was "Join 4-H... A World of Opportunity." Parents were invited to learn more about 4-H and enroll their youngsters. Information can be obtained from the County Extension Agents.

There have been many outstanding 4-H events in the county during the past year. At the annual Lamb County 4-H Achievement Banquet held Nov. 13, 1967, there were 250 people present. District Judge, Pat Boone, Jr., presented 130 year pins and fifty-one special awards to 4-H Club members. This was truly a highlight of the year for 4-H members.

A Lamb County Adult Leaders Association was formed to help plan and carry out youth programs in the county. There are sixty-five adults in this association. Officers of the association are: President, Douglas Walden; Springlake, Vice - President, Fred Long, Olton; Secretary-Treasurer, Les Lichte, Littlefield and Reporter, Mrs. Kirk Pitts, Pleasant Valley. These adults work very hard to make 4-H a successful youth development program in their communities.

Last year 4-H'ers exhibited their livestock projects at 8 major livestock shows and 5 local shows. Gail Lichte of Littlefield exhibited the Reserve Champion Hereford at Amarillo and Rodney Bowling of Sudan won Grand Champion honors with his Hereford steer at the Lubbock Livestock Show. Danny Carter, Amherst, exhibited the second place Southdown lamb at El Paso while Marlos May of Olton had to Champion Medium Wool Lamb at Lubbock. In the Swine division, Bobby Blair of Amherst took 3rd place honors with his spot barrow at Lubbock and Jimmy Overman of Olton exhibited the 2nd place lightweight Hampshire barrow, just to name a few of the top winners. There were many other 4-H'ers who placed high in their classes.

In May, 18 club members competed at the District Elimination Contest held at Lubbock. These boys and girls prepared demonstrations on electricity, farm & ranch management, rifle team and public speaking. John & Lynn Pitts of Pleasant Valley placed 2nd in the Farm & Ranch Management Contest. This entitled them to compete at State competition held in June at college Station where they placed 10th. The Rifle Team composed of Collin Platt, Jack Allison, Freddie Allison and Jim Allison, all of Pleasant Valley, won first at District and 12th at State. Jan Glazener of Spade won second in the Jr. girls public speaking contest. Evan Hamilton, Earth, was second in the Jr. boys public speaking division. The Livestock Team composed of Bruce Bridges, Earth; Mark Nicholson, Amherst; Kenan Lichte, Littlefield and Dean Walden of Springlake placed 9th in the Junior Division at Lubbock. They were third high team in sheep.

At the annual Lamb County 4-H Rally Day held at Crescent Park, Littlefield on June 24, there were 150 4-H'ers and their parents present. After games and hot dogs, everyone went swimming at the Crescent Park Swimming Pool. Highlighting the day's activities was an egg tossing contest for the adults and a beauty contest which featured boys from each club dressed up like girls. Miss He-She-It from Amherst really Mark Nicholson, won the contest.

There were twenty-two girls entered in the county Dress Revue held in July. Winner in the Senior Division was Lynn Pitts of Pleasant Valley. Lynn also won first at the District Dress Revue and competed at State as. Lynn was awarded a $600 scholarship to attend college by the District 2 Home Demonstration Clubs for her outstanding work in 4-H. Winner in the Jr. Division at the county Dress Revue was Jan Glazener of Spade. She competed at District and placed very high. Juniors are not eligible to compete at the State Dress Revue.

In July, nine 4-H'ers attended a three day Leadership Lab held at South Plains College in Levelland. These members were selected from all members in the county by the County 4-H Council. Selected to go were: Kenan Lichte, Littlefield; Mark Nicholson, Amherst; Bruce Pierce, Sudan; Marlos May, Olton; Debbie Fields and Helen Black of Sudan; Stephanie Carter, Amherst and Jan Glazener of Spade. Accompanying the group was Sam Kuykendall, Assistant County Agent and Mrs. Leonard Pierce of Sudan. Lynn Pitts of Pleasant Valley served as a junior instructor at the lab.

