Thieves Take $3000 In Household Items From Armstrong Home

Thieves entered the Orbic Armstrong home near Earth recently and made off with household items valued at $3,000. The thieves were said to have taken everything from steak knives to the television set.

The Armstrongs were away on a 10 day fishing trip when the theft occurred. They returned home Thursday night and discovered their home to be ransacked and practically everything that was moveable was gone.

They notified the Castro County Sheriff's Department and Deputies, Granville Martin and A. H. Smith investigated the robbery. Working with the Castro County Lawmen are Deputy Sheriff, V. L. Smith Jr. of Earth, and Parmer County Deputies.

Among the items listed as stolen were blankets, pillows, ladies clothing, television set, steak knives, watches, iron, shot gun, vacuum cleaner, an electric mixer, and all types of pots and pans.

Items Discovered From Recent Parish Robbery

Several pieces of clothing and other items were discovered Friday by a Texas Highway Department crew as they were working near a caliche pit, south of Earth near Plant X.

The crew gathered the loot together, not knowing where it belonged, they took part to Littlefield and the Lubbock Police Department to be identified and returned to its rightful owner.

V. L. Smith Jr. of Earth, said he was now in possession of several items and they are definitely items taken from the Gus Parish home in a recent robbery. He is awaiting the arrival of other items from the Lubbock Police Department. However, after comparing list with the other Police Departments, Smith says, he feels certain many items will still be missing.

700,000 Families Farming Tobacco

Tobacco growing is a last stronghold for the traditional "family farm" in the United States, a top official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Tobacco farms have shown a gain of 21,000 in number since 1919, while nearly three million other farms—about 45 per cent of the total—have disappeared, says Stephen E. Wrather, Director of the Tobacco Division of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

From 1919 to 1961, the number of U.S. farms dropped from 6.5 million to 3.8 million, he writes. Tobacco farms increased in number from 496,000 to 517,000.

These tobacco farms support about 700,000 families, says Wrather. His estimate is based on acreage allotments, some of which support several families.

Wrather, writing in "Tobacco News," predicts a continuing decline in the total number of farms and says "fewer and fewer families will earn a living from the land. However, the historical place of tobacco in American agriculture is expected to remain stable."

children, 30 great-grandchildren and 5 great-great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Gooch, Mr. and Mrs. Guy F. Kelley and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Seay attended funeral services and returned home Sunday night.

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Camera Buffs

As an emergency sky filter when taking outdoor photos, use one lens of your sunglasses.

Be sure glasses are clean, and the F-stop has been adjusted to take care of light density.

Breaking In Footwear

Breaking in your outdoor shoes is important.

You should do this far in advance of any camping or fishing trip you intend to make.

First, buy footwear plenty large for your feet, allowing for foot swelling.

Put them on and hike a couple of miles the first few days, three the next several days, and so on, until you are doing five miles per day.

Finally, with footwear on, stand in water four or five inches deep for 15 minutes. Allow shoes to dry while on the feet so that the leather will be formed to fit your feet.

Protecting Boat From Damage

Boats often are damaged at temporary camps, due to wave wash from passing boats and skiers, or light storms.

To guard against this damage, lay several small logs (6 or 6 inches in diameter) at the water's edge, parallel to the water edge. Then place two or three logs back of them and you have a good temporary ramp.

Then every time you come ashore pull your boat out of the water and onto the log ramp.

Drying Waders

New uses for the vacuum cleaner are being discovered every day.

Now, ingenious fishermen have come up with an idea that shoes, boots, and waders can be dried in a few seconds by attaching the vacuum cleaner hose to the exhaust setting, then inserting the hose end inside the footwear and turning on the power.

Flashbulb Fishing Corks

These days most fishermen carry a camera and flashgun with them on fishing trips. When you snap flash pictures don't throw away the used bulbs. Save them. They make great fishing corks.

No matter whether you use M5's, Press 25's or the little M2's, the bulbs are easily attached to the line by the grooves. With the little M2's three or four split shot used as sinkers are ideal. Use more sinkers with the larger bulbs.

Unangling "Birdsnests"

Monofilament that stubbornly resists finger picking when you get a "birdsnest" in the line usually yields to a toothpick.

Use the round kind with tapered ends.

Carry a few of these toothpicks with you when you go spin fishing.

Seldom do you get such a bad line tangle that you can't free it with this useful little stick of wood.

Use Reel As Rod-Winder

Rods need attention once in a while. Especially the windings.

You probably won't do too much rod-winding, but when you do, be it in an emergency job, or just in the general order of repairs, your spinning reel will make a mighty good rod-winder.

Add to the line on your spinning reel enough thread to do the job at hand. Clamp reel to your bench and slip the thread behind the bail. Set the anti-reverse. Then set the tension to whatever you like.

