How It Looks From Here

By RAY FREEDMAN

We were confronted with a situation the other day that made us wonder about the values, or lack of values, of some of us parents. I am sure that most of us at one time or other were made aware that our children had acquired something that did not belong to them. We more than likely had our curiosity up to the point that we did some checking and found out where the item came from. Possibly the acquisition was perfectly normal and legal, but if it were not, we would insist that the items be promptly returned. Now what we are leading up to is this. The other day, a child lost his coat at the football game, and was unable to locate it. During the same week, there was another child who had his bicycle stolen. What comes to mind is this, when a child brings an item home that he has neither paid for himself, nor was it a gift, do the parents just simply ignore this? Or do they consider it a windfall?

BRAVO!!! We salute that tiny group of concerned citizens who took it upon themselves to confront SWPS with the possibility that they had changed their minds about locating the new power plant in Lamb County. We are convinced that through their concern and efforts, the alternate plans of placing the plant in Lubbock were abandoned. A group of interested and totally involved citizens from Sudan, Amherst, Earth, Muleshoe, Olton and several other small communities got together and voiced their opinions and evidently sold their program. Who said "We don't care what happens to our communities?"

Along this same train of thought, we need to get the ball rolling toward providing adequate housing for the many families who will be building this new plant and subsequently making their permanent homes in this area.

Acevedo Ordained

Miguel Acevedo of Earth was ordained Deacon in the Catholic Church, Sunday, October 9 at 4:00 p.m. at Our Lady of Grace Church in Lubbock.

The impressive rites were officiated by Bishop Lawrence M. DeFalco of Amarillo.

Mrs. Ricarda Acevedo carried her husband's dalmatic and stole as the procession moved to the sanctuary, where the Eucharist was celebrated by Bishop DeFalco, assisted at the altar by Deacon Edward Sweeney of Amarillo and later in the service by newly-ordained Deacon Alfredo Jaime of Our Lady of Grace Church of Lubbock.

Following the Liturgy of the Word, Deacon Leo Ramos of Plainview called the deacon candidates to present themselves before the bishop, at which time they freely took it upon themselves to serve "the people of God" and promise obedience to the bishop.

A banquet and dance in the Christian Renewal Center followed the ordination rites.

Acevedo, a 22 year resident of Earth, has studied for the past two years. He is the father of 4 sons and 4 daughters and is employed by the Earth Locker.

He will be deacon for St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church in Earth and Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Muleshoe.

JUDGES ATTEND SEMINAR—Eighty-six justices of the peace from the West Texas area attended a 20-hour Texas Justice of the Peace Training Center seminar September 20-23 in Amarillo. The training center, which serves the entire state of Texas, is headquartered at Southwest Texas State University. Judges attending the seminar included four from Lamb County. Lamb County participants were, left to right: W.G. Finney, Precinct 1, Place 1, Olton; Beulah Newton, Precinct 2, Place 1, Earth; Stanley Doss, Precinct 3, Littlefield; and E.L. Yarbrough, Precinct 4, Amherst.

SOUTHWESTERN Public Service Company will spend more than $200 million to build a coal-burning plant in Lamb County instead of Lubbock County.

The site selected, about 13 miles southwest of Earth, was the original one considered by the company for the electric-generating station. An additional plant also will be built there.

Until recently, representatives from the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, county commissioners court and the city had negotiated with SWPS to locate the plant in Lubbock County. As proposed on the talks, the city would exchange effluent for SWPS' fresh water supply in Lamb County.

John Logan, executive director of the chamber, said a "combination of factors" caused Lubbock County to lose out in the plant site.

A "whole lot of things" such as questions about effluent amount, effluent availability and Environmental Protection Administration requirements caused a negotiation breakdown, Logan said.

Councilman Bill McAlister, however, blames the loss on Councilwoman Carolyn Jordan's public disclosure of the talks on Sept. 13. The publicity generated by the disclosure "pretty well diminished the opportunity for us to get it," McAlister said.

Lamb County residents started pressuring SWPS to build the plant there, he explained.

In her announcement, Mrs. Jordan charged McAlister and Mayor Roy Bass with secretly negotiating with SWPS to locate the plant in Lubbock County.

Such a move would have long-range effects on the future of Lubbock Power and Light and so should be open to "close public scrutiny," Mrs. Jordan said in explaining her public statement.

McAlister and Bass denied any wrongdoing, saying that the Chamber of Commerce was negotiating with the privately-owned utility company.

The city's interest was in the possibility of exchanging effluent for fresh water, which could be connected by 12 miles of pipe to the Bailey County water supply, McAlister said.

If the exchange were possible, Bass said, the city's water supply could have been increased about 50 per cent.

"Anytime you get a chance for fresh water in West Texas you jump at it," McAlister said.

Although she could not be reached for comment Monday, Mrs. Jordan said last month that she probably would be blamed if the negotiations fell through.

But the talks weren't progressing well when she publicly revealed them, she said.

Had the new plant been built in Lubbock County it would have yielded about $1.2 million in county and hospital district taxes annually.

About $2.9 million a year could be collected by the school district in Lamb County, according to official estimates.

About 200 people will work at the plant when it is completed in four years, said Carroll McDonald, Lubbock district manager.

The plant will be built on the James Ranch about seven miles west of SWPS's Plant X.

In honor of Roy Tolok, chairman of the SWPS board the plant which will have a generating capacity of 565,000 kilowatts, will be called "Tolok Station."

Primary fuel for the station will be low sulfur coal, which will be shipped from Wyoming by unit train.

A second 565,000-kilowatt plant also will be built by 1985, McDonald said.

Band Promotes Magazines

Members of the Springlake-Earth High School "Pride of the Wolverines" Wolverine Band are still selling the famous QSP series of magazines. The sales include over 300 selections of magazines, many at discount prices. Included in this sale are many RCA records, part of QSP's Record Sale. As a special addition to the regular records, band members are also selling a 42 album selection of Elvis Presley albums, many at discount prices.

Band members took advantage of last week's open date by working on marching fundamentals. The band is now preparing for the Texas Tech Marching Band Festival to be held October 22 in Jones Stadium. This will be our first chance to field the band on the new AstroTurf before contest.

In next week's column, we will present the halftime plans for homecoming.

C of C Regular Meeting

Regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held Friday morning, October 7, at 7:00 with a breakfast.

The meeting was called to order by Bob Belew, president, and minutes of August 5th were read and approved.

Reports of the activities and attendance of the annual Fish Fry were discussed. Members decided the date of the Fry might need to be changed and needed more advertising for the event.

Gary Bulls gave a detailed report on the city improvement meetings. Two of the important things mentioned were a clean up campaign for Earth and more interest should be in our youth and their activities in the area.

Tom Lively was appointed to check on prices for installment of a sign for the city. Checking will be done in Clovis by Tom.

A committee was appointed by president Belew to meet with the City Council to discuss sewer problems on new housing situation in Earth. Committee members are Melvin Kinnison, Doug Parish and Macky McCarty.

Suggestion was made that we ask our newsman, Ray Freedman, to publicize permits for new housing issued in the city of Earth when he has the opportunity to receive some.

Meeting adjourned with following members present: James Shepard, Vernie Bearden, R.J. Brock, Roger Haberer, Bill Garner, Bill Mann, Doug Parish, Melvin Kinnison, Jimmie Huckaby, Tom Lively, Gary Bulls, Harold Britton, Bob Belew, Myra Dell Metcalf, Beedie Welch, Macky McCarty and Fran McCarty.

BILLY MOORE, DONALD CLAYTON and CLIFFORD DANIEL

MACKY McCarty, Citizens State Bank at Earth announced that at a Wednesday morning Board of Directors Meeting, the following promotions were confirmed. Donald Clayton was promoted to Senior Vice President; Billie Moore was also promoted to Senior Vice President and Clifford Daniel was moved up to Cashier.

Donnie Clayton came to the bank in January of 1974 and has served as Vice President and member of the Board of Directors. Billie Moore started in January of 1974 also and has served as Vice President and Cashier. Clifford Daniel has been with the bank since 1975, at which time he was a student trainee and part time bookkeeper. He started full time in May of 1976 and has served as cashier since that time.

Fire Destroys Landmark

An early morning fire completely destroyed an old landmark in Lamb County.

