Seniors Have Fun-Day

Members of the senior class of Springlake-Earth High School spent a long, busy, fun-filled day at Lubbock on Friday, May 21, as they enjoyed the annual Senior Day activities.

With an early start, the sponsors, Bill Anderson and Marie Slover and the students loaded the bus, driven by Robert O'Hair, and headed for Lubbock.

First on the list of activities was skating. After displaying their skill (or lack of skill) on skates, the lively group went to McKenzie Park where they enjoyed some free time to roam and relax.

After lunch, which was catered to the Park by Underwoods, the seniors proceeded to Oakwood Lanes, where they tried their luck at bowling. Next, they were off to LCC to shower and dress before going to dinner at the Town Crier.

After feasting, the group travelled to the Cinema West Theater to see "The Little Big Man."

Following the movie, the seniors loaded the bus for the last time and headed home. Arriving at the school at 11:35 p.m., the tired group ended their memorable Senior Day.

Rudy Grewe of Omaha, Nebraska, is house guest this week of the Ted Haberer family.

Kids, Do You Have A Dog?

Kids, do you have a dog, cat or other pet you love and want to keep healthy? Like you, these pets must have good care and regular visits to the doctor.

On Thursday (today) you will be able to take your animals to the Fire Hall in Earth from 3 to 5 p.m. for their annual rabies vaccine.

A veterinarian from the office of Dr. Jerry Gleason, DVM, of Muleshoe will be present to inoculate the animals. When pets have received their vaccinations, they will be given tags to verify the fact they have had their annual vaccinations. City tags may be purchased when vaccines are given.

All dogs which do not receive their 1971 vaccinations will be picked up and held for three days at the City Pound. Dogs that remain unclaimed after the allotted time period will be executed.

So, kids, if you have a pet 3 months or older, a vaccination fee of $2 and a city tag fee of $1 will help to insure his protection against rabies and his safety as a resident of the City of Earth.

June 1 Student Transfer Deadline

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.

Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.

Tax Service Aids Purchaser

This service was designed, not only to inform the taxpayer how to fight high land taxes but also to insure that his rights are preserved so that if he should take legal action, the victory will be meaningful.

Assessors sit around thinking up new ways to get more money from land owners so why shouldn't the land owners fight back with arguments on their side for reason and equity in land taxation. We work for the taxpayer and not for the tax collector.

S & S Property Tax Service tells the purchaser of its services on how to check his Tax Assessed Values. It outlines a procedure that has had a great deal of success before Boards of Equalization in Texas and several other states. It goes into a large number of items that can and do reduce the value of your property, from the viewpoint of a purchaser, and therefore enter into value for tax purposes. Under the farming section there are a number of observations on irrigated farming and their tax angles.

MRS. LONNIE EARL DEAR
(nee Sharon Leigh Brewster)

Nuptial Vows Unite Brewster - Dear

Miss Sharon Leigh Brewster became the bride of Lonnie Earl Dear in a lovely and impressive candlelight ceremony performed at 8 o'clock on the evening of Thursday, May 20. The double ring vows were exchanged in the Parkway Church of Christ in Lubbock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brewster of Petersburg. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dear of Springlake.

Musical selections of "My God and I", "The Twelfth of Never", "Almost There" and "Wise Men Say" were presented by the Lubbock Christian College Chorus with soloists, Molly Puckett and Terry Looney.

Bill Phillips read the nuptial vows before an altar enhanced with a beautiful arrangement of white gladiolas and greenery set in a lovely white stand. Candelabras holding one blue and two white lighted tapers each flanked the altar on each side.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in a formal length gown of white satin peau de soie with a fitted bodice and scalloped neckline. A sheer overlay of nylon organza accented with lace appliques draped the A-line skirt of the gown. Her long sheer organza sleeves were enhanced at the wrists with lovely lace appliques. The long train of silk illusion was softly gathered to a headpiece of satin flowers complemented with rhinestones. She carried a cascade of white carnations dotted with greenery surrounding a lovely white orchid. The bouquet was adorned with beautiful blue ribbon.

For the traditional Something Old, the bride wore a lovely pair of white shoes. Her lovely wedding gown was Something New while a personal loan from Miss Karen Dear served as Something Borrowed. Something Blue was the traditional blue garter.

Serving as maid of honor was Marylee Noster of Merkel. She wore a formal length empire style gown of white satin. Silver braid accented the sleeveless bodice and blue A-line skirt of the gown. Bridesmaids were Myrna Dear, sister of the groom; Dyna Rucktaschet of Lampasas and Gayle Dahling-er of El Paso. They were attired in formal length gowns featuring blue satin empire bodices and V-necks adorned with silver braids. The bride's attendants each carried long stemmed white roses enhanced with blue ribbons.

Flower girl, Lisa Wade of Lubbock, quietly marked the entry of the bride by gently scattering the aisle with blue carnation petals from a lovely blue basket accented by blue ribbons. She was wearing a gown fashioned after the attendants' gowns. Ring bearer, Tod Goodnight of Lubbock, carried the wedding bands on a heart shaped white satin pillow trimmed with white lace.

Serving as best man was Gary Keener of Lubbock. Groomsmen were Seth Bursey and Gary Bills, both of Lubbock, and Jeff Jones of Grand Prairie. Ushering guests were Harold Bufe and Leland Dear, brother of the groom.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the Parkway Church of Christ Fellowship Hall. The beautiful serving table was draped with a white lace cloth. Suspended from the ceiling directly above the center of the serving table was a blue wedding bell adorned with white ribbons. Centering the table was a lovely arrangement of white gladiolas flanked on either side by two blue tapers. The lovely two-tiered white wedding cake was trimmed with white roses and topped by two white doves. Sisters of the groom, Karen and Darla Dear, served guests cake and punch from crystal and silver appointments.

The bride's mother was attired in a street length dress of blue dacron crepe. Silver

WSG Discusses Family

"The Family Cluster" was the program presented at the Wesleyan Service Guild Monday night, May 24, at the United Methodist Church with Mrs. Melton Welch in charge. The program was given in dialogue taken from the thirteenth chapter of I Corinthians.

The program contrasted the views of the optimist, giving the changes and progress that has been made in raising a family, with the views of the pessimist, living in the past believing that nothing could change.

Following the program was a discussion and a business meeting.

Refreshments of cherry ice-cream pie and coffee were served by Mrs. Alma Ott to Mrs. Melton Welch, Mrs. Gladys Parish, Mrs. Brulah Newton, Miss Ruby Jones and Mrs. Maxine Tunnell.

Bride-trimmed the long sleeves and A-line skirt. She wore blue accessories and a lovely corsage of white carnations adorned by blue net and a white bow.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Petersburg High School. She is attending Lubbock Christian College and is majoring in business. Mrs. Dear is a member of the Christlichea Damen Club.

ES Honors Worthy Matron and Patron

Mrs. Forrest Simmons, Worthy Matron, and O. B. Whitford, Worthy Patron, were honored guests at a party Saturday night, May 22, at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Murrell.

The individual tables were covered in white and adorned with centerpieces of fresh pink and red roses.

Following a delicious meal was a program honoring Mrs. Simmons. Presenting the program was Mrs. Donald Kelley who began, "Every Worthy Matron knows how big her responsibilities loom. But first and most important is to tidy up the lodge room?"

Mrs. Elsie Hawkins, Mrs. Kenneth Parish, Mrs. Ray Kelley, Mrs. John Laing and Mrs. Doug Lewis portrayed the star points. As Mrs. Kelley read the responsibilities of the Worthy Matron, the star points presented symbols of that office such as a broom, mop and pail to Mrs. Simmons. Also presented small symbols were Forrest Simmons, O. B. Whitford, Worthy Patron, and Mrs. Whitford for their support and help throughout the year.

The Chapter gave the Worthy Matron a money gift wrapped in a large box and hidden among tissue paper and confetti.

Since it was the Worthy Matron's birthday, she was also presented a lovely gift, and a beautiful birthday cake was prepared for her by Mrs. Johnny Murrell. The cake being a little hard to cut, the Worthy Matron found that it was actually a box covered with icing in which was placed a cross-

The Queen Bee Buzzes

Although Polly is not working around the office, she isn't forgotten -- not even on her birthday. Trying to ignore various hints, the staff of the News-Sun had apparently forgotten Polly's day and no one even offered her a simple "Happy Birthday."

But -- Upon returning home from a visit to the beauty shop Friday evening, Polly buzzed gally as she was greeted by staff members who presented her with birthday greetings and a lovely cake.

The white cake, trimmed with a rippled border, featured an orange and brown bee and "Happy Birthday Queen Bee."

Enjoying birthday cake and ice cream with Polly were the news staff crew, Ross, Frances, Patti, Vicki, Becky and News-Sun cook, Toni.

Fun On Tammy's Birthday

Saturday found Tammy Davis celebrating her 11th birthday, complete with skating, hot dogs and a Snoopy Cake.

Friends of Tammy's met at her house at 9:00 Saturday morning eager to go skating at Plainview. Supervised by Mrs. Wayne Davis and Mrs. Sam Barden, the girls had a marvelous time displaying their ability on skates.

After returning home, Tammy opened her gifts and the crew then feasted on hot dogs, corn chips, potato chips and Kool-Aid.

Not-to-be-forgotten was her birthday cake -- a red and white dog house with Snoopy on top. Everyone enjoyed the Snoopy cake as well as the fun activities.

The lively party included Carrie Barden, Jill Barden, Pam Ott, Pam Eagle, Connie Dear, Susan Clayton, Lindsey Field, and Vickie Freeman.

God Loves You and I Love You

Words are inadequate to express the thankfulness I have in my heart for the many kindnesses shown me during my hospitalization and recuperation at home.

For prayers, flowers, cards, letters, telephone calls, visits, food, gifts and for your many assurances that "God loves you and I love you" which made me realize God was always present with me.

May God's presence always be your shield and my shield until we cross over the river to the home above.

Consumers Want to Know

BY MARGARET SPADER
Director of Consumer Affairs
National Association of Manufacturers

Do microwave ovens carry warranties?

Most manufacturers offer warranties for replacing or repairing defective parts for two years after date of original purchase, with normal use.

Which type of dishwasher is more practical for small kitchens, a front-loading or top-loading model?

If the kitchen is narrow, the top-loading model is more practical. Front-loading models have a door that opens down with racks that pull out like drawers. So, considerable space is consumed while loading and unloading.

Why are some dishwashers called "built-in" models? Aren't all dishwashers built-in except portables?

"Built-in" or undercounter dishwashers are unfinished on the top, sides and back and are designed to be built into a row of base cabinets, under a continuous countertop. They are permanently connected to water, drain and electricity. These are naturally front-loading appliances.

Regina Cole returned home Sunday from Shallowater. She was accompanied by Mary Lichtertz and Teresa Seymour.

GA's Discuss Following Jesus

The Earth GA's 1, 2 and 3 opened their meeting Wednesday afternoon, May 19, with the singing of several songs. After singing "We would Follow Jesus," they talked about how each person could follow Jesus. Mrs. Robert Geissler read two stories from missionaries to GA's and talked about their work and what GA's could do to help missionaries. Elizabeth Keller read a story entitled "Why Should I?" and the prayer calendar was read by Mrs. Robert Geissler.

The meeting closed with a prayer for the Missionary of the Week.

Ice cream bars were served by Mrs. Louise Galloway to Jana Pittman, Elizabeth Keller, Jennifer Keller, LeAnn Haberer, Diana DeLeon and Mrs. Geissler.

Lee-O'Hair Honored At Tea

The engagement of Kathy Lee and Kelley O'Hair was revealed at a tea Saturday afternoon in the home of the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. Crill Bullis.

Guests were greeted at the door by Kathy and registered by DeAnne Brock.

The mantle was centered by a white candelabra holding burning tapers and two white satin wedding bells bearing the names "Kathy and Kelley, July 31."

The serving table was covered with white bridal lace and satin and centered with an arrangement of white peonies and two large glittered rings. Yellow tapers burned at either side of the centerpiece.

Guests were served yellow punch, yellow cake squares and mints by Teresa Glascock and Janice Miller.

Approximately thirty guests called in the afternoon. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Herman Hablings, Mrs. Barney Glascock and Miss Rena Dohmeyer.

"Today it costs as much to amuse a child as it did to educate his father."

June is Dairy Month - 640,000 4-H'ers Think That's 11 Months Too Short

SPECIAL - June is Dairy Month. But there are some 640,000 young people who claim it is 11 months too short.

They are boys and girls enrolled in the 4-H dairy foods program, sponsored nationally by Carnation Company for the last 20 years. And they back their claims with convincing statements about the needs for proper nutrition . . . three to four servings of milk or equivalent per day.

The young people learn that milk and milk products today are better than ever. Pasteurized, homogenized, fortified with vitamin D and sealed in sanitary containers, dairy products come in an almost unlimited variety - powdered, evaporated, with fat removed. There are all kinds of cheeses, sour creams, yogurt, ice milk and ice cream to choose from.