Add Split Shot To Hooks

Fishermen can eliminate a lot of line-twist trouble by attaching a split shot to one of the treble hooks on the spinner lure.

By doing this they also increase casting distance by many yards.

Size of split shot used depends on the size of spinner. The larger the lure of course the bigger the shot.

When Outboards Get Wet

One of the greatest gripes on a fishing trip is when your outboard motor gets drowned out by another boat's wake.

For just such emergencies carry a small quantity of carbon tetrachloride with you at all times. Then, should your ignition system get wet, whether from immersion or just plain water condensation, pour a little of the solution over the plugs and connections.

It's not dangerous to use and it dries out the ignition system pronto.

Keep Grasshoppers On Ice

Here's a new wrinkle that very few fishermen have tried. Live bait anglers, who use grasshoppers as bait, should store the critters in a refrigerator overnight so they will be stiff. This makes them easy to stick on the hook.

A few minutes' exposure to the sun, or warm fishing waters, will bring the hoppers back to active life.

Easiest Thing To Forget

Foll 99 out of 100 campers and they will say that the easiest thing to forget, or lose, is the packet of gas mantles for the camp lantern.

You won't forget this all-important mantle envelope if you will tape one or more of them to the bottom of the lantern base.

It is much better to stick with one or two lures, letting them have the time to make a true test.

But what lures? That's the perplexing problem. Today there are so many artificial baits in different sizes, shapes and types that it confuses the average fisherman.

Most of the better anglers have one thing in common. They concentrate their efforts either on the top, or at the opposite extreme, right on the bottom.

There's a good reason for this thinking. Much of the bass' food supply is concentrated in these regions.

Probably the one big exception is small bait fish like minnows and sunfish. But a hungry bass usually will come to the top to take a frog-looking popper or a worm crawled along the bottom, as readily as he will a perch-type lure.

A lure that operates either right on top or right on the bottom has an advantage over the other lures in that it can be worked at the ultra-slow speed needed to tempt big bass.

Most lures which show up in sporting goods stores have a definite place in fishing. But they are specialized tools and work only in certain situations. Knowing how to recognize these situations requires much experience.

Most weekend anglers simply haven't encountered enough situations to pinpoint clues which will tell them which lures to use.

In this respect water depth is very important. Lures with metal lips are designed to run at certain depths. A lure built to run 10 feet beneath the surface will, for example, be half-way down in 20-foot water, near

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By—Vern Sanford

Most bass fishermen spend too much time changing baits. Drawbacks to the try-one-now, a different-one-later, system are many. But the primary objection is that the lure doesn't get a fair enough test to actually tell whether or not it will produce.

Unless the angler knows the depth of water he's fishing, this type lure will be practically useless.

But if he sticks with the top-water bait or the bottom-bumper, the water depth is not as important. He'll still have his bait in the vicinity where bass hang out.

Only within the past few years have fishermen been able to apply this formula successfully.

It used to be that the only baits which dug deep down, where the big bass are most apt to be found, were those with long metal lips. These baits require a fast retrieve to make them dig deep, too fast to make them really effective on a lazy old bass.

Also they are not too effective at depths exceeding 30 feet, and often the truly big bass are found at extreme depths of 40 to 50 feet.

Lifelike lures made of limp plastic can be worked very slowly, crawled right along the bottom, yet they have enough action to tempt bass.

Many anglers carry two rigged outfits in their boats, one equipped with a top-water lure, the other with a bottom-bumping bait. They try one for 25 to 30 casts, and if by then they haven't inveigled a strike, they switch to the other outfit.

Often it pays off to try the topwater baits for the first couple of hours after daybreak when bass migrate into the shallows to feed on things found along the surface; then use the bottom-bumping baits during the remainder of the day when the fish have drifted back into deeper water.

As to the color of a lure it has been proven that the color shading is more important than the actual color itself. If a person stays with two basic type lures — topwater and bottom-bumping — and two basic colors, light and dark, he'll be right 99 times out of 100.

Herlong, Baker Hit At Defects In JFK Tax Plan

(Special to IPS)

WASHINGTON — Asserting that their tax rate reform program would substantially improve the national deficit situation over the next five years, two members of the House Ways and Means Committee see no such improvement resulting from the Administration's program.

"The Administration's program would cause substantial increase in deficits over the next couple of years with little prospect that the lost revenue would be recouped in this decade," said Representatives A. S. Herlong, Jr., (D-Fla.) and Howard H. Baker (R-Tenn.).

"By contrast," they added, "our program is based on a realistic expectation of full revenue compensation budget-wise from the beginning."

REVENUE GAIN SEEN

Their program would earn its way, Representatives Herlong and Baker insisted, because:

1. It would produce a gain in federal revenue resulting from accelerated economic growth, since the tax-drag on capital accumulation would be removed.

2. It would have a distinct restraining influence on the extent of federal spending in non-defense areas.

The Administration's program would not produce these results, they declared.

