Glory Be!!! A sprinkle Tuesday during the wee hours of the morning darkness cooled Earth off a bit and seemingly encouraged folks to momentarily develop a right goodly portion of energy, vim and vitality lost during the long hot summer months.

If we must select our friends by their tangible goods and position in life, then we may never know the real meaning of true friendship...

The man was more than a little annoyed when a neighbor telephoned at 3 a. m. and complained, "Your dog is barking so loudly that I can't sleep."

The father of a 10-year old boy looked at his pride and joy watching TV with a bored expression on his face.

A tourist pulled up to a curb in a strange town and chanced to ask a fellow seated on a bench in front of the store, "Do you know a fellow with one arm called Harold Peters?"

Parting Thought: This would be a better world if all men displayed as much patience all the time as they do when waiting for a fish to bite.

Rev. Campbell To Conduct Services At Local Church

Rev. R. H. Campbell of Olton will conduct worship services at the First Methodist Church in Earth, Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Albert Lindley, who is on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walker and daughters were in Amarillo over the weekend visiting Mrs. J. L. Walker and Angie.

"I'd say I'm about 35 per cent for it—30 per cent agin it and 35 per cent undecided."

City Okays $120,000 Water-Sewer Bonds

Only 136 votes were cast by city tax payers Saturday, demonstrating a lack of interest in the city bond election that called for a total of $155,000 in a triple bond proposal.

In all three of the bond proposals the voting was extremely close. The largest margin of votes differences were seen in the tax bond calling for $35,000 to be used as the city's part of a paving project to pave 30 streets.

The one calling for $100,000 in general revenue bonds to be used for water works improvements was passed by a margin of only two votes, with 68 votes for the proposal and 66 against.

The general revenue bond calling for $20,000 to be used for sewer improvements passed by a margin of three votes, with votes balloting 69 for and 66 against.

Election officials in Saturday's election were Phil Raught, Election Judge, assisted by Leroy Wilkerson and Minnie Pate.

NEVER IN A MILLION YEARS could one guess the above photo to be the Earth City Park. However, after many hours of work leveling and preparing the grounds for bermuda sprigging, the City Park takes on the new look above.

Sprinkler System Being Installed at Park

City officials met in regular session Monday night and canvassed the votes in Saturday's bond election.

They voted to accept the count of the election officials and passed an election, return ordinance.

A second paving election was discussed by the City Dad, since a small margin of only seven votes resulted in defeating the paving project. The group reached the decision to allow the Chamber of Commerce to assist by securing signatures on a petition requesting another election.

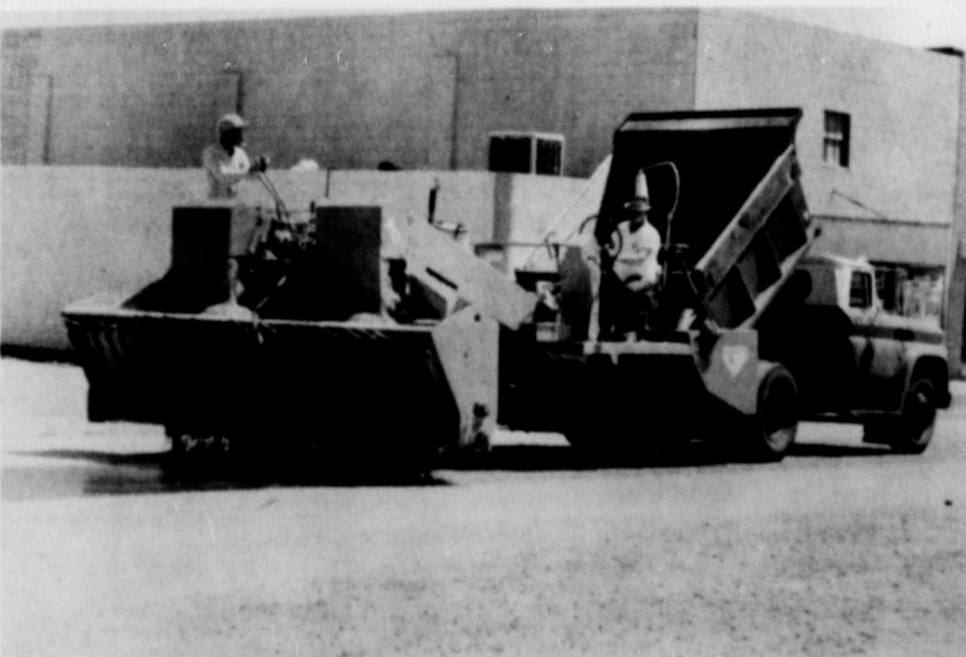

Bids which had been requested recently for the installation of a sprinkler system for the City Park, one bid was submitted and was accepted by the group. The system is to be installed and in operation by August 10.

Several people are involved at the present time readying the park area for planting grass. Anyone who has any common bermuda grass that they would like to donate to the park, is requested to notify Norman Hinchliffe or the City Secretary, as grass is needed to sprig the area at this time.

