NOSIN' WITH POLLY

The following is in part a letter from Jack Rylant Jr. to his wife Darlene, in which he attempts to describe the feeling of American lads who are in the thick of it in Vietnam.

Jack, Jr. has been in Vietnam since October 15.

October 30, 1965

My Darling:
Things are pretty quiet so far tonight. We haven't had any firing, but the night is young yet. It begins to get you after awhile, never knowing when the bullets will start coming. I'm sending you a clipping from Stars and Stripes. Maybe it will convey some of the feelings we all have over here.

This country makes you appreciate Freedom—after seeing how afraid people are of the Viet Cong and of the death and destruction that they bring. I think God that I live in a nation such as ours. Here people live under constant threat of the communists, and don't dare venture outside their homes at night. The roads are deserted at dusk and nothing moves along them until dawn. It is a country of terror. We are over here to help these people gain this freedom which we ourselves prize so dearly. If we don't help such people as these in their struggle for this precious freedom, when we are helping a proud nation by tyranny and communism.

These people want this freedom so much that they are willing to give their lives. They have asked us to help them, so help them we must. These people are a proud people and we could use them as an ally. So I don't think we are over here fighting a useless war. There is great deal at stake here and we need all the support from home we can get. All these demonstrations show us how ignorant and stupid some people are. Let them spend a week over here and I guarantee that they will change their way of thinking real fast. Love Jack

From the Stars and Stripes

The Nightmares Really Come True

Whatever the capabilities of the human opposition, night will forever be a soldier's gravest enemy.

Twenty thousand American troops lie here now, on cot or cow dung, fighting a battle of nerves. The hills surrounding this installation wake up in the dark and snipers' bullets turn dreams of home into fretful, sporadic seizures of sleep. It is 2 a. m., and a shell shot occasionally raises dust outside a tent.

It is cool but the blankets cover sweating men.

It is an hour of profound fear. "I'm scared sick all the time," says a small, freckled soldier who displays little outward emotion. "But it's worse at night. You start thinking of home, maybe, or an old high school girl you knew... and then one of them goes takes a shot in your direction. You can't shoot back. You're too tired even to get up and look."

SP4 Paul F. Updike is 20. Red of hair and skin, when he camouflages his helmet with green shrubbery he looks like a green with ears.

He is not yet old enough to vote, shaves once a fortnight, has a skin problem, is shy with girls and prefers soda pop to beer.

He's a gentle boy. Swear words disturb him. And yet he's a war-wounded combat veteran here. He carries a 45-cal. Pistol which can blow a hole in a man big enough to put swinging door in. His face is unlined but his eyes are tired, and he seldom smiles as befits his generation.

"You know what really gets you out here?" he says. "It's not so much the fear of getting killed,

Not really. A guy gets to thinking maybe he'll catch a slug in the leg or the arm and maybe they'll cut the whole thing off. "Orshrapnel. That's bad stuff. Tiny pieces of it in your eyes could blind you in a second. Dying is one thing, but going through life with a war souvenir like that is something else."

"I mean, the thing is, what would you do when you got back home? The people you once dated, what would they think? They'd be nice about it, sure, but that isn't enough for a young guy like me."

In the distance, 1055 grunt at a nameless target. Gunfire blinks in the hills. On the horizon, flashes of light color the clouds as night fighters drop their loads.

"I live in Elmira, N. Y.," says the private. "Sometimes it seems too damned unreal now. Other times I can see it so well, I can walk down the streets of that town just like I was there in person."

"I don't know, maybe it won't be the same when I get back. They'll be different. And I'll be different, for sure. I've been here for almost seven months now and I've seen some sights."

"I remember once a jet plane crashed not 200 yards from where I was sleeping. It hit this little village and, boy, what sights. There was one woman who was running away from the crash. I came up behind her so all I could see at first was her back. She was dressed in white silk and it didn't look like there was a speck on her."

"But then she turned around, I don't know what hit her but she was completely covered with blood on the front. Her face was terrible. Imagine that, all white in the back and all red in the front."

"Then I saw a guy pedaling toward me licker-split on a bicycle. He was riding by when the plane crashed and something flew out and cut his right leg completely off above the knee. And there he was, pedaling like crazy with just one leg."

"Yeah, so I'm just 20 years old. Back in Elmira they think of me as a young boy. Well, many guys older than me aren't dry behind the ears yet in some things. As far as war's concerned, I am."

Outside the tents, a security sentry barks a muffled "Halt!" and the private tightens up in apprehension. Shots chatter again from the hills. But he's unable to shoot back. Too tired even to get up and look.

All day the weary wait for night. And when it comes, they can only pray for the dawn.

Today's Veteran's Day

November 11 is Veterans Day, a day dedicated to world peace, a day to recall our past achievements and our attempts to bring peace to the world.