"The objection to the Administration's program is not what it does, but what it doesn't do—reform the steeply climbing scales of graduated (personal tax) rates," the legislators said.

"By contrast the foremost objective of our program is to flatten out the curve of graduation."

In a lengthy joint statement Representatives Herlong and Baker offered documentary evidence to show how their legislation was superior to the Administration's program in every area affecting national well-being.

HIGH VELOCITY GROWTH

Under the Herlong-Baker bills every taxpayer would get at least a 25 per cent cut. The present rate spread of 20 to 91 per cent would be replaced by one of 15 to 42 per cent through annual reductions over a five-year period. Corporate rates would be cut from 52 to 42 per cent.

"The dollars so released from taxation would become the high velocity growth dollars of this decade," they pointed out. "They would yield a magnificent return to the nation in economic progress, human betterment and revenues for the federal treasury."

"It is time for confidence in the inherent capacity of our free economy for growth... It is our firm belief that the tax rate reform embodied in our program provides the open road to greater growth and more jobs; less government spending; smaller deficits and the quickest possible return to budget balance."

The Golden Rule is old but it's as good as ever. It hasn't been used often enough to result in any appreciable wear.

Deadly Menace In Your Medicine Chest?

A cluttered medicine chest invites death into your home—especially if there are small children in the family. Most toddlers will eat or drink any substance they can reach, regardless of appearance or taste. As a result, of the 822,000 Americans poisoned each year, more than 300,000 are children under five years of age.

Bauer & Black, in conducting its fifth annual "Clean Out your Medicine Chest" campaign, is urging all persons to protect their whole family by following a few simple rules:

1. Keep all drugs and medicines far out of reach of children.
2. Label all containers and mark prescriptions with date, dosage, and patient's name.
3. Do not keep cleaners or other toxic chemicals in the medicine cabinet.
4. Get rid of all old or unlabeled medicines by pouring down the drain—never by throwing in the wastebasket.
5. Before administering any drug, read the label in a good light.
6. Fasten the day and night phone numbers of your physician, druggist, and poison control center (consult your Public Health Office) to the wall of your cabinet.
7. Safety-check your medicine chest at least twice a year.

Demand For Highly Skilled Workers To Soar Upward

By 1965, demand for highly trained workers will be so great that for every five professional and technical persons there will be seven jobs, according to Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. But, the magazine adds, for the unskilled and for those whose training has gone out of use there will be only three jobs for every five such workers.

An article in the current issue of the magazine reports that persons under 18 or over 45 with no special skills will have a difficult time. "The best guarantee of a safe future is to upgrade yourself, or if you already possess a marketable skill, to be sure to keep it current," the magazine advises.

"At least 10,000,000 adults are studying in a variety of school and nonschool courses. Some are doing it for fun, some for general education. But a good many people at all ages and all levels of ability are receiving specific job training or retraining, and are then helped to find work to fit their new skills."

Ways to get in these programs, suggested by the magazine, include: The Manpower and Development and Training Act, enacted in 1962 and designed to pinpoint types of skills that are badly needed, state by state, and then train people to meet the needs.

The Area Redevelopment Act which set up a program in '61 to cope with chronic unemployment in depressed areas.

The National Defense Education Act, enacted in 1958 to provide federal and state funds for a wide variety of day and evening courses for students and working adults who want to become highly skilled technicians.

Information on all three programs is available from state employment offices.

In addition, according to Changing Times, valuable new skills or additional training can be learned by taking courses under a wide range of other programs.

Over 300,000 people attend evening classes at about 100 colleges where they get training in accounting, chemistry, economics, office management, and hundreds of other subjects. In many communities, free evening courses in job skills are given in the public high schools.

Worthwhile courses are available by mail in subjects ranging from business correspondence through landscaping, mineralogy, data processing and control-systems theory to engineering and physics. Costs run from $25 to several hundred a year.

More than 75% of all big American industrial corporations run worker training programs. Subjects range from algebra through zoology and from introductory courses in machine operation to courses in advanced mathematics and top level management.

"Children are what parents mold them; small wonder that parents scold them."

WYNNE CHESTER SAYS: Try Indoor Shooting For Family Fun

We have an indoor rifle range in our basement, and believe me, it's the best way I know for the whole family to have fun together during these long winter evenings and weekend afternoons.

Our bullet stop is just a big packing case full of dry sand—anything over 18 inches through is safe—placed against a thick wall. But there are many other types of bullet stops. You can write to the National Rifle Association, 1600 Rhode Island Ave. N.W., Washington 6, D.C., for plans and information.

A few weeks ago my son Mike—bless his industrious little heart!—decided to improve our range by adding a sound-reducing shooter's box. He did it all by himself, too—with a bit of coaching from his father. It's quite simple; just a 4' x 4' open-ended box lined with acoustical tile, but it cuts down shooting noise surprisingly well.