The fun is in the eating, the 4-H'ers exclaim. And they add that learning to use milk and dairy foods is a good exercise in creativity.

They try dairy products as appetizers and beverages, in biscuits, breads and cakes, and in candies, cookies and desserts, too. They make dairy products into main dishes like ground beef Stroganoff, delicious salads, sauces and snacks. And they find their concoctions popular as well as nutritious.

Looking at dairy foods from a pure economics point of view, the Cooperative Extension Service says that milk and milk products provide about a third of the average American's nutritional needs for less than 20 percent of the food dollar.

There are other benefits, too. 4-H'ers earn recognition. Carnation provides four medals of honor for members excelling in the program at the county level.

From these county winners one member is selected from each state to attend the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

And six educational scholarships of $700 each are presented to national winners in the dairy foods program at a special awards dinner during the national 4-H event.

Helping 4-H members learn even more about dairy foods, nutrition and science, Carnation Company provides two booklets. These are: "New NOW Nutrition" and "Right Eating . . . and your Dairy Foods Demonstration."

For more information about the dairy foods program, how to enroll as a member or how to become a volunteer leader of a 4-H Club, contact the county extension office.

The 4-H awards programs are arranged and announced by the National 4-H Service Committee.

AN OPEN LETTER TO A GRAD'S DAD

DEAR DAD,

It wasn't too many years ago when you peeped from beneath your black cardboard cap and accepted your diploma. Remember, how you felt? Your chest was a little thicker, your beard a little deeper . . . you felt like a man.

Now . . . after 12 long years . . . there's another graduate in your family. He, or she, will soon get that same feeling you had several years ago.

Your graduate will be leaving you soon, to go to college, to get a job, or maybe even go to war.

This is the springtime of their life. This is the time they have waited and worked for these 12 years. They are so near adulthood, they can feel it.

If you are in doubt about what you can do to help that feeling blossom inside your graduate, and if we may help you come to our place at East 8th and Hall and let us show you the answer.

Explorer Congress Delegates Selected

Bill Mayes, South Plains Council Explorer Committee Chairman, announced recently that Explorers are now preparing to leave for Washington, D.C., on May 31 to represent this area at the first National Explorer President's Congress.

President Richard Nixon is honorary chairman of the 5-day congress to be held June 2-6 at the Sheraton Park Hotel in Washington.

For the first time, these young men will join 2,500 other Explorers to have a voice in the nationwide Exploring program by participating in elections, leadership seminars, and exchange sessions with top Government leaders.

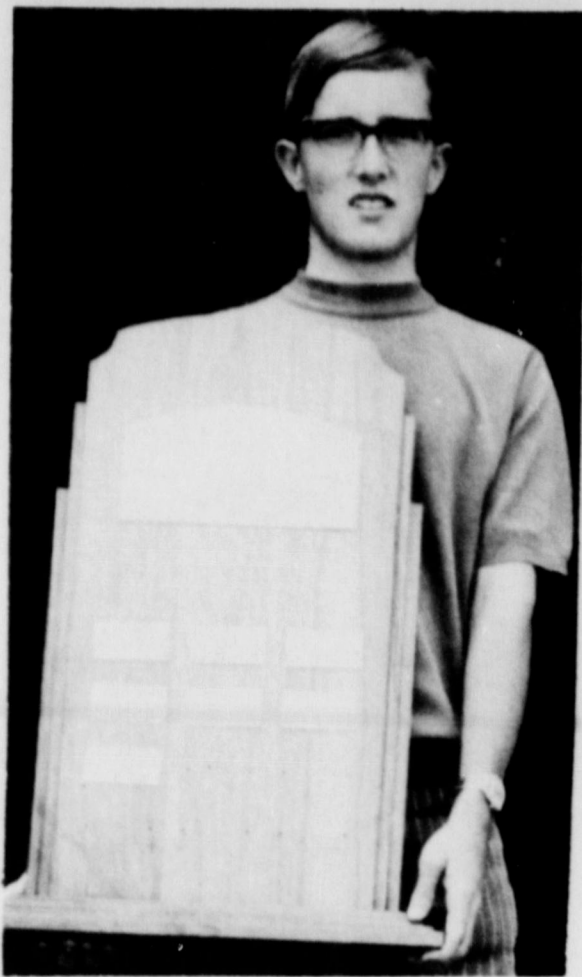

Explorer presidents representing this area are Donny Ray Brown, Post 255, Kress; Keith Anderson, Post 333, Ralls; and Ricky Rhodes, Post 369, Petersburg.

Mayes stated the council delegation has space for four more participants. Interested Explorers should contact R. L. Hurst, Staff Explorer Advisor, at the Council Service Center.

During their visit to Washington, the Explorer presidents will participate in a variety of training programs to make them more effective Explorer leaders, including sessions with Attorney General John Mitchell, political satirist Al Capp, and Mayor Walter Washington.

In addition to sight-seeing tours of Washington, the Explorer President's Congress will climax with an entertainment spectacle on the White House lawn and with the installation of the first national Explorer president.

Scouts Elect Order Members

Three members of Earth Boy Scout Troop 614 were elected to the Order of the Arrow when the troop met in a regular session Tuesday evening, May 25.

Troop members elected Order of the Arrow candidates by secret ballot. Among the qualifications for membership in the Order are good camping ability and attendance of local meetings.

The names of those boys elected will remain secret until the Tap Out at Camp Tres Ritas. At this time, all Boy Scouts attending Tres Ritas will form a circle around four Order of the Arrow members portraying Indians. These four Scouts will survey those in the circle and the three boys elected to the Order will be tapped out. In revealing their identities, the four Indians will pull the candidates from the circle, transport them a distance of approximately 25 feet then hit them twice on one side and once on the opposite side. After the Tap Out, the Scouts will be inducted into the Order of the Arrow at Camp Fort.

The boys discussed the Memorial Services they are to present at the Earth and Springlake Cemeteries on Monday, May 31. During the services, the Boy Scouts will conduct flag raising ceremonies and place flags on the graves of veterans.

Eighteen troop members were present for the meeting along with Scoutmaster Travis Jacques and Gerald Howard.

Interest Revives In Clocks

Emperor Clock Company of Fairhope, Alabama, has succeeded in generating a revival of interest in the traditional grandfather clock. The renaissance began just two years ago.

"General acceptance of grandfather clock ownership has been nationwide," reports George Fowler, President. "Sales have been so good that it pushes production to meet the demand. It appears that the traditional grandfather clocks are a national status symbol," Fowler added.

"Grandfather clocks are among the most treasured furniture pieces handed down as heirlooms from generation to generation. They grow in value and survive the changes of time," Fowler said. "The Emperor Clock Company enhances the beauty and charm of cherished grandfather clocks by using modern manufacturing methods. The heretofore high cost of quality grandfather clocks is thus reduced to a popular price range," Fowler stated.

Wood, cut from solid mahogany and walnut, under the skill of southern furniture craftsmen, and movements, imported from West Germany, give Emperor Grandfather Clocks a warm, rich beauty and lasting dependability as a time-keeping instrument.

Each clock features the well-known Westminster Chimes. Other models offer a choice of the Westminster, Whittington or St. Michael Chimes.

Emperor Clock Company not only sells assembled, unfinished cases without movements, but also "do-it-yourself" kits for building your own grandfather clock. Emperor Clock, in addition, offers detailed blueprint plans of each model at a nominal cost.

Printed Carpets

The carpet industry created printed carpets in 1967, and now carpet designers think that 50 per cent of all carpets will be printed eventually. Most carpets that are printed today have a smooth surface and a built-in foam rubber cushion, but even shag carpets can have printed colorations. Popular indoor-outdoor carpet, kitchen and carpet tiles are often printed.

Hail Suppression Begins Second Run

The second year of the hail suppression program will begin June 1 in Lamb County, according to the Lamb County Better Weather, Inc. members.

The hail suppression program is scheduled for four full months in this county, or June 1 through the last day of September, and will include the portions of Lamb County north and east of U. S. 84 to the county line, also west from Highway 37 at Amherst to Highway 303 going north to the county line.

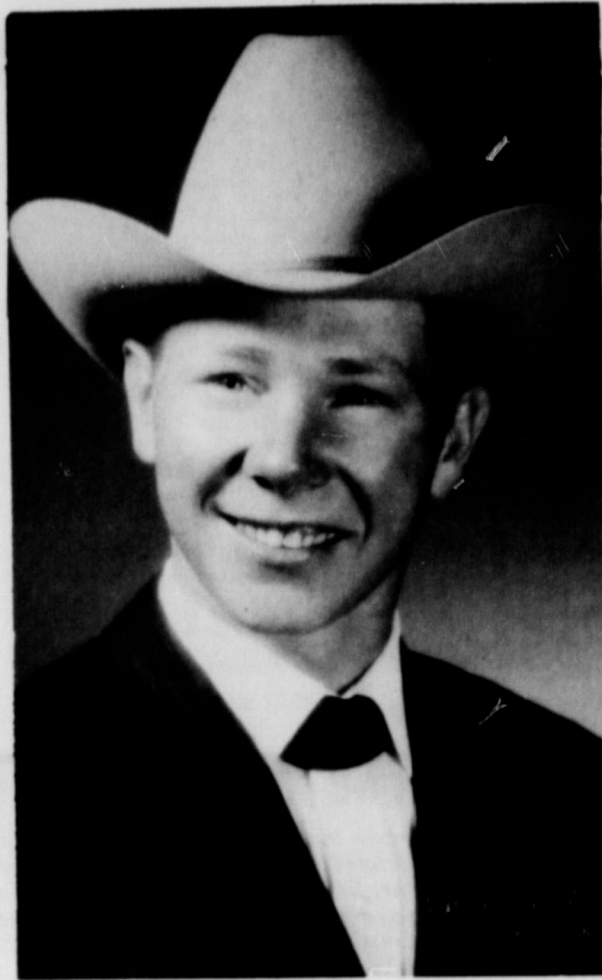

H. L. Messamore, secretary of the Lamb County hail suppression group, said Friday that $7,000 more was needed to pay for four months' coverage. Lamb County's part of the four-county target area is $27,600. This money is paid by farmers on a voluntary assessment of 32 cents per acre.

Portions of the county objecting to weather modification, including the dryland areas south and west of Littlefield towards Bula and Pop and the Olton area, are not included in the program.

Lamb County is joined by portions of Floyd, Hale and Swisher Counties. This year, as last year, Atmospherics Inc. will seed clouds with silver iodide flares fired from twin-engine planes headquartered in Plainview.

JOHNNY KELLEY, 1970-71 member of the Springlake-Earth Wolverine band was awarded the John Phillips Sousa Award during the High School Awards Assembly by band director, Jerry Starkes, on Thursday, May 20.

Salmonellosis Is Summer Illness

Salmonellosis is an illness which loves to go on picnics, to banquets and parties where foods are prepared well in advance, and even to family functions in homes.

Commonly called food poisoning, it may show up anywhere it receives an invitation. Sometimes it is credited by individuals with being a 24-hour virus.

The food infection symptoms may range from mild nausea and abdominal discomfort to a full-blown case which also involves fever, vomiting and diarrhea. When you get it, you're sick. And, it can be fatal, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Salmonellosis is used to refer to infectious caused by any of the numerous members of the genus Salmonella. Some 900 varieties are known and they may inhabit most species of warm-blooded animals and many cold-blooded vertebrates. Major reservoirs of human salmonellosis are in domestic livestock, swine and poultry. Organisms may be transmitted to man either directly from animals or through contaminated products of animal origin.

In humans also may spread the infection.

Recently, outbreaks of Salmonellosis were traced to pet turtles. And, the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta reports a case in a 19-month-old child caused by a parakeet.

The most dramatic and highly-publicized aspects of salmonellosis are the food-borne infections which occur in large groups of persons who have consumed a contaminated food. In this type of contamination, food is prepared and held in such a manner that the bacteria has an opportunity to multiply.

The State Health Department is so concerned with the problem of food-borne infections it is planning a special seminar for sanitarians in September. The tailor-made course will equip local sanitarians with the knowledge to teach classes in food-borne disease control to food handlers in their own communities.

In a way, food-borne illness is a matter of chance. Five factors must come into play to produce it. You must, of course, have bacteria present.

500 Million Garments Are Home Stitched

Women and girls are sewing more these days than ever before. According to pattern companies, 500 million garments are made a year. Women and girls in Lamb County make their own clothing because those they make are better quality and those who have a better fit. From 60 to 70 per cent can be saved by making them at home.

Home demonstration club women are studying sewing at home this month. Many women find sewing a satisfying outlet for self-expression and creativity, says Lady Clare

Phillips, County Home Demonstration Agent.