A vote was also passed to make arrangements with the Citizen State Bank for $2400 to be used for making the needed improvements on the park. This money is to be paid back within a two year period.

Several other items of City business were discussed, but no decisions were reached.

Present for the meeting were Donald Runyon, Dud Chesney, Eldon Parish, Neil Pounds, and Richard Stockstill, aldermen; E. C. Kelley, mayor; Mrs. Ruby Anderson, City Secretary; Andy Stroebel, City Attorney; and Ross Middleton.

MAIN STREET GETS FACE LIFTING JOB MONDAY as the State Highway Department moves in and begins resurfacing Highway 70 through downtown Earth.

EDITORIAL—

IT'S FIFTY-FIFTY

By P. M. M.

Judging from the vote cast Saturday in the City Bond Election one might safely arrive at the deduction that the population of Earth is split evenly, with one half pulling in one direction and the other half tugging away in an opposite direction, while others of the City's populace apparently couldn't care less just which way the pendulum swings.

Whether it is apathy or just desire to hold the City of Earth back as it was in 1924 or thereabouts, is without answer. Doubtless though, if tax payers of Earth would take a look-see at the tremendous effort currently being put forth in an attempt to build Earth into a modern day clean little City, one could not justify turning thumbs down on city improvements.

Two of the bond proposals passed Saturday with small margins of two and three votes, while a third proposal was defeated by seven votes, indicating a 50-50 split. Bringing to view the progressive 50% of the City's population must work as a steering committee to accomplish improvements in Earth.

In another recent push for the betterment of Earth, some of the downtown business places as well as City residents are being asked to clean up their property since the County Health Department has declared various properties a health hazard to the city. This is another indication of the fifty-fifty split for and against cleanliness and progress in Earth.

Remember Earth doesn't owe us a thing but we owe Earth something for having passed this way.

Don Watson Killed Sunday When Struck By Auto

Funeral services for Don Ray Watson, 28, Springlake, were held at 3 p. m. Tuesday, August 2 in the First Baptist Church in Springlake with Rev. Don Larkin officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Troy Walker, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church of Muleshoe.

Morris family of Wichita Falls. The Morris Car, according to Highway Patrolman Freddie Jack, investigating officer, was headed Northwest. Morris told the investigating officer that he dimmed his lights to meet an oncoming vehicle. After passing, he said he flicked his lights on bright and caught sight of Watson standing in the highway. Morris said he veered to the right to avoid a collision, but Watson also ran the same direction.

Interplanetary Trip by Famed Hitchhiker Ending in Earth Today

The famed hitchhiker, De Von Smith, will end his interplanetary space hike when he reaches Earth Thursday following a 13,000 mile trip using only his quarter-million-mile thumb as a means of transportation.

Mayor E. C. Kelley will greet Smith and present him with an honorary citizenship certificate to take to President Johnson declaring the President an honorary citizen of Earth, Texas.

The Earth Chamber of Commerce will give Smith a warm welcome demonstrating Texas hospitality by supplying lodging and food for the road weary traveler, during his stay in Earth.

Smith began his "a foot in space" trip on July 1 at Cape Kennedy, Florida, via thumb-space vehicle headed for the first stop which was Jupiter Florida.

He planned the trip because, as he put it, "the President has been so active through the years on promoting space projects, and I decided to make this trip in his honor."

He planned to obtain honorary citizenship certificates from each town on his space map travel, to present to President Johnson in conjunction with the President's birthday in August. These certificates will be assembled in a beautifully bound album and taken by Smith to Washington, D. C. for the President.

Included in his interplanetary trip were the cities of Jupiter, Florida; Sun, Louisiana; Mercury, Nevada; Venus, Texas; Star, North Carolina; Pluto, West Virginia; Moon, Virginia; Neptune, New Jersey; Apollo, Pennsylvania; Mars, Minnesota; Ceres, New York; and Earth, Texas.

Smith made a similar space trip, ending it on July 19, 1955 in Earth, Texas, where a big area-wide celebration was held.

The Earth-Springlake Mets were defeated 3-2 in a close play off game Thursday night at Floydada.

Floydada scored first and took a 3-1 lead which continued into the last inning.

The Mets never ceased trying, and after loading the bases in the last inning and scoring one run, they made the final out of the game which left the local team short one score to tie up the game.

Possessed By Possessions

Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer

Young married couples used to try "to set up housekeeping" with what they could say grace over. Since they were young, just beginning, and vibrantly in love, they didn't expect the Taj Mahal the first week. In fact, they didn't want it. They were so exhilarated with themselves that multiple possessions were superfluous. As life expanded, an income increased, and as children came, they would expand, too. But they were not lost in the diabolical shuffle of acquisition, of adjusting to the so-called mandatory level of a specific strata of society.
Today, many young couples are forced to believe that they have to have everything from a two-car garage, to a swimming pool, to a cabin cruiser, before the front door is opened. They can hardly see each other for the endless stock, and the care and maintenance of these possessions is utterly absorbing. They have nothing to look to or build for, save for the exchange of current possessions for the ones that come out next week.
And few ever possess all of these things. Instead, they are possessed by their possessions, and this treacherous captivity relates to matters other than devastating mortgages and installment payments. But that's why many couples of 30 seem to be over worked equipment foremen. Yet, the powerful compulsions to adjust to community level are hard to resist. Many of the young prefer to be overwhelmed with numerical misery, and be like everyone else, rather than to say, "This is our only life and we will live it the happiest, most useful way we can."