The Dodd Dump Restaurant and Club was burned to the ground at 5 A.M. last Friday. Jimmy Herring, owner of the establishment said that cause of the fire is as yet undetermined and all that is left of the entire structure is a few tables and chairs that were in the back.

This is a sad loss both to the owners and the community, since this building was one of the oldest in the county.

S-E Board of Trustees

The Springlake-Earth School Board of Trustees met Monday, October 3 at the school.

The minutes and payment of bills were approved. The board reviewed enrollment. Figures indicated an enrollment of 734, an increase of 22 over this time last month.

The board voted to take bids on a pickup truck for the Vocational Agriculture Department and a washer and dryer for the field house.

The school building renovation was also discussed.

Officers of the Student Council met with the school board to request a change of policy on school sponsored dances. This request, delivered on behalf of the student body was denied.

The board studied and approved the school audit report.

Meeting was adjourned.

NOTICE

All people interested in going to Vega to support our SLEW CREW this Friday night should meet at the high school at 5:00 to form a caravan. This includes those who might be driving and have space for more passengers as well as those who will need a ride.

We especially urge those parents who have boys playing to come--We will make room for everyone.

Wills and Trusts Seminar

A Seminar on Wills and Trusts will be open to the community on October 20, 1977 at 7:30 P.M. in the Fellowship Hall of the Earth United Methodist Church.

Mr. Hogsett, of the McMurry College Development Department, states that recent changes in laws concerning estates make it imperative that we keep our wills up to date reflecting those changes if we are to leave more of our estate to our heirs instead of leaving a larger portion to the government taxes.

Mr. Hogsett will show how this can be accomplished by using several examples of wills.

A panel of experts will be present to answer your questions.

Mr. Hogsett, McMurry College; Mr. Richard Barras, Tax Attorney, Amarillo, Texas; Mr. Macky McCarty, President of Citizens State Bank, Earth; Mr. W.B. McMillan, McMillan Bookkeeping Service, Earth.

BOB SIMPSON, candidate for State Senate, stumping for re-election with Mr. and Mrs. Taylor of Earth.

EMA Drawing

In this week's drawing of the Earth Merchants Association, 1st prize winner of $75.00 went to Helen Hulcy, 2nd prize of $50.00 went to Evelyn Bridges, with Lucille Campbell winner of the 3rd prize of $25.00.

Next Saturday, October 15 will be the last of the weekly drawings.

Senior Adult

The First Baptist Church of Earth honored Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butter as its "Senior Adults of the Week" this past Sunday. Mr. Butter became a Christian at the age of twelve and joined the Church of England in 1893. Mrs. Butter was converted at the age of eight in Abilene, Texas. She has been a member of the local Baptist church since 1969.

Mr. Butter's favorite scripture is Hebrews 13:5 and his favorite hymn is "Abide With Me." Mrs. Butter's favorite scripture is Psalm 23 and her favorite hymn is "Just a Just a Closer Walk with Thee."

In 1923 Mr. Butter was one of 10,000 harvesters who came to help the Canadian farmers get in their harvest. After being in Canada for three years, instead of returning to England he came to America in 1927. In 1940 Mary and Mr. Butter were married. They came to Earth in 1969. Mr. Butter adopted the First Baptist Church as his church which means a lot to him.

The Butters have two daughters and one son, whom they love dearly. They have 8 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

South Plains Hospital Clinic

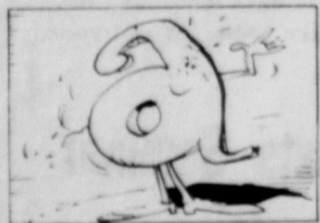

South Plains Hospital-Clinic has received notice from Texas Health Facilities Commission in Austin that their application for Exemption Certificate has been approved effective September 15, 1977. The approval from Texas Health Facilities Commission was necessary to correct certain existing deficiencies in order to comply with state and federal regulations.

The Commission cited in its findings that it has been determined because of the great expense a phased in total replacement of the facility would be more feasible. Immediate construction calls for a 6,120 square foot addition which will house surgery, labor-delivery, emergency, physical therapy, radiology, and laboratory. The new construction will be located directly behind the existing facility and temporarily annexed to the same.

South Plains Hospital-Clinic was established in 1941 and was the first Co-op hospital in the state of Texas, but is now classified as a nonprofit corporation. Originally a 50-bed hospital, the number was lowered a few years ago to 35 beds when an annexed portion of the facility was removed. The Clinic area is located in the facility and houses three physicians and one dentist.

According to the administrator of the hospital, Mrs. Louise Landers, architects retained last year for the project are currently working on the long range plan for the facility.

It's The Most!

The world's most common sound is the vowel a as in father. No language is known to be without it.

The world's finest photocopy equipment comes from Xerox. Xerox even offers small copiers which allow customers to stream feed originals, without having to position documents, push buttons or move the cover, cutting operating time on large jobs by seconds a copy.

Marie Slover To Attend VHTAT

The role and responsibility of association board members will be a featured topic at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association of Texas (VHTAT). The meeting will be held on October 12-14 in Austin and will be attended by Marie Slover, who will serve on the "Constitution" and "Professional Standards" committees.

"The effectiveness of an association and its usefulness to its members depend to a great extent on the capabilities of its leaders," says Mrs. Billie Chapman, executive director of VHTAT.

"It is necessary to be attuned to new and continuing techniques of leadership and decision-making as board members. By strengthening these skills in our directors, we can ensure that VHTAT continues to be a productive organization," she said. Highlighting the three day conference is a leadership workshop conducted by Jule Thomas, a nationally known motivational specialist. In addition to detailing the responsibilities of board members, he will discuss the role of the association itself.

Mrs. Caroline Bode, VHTAT president, San Antonio, will keynote the meeting with the presentation of the association's theme for 1977-78, "Today is Forever." The theme was chosen to emphasize the impact teachers can make on the future of their students," she said. Also included in the agenda will be further exploration of professional development, discussion of a proposed legal aid fund, and study of state and federal legislative issues.

Ten Ways To Enjoy Picture-Taking More

Taking snapshots to illustrate contest entries and reports are two of 10 ways you can get more pleasure out of picture-taking, according to winners in the Kodak Junior Miss Photo Awards.

Kjorina Peterson, the top winner who also is Utah's Junior Miss, used photography to help document entries in other Junior Miss competitions. Through them she won almost $3,500 in scholarships—part of more than $5 million the Junior Miss Program gives annually in recognition of the nation's outstanding high school senior girls.

First runner-up in the Kodak competition was Allyson Wells, Virginia's Junior Miss from Fairfax, who recommends a practice she recently followed. Allyson got an "A" when she used her camera to illustrate a report on hazardous road conditions for a drivers' education class.

Ideas from the other eight Kodak finalists for achieving through photography include:

"Photography is a great ice breaker at parties. When you take someone's picture, naturally you have to talk to them. It's a wonderful way to meet win."—Brenda Cejda, Kansas' Junior Miss.

"If you take 'before' snapshots to help you save the environment, you won't need 'after' ones. Use your snapshots to illustrate a plea to a local governmental body or the media. Photographs tell the story better than you can in words."

The lawn mower was invented by Edwin Budding and patented in 1830.

"Picture-taking is fun," said Kjorina Peterson of Salt Lake City when she received top prize, a college scholarship, in the Kodak Junior Miss Photo Awards from William K. Pedersen, a Kodak assistant vice president and director, advertising and promotion.

shot happens to be of the recipient, so much the better."—Cynthia Johnson, Nebraska's Junior Miss, from Potter.

"In Scott City we have a music club called the Tempo Setters. Last year when I was president, we entered a state competition and won a blue ribbon for our scrapbook. All of us wanted it to include lots of snapshots and it did. I think the snapshots helped us win."

"If you take 'before' snapshots to help you save the environment, you won't need 'after' ones. Use your snapshots to illustrate a plea to a local governmental body or the media. Photographs tell the story better than you can in words."

Maile Apau, Hawaii's Junior Miss, from Honolulu.

"Photography is a way to be creative. Each year my sister and I compile 10 or 12 recent family snapshots into a photo greeting card we have printed for all of us to send. We think it's a very personal way to say 'happy holiday.'"—Mary Beithon, North Dakota's Junior Miss, of Wahpeton.