Eight 4-H'ers received the honor of attending Electric Camp, which was held for one week at Cloudcroft, New Mexico. The 4-H'ers spent a week in the cool pines playing games, hiking and learning about electricity. The Electric Camp was sponsored by Southwestern Public Service. Making the trip were: Gail Lichte, Marietta Carter, Vickey Cook and Elaine Graves, all of Littlefield; Ted Wheeler and Kevin Britton of Olton; John Pitts and Richard Fox of Pleasant Valley. Accompanying the 4-H'ers was Buddy C. Logsdon, County Agricultural Agent and Mrs. Lady Clara Phillips, Co. Home Demonstration Agent.

Five 4-H'ers competed in the District Horse Show held at Tulla in August. Those entered were: Mark & Rusty Waide of Earth; Craig & Welda Barton of Earth; and Jim Fields of Sudan. Craig exhibited his gray gelding to Grand Champion honors. Mark Waide won Reserve Grand Champion with his gelding. Craig went on to compete at the State Horse Show where he placed high.

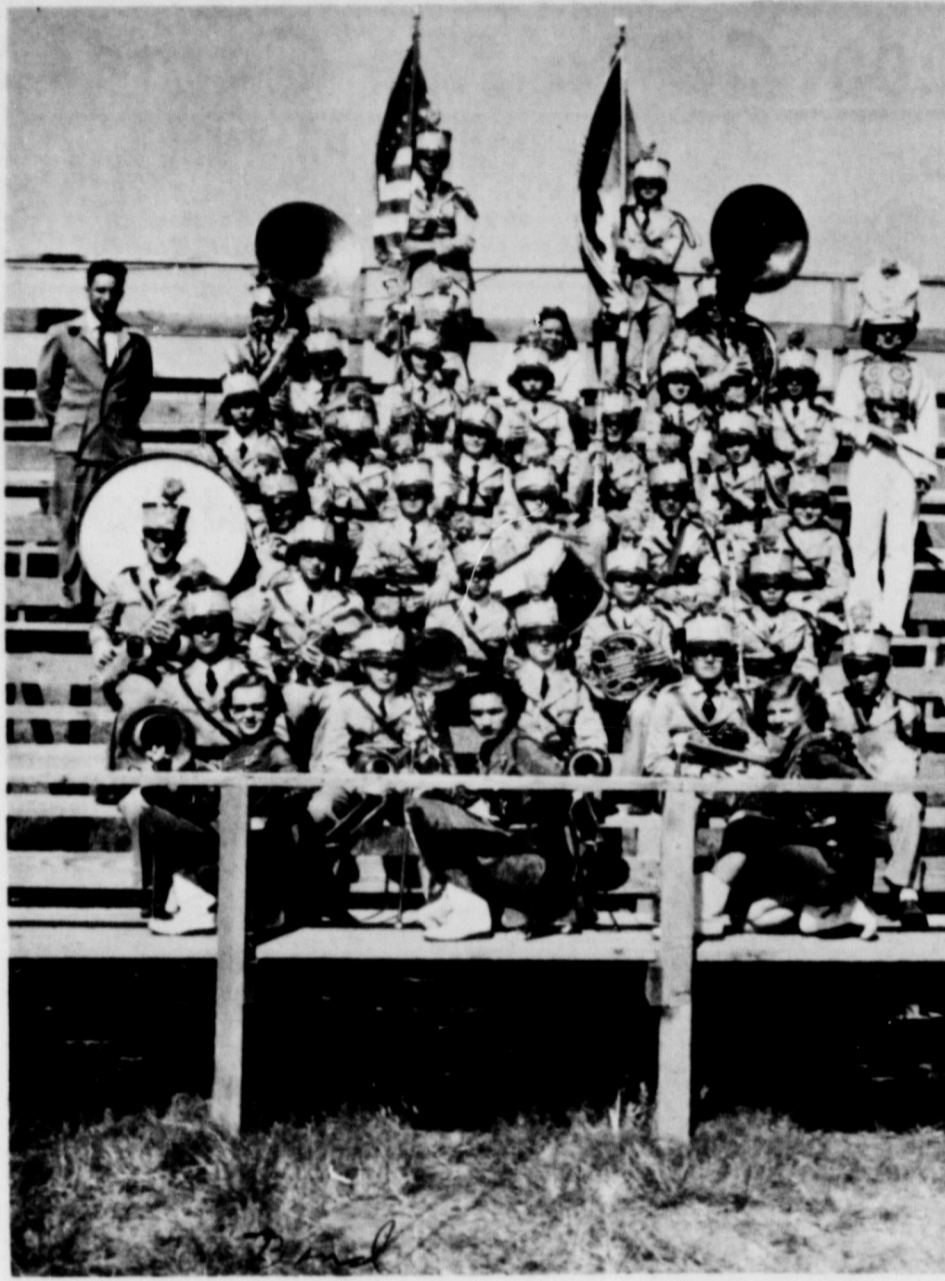

Record books were turned in to the county agents office July 26th. There were 110 record books turned in. Several of the district record book judging contests. In the Senior Division was: Russell Tanner, Olton, Horticulture, placed 2nd. Marietta Carter, Littlefield, Beef Cattle, placed in topten; Debbie Fields, Sudan, Jr. Leadership, placed in topten; Connie Hulsey, Olton placed high in Food & Nutrition and Fred Allison, Pleasant Valley, won second place in Dog Care. Marilana May of Olton, Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Award won first place and her book sent on to State competition where she placed high.

In the Junior Division was Gale Long, Olton, Beef Cattle, blue ribbon; Dean Walden, Springlake, Gardening, white ribbon; Marlos May, Olton, Swine, white ribbon and Jim Fields of Sudan, Horse, blue ribbon. Cory Logsdon of Littlefield, Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Award, red ribbon and Connie Ham of Sudan, Clothing, red ribbon. All the record books placed high at the district competition.

As 4-H'ers, their parents and leaders look back over the past year during National 4-H Week, they see lots of work fun and many accomplishments. Next year promises to offer many more opportunities for boys and girls enrolled in 4-H club work to expand their knowledge, leadership, ability, and personal development.

CONFUSION TO SAY THE LEAST!!

Texas Ballots List Wallace's Running Mate As Marvin Griffin

Charles Jones, Lamb County Clerk, notified the News-Sun by mail Friday, of the confusion in connection with the official ballot for the November 5 general election.

