Russian Wheat Aphid, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower announced Thursday.

Wheat producers will be allowed to use the pesticide until May 31, 1990, Hightower said. TDA asked EPA for the special use of Lorsban on the Texas wheat crop on February 8.

Use of Lorsban, a trade name for the pesticide chlorpyrifos, is illegal on wheat in Texas without authorization from EPA.

EPA authorizes emergency pesticide exemptions when a state can prove that certain extraordinary conditions exist, such as if no other effective

Spinal Tests Scheduled For Students

The Legislature passed a law in 1985 that requires all sixth and ninth grade students to be screened for spinal deformities.

Early detection of abnormal spinal curvature can prevent serious health problems, say the Health Nurses for the Muleshoe Independent School District.

This is a problem that may begin during the early adolescent years, from 10-14 years of age. Curves that are detected early may only require periodic observation by a specialist. Moderate curves may require wearing of a brace, which is usually supervised by an orthopedic specialist. In most cases, the need for major surgery for this deformity can be eliminated through early detection.

Spinal screening for Watson Junior High sixth grade has been scheduled for Thursday, March 22.

Screening for Muleshoe High School ninth grade has been scheduled for Thursday, March 29.

The school nurses say children will be screened for two types of spinal deformities: scoliosis and kyphosis. Scoliosis is a condition in which the spine is twisted, causing misalignment of the upper body or lower back. This condition can worsen and lead to complications of the heart and lungs. Kyphosis is a type of spinal deformity in which the upper spine shows a pronounced curve. This condition is also referred to as "round back" and can be corrected if detected early.

pesticide is available and the pest problem poses a significant loss to growers.

"The Russian Wheat Aphid caused an estimated $30 million in damage to the 1988 Texas wheat crop and more than $100 million to wheat crops nationwide," Hightower said. "TDA worked with EPA to get a crisis exemption for the 1989 crop year, but because of an untimely drought followed by severe freezes, we can't really assess the impact of either the aphid or the pesticide on the most recent crop year."

"The best estimates for the 1990 crop year are that without the use of Lorsban, the Russian Wheat Aphid could cost the Texas economy in the neighborhood of $140 million."

"Since the initial outbreak of the Russian Wheat Aphid near Muleshoe in 1986, the pest has spread to more than a million acres in 84 counties in Texas," Hightower said.

Wheat producers may begin use of the pesticide immediately but should be aware that several restrictions apply to its use: The application must be made at least

"We really pushed hard to promote Muleshoe and I think that is part of the reason Almeria Bruce Barrett Re-Appointed To Potato Board"

Congressman Larry Combest announced through his press secretary, Keith Williams, that Bruce Barrett of Muleshoe had been re-appointed Thursday to the National Potato Promotion Board.

The re-appointment was made by Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter in Washington.

Barrett was one of 11 re-appointments of 22 appointments made.

The only member of the National Potato Promotion Board from Texas, Barrett is one of the nominations approved by Secretary Yeutter from nominations made by potato producers.

The National Potato Promotion Board is industry funded to provide national research and promotion for the potato industry nationally and on a world-wide basis.

Inc. chose us," said Duane Castleberry, chairman of the Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation.

The Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation is an organization consisting of businessmen and volunteers, who try to promote growth through economic development in the Muleshoe area. When the Industrial Foundation found out that Almeria Inc. was looking for a small town to build its company, they made several presentations to the company's chairman, Walter E. Schmidt, and the president, Richard Klikeman.

Many other small towns were competing for the company to open in their towns, including Levelland, Brownfield and Plainview, but Muleshoe beat out all of them. "I feel that because the product will be produced here in Muleshoe, this will bring outside money into our community," said Castleberry.