"Photography is a way to help you improve at sports. Have someone take your picture playing tennis or riding a horse. Then study the results."—Susan Fowell, Arizona's Junior Miss, of Phoenix.

"I like to cover inexpensive frames with fabric and decorate them with fabric flowers. Then I insert a snapshot. This makes a nice gift for friends for birthdays and Christmas."—Delane Ingalls, South Dakota's Junior Miss, of Opal.

"One of my favorite gifts for friends is a photograph of the beautiful scenery in New England. Having the negative blown up makes the snapshot even more impressive."—Sue Paquin, Massachusetts' Junior Miss, from New Bedford.

Among the photographic techniques they use to accomplish these results are: including people to add interest... varying the distance from camera to subject... aiming for simple backgrounds... holding the camera steady and keeping it handy for the unexpected.

Varma To New Delhi

S.K. Varma, M.D., Texas Tech University School of Medicine, department of pediatrics will attend the International Congress of Pediatrics October 23-29 in New Delhi, India. Varma will present his paper, "Longterm Effects of Neonatal Thyrotoxicosis in Rats".

Thyrotoxicosis, commonly known as hyperthyroidism, is an overactivity of the thyroid gland. Nervousness, weakness, sensitivity to heat, sweating, tremor, palpitation, nausea, abdominal pain, and diarrhea are characteristic of the disease. The thyroid is usually enlarged and eyes become prominent.

Hyperthyroidism is common in mothers and can have implications for offspring according to Varma. Longterm imprinting (inherited tendency), from the disease is present in the newborn who may later have the same problem as his mother. Through study, physicians hope to be better able to detect hyperthyroidism in newborns immediately and to initiate appropriate treatment.

During September Varma travelled to San Antonio as a guest speaker for the 55th Annual Meeting of the Texas Chapter of American Academy of Pediatrics and the Texas Society of Pediatric Surgeons. Varma's presentation centered on statewide testing at birth for cretinism, or hypothyroidism, (underactivity of the thyroid gland).

Cretinism testing at birth was signed into law by Governor Dolph Briscoe June 5. Texas Senator Kent Hance sponsored the bill.

Varma's research on cretinism was brought to Senator Hance's attention by Lubbock City Councilman Allen Henry. The testing program has yet to be funded, according to Varma.

Varma earned his medical degrees from King George's Medical College, Lucknow, India. He has earned the M.D. degree in India, equivalent to the Board of Speciality in Pediatrics in the U.S.A.

He completed internship and post doctoral medical studies in India before appointment as research fellow in medicine at Harvard Medical School, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston; and at Children's Hospital Medical Center, Boston. He was also a senior resident at Harvard Medical School. Prior to appointment at TTUSM in 1974, Varma was a research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass.; clinical and research fellow in pediatrics, clinical associate at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, and instructor in pediatrics, Harvard. Varma is board certified in pediatrics and a specialist in pediatric endocrinology.

Young Homemakers Meet

The Young Homemakers met Monday, October 10 in the Homemaking Cottage with president Julie Templeton presiding over a short business meeting.

A garage sale was discussed and a committee was appointed to set it up.

The program, presented by Debbie Dickie of Gabriel's in Plainview, was on "Fall Fashions."

She presented "go-together" wardrobes and accessories for this fall. She also explained what could be expected for the holidays and next spring. The program was enjoyed by all.

The next meeting will be held Monday, November 14 at 4:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Ona Higgins. She will present the program on making silk flowers.

Baby sitters will not be available.

School Lunch Is Midday Meal For Students

Texas students are among the 25 million who are served a midday meal through the National School Lunch Program in the United States.

In Texas over 227 million school lunches will be served to students in more than 5,000 of the state's schools this year.

President Jimmy Carter has proclaimed the week of Oct. 9 as National School Lunch Week and he urges "the people of the United States to give special recognition to the role of good nutrition in building a stronger America through its youth."

The Federal Government first provided school lunch in 1946 and six million children were served that year. Today school lunch is served in 92,600 schools and residential child care institutions across the country. Ninety-four percent of all children in public schools have access to this meal.

The President's proclamation states that school lunch workers "are making a significant effort to improve the nutritional quality and appeal of the food while developing menus in keeping with the changing tastes of our children. Those involved in the program maintain their commitment to recognize the children's needs in order to serve them better."

The National School Lunch Program is administered in Texas by the Texas Education Agency in conjunction with USDA's Food and Nutrition Service.

Energy Conservation

INSULATION: START AT THE TOP

Most homeowners are do-it-yourselfers these days. With home fuel bills soaring and the national emphasis on energy conservation, many Americans are reinsulating their own attics. It's child's play if you use fiber glass insulation batts with easy to follow step-by-step instructions on the package.

First, to determine how much insulation to buy, measure the depth of the insulation on your attic floor. If you have less than 10 inches you should consider buying enough to bring your level of insulation up to an R-value of 30 (which is usually 10 inches). This is what the government says is the minimum for the greatest economic return. Now measure the distance between the floor joists to determine the width of the insulation batts you need. Buy enough to cover the entire floor. Remember not to take it out of the bags until it's in the attic since insulation expands when unwrapped. It is recommended you wear long sleeves and gloves since attics tend to be dusty and can irritate skin. Now, simply cut open the bags and place the fiber glass batts between joists. A second layer could be placed across the joists.

To install insulation, place between joists, press down gently.

Install additional layers across joists so edges butt each other.

You'll need a board to kneel on and a common serrated kitchen knife to cut the insulation to fit around pipes, beams and other obstructions. Any kind of "T" shaped tool, like a garden rake, makes a handy device for pushing the batts into hard-to-reach spots under corners and roof supports.

One important aspect of insulating your attic is dealing with the vapor barrier—the facing made of foil or kraft paper, found on some insulation. The vapor barrier which keeps moisture out of the attic must be next to the floor. It's wise to check if you already have some form of vapor barrier in your attic. If you do, and can't buy unfaced insulation, you can use the kind with a vapor barrier providing you destroy its effectiveness. It's a simple procedure. To destroy the barrier, simply make several slashes with your knife in the paper or foil and place the slashed side down. And that's all there is to it. Most attics take only a couple of hours for do-it-yourselfers to reinsulate but the savings in fuel costs will continue for years.

For further information on fiber glass insulation, like how to compute your savings in terms of utility bills, write for a free booklet, "How to Insulate for Maximum Economic Return," CertainTeed Home Institute, Valley Forge, Pa. 19482.

Flavor Secrets

SOUP - WARM AND WORCESTERED

It's going to be cold this winter, they say, so what sport, let's hope there's always a welcoming and warming cup of soup as deliciously flavored with Worcestershire as this:

WORCESTERED ONION SOUP
2 pounds onions
1/2 cup butter or margarine
3 cans (10 1/2 oz. each) condensed beef broth
1 soup can water
2 tablespoons dry white wine
1 tablespoon original Worcestershire sauce

6 slices French bread, toasted
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup grated Swiss cheese
Butter or margarine

Peel and thinly slice onions (makes about 6 cups). In a large saucepan melt butter. Add onions; saute over low heat, stirring often, until soft and golden, about 30 minutes. Add broth, water, wine and Worcestershire sauce. Bring to the boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, for 30 minutes. Pour soup into an ovenproof casserole or soup tureen. Place toast on top of soup. Sprinkle with combined Parmesan and Swiss cheeses. Dot with butter. Place in a preheated hot oven (400° F.) until cheese is melted, 5 to 8 minutes. Serve with additional cheese, if desired. YIELD: 6 portions.

Law School Day Seminar Oct. 22

West Texans and others who may be interested in attending law school are invited to the Texas Tech University Law School Day Seminar on Oct. 22. The event is designed to introduce the study of law.

Joint sponsors are the Texas Tech chapter of Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity and the Texas Tech Law School Women's Law Caucus. The program will include a discussion of admission procedures and entrance requirements, a mock trial and a moot court demonstration as well as an introduction to legal research in the Tech Law Library.

Also on the agenda will be a tour of the Law School and opportunities to talk with students and professors. A highlight will be a series of mini-seminars on the topic of "How to Survive in Law School." These meetings will focus on special problems which law students might face, such as having to work while attending school, being a minority law student or a female law student, or trying to raise a family while studying 10 hours a day. The seminars will be led by law students who have "survived" these difficulties.