Why not try one in your own indoor range? And if you don't have a range, I advise you to build one soon. As I said, it's the best way I know for the whole family to have fun together.

In the old days, folks used to wake up and say, "Good morning, Lord." But nowadays, many we know wake up and say, "Good Lord! Morning!"

Sudan Edges by The Mighty Wolverettes 45-41 for Title

The Springlake Wolverettes were defeated Friday night in Olton, but not until they made Sudan fight hard for the first place title.

Crowds came in droves to see the two rival teams play. They brought drums, horns—anything that would help cheer their favorite team on.

When the game started, both teams knew that the other was out to win, beyond any doubt, as the crowd had been screaming ever since their arrival, creating a fighting spirit in each of the two teams.

Starting girls for Springlake were Carolyn Gregory (41), Bethie Dent (21), Julia Jones (33) forwards; the guards were Barbara Barlow (43), Peggy Upchurch (35) and Helen Phillips (31).

The girls starting for Sudan were, forwards, Glenna Gatewood (12), Judy Sterr (20), Nancy Williams (50); Guards, Kathy Barnett (22), Nancy Hayes (44) and Candis Mudgett (10).

In the first half both teams fought neck and neck for the lead. But neither team would give in so in the first quarter, the score was Springlake 10 and Sudan 10. Carolyn Gregory made 6 points and Bethie Dent hit for 4 points for Springlake. For Sudan Glenna Gatewood hit for 6 and Judy Sterr 4 points.

Springlake and Sudan were again tied in the 2nd quarter 23 to 23. The crowds went wild. Drums were beating and horns were blowing. Both coaches were encouraging their girls. Bethie Dent made 8 point and 5 points were made by Carolyn Gregory for the Wolverettes. Gatewood made 9 and Sharon Watson and Nancy Williams both hit for 2 points each for Sudan.

In the half time both teams went back into their dressing rooms but the crowds didn't seem to notice because they kept right on howling. One could feel the school spirit from each and every person in the stands. The stands were filled to capacity. People were standing all around the court.

When the 3rd quarter started Sudan began to pull away from the Wolverettes. Gatewood, for Sudan, was playing like she never played before. It seems she couldn't miss the goal, but this did not discourage the great Green and Gold team. Sudan outshot Springlake by 6 points. The score at the end of the 3rd quarter the Hornets 36 and the Wolverettes 30. Jones made 3 points, Gregory and Dent made 2 points each for Springlake. Sudan made 13 points, 10 of these were made by Glenna Gatewood, Walser made 2, and Nancy Williams 1 point.

In the 4th quarter the Springlake forwards really came alive and started getting the ball away from the Hornet guards as they attempted to get the ball to their forwards, Bethie Dent (21) Springlake forward, fouled out in the 4th quarter but not until the great little forward made 2 more points for the Green and Gold. Brenda Townsend (15) took Dent's place, Springlake outshot Sudan by 2 points but they couldn't quite pull out from under the Hornets lead. Springlake 11 points were made by Gregory with 7 points, Jones and Dent made 2 points each. Gatewood made Sudan's only 9 points in the fourth quarter. When the buzzer went off Sudan had 45 points to Springlake's 41 points giving Sudan the victory.

Springlake had 21 fouls, they made 16 field goals and they made 9 out of 25 free throws. Sudan had 19 fouls, 19 field goals, and 21 out of 28 free throws.

Carolyn Gregory made 4 free throws, Jones 1, and Beth Dent 4 for Springlake. Sudan's Glenna Gatewood just couldn't miss on her free throws. She made 20 free throws and Nancy Williams made 1.

Nancy Hayes (44), Sudan guard, fouled out in the 4th quarter.

Springlake lost to Sudan because of the free throws Sudan made. These teams are matched out pretty well. Springlake has height over Sudan and Sudan has speed.

Carolyn Gregory was high point girl for the Wolverettes with 20 points, Bethie Dent had 16, and Julia Jones made 5 points.

High point girl for Sudan was Glenna Gatewood with 34 points, Nancy Williams made 3, Sharon Watson 4, and Judy Sterr made 4 points.

Girls playing for Springlake throughout the game were Carolyn Gregory (41), Julia Jones (33), Bethie Dent (21), Brenda Townsend (15), Barbara Barlow (43), Helen Phillips (31), and Dwaia Boone (23). For Sudan there was Glenna Gatewood (12), Judy Sterr (20), Candis Mudgett (10), Sharon Walser (32), Kandy Miller (24), Nancy Williams (50), Kathy Barnett (22), Nancy Hayes (44), and Ford (14).