Almeria Inc. is in the process of constructing a massive greenhouse operation that will produce organic gourmet and specialty vegetables, in a rigid, environmentally controlled greenhouse. According to Schmidt and Klikeman, the project evolved from a visit to Almeria which is in a Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Look out Muleshoe, the Kiwanis Club annual membership drive is on. No holds barred and everyone is fair game. So lock out Muleshoe, you might be approached to be somebody's guest and asked to be a member of the Kiwanis Club. There are at least two qualifications to be a Kiwanian. You must be breathing on your own and still kicking. The membership drive kicked off Friday morning with four teams and of course there were four sets of rules for all the points, since there are four teams. Since yours truly is on team No. 2, I will keep you posted on team 2's progress. Teams 1-3 and 4 don't really count as they will be left asleep in the starting gates. Fifteen members, two guests and one honorary member met Friday morning at the Old Corral. President, Jim Lutz called the meeting to order. Lyndon Huckaby led the club in the Pledge to the flag and the invocation was given by Glen Morris.

Keith Turner who had the friendship coin, and has been moving all week, was really having a hard time trying to find a friend. Since Robert Montgomery was the only one who remembered that he was on the nominating committee with Kieth, he gave the friendship coin to Robert.

Dedicated, honorary member Chad Johnson was present even though he is on spring break from school. Chad really had to get up to get his Dad, Reggie up. Thanks Chad.

Sweetheart Amy Montgomery must have still been at home, sound asleep. Amy just because school is out for a break is a Good reason but a poor excuse for not being here. We missed you!

Our guests were Charles Martin and Dave Marr. Two woolly characters!! Have you

Young Homemakers

The Lazbuddie Young Homemakers met Tuesday, March 13 in the Home Ec room of the school for their regular monthly meeting.

Those present were: Mandy Seaton, Sarah Black, Reta Mimms, Jamie Carol, Tonya Sisson, Barbara Lust, Pat Randolph, Lana Copp and Jana St.Clair.

The program was presented by Monda Daniels from Earth. She represents the Bright Music Co., who specializes in motivational and inspirational tapes for young children. It also included a series of tapes and books for parenting and helping children develop into healthy positive adults. It was reported that the program was enjoyed by everyone and was very helpful.

Refreshments were served by Mandy Seaton and Sarah Black. They served chocolate chip bars and pumpkin spice cake bars with ice tea.

The Young Homemakers will host the St. Patricks Day party at the nursing home on Friday, March 16.

seen Charles and Dave lately? Charles was the guest of his Dad's, Don Martin. Since Don's team No. 4 only had four members present which was four points and guest Charles who was worth five points, Charles you were worth more than the whole team of No. 4, Charles Welcome.

Eddie Morris was in charge of the program and introduced City Manager Dave Marr. Eddie told Dave, since he had set there all morning listening to the garbage of the members harassing one another, then Dave could tell us about the Cities garbage. Dave stated that he would like to help explain, if possible, about some of the Horror Stories about the landfill laws that had been passed by the Federal Government and the proposed rules that were proposed in 1988 by the ERA. Dave stated that the articles in the Lubbock paper was good to try and inform the general public about some of the problems that can come about by these rules and regulations if adopted. The proposed rules and guide line now are real horror stories. The maintenance rule and closure which you would have to have on hand (cash or bond) for a third party to come in and clean up your mess if you made a mistake. For a city the size of Muleshoe would be about one million dollars for 30 years. The law states that after they finalize the rules, you have 18 months to qualify and start your new landfills. Dave stated that if Muleshoe applied today, the state of Texas could not process and o.k. the application within 18 months. These are truly horror stories. Whats in store. You can never tell. Thanks Dave.

Management Skills Class Cares For 'Flour Sack Babies'

Members of Mrs. Barbara Lust's Life Management Skills class became the proud parents of newborn "flour sack" babies as part of an exercise in responsibility. Each student in the home economics class, which includes boys as well as girls, received a brand-new, five-pound sack of flour to care for during a four-day period. Each

Tops Club

TOPS chapter No. 34 met at 6 p.m. Thursday, March 15 in the Heritage Thrift. Laverne James, leader, called the meeting to order with the TOPS pledge, fellowship song and a prayer. Evelene Harris called the roll with 17 members present. Aurora Mata read the minutes of the previous meeting and they were approved as read.