According to word received by Jones from the Texas Secretary of State, General Curtis LeMay, chosen Thursday by George Wallace of the American Party as his running mate, will not be on the Texas Ballot.

The official ballot of the state of Texas, certified on September 20 by Secretary of State Roy B. Berrera, lists S. Marvin Griffin of Georgia as the vice presidential candidate.

When Jones, who was even then preparing the Lamb County ballot for the printers, saw a telecast announcing LeMay as Wallace's running mate, he decided to make a fast inquiry.

He fired off a telegram to the secretary of state at 10:53 a. m. Friday that read:

"News media reporting that American Party candidate for vice-president General Curtis LeMay. Certification your office has S. Marvin Griffin. Please confirm this certification by wire collect."

Early in the afternoon Jones received his reply from the secretary's office which read:

"State chairman of American Party has again confirmed today that his certification of S. Marvin Griffin will not be changed. This is the name that should be printed on the ballot as the vice-presidential nominee of the American Party in Texas."

The telegram was signed by Mary K. Wall, director, elections division, office of the secretary of state.

Asked what these circumstances would bring to pass in the election, Jones was at a loss. He did state that there was no choice, the ballot has been made up, the vice-presidential candidate has already been certified and that is the way the ballot will remain.

He expressed hope that during the coming week he will receive more information on write-ins and other aspects of the voting that would help to clarify the situation.

But, as of now, confusion reigns.

Research, he adds, has shown that small grains will produce considerably more fall grazing when allowed to reach the above height when compared with plants which had reached only a four inch height when grazing was started.

When grazing is started at the lower height, the plants just don't get a chance to develop since most of the fall growth is made before cold weather begins, explains Pratt.

The plants must have lots of leaves and warm weather for fast growth. When the leaves are grazed off early, the plants at best make only slow growth. This, points out the agronomist, severely limits the grazing during the winter months when the leaves are not growing.

Application Deadline Nears For New Army Scholarships

New scholarships ranging from $400 to $6,000 for Army dependents who attain semifinalist or commended student status in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST) have been announced for school year 1969-70 by the Department of the Army.

