HOURS FROM 6 TO 9 P.M.

Town-Wide Moonlight Shopping Bonanza Slated Thursday, December 14

A Moonlight Shopping Bonanza is scheduled for Thursday, Dec-ember 14 in Earth, The threehour event will begin at 6 P. M. and continue until 9 P. M.

Merchants in Earth have united in a combined effort to give patrons of this area one of the biggest events in the history of Earth. A town-wide sale with bargains galore in every firm. To go along with the noliday spirit of giving gifts, several merchants in town will give away free gifts during the threehour event. At press time Wednesday several merchants had called to say they were giving away free gifts. The value of these free gifts had been estimated at over $100.00 early Wednesday afternoon, Shoppers in the area will be met by hometown merchants and their staff, who will aid them with gift selections for every member on the Christmas gift list.

Bargains galore will be found in local firms in Earth, In several instances many items will be marked below cost. This is the way Earth merchants have of showing their appreciation for local patronage during the Local firms are getting ready for the big event. Among those with their specials ready to be published in next weeks paper are Pounds Pharmacy, Whites, Earth News-Sun, Taylor Furniture, Earth Tire and Supply, Wolverine Drive In, Earth Cleaners and B and W Super Market, Several other merchants will be included in next week's issue when a complete account of the big Moonlight Christmas Sale will be pub-

The event in some ways will be simular to the recent Moonlight Madness Sale, in that local merchants and their personnel may be garbed in night-ies. Area folks are invited to join in the Moonlight event by dressing in like manner.

Chamber of Commerce Discusses Several Items of Business

A city meeting was held Mon-day night, Dec. 4. Present were Mayor E.C. Kelley, Secretary, Betty McAlpine, Aldermen, Eldon Parish, Dud Chesney, Doug Parish, Neil Pounds and Bill Bryant; Water

During the morning session.
M. E. Kelley told the group that the recently erected sign near Hereford, indicating the number of miles to Earth, was placed past the turn off to Earth. It was the opinion of the local Chamber that the sign would better inform tourist of the distance to Earth if placed before the turn off. Mr. Lewis was appointed to contact the engineer, Mr. Smith, to see if the sign could be relocated.

The group discussed the idea of local merchants providing a free movie at the Earth Theatre each Saturday. They also discussed the type of movie that would be desirable. No concrete action was taken and the idea was tabled until a later

The group discussed the metal tags for cars bearing the inscription "Earth, Texas", which have been in the Chamber office for a lengthy time, due to the fact they do not fit properly on the late model cars. used on later model cars, Those present were president Neal Pounds, Harold Miller, M. E. Kelley, Edwin O'Hair, Henry Lewis, Doug Parish and Perry Martin,

Six local members of the Chamber met during the afternoon coffee Friday and discussed various conditions in Earth.
Kenneth Boone, manager of the Western Ammonia Firm in Earth was present. He told the group he had discussed the possibility of growing sugar beets in the Earth-Springlake area with a couple of men who grow the possible of the proper for Holly Sugar in sugar beets for Holly Sugar in Hereford, These men, he said, growing sugar beets required lots of water. Boone told the group it required only one more watering than was required for growing maise.

Sugar beets could be raised in the Earth-Springlake area with Holly as buyers, if 10 farmers from the area would go to Hereford and show interest in growing them. Boone said,
"You will find Holly Sugar willing to install a leg or flat storage in the area if at least 3,000 acres could be secured for sugar beets. He told the group that it was customary to dig all the sugar beets in the vicinity, when they started digging. He went on to suggest that farmers might want to go together, as some farmers in the Hereford area had done, and buy their own digger. He said four men did this and paid for the digger in one year.

Boone felt that sugar beets could boost the economy in the sense there was no limit on the acreage that could be used for growing sugar beets.

ling by pushing modernization of streets, parking facilities, curbs and sidewalks. Some towns

Texas still have curbs designed for horse and buggy days. Nothing looks worse than grass and weeds growing up through cracks in downtown sidewalls, but it's easy to find towns where nothing is done about this. Improved parking fac-ilities will bring more shoppers back into the downtown. Improved parking and traffic flow will spur individual merchants to make improvements on their buildings to keep up with the revitalized interest in the downtown

So You Want Industry -Heres How, Point I

Community betterment sounds like a catchall phrase... and it is. Industrialists today are much like homeowners when selecting a new location. Amenites such as schools, hospitals, parks, and even symphonies are increasingly more important.

Industry today is more footloose than ever before, no longer tied so closely to natural resources, but rather to the consumer. Because of this, more and more industries are locating plants or expanding facilities in relatively small towns where living is satisfactory, where land costs and taxes are not so high, but where big markets can still be served.

There may be a dozen or a score of smaller communities in the same radius around a major market, each of which could serve an industry's purposes in terms of land costs, taxes, utilities and water, with very slight differences. So how does an industry choose?