Mrs. James read a thank you card from Thesia Davis. Alene Bryant received a gift for being best loser last week and losing again this week. Charlotte Campbell received a hair set for losing six consecutive weeks.

Mrs. James celebrated her birthday and received a gift from the members as well as a gift from her secret pal.

It was reported that side two is ahead in the points contest.

"We were very glad to have Alma Robertson back with us after her recent surgery" said Mrs. Mata.

Charlotte Campbell was named best loser for the week. First runner-up was Ernestine Steinbock. Ruth Clements and Mariam Wilson tied for second runner-up.

Following the meeting, several TOPS songs were sung and the group adjourned with the good night song.

day, the flour "babies" were examined during class to determine the quality of care given by each "parent." At the end of the experiment in parenthood, the students wrote reports and were graded according to their care and lessons learned.

Parents drew to determine the sex of the newborns. Some parents were disappointed in which sex their babies turned out to be, but as the days went by, they said the disappointment faded. Some parents dressed their babies in appropriate clothes and provided "blankies." Several of the babies were given cloth, balloon, and doll heads. One parent, who had wanted a girl, was proud of a baseball cap that she found for her baby boy.

During the four days of the experiment, "parents" met in Mrs. Lust's class and discussed problems. Lack of reliable babysitters was the number one complaint. According to rules, no baby was to be left unattended at any time. The parents often had to find babysitters among their peers in other classes each day. "You never know who you can trust," commented one parent.

"Some babysitters tried to poke holes in the babies," stated another indignant parent.

Mrs. Lust reminded students that they had the final responsibility for the babies twenty-four hours a day, which included careful selection of baby-sitters, sleeping arrangements, feeding, etc. In addition to caring for their babies, students had to figure the cost of formula and diapers for the four days.

On daily examining of each "baby," Mrs. Lust began to notice an increasing number of band-aids. Although she did allow band-aids, Mrs. Lust penalized each "parent" two points each day for "bad abuse."

In class, students related several interesting events, as well as things that they learned as the days went by. One student left for school one morning, forgetting her baby. She had to return home for it. Several remarks made by the students showed a new awareness of the responsibility of parenthood. One student said that he began to dislike his baby because it took away his free time. Another said that there were many things she didn't do for her baby because she didn't know how.

Other comments were: "It's hard to go to school," "It's embarrassing," "It's a pain," "Kidnapping is easy," "We don't always get what we want," "there are a lot of dangers and demands in having a kid."

Most of the students agreed that they did "get attached" to their flour babies and that they learned a lot. Mrs. Lust looked forward to the discussion each day and was pleased with the learning that took place with this fun project.

"Parents" were: Gina Jarman, Troy McBroom, Dawnda Magby, Jodie Morris, Rogelio Pacheco, Jarah Redwine, Brett Thomas and Chad Weaver.

MICROWAVE TIPS

Microwaves are unbeatable for reheating precooked food and meals.

The time needed to reheat is surprisingly short. For example, on High, it takes only from 1 1/2 to 3 minutes to reheat a serving of meat and vegetables--starting from their refrigerator temperature!

It's good to arrange meaty portions and bulky vegetables on the outside of the dish. These reheated dishes are covered with wax paper. It's hard to believe times are so short for such reheating.

For example, it takes only 3/4 to 2 minutes, on High, to reheat a single piece of chicken from the frig!

Thank You to everyone who worked so hard on my campaign for Bailey Co. Judge and voted for me Tuesday, March 13 in the Democratic Primary.

I appreciate your vote and confidence in me and ask for your continued support in the November General Election.

Thanks Again.