One of the first steps in sewing is matching fabric to the pattern. Materials fall into four main types: stiff, crisp, thick and limp. Patterns must conform to the type of material. Cotton knits are very popular at this time. Most are washable but it is important to consult the label for instructions on care.

Using a special ball point sewing machine needle is an aid to sewing on knit fabrics. Also using thread with more "give", like the core spun thread may be desirable.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D.
Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Perhaps you want to make a personal contribution of service to your community, but have no special training in mental health. Is there anything you can do?

The answer used to be, "Not in most communities." But the picture has changed.

The development of community mental health centers and other locally based mental health programs has opened up challenging new opportunities for volunteers. Today's community-based facilities have come about through advances in knowledge and techniques in treating the mentally and emotionally ill.

Many people can be helped to recover and lead more satisfying and productive lives. Volunteers not only supplement professional staff in providing the needed services but also add the invaluable ingredient of community caring and concern.

Many who are willing and eager to contribute their own service may typically say, "I want to help, but I'm afraid I have nothing to offer."

Yet everyone has some skill that can be put to use to advance mental health for others. Whatever your abilities (such as cooking or housekeeping or typing), or your hobbies (such as photography or painting), or your interests (such as current events or foreign languages or sewing), your help can be very meaningful to people who are being cared for in a hospital, a day care program, a clinic, or a community mental health center.

Your help can be a crucial factor in enabling someone to remain in the community and grow well. Indeed, if you have nothing more specific to offer than a commitment to helping, a warm and kindly feeling for people, the very gift of yourself can have unique therapeutic worth for the men, women, or children whom you assist.

Opportunities for work in mental health are now far greater than ever before and are growing. Many community mental health programs would not even exist if it were not for the dedication of many citizens.

You may contact your local mental health association, official department of health, mental health center, hospital, volunteer service bureau, or other community service agency to find out about programs in which you may serve.

Prune Back Spring Flowering Shrubs

It is not too late to prune back those spring flowering shrubs, to encourage the growth of new wood for next season's show. Thin out old canes and remove dead wood making all cuts close to the ground. Included in this group are the forsythia, (Golden Bells), mock orange, flowering quince and spirea.

In the northern section of Texas, bagworms are probably feeding on your evergreen trees and shrubs. Sevin is very effective if used while the worms are small. Plants should be watched closely when Sevin is used as its use frequently leads to an increase of spider mite population since many of their natural enemies are eliminated by the Sevin.

Crape Myrtles bloom on this year's growth. For ample flower production, provide an adequate supply of nutrients. Using a 12-12-12 fertilizer or its equivalent, use about 1 1/2 pounds of fertilizer per 100 feet of bed area and water thoroughly.

Flowers cut late in the afternoon, then placed immediately in warm water and allowed to stand in a cool draft-free room until the water becomes cool, will last much longer than those cut in the early morning.

YF Have Success In Wiring

The Young Farmers met Thursday night, May 20, for the last time until August.

Under the direction of Gene Gaston and Jim Scott, the group did actual wiring of switches and lights. Everyone's attempts proved successful and the entire project was very interesting and educational.

A short business meeting followed in which it was decided to have a swimming and ice cream party later this summer. Jerry Jones then served refreshments to those present.

Theft From Band Hall

Sunday night, May 16, the Springlake-Earth Band Hall was broken into and three horns were stolen. The broken window, in which the culprits entered, and the theft were discovered Monday morning. The three instruments were valued between $800 and $1000.

A valuable tape-recorder had been moved near the broken window and it is believed that the thieves were scared away before they could take more.

Car Vandalism

Friday night, sometime after 10:30, a car which had been left 6 1/2 miles east of the City of Earth on Highway 70 was moved, stripped, saturated with fuel oil and burned.

The car was a 1967 Mercury Montreal and was registered to a used car dealer in Littlefield. It had been sitting empty for three days previous to the incident. This made the third car vandalism in ten months in the area.

Cancer Drive Completed

Through the combined efforts of interested persons in Earth, Springlake and Pleasant Valley, the Cancer Drive raised $1755 in donations. These funds will go to the American Cancer Society to help fight cancer. The drive was just short of its goal of $1800.

The "Send a Mouse to College" program by the younger set collected $71.56. Each 27¢ of this total will buy a mouse to be used in cancer research.

The Cancer Drive began on Tuesday, April 27, with approximately 50 workers canvassing for donations.

Plant Sorghum Early To Avoid Damage

As the production of grain sorghum has mushroomed on the South Plains over the past decade, a tiny insect pest has continued to lurk in the background and has inflicted heavy damage where the situation was ripe. The sorghum midge, one of the most damaging insects of grain sorghum, must be reckoned with each year.

"Early planting is the most practical means by which producers can avoid midge damage to their sorghum crop," points out Dr. Don Rummel of Lubbock, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Sorghum should be planted so that it will bloom no later than August 1. This is when the critical period begins for potential midge damage on the South Plains."

If the crop escapes midge damage during the bloom period, then the danger is over, explains the entomologist. Sorghum is susceptible to the midge only during this period of growth.

"Our observations over the past nine years indicate that midge populations seldom reach damaging levels in this area before the first of August," says Rummel. "So, producers can beat the midge by selecting the proper variety and planting date."

Although midge infestations have not been serious in the past few years, the insect pest was responsible for devastating losses during the early 1960's. Grain yields in late-blooming fields have been reduced from 20 to 100 percent. So, the sorghum midge can virtually wipe out a sorghum crop if conditions are right, notes the entomologist. That's why he cautions producers to take steps now as planting time approaches to avoid midge damage this summer.

"I want to ask you a very important question Gwendolyn, provided you don't rush out and quit your job."

people, the Cooperative Extension Service selects 18 sectional winners. Each receives an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28-30, Dec. 2.

Six educational scholarships of $700 each are awarded by Union Oil to national winners announced at the 4-H Congress. Arranged and announced by the National 4-H Service Committee, national 4-H public speaking program awards were earned by more than 4,300 young people last year.

For more information about the 4-H public speaking program contact the local county extension service office.

Public Speaking Talents Expand 4-H Opportunities

SPECIAL - Talents as a speaker can lead to new and interesting experiences says the National 4-H Service Committee. And they back up their claim with a prime example.

Recently Frank D. Dowsing Jr., 19, Tupelo, Miss., was commissioned one of eight 4-H Reporters-to-the-Nation by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin. Young Dowsing was Mississippi's state 4-H public speaking winner in 1968 and runner-up the previous year.

Young Dowsing, with other members of the team, will tell the 4-H story to government officials, educators, businessmen and the general public in appearances across the country this year. And at each appearance, he will call upon his 4-H public speaking experience which started with a speech on "What 4-H Has Meant to Me."

Like more than 120,000 other 4-H members who annually take part in the 4-H public speaking program, Dowsing found the program to his liking. He earned recognition from Union Oil Company of California, national program sponsor, and numerous speaking engagements were scheduled by the Cooperative Extension Service. He also participated in several other statewide speaking contests.

In 1971 Union Oil Company of California, for the 22nd year, lends encouragement to budding young 4-H speakers. Up to four medals of honor are offered in each county and U.S. Savings Bonds of $50 each are available to the winning boy and girl in each state. From these young

VA Warns Against Deceptive Advertising

The Veterans Administration is not affiliated with private cemetery operators offering burial plots free or at nominal cost to veterans, Jack Coker, Regional Office Director in Waco, emphasized. He said some cemetery operations advertise in a way that suggests a connection with the VA or some other government agency.

He noted that VA and veterans service organizations have received complaints from recipients of such advertising literature. Complaints from veterans about allegedly deceptive advertising have also been received.

Similar complaints have been received by the Department of the Army's office of Chief of Support Services, which provides grave sites to honorable discharged veterans in national cemeteries on a space available basis.

There are 85 national cemeteries around the country. Thirty-nine have been closed because space has been used and six others are expected to be filled within five years, he said.

Some private cemetery operators use this lack of space in national cemeteries in their advertisements or solicitations to veterans.

Although it is acknowledged that many offers are from reputable firms, veterans are advised to make sure that they thoroughly understand any contracts they sign. Veterans often find there are costs and additional expenses they did not anticipate.

Memories Of Our European Tour

by Myrtle F. Clayton

Mrs. Ella Lindley and Mrs. Myrtle Clayton left the Lubbock airport Friday, April 23, on the London Carnival Tour, sponsored by the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

We went by way of Des Moines, Iowa; Bangor, Maine, and proceeded on to jolly old England. We lost some hours between the USA and England but found two lovely friends, Miss Marcie Creech and Mrs. Mary Betts of Fort Worth. We enjoyed this foursome throughout the tour.

Sunday we missed the Woburn and Safari bus tour to do some things on our own. We called a cab and went to Westminster Abbey.

The recorded history of Westminster Abbey begins in Edward the Confessor's time, which is dim and misty. By an unconscious act of Statesmanship, he made Westminster Abbey the cradle of a future empire there on an island in the Thames River.

From the 11th Century to the 16th Century, the palace at Westminster Abbey was the reigning king's place of residence.

Westminster enshrines memories of almost all that the Anglo-Saxon races have achieved and contains the memorials of many of the legislators, judges and statesmen, but the Abbey was built above all for a "House of Prayer."

The ancient coronation chair stands in the St. Edward's Chapel but is transferred to the center of the theatre and before the high altar for a coronation.

Since 1296, the coronation chair has been used for every coronation with the exception of Edward V and Edward VIII who were never crowned.

This building remains as one of the greatest examples of Gothic architecture, containing many works of art not only in the way of monuments, but in the way of pictures, plate and fabrics.

We entered this famous Abbey with other tourists but with a desire to worship in the Church proper. Drawing on our bold Texas spirit we walked past the tourists to the high altar and back of which was an iron wrought petition and asked an attendant for permission to worship.

The attendant opened a gate in the petition and we entered in the collegiate church of St. Peter in Westminster.

This Sunday, April 25, was "Anzac Day", a day of commemoration for those who died in the Australian and New Zealand forces, the two commonwealth nations of Great Britain.

As we sat among the splendor of the chapel, the metal breasted dignitaries of the three nations, the quiet dignity of the service, listening to the music of the great organ and the voices of the Lay Vicars as they sang, we felt so humble.

The Prime Minister of New Zealand read the "First Lesson" and His Excellency, the High Commissioner for the Commonwealth of Australia, read the "Second Lesson." The Honorary Canon of Sydney, Australia preached the "Sermon." At the close of the service, all stood and sang the National Anthem.

After the church services, we went with the people to the town square in front of the House of Parliament where wreaths were placed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier which is symbolized by a huge monument in the center of the street. A brigade of uniformed horsemen and a band marched followed by several other marching groups portraying the different phases of the wars pertaining to the history of Great Britain. Never shall we forget this Anzac Day and the influence it has on England, Australia and New Zealand.

We walked on down to the beautiful Trafalgar Square. Here we fed the pigeons, took pictures and mixed with the people. Just Texans getting around and not missing a thing, looking at all the statues and ornate sculpturing and amazed that there is no vandalism to the fountains or statues in anyway.

From Trafalgar Square, we walked and gawked on down town to Madame Tussaud's Wax Exhibition. This famous world museum had its beginning in London in 1835. Among those portrayed here were John F. Kennedy, Dwight D. Eisenhower, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin and many others.

Grabbing the subway to get back to the London International Hotel, we had already come to the conclusion that we were so confused about the money exchange that we were being taken and taken good. The majority of the English are confused also.

An "Elizabethan Feast" was planned for us on Sunday night. This feast was served in authentic 16th Century surroundings, even to the wooden plates and bowls, drinking soup directly from the bowls, no sweets and the wandering minstrel played and sang as we ate.

Monday morning the bus tour took us over the "West End" of London. We saw the main shopping areas, Piccadilly Circus, buildings of Parliament and Buckingham Palace. Today of all days it just had to rain so we missed the Changing of the Guards.

Monday afternoon's highlight was St. Paul's Cathedral and the Tower of London. For centuries a cathedral dedicated to the honour of St. Paul has stood upon the summit of Ludgate Hill. The first cathedral was destroyed by fire and in succession four other churches were destroyed. The rebuilding of the cathedral was finished and dedicated in 1240. Other portions were added later, and all in the same graceful Gothic style. After the Reformation, houses and shops were erected right up to the very walls of the cathedral.

The American Memorial in the chapel just behind the High Altar is the tribute of the people of Britain to the 28,000 American citizens who, from

TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

The pioneers of science, art, and industry . . . those who found a way where others saw only a blank wall . . . have all had a sense of direction.