The same way that you would choose between homes of the same price: on the basis of at-tractiveness, cleanliness and neighborhood schools, churches, and other advantages. In the final analysis, it will be the total environ ment that your community offers that will make the difference between landing or losing new

How does a community go about starting a program of betterment?

Probably the best answer is that it starts with the formation of an industrial Development Committee. This is usually a function of the Chamber of Commerce, with the support the City Council, It must be a group of "doers".

At the outset it is important to realize that this is not an overnight project, or a one-month, or a year's project, but a CONTINUING project that may show results in five years or may-

Once an Industrial Development (Or I, D.) Committee has been formed, and the term nature of the project is understood, first to your downtown area. This is both the heart and the face of your town. Even though Several items of business was discussed Friday morning when directors of the local Chamber as cotton used to, Boone told as cotton used to, Boone told the group.

on the light as look at the downtown area first, he will sociate it with the name of your town, and a drive along main street will make the most lasting impression he will receive.

The I. D. Committee can start the ball relationship modernization of streets, park-

The Junior Chamber of Commerce can, as a project, influence the owners of vacant buildings in the downtown area to let them fill the street windows of these buildings with mer-chandise and colorful advertising displays from various retail stores in the vicinity, on a seasonal basis. Chamber members can also get a volunteer work crew together to paint and spruce up vacant buildings that need it. Thus these buildings will appear occupied and attractive to visitors, and will serve a useful display function for downtown merchants.

Hopefully, with this type of activity going on under the guidance of the I. D. Committee, individual merchants and property owners will be influenced to make overdue renovations of their shops and offices. Wonders can be worked on the appearance of Main Street some of the new-design aluminum facades that are available, some wider espanses of glass display window, paint, and perhaps a ew front door.

Once organized activity is underway, the suggestions for facelifting will be plentiful. Some other good ideas are:

Remove old rotting ramshackle, deserted buildings that have served no useful function for years. In most Texas towns, you can see these old eyesores, often right on the main highway into town. Put these eyesores to work....as

Look at the entrances to your town on major highways, the railroad station or the air field. What sort of greeting have you put out visitors? Has the sign marking your city limits been there for thirty years? Try mak -ing your city limits sign a bright, cheerful greeting. Ask someone from the garden club to volunteer maintenance of some land-scaping at this point. Think of a welcoming slogan that means something about your city visitors will remember like the pride of all who live here".

Of course, there is much more to the concept of community betterment than putting a new face on Main Street, or painting the old courthouse, or removing the deserted shacks, or planting flowers around the city limits sign. These are all good specific things to do for a start, but the leaders must look deeper.

There must be a long range plan for the city, with goals and working committees to see that these goals are pursued. Consideration must be given to zoning, adequate housing, recreation facilities, health and sanitation, educational facilities, police and fire protection. Certainly all of these things will be looked at care fully by an industry that considers locating in

And are not all these ideas for betterment ideas that you would want to implement in your community anyway-regardless of new industry? Of course, they are.

Literally millions of extra dollars have been laid out by mills and merchants for the Plains' early harvest of "quality"cotton.

Growers have been paid from $10 to $75 and more per bale above set loan values for cotton of known variety, preparation and reputation.

More cotton buyers have been found working "cotton row" and gin offices on the Plains than at any time since 1960.

The government's offer to take cotton into Commodity Credit Corporation stocks at fixed minimum prices, in in-dispensable tool for orderly marketing in recent years, has been virtually ignored this

Cotton has moved, as it was intended to do, directly from the hands of the producer into the hands of the people for whom he produced it.

This has been the happy situation to date, November 28, 1967. Whether this market and these prices will hold or adeven until these lines have the chance to be printed, is a ques-tion few will attempt to ans-farmer and President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is one of the many producers fortunate enough to plant and harvest cotton with the necessary quality to command premium prices.

But Anderson is convinced that higher prices are not the most important aspect of this year's return to an active cotton market on the Plains. Here, intact, tain variety, it must be that are his comments.

The big question is whether these buyers will be back in varieties. 1968 and 1969 and the years that follow, or whether 1967 will prove to be a one-shot bonus, and that's a question we ourselves can't answer.

The tight supply situation this year actually forced buyers to come to the Plains to fill though we had told them through PCG and other means that we were making an all-out effort to upgrade the quality of our production, if there had been nple cotton elsewhere, most of them probably wouldn't have

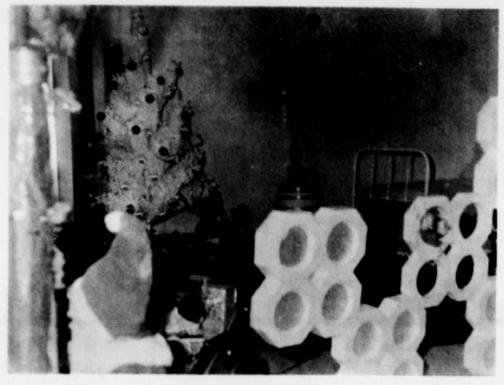

"Fortunately, I think we have proven to them that we can grow the kinds of cotton they want to buy. With careful production and harvesting practices and by ginning in blocks to maintain varietal purity we have given them thousands of bales of cotton they can depend on to meet their spinning spec-ifications for a wide range of "The mills should be, and I think they will be pleased with most of the cotton they buy from the Plains this year.