The day's program is free and open to current college students and graduates who are considering returning to school, particularly those who lack access to information about a legal career.

Law School officials encourage pre-registration. Registration forms can be obtained from the Texas Tech Law School, P.O. Box 4030, Lubbock, 79409. The forms should be returned by Oct. 10. There will be limited registration at the door as space permits.

All sessions will be in the Law School Building on campus.

AC Offers Course For Area Nurses

Forty-one South Plains area students took advantage of a cardiac care course offered by Amarillo College in Muleshoe to aid in having trained personnel for the new coronary care unit in a Muleshoe hospital.

This short-term health care course offered under the supervision of Mrs. Anna Lois Crawford was held for nine weeks. "Two class sessions were held," said Mrs. Crawford, "one in the morning and another in the afternoon

Patty Joplin, registered nurse, of 1309 Monroe drove 220 miles daily to teach the class which is offered from the School of Continuing Education.

"Students, who were either licensed vocational nurses or registered nurses, were taught basic cardiac monitoring," said Mrs. Crawford. "The students learned arrhythmia patterns, cardiac complications and emergency situations."

Upon completion of the course, which was offered jointly with West Texas State University students received a certificate.

Students completing the course from Sudan were Leda Baker, Florence Harvey, Deratha King, Theresa Stanford and Betty Witherspoon. From Amherst were Viola Humphreys and Avice Lightsey.

Veterans Administration News

VA Administrator Max Cleland, himself a triple amputee, recently expressed pride in his agency's efforts to increase employment of handicapped persons and urged all elements of the Veterans Administration to redouble their efforts "to accord our disabled citizens their full rights."

The number of promotions, awards and commendations earned by our handicapped employees is indicative of the effectiveness of these individuals in the performance of their jobs," he said.

He pointed out that in the past year 1,627 handicapped VA employees received promotions, 344 earned salary increases for high quality performance, 52 received outstanding performance awards, 447 received individual or group awards and 95 were awarded special commendations and citations. Cleland said the wide range of jobs held by handicapped VA employees "illustrates the kind of opportunities we can open up to them and shows that their abilities are not lessened by their handicaps."

For example, he said, 26 percent of the agency's blind rehabilitation specialists have various handicaps. Twelve percent of VA appraisers, construction analysts, counseling psychologists, laundry machine operators and maintenance foremen are also handicapped.

Cleland said, "handicapped individuals make up 5.6 percent of VA's more than 222,000 employees and I intend to see to it that we continue to offer such individuals an affirmative program of employment."

"They have amply demonstrated that, given proper training, they can perform as capably as our able-bodied personnel," Cleland said.

Farmers In Support Of Protest Movement

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman, Panhandle area county presidents and their delegations will meet one day prior to an October 14 tractor convoy of protesting farmers in order to display support for the protest movement and make plans for an official statement at the Amarillo rally.

"It's high time we identify those farm organizations which stand fully behind their members and these efforts," said Naman. "We want no doubts that we have been and remain ready for tough action. It's time farmers themselves recognize their friends and their enemies in this thing."

Texas Farmers Union leaders will father in Amarillo on Thursday, October 13, to sharpen and focus their direction within the atmosphere of full cooperation with the protest movement.

Naman will then spell out that full support during the 2 p.m. rally of protestors in the city

Friday. Naman has told the press that the Farmers Union has applauded the efforts of out-of-state groups striving for 100 percent parity. "We've been fighting for full parity since our very beginning," he said. "It's inspirational to see producers getting involved in an activist movement because no individual or organization can get anything accomplished unless farmers are willing to get involved. Unity in agriculture, particularly during this bleak time, must be our top priority."

A spokesman for Texas Farmers Union said that it was hoped that the movement leaders will get down to the business they have promised of separating the sheep and goats. "We've been protesting for four months. We're glad to see the spread of all this into bigger areas. And we're ready to leave those behind who are not willing to stand with us."

effects of four nematodes on populations of five species of nematodes on the growth and yield of selected sorghum-sudangrass hybrids and millet. The nematodes used in the study by the ARS scientists were of two types, volatile and granular.

The volatile nematodes, DD and ethylene dibromide, were injected 10 inches into the soil with chisels 12 inches apart at rates of 17 and 4.5 gallons per acre, respectively. The granular nematodes, phenamiphos and aldicarb, were incorporated into the top 4 to 6 inches of soil with a tractor-drawn rototiller at the rate of 1.25 pounds of active ingredient per acre.

The researchers reported that generally good stands of all varieties were obtained from the treated plots, but stands were poor in the nontreated plots. In the first yield taken, they said, nematocide treatments increased average yield of all varieties by 65 percent, and increased the average yield of all varieties by 35 percent at the second harvest seven weeks later.

Ethylene dibromide and DD were more effective than phenamiphos and aldicarb in increasing total yields of all varieties (73, 56, 44, and 40 percent, respectively) over the nontreated controls. Interestingly, the scientists reported the nontreated top-yielding millet varieties yielded 179 percent more than nontreated sorghum-sudangrass, indicating the sorghum-sudangrass is more sensitive to injury by nematodes than the top-yielding millets.

UNDERScore SUMMER FRUIT

Frozen Dessert Shells, filled with icy cold melon balls or diced fresh pears or fresh grapes, convert "just plain fruit" into a perfectly scrumptious dessert. These creamy shells may look difficult to make, but actually they are very simple to prepare with Dream Whip whipped topping mix.

FROZEN DESSERT SHELLS

- 1 envelope whipped topping mix
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/3 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Prepare whipped topping mix as directed on package, adding sugar and almond extract before whipping. Fold in nuts. Spoon in mounds onto wax paper-covered baking sheet or tray. Make a depression in each mound with spoon to form a nest or shell. Freeze until firm, at least 1-1/2 hours. Fill with fruit, prepared pie filling or ice cream and serve immediately. Makes about 4 or 5 shells.

SLEW CREW

7th Grade Lose 16-0

The 7th grade played a good ball game against a much larger and stronger team. LCC being held scoreless the first half came back the second half and scored three times on sweeping plays after being held for little yards up the middle. The final score was 16-0. The young SLEW CREW is learning and becoming much stronger as the games go on into season. Looking for much promise in the games ahead. Come out and support your young men in action.

Longhorn Stampede

BY: JUDY LUST

The Lazbuddie Longhorns lost to the Nazareth Swifts last Friday night by a score of 14-8. The Swifts scored all of their points in the second quarter. The Horns scored on a 3 yard run by Charleson Steinbock in the 4th quarter and Charleson passed to Mike Windham for the extra points. The Horns had a good drive going and nearly scored again in the final seconds of the game, but time ran out before they could score. In the first half the Horns were hampered by 85 yards worth of penalties against them. Lazbuddie had 59 yards rushing and 65 yards passing for the night. The Offensive Player of the Week was Charleson Steinbock, and the Defensive Player of the Week was Jimmy Standridge. The Strike award went to Russell Windham. The Longhorns next ballgame will be Thursday (today) at Canyon High School and we will play Canyon J.V. Game time is 7:00 and everyone is urged to go and support the Horns.

Cruise Crew Applications Accepted

FLORIDA.--If you'd like to "chuck it all" and take that world sailboat cruise late next year. You may apply for one of 20 expense sharing crew slots which will be filled by applicants from across the U.S.A. for just such an opportunity.

Applications from serious crewmen and women will be accepted and processed for this project starting October 15, 1977. The cruise vehicle, a chartered 155 foot $400,000 schooner, will embark from the east coast of Florida in November of 1978 into the Caribbean Islands.

After exploring the West Indies the ship will transit the Panama Canal into the Pacific, thence to several Polynesian Islands, Australia, Micronesia, Indian Ocean Ports, thence to the Seychelles Islands, Cape Town, South Africa, Rio de Janeiro, the upper South American coast, the Windward and Leeward Islands; ending 24 months later back in Florida. All in all: 35,000 sea miles, 60 ports, 24 months.

This cruise project, called "WORLDSPAN ONE" by its organizer Phil Beach of Orlando will be the first of such magnitude, non-commercial in nature, to obtain it's crew from the ranks of the inexperienced, 'wouldbe' sailors across the nation.