They viewed a video about wolves and took a tour through the headquarters. They were able to see several displays of wild game that might be seen in the area. They continued their visit by driving through the park and having a picnic right as the sun set.

It was reported that Clapp was very helpful in answering all kinds of questions the boys had. It was also reported that the trip was very informative and one that everyone enjoyed.

Boys and parents attending were: scouts, Adam St.Clair, Jacoby Jennings, Jason Jesko, Justin Puckett, Jeremy Smith, Cade Morris, Josh Morris, Joshua McDonald, Gary Hodges, Eddie Hodges, Billy Martinez, Brandon Randolph, Erin Burton, Tyler Rice, John Willingham and Noah Williams, a Boy Scout that helps. southeast province of Spain on the Mediterranean Coast.

After studying the Spanish model, the two men decided they could build a better one in Texas. The greenhouse will be built to adapt to the climate of Muleshoe, which is similar to that in Almeria, Spain, but not as mild and is much drier.

Schmidt and Clikeman then modeled a greenhouse to test the data. In order to get a more accurate picture, they constructed a greenhouse with a computer model substituting ordinary produce for specialty produce. Schmidt said, "We will focus on growing off-season and hard-to-get specialty produce, which brings a higher price." Schmidt also said they do not want to focus just on the Texas market, but on long distance markets. They hope to have their own fleet of trucks that will be able to haul the produce as quickly as possible to insure the best quality.

Both Clikeman and Schmidt stressed the fact that their company is not here to compete with farmers in open field crops.

"We want to have good relations and help from farmers, rather than be a competitor," said Schmidt. Schmidt also stated the need to find a place that would welcome them and their company, and Muleshoe fulfilled that need. As a result, Clikeman and Schmidt have already leased homes in Muleshoe and plan to call it home.

The greenhouse will be located just south of Muleshoe on the Sandarosa Water Field on an 80-acre tract of land. The greenhouse is expected to be completed in three phases. Phase One will cover a total of 20,98 acres, with five enclosed for growing areas. During this phase, the greenhouse must have a good production facility and satisfy the need for the product.

Phase Two will cover a total of 40.61 acres with 15 enclosed for growing, and Phase Three will cover a total of 72.73 acres with 30 enclosed areas used for growing. At this phase, there will be 36 units and two service areas. The three phases are expected to happen in one year intervals, with construction taking place March through May. The company is aiming for the month of June to begin planting.

The greenhouse itself, will not be just an ordinary one, but a highly sophisticated and controlled area. Fresh air will be continuously filtered through, with fans that will circulate the air. There will be a very strict screening of people entering, and workers must be very clean and organized in order to keep insects out and conditions sterile. The greenhouse must have a good concrete surface and be perfectly level in order for the technical drip irrigation system to operate correctly. The company will also be able to grow two types of vegetables simultaneously, which will create more variety.

Both Schmidt and Clikeman said they chose Muleshoe for a number of reasons, among them, the light. They stated that more sunshine reaches the surface of West Texas, and this, in turn, promotes growth. They also chose Muleshoe because of its good water, sandy soil and relative low humidity.

"Another factor, especially for the people of Muleshoe, is the availability of a good labor force. Muleshoe has many skilled people that we can use and we won't be in competition with other major companies," said Schmidt.

The employees will require much ongoing training with many positions that will be self-managing. Schmidt said Almeria Inc. will offer workers above average base pay and a good health plan.

"Most of all, we just want our workers to be happy," he said.

When all three phases are completed, Almeria Inc. hopes to offer Muleshoe about 250 jobs with another 240 jobs directly influencing the company.

The greenhouse hopes to use all available light, thus promoting growth in the winter and on cloudy days. Schmidt also feels that West Texas' strong winds will not be a problem to the greenhouse.

"The winds will not tear the greenhouse because of its lowness to the ground, and because of the type of panels that will be used," he said.

The company hopes to be in production year-round in order to get the highest profit from off-season produce. The soil temperature is expected to be kept about 70 degrees, and they don't expect it to change much during the various seasons.