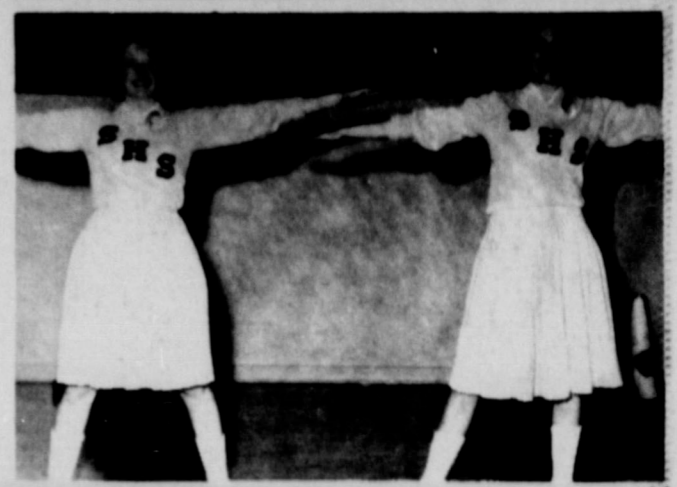

This year Springlake is losing three of their great players due to their being seniors. Carolyn Gregory (41), co-captain, high point girl in most of the games for Springlake; Ilene Angeley (11), guard for the Green and Gold; and Barbara Barlow (43) guard, co-captain for the Wolverettes. (Girls, we'll miss you next year.)

I have enjoyed reporting the sports for the basketball teams this year. I wish both teams good luck in the coming year.

Teams Invited To Enter Volleyball Tourney

Ten teams from Olton, Muleshoe, Springlake schools, and Lazbuddie have already entered for competition in the outsiders Volleyball Tourney at Springlake School March 11-16. WOLVERINE DRIVE - IN

By POLLY JEAN MIDDLETON

SPORTS

ETHE DENT (21), on the far left, has just shot the ball for 2 more SHS points. Getting ready to rebound for the Wolverettes is Julia Jones (33).

Golden pineapple, green creme de menthe, crumbled macarons and whipped cream are combined in this gala two-tone dessert mold with a lime gelatin base. Circle the mold with pineapple rings and top with red and green cherries for a gay holiday touch.

Tropical Creme de Menthe is an elegant make-ahead that will serve 8.

TROPICAL CREME DE MENTHE DESSERT

1 (1-pound 4-ounce) can pineapple slices
Water
1 (6-ounce) family-size package lime flavored gelatin
Drain pineapple, reserving 1/2 cup syrup. Measure remaining syrup and add enough water to make 2 cups liquid. Heat liquid and dissolve gelatin in it. Add lemon juice. To a little more than half of gelatin add creme de menthe and the reserved 1/2 cup pineapple syrup. Chill until syrupy. Place remaining gelatin in bowl of ice or in freezer to chill. When thickened but not firm, fold in stiffly whipped cream and crumbled macarons. Turn into oiled 8-cup mixing bowl or mold. Chill until firm. Stand drained pineapple slices around sides of bowl or mold on top firm white layer. Dice any leftover pineapple and add to syrupy creme de menthe gelatin. Spoon over firm white layer. Chill overnight or until firm. Unmold and garnish with additional pineapple, if desired, and red and green cherries. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN
by Vern Sanford

Ducks Flare Away
Ducks that flare in alarm from big, solid blinds will readily come to a bit of brush or a scattering of loose grass that hardly fizzes a gunner's outline.
Just be sure to build your spare blind with materials you gather on the spot.

Replace Leather Dog Collar
Many a good hunting dog has been choked to death by a leather or chain collar. This can easily be avoided.
Just attach the dog's identification plate to a half-inch-wide elastic band collar.
Then, should the pooch hang up on barbed wire, brush, or other impediment, he can, if necessary, slip out of his collar and escape strangulation.

Coat Hunting Knife Discs
Leather discs on hunting knives are apt to work loose with hard usage.
Should this happen to your knife, apply a coating of wax.

Don't Overfeed Hunting Dog
A hunting dog whose ribs are showing like corrugations on a washboard is not being abused. He is being kept in tip-top hunting form.
Overfeeding a dog can cause shortwindedness, fatigue, even heart failure in the field.
Never over-feed your dog.

Tip For Reload
Today, more and more gun enthusiasts, hunters, and trapshooters are loading and re-loading their own ammunition. Some even cast their own rifle bullets.
If you are one of the latter breed, you no doubt have had trouble with impurities in your lead. To prevent this, next time you melt up lead, put a small piece of pure beeswax in the melting pot.
Wax causes impurities to rise to the top where they can be easily removed.

He, of course, takes more food during hunting season than he does at other times because he burns up more. But watch his ribs.
When his ribs start to smooth over with flesh, cut down on his food.

Stop Dog's Barking
A barking dog—especially at night—is an abomination to neighbor and master alike.
Prevent your dog from annoying neighbors and keeping your own household awake by using a simple trick.
Attach a lawn hose to your dog's pen, the nozzle set for a wide spray. Whenever dog starts barking, turn on the water so he will be sprayed. Usually a few treatments will be enough.
But be sure he doesn't see you do it.