The Meaning Of Advertising

It has been truthfully said that economic and political liberty live or die together. By the same token, a free press cannot exist without private enterprise and neither private enterprise nor personal liberty can exist without a free press. If statements such as these seem dogmatic, academic or trite, the pages of the nation's newspapers, periodicals and other publications tell a different story.
In columns of advertising, investor-owned enterprise, big and little, seeks the patronage of the public. A national news magazine recently carried a full-page advertisement over the signature of the president of a major investor-owned electric power system. The purpose of the advertisement was to call attention to the opportunities for industrial development in its service area.
The power system in question is one of the most progressive in the country, but it is not alone in its drive to develop markets and expand its services to the benefit of the community. Thousands of taxpaying enterprises are pursuing the same course in every section of the United States. Their business-promoting efforts are reflected in the thousands of pages of advertising that we see every day in our hometown papers and magazines--advertising that tells of new products, expanded service and new opportunities.
It is well worthwhile to think of these things when plans are put forth to extend government in business. Socialized industry does not need to advertise because free choice in the marketplace is gone. The customers are captives of a state monopoly. And in countries where socialism is total, the press consists of a few official organs.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER NINE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1966.
SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 26 proposing an Amendment to Sections 4 and 5 of Article V of the Constitution of the State of Texas to provide for a Court of Criminal Appeals of five members; prescribing their qualifications; elections, appointments, tenure of office and compensation; and prescribing the term of court of said court.
BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:
Section 1. That Section 4 of Article V of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:
"Section 4. The Court of Criminal Appeals shall consist of five Judges, one of whom shall be Presiding Judge, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of three Judges shall be necessary to a decision of said court. Said Judges shall have the same qualifications and receive the same salaries as the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court. They shall be elected by the qualified voters of the state at a general election and shall hold their offices for a term of six years. In case of a vacancy in the office of a Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, the Governor shall, with the advice and consent of the Senate, fill said vacancy by appointment until the next succeeding general election.
"The Judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals who may be in office at the time when this Amendment takes effect shall become Judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals and continue in office until the expiration of the term of office for which each has been elected or appointed under the present Constitution and laws of this state, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.
"The two members of the Commission of Appeals in aid of the Court of Criminal Appeals who may be in office at the time when this Amendment takes effect shall become Judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals and shall hold their offices, one for a term of two years and the other for a term of four years, beginning the first day of January following the adoption of this Amendment and until their successors are elected and qualified. Said Judges shall by agreement or otherwise designate the incumbent for each of the terms mentioned.
"The Governor shall designate one of the five Judges as Presiding Judge and at the expiration of his term and each six years thereafter a Presiding Judge shall be elected."
Sec. 2. That Section 5 of the Article V of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:
"Section 5. The Court of Criminal Appeals shall have appellate jurisdiction coextensive with the limits of the state in all criminal cases of whatever grade, with such exceptions and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.
"The Court of Criminal Appeals and the Judges thereof shall have the power to issue the writ of habeas corpus, and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, issue such writs as may be necessary to enforce its own jurisdiction. The Court of Criminal Appeals shall have power upon affidavit or otherwise to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the exercise of its jurisdiction. The Court of Criminal Ap-

COVER CROP of rye seeded for soil protection and improvement is seen on the Fred Albus Farm 6 miles southwest of Littlefield. This farm is under the Plains Conservation Program.

Use Cover Crops To Save Soil

A cover crop consists of a small grain, such as Rye or Barley, or a winter growing legume, such as Vetch or peas, or a combination of small grain and legume, usually interseeded in the middles of a cultivated crop. A cover crop such as the one shown above, of rye interseeded with cotton should be seeded after the last cultivation is completed. This will insure the cover crop of adequate time to make sufficient growth prior to the harvesting of the cultivated crop. This will provide adequate protection against wind erosion. Cover crops can be interseeded with a cultivated crop by using a regular grain drill with part of the discs removed, or with a special built inter-row seeder or broadcast with a whirling type seeder at the same time the last cultivation is performed.
Cover crops tend to serve two purposes: (1) they provide a protective vegetative cover for the land during the winter and early spring months against wind erosion and (2) they maintain or improve the physical, chemical and biological condition of the soil. Technical assistance can be obtained from the Lamb County Soil Conservation Service.