Applications for these scholarships must be returned by November 15, according to Tolmer S. McKinley, chief of the education branch at Headquarters Fourth U. S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex. Eligible are those students who took the NMQST in 1967-68 during their junior year of high school, will graduate from high school and enter college in the summer and fall of 1969. The National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) will notify the respective high schools this month of those who attained semifinalist or commended student status. The parent of each student awarded an Army scholarship for the next school year must be on active duty in the Army as of December 15, 1968.

Every student in either category should apply for the new scholarships in order to protect himself, McKinley stresses. "The NMSC does not notify the Department of the Army of the list of scholarship eligibles, and application is not automatic."

The U. S. Army Special Scholarships are in addition to those U. S. Army Special Scholarships now being offered by the Army Central Welfare Fund, and there is no limit to the number which may be awarded. Depending on the individual student financial need as determined by NMSC, the scholarships will provide from $100 to $1,500 each year for four years at any accredited college or university offering a bachelor's degree.

Winners of the U. S. Army Merit Scholarships and U. S. Army Special Scholarships will be announced next May by Headquarters, Department of the Army.

Application blanks for the scholarships may be obtained at the Army installation of the military sponsor or by writing the Army Education Center, AKPSH-78234.

Eight Accidents Reported In Lamb During September

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated eight accidents on rural highways in Lamb County during the month of September, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $8,025.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first nine months of 1968 shows a total of 76 accidents resulting in five persons killed, 26 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $59,860.

"Accidents Go Up When The Sun Goes Down," is a slogan so true. Darkness hides danger, giving the driver a false sense of security. That is the reason traffic accidents increase during this period of shorter days and longer nights. Statistics prove that traffic deaths will increase over 40 per cent during this period of shorter days and longer nights.

At sundown, long shadows and fading light make it increasingly difficult for drivers to spot traffic hazards and stop in time. The veteran patrol supervisor said, "Make it a habit to turn on your driving lights at the first sign of fading light and falling shadows."

Let us make man in our image.—(Gen. 1:26)

Many times we long to help someone who seems unresponsive, disinterested, bound up within himself. How can we reach him, how can we help him? The greatest, perhaps the only, help we can give another is to think of him as he is in Spirit. When we pray for another, let us think of the true self of him; let us behold it; let us praise and bless him for the divine possibilities that are within him.

Range Management Emphasized In Two Westex Meetings

COLLEGE STATION -- Two range events, one at Sonora on October 24 and the other in Abilene on November 1, should be of much interest to ranchmen of West Texas. B. J. Ragdale, Extension range specialist, says the Sonora meeting will be held at the Texas A & M University Agriculture Research Station and the Range Management Conference on the campus of Abilene Christian College. The Sonora meeting will feature a tour of the research pastures at the Station with emphasis on stocking rates, best combinations of livestock, and grazing systems. The tour will begin at 10 a. m. Tour speakers will include Dr. Leo Merrill, range scientist and Pat Rendon, research associate, both of the Station; Dr. C. L. Leinweber, head, A&M's Department of Range Science; J. L. Richmond, area conservationist, SCS, San Angelo, and Ragdale. The Sutton County 4-H Club will serve a Dutch treat barbecue at noon. Immediately after lunch, Dr. L. S. Pope, associate dean of A&M's College of Agriculture, will speak on "Building a Coordinated Livestock Forage Management Plan." Dr. W. J. Waldrip, manager, Spade Ranches, Colorado City, will discuss "Adapting Research Results to a Ranching Operation" and Charles Ratney, Extension Wildlife specialist, will speak on "Economics of Wildlife on Range Lands." The meeting is scheduled to adjourn by 3 p. m. Ragdale says the purpose of the Range Management Conference at Abilene is to bring to ranchers practical information on problems they encounter in their ranching operations. Such items as grassland leasing, reseeding of rangelands, grazing distribution, grazing systems and economics of grassland management will be discussed by Fort Worth banker Arthur Scharlack; J. B. Harlan, SCS, Henrietta; Ragdale; Dr. Leo Merrill; John Merrill, Texas Christian University; and Henry Turney, Dublin rancher. Persons interested are invited to both meetings, Ragdale said.