New Type Target
You probably have used every type of gun target in your search for novelty.
Here's how to make a new kind of target for practice shooting.
Draw a bullseye on an old window shade, then mount roller and shade onto two stakes equipped with brackets. Pull down shade and start shooting.
Bullet holes can be patched with tape.

Inexpensive Archery Target
You can buy elaborate and expensive archery targets, especially the kind that is stuffed with hay and covered with bright oilcloth. But hard shooting soon fills any target full of holes.
So why spend a lot of money when an equally effective target can be made at home from an old tire, rags, and two pieces of tough corrugated board.
Fit tire opening with cardboard—one to each side—then draw on bullseye, pack inside target with rags. Then start shooting.

Decoy Range Finder
Even experienced hunters find it difficult to accurately gauge shooting range, especially from a duck blind.
Overcome this difficulty by setting out one decoy some 40 or 50 yards from the duck blind. Gauge your shots at incoming ducks by their relation to this decoy.
This way you won't waste shots blasting away at ducks over in the next county. Furthermore, the incoming ducks will pay no attention to a lone decoy range finder. They will come on in to your setting of decoys the same as usual.

Get Fast Sight On Target
"Experts" tell you not to "sight" with your shotgun. Nevertheless you will get better results, and score more hits, when duck or bird shooting, if you'll paint a thin white line from the front sight of your shotgun to the breech.
Try it.

Remove Rust From Gun
After each trip in the field —especially after hunting over water—you will notice small pits of rust on your gun barrel. These are caused by sweat and other moisture.

If attended to at once, these pits can be removed by an ordinary typewriter eraser. Such an eraser won't damage gun bluing as steel wool or sandpaper will.
When gun is badly rusted, soak well with rust solvent before using eraser.

To Trap A Fox
You fox trappers can make more and faster catches by using bacon.
Just place one or more strips of raw bacon on an overhanging limb, or on a pole with cross stick, about three feet above a stump. Set the trap on the stump.
Fox will be caught as he leaps for bacon.

'Threshold' Year Seen For 1963

W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers believes that 1963 may become "a threshold year" to a new period of expansion if the nation takes advantage of the opportunities that are available.

Mr. Gullander cited three areas where constructive action could be taken to aid the economy. They are:

1. Tax rate reform designed to remove barriers to economic growth and job creation.
2. A check on federal government spending.
3. Legislation to curb labor monopoly power.

Powell Receives Appointments At Shrine Meeting

W. W. Powell, of Earth, was appointed special Representative of the Khiva Temple Shrine of Lamb County recently.

Powell also received the honor of district Chairman appointment for the four Counties of this district comprised of Bailey, Lamb, Castro, and Patter Counties.

The NAM president said recently that in the outlook for 1963, there is little evidence to indicate either a prospective sharp upturn in economic activity or a marked decline. The buoyant and the depressive factors "appear to be approximately in balance," he explained.

After noting the favorable and unfavorable factors which may be brought to bear, Mr. Gullander said:

"In sum, then, 1963 may become a threshold year. If action is taken to solve our basic problems and to stimulate growth, it could well be the year in which we entered a new period of expansion.

"If, on the other hand, we fail to grasp the opportunities that are available, and we raise further barriers to investment and initiative, it may well be the year in which both the domestic economy and our international position enter a decline. Possibly the better part of the year will have passed before our direction becomes either clear or irreversible."

While not a "bad" year, 1962 has been a year of minimum growth, Mr. Gullander observed.

"The lesson of 1962 is that we cannot expect really satisfactory economic performance unless certain fundamental economic problems are solved," he continued.

"Among these are: the squeeze on profits between artificially inflated costs and competitive prices; the continued deficit in our international payments; and the restriction on the flow of funds for investment, resulting from excessively high and progressive income tax rates.

If we find ourselves in satisfying work, let us give grateful thanks to God. If we do not, let us ask that His wisdom lead us into our right place.

A & M Awarded Research Grant

A $35,000 research grant to expose the innermost secrets of the cotton plant was announced by Roy Forkner of Lubbock and LeRoy Durham of Plainview, Cotton Producers Institute trustees for West Texas.

Awarded to Texas A&M, the grant is for basic physiological and biochemical studies of the cotton plant. The Institute's first-year total will combine with approximately $80,000 in program support from the college and the USDA, Mr. Forkner said.

In addition, two major modern buildings, radiochemical laboratories, environmental control chambers, and other facilities essential for a project of this type will be available for the work.

The research is being carried out by specialists in chemistry, physiology, nutrition, biochemistry, and other areas. Working as a team, instead of along traditional lines, they are seeking to assemble a detailed picture of how the plant grows and produces cotton. This information is needed to discover new research approaches to solving major problems facing cotton growers.