Beach, who has been planning this cruise for several years, also publishes a newsletter called "The World Cruise News" which for three years has listed the general crew needs and marine opportunities offered by private yacht owners in the United States and other countries. Ads are gratis to boat owners. Beach says, "It is a pleasant passtime and puts me in touch with others who share my interests in world cruising and large sailboats".

Beach's "Sail Crew Clearing House", which works in conjunction with the newsletter, will process the crew applications for this cruise project.

The "WORLDSPAN ONE" Project will be co-sponsored by a non profit organization called "The Ocean Sailing Society". The society is dedicated to the preservation and operation for public benefit of large and historical sailing vessels.

In return for this sponsorship the "WORLDSPAN" project will act as the Society's Goodwill Ambassador as it carries out it's world girdling itinerary.

Many of the crew will be inexperienced. Serious applicants, regardless of age, sex or experience level, are urged to write for a full package of information on the project.

To cover processing, printing and postage costs there will be a $10.00 application fee to assure the clearing house of the authenticity and seriousness of the applicant. The fee will be credited against the applicants crew expense share on the cruise if he or she is accepted on the crew.

Those interested should rush their request for information packet and forms to: "WORLDSPAN I," c/o the sail crew Clearing House, P.O. Box 1976, Orlando Fl. 32802. This is a once in a lifetime opportunity for the 'wouldbe' world cruiser. It is being offered by a serious organizer. We wish you good sailing!!

Nutrition Throughout Life Cycle

At a "Nutrition Throughout the Life Cycle" conference held in Austin recently, thoughts, impressions and observations of some of the nation's leading authorities on nutrition were heard. The nutrition conference was sponsored by the Texas Department of Health, the Texas Public Health Association and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Region VI.

The 400 delegates who attended heard internationally known authorities speak on the nutritional needs at the different stages of life. They also heard Dr. Raymond T. Moore, deputy director of the Texas Department of Health outline the purpose of the conference. Dr. Moore said recommendations made at the meeting are expected to be turned into an integrated nutritional program to benefit Texans of all ages.

Nutrition professor Dr. Betty Alford said that most elderly persons run into nutrition problems not because their needs change, but because they eat too much.

The elderly need about the same amount of proteins, vitamins, minerals, and water as young people do, but the elderly are more likely to develop obesity because they eat at the same levels that they had eaten before," she said.

Dr. Alford said factors related to nutrition problems of the elderly include established food attitudes, diminished ability to obtain food, decreased energy requirements with continued needs for other nutrients, and the more frequent need for therapeutic diets.

The biological age of a pregnant teenager should be given more consideration than her chronological age in making a nutritional assessment, Dr. C.E. Gibbs told the audience.

Dr. Gibbs, professor in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio, said the linear growth of a female typically stops about two years after the start of her menstrual cycle.

He said the relationship between growth and nutrition hinges on how close pregnancy occurs to the start of the menstrual cycle. The increase of caloric intake may be all that is necessary, generally speaking, after two years, said Dr. Gibbs. He said some of the main deficiencies found in adolescent pregnancy are in iron, calcium and vitamin A.

A noted pediatrician told the delegates to the conference that he deplored the feeding of skim milk to babies as a weight reduction tool.

Dr. Samuel J. Foman, professor of pediatrics at the University of Iowa College of Medicine, said many physicians and parents feel that skim milk will prevent obesity or trim down the babies.

"But, the trouble is, a baby just can't drink enough skim milk to meet the calorie needs," he said. "It's equivalent to a crash reducing diet in an adult and an unsatisfactory method of nutritional management in a baby," he said.

Dr. Foman said there is a tendency to introduce foods other than milk products—or prescribed formulas—too early in life. Over feeding, he said, is a big problem in babies.

Parents have a tendency to get the last drop out of the bottle or feed a bowl of food without regard to a baby's desire to feed. Dr. Foman, who advocates breast feeding, said that in breast feeding the baby normally determines when he has had enough.

The eating habits of pregnant women have long been shrouded in myths and half-truths and superstitions, according to Dr. John Duhring, University of Kentucky Medical Center.

"Research indicates the things a pregnant woman needs is a good balanced diet and probably iron," he said. "The necessity for other supplements such as vitamins is very much in doubt at the present. In fact, it may actually be that some vitamins, especially in high doses, may actually be harmful to the growing fetus and may produce birth defects," he said.

Dr. Willard Krehl of the Thomas Jefferson University Medical College stated that not enough was being done to improve the nutritional needs of patients in hospitals.

The Philadelphia physician called on Texas hospitals to make nutrition a primary concern. Dr. Krehl said hospitals should have interdisciplinary teams of professionals to deal with nutritional problems.

Harvard medical professor Dr. Ronald Arky informed the delegates that there are nine million people in the United States with a kind of diabetes brought on just by being overweight. "What seems to be a very common genetic tendency, maturity-onset diabetes, is brought forth by just mild obesity," he said. "It's essential for those with a family history of diabetes to start early to prevent overweightness," Dr. Arky said.

"Making Earth Tracks"

By CAROLYN HAMILTON

(Some people go through life without ever making a track, but not the pioneers of Earth, Texas, our great heritage.)

(Editors Note: An interesting letter from a very special person....Gus Parish)

I can probably go back to the days before Earth was born. The late days of 1923 to show what Earth means to this community. Highway 70 was just finished yet unpaved. My father had bought half a section of land two miles north of what was the Punkin Center, which was a small grocery store, a few Model T parts, gas and oil. This was the only stop between Olton and Muleshoe; with Highway 70 very muddy. It was a long way between Olton and Punkin Center. We only met one car and it was stalled just East of what is now Circle. Just to show how fast we traveled then we had parked our two Model T trucks on one side of Highway 70 in a lake just east of Olton and drained the radiators. We parked in this lake so we could get water to fill the truck radiators up early the next day and make it to our location just north of Punkin Center before night. On these two trucks and the two wagons behind us we had enough lumber to build a three-room house and a windmill tower. This was about the average house around Punkin Center. Oh yes, I had left my new bride, Emma Bell, in Plainview. She did not know what she was doomed for, but I had given her a hint and she said she would not complain and up until this day she still has not.

If it will add a little more on what Earth means to this Community, I will add a word on Mrs. J.L. Hinson (deceased). There was a church at what was then the Springlake school just north of the present Springlake Cemetery. The congregation was composed of our neighbors, the Jack Hinsons, Ed and Rose White, the Willis Whites, the Packards, the Norman Cleavengers and George Abbott. Mr. Abbott had a 1916 Buick just about worn out. It completely quit running a few miles north of our place, and someone (I believe it was Willis White, deceased for I had fixed a Model T for him) told him I was a mechanic so he came down and talked me in to fixing it. Sure enough it had been worked on by someone that did not know that type of motor, so I made it run like new (He thought). So that started the garage business off for me. We built a 40' X 40' workshop at that farm which is where K.B. Parish now lives. We ran it about three years and now Earth had been formed.

In one or two of these years we grew cotton and had to haul it to Plainview in wagons. It took three or four days to get two bales of cotton hauled and sold (there was no self propelled pullers then).

Now Earth got a gin built by Halsell Company to boost sales and the beginning of Earth. Earth also got a Hotel, Post Office, Filling Station, a garage, and grocery store. Then I believe the Kelly's moved in and put in another grocery store. About that time the George Runyon's put in a good Blacksmith Shop.

I believe about this time we bought the 160 acres of land which was the north west corner of Earth and built the first modern filling station and workshop. I believe this was finished in early 1927. We ran this garage one year and sold to Frank Ebling. We,

(When I say we, I mean J.A. Parish and three sons- Gus, Clive, and Cecil (now deceased) and one sister, Edwin-Clyde had gotten married and went on his own. We had also built a home just across the street from where the Baptist church is now. I don't believe the church had been built at this time, if I remember we (all denominations) went to church in what Halsell had built for a school (if Earth saw fit to send to it) as a guarantee that the people would have a school. We also sold this house to Ebling and built a small one just north of it. We ran this building as a hardware store long enough to build the only brick and tile two-story building ever built in Earth. "Pap" Parish, my father as he was called, built a brick and tile building for a picture show that Herb Winborn ran. We got the John Deere contract and put in a good line of hardware with it. John Deere had a good wheat land tractor, the Model T, and built the first row crop tractor in 1927, the general purpose and what a flop it was. (We ran this place until about 1942 or 1943 and sold to Guy Kelly and Earl Miller.)