One of the truths we can recall on Veterans Day is that Americans are capable of greatness when it is demanded of them. Nearly 22 million veterans are living proof of it.

In terms of age, the average American veteran of today was not even born in 1918, the year the national holiday we know as Veterans Day was first observed.

November 11 was called Armistice Day until 12 years ago, we can never forget those dead whom the first Armistice Day commemorated. They are revered in our inmost thoughts as we pay tribute to all living veterans on Veterans Day.

Far from being amenable to averaging, as in the matter of age, Veterans are a remarkably diverse group, well represented in every walk of life. They are performing top-urgency jobs in the difficult peace as in wartime, ranging from the Chief Executive to the chief petty officer.

patrolling the Vietnam coast. Veterans, diverse in national origins, religious beliefs, and ranging as they do from young men in their twenties to Indian War fighters now 95 years of age, are alike in their basic good citizenship.

History tells us that the American veteran never has... and never will... subscribe to the doctrine of "Peace at any Price". The loss of human dignity and individual freedom would indeed be too high a price to pay, even for a commodity as precious as peace.

Today, the American veterans stand firmly united beneath the one flag that symbolizes our common Democracy, determined to maintain for themselves and posterity the principles of liberty and justice upon which this Government was founded; and upon which it stands securely today.

A grateful nation will pause on November 11, to pay tribute to the American Veterans because they have been willing to fight and die for peace with honor.

What Happens When Pay Day Comes??

Senator Strom Thurmond writes: "The number one sound fiscal expert in this country is Democrat Senator Harry Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. He has estimated that it would take 600,000 years to pay off our current national indebtedness if we began today applying $1 per minute against our debt. And, we are not even applying a penny per year. Instead, we are going deeper into debt each year with no promise of any debt payments in the foreseeable future. Our annual interest on the debt for each year is $11,1 billion. This amounts to the tax take from 11 States. Any nation or any individual can live it up without incurring economic repercussions for a time, but there is always a pay-up day someday."

FIRE BOYS WERE DRESSED IN RED coveralls Monday night after receiving their new uniforms last week. The alert volunteer fire department is doing a splendid job for the area.

Farmers Urged To Watch Out For Witchweed

A cluster of small reddish flowers on low-growing weeds may spell death to a corn crop in a matter of days, said Commissioner John C. White.

Witchweed, a parasitic plant that attacks primarily corn, plus a few other crops, has been found in the United States.

Although the weed has not yet come to Texas, farmers are warned that it can thrive in the South and Southwest. At present, it is believed to be confined to about 38,000 acres near the coast in North and South Carolina, but all areas have been alerted to be on the lookout.

John C. White said "Farmers are asked to watch for an unfamiliar weed with bright green, slightly hairy leaves and the bright generally reddish flowers. First discovered in the Carolinas in the fall of 1956, it is known that the plant can spread rapidly. Symptoms of this parasite resemble damage done by acute drought, the corn plants are stunted, wilt quickly and turn yellow. The witchweed accomplishes its work with a vast network of fast-growing roots which intertwine with roots of the host plant. This mass of witchweed root chokes off the food and water supply of its host, starving it and making fruitation almost impossible.

The first witchweed blooms usually appear in June and will continue to bloom until frost. The flower is small and usually brick red, although it can be scarlet, yellowish-red, yellowish or even almost white.

Any farmers suspecting the presence of this plant should notify his county agent. The agent can arrange for positive identification and suggest measures for eradication. Witchweed plants or seed SHOULD NOT BE MOVED from the field, since the minute seeds are easily spread. And one plant can produce up to half a million tiny seeds.

Texas Lions Pay Recognition To Camp For Crippled Children

Members of Lions Clubs throughout Texas this month are pausing to pay recognition to their camp for crippled children which has given over 8,000 handicapped youngsters a new dimension of freedom since it was opened in 1953.

The camp, located at Kerrville in the Hill Country of Central Texas, is free to crippled, blind, deaf or mute children from the ages of seven through sixteen. The 17 permanent buildings and other improvements dotting the 504 hill-side acres represent an investment of more than $600,000.

At the camp, these youngsters who have been denied a normal childhood through no fault of their own learn to shed their shyness imposed by their handicaps. By mutual association with other handicapped children and by skillful and gentle counseling, these youngsters have found the freedom to grow, mentally and spiritually, into useful citizens of tomorrow.

While the Lions are paying tribute to their camp, we would like to pay tribute to the Lions and their friends who have supported this great venture of the heart. We know a man never stands so straight as when he stoops to help a crippled child.

Field Day Demonstration Of New Tractors Slated for Saturday

The new Administration on Aging, established when President Johnson signed the Older Americans Act into law recently has become operational, reminds Mrs. Patsy Yates, Texas A&M University Extension specialist in family life education.