Buy in season is a cardinal rule for good food buying. Fruits in season include bananas, apples, oranges, Tokay grapes and Bartlett pears.

Census Seeks Information About School And College Enrollment

Information to determine how many children and adults under 35 are enrolled either in school or college was gathered here the week of October 14, Director Francis H. Wilmer of the Regional Office of the U. S. Bureau of the Census in Denver announced. Questions were asked of households each year at this time to update national figures on enrollment in public, private and special schools; full- and part-time college attendance; the number of high school graduates and dropouts; and the last year of regular schooling for non-high school graduates. The questions asked here are in addition to those that the Census Bureau asks each month to obtain data for use by the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics in determining national employment figures. The survey was taken simultaneously throughout the U. S. from a representative sample of the nation's households. All answers are confidential, and the information obtained will be used for statistical purposes only. The Census Bureau interviewer who will visit households here is Mrs. Rosemary McNeese of Aubert.

Fall and Winter Suggestion For Home Gardeners

COLLEGE STATION -- The fall and winter season is the time to check and decide whether replacement plants are needed in the home landscape. Maybe a rose bush has died or failed to live up to expectations or there is a gap in the shrub border where a new plant is needed and was shade adequate in the outdoor living area, asks Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist. Make a list, suggests the Texas A & M University specialist, of your landscape needs and be ready to take advantage of the selections offered early buyers by garden and nursery centers. The natural inclination, he says, is to put off garden work until late spring when everything is greenening up and the spring flowers are in bloom. Then suddenly comes the urge to plant trees and shrubs and a rush for plants only to find that only picked-over stock remains. Janne says that balled and burlapped plants and those grown in containers can be planted anytime of the year. Many of the deciduous plants, those that lose their leaves each fall, can be more easily handled or transplanted in a bare root condition. For best results, however, bare root plants should be set out in the late fall and winter from mid-November through February in most areas of Texas, the horticulturist says. Planting during the period gives ample time for good root development before spring growth begins, points out Janne. With proper care, he says, bare root plants can be set out as late as March and April. Their success, however, is dependent upon condition of the nursery stock and the care they receive for six months after planting. For ease of maintenance and to reduce the amount of disease and insect damage, the horticulturist suggests that landscape plants which are native or adapted to the area be selected.

Beekeepers Set Annual Meeting

COLLEGE STATION -- Commercial honey producers from throughout the state will gather at A & M University November 3-5 for the 87th annual meeting of the Texas Beekeepers Association. Claud J. Burgin of A&M, state entomologist and the TBA's secretary-treasurer, said the program offers a wide variety of discussion topics and a short course for beginners. The short course begins at 1:30 p. m., November 3 in the Biological Sciences Building. Subjects are honey marketing, honey plants and honey equipment. The annual meeting starts with registration at 8 a. m., November 4 in the Memorial Student Center, followed by an address of welcome by Dr. F. L. Adkisson, head of the A&M Entomology Department, and the annual address by TBA President Charles S. Engle of Wolfe City. Burgin said talk topics include future trends in pollination, honey promotion, fund raising, the Texas bee branding law and honey promotion, alfalfa pollination, American Beekeeping Federation activities, pesticide resistance, and selective and systemic insecticides. The TBA annual banquet is set for 7 p. m., November 4. Burgin said the speaker will be Dr. G. H. Calk, Jr., of Dandant and Sons of Hamilton, Illinois. His address is titled "We Lay Waste Our Powers."

Individuality Plus In Housing

COLLEGE STATION -- Don't furnish your house in what your neighbors want to see, emphasized Dallas Interior Designer Ben Sanford at Texas A & M University recently. Express individuality through your house. Furnish a living room in plants and floor cushions, he suggests to those beginning to furnish a place. Play with color, all you need is imagination. Color uniquely expresses individuality, according to the designer. Accessories add character to a room, he continued. These could range from your taste in art to personal mementoes. Another housing expert who spoke at the workshop at A&M represented the carpet industry, Bob Mitchell, Dallas. He predicted that in the future men will be their own furniture designers, creating expressing individual styles and ideas by squeezing plastics from a tube.