By this time Earth had made many changes. In 1924, the Springlake school board called an election to move the school to the center of the district one mile north of Earth. The people settled in two locations, most of the people lived on the east side of the district, the others lived in the center. We got the east side location of which I am well pleased.

Earth area grew like wild fire. A body of far-sighted men saw the need for a burial place (I do not remember who was on the committee). I got the secretary's book lost somewhere and can not find it. When I say I got it lost, I was the second president of the association. I believe J.W. or Marshall Kelley was first president, and as I remember there were no records. I know J.W. and M.E. Kelley, J.A. Parish, and C.V. Shelby were on the board. Marshall was the first president. The cemetery made very slow progress, the first person buried was J.W. Kelly's daughter and to keep her from being alone M.E. and Eula Mae Kelly moved their daughter from the Springlake Cemetery to the Earth Cemetery.

We dug all graves by hand then I remember the Parish Hardware gave the first set of tools. It was a few shovels, picks, maybe a sledge hammer, and a long chisel. It went along at a slow pace. I don't remember the date or how come we elected a president. Not much interest, not even the board members would come to a meeting.

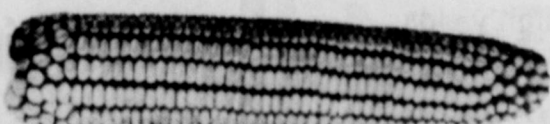

Then we thought of the Perpetual Care Plan; it came to my mind and I wrote up a set of guide lines and presented it to a few of the best workers. We met at Marshall and Eula Mae Kelly's home and decided to really put on an all-out effort. Sure enough it worked; the Cemetery Association now has a nice working capital. We reached the goal that Ernest Green and myself had set. I remember E.R. (deceased) and Elsie Hawkins did not join our Perpetual Care Fund until I bought his farm and home about ten years later and then he became one of the best boosters. Mr. Walter Stout (deceased) joined at the first chance with the understanding if it didn't go he could draw his three hundred dollars out, which he did. Then a few years later he said all on his own that he was wrong and rejoined to make a fine booster.

Earth was very fortunate on great workers. J.F. Kelly was a wonderful church worker and was very active in getting the First Baptist Church built. Then came the Methodist Church, I don't remember who the active one was on the Methodist. (Note-this will be told later in Methodist News.) Then came the Church of Christ, it had lots of wonderful leaders- Fred and Elvis Clayton, Chubby and Arthur Dent.

Now Earth has its fourth church, the Catholic.

Now to back up, another cotton gin had been added, the Farmer's Coop. It was built on the fourth section we had bought northwest of where Highway 1055 and Highway 70 cross.

About this time Earth got a Light Plant. We had purchased a small Delco light plant and electric water pump. We piped water across Highway 1055 and furnished Kelly Drug and Grocery lights.

Earth had a windmill for almost every house. Wayne Rutherford and Zella Mae purchased a Fairbury windmill from Parish hardware and it is the only one of the old mills that is still standing. It is located southeast of the Citizens State Bank.

Now back to Earth's first Public Light, it ran a few hours in the morning and a few late evenings then the old engine played out and they closed down.

My father, J.A. "Pap" Parish, (deceased) bought the franchise and plant, providing a man named Tom Farley, to promote and run it, which he did. He wired a big part of the town, got a good Hot Ball Fairbanks motor and changed the hours of running, but not to 24 hours per day. This plant was sold to what is now Southwestern Public Service.

The 1929 crash had got under full swing by this time and Workers Progress Association "W.P.A." was in full swing also. Earth had only four inside toilets and bath tubs. One was in the J.W. Kelley home, one at the new house we built after we sold the big home to Ebling, and the other two were at the Hardware store, one upstairs and one downstairs. This upstairs was some attraction-inside toilet and bath. Emma Belle and I, with our three-children took the northeast three rooms, (there were about ten rooms upstairs). I might add these were one-room apartments. I can name the first occupants, seven of them, some of these people will still be remembered. Jack and Lilla Pence, George Kassinger (deceased) and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Glass, who ran Kelly Drug, Dr. Curney, (a very good doctor), Emma Belle's housekeeper, and J.A., Pete and Cecil Parish. There was not a single mixup on one bathroom as they had never before had one. To add to all of this, the rest of our eight children were born and raised up there. Margret, Charles, Charlene, Doug, and Carlyn Joyce plus others mentioned above.

The "W.P.A." built almost everyone in this country, including Earth, a real nice outdoor toilet with places for two people to sit up (two-holers) until the sale of toilet paper was known.

Now to keep Earth, we had about five or six good free working men. They were Mr. Barlow, Mr. John Walker, Mr. J.W. Kelley, and Mr. J.A. Parish.

They had a boxing platform built and free boxing on Saturday evenings and Earth had some real good boxers, one of which lives just northwest of Earth, Shirley Chaney; he was probably the winner.

A drawing was held each Saturday evening and Merchants had special sales. Most of the time in summer there would be a free bronc riding. The Merchants would pay the riders and the people would form a big ring of cars for the fence. Harvey Keller, Gus Keller, his uncle, and his father George could hold and bronc while the rider mounted. George and Bill Keller were the main riders. I remember one evening George rode ten broncs for ten cents each-Bill picked up free- and that was prosperous times.

I also remember we grew wheat, combined it and hauled it, then we shoveled it in Halsells barns for 15 cents per bushel. I was asked by Ray Axtell to go with him to Sudan with a load of wheat. He got eighteen cents per bushel for it. While I am on the subject of Ray Axtell, I will tell how good a fellow he was, or maybe I should say loyal. I hauled most of my own hardware from Amarillo and as crude as the old trucks were I had many passengers. Just to get to go somewhere and then Amarillo was special! This particular day Mr. Blevins and Pat McCord's father went with me. Of their own choice they were going to travel 100 miles on dirt roads and load a truck with hardware and implements and then go to lunch with two customers (which cost one dollar for three to eat.) and repeat the same trip home. By the time we got home it would be well into the night. We heard before we left Amarillo it had come a flash flood and one man had drowned in Running Water Draw but we thought nothing of that. By the time we got to the Axtell home just on top of the steep hill into the draw bridge, there stood Ray Axtell waving a big flag. The bridge had washed out on the north side and once we turned over that hill, that would have been the last of us. So Ray lost a supper, bed, and breakfast for three.

Later Earth had two truck lines, one owned by Ben Wimmingham and the other by Paul and Forest Simmons, but I hauled lots of my machinery after that and had many nice passengers. On one occasion Charlie Jones (what a good buyer he was), stopped in at Blackburn Brothers Department in Amarillo to look at an overcoat, the price was $75.00. Mr. Jones shook his head no! A few days later Charlie went back to Amarillo with me and we dropped in this same store. They had this same coat, but the price had come down to $50.00. Charlie still shook his head no and we walked out. Some time later we were back in Amarillo, Charlie said: "I believe I'll see if Blackburns still has that coat." Sure enough no one else had $50.00 or $75.00 to spend for that coat! The clerk recognized Charlie and asked "Are you not the same man that asked about that coat last week?" Charlie said "Yes I am." The clerk said: "Let me see the store boss" and he came back and quoted the low price of $35.00. Charlie had the cash, and he had made $40.00 just practicing common sense pricing.

I have always gotten along with children and especially boys, but have done very little for them the last ten or twelve years. I have furnished the school a place near the Earth Rodeo to keep their livestock. (I do not know if the boys that use it know of it.) I have lived in two different towns besides Earth and Springlake, Llano and Valleyview Texas and dearly love to go back to each one of them. Two of my school teachers are still living or were not too long ago. One of them was Helen Higgingbottom, a daughter to the famous Lumber King. (When my children go through these towns they look for angels on the streets.)

When I leave Earth I don't know what they will look for or expect to see. I have had many, nice friends and customers while in Springlake and Earth. Almost every week someone comes by to see me and say: "You put a leather bearing in a Model T and an outside oil line on and get me on my way; I heard you were building windmills; or I saw a Parish windmill or pump in a far away city and just came by to say hello. (Ask Chubby Dent about the huge Willis Knight he and I fixed for a man and lady.) Some say: "I bought a tractor from you. Don't you remember? And now I am after a pump or mill."