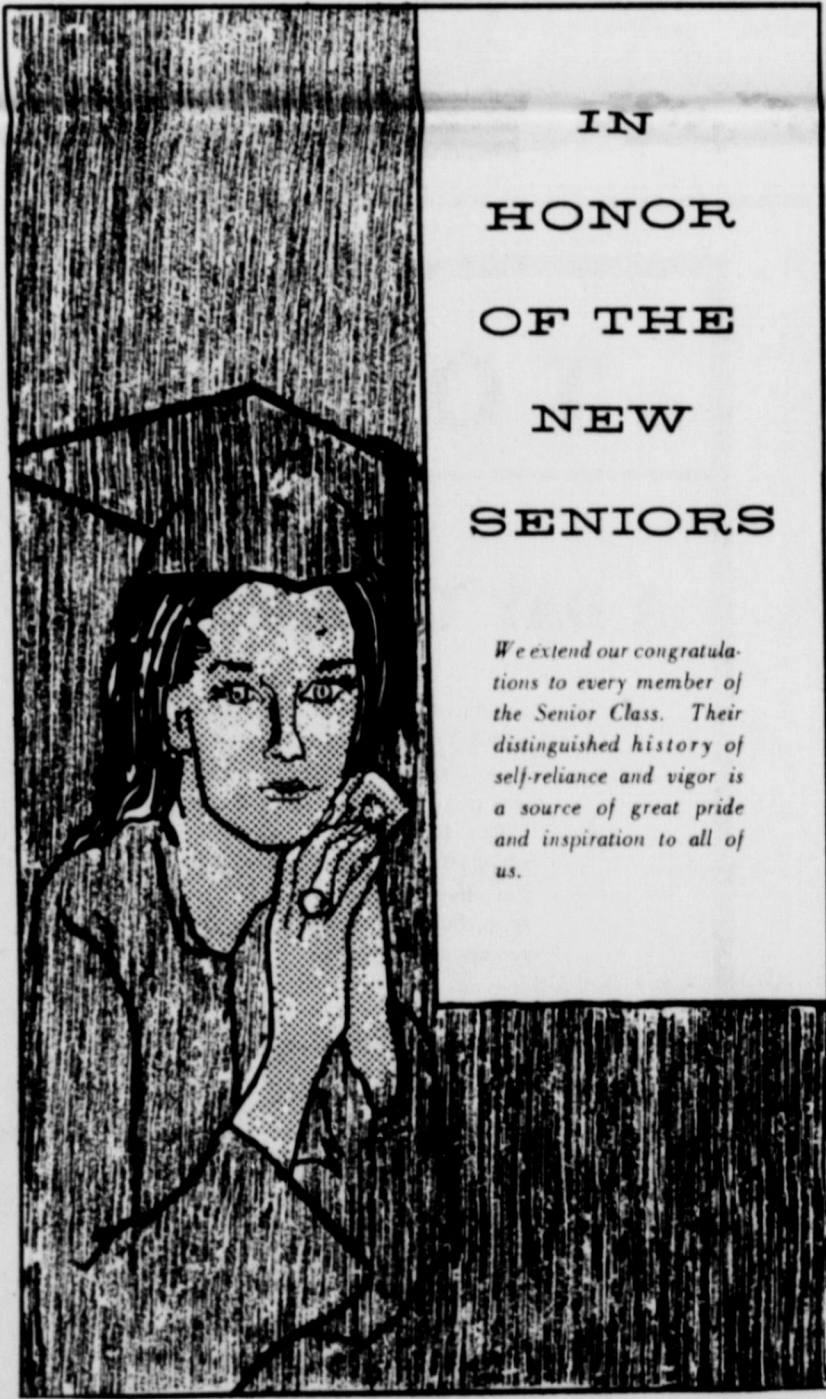

The seniors seem imbued with this same sense, and it makes us proud to take note of it. It is a mark of maturity and eagerness to reach for new goals.

With pride, we take this opportunity to say, "Well done, Seniors, and good luck, whatever your direction!"

their bases in the United Kingdom, met their death in the second World War. Opposite the crimson draped altar stands a glass case containing the American Roll of Honor in which are inscribed the names of the 28,000 dead. This was presented by General Dwight Eisenhower on behalf of the United States on Independence Day, July 4, 1951.

It's hard to explain the elegance and splendor of this chapel, yet you somehow forget all this when you stand before this American Tribute and say to yourself, "I am glad I am an American."

We also visited the Tower of London which houses the famous Crown Jewels, unbelievable with guards really on the alert.

London City by day, now city by night, where an enjoyable evening had been planned. Music Hall entertainment at the famous Stars and Garters, then to the Talk of the Town, where our dinner was served while international celebrities entertained.

Tuesday morning, our tour took us through the gentle Buckinghamshire countryside and the Chiltern Hills to Oxford.

Oxford is England's oldest university town. There are 30 colleges in Oxford, 25 for men and 5 for women. Here we visited one of the colleges. We went past Blenheim Palace, ancestral home of the Duke of Marlborough and birthplace of Sir Winston Churchill.

At Stratford Upon Avon, we lunched, later toured the City of Stratford, whose thatched-roofed cottages and beautiful gardens reflect the character and atmosphere of the past. We viewed Shakespeare's birthplace and Shakespeare's Memorial Theatre and on to the Village of Shottery and to visit the home of Anne Hathaway, Shakespeare's wife. We went back to London by the way of Banbury. We saw many hedge rows and where they "chase the fox."

Tuesday night, our foursome attended the Cambridge Theatre where we saw Ingrid Bergman, Goss Ackland and Kenneth Williams in the play, "Captain Brassbound's Conversion." By Bernard Shaw. An hour's flight brought us to Paris, France, on Wednesday morning where we were met by bus and toured the French Capital's main sights, including the Montmartre, the Champs Elysees, the Arc de Triomphe, the Eiffel Tower, the famous Eiffel Tower, Concorde Square and Main Boulevards.

Lunch was served at the Les Chevaliers de Table Ronde. After lunch, we toured the Left Bank and the Latin Quarter. The highlight was a visit to the Louvre where we saw the original Mona Lisa and many other great works of art.

We visited the Cathedral of Notre Dame, the Tuilleries Gardens, Palace of Justice, Sorbonne University, the Luxembourg Palace and Gardens and the Elysee Palace, then returning to England after an exciting day.

Thursday, the highlight of the tour was flying to Amsterdam, land of beauty and color.

Acres and acres of bright colored tulips, 600 different types and each type has a name. There is a $100,000,000 export of tulip bulbs here each year.

This was Queen Juliana's birthday, so flags were flying. Most houses are from the 17th nymede, beautiful countryside and here is a plot of land and a memorial to the late President Kennedy. It was here in 1215 that King John was forced by the English Barons to put his seal to the Magna Carta.

Lunching at Virginia Water on the edge of Windsor Great Park, we visited Hampton Court Palace. This palace was built in the 16th Century for Cardinal Wolsey and later taken over by King Henry VIII.

The story is that when King Henry came to see the Wolsey Palace, he was very upset and said to Wolsey, "Why you have a more beautiful castle than my own." Wolsey fearing the King said, "Oh, but, Sir, I built it for you," and King Henry immediately moved in and took possession.

Returning to London International Hotel to make one more of England's famous restaurants so off to Flanagan's we go to eat fish.

Suitcases outside our hotel room at 7 a.m. Saturday morning reminded us that we would soon be leaving Europe with memories of a wonderful trip but glad to be home in the USA again.

Some of those memories will be wishing for water, getting it after meals, right hand driving, holding my breath but nary a wreck, changing clothes and losing things. So many English people confused about the money exchange but trying to look convincing. We tried to look very knowledgeable about the money exchange but were always having to alley-up some extra.

Other memories will be eating English rolls and never really getting all we wanted of them.

Trying to buy a little gift, money in one hand and foot raised to mount the bus at the same time and the guide saying "time's up" with the clerk and you trying to figure out the correct change, this is the real toss up.

Maricle explaining to the waitresses we four tee-totalers were having more fun with Cokes and ginger ale.

Looking at the Royal castle and just wishing they could see one of our Texas beef specials.

Having our picture made by a Royal Guard, still not sure if the Guard recognized us. Ella turning her coffee cup down and still asking for water.

Miss Price and Miss McBride gave us a send-off at the Lubbuck airport to London and were there with Mrs. King to meet us as we arrived back in Lubbuck, even brought us a delicious pie.

Century and when houses are repaired, it must conform to the 17th Century style. This keeps the quaint country type building uniform.

There are small, small cars in these countries and in Holland which sometimes fall off into the canals, but with a hoist and $35 they are lifted right out again. Sometimes our bus had to travel down the sidewalk, right next to the buildings, in order to get down some Amsterdam streets.

Amsterdam gets its name from the Amstel River. We visited the Rembrandt Square and Entertainment Center. At the Rembrandt House, we saw the most beautiful and famous of the Rembrandt paintings. We toured the Queens Palace, Jewish Quarters picturesque canals and windmills and on to a diamond cutting industry and the Tulip Gardens of Keukenhof in Voerendaag, Holland.

Friday we traveled west of London to the Royal Palace and Fortress of Windsor. The King Henry VIII Gate is sited at the lowest extremity and farthest from the Royal Apartments. It was built so that, should it fall to the attacker, any further progress would require a stern uphill fight.

It was Edward III who founded the Order of the Garter. Only the King had the power and authority to invest those he chose to receive the Order of the Garter and St. Winston Churchill received this high honor. Here is located the Devil's Tower, very ancient but much altered. Some of the low walls around the private garden are four centuries old. One of these I had to touch.

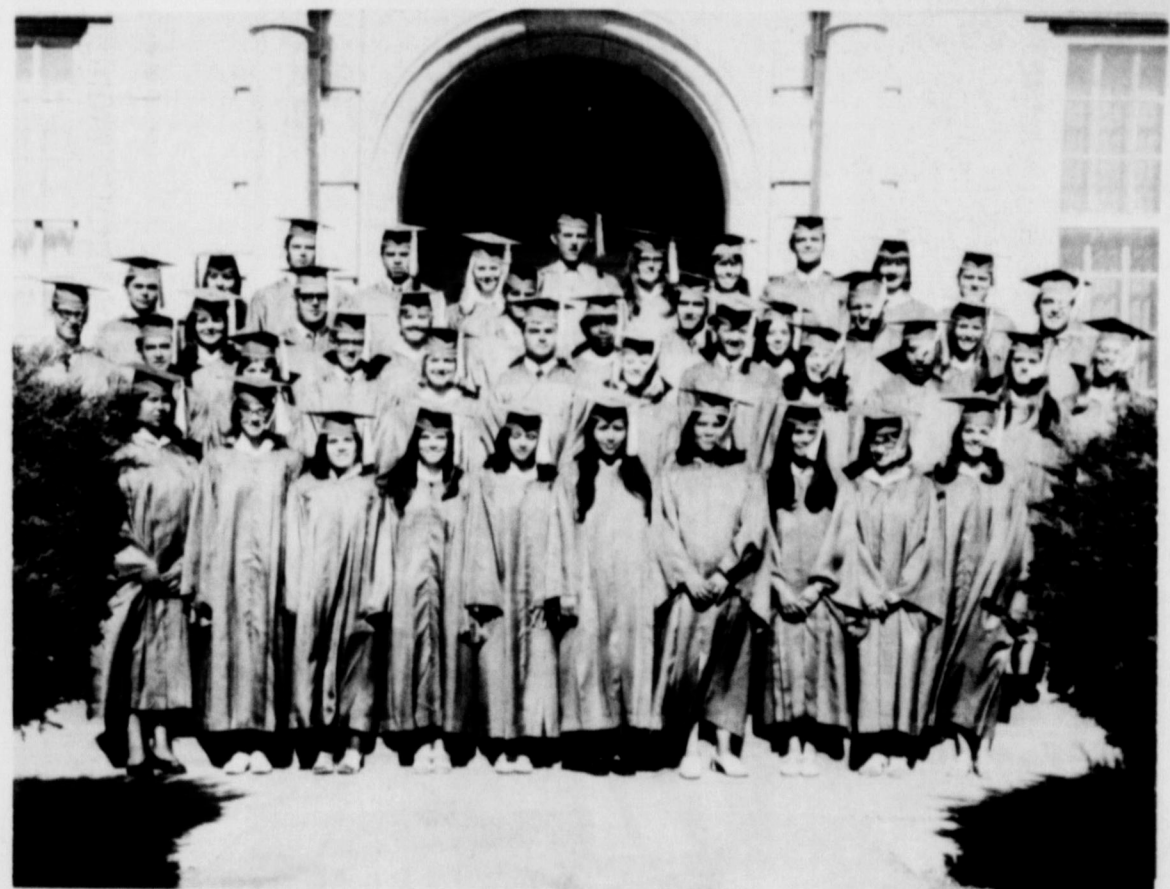

A magnificent China collection is one of the interesting things that a visitor could spend much time looking at. Also the Doll House that was created for Queen Mary, 1867-1953.

The living quarters for the Royal Family are located in this castle. The Queen was at home but ill during our visit. We are sure she missed seeing us Texans.