Texas Highway Needs Study Released By THD

Austin--Texas will need to invest more than one-half billion dollars a year in new highway construction by 1985 to keep pace with the growth of the state, a new study released today by the Texas Highway Department predicted.
The forecast was contained in a 24 page brochure entitled, "The Great Challenge... Texas Highway Needs." The report is based on projections made by planners in the Department.
By comparison, construction expenditures in Texas in 1965 were $348 million.
A highway system to meet the challenge of the future requires active, alert public support, the brochure said. It also requires sound, adequate financing.
"The public should be alert to any attempt to divert or disperse any current highway revenues," the report warned.
It added: "The failure, even by one day, to fulfill the obligation to build better, safer highways will be costly in human life and suffering. The economic loss is irrecoverable."
The report pointed out: "A vibrant economy produces its own problems. Population growth, the rapid urbanization of Texas, the increasing number of motor vehicles and the complexities of modern society compels constant vigilance."
By 1985, the brochure noted, Texans will drive a total of more than 77 billion vehicle miles each year, compared with 52 billion vehicle miles rolled up in the state in 1965. Vehicle registration will more than double, from 6.2 million to about 14 million in the next two decades.
To keep pace, the State-maintained highway system is expected to grow to a total of 79 thousand miles. Presently 66.5 thousand miles of highways are under State maintenance.
More significant, Highway Department planners said more miles of high-type highways will be needed to carry ever-increasing burdens of traffic. In the next two decades, 17 thousand construction miles of new freeways should be built, including traffic arteries on new locations and conversion of older, conventional roads to freeways.
In general, all existing highways will require one reconstruction and two resurfacings before 1985. All bridges built prior to World War II will require replacement.
The report notes the role of the highway system in the unprecedented growth and development of the state during

Luci Baines Johnson's Wedding to Pat Nugent Expected to be Largest in Whitehouse Since 1906

When Luci Baines Johnson marries Patrick J. Nugent this August 6, it will be the first marriage in a president's family since the administration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt; and the first such marriage to take place in Washington since the time of Woodrow Wilson. FDR's children engaged in six weddings during his years in the White House but none occurred in Washington and only two were of the scale contemplated for the Johnson-Nugent nuptials.
John Roosevelt married Anne Lindsay Clark June 18, 1938, at Nahant, Mass. The bride's relatives were staunch Republicans, and researchers for World Book Encyclopedia note that some friends of the family declined invitations to the reception.
Mrs. Clark had planned for 400 guests, but received White House requests for 550 invitations, most of which were accepted. At the reception at the Nahant Tennis Club, guests consumed 500 bottles of champagne and food which had been prepared under the close supervision of the Secret Service.
Franklin D. Jr.'s wedding to Ethel de Pont on June 30, 1937, was undoubtedly the wedding of the year. The du Pont family tended to be very anti-New Deal, and newspapers of the time compared the wedding to the romance between Romeo and Juliet. But the wedding, at tiny Christ Church at Christiana Hundred, Del., was a big, big one.
Another big wedding took place in the White House November 25, 1913, when Jessie Woodrow Wilson, the president's daughter, married Francis Bowes Sayre. About 500 persons attended, including members of the diplomatic corps, many in brilliant uniforms; members of the Supreme Court; Congressional leaders; and cabinet members. The Marine Band played the tango "and other up-to-date music."
The marriage of another of Wilson's daughters, Eleanor, to Treasury Secretary William Gibbs McAdoo, was far more subdued, possibly because McAdoo was a widower.
Wilson himself became the third president to marry while in office on December 18, 1915, when he married Edith Bolling Galt about 16 months after the death of his first wife, Ellen. The wedding party was limited to family and close friends, and World Book researchers say there was no best man nor maid of honor. The evening ceremony occurred in the home of Mrs. Galt's mother.
Perhaps the most famous First Family wedding took place in the East Room of the White House on February 17, 1906, when Alice Roosevelt married Nicholas Longworth, a Republican congressman from Ohio and a future speaker of the House.

"Princess Alice," as she was known, was a favorite of the press, and her wedding gave reporters plenty to write about. Some 1,000 American and European dignitaries attended. Alice Blue, a color which had been named for the bride, was favored among the guests' clothing.
Gifts included a mosaic of a Vatican painting from the Pope, a chest of rare silks, embroideries and ivory carvings from the Empress of China, a diamond and pearl pendant from the Emperor of Austria, and 63 matched pearls with a diamond clasp from the new Republic of Cuba.
"Princess Alice" gave the press something extra to write about when she borrowed a sash to cut the wedding cake.
Another opulent wedding occurred May 21, 1874, in the East Room, when Nellie Grant, only daughter of the president, married Algernon Sartoris of the British legation.
There have been many other First Family weddings--President Grover Cleveland marrying his ward, Frances Folsom, in the Blue Room in 1886; President John Tyler sneaking off to New York for a secret marriage to Julia Gardiner in 1844--some gaudy and opulent, some not revealed until after they had

My Hawaiian And Western States Tour

By Myrtle Clayton

Mrs. D. C. Lindley, Mrs. I. T. Shatwell, Sr., Mrs. C. V. Walden, Mrs. R. O. Edwards, Mrs. J. R. Coon, of Littlefield, Mrs. Myrtle Clayton, Springlake, Mrs. Jewell Bankston, Tylertown, Miss. Miss Theodora Distefano, New Orleans, La., and Mrs. Zella Yowell of Standford, Kentucky, left Littlefield on July 2 for a trip to Los Angeles and on to Hawaii. The first night was spent at Windslow, Arizona, and the next morning the group visited the Sunset Meteor Crater National Monument located twenty miles west of Windslow. This natural wonder is one of the most interesting spots in northern Arizona. The Crater is 570 feet deep, and more than 4,000 feet across, and was formed about 50,000 years ago by the fall of a huge cluster of meteorites. The Astronauts have already made intensive studies of the Meteor Crater that they will be prepared to recognize and cope with similar geologic features they are expected to find on the moon.