Almeria Inc. expects to grow 15 to 20 different crops at the same time once all phases are completed, making the crop selection market oriented. Clikeman said, "In planting many different crops, we can test them to see how well they sell. By only planting a small amount of various crops, we won't be stuck with a huge volume if they do not sell."

When all three phases are completed and production started, Almeria Inc. hopes to bring economic growth and jobs to Muleshoe. Schmidt said that the Depts. of Commerce and Agriculture have expressed interest and support in this area and this, in turn, could result in many more advances for the Muleshoe area.

CRP Requires Weed Control In Contracts

By: Rodney Duus, S.C.

Participants with land in the Conservation Reserve Program should be thinking about weed controls for their contracts. Those contracts with a good stand of grass, probably will not need a weed control. Contracts that have a weak stand of grass or that had a weed problem last year will probably need weed controls this year to aid in the establishment of the grass.

Weeds compete with grass for nutrients and water, which retards the growth of the grass. Weeds not controlled during the growing season are killed by frost and can blow into adjoining fields 28 days prior to harvest; no grazing can be allowed for 14 days after application.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service also requested a number of restrictions, which EPA granted. The pesticide poses a potential danger to fish and birds and must not be used in proximity to water or roosting and foraging sites of wintering bald eagles.

Producers should contact their county Extension agent or the nearest TDA district office for specific restrictions.

The Russian Wheat Aphid primarily affects wheat crops in the High Plains, but crops in the Cross Timbers, Edwards Plateau and Trans-Pecos areas of Texas have also been affected.

The pesticide is available for use by certified or licensed applicators only.

causing economic damage to crops. Weeds increase the amount of time and labor required to harvest these crops, as well as, reducing the amount and quality of the crops harvested. Also, friendly relations with your neighbors could be lost if their crops are damaged by your lack of timely weed control.

Weed controls can be done by chemical or mechanical methods. Chemical control can be the most effective method, if the proper chemical is applied in accordance with label requirements under favorable climatic conditions. Producers are reminded that Bailey County is a regulated county. The best results with chemical control are achieved when weeds are two to four inches in height. This same principle applied to shredding also. If you shred when weeds are three to four feet tall, this is too late. Timing is of importance no matter which method of control is used.

Participants with land in the Conservation Reserve Program are responsible for controlling the weeds on their CRP acreage. When participants signed their contracts they agreed to maintain their CRP acreage (including needed weed controls) for the length of the contract. Participants should inspect their land and use good judgement in the maintenance of the contract.

If you have any questions about weed control, come by the SCS office in Muleshoe at 105 E. Ave. D or call 272-5124.

Ginners' Convention

Focuses On Marketing

Ways cotton producers can achieve their goals of the '90s to gain higher yields, premium quality and greater profits will be outlined in a seminar April 5 during the annual trade show and convention of the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association in Lubbock. The convention annually draws more than 6,000 ginners, producers, officials and others in the industry.

The seminar will be conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service from 1:15 to 4:30 p.m. in the banquet hall of the Memorial Civic Center, site of the convention. It will conclude the 33rd annual meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, which is open to all interested persons.

The significance of marketing fiber quality will be explained in the opening presentation by Dr. Don Ethridge, professor of agricultural economics at Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

Beginning in 1991, the system for grading cotton will change and this will impact on the way cotton is marketed. Ethridge will show how producers can use the new rules to do a better job of marketing their crop.

The growth and development of cotton, and how this relates to improved yield, quality and profit, will be reviewed by Stephanie Johnson Hake of Memphis, Tenn. A former county farm advisor for the California Cooperative Extension Service, she is a consultant to the University of California at Davis in development of a bulletin on cotton production.

How culture and environment influence fiber development will be discussed by Kater Hake, director of the Cotton Physiology Education Program of the National Cotton Council, Memphis, Tenn.