Mr. Sandman, can you tell me what ever happened to the girl who was always reading her horoscope?

Blanco Cerda finally got her horoscope working for her and she is doing her thing.

Can you tell me about Rosemary?

Rosemary, I am sorry to say, is in the hospital after being beaten up by a lady Amazon for flipping her long hair in the face of the wrong man and who else but Donald Alcalá is lost in the Amazon in search of guess who?

Getting back to the civilized world, Mr. Sandman, can you tell me where Terry Blanton is?

Terry Blanton has just been announced preacher of the year and Mike Bosquez is going all out fighting against the future making of cigarettes and liquor.

I understand our class had some olympic champs.

Yes, Edwin Fuller is beginning his career as champion pole vaulter of them all. Dickie Bradley was defeated by Edwin at pole vaulting and has settled down and started his own track team.

I heard that Bequiel had married.

Would you believe that Bequiel is so hen pecked by his wife that all his hair is falling out. Speaking of marriage, David Carr has finally lost his shyness for girls and is getting married at the age of 80.

Did Del Davis make it in his baseball career?

Yes, he has the title of the oldest baseball player in the world playing in Babe Ruth League. If you look for Pete DeLeon, you would find him out on the highway still trying to pop wheelies in his 1955 Chevy.

Tell us what is new in the scientific world.

Freddy James has made a revolutionary scientific discovery. He has invented a lotion to remove freckles. Lupe used to miss a lot of school -- He said to go to weddings.

Lupe Flores is off again to a wedding in Mexico. Will it be his this time?

I understand that Dyke Gaston gave up married life to join the Harlem Globe Trotters.

Yes, that is right, and did you know that Tom Findley had joined Freddy in his work?

Where is John Gonzales these days?

He's still, yes, you guessed it, at SJBHS. He was so impressed with all the teachers that he decided to stay a little longer than most. I hear that Joe made Hollywood.

Yes, Joe Herrera is a famous playboy photographer on Sunset Strip in Hollywood.

What ever happened to Eric Freeman and Micky Price?

After being deprived of the name "Buffy," Eric has settled down to a life of an exotic weight lifter, and Micky was elected cussier of the year for knowing the most cuss words in any foreign language.

There was only one Junior Sauseda.

Yes, and Junior got lost in space while chasing space chicks.

Did Gilbert Vela go back to California?

No, Gilbert's shifting feet found him in New York in the ballet.

Hurray! Steve Morgan has broken the record for breaking legs.

Greg Welch, the oldest Boy Scout to ever live, fell to his death while attempting to climb "White Elephant."

I remember that Ronnie took art lessons from Mrs. Bridges.

Yes, Ronnie has recopied the Mona Lisa so perfectly that they had to hang both pictures because they couldn't tell them apart, and Jimmie Samarron became tired of arguing with teachers and has challenged ole Satan himself.

What's cooking with Jacob?

The chief chef at Willie's Soul Food Drive in.

I heard that smiling Chris Espinoza has just become engaged to the most beautiful girl in the world.

And if you go to the library often, you know that Larry Clark is still hanging around hoping to catch a girl.

Was it Willie Thomas who made the track smoke?

Yes, he still thinks that Coach Phelps should furnish the cigarettes for him to make the track smoke.

If you ever go to New York drop around and see John Compton.

I will, but he the star of an underground theatre showing X rated movies?

Yes, he is, Oh, by the way, what ever happened to Robert Garza?

He was over in Australia and he just lost his title of best kangaroo fighter after he fought a real kangaroo.

I have word from Paris, France, that the Miss Universe contest has just ended. Do you know who won?

She was a classmate of yours, Miss Lisa Clayton. Did we have any doctors in our class?

Yes, Debbie Wilson is the famous doctor who specializes in treatment of men. And in the law profession is Terri Smith. She has become a successful lawyer working on men's liberation cases. Another woman in medicine is Kathleen Anderson. She is private nurse to the famous five star General Hinson.

I know Quency wanted to be a bush pilot. Did she make it?

No, Quency is now a marriage counselor after winning the record for most marriages in the period of six months.

Blanca Martinez went to Quency for counseling and is now a happily married housewife with 10 Garza children to care for.

Can you tell us what happened to Terry Lively or Don Holmans?

Terry Lively is happy because he has won back all the girls he once had and in 1980 Don Holmans was the first human being ever to run in every running event in the Olympics. I didn't say he won, though.

We have a couple of our class mates in the modeling world, don't we?

Donna Daniel is a Paris model -- She has been modeling the latest creation "the nothing". Agnes Palacio is suffering from burns she received when she backed into a lighted cigar while modeling a paper dress. Guess who was holding the lighted cigar. Eladio Gallegos.

Are there any teachers?

Placido is a math teacher and is so happy because now his book has the answers in it. Doug Jones was so impressed with Mr. Slover that he took up English teaching. Would you believe that Mary Martinez is also teaching English?

There are some entertainers too, I think.

Corena Morales is the leading lady for John Compeon. Olga Ruiz has replaced Red Skelton and is doing an hour of pantomime. Shirley Lax is carrying on where Julia left off. And Ruth Street has replaced Ed McMahon and is Mistress of Ceremony on the Johnny Carson Show. Then there is Peggy Gregory, she's still blind as ever and stumbles through Vicki's night club saying cigars, cigarettes, Tiparillos.

I guess we forgot to tell them that Vicki Watkins and her husband own and operate the Springlake Night Club. Do you know what happened to Jennifer Templeton?

She is still the head cheerleader at Texas Tech.

Some other people I have been wondering about is Rosie Garcia and Dolores Garza.

THE FUTURE IS IMPORTANT -- Robert Gossett, vice president of Citizens State Bank, gave senior Toni Barton a few important pointers about the future when Toni attended the bank hosted Coke party honoring the senior class.

Circus Ticket Sales Begun

The box office at Lubbock Municipal Coliseum began ticket sales Monday, May 24, 1971

Rosie is secretary and model for Joe Herrera and Dolores is doing Close Up commercials in the daytime and trying to see if Close Up really works in the evening.

That is about everyone in our class isn't it?

I can think of a few more.

Sharla Lowery has received Most Successful Woman of the Year award for being the first woman to land on Mars. And Judy Heritage is working as a maid, but is really undercover agent 961. Gilbert Gloris has given up buying and has started making his own in his basement still.

I just thought of Cindy. Did she ever marry?

Oh, yes. She kisses Dickie good-bye each morning and takes good care of the kids while he is away at work.

Barbara Lanier and Bonnie Parker always liked to chew gum. What are they doing now?

Barbara is working for Dentyne -- She has the freshest mouth in town and Bonnie is doing commercials for Chiclets Chewing Gum -- It gives her will power.

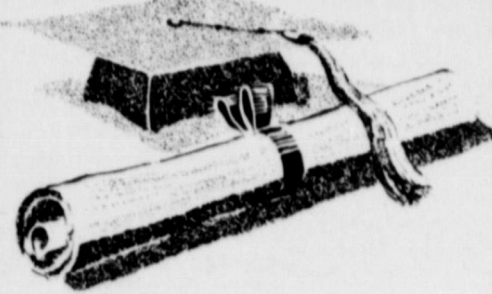

We haven't mentioned Mary Kolte or Kevin Hinson. Do you know anything about them?

Kevin was deprived of his mother's love and joined Hell's Angels. Mary is working for Clatrol and no one knows for sure whether she does or doesn't.

Can you tell me about Melissa Been?

She is on TV on Saturday morning playing in "Josie and the Pussy Cats." She is taking the place of Melonie and upholding Melonie's reputation.

all the rest. For its mammoth Birthday Show, The Greatest Show on Earth is the largest, most complete exhibition of performing animals in Circus history including tigers, lions, panthers, leopards, elephants, bears, horses, ponies, chimpanzees, llamas, camels, dogs and countless other varieties of marvelous mammals.

Did you know our Springlake-Earth Independent School system boasts three separate libraries? These are supervised by one librarian and two library clerks. This outstanding accomplishment is a real TEXAS BRAG for a one-A school plant. Most one-A schools do well to have ONE library for the high school students. The board, the superintendent and the people of this community deserve praise for having the foresight to provide such excellent learning centers.

It might be wise to examine the word "library". What is a library? Webster's dictionary quotes it as being "An apartment or a building devoted to a collection of books, manuscripts, etc., kept for use but not for sale; also, an institution for the custody, circulation, or administration of such a collection." This definition applies to all libraries, such as; public, private, and special (medical, music or theology etc.). A school library includes the above definition plus audio-visual materials and equipment. The school library has certain requirements to meet the standards set by the Texas Education

Agency in Austin. The main objective is to supply book and non-book materials for students and teacher to enrich the curriculum and extra curricular activities. As new material is presented in the school curriculum, in turn the library must supplement with available materials. The librarian must consistently discard the out of date materials as well as provide new.

Each library in this school system contains the following materials. This is not a complete list for any of the libraries.

AUDIO-VISUAL EQUIPMENT- Equipment designed for effective utilization of audio-visual materials both within the library and classroom are provided: filmstrip projectors, filmstrip previewers, record players, tape recorders, overhead projectors, opaque projectors and movie projection screens.

AUDIO-VISUAL MATERIALS- Each school has a selected group of audio-visual materials to enrich the curriculum. These include globes, charts, maps, filmstrips, recordings, tapes, transparencies, films, and other reels.

BOOKS-The standards to meet and surpass are ten titles per child. The libraries contain more than ten volumes per pupil. It seems as libraries reach the standard, it is raised again.

Weed Control - A Must For Narrow-Row Cotton

If any one thing could be singled out as the key to successful narrow-row cotton production on the High Plains this year, it would have to be weed control, believes Dr. Dudley Smith, research scientist at the Texas A & M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock. His weed control research program is supported by Cotton, Inc. and Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

"Weed control is essential in cotton planted in narrow rows since the crop cannot be cultivated once it is planted," points out Smith. "The wisest choice a producer of narrow-row cotton can make is to select a field that is relatively weed-free. Areas infested with library collection. CATALOG CARDS - These cards contain information on the library collection. Our school libraries are set up using the Dewey Decimal Classification. The call number is the Dewey number which helps locate the book on the shelf. The three main cards are the author, title and subject cards filed alphabetically in the catalog trays or drawers.

INFORMATION FILE OR VERTICAL FILE-This is a filing cabinet containing pamphlets, pictures and written articles about certain subjects kept in labeled folders. These are available to the students and teachers.

MAGAZINES OR PERIODICALS - One daily and one weekly newspaper is provided in each library, more for high school. Magazines are placed in the libraries for browsing and research. The number per library is according to the State requirements and those listed in Reader's Guide. Many of these are kept on file for five years to be used for research themes and debate.

REFERENCE BOOKS-Books containing general information which are kept in a special collection in the library. These books should have a copyright date no more than five years from the current year. Encyclopedias are kept current by a year book or annual.

Perhaps a few words about a school librarian might be of interest. The school librarian is first a teacher with a teaching certificate. The librarian works with teachers as well as pupils to be sure all have full access to the library materials. For instance, any visitor on the school campus in the last two weeks might have been startled to see some high school students emerging from the elementary library with a thin oversized book tucked under an arm. Oh yes, they read well above Dr. Seuss. The speech class has been reading and performing for the lower elementary grades.

Contrary to a belief, there is much more to being a school librarian than checking a few books in and out. The WELCOME MAT is out at all times for visitors to come and inspect and browse in all our libraries.

perennials such as Johnson-grass, whiteweed and blueweed should be avoided as well as fields where morningglory, cocklebur, devil's claw and pigweed are severe problems."

The many producers who have already incorporated a pre-plant herbicide such as Treflan or Planavin are ahead in the game of weed control, Smith points out. However, these herbicides do not control some annual broadleaf weeds such as morningglory and devil's claw.

"Producers who have not applied a preplant herbicide can still plant narrow-row cotton and then follow with a pre-emerge chemical such as Caparol, Karmex or Lasso. These materials have worked well in close-spaced cotton but should be sprayed before weeds and cotton emerge. They can be applied directly behind the planter to save a trip over the field."

Pre-emerge herbicides should be applied according to the manufacturer's recommendations, as is the case with all chemicals, cautions Smith. Some cotton injury may occur on light, sandy soils or following heavy rains or sprinkler irrigation right after planting.

"The main objective of a good weed control program is to get the cotton off to a good start, ahead of the weeds," says Smith. "Producers should strive for a weed-free seedbed. But, if small weeds pop up before planting, use tillage or apply pre-emerge herbicides. Add surfactant to Caparol or Karmex or spray Paraquat ahead of Lasso."

Once the cotton becomes established in narrow rows, the plants develop a total shade canopy. This reduces the amount of sunlight reaching the soil, thus "shading out" many small weeds.