Travelling downward to the semi-desert of the red rock country we crossed Oak Creek Canyon with its ever-changing display of natural beauty, into the Verde Valley which lies across the main highway between Prescott and Flagstaff, Arizona. This area has acres and acres in irrigated production of hay, grain, and fruit, also, the trading center for this huge cattle raising area, and poultry raising center, reminded us of West Texas.

Jerome, Arizona, America's largest "Ghost City", established as a State Historic Park in 1965, is perched at the base of the famed Cleopatra Hill and climbs up that steep come's Eastern slope, with the Black Hills range of which towers the Mingus Mountains as the rugged sentinel in the background for the one time Billion Dollar Copper Camp. A City of 15,000 it is now a community of less than 300 people and a fascinating history.

Arriving at Blythe, California Sunday night, the beginning of the Mojave Desert Country, Sand, the Joshua Trees, and cactus greeted us the next day. Well what do you know!! The fabulous Palm Springs in the desert, saw Swiss Chalet, Alva, and all types of beautifully constructed motor lodges owned by actors, even a Saks Avenue Shop--also homes of Movie Stars in the neat by canyons, Banning and Beaumont Hill orchards, the date oasis around Indio, and on to Los Angeles. A former Texas couple extending California hospitality were the Lyle Brandons of La Puente. Mrs. Lyle Brandon is the sister of Travis Jaquess, and was president of the Lamb County Red Cross for several years. Not only was the red carpet rolled out for this group of ladies, but a Turkey dinner with all the trimmings awaited us. The Brandons should receive a medal for bravery, patience, and endurance for being hosts to nine women, eating, sleeping, bathing, and dressing. This can, of course, be as destructive as the Hurricane Carla.

Waiting at the Los Angeles AirPort for Mrs. Zella Yowell, who was to join the group for the trip to Hawaii, we met Dr. and Mrs. Bill Armstead and their son and daughter of Littlefield. This was our second nice away-from-home experience. The Armsteads were returning from Hawaii, all tanned and smiling. Enjoyed a good ole fashioned gossip session that night around the Brandon table.

We visited Marine Land and Disney Land, and left Tuesday for Hawaii by Pan American. How lucky we were to have had our reservations on the only air line that did not strike, and lucky again to have the Pent House at the Reef Hotel. The Hotel is situated in a four acre coconut grove fronting on the center of Waikiki Beach. When our plane landed at the Honolulu air port we were given Orchid leis and the customary Hawaiian Aloha.

The first night in Honolulu we were scheduled to attend our first Luau, the main meat for this Luau was Kalua pig, cooked with hot stones and covered with banana leaves in an underground oven, the famous Polynesian pai, made of mashed taro root which is terrible tasting. We also had coconut, pineapple, rice, and fish cooked and arranged in different ways. Island entertainers presented songs and dances of the South Pacific.

Some of the popular Island songs are "The Hukilau Song", "Keep Your Eyes on the Hands", "My Waikiki Girl" and "To You Sweetheart Aloha", and they are very pretty.

Of course, you want to know about the Hula. The Hula is the Hawaiian folk dance, every movement and motion has a meaning of its own, it was sacred and religious in theme in its beginning to the natives, and dates back to the coronation ceremony of King Kalakaua in 1883. It was used to excite the warriors before battles. Having no written language, the Hawaiians used Hulas and Chants to teach History and Customs. The knee length skirt fashioned of bark was the earlier garment, later when the missionaries came they persuaded the women to wear the Mother Hubbard dress with ruffles around the high neck and long sleeves.

As the Westerner invades the Islands, their influence is changing the natives. Today the Muu Muu is the most popular dress, as the shift is here and the grass skirt has its place of importance, as do the orchid leis.

The Island of Oahu is the Capital Island. It is the business, cultural and political center of the Islands, and is the most densely populated of the Islands, and Honolulu is the Capital City, here is the University of Hawaii, and Monoa Valley with its beautiful homes and tropical flowers and trees, also Islani Palace only Throne Room in the United States.

The International Market Place is enjoyable. It is true Hawaii, you can browse for hours, ask questions, take your shoes off and carry them in your hand, and relax and enjoy the Aloha spirit, shop and eat and drink and relax some more.

Emergency measures prevented us from taking the Pearl Harbor tour, where we were to have seen Battleship Row, the historic battleships U-S-S, Arizona and Utah, and the site of the Arizona, Memorial Monument; however, we did

Road Grass Lures Deer To Car Path

Austin--The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, noting some recent car-deer collisions, has suggested that Texas motorists be unusually careful while driving through the big game country.