The influence breeding and selection have on fiber quality and yield will be explained by Dr. John R. Gannaway, cotton breeder with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Lubbock.

How production and harvesting practices influence fiber quality and yield will be outlined by Dr. James R. Supak, Extension Service cotton agronomist at Lubbock.

Dr. Robert Metzger, Extension Service cotton agronomist at College Station, will be moderator.

Using Consumer Credit

The following is the final installment in a four part series: USING CONSUMER CREDIT

This is the final installment in the four part series dealing with using consumer credit. The first three installments discussed credit worthiness, building a credit record, types of credit, credit contracts, credit limits and credit costs. Swine Producers Obtain Information On Insemination

Area swine producers can obtain practical information about artificial insemination of their herds at a seminar March 24 at the Texas Tech Livestock Arena.

The program, from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m., is being presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas Tech University. The livestock arena is on Indiana Avenue just south of Brownfield Highway.

The use of artificial insemination in swine will be discussed by Gary Patterson, Parmer County extension agent. The detection of estrus in gilts and sows will be explained by Joe Tarter, Lazbuddie producer.

Stanley Harris, swine herdsman at the Tech farm, will cover the training of boars and collection of semen. Obtaining semen from boar studs for liquid or frozen storage will be the topic of Dr. James R. Clark, associate professor of animal science at Tech.

Techniques for inseminating gilts and sows with liquid or frozen semen will be shown. Evaluation of semen collected on the farm, and ways to extend semen collected on the farm, will be covered by Clark.

Additional information about the seminar may be obtained by telephoning Clark at (806) 742-2496, or from county agents of the Extension Service.

PREVENTING CREDIT PROBLEMS

Credit problems can occur due to a decrease in income, loss of income or going from two incomes to one. Problems can also come from taking on too much credit at once. To prevent problems, a general rule is to limit minimum monthly payments and installment payments to 20 percent of your monthly net income. It is even better to have no more than 15 to 17 percent as your target maximum.

If you own several credit cards, it can be easy to charge more than you can handle. There are danger signals of too much credit. They include:

- Total monthly payments keep increasing
- You are at or near your credit limit

- You can only make minimum payments

- You extend payments

- You use savings to pay bills

- You work overtime to make ends meet.

Before taking on new credit obligations, add up your current monthly payments to be sure that you do not overextend yourself.

There may be times when you cannot meet your credit obligations. If this happens contact the creditor, explain your situation and try to work out a new agreement. But don't ignore the problem. Think through your use of credit, control it and let it add to your financial lifestyle.

For additional information about family resource management or any area of home economics, contact the Bailey County Extension Service in the County Courthouse or call us at (806) 272-4583.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

EIDL Loans Available For Business

Walter Fronstin, district director of the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) office in Lubbock announced today that small business owners in several West Texas counties may be eligible to apply for Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL).

"Small business concerns and small agricultural cooperatives located in Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Lamb, Terry and Yoakum counties, and unable to secure credit from other sources, may qualify under SBA's EIDL program," Fronstin said. "Lea and Roosevelt Counties in New Mexico are also eligible for assistance because they are adjacent to the Texas declared counties."

The Secretary of Agriculture made a disaster designation for the Texas counties as a result of drought, hail, cool and wet weather, and freeze which occurred January 1 through October 19, 1989. Businesses in these counties have until October 1, 1990 to submit applications to SBA. Applicants must have sustained substantial economic injury because of agriculture damages caused by the specified weather. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for the EIDL loans. However, nurseries that are victims of drought are eligible.

The EIDL loan program is intended to assist agriculture-dependent businesses and small agriculture cooperatives who sustained a substantial decrease in sales (or other forms of economic injury) directly due to losses incurred by farmers and ranchers to whom the business usually sells. In some cases, this may include non-agriculture-related businesses which sustain a substantial economic loss directly due to the inability of the farmers affected by the disaster to purchase goods and services at their normal levels. Small businesses who suffered physical injuries due to the specified weather conditions are not eligible for SBA economic injury loans.