"For those weeds that manage to survive and infest the cotton, application of a post-emerge herbicide is a possibility," points out Smith. "An experimental spray rig has been developed at the A & M Center that works well in narrow-row cotton without damaging the plants. Much of the work on this sprayer was done by Alan Brashears, USDA agricultural engineer. The rig mounts on the toolbar and has trailing angle-iron fingers. Flooding nozzles mounted on these fingers spray a 40-inch wide path. The trailing fingers are 20 inches apart and move freely around and between cotton plants."

Details on the sprayer as well as other information on weed control can be obtained at the Texas A & M Center, Route 3, Lubbock.

We Hereby Bequeath...

We, the eighth grade class of 1971, of Springlake-Earth Junior High School, County of Lamb, and State of Texas, being in as good mental health as usual, and much better temper than usual, do hereby make this our last will and testament, making null and void any former will or wills that may have been previously made by us during a period of temporary optimism.

We feel that we will not soon be forgotten because of our brilliant record of achievements, but not wishing to take any chances, we wish to leave certain of our possessions with those who remain behind.

We, the 8th grade class of 1971, wish to leave our sense of importance, our wisdom, good luck, sense of humor, and dignity to next year's 8th grade class. May these be of more use to them than they were to us.

To our teachers and principal we leave a sense of relief that we soon will graduate, a peaceful quiet caused by our absence and any wads of gum, crumpled notes, chewed pencils, and pens that we have left about.

As individuals we wish to bequeath the following:

Eladio Gallegos leaves his smile to Salvador Padillo.

John Compean leaves his perfect attendance to Judy Hamilton and Viola Velasquez.

Shirley Lax wills her "loud" voice to Margaret Street.

Farm Drivers Must Be 18

AUSTIN---Drivers of farm vehicles are temporarily exempt from compliance with new safety regulations established by the U. S. Department of Transportation's Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety for drivers involved in interstate commerce. Texas Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White says that considerable confusion has developed among farm vehicle drivers following adoption of the new safety standards, but that an amendment to the regulations adopted January 1, 1971, exempts drivers of farm vehicles for a six-month period until July 1, 1971.

Commissioner White says that according to the amendment, farm vehicle drivers must be 18 years old, rather than 21 as required in the general safety standards, and that other provisions of the regulations--including written examinations, road tests and physical examinations--will not apply. White pointed out, however, that farm vehicle drivers are defined as persons who are at least 18 years old, are driving a vehicle controlled and operated by a farmer and are being used to transport produce from the farm or supplies to the farm. In addition, the vehicle being driven must have a gross weight, including load, of 10,000 pounds or less and is not used in the operations of a for-hire carrier.

Commissioner White advised all farm vehicle drivers to be aware of the exemption deadline of July 1, 1971, at which time a determination will be

The girls of the 8th grade class wish to will their magnificent basketball ability to the 7th grade girls basketball team.

The 8th grade boys will their trophies to the next 8th grade class to gaze upon and to be envious of.

Finally we do hereby name and appoint as sole executors of this our last will and testament, our class advisors, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Locke, and Mrs. Sulser. In witness thereof, the 8th grade class of 1971 has sealed and signed this last will and testament on the 24th day of April in this the year of 1971.

Tips Given To Prevent Burglary

DALLAS--"Take your necessary precautions against your enemies," is an old warning taken from the ancient Koran many centuries ago.

It was good advice then and just as applicable today when dealing with the modern day burglar.

The key to foffing a burglar is to keep him out of your home or apartment. If he can't get in, he can't steal much.

Unfortunately, even the best precautions sometimes fail to prevent a burglary and then it becomes a matter of getting the stolen property back.

One of the best ways to aid law enforcement officials in their search for stolen property is to have your initials or a serial number engraved on such personal belongings as television sets, stereos, athletic equipment, guns, etc.

The victims who can provide a record of such numbers or initials has a much better chance of getting valuable property back, may help break a burglary ring and will find things greatly simplified when filing out an insurance claim.

Most burglars aren't as skilled as those found in the television series, "It Takes A Thief." Make things tough for them and they may well leave you alone.

Before you adjust, repair or unclog any machinery, be sure you stop the machine to avoid injury.

Shortage Of Nurses Spreading Across Texas

A critical shortage of nurses is spreading all over Texas. In some areas whole wards or wings of hospitals have been closed because of a lack of nurses to staff them.

In other parts of the state, employers have been totally unable to find nurses to fill vacancies, and people have been without nurses to perform certain specialized services.

Texas has made tremendous efforts in recent years to expand the number of nurses; however, population growth and the rapid expansion of health facilities and programs have outstripped these increases.

Texas is facing a critical shortage of registered nurses -- in 1966 it had only 188 R.N.'s per 100,000 population while the national average was 313 per 100,000 population.

Increased pay, fringe benefits and more modern hospitals with pleasant working conditions bring many inactive nurses back into the profession, and more young men and women are choosing nursing as a career.

There are unlimited job opportunities along with a tremendous need for allied health personnel of all types in health institutions throughout the state. In fact nearly 18,000 jobs in the health fields, including about 4,100 in nursing, remain unfilled.

There are almost unlimited possibilities for those interested in nursing. Not only is the profession service oriented, but it offers a variety of specialties and work settings in which to obtain rapid advancement in responsibility and monetary rewards.

Registered nurses find a multitude of job opportunities. Men and women in nursing work in hospitals; nursing homes; nursing education programs; occupational health units, including those in industry; public health agencies and public schools; private duty and in doctors' and dentists' offices; and many others.

Hospitals are the largest employers of nurses -- and with the increase in public demand for services, the results are an increase in vacancies in the positions of nurse administrators, supervisors, head nurses and general duty or staff nurses.

Improved medical care has led to a longer life span and more utilization of nursing homes for the aged and chronically ill. Many such resident institutions offer extended care for convalescing and long-term patients in addition to their resident services.

Public Health agencies employ nurses as administrators, consultants, supervisors, public school nurses, and staff nurses. Privately and voluntarily funded public health agencies, such as visiting nurse services, and publicly supported agencies, funded by taxes, provide valuable community services. Recently a trend has begun to combine official agency functions with home visits, offering a variety of opportunities for innovative nurses.

Occupational health nurses working in manufacturing and industrial plants perform a number of activities ranging from conducting preventive health programs and safety campaigns to first-aid and record-keeping. Private duty nursing appeals to those interested in caring for one patient on a full-time basis for a specified length of time.

Many nurses are also employed by physicians, dentists and community organizations to work in private offices, as consultants and field workers, or as faculty members of nursing education programs. Nursing offers ample opportunity to utilize specialized skills and training while expressing creativity and personality as an important member of the health team.

Mexican Auto Insurance Needed By Motoring Tourists

DALLAS---Thousands of vacationing Americans will be driving their cars into Mexico this summer. Many of them will be falsely confident that they have proper liability protection in case of an accident in that country, the Insurance Information Institute warns.

When planning to drive South of the border, U. S. residents should check with their insurance agent or broker about obtaining an official Mexican automobile liability insurance policy.

Unless properly informed and insured, their pleasant vacations could turn into costly nightmares. Tourists should be warned: "Don't drive into Mexico without auto liability insurance from a Mexican company!"

Most Americans are unaware that only insurance companies located in Mexico are recognized under Mexican law. And contracts of insurance written by non-Mexican companies are not accepted in that country.

A tourist involved in an accident in Mexico could be faced with a large cash outlay, informal detainment, or even jail, under the strict provisions of the Mexican law--even if he has the "Mexican auto endorsement" attached to his U. S. policy.

The "Mexican endorsement" on some U. S. policies is designed for a limited purpose and its application to vacation use should be thoroughly discussed with an insurance agent or broker before a person drives across the border.

Without proper Mexican coverage, the motorist has four alternatives if he is involved in an auto accident which results in even minor personal injury or property damage. They are:

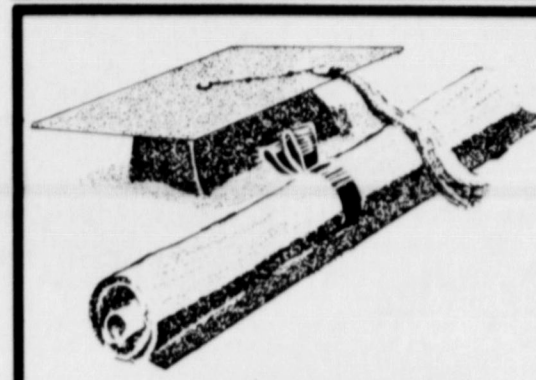

1. Post a cash bond with the local officials.
2. Post a commercial bond from a Mexican bonding company) a possibility if the tourist speaks Spanish, knows someone locally and has enough money).
3. Contact a U. S. insurance agent, via telephone or telegram (but, under Mexican law, it is illegal for the agent to settle the claim in Mexico. He may, however, advance the cash necessary to post bond)

4. Face legal detention and impounding of the automobile.

As visitors to Mexico, Americans are bound by Mexican law, just as Mexicans traveling in the U. S. are bound by its law. Compliance with those laws can make for a happier vacation in Mexico.

Back-Country Guide Offered For Park System

Want to get away from it all? Try the back-country of the National Park System. Forty-one remote areas are described in a new pamphlet, "Back-Country Travel in the National Park System," now available from the Government Printing Office. George B. Hartzog, Jr., Director of the Department of the Interior's National Park Service, said the compilation is the latest in a series of publications on travel and recreation in the nation's parks. "This is a pocket guide for getting away for a while to share in the majesty of our natural environment," Hartzog said. "In it are both rules and suggestions for the public's enjoyment of trips by horse-back, foot or canoe into the primitive areas of our national parks."

"Back-Country Travel in the National Park System" is available for 35 cents per copy from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402, under catalog number I 29.9/2:B 12, stock number 2405-0267.

Emergency Funds Expected

Emergency loan funds are available, applications are being taken, and more money has been requested to combat the serious effects of the drought which grips Texas, Lynn Futch, State Director of Farmers Home Administration, said today. President Nixon has asked the Congress to add $65 million to the fund from which FHA finances its nationwide emergency farm loan program, Futch said. The Farmers Home Administration has already made 1503 emergency loans totaling $15 million to farmers and ranchers in Texas to help them overcome the disastrous effect of the drought which has scorched parts of the state since the spring of 1970. Emergency loans are made to enable farmers and ranchers to continue normal operations which have been disrupted by natural disasters. These loans previously were available in 53 Texas counties, and last month, the Secretary of Agriculture increased the number to 235 counties. The impact of the drought has centered primarily in Texas and Oklahoma, but Futch said that emergency loans may be made outside of designated areas to eligible applicants who have suffered severe losses as a result of the drought. Current interest rates on emergency loans are 4 7/8 percent, repayable as soon as possible consistent with the financial ability of borrowers, Futch said. Applications for loans should be made at county offices of Farmers Home Administration, usually located in the county seat town in which the farm is located.

Pork Week Proclaimed May 24-30

Austin--Texans will be asked to consider eating high on the hog, especially May 24-30, as a way to support the Texas Department of Agriculture's Texas Agricultural Products (TAP) program. Governor Preston Smith will sign a proclamation May 18 designating May 24-30 as Pork Week. Texas Pork Queen, Miss Becky Evatt, a Texas Tech student, Commissioner John C. White, and Texas Pork Producers Association President John B. Fair were on hand for the ceremony. Pork Week marks the beginning of the TAP pork promotion for May and June, in which the Texas pork industry is cooperating, Commissioner White said. The total value of swine in Texas increased from $73 million in 1969 to $75.3 million in 1970. The move in pork farms today is toward more concentrated, controlled facilities for combating disease and for more efficient production, Commissioner White pointed out. The High Plains, West Central Texas and the Southern Blacklands are regions that rank high in hog finishing. Feeder pig production in the northeast and east are tops. Texas, with 1,419,000 hogs as of December 1, 1970, ranks number 14 nationally in hog production. The slaughter of more than two million hogs was recorded in 1970. Potatoes were introduced into Europe from America.

Veterans Loan Questions Answered

A special pamphlet for veterans and servicemen who want information about a guaranteed loan for a mobile home has been prepared by the Veterans Administration according to Jack Coker, Director of the VA Regional Office in Waco. The brief pamphlet (#26-71-1) titled "Questions and Answers on Mobile Loans to Veterans," is designed to answer questions often asked about the program which was established last December. Coker said single copies of the pamphlet are available free at all local VA offices. One question the pamphlet answers is "How does a veteran or serviceman go about getting a loan?" The answer: Obtain a Certificate of Eligibility from the nearest VA regional office; find a mobile home of his choice which meets VA standards; arrange for rental or purchase of mobile home lot; apply to a lender for a loan. Another question: "Who is eligible for a mobile home loan?" Answer: Servicemen on active duty, veterans of World War II, the Korean Conflict, and those who served after January 31, 1955, if they are entitled to VA's maximum $12,500 conventional home loan guaranty. VA Pamphlet 26-61-1 also provides answers to such questions as where a mobile home can be located, maximum loan amounts and terms, general specifications for mobile homes, interest rates, and other questions about mobile loans.