But in future years we will not be able to count on tight supplies or shortages to drive buyers to our door. Buyers will have to be lured to this area, many instances from other sections of the cotton belt, by a reputation for producing true quality cotton. And that repuquality cotton, tation must be built rapidly and strongly on the slight start made this year, because we certainhaven't presented such an age in the past. "Producers, ginners and mer-chants alike, if we are to have continuing markets, will have show the highest degree of integrity. When a bale of cotton is represented as of a cervariety or a mixture of two spinning frame.

"And when it is known that cotton was falsely labeled by producer, ginner or merchant, next year's cotton from that gin or merchant -- and eventually cotton from that area -- will be a drug on the market. We may never again see the day when cotton can be grown at a profit for the government loan. I doubt that we will. So all that is left is to produce "It appears now that 1968 production will no more than equal the demand, and we will have a second opportunity to prove our ability to grow and market a quality, dependable product, "I don't think we can afford to miss that opportunity.

AUSTIN -- State crackdown on loan abuses in the home improvements field is steadily widening.

Comsumer Credit Commission - as a result of November 11 elecer Frank Miskell issued show cause orders against 16 home improvement firms and 16 in-dividuals, alleging they are lending money at illegal inter-

Orders applied to firms in Houston, Dallas, San Antonio. Kingsland and Fort Worth.

These cease and desist orders were but the initial step which will be followed by other legal actions as part of our com-prehensive program to protect Texas comsumers from abuse in the field of home improve-ment contracts," Miskell said. Companies and personnel were directed immediately to stop any activity in violation of Texas' Regulatory Loan Act or new Consumer Credit Code. Practices complained of include cash advances on home improvement loans (primarily for debt consolidation) as an inducement for contracts at interest rates over 10 per cent. Some interest rates, an aide to Miskell said, range from 18 to 24 per cent.

A Houston finance company has filed suit in district court here, challenging Miskell's authority under the Regulatory provement contractors.

Wolverettes Take Friona Tournament, Also Sundown

continue down the paths of the victorious as they conquered the Friona Invitational Tournament and Tuesday night de-feated a strong Sundown team in the Wolverine Gymnasium, Starting out against Muleshoe in the opening rounds of the Friona Tournament, the Wolverettes experienced no difficulty as they bested the Mullettes by a score of 66 to 33. Marsha Dawson was high pointer with 33 in that affray while Susan Britton had 21 and Vicky Gregory nine. In the second game, the Wolverettes found the going a bit tougher as they faced a determined and fired-up Dimmitt team, and had to play their game of the season to come out on top. At the sound of the fin-al whistle, the score was 78 for the Wolverettes and 72 for Dimmitt, and the score is indicative of the type game played. Neither team ever had a comfortable margin as it was 27 to 24 at the end of the first quarter, with the Wolverettes on top. At halftime, it was 43 for Springlake-Earth and 37 for Dimmitt, only six points separating the two teams.

At the end of the third, Dimmitt had managed to pull to within three points again, as the score was 58 to 55. The fourth quarter, indeed the final whistle, decided the game as the six points margin pro-vided the difference between victory and defeat for the Wolverettes. Susan Britton canned in 33 points in this game, as Dawson had 29 and Vicky Gregory had 16. In the finals of the Tournament, Springlake-Earth met a well - coached and seasoned Spearman team, and once again the game was closer and tougher than the score might indicate, Springlake-Earth was victorious with a 64 to 50 score, but found the pressure on them throughout the entire game. Dawson was high in this game with 25 points, as Gregory poured in 20 and Britton followed with 19.

The enormity of the problem is to be seen in the fact that some 112,000 persons lost their lives in the past year in acci-

In the rest of the United States, by way of comparison, the latest Census Bureau findings point to a median age of 27, 7. In the State of Texas it is now 25.4.

The change that has been taking place in the makeup of the population had its beginning in the years following World War

II, the figures show. In the five years between 1946 and 1951 alone, a record-breakin total of 18 million babies were born. Thereafter, until 1957, the birth rate continued high. Most recently, in most parts of the country, it has dropped considerably from the postwar

However, it has remained sufficiently high, relative to the mortality rate, to have caused a natural increase in population (births over deaths) in the period of five years. Locally, this in-
