

Sales Of U. S. Farm Goods Upped Over Seas

College Station, August—Surplus agriculture commodities valued at about $1½ billion have been sold to foreign countries in exchange for their own currency since September 1954. Of this, sale of $759 million worth was arranged for in the first six months of 1956, says Extension Economist John G. McHaney.

He reports that the USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service has had primary responsibility for these agreements for sales of surplus commodities. The program of foreign surplus sales was provided for by congress under Title of Public Law 480. To date 59 agreements with 27 countries have been arranged with 27 of the agreements coming during the first six months of 1956.

Commodities sold for foreign currencies include wheat and wheat flour, feed grains, rice cotton, tobacco, dairy products poultry, fats and oils, dry edible beans, fruits and vegetables, meat products, cotton linters and seeds. In terms of dollar value, wheat flour leads the list of commodities exchanged ($526 million worth), with cotton second ($358 million).

The foreign money being received is being used to buy strategic materials, for developing agricultural markets abroad, payment of U. S. debts, and loans to friendly countries for trade and economic development.

Public law 480 provides other ways of disposal of surplus farm commodities. These include shipments from famine relief and other assistance abroad, donations for foreign and domestic relief through non-profit voluntary agencies and Inter-Governmental organizations and barter contracts.

Under all these programs, about $3 billion worth of agricultural commodities have been disposed of since the beginning of operations under Public Law 480 in 1954.

Helping Cotton Hold Its Own

Only thirty years ago, cotton was king of our farmer's domain. It was the nation's no. 1 cash crop.

Today, cotton has been exiled to the third niche in national farm economy, below meat and dairy income. And unless much work is done on cotton's behalf, the famous mainstay of plantation days is in for an even tougher ride on the world's market.

One major threat to cotton's No. 1 spot on the domestic fiber market is the marked acceptance of new synthetics which are gradually eating their way into all areas of the fabric trade. Last year alone, synthetics took three percent of the market from cotton, bringing rayon, acetate, and nylon up to 27.8 percent of the total cotton's take was 65.7 percent of the market—still no. 1 but 10 percent below its standing a decade ago.

At the June meeting of the American Cotton Congress in Lubbock, a top economist for National Cotton Council said competition is beating out cotton on three counts: research promotion and price.

Total cotton research money spent last year by all public and private agencies was $14 million dollars. Synthetic fiber producers are spending at least $60 million a year for research alone.

Similarly, cotton producers through the National Cotton Council, spent only a half-million for promotion in 1955 compared with $12 million given over to promote synthetics. Since most synthetics are cheaper to produce, many are underselling cotton.

This would indicate that cotton's problem is largely financial, since there is no question as to quality and usefulness. Some say cotton producers, the farmers themselves, should insure cotton's future to the tune of $1 to $1.50 on each bale produced, spending the total on research and promotion.

Everyone concerned agrees that money spent now could mean a market saved some time in the future.

WRITE A LETTER TO YOUR HEIRS

Every person should, of course, make a will, so that his wishes for those he cares for may be carried out after his death. Our courts will then see to it that his wishes are put into effect.

But as a rule your will is too important to clutter with detailed facts and advice to your survivors. It is not the place to tell where you keep your important papers, although your survivors should know. They might need these papers in probate proceedings or to carry on your business. Some of these papers may bear on your survivors' actions.

So put these vital facts in a letter to your survivors.

Where is your will? In a safety deposit box? At your office? Or tucked away some place for safe keeping? You might have hidden it where nobody can find it. It might be destroyed by accident. Your will is no good unless it can be found.

Who is your executor—the person or institution you want to carry out your will. To whom do you look to sound business advice?

Where do you bank? With whom do you deal at the bank? Some persons have a savings account in one bank and checking accounts in others. Where are your safety deposit boxes? Do you keep important papers in other places? List these places.

Where do you keep all your insurance policies—life, health, car, accident, others? They may cover your family as well as yourself. Your family may wish to continue them.

Where are your personal account books? Letters about your business affairs? Your cancelled checks and receipts? These facts will protect your estate from false claims.

Do you own real estate? Where are the deeds and abstracts or title insurance policies? Do your records show a capital gains basis for your real estate and what you invested in any piece of real property? Tell your heirs what you think they should do about your real estate and other property.

Do your records show which property is separate and which is joint? The division of your property may rest on these records. Besides, good records may save tax dollars.

Besides current bills, do you have any debts? If so, list them and your creditors. Where are the copies of your income tax returns? Your car title?

Note these subjects: Old age and survivors' insurance, pensions, profit sharing plans, group insurance, club memberships, royalties, estates and trusts and joint ventures. Put down your social security number.

These are just a few things to

The Upper Room
© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

THURSDAY, AUGUST 9

Then said Jesus unto his disciples. If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross, and follow me (Matthew 16:24.)

One of the most beautiful words in any language is "sacrifice". We associate it with the rich, sweet, and beautiful self-giving experiences of life.

I recall such an experience during the depression days. My mother, a devoted Christian, had a very limited income. It was her wish to subscribe for a splendid religious periodical for my brothers and me. Out of her limited income she expected to pay for these subscriptions. When I discovered it, I chided her and refused to let her pay for them. I shall never forget the pained expression on her face. Tears flowed down her cheeks as she said, "But I want to; it gives me great joy."

The true christian does not look upon such sacrifice as self-denial but as a privilege, an opportunity, a joy. This is the kind of sacrifice God blesses. It enables his church to grow and prosper. For those who would be true followers of Christ, the thread of sacrifice must run through all of us.

PRAYER

O God, forgive us wherein we have thought more of ourselves than of Thee and of others. For give us for accepting the lesser values. Grant us strength of mind and soul to find meaning in every sacrifice we make as Christians. In Christ's name we pray. Amen