Ray Joe Riley Attends Cotton Conference

Keeping as perfect as humanly possible an imperfect system of grading cotton was the primary purpose of the Universal Cotton Standards Conference attended by Ray Joe Riley of Hart, Chairman of the Research Committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and Paul Bennett, PCG Secretary-Treasurer.

The Conference is held every three years to examine and approve "key sets" of the Universal Cotton Standards for use in this country and abroad during the next three years. In attendance at this year's Conference in Memphis, Tennessee, were over 200 cotton officials and industry leaders from 10 overseas nations and the United States.

Foreign countries that are signatories and were represented at the Conference include Belgium, England, France, Germany, Italy, India, Japan, The Netherlands, Poland and Spain. In addition to these, representatives of producers, spinners, shippers, exchanges and other segments of the U. S. cotton industry were present and took part in the work of the Conference.

Pursuant to the Universal Cotton Standards Agreement, first effected in 1923, all signatory associations examined and approved key copies of the Universal Cotton Standards to be used as the basis for trading American Upland cotton throughout the world for the next three years.

The "First Reserve Set" of standards approved at the 1968 Conference have since been sealed in the National Bank of Commerce of Memphis, and the Special Committee to Safeguard Standards almost ritually escorted this First Reserve Set to USDA's Memphis Cotton Division office May 18.

The 1968 set was opened that afternoon and matched to Key Sets of Standards for 1971, with opportunity for comments and suggestions from all delegates. A First Reserve Set, a Second Reserve Set, a Special Working Set for USDA and Key Sets for Signatory Associations were selected. Each Key Set contains a "biscuit," or standard cotton sample, representing the characteristics of all U. S. cotton grades.

Opening remarks for the Conference were by S. C. Rademaker, Director of USDA's Cotton Division. Addresses were heard from Dr. Clayton Yeutter, Administrator, USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, and J. Dukes Wooters, Jr., Executive Vice President of Cotton Incorporated.

While the Conference delegates took no action on the matter, a demonstration was given of quality measuring instruments now being evaluated by the Cotton Division and there was much discussion of instrument classing of cotton and the problems related to the standardization of cotton classification.

Bennett and Riley reported wide agreement among delegates in discussion periods that the presently used system of classing and pricing cotton by staple, grade, color and micronaire does not adequately reflect the end-use value of the fiber.

Riley said, "We often ask spinners to tell us precisely what fiber properties they want. But they can't give us a realistic answer because of the vague relationship that exists between the 'green card class' and cotton processing performance. And mills won't be able to give precise answers to our questions until sound, scientific, repeatable measurements are developed that include all properties necessary to the accurate prediction of fiber performance in the production system."

"Hopefully," Riley concludes, "in years to come we will see the Universal Standards Conference evolve into a forum for modernizing cotton evaluation techniques rather than a gathering for the approval of standards to be used in a highly imperfect system."

HEAD TWIRLER FOR 1970-71, Marian Dawson, was presented a gift of appreciation for her outstanding leadership by twirling companion, Connie Kelley, during the high school awards assembly.

It's Roundup Time In Texas

Probably the only things outnumbering the 1,800 4-H Club members at the Texas 4-H Roundup June 2-3 at Texas A & M University will be their talents and hopes.

The 4-H members will come from every part of the state to compete in over 30 contests and demonstrations. State 4-H officials say that about 600 adults including county and assistant county Extension agents, adult 4-H leaders, friends of 4-H, contest donors, and members of the board of directors of the Texas Youth Development Foundation will attend the Roundup.

All members attending the Roundup have already been named county and district winners in their demonstrations and judging contests. State 4-H leaders say that only those members who have won first or second place in district competition are eligible to compete in the state contests.

Following the first general assembly on June 2, awards will be presented to individuals, businesses and mass media representatives who give strong support to 4-H work. The awards will be provided by the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation and presented by T. Louis Austin, Jr. of Dallas, Foundation Chairman.

One of the special activities of the Roundup is an adult leader recognition luncheon where those giving strong support to 4-H will be honored. The Texas 4-H Council Roundup Committee will also meet. On June 3, a 6:30 p.m. banquet will honor contest winners and recognize contest donors.

Rewa Walsh, Miss Teenage America 1971, from Anaheim, California, will be the featured speaker. She will speak "America the Beautiful--Seen Dimly Through the Smog."

A 10-member choral group, "The Polyfoniks", from Temple High School will perform at the banquet and later at the Share-the-Fun program.

State leaders add that the Roundup is one of the oldest statewide 4-H gatherings in the nation and traces its beginning back to near the turn of the century before 4-H officially became the youth phase program of the Cooperative Extension Service.

The total number of farm operators and unpaid farm family workers on U. S. farms in 1970 declined six per cent from the previous year.

Livestock Breeders Can Obtain Tax Relief

Livestock breeders can obtain additional tax relief by virtue of the present drought under an obscure section of the Internal Revenue Code announced Congressman Bob Price in Washington recently. Price issued a statement after obtaining a legal opinion from the Internal Revenue Service on the issue. The IRS opinion stated that if livestock held for draft, breeding or dairy purposes were sold or exchanged because of drought conditions, the sale or exchange constituted an involuntary conversion. Tax on any realized gains can be deferred for two years after the close of the first tax year in which any part of the gain is realized.

The Texas lawmaker pointed out that eligibility for postponing the tax on a rancher's gains was based solely on whether the livestock was sold or exchanged on account of drought conditions affecting water, grazing, or other livestock maintenance needs.

"A livestock breeder could take advantage of the deferred tax," Price commented, "to the extent he used the gains realized from the forced sale to purchase similar livestock within the two year grace period provided under the Internal Revenue Code."

A certain parakeet amuses visitors with this simple pronouncement: "I can talk. Let's see you fly."

Individuality Important In Home Accessories

It's the age of individuality, especially in home accessories, announces Mrs. Jan Slabaugh, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist. By using a few well-chosen accessories, Mrs. Slabaugh says that you can spark a room with personality.

Several trends are showing up in home accessories. Ethnic and handcrafted items, as well as chrome and plexiglas, remain popular, the specialist notes, while bronze, brass and pewter finishes are focusing into attention. Wall tapestries and hangings, which create a focal point in rooms and entries, are also gaining popularity. Candles continue to be popular, especially with the young.

To retain an individual look, Mrs. Slabaugh suggests mixing the old with the new -- combine antiques, vinyls, plexiglas, chrome and other new finishes. For example, mount original wooden plates, which were once used for printing wallpaper, in chrome frames for use in picture groupings.

Creating harmony in a decorative scheme requires careful planning, she cautions. Choose and place your useful accessories first, then add others. Use only accessories that serve a purpose and are of good design.

To determine if an accessory has a good design, study the lines of the item. They should be simple and relate to the object's over-all shape. The lines should carry the line easily from one part to another, and the various shapes of these different parts of the item should be in good proportion to one another.

Antique shopping often helps the consumer find unique accessories. But one visit isn't enough; search in several antique shops and flea markets for that special object which stamps your personality on a room, Mrs. Slabaugh adds.

GOVERNMENT AND SPEECH AWARDS presented Thursday went to Scott Lee, World History; David Bradley, Speech; Joe Rivas, American History; and Becky Littleton, Civics.

Attractive Gardens No Accident

There's no foolproof plan for growing an attractive garden, but soil preparation, fertilization, watering, and the use of good plants are some practices that can help, according to Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist.

Garden soils should be loose and friable to prevent crusting during dry spells. Janne recommends digging up the soil and working in plenty of sphagnum peat moss. A layer of three to four inches should be applied over the bed and worked into the soil to six or eight inches.

Fertilizer should be mixed in when preparing the flower bed at the rate of two to three pounds of complete fertilizer per 100 square feet. Janne notes that a proper fertilizer should have an analysis of 8-8-8 or similar type. He adds that light monthly applications during the summer with thorough watering after each application will insure large plants with ample flowers.

Janne also pointed out that young plants must be thoroughly watered at transplanting time. Plants should be watered regularly except during rainy periods. A thorough soaking every five to seven days is better than a light daily application, according to the landscape horticulturist.

Gardeners that take advantage of the new and better varieties will be rewarded with more flowers and brighter color throughout the season, Janne said. He also warned gardeners against trying to save seed from the new hybrid lines since the results are usually disappointing.

We know that in everything God works for good.

—(Rom. 8:28).

To keep our thoughts on the goodness of God, to know that wherever we go we find this good, leaves no room in our mind for doubt or fear. What a blessing we can be to our family and friends if we help them feel that no matter what they have to meet they go to meet their good. Our faith will encourage and strengthen them.

Wrought Iron Furniture Popular Anyplace

Wrought iron, used for some of the first outdoor furniture, is now mass-produced for use both inside and outside the home, reports Jane Berry, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist.

Wrought iron furniture, also called "all-weather" furniture, is often made with expanded metal mesh table tops, chair seats and backs, finished to match the frames. The mesh permits ventilation and enhances the comfort of seating and lounging pieces. Snap-on foam-filled cushions in a variety of vinyl patterns are also usually available for seating pieces.

When shopping for wrought iron furniture, check for smooth welds at joints and at points where decorations are fastened. Good quality wrought iron carries a guarantee against rust; a touch-up repair kit should also accompany the furniture.

The all-weather furniture comes in a variety of baked-on enamel finishes, ranging from pale colors to darker tones, such as bronze and black.

Wrought iron furniture demands periodical care to preserve its original appearance. It should be hosed frequently or washed with warm water and a mild detergent, then rinsed. In salt-sit areas, frames should be washed, rinsed and dried at least once a month to prevent corrosion.

For touch-up work, rub scratches or rust spots with steel wool and apply a metal primer coat. Use touch-up paint on chipped or scraped spots to seal breaks from rust. An annual coat of automobile paste wax helps preserve the color of the finish.

Consumers Want to Know
BY MARGARET SPADER
Director of Consumer Affairs
National Association of Manufacturers

What are the advantages of microwave cooking?

Speed is one of the important advantages of this unique energy. An apple will bake in 2 minutes, a potato in less than 4 minutes. Roast turkey and beef can be cooked to perfection in less than half the time required in conventional ranges. Airlines and restaurants find the method very practical. There is less food shrinkage and moisture and flavor of foods are retained. The oven has no baked-on grease; so it's easy to keep clean.

Can TV dinners in foil trays be heated in microwave ovens?

Metal utensils reflect energy waves and prevent food from heating. A few manufacturers of larger units suggest that frozen dinners may be heated in their shallow pans. The use-and-care books with each range point out what can and cannot be used.

Are microwave ovens safe?

Manufacturers have built a variety of safety devices into current well-known brands of these ranges. These include an indicator light when the oven is operating and two or three separate interlock shut-off switches in the door. These enable the oven to be turned off the instant the door is opened. Most ovens will not operate unless the "on" switch, the timer, and the cooking button are all activated. In addition, reputable manufacturers carry UL and FCC approval.

New Nylon Yarn Ends Static In Carpets

A new modified nylon yarn promises to end the annoyance of static electricity in carpeting, announces Jane Berry, Extension area housing and home furnishings specialist.

Static electricity is caused by frictional contact that generates a charge. This charge, in turn, produces a tingling and often painful sensation as one walks across a carpet of synthetic fibers. The charge may be as great as 12,000 to 15,000 volts with conventional nylon carpeting.

The new modified nylon reduces the charge to a level low enough to eliminate shock, the specialist points out.

A method for eliminating static electricity in carpet has long been studied by manufacturers. One approach, called the humectant method, involved the development of a fabric finish to fiber additive. This method, however, failed to function at low humidity. Metallic filaments were then added to the fabric, a process that proved more effective than the humectant method but limited the range of colors and construction.

Effective for the duration of the carpet's life and enabling unrestricted design possibilities, the new modified nylon offers a more complete solution.

According to manufacturers, the new modified nylon yarn can be used in all styles, constructions and colorations of carpeting without detection. The fiber's anti-static properties are not reduced by vacuuming, shampooing, spot cleaning, scouring or high traffic abuse. Such resistance is due to the anti-static properties which are built into the fiber itself.

The new carpet yarn not only eliminates static electricity, but also enhances bulking and coverage properties. In addition, the new yarn can be used in all constructions, ranging from level pile to patterned top-sheared and even shag. It also comes in all colors - plain shades, space-dyed and printed designs.

GOVERNOR PRESTON SMITH last week signed into a law a bill giving Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White the duties of regulating the use of the famous TAP (Texas Agricultural Products) symbol. Present for the signing ceremony were Clemon Montgomery, State Representative Charles Jungmichel, Governor Smith, State Senator Charles Herring and Commissioner White.