So now the end. The young men of Earth will go down in history as a very loyal, clever set of young men. Earth now has a good Fire Department, Chamber of Commerce, and Lions Club. Although Earth may go on and on, I say they went down when they lost the Hospital and Old Folk's Home, it was enough to discourage any heart, but it did not theirs and for myself I should visit lots of our elder people who are in these homes if they were in Earth. It's too late now, but a lot of people see now what it would have meant to Earth.

If there was nothing in Earth, where would you gin your cotton, haul your maize and corn, buy a sandwich (when you did not have time to run to Lubbock), or buy a dress if a streaker had undressed you? (Authors note: Notice Gus' eternal wit!)

I have left out getting a bank of which I served eighteen years before I decided I was too old to think fast enough and I resigned.

I also forgot to mention that times got so hard in about 1932 or 1933. Richards John a wonderful barber here, named a new brand of tires-the Ball Line, and up until this day it is the only line that anyone uses. The name came because all the rubber had worn off. Not all cars were registered so we put in a free parking lot behind the Hardware store so that could come to town and not get picked up. I'll add for Mr. Johns he did have a big business especially on Saturday and Saturday night-it was almost before safety razors and there were no electrics at all, if I remember a hair cut and shave cost thirty five cents. Johns had a partner Corbert Roberts, who still has his old home here.

Just a kind word for Mrs. Jack Hinson-she had the first motor driven washing machine that I had ever seen. She saw what a job my wife, Emma Bell had, and did her washing graciously for many months or maybe until we got money enough to buy a Bell Maytag.

P.S. Gus Parish is not the least bit retired. He can be seen daily at K.M.P. Pump Company. (Another interesting story.)He is truly one of Earth's greatest pioneers, a man of enthusiasm, zest, and a real worker for progress.

Babies in goggles used for research

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) Don't blink if you see babies in goggles at The University of Texas.

In studies on depth perception, Dr. Martin S. Banks, a UT psychologist, puts goggles with special lenses on infants to determine at what age babies develop stereopsis (the ability to use both eyes to see two different images of the same object and, thereby, perceive its depth).

Dr. Banks' research may make it possible for doctors to determine earlier when a child has developed stereopsis. Such detection would make it easier to correct abnormal development.

Fidelis Circle

The Earth United Methodist Women Fidelis Circle was hostess to the Muleshoe UMW Tuesday morning at 9:30. The Muleshoe UMW presented the study "Women of the Bible". This study will be continued the two following Tuesdays. All the women of the church and other visitors are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. LaJean Williams gave the study introducing it with a very interesting film on "Women of the Bible" shown by Mrs. Norma Dawson. Mrs. Williams delineated the characters of Eve, Jezebel, and Sarah, showing traits that have a message for women today. She applied these lessons with illustrations in her own and other womens lives today.

She concluded the hour with a prayer-song on record and her own prayer.

Mrs. Lillian Holland, president of the Earth UMW and Mrs. Norma Dawson served coffee and delicious breads, to the following ladies: Mrs. Tammy Allison, Mrs. Wanda Shafer, Mrs. Jenne McVickers, Mrs. Maureen Hooten, Mrs. LaJean Williams and Mrs. Gertrude Allen all from Muleshoe, and Mrs. Phene Brown, Mrs. Kathy Shirey, Mrs. Gladys Goodman, Mrs. Gayle Littleton, Mrs. Roberta Cowley, Mrs. Beula Coker, Mrs. Carolyn Coker, Mrs. Bessie Cearley, Mrs. Lena Grace Griffin, Mrs. Mattie Axtell, Mrs. Lillian Holland, Mrs. Rowena Cleavinger, Mrs. Norma Dawson all from Earth.

Muleshoe Arts Association Meets

The Muleshoe Art Association met at the XIT Restaurant at 12 noon on Tuesday for the regular meeting and a buffet luncheon.

The president, Carijon Schuster, welcomed the guests and Juaree Smallwood gave the invocation. Mrs. Schuster conducted a short business meeting and then turned the meeting over to Louise Alair who presented Mr. Larry Hilburn, a noted artist from Taos, New Mexico as guest artist and speaker.

Mr. Hilburn gave a very interesting talk on the "Meaning of Art." The artist is conducting a 5 day workshop in Muleshoe at the Art Loft. Several local artists are attending these workshops and report that they are enjoying them very much.

The Art Association is sponsoring a "Mini Show" for membership at the Art Loft in November. The show will be open for public viewing November 5 and the afternoon of November 6.

There was 30 members and 5 guests present. Guests and members attending from the Earth-Springlake area were members, Mrs. Mary Foster, Mrs. Emily Clayton, Mrs. Beatrice Shirey, Mrs. Elsie McMillan, Mrs. Myrtle Steinbock, Mrs. Gayle Littleton, Mrs. Jerry Wheatly and guests Mrs. Fran McCarty, Mrs. Mary Busby and Mrs. Edna Sanders.

Scout-O-Rama Tickets On Sale

In anticipation of the "the biggest youth show in West Texas", Cub Scouts, Scouts and Explorers will sell tickets for "Wonderful World of Scouting" Scout-O-Rama until show date-November 12.

Some 200 different demonstrations of Scouting skills will be on exhibit at the Lubbock Civic Center and the Hale County Agriculture Building in Plainview. Larry Cunningham, Lubbock City Manager and chairman of 1977 Scout-O-Rama, explained that this is one of the biggest events in the Scouting year. Cub Scouts, Scouts and Explorers from all 20 counties of the council are working on demonstrations, booths and displays ranging from camping and hiking through Indian lore and Cub Scout Family Games.

Ticket sales for the event offers an opportunity for the individual to earn prizes, and the units receive 30 percent of the total members' sales directly.

Parents, leaders and the general public can find how relevant Scouting is in today's society. Eight-year-olds can learn about traffic safety, Scouts can work on merit badge subjects ranging from Atomic Energy and Environmental Science through Agriculture, and Explorers-in the Lubbock area-can attend national Law Enforcement Seminars.

"We hope everyone will come out to see today's Scouting program, in action," Cunningham stated.

Senior Citizens

Senior citizens in the West Texas area will benefit from peer counseling in consumer education as a result of a $33,740 grant awarded to the Texas Tech University College of Home Economics through the Division of Continuing Education.

The consumer education grant, announced by Congressman George Mahon, is the second such grant received by Texas Tech during the last two years.

The elderly in West Texas sometimes are victims of consumer fraud and deceptive practices, according to Prof. E. Carolyn Ater, project director of the senior citizen consumer advisory program.

Studies show that the elderly frequently face loneliness, health and appearance problems, low self-esteem, and social isolation. These characteristics can add to the preclusion of fair treatment in consumer dealings.

Benefits include enhancement of consumer behavior for participants and an opportunity for persons serving as peer counselors to make social contributions. Program objectives are aimed at strengthening the present system of peer counseling, incorporating a system of mini-program modules on preventive and advocacy consumer issues, and initiating use of a manual and mini-program system. Program objectives will be established in an eight-county area around Lubbock county. The goal is senior citizen peer counseling training in consumer and financial management.

This year's grant expansion includes Floyd, Crosby, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lynn and Terry counties.

The training manual for the program serves as an extension of related programs by the Better Business Bureau of the South Plains and the Legal Services Corporation.

Program expansion is designed to help the elderly realize that consumer education can be a preventive measure against possible victimization. By working through such a program the elderly can be taught to be aware of consumer dangers and achieve greater satisfaction in day-to-day dealings in the market.

"Volunteer senior citizens' participation has added great strengths in increasing the program's value," Ater said.

More information about the senior citizens program can be obtained by calling Ater at 742-3048.

Antiques To Be Auctioned

More than $25,000 worth of antiques will be auctioned Saturday night for the benefit of the Llano Estacado Museum at Plainview. Antiques to be auctioned were purchased especially for resale by the museum which will use the proceeds for operating expenses and special projects.

Among the items to be sold are numerous sets of china, including an 80-piece set valued at $2,500. Metal and silverware, lamps, furniture, crystal, and miscellaneous pieces are among the almost 300 different lots of merchandise to be bid upon.