Reports to the Department were said to indicate that deer have begun to seek new grazing areas along highway shoulders because of restricted food on the ranges.

This is considered a major menace by safety authorities since deer-car mishaps run into the thousands in Texas every year.

The danger to human life is obviously serious. Property damage runs into countless thousands of dollars and the loss to wildlife is described as beyond estimate.

Incidentally the State, by legislative act, cannot be held liable for any hazard to human life on property.

The Department said that while there is occasional daytime hazard from deer grazing on highway shoulders, the greatest danger is at night. This, they noted, is because headlights blind the animals.

"Instead of running from danger," said a spokesman, "deer many times grope right into the path of speeding cars."

Safety authorities have sought a solution for this problem.

One suggestion that has not moved to a final stage is to dim the headlights. A more extreme idea was to switch lights all the way off to dim, to avoid the danger from blinded deer.

BEAUTIFUL PEACHES are shown by Gladys McCord, picked from their one acre orchard in Earth Monday morning. Several of the branches are beginning to brake from the weight of the peaches.

We toured the Dole pineapple cannery, largest fruit cannery in the world, the Royal Hawaiian Macademia Nut Company of Honolulu, world's leading grower of macademia nuts, also Hawaii is second largest producer of Cabana brand bananas.

We also toured the Liana perfumery, where they challenged our sense of smell in Liana's "Odor Identification Contest", and some of the ladies were real smellers and gave Texas a good showing.

We visited the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific which was dedicated on September 2, 1949, comprising a total of 112 acres, it is the largest in area of three national memorial cemeteries supervised by the U. S. Army outside the continental limits of the United States. The cemetery contains the remains of 13,000 World War II dead, and is known as Punchbowl Crater National Memorial Cemetery as it is located in a large extinct Volcanic Crater. We saw Ernie Pyle's grave here.

Traveling on to Kahoolawe, called the Isle of Death, we did not land on this island, Kahoolawe is a deserted, barren island used by the armed forces for bombing and gunnery practice, in the days of Hawaiian Monarchy, it was a penal colony.

On the island of Hawaii, are some of the most spectacular lava flows, Mauna Loa, world's largest volcano, we could look down from the plane and see active volcanoes.

At the Air Port of Hilo, we were conducted on a tour of an orchid and anthurium nursery.

Hawaii is the Orchid Island and is the largest island, having 4,030 square miles and a population of 57,222 and is 148 miles from Honolulu. Its beaches of velvet black sand, wet green valleys, plunging waterfalls, millions of precious flowers, thick jungle growths, barren lava deserts, grassy plains, dense forests, snow-mantled peaks. You name it, it's here, including unbelievable Fern trees, and great sugar plantations.

Maui, the Valley Isle, here you view the pageant of waterfalls along the waterfall coast. Waleakala, an impressively formed dormant volcano, is Maui's highest elevation and one of the island's chief sights. Its summit crater towers 10,025 feet above the sea, is 3,000 feet deep and 20 miles from rim to rim. It was once the capital city.

Molokai is the friendly Isle and is the most primitive and unspoiled of all the major inhabited islands. To the visitor who seeks Polynesian life as primitive as any to be found in Hawaii, a flight to Malakal is a must. The inhabitants here carry on daily activities much the way they did in the early days. It is 52 miles from Honolulu. Here you see ranching Hawaiian style, and also the Kalaupapa Leper Colony is located here.

Kauai is the Garden Island. It is the oldest of all the inhabited islands of Hawaii.

PEACHES, PEACHES, PEACHES and more peaches can be seen around the Pat McCord vineyard. This has been one of the finest years for peaches in years, with no insect damage, and no hale damage as yet.

and the first on which Europeans are definitely known to have set foot in 1778, when Capt. James Cook sailed into the Pacific to discover the islands. It is famous for its beautiful rainbows, the Spouting Horn, Valley of the Last Tribe due-inspiring Waimea Canyon, deep ravines, many of them populated by wild game and native birds, Kauai boasts of the only Navigable rivers in Hawaii, its rushing mountain streams are stocked with trout.

Niihau, here we viewed by plane the Forbidden Island, the last stronghold of old Hawaii with its group of pure Hawaiians unexposed to the world. Niihau is 18 miles long, 6 miles wide, with a land area of 72 square miles, and a population of 254. It is 98 miles from Honolulu.

We took a Smith's boat ride up a river in Kakuai, the pilot was a lady and as they say (no weekie, weekie) no hurry, and they do not hurry. They furnished entertainment as our boat went up river. On this trip we saw the Bell stove, sounds like a bell but doesn't look like one. It was used by the King to call his people together. We visited the Fern Garden, and saw the Ferns growing up side down, we saw Fern Gratto.

Back again in Honolulu, trying to avoid missing anything and yet so much to see. We toured the Waioli Tea Room, sponsored by the Salvation Army. Governor Burns lives in the queen's house, over 100 years old.