White To Regulate TAP Symbol Use

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White was given the duties of regulating the use of the now famous TAP (Texas Agricultural Products) symbol in a bill signed into law Monday, May 17, by Governor Preston Smith.

The Texas Department of Agriculture initiated the TAP program in 1968 and has energetically promoted Texas agricultural products since; but prior to the new law Commissioner White could regulate use of the TAP symbol only as it was used on eggs and their containers.

The new law signed by Governor Smith in Monday's ceremony directs: "The commissioner of agriculture by rule shall regulate the use of the 'Texas Agricultural Product' and any symbol connected with that term in the selling, advertising, marketing, and other commercial handling of food and fibers products."

Any person who violates rules governing the use of TAP as promulgated by the commissioner is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction is punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200, according to the new law.

Commissioner White said that the TAP program is trying to make all consumers -- especially Texas consumers -- aware of the fact that Texas agricultural products are "first in quality, economy and availability."

The TAP program promotes Texas foods and fibers throughout the year, using newspapers, television, radio, billboards, direct mailings, in-store placards, displays and banners, and demonstrations.

The new law gives Commissioner White the authority to prohibit use of the TAP symbol on any products that are not Texas produced and that are not first in quality, economy, and availability. White urged producers to apply for and use the TAP symbol on their packages to take advantage of the promotional assistance his department is giving.

Europe's Oldest Bed Is Unearthed

Archeologists unearthed the oldest wooden bed in Europe recently while excavating an ancient Greek town on the Aegean island of Thera. The wooden bed was only five feet long and covered with a double layer of leather stuffed with padding. Actually, all the material had long since crumbled away, but its form was perfectly preserved. While the discovery on Thera proves that even 3,500 years ago people were looking for comfortable beds and a good night's sleep, it also proves they had a long way to go. Compare a modern king-size bed with the Thera discovery: The kingsize bed measures 78 inches wide and 80 inches long, and is more than three times as roomy as the ancient bed. Instead of a double layer of leather, it has two box-springs for support. And the thin layer of padding is a luxurious six-inch-thick latex foam rubber mattress in the modern version. The foam rubber mattress never needs turning, and in effect is a single huge cushion. General Lee and Grant fought on the same side in the Mexican war.

Farmers May Lose Part Of Cotton Payments

Original regulations of the 1971 cotton program decreed that farmers who lost cotton crops after the normal cotton planting season would lose a third of their cotton payments if the same land was replanted to another crop for harvest or if they chose to use the "failed acreage" as set-aside.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and other producer spokesmen objected to this provision on the grounds that producers should not be penalized for hailstorms, sandstorms, drought or other phenomena over which they have no control. And the ruling is now being softened by new regulations which permit the payment reduction to be waived in certain cases.

Generally, the new rules say payments are not to be reduced if a farmer can convince the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee and a representative of the State ASCS Committee that he has made an honest, conscientious effort to plant and produce a cotton crop and has been prevented from doing so by the elements.

County ASCS offices have now been instructed that "A reduction of the price support payment will not be required if (a) the crop is not planted because of adverse weather conditions in an area designated by the Secretary as a disaster area, or (b) a standing crop is entirely lost due to a sudden, violent natural disaster such as a hurricane, tornado, hailstorm, sandstorm or flood."

Other conditions which must be met under the new directive to prevent payment loss are (1) the disaster must continue through or occur after the end of the "normal planting season," (2) the producer must request "prevented planting or failed acreage" credit in sufficient time for a representative of the County office to visit the farm to confirm evidence of the natural disaster, and this must be done before crop remains, if any, are disturbed, and (3) the request must be approved by the County ASCS Committee and a representative of the State Committee.

The "normal planting season" varies from area to area, and specific dates beyond which producers will not be required to replant failed acreage to cotton have been assigned for each of the cotton growing counties in the State.

Of the 25 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, the end of the normal planting season for purposes of administering these regulations will be: June 1 for Bailey, Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock and Crosby; June 10 for Motley, Borden, Howard and the area below the Caprock in Briscoe; June 15 for Terry, Garza, Yoakum, Lynn, Gaines, Dawson, Martin and Midland; and June 20 for Garza County.

OUR DISTINGUISHED SENIORS enjoyed sharing Cokes and goodies as a class of very proud and happy students when they were honored by the staff of the Citizens State Bank with a Coke Party.

Disease Losses May Be Less In Cotton

Initial research shows that cotton produced in narrow-rows may have the edge over cotton in conventional 40-inch rows as far as disease losses are concerned.

PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson quotes one ASCS official as saying "It has never been our intention to penalize farmers who are hit by natural disasters, nor do we intend to make full cotton price support payments to a farmer who doesn't do everything within his power to produce a crop."

"Losses from both seedling diseases and Verticillium wilt may be minimized in narrow-row cotton production," believes Dr. Earl Minton, USDA plant pathologist at the Texas A & M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock.

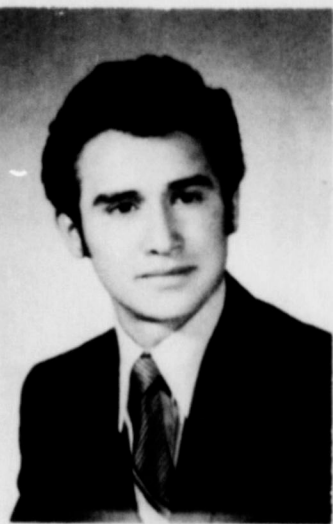

"Since narrow-row production is aimed at shortening the growing season, cotton can generally be planted a couple of weeks later than with the conventional method of production," he points out. "This allows for better environmental conditions at planting so that seed germination and seedling growth will be improved. A healthy, vigorous seedling is less susceptible to seedling disease. Also, a planting rate of four to six seeds per foot of row will allow plants to be spaced further apart in the row. The wide spacing will reduce the spread of seedling disease from plant to plant."

Narrow-row production also features cotton plants that are short in stature with medium to light boll loads. Early maturing varieties that have shorter fruiting periods and less fruit per plant should reduce losses from Verticillium wilt, explains the pathologist.

In soils where wilt is a serious problem, Minton feels that narrow-row cotton "can get the jump" on the disease. "Wilt is usually mild during the summer months at which time narrow-row cotton is making rapid growth. The crop should therefore reach maturity before wilt sets in."

In narrow-row cotton studies last year, the incidence of Verticillium wilt was a key item under investigation. A highly susceptible cotton variety was planted in 8 and 16-inch rows. Wilt infection increased as soil moisture levels were increased. However, increasing plant populations from 80 to 320 pounds per acre had little effect on the incidence of wilt.

"We think a big plus for the production of cotton in narrow-rows could be the reduction of losses from Verticillium wilt," points out Minton. "Of course, we are continuing an extensive research program to study this particular area of production more fully."

Reading Certificates went to 250 elementary students who had read the necessary amount of books. First graders were required to read ten books; second and third graders, 15; fourth graders, 20; fifth graders, 25; and sixth graders, 30. Students in the fifth and sixth grades were required to read certain books and specified authors. Each student who read more than the required number of books received a sticker on his reading certificate.

My Neighbors

"I know I speak for the entire staff when I say we're delighted to have your account and we look forward to working with you in all your money problems in the days and years to come."

Cain Honored At Banquet

Hollis Hudson Cain, Jr. of Springlake was among members of the 1970-71 Ranch Management Program class of Texas Christian University honored at the recent banquet and graduation ceremony. Speaker for the 15th annual graduation fete was Dick Whetsell of Foraker, Oklahoma, manager of the 90,000-acre K.S. Adams Ranch and author of a published study of pasture and range plants used across the nation for reference. Graduation certificates were presented by Dr. W. Earl Waldrop, TCU senior vice chancellor.

This year's Ranch Management class included persons from Kansas, Florida, Montana, New Mexico, Texas and Venezuela. The unique nine-month program of intensive classroom study and travel some 9,000 miles to ranches, feedlots and ranch-related businesses was established in 1956 and tailored especially for men who will make their living from ranching or livestock farming for themselves or someone else.

Lake LBJ Stocked With Channel Cat

The stocking of 200,000 channel catfish in Lake Lyndon B. Johnson heralded the beginning of a recovery period for the Hill Country reservoir. The lake was treated with rotenone April 3-4 to kill existing fish while the water level was low. Now the basin is refilling and restocking efforts by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fisheries specialists should pave the way for excellent fishing in years to come.

JOSH BILLINGS Sez . . .

There is a grate difference between holding a hi offis, or having a hi offis hold us.

The 10-inch-long catfish eventually will be joined by 50,000 more channel catfish, 472,500 black bass, 157,500 white crappie and 472,500 hybrid sunfish. The last fish to be stocked will be approximately 300 large (15 to 30-pound) flathead catfish which were netted out of the lake before the rotenone treatment. Some sportsmen have inquired about restocking of white bass in the lake. Marion Toole, inland fisheries coordinator, said there are two main reasons no efforts are being made to stock that species.

First, he said, white bass will propagate themselves naturally in LBJ because large numbers of them escaped the rotenone treatment by being far up the Llano River on their spawning run.

Second, the white bass so far has resisted efforts at hatchery spawning and must be stocked as adult fish for brood stock rather than fingerling size.

"In addition," Toole noted, "a number of white bass will also get into LBJ by going through the generators at the Inks Lake dam." He said experiments at Lake Texoma in North Texas showed many tagged whites released in the lake were recovered in Red River below the Texoma dam.

Besides, the white bass' reproductive potential is so great that they don't need much help. All the white bass in existence west of the Mississippi River watershed are offspring of a brood stock of 28 fish netted from Caddo Lake in East Texas in 1932 and stocked in Lake Dallas, now called Garza Little Elm Reservoir.

Each female white bass can lay 500,000 eggs each spring, so under ideal conditions a small brood stock can populate a huge reservoir.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Mental illness reaches into every community, however big or small, afflicting one out of every ten persons in the United States. By the same token, the attack on mental illness has to spread out into each and every community, into every setting, rural or urban, where people live.

This kind of job simply cannot be done by government alone, be it local, county, district, State, or national government.

This is not to deny the importance of the official agencies, particularly the mental health and public health departments. The right of our citizens to health and the pursuit of happiness demands that there be public agencies to promote mental health and attack illness, just as there is the right to educational opportunity which requires that there be public schools for the education of all.

But, in our American way of life, there is an essential place and role, a need and demand, for voluntary, citizen-conducted, non-government, non-official health organizations.

In no field is this more significant than in mental health, where the work of the National Association of Mental Health and State and local mental health associations is vital to the total effort and an indispensable component of any community's mental health program.

This is why the month of May—designated as "Mental Health Month"—is worthy of being called to special attention.

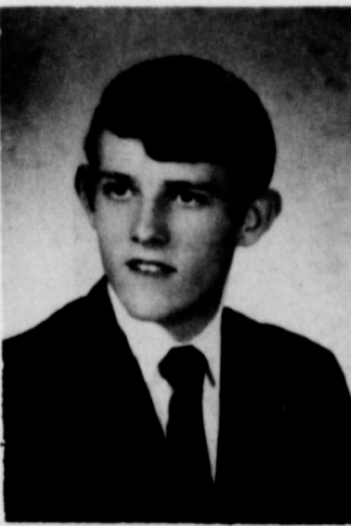

"Open Your Mind, Your Heart, Your Hand to the Mentally Ill," is the theme for the 1971 Mental Health Month.

With such a slogan, the mental health associations' "Month" is more than an ordinary appeal. It asks the individual to volunteer, to join, to take part in mental health work—the wide-ranging activities of his association in his community and State.

The national emphasis this year by the National Association of Mental Health and its affiliates is on membership programs. They stress the theme, "Join Your Mental Health Association."

Normal temperature of a dog is usually about 101 degrees.

As the day of May 31 approaches, members of the 1970-71 graduating senior class, you are preparing to cross a threshold of life.

This mile stone will be passed as graduation exercises are held. It will mark the end of a twelve-year life and the commencement of a new life in a world that knows no bounds or sympathy.

A decision must now be made by each individual student. A decision which can be made only by the student himself -- a decision which will have a dramatic effect on the future.

You have chosen as your motto "THERE IS A PATH THAT IS GONE FOREVER, BUT THE FUTURE IS STILL OUR OWN." As you take this step into the future, we challenge you to take into consideration what the future can hold before you make your final decision.

What do you really want to do? How do you want to spend the future? Are you really prepared to make this decision and face a world of disappointments, joys and the unpredictable?

Who can help make the final decision for you? Where will you find peace and hope when your decision is made? Hope, peace and love will always be found when trust, faith and love in the Lord are upheld. When backs are turned on the simple things the Lord has asked of us, we are closing a door which leads to the most important guide we will ever know. "Knock and the door will open, seek and ye shall find." So simple, yet so difficult without any idea as to which doors should be approached or what you are seeking. Prepare yourself, seniors, know what you want to attain and walk hand-in-hand with God to attain your goals.