"To be competitive with synthetics and to take advantage of the expanding total fiber market, we must find more effective ways to cut production costs and improve the quality of our fiber," Mr. Durham pointed out.

At present, much of the research on specific cotton problems such as diseases, boll shed, weed and insect control, etc., is hampered by a lack of basic information of why and how the plant "ticks".

The prospects of future breakthroughs on major production problems hinge largely on the extent and rate new knowledge is made available through basic research.

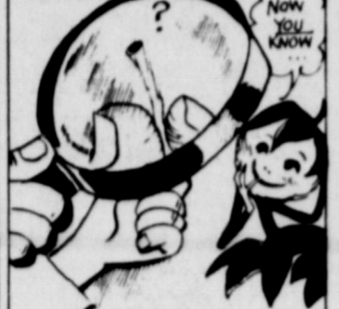

Aim of the Texas A&M project is to concentrate a massive effort on the cotton plant in order to produce this vitally needed knowledge. The work will be expanded in selected and critical areas of investigations now lacking concerted research effort, as rapidly as resources will permit. It is expected that the developing project will also gain support from other groups.

The project is a unique one for cotton. There is no other effort which brings expert scientists in many fields together on one team to work on the cotton plant's basic system of physiology and biochemistry. Dr. Wayne C. Hall and Dr. Howard Johnson will head the project's research team.

This is one of 11 projects for which funds have been budgeted by the Institute, a voluntary, grower-financed plan to increase their markets and profits through stepped-up research and promotion.

Keyed to the swelling Texas tourist industry--up to 14% in visitor volume last year--the new travel map urges users to "Discover Texas--Today's Fun-tier". The map and its "fun-tier" theme are links in a promotional package of publications and other materials aimed at enhancing the image of Texas as a vacation paradise.

Purpose of the map is to stimulate travel in Texas by both Texans and visitors, and to make it easier for motorists get from place to place. Scenic and cultural diversification of Texas is captured in a message by Governor John Connally urging prospective visitors to "visit our historical sites, vacation playgrounds, inland lakes and Gulf Coast beaches--our mountains, plains and piney woods--our cities and towns. The Texas Highway Department will be happy to provide you with any information you may need for your visit."

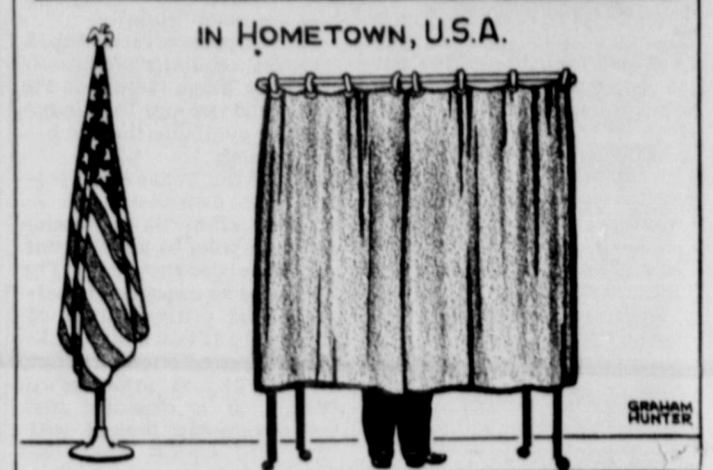

Eighteen full-color photographs illustrate the Governor's description of Texas' varied vacationlands. Depicting activities ranging from Big League baseball to bass fishing, the photographic cross section and easy-to-read map comprise a useful showpiece of the many-splendored charms of Texas.

The 28x36 map shows that highways have been growing with Texas and contributing to the growth of its tourist industry. Multi-lane-divided highway miles now completed and indicated on the new map total 2,808 miles.

Nearly 50,000 miles of highways are shown on the current map. Some 22,000 miles of Farm and Ranch to Market roads are shown and all Interstate, U.S. and State highways are indicated. Located on the new map are 854 Roadside Safety Rest Areas.

The 1963 map lists 1,837 towns and cities. Major routes in the state's twelve largest cities (over 100,000 population) are shown in inset maps. Cities covered: Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Waco and Wichita Falls. Elevations and population symbols are also given for cities.

Texas Drivers Warned by DPS

Drivers of publicly-owned vehicles were cautioned by Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, that they must comply with the provisions of the state safety responsibility law.

Garrison said this was confirmed when a ruling by the Waco Court of Civil Appeals became final early this month. The ruling, in a case involving a municipal employee, held that failure to comply with the responsibility law subjected the driver to having his driver's license suspended and denied his claim that he should be permitted to continue driving a publicly-owned vehicle.

"Under this court decision," said Garrison, "the Department of Public Safety will be required to act against all drivers who have accidents if they cannot comply with the provisions of the safety responsibility law, regardless of the ownership of the vehicle."