The Eucalyptus Tree, the guide says is an Internal Revenue tree (u-clipped-us). We saw the huge pink Estate of Henry Kaiser, there were wide tin bands around tree trunks about 10 feet from the ground, this is to keep rats from climbing up in trees and building nests. At first we thought they were decorations.

We saw the Blow Hale, a famed sea-water geyser whose action is caused by waves pounding into a castle cavern. We also saw the boys and girls reform school, only the high-way separates them, the boys school on the left and the girls on the right. We drove through the Wilson Tunnel, Mr. Tunnel was the chief engineer. He graduated with President Hoover.

We awoke early and went down for a dip in the ocean, breakfast and were ready for a tour before most people were up, Saturday morning. We toured the Monkey Pad Tree Factory, so many beautiful and expensive articles are made from this wood. The better dress shops are Liberty House and McKinley of Honolulu. We visited in the only permanent Hotel Chapel in the world on the second floor of the Reef Hotel, we enjoyed the service.

There are five T. V. Stations in Honolulu. Wheat is imported and milled here. There are no regular trains, only small ones on the pineapple plantations. The largest shopping center in the world is located here also. As to hair styles, they are sort of easy styles, straight and long, long and straight. These people are very friendly people, dark and lovely.

Sunday morning we attended the University Baptist Church with Bill McCord of Earth and Brenda Perkins of Littlefield, who are attending the University of Hawaii this summer. The pastor, Ernest Moseley, was attending Glorietta this week and had written his church and a part of it had been printed in the church bulletin as follows: "The Hawaii group has been introduced, interviewed, photographed, and quizzed. The Leis that are brown and dry still adorn the tables in Oklahoma Hall. The anthuriums in the auditorium have been rubbed and pinched by a thousand hands, and we have been asked to wear aloha wear for several special occasions." What a surprise, as I looked up and saw Mr. Sam Choy coming into the pulpit. Didn't know whether to sit there and grin at him or go put in a long distance call to Wayland College and tell them I had found Sam Choy. Sam, who besides being a member of UABC is also director of Cooperative Church Department of the Hawaii Baptist Convention. Brother Darrel Truitt, Music Director of the University Baptist Church took us on a tour of one local Baptist Association, which gave us a view of Baptist work in Hawaii.

We met Dr. Edman Walker, President of the Hawaiian Baptist Convention, also the first appointed Japanese Baptist Missionary who came to Hawaii in 1956. The First Baptist Academy started in 1949 by missionary students, located here is a private school, their tuition is the only means of income, and this is $300 a year. We found their pastors and workers are quite busy. Brother Truitt teaches at the academy in the day and is Youth Director at University Baptist Church. He preaches on call, is vice moderator of the convention and coaches five Baptist Youth Soft Ball Teams.

We also visited in the Chapel of the Episcopal Church, visited the Oahu State Mormon Tabernacle in Honolulu, the Hawaiian Temple is very beautiful, but of course we were not permitted to enter it. Brother Truitt took us to see the Sato Zen (Buddist) Temple of Hawaii. This beautiful temple was established in 1913. As we looked at the statue of Buddha, altar, curtains, and vessels we saw they were all carved and wrought in fine leaf gold, we just didn't know so much gold was in existence. The flowers, candles, incense, Buddhist Rosary, the Gang, the Lotus, the Buddhist Flag, all of these symbols of Buddhism were beyond anything we had seen, as to color design and arrangement, they even had bags of rice near the altar. They were preparing for their annual Bon service week. At this time they pray for the dead, all visitors were invited to attend. By this time, we were all getting so tired as we had been on the go from early until late since we had left home. We just didn't know but what they might get a chance to say a prayer for us. Leaving the Honolulu International Air Port, looking down on the blue green coastal waters, we left our 50th State to return to Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Brandon and Dr. and Mrs. Robie, formerly of Littlefield met us at Los Angeles. There was still more to see so Mrs. Brandon and Mrs. Robie gave the next two days of their time to show us around.

Forest Lawn Memorial Park was first on schedule, here the sweeping vistas of green lawns, tree shaded hills, the sculptured marble, and the beauty of fine architecture are undecipherable, the sparkling fountains, bronze, memorial tablets set level with the lawn, formal Forest Lawns, Paris, and give

Turkeys Make Debut in Robertson County

Franklin--Turkey hunters, 1975 model, could benefit from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's recently organized Red Oak Turkey Restoration Area in Robertson county, a part of the Trinity-Brazos Game Management Survey section of Texas.

The area involves some 23, 999 acres in seemingly good turkey habitat, with 25 land-owners participating.

March of this year saw four gobblers and four hens trapped from the Lower Neches Turkey area. One gobbler was lost in transit, but the seven wild birds were released on Red Oak and high hopes prevail for survival and successful reproduction. The Ingram Ranch on the Navasota River was the liberation site.

Miss Judy Durham of Brownfield, spent the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sanders as a guest of Pruda Kay. She was Pruda's roommate at Hardin-Simmons University during last year.