It supersedes and will expand the work of the Office of Aging. The Administration becomes the seventh major operational agency of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Cotton Classing Volume Increases, Harvest Still Lags Behind '64

Cotton stripping operations increased on the South Plains during the past week according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the USDA. This increase in harvest activities was reflected in the great increase of cotton received at the three South Plains classing offices at Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa.

The three offices classed 16,400 samples during the week ending Wednesday, October 27. The Lubbock office classed 10,500 samples, Brownfield 2,500 and Lamesa 3,400. This brought the total classed for the season to 41,400.

Despite the fact that this is an early planted crop, harvesting of this year's crop still lags behind last year's. Through October 27th last year, the three South Plains Classing Offices had classed 82,300 samples.

There has been some hand pulling of cotton this year but during the past few days stripped cotton has become more prevalent. Defoliation continued in many counties but was mostly in the central and southern counties. Most farmers are waiting for a killing frost.

Trading in the new crop cotton on the Lubbock market picked up considerably as more cotton became available, and prices remained steady.

Prices for cotton with micronaire of 3.5 and better, as reported to the Consumer and Marketing Service of the USDA, ranged from the loan for Strict Middling and Middling to $2.50 per bale over the loan for Low Middling. Light Spotted grades continued to be in best demand and were bringing from $1.00 per bale over the loan for Strict Middling Light Spotted to $5.00 per bale over the loan for Strict Low Middling Light Spotted.

Prices paid for the predominant qualities with micronaire of 3.5 and better were: Middling 1/32 - 28, 30 Middling 1 inch - 29, 15, Middling 1 1/32 - 30, 60, Strict Low Middling 3/32 - 27, 00, Strict Low Middling 1 inch 27, 60, Strict Low Middling 1 1/32 - 28, 0, Middling Light Spotted 15/15 - 26, 80 Middling Light Spotted 3/32 27, 30, and Middling Light Spotted 1 inch 27, 90.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE THE TRUTH

We are not moralists, but any reputable and successful furniture dealer or decorator knows that it is simply a matter of good business to be truthful in dealing with his customer.

Occasionally there are furniture dealers who are apt to make exaggerated statements in their advertising or to their customers concerning price reductions or the quality of the goods they are offering, but, these dealers learn that these mis-statements eventually hurt only themselves and bring about not only the loss of the sale but the loss of the good customer as well.

Some salesmen, in their desire to make the sale, are inclined to "oversell" the item. Some of them think this to be a form of salesmanship. They are only fooling themselves if they make any statement, claim or guarantee which they know cannot be kept.

If it takes 8 to 10 weeks for a factory to make a certain sofa or chair in a selected fabric, it is best to tell this to the customer. Most of them will be patient and wait the required time in order to get exactly what they want.

This truthfulness is the very element which creates the atmosphere of integrity in any business and the reputation for honesty without which no business can succeed.

The slogan of the Advertising Clubs of America is "Truth in Advertising". A good businessman is truthful in all of his dealings and we always try to serve you in this way. You may have peace of mind when you buy from us.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of gang tackling is shown above as Wolverine defensive players move in on Larry Arnold, the Silverton quarterback. Two of the Wolverine players are Randy Washington, and no. 81, Jimmy Stockstill. The three players making the tackle are unidentified.

Wolverines Romp Over Silverton 50-0

Friday night was Parents night at Wolverine Stadium and every member of the squad, including Freshmen, saw action and gave their parents something to be proud of, a 50-0 victory over the Silverton Owls.

The Wolverine Varsity struck fast and furious, scoring two touchdowns in the first four minutes of play, with the first touchdown being scored on a twelve yard pass from Doug Messer to Terry Farish. Sanders kick was off to the right and the scoreboard read 6-0. Moments later Jerry Don Sanders intercepted a Larry Arnold pass on the thirty yard line. Two plays later Sanders went over from the 28 yard line, and this time Richard Mitchell carried the ball over for 2 points with the Wolverines taking a 14-0 lead.

Just before the first quarter ended, Logan Armstrong brought the chilled hometown fans to their feet on a beautiful 12 yard end run, that was made possible by Jerry Don Sanders, enabling Logan to score untouched. This time Jerry Don kicked the extra point and at the end of the first quarter the Wolverines led 21-0. When the second quarter started, the B-team came in to play defense and held the Owls to no gain, and forced them to punt. With the ball on the 45 yard line, Coach Smith sent in the freshman squad and quarterback Gary Kelley moved the ball to the Owl 35 yard line and from there Coach Smith sent in the field goal team on fourth down. Jerry Don Sanders wasted little time in sending the ball through the uprights from 43 yards out for 3 points.