The auction will be held beginning at 8 o'clock Saturday evening at the Hale County Agricultural Center during the annual Running Water Draw Arts and Crafts Festival. Several thousand people are expected to attend the three day affair. Dayton Kelley, Director of the Llano Estacado Museum, hopes that many will be on hand for the auction.

The collection of antiques to be sold were assembled by the Briercroft Savings and Loan Association of Lubbock and include items ranging in price for a few dollars to several hundred dollars. All items will be on display all day Saturday and a published list will be available, Kelley said.

Dale Cutberth's All State Auctioneers will be in charge of the auction.

Teenager Pageant

Young ladies of this area are invited to enter the Texas United Teenager Pageant to be held at the Hotel Adolphus, March 17, 18, and 19, 1978, in Dallas, Texas. The Texas Pageant is the official State Preliminary to the Miss United Teenager, Kansas United Teenager and New Mexico United Teenager. Richard Pollman from Reno, Nevada will Emcee the Annual Event.

Contestants will be judged on Scholastic and Civic Achievements, Beauty, Poise, and Personality. No swimsuit or talent competition is involved. Contestants must be between 14 and 18 years of age as of December 31, 1978, and must have at least a "B" average in school.

Each contestant accepted will be requested to participate in the Volunteer Community before Pageant time. Each contestant is required to write and present on stage an Essay entitled "My Country".

The winner of the Texas Pageant will receive an all-expense paid trip to Europe with the American Leadership Study Group, a self-improvement course, and other prizes.

Among the prizes that will be awarded at the National Pageant in 1978 is $15,000 in scholarships and awards, a new 1978 automobile, for the reigning year, $2,000 personal appearance contract, $2,000 wardrobe, and an ALSG 28-day trip to Europe for which she will earn college credits.

Those interested in entering the Texas United Teenager Pageant may write for information to Cappy Munday Smith, State Director, 2725 Penwood Place, Lithonia, Georgia, 30058, or call (404) 987-9748.

'Papoose' group gets double load

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — The "Papoose Generation" is the label a University of Texas mental health expert gives to those adults who have to shoulder the double load of having grown children and elderly parents dependent on them longer.

Mrs. Bert Kruger Smith of the UT Hogg Foundation for Mental Health advises adults in the middle to give the "papooses" more responsibility for themselves and to teach them to help each other.

Mrs. Smith also suggests that those in the Papoose Generation find some ways to set down the papooses and to shift the load, for, as she notes, "no generation has full call on another."

The word cadet comes from a French term meaning "little head."

So you see fat?

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — It may not be scientific, but a University of Texas nutritionist suggests the old mirror test to determine if one is overweight: "Take off all your clothes," says Dr. RoseAnn Shorey, "stand in front of the mirror, and if you see fat, you see fat."

She says obesity generally is not the result of gluttony but of small daily intakes — "only 100 calories a day, a glass of wine, a bottle of beer, five crackers..."

Among her tips for weight reduction are changing eating habits, making sure diets are nutritionally adequate and increasing the level of exercise.

Gulls banded for identification in Germany and England have been found all the way from Labrador to Mexico.

The heat pump
"THE ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE"
BUYING, BUILDING, REMODELING?

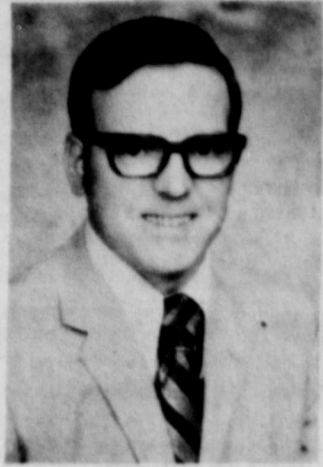

It's time to consider the heat pump. Southwestern Public Service Company can suggest the system that will give you the most for your energy dollar, and come up with some accurate information on installation and operating costs.

The heat pump is the electric savings machine. And usually a machine of such sensitive operation calls for a lot of space and some pretty technical installation procedures. NOT SO WITH THE HEAT PUMP! "Split systems" — most adaptable to homes — consist of an outdoor and indoor section, easily tucked away in a closet, garage, basement or attic. The single package unit looks very similar to a central air-conditioning unit that's placed outdoors. Both systems can be installed in most every home or office that has central air ducts. If you're buying, building or remodeling, it's time you said...

"Yes, the heat pump!"

COTTON STORAGE PROBLEMS

The growing conditions are making it extremely difficult to kill the cotton plants before harvesting, resulting in high moisture content in the harvested cotton. Producers are urged to try several acceptable combinations of harvest-aid chemicals to more thoroughly kill the plants and reduce the moisture content.

This high moisture content can lead to high temperatures in the stored cotton and can result in reduced seed germination and possibly reduced seed and lint grades.

Harvesting in the South Plains is fast catching up with gin capacity and producers may have to store a large volume of desiccated cotton in ricks and modules.

For proper storage, seed cotton has to be dry (8 to 12 percent moisture). To meet this requirement, all plant components—including cotton, seed, burrs, stems, and other plant parts—going into storage must be dry.

The reason we're having a problem killing cotton this year is that, up to this time, the weather has been unusually warm and the cotton has remained actively growing.

We have the makings of a good seed year. Many farmers will store seed from this year for future crops. The last good seed year for cotton in the area was 1973, and a fair percentage of this year's crop was planted with 1973 cotton seed.

But just as with cotton that is modulated while green, seed cotton with high moisture content that is left in a trailer in a gin yard for two or three days will heat, too. Once that seed cotton reaches about 120 degrees Fahrenheit, we start getting seed deterioration. The longer it is exposed to high temperatures (120 F plus) the more degradation we get.

Several steps can be taken by farmers to try for better desiccation before harvesting.

The desiccants most frequently used in this area are Paraquat and arsenic acid. But arsenic acid has been in short supply and results with Paraquat this season have been "somewhat erratic" due to the unusual conditions.

We have tried to get around this problem by going to higher rates of Paraquat (one to two pints per acre) and by using an additive, a product called Accelerate which enhances the desiccant effect of the Paraquat.

Producers also have been encouraged to try combinations of Paraquat and the organophosphate defoliant (Def-6 and Folex).

One other combination that may have some promise in this area is a mixture of 1.5

matches, overheated engines, sparks from exhaust systems and various sources of friction.

The following are suggested preventive measures: Use good practice when refueling, taking special care to prevent spills or contact with hot surfaces. Permanently ground fuel storage tanks to prevent a buildup of static electricity. Further, be sure the storage tank is electrically bonded to the tractor through the hose of a separate bonding wire before refueling. Tolerate no smoking near fuel operations or near materials which are highly combustible. watch for and repair leaks in fuel lines, carburetors, pumps, and exhaust systems. Keep engines and machinery properly tuned and lubricated to avoid backfiring and friction.

When using flammable materials while overhauling, degreasing or repainting, work only in a well-ventilated place or outside. Also, be cautious about welding and other sources of heat or sparks.

No energy choice

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — The U.S. does not have a choice between cheap energy and expensive energy, says the director of the Bureau of Economic Geology at The University of Texas.

Dr. William L. Fisher says higher energy prices will be inescapable whether the U.S. deregulates the price of oil to increase domestic production (thereby forcing energy costs up) or whether it continues to import more expensive foreign crude oil (on which the U.S. is now about 50 per cent dependent).

The UT geologist says Americans need to face now the "real issue of higher prices" and expresses the opinion that deregulating domestic oil prices offers the best hope for increasing oil and gas production.

Public Notice

Pioneer Natural Gas Company, a division of Pioneer Corporation, hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of rates for sales to certain of its rural special contract industrial customers. Like notice is also given for sales to certain of its rural special contract industrial customers in the Company's cities and towns. Both new schedules are to be effective November 1, 1977.

It is anticipated that the new schedules of rates will result in a 57% (fifty-seven hundredths of one percent) increase in the gross revenues of Pioneer Natural Gas Company which increase is not a "major change" as defined in Section 43(b) of Article 1446c, V.A.T.C.S.

A Statement of Intent to change rates was filed with appropriate regulatory authorities on or about September 26, 1977, and is available for inspection at the Company's main offices, 301 South Taylor Street, Amarillo, Texas.

THE RATE CHANGES DESCRIBED IN THIS NOTICE DO NOT AFFECT RESIDENTIAL COMMERCIAL OR IRRIGATION CUSTOMERS OF PIONEER.