The Public Safety Director explained that the law requires everyone involved in an accident to show his ability to pay for damages caused to others. This can be done, he said, by depositing with the department cash in the amount of the damages; by holding a liability insurance policy; or by obtaining written releases from all persons damaged in the accident.

Garrison noted that the penalty for failure to comply with the safety responsibility law in such cases is suspension of the driver's license.

by Mrs. C. A. WATSON

Mrs. Marian A. Barton, music teacher in the Lazbuddie school met with the Parmer County music teachers recently, for a discussion for the betterment of teaching music in the schools.

Mrs. Barton's music classes from the first four grades plan musical numbers for the entertainment of the PTA scheduled for Monday night, March 4.

The four grades will feature two-part harmony work, with the group creating their own harmony arrangements in nearly all of the songs.

Public Schools week will be observed next week in the Lazbuddie school, with a special visitation day on Thursday. Parents are invited for lunch at 12 on Thursday. It is hoped all parents will visit some time during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddie Letcher from Tucumcari, N.M., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Byrd Sunday.

A welcoming party and shower was given Wednesday night in the First Baptist Church, after prayer services, in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Calvin Beach and their two children, Jeanne and Mark. Several boxes of groceries, canned foods and other gifts were brought in by the church members. Refreshments of cookies, soft drinks and coffee were served by the members of the WMU.

The Beach family moved to the Baptist Parsonage recently, coming here from Tokio.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Ward and boys visited in Lubbock Sunday with Mrs. Ward's sister, Maxene West.

Mrs. Quinn Weaver and Billie Hunt were involved in a car-pick up accident Saturday near the Briggs home. Mrs. Weaver was carried to the hospital and released. The Weaver car and Hunt's pick-up both were badly damaged. The vehicles hit head-on.

Keep Clean To Be Healthful

People who are deliberately indifferent to their personal hygiene are as scarce as purple cows.

Nature has endowed most of us with an acute sense of pride about such things as daily bathing, brushing teeth, clean fingernails, good grooming. We would go to practically any length to avoid being offensive to anyone--customers, co-workers, or whoever.

And most of us resent even the slightest suggestion that there are times when our PH (personal hygiene) quotient slips a little.

Think about it for a moment: what in this competitive life is as important to the average man or woman as personal cleanliness? What contributes more to their being accepted and welcomed by others.

Fortunately a big PH quotient is easy to come by. Actually it is a habit, a way of life, & a very pleasant one. Here are its main ingredients:

Bathing: Daily bathing is as refreshing as it is healthful. Besides making you more agreeable to be around, you are less vulnerable to disease when you wash off the 24-hour accumulation of perspiration and soil. Most people find it practical to wash their hair at least once a week. One brand of soap isn't necessarily superior to others. The important thing is to use plenty of it.

Dental Health: This is absolutely essential to a high level of personal hygiene, so see your dentist regularly. Don't be confused by television commercials about the therapeutic and cosmetic effects of certain tooth pastes or powders. The brushing is what counts.

Fingernails: Nothing is more fatal to attractiveness than dirty fingernails. By all means check yours every morning as a part of your getting-ready-for-the-day ritual.

Handwashing: Frequent hand washing, particularly after rest room visits, is another part of a high PH quotient. It is a must habit for cooks waitresses, barbers, beauty operators, etc.

These ingredients blend together to give you a PH quotient your daily associates will appreciate. Each habit in itself, well worth acquiring. We owe it to our friends and co-workers. Perhaps more important, we owe it to ourselves.

Bench Leveling Pays

Does bench leveling of irrigated land with 2 and 3 per cent slope pay? James C. Valliant, associate water engineer at the High Plains Research Foundation, says it does.

In Research Report No. 55 issued in January 1963, it is shown that three year results on both cotton and Grain Sorghum planting on bench land paid off in comparison with sloping land at the Foundation.

The returns from bench leveling are three fold. They are (1) increased yield; (2) decreased water usage; and (3) saving valuable soil from eroding while building up soil fertility.

The difficulties of early bench leveling were that the benches were frequently not of uniform width for equipment use, point rows were numerous and border maintenance was difficult. The benches at the Foundation were constructed parallel so that four-row equipment could be eliminated. A new bench border maintainer, used for the first time in 1962, apparently solves the problem of border maintenance and border control. The use of these methods has paid for the cost of constructing and maintaining benches and farm profits have increased over a period of years.

The three year average profit

USDA Announces Cotton Readings Will Be Available On Fee Basis

the coming season will be determined by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and will be announced about May 1.

Applications for the testing service must be submitted by a ginner to the Agricultural Marketing Service, Cotton Classing Office serving the territory in which the gin is located. All samples submitted for classification from a gin that files an application for the micronaire service will be tested. Applications should be submitted as soon as possible but no later than July 1. Several weeks are required to install equipment and train personnel to provide the testing service.