Every member on the reserve squad saw action during the second quarter. Just before the first half ended, Randy Washington scamped over right tackle and went 13 yards for paydirt. Randy Clayton tried to run the extra point but failed.

The varsity started the second half in grand style and took to the air-ways and found the going to their liking with Doug Messer connecting with Logan Armstrong in the end zone on a 26 yard heave. Another pass from Messer to Pete Glascock added two more points to the scoreboard.

Silverton tried their luck, going to the air on their 20 yard line and had the ball picked off by Logan Armstrong on the 25 yard line and went over untouched for another touchdown. A pass for extra point failed and the Wolverines had a nice 44-0 lead going into the fourth quarter. The freshman squad played most of fourth quarter and the only time the varsity saw action was on field goal attempts. Anytime the Wolverines had fourth down inside the 50 yard line, Coach Smith had Jerry Don try for a field goal. Jerry attempted 3 times and connected on one for 43 yards.

The varsity went in and played the last thirty seconds of the game, and Jerry Don Sanders made the largest run of the year for the Wolverines, a 95 yarder, on the last play of the game, with only 1 second remaining to play.

This was the last home game of the year for the Wolverines and they will journey to Farwell this week to battle the Steers and close out the football season.

STARS OF THE WEEK

BACKFIELD
BACK OF THE WEEK honor goes to junior halfback Terry Parish who played an outstanding game on defense and scored the first touchdown of the night for the Wolverines on a 12 yard pass from Messer. Terry was outstanding, playing from the line-backer position and caused the ball carriers to fumble several times due to the tremendous force in which he was hitting. Terry has been out of several games this year due to an ankle injury sustained early in the season.

LINEMAN
LINEMAN OF THE WEEK honor goes to the hard hitting junior guard, Jose Triana. Jose played one of his best games Friday night and looked sharp on defense, and caused Silverton to receive two penalties when one of their linemen moved before the ball was snapped. This alert defensive playing is one reason the Silverton Owls were held to only two yards gained during the first half.

report is that young Bob is still in the Houston hospital and will remain there for a long time, yet it is believed, Bob was flown to the Houston hospital from N. W. Texas Hospital in Amarillo. He had been transferred to the Amarillo hospital from the Memorial Hospital in Dumas. His temperature still remains high and test and x-rays are still being made on the boy. He is suffering from a blood disease related to leukemia. Bobby was getting ready for a game of football that evening in Dumas when he was taken ill. He was quartered back on the Midget team and was a good player. His father said Bob had never been seriously ill before in his life. He had played on the Base ball team last summer and had recently placed second in a YMCA Golf tournament. Bookmobile Receives New Books

The High Plains Library Bookmobile is still receiving new books from the Texas State Library to try to provide the readers of this area with the best in reading.

The latest shipment of books include the two juvenile books, CAPE COD CASSET by Lockhart Amerman, a highly original plot and literate, witty style in a suspenseful tale that is in the finest tradition of adventure stories; and A FAR VOICE CALLING by Margaret Weeks Adair, the delightful story of Joe Whiskers (a sea lion).

YOU LEARN BY LIVING by Eleanor Roosevelt, a book in which one of the world's best-loved and most-admired human beings, writing out of her own experience, has here set down her basic philosophy of life, developed through trial and error over a long span of rich and active years. HITLER, A STUDY IN TYRANNY the first complete life of the German tyrant to be published in any language, was immediately acclaimed all over the world as an outstanding biography. After reading this book you might be interested in following it up with William L. Shirer's THE RISE AND FALL OF THE THIRD REICH, there is the story of Hitler himself, his love affairs, his imprisonment, his passion for the arts of war, his suicide, and the maniacal fury which led him to destroy the country he claimed to love so much.

The American Heritage book of THE PIONEER SPIRIT is the book of which we with the Library are especially proud, it is a beautiful book about America's story.

Some of the other titles received are as follows:

- THE SCHOOL DROPOUT, A project of the National Education Association.
- LIFE IN REGENCY ENGLAND by R. J. White
- A TIME FOR TENDERNESS by Betty Cavanna
- THE CENSORSHIP OF BOOKS by Walter M. Daniels
- TOYON, by Nicholas Kalashnikov
- CAPITAL PUNISHMENT by Grant S. McClellan.

100% fresh

There's a look, feel, smell of freshness about 100% cotton that you'll find in no other fiber. That's why you feel so good when you're dressed in cotton — so fresh and crisp and comfortable. And cotton things are easy to keep like new. Simply wash them in the hottest water (cotton comes out truly clean). Dry them any way you please (cotton isn't fussy). Iron them without worry (cotton won't melt, discolor or pull at the seams). Even after repeated launderings, cotton bounces back bright and fresh — without dinginess or odor buildup. For 100% freshness, insist on 100% cotton.