My Trip

memory not only to the departed but this is also a center of culture and spiritual service to the living. Forest Lawn Mausoleum, with its fine collection and memorial art and sculpture is one of the most impressive shrines of memory in the entire world. Also the Hall of Crucifixion, massive, steel re-inforced structures enshrining America's largest religious paintings, the three most vital moments in the life of Christ, "The Last Supper", "The Crucifixion", and "The Resurrection", as these are presented on the huge stage with accompanying music and narration it leaves a lasting impression.

We saw the Hollywood Bowl, the world's largest natural amphitheatre, home of world famous "Symphonies Under the Stars" with a seating capacity of 20,000. The standard expression in the film capital is "Meet me at the corner of Hollywood and Vine", now we know just exactly what they mean, for we have been there.

Thursday found us on our way to Universal City, boarding the Trains we rode in to film land, with a Universal Studio guide. He explained the unusual sights, we saw giant sound stages, Lana Turner's dressing room, indoor and outdoor sets, man made lakes, water falls, exterior streets and villages of New York, Europe, the Far East and the Old West. We came up twice where they were actually filming a picture. We saw the remains of bombed out cities, jungle section, little beaver's home, etc.

A make up artist there selected a lady from the audience and gave her a complete face over haul job. It's wonderful what a grease and paint job will do for a woman.

Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town were fun from Old MacDonald's Farm to Jungle Island. We went to Grauman's Chinese Theatre, world famous, "Foot print Forecourt", where the greatest stars "Leave Their Marks", in the fresh cement for the generations of visitors to enjoy. The structure of Grauman's represents an oriental pagoda. We shopped and looked in Little Ole Mexican Town.

After good byes, promises, thanks, and even tears, we left the Brandons and Mrs. Robie and started for Arizona.

First stop here was Yermo, California, to Calico Ghost Town. They say this famous old Western Ghost Town has come to life again, we believed it after counting our money when we left. There's the old general store, battle house, school house, Boot Hill, and the Maggie Mine.

HARVESTING CORN seems to be a pleasure for J. I. Davis and Bruce Higgins. The corn stands some 10 feet tall and of excellent quality. It was grown in the Davis garden.

We went on to Boulder City, to Hoover Dam where the world's largest hydroelectric installations are located. The cost of this Dam approximately 175 million and is being repaid over a 50 year period, the reservoir, Lake Mead backing up 115 miles behind the dam is this hemisphere's largest man made reservoir. It attracts more than 3 million visitors each year for swimming, boating, skiing, and fishing.

We stayed at the Desert Inn in Las Vegas, saw "Hello Dolly" starring Betty Grabel and "Hello America." "Hello America" is the first patriotic production to receive an academy award, the last scene with America's Historic personalities and Shrines, the symbol of Freedom, the Statue of Liberty made the audience feel the need of preserving this freedom.

Sunday we arrived at Grand Canyon, the world's most spectacular illustration of erosion, the combined action of a great river, of rain, and wind. The Canyon is 217 miles long, it is 4 to 14 miles wide and a mile deep, with the mighty Colorado at its bottom, rushing to the sea. We watched the mule pack descend the Canyon on Bright Angle Trail, sure didn't envy them as I had done this some years back.

We enjoyed the Indian dances held outside El Tovar Hotel, looked around in the art room and gift shop, look in all we could do, by now our funds were getting low and the cars were loaded with all the junk we had not planned to buy.

The Petrified Forest was our next stop, the most colorful parts of the painted desert are included in the Petrified Forest National Park. Petrified wood in varied colors is lying on the ground, some fragments and small chips, some are great logs of Agate and Jasper. Geologists say the forming of the Painted Desert is of the same age Water-deposited layers of volcanic ash into the thin layers of shale and sand stone forming a clay called bentonite, minute quantities of iron oxide have stained the soil many shades of red, blue, brown, and yellow, and that is why the painted desert is ever changing its quality of color.

By the time we reached Clovis everyone was thinking the same thing, Mexican food. Food is one thing we always agreed on, as we drew near home we agreed it had been a wonderful trip, and we also agreed that Lamb County is a good place to live.

Licenses Consigned To Agents

Austin--New hunting and fishing licenses will be mailed to licensed dealers in all 254 counties of Texas at a new record early date, it was announced by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The licenses are not good until September 1, beginning of the new fiscal year, according to a Department spokesman. Also, the old licenses will be distributed through approximately 2,500 dealers, mainly stores featuring hunting and fishing equipment, as well as many bait stores.

The Department said the "sportsmen's credentials" will be in the hands of the agents well in advance of the new fiscal year to preclude any necessity for hunters and fishermen having to line up. Individual fishing licenses cost $2.15 for both residents and non-residents. Resident hunting licenses cost $3.15.

Non-resident hunting licenses cost $25. A special $5 Five-day non-resident license entitles the holder to hunt migratory birds, for five consecutive days, mainly waterfowl and doves.

The license is popular, the Department notes, with visitors patronizing the Rio Grande Valley white-winged dove harvest in early September and with duck and goose hunters who come from distant mid-west areas in late November and December.

There are many resident and fishing exemptions as described in the Department's official hunting and fishing guide but basically persons 17 years of age and under 65 must have the regular state licenses.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall and family moved into the Jack Rylant home Monday.