This program is available only to businesses that are considered small by SBA size standards and do not have credit available elsewhere. The interest rate for eligible recipients of loans processed under this designation is four percent. The loans are limited to the financial needs of the applicant based on the actual economic injury and may be made for up to $500,000. A loan may extend to 30 years, depending on repayment ability. For more information or to request application forms, eligible victims may call toll-free 1-800-527-7735.

5. What is unusual about a Chihuahua?

Answers:

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor
We would like to commend one of your townspeople, Mr. James P. Weedle.

Last week we were returning to Friona from Lubbock, late in the afternoon, when our car malfunctioned. We were near Amherst, in heavy traffic, and had no idea what we should do. Mr. Weedle passed us, turned around and came back to offer us assistance. He not only helped us but he stayed with us until we made complete arrangements to return home.

We sincerely wish to thank Mr. Weedle, publicly, for his kindness and concern.

EXENCIONES DE RESIDENCIA

PUEDEN REDUCIR LOS IMPUESTOS QUE PAGA POR SU CASA

Una exencion de residencia le ayuda a reducir los impuestos sobre la propiedad que tiene que pagar por su residencia reduciendo el valor que se utiliza como base para calcular sus impuestos. Por ejemplo, si su casa esta valorada de $50,000 y usted recibe una exencion de residencia de $5,000, usted va a pagar impuestos de residencia como si su valor fuese de $45,000.

Usted puede recibir una exencion de residencia si usted era el dueño de su casa el primero de enero y la usaba como su residencia principal en la misma fecha. No importa si su residencia es una casa, un condominio o una casa remolque.

Hay exenciones que cualquier persona que es dueño(a) de su residencia puede usar para rebajar sus impuestos escolares. Exenciones adicionales se ofrecen a dueños de residencia que estan incapacitados o tienen 65 años o mas. Otras exenciones pueden ofrecerse a propietarios por distritos escolares, condados, ciudades y distritos escolares.

Solicite todas las exenciones que usted puede recibir en la oficina local del distrito de valoracion en la direccion que se cita abajo.

Si usted recibio una exencion para su residencia actual en 1989, usted no necesita solicitarla para 1990 a menos que el jefe de valoracion pida que haga una nueva solicitud.

Sin embargo, si usted cumple 65 años o quedo incapacitado antes del primero de enero haga una nueva solicitud para recibir exenciones adicionales.

Si usted no ha recibido una exencion para su residencia actual o si se cambio de casa haga una nueva solicitud para 1990.

Usted tiene que hacer su solicitud antes del 1 de mayo de 1990. Comuniquese con su distrito de valoracion antes de esa fecha si necesita mas tiempo para hacerla.

Para tener mas informacion usted puede recibir una copia gratis del folleto Los Derechos, Remedios y Responsabilidades del Contribuyente de Impuestos en la oficina del distrito de valoracion o puede pedirlo del Consejo Estatal de Impuestos sobre la Propiedad (State Property Tax Board) en Austin.

"Teach me thy way, O LORD, and LEAD ME IN A PLAIN PATH..."

How beautiful are the paths and wagon trails. The gate is open and the pathway clearly marked. Many such trails are rapidly becoming memories as super highways take their place. It is good to know that God's way is still the same and will never change... for "God's word will endure forever." His love is clearly defined and his ways are well marked. Depend on the Lord to direct you each day. Attend church each Sunday and worship the Lord in his holy temple.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

"Hold up my goings in thy paths, that my footsteps slip not."

Forbes magazine tells of a youngster who liked his first day at school and increased in his liking for it throughout the week, so that when Friday came he was sorry to learn from the teacher that there would be no school on Saturday or Sunday. When he got home his mother asked why he looked so depressed. "Damn it," he complained, "I've been laid off for two days."
