Times have surely changed. The government used to be of the people, by the people, and for the people, and was first established, I believe, to be a slave to the American people rather than to make a slave of the American people.

Now positions seem to have somewhat reversed themselves. Who is the slave now? And who is the master??? Who tells who how much to pay employees? Who tells who how much, and of what he can plant? And how much will be paid for same???

Wish to heck if the government chose to take over management of all our businesses, it would likewise rule on our blankety, blank, IBM typewriter and declare it unlawful to break down, like it did Monday night, with a 20 page Homecoming paper to get out Wednesday.

Already short handed, everyone in the office aged 10 years when it refused to work. The old chief of this newspaper tribe was in Amarillo sitting on the front door step when the repairman came down to work Tuesday morning. But by the time that IBM was back in the office ready to go, the damage had been done. My ulcers had all sprouted little ulcers. My red hair had grown out a foot and was featuring roots as white as snow. AM I CAN SAY AS IF governmental management is so superior to individual management, why the heck don't they take over the REAL worries connected with running a business and show us they can operate a business without having to subsidize it with taxpayer's money. We private enterprise businesses don't have a batch of new tax payer's dollars to throw in the till now and then. We just gotta suffer and hang on.

Nosin'

Heard this week we had a local man who was taking "one a day" No, not one a day vitamins as you might suppose, but due to the many heart attacks nationwide, caused chiefly by nervous tension, he decided to open his tax statements "one a day".

Each new day now he greets the day by opening another tax statement. He blows his lid, then settles down to work his dead-level-best in hopes of not just making enough to keep him from debtors jail, like was the custom in the olden days, but to lessen the blow and discourage him from taking the easy way out and getting on the poverty program like so many of the American people who are letting others pay their way.

Springlake-Earth Ex-graduates will gather Friday from all parts of the country to attend the big annual Homecoming Celebration.

There will be housewives, farmers, businessmen, college students, and folks from all walks of life back home again for Homecoming at their old Alma Mater.

'Twill doubtless be a day of reminiscing with bosom buddies of by-gone days. They will doubtless remember anew the carefree days of childhood when no major problems seemed ever to shadow their somewhat uninhibited lives.

It will doubtless be a "fun time" for all who attend. And to all of you, may we say, WELCOME EXES, HAVE FUN.

Looks as though the Journalism Department at Tech may have recently decided to switch, rather than fight, and take the negative approach to teaching Journalism rather than the positive.

Now instead of instructing students HOW to write interesting articles, they may be spending more time showing students HOW NOT to mess up their stories.

We arrived at this brilliant deduction recently after receiving a letter from Ralph Sellmeyer, of the Tech Journalism Department, asking us to

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS

By Wilma Taylor

IN FURNISHING, START WITH A "FLOOR PLAN"

If you want to "decorate" instead of just "furnish", start with a floor plan. If you do not have an architect's original floor plan, take a yard stick or tape measure and measure all your walls, the width of your doors and windows, and the height of windows from the floors.

Make a sketch showing all of the necessary dimensions and then sketch in the furniture pieces you plan to use.

If you would like someone to help you, we shall be glad to take these measurements and make this layout for you.

In this way, you are eliminating the guess work and you may then select pieces that will not only fit into your home but will fit perfectly. This is the only sensible and correct way to do a real decorating job in your room and your wall space before buying.

Call 257-3231, or stop in. We'll be glad to help you with no obligation. It's part of our free decorator service. And it's the smart way to decorate. Taylor Furniture, Earth Texas.

The Cost Of Owning And Operating A Car Varies

Automobile costs and maintenance expenses vary with each car and owner, says Mrs. Wanda Meyer, Texas A&M University Extension home management specialist.

Gasoline and oil costs for the same make and model may vary as much as 50 percent. This variation is caused by factors such as how a car is driven, the type of driving such as city, flat country, or mountain driving, the loads carried, the general condition of the vehicle and tire pressure. Oil consumption is equally variable.

Maintenance costs vary even more than gas and oil costs. The owner of a new car may have no more expense than five or six lubrication jobs and a gallon of anti-freeze.

The type of driving and driver are both factors in determining tire costs. High speeds, warm climates, hard cornering, rapid acceleration and quick stops all contribute to fast tire wear. The motorist who must replace a set of tires every year may spend from $60 to $200 depending on the size and type of tires he chooses.

Most motorists carry insurance on their cars. Insurance premiums are listed under fixed costs because they do not fluctuate with the number of miles driven. To determine insurance costs, add the premiums of all policies you carry that are directly related to car operation.

License and registration fees should be treated in the same way as taxes. Determine what you spend for license and registration fees and add the total to your fixed costs.

Pesticide Safety To Be Emphasized At Conference

Safe and proper use of pesticidal chemicals will be emphasized during the annual Insect and Plant Disease Control Conference November 3-4.

Keynote speaker is Samula C. Billings of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Pesticides Regulation Division in Washington, D. C. His topic is "The Program of the Pesticides Regulation for Public Protection."

Billings will explain restrictions placed on many chemicals to prevent possible health hazard to individual users.

Dr. Wendell Horne, plant pathologist, and Weldon Newton, associate entomologist, both with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, will be co-chairmen.

Horne said the conference is designed to present latest research findings on plant diseases and insects and recommendations for control of pests on crops and livestock.

Other highlights include panel discussions on crop losses from plant diseases and the new technique of low volume insecticide spraying of cotton.

Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Sigman and Donna, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Foshee and Kit, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Smith and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Glascock and children were guests in the Carroll McDonald home Saturday night. Carroll was honored with a surprise birthday party.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Parish and Mrs. Bulls visited in the Harley Bulls home in Levelland over the weekend.

Baptists Combine SS, Church Services Sunday

Training Union will be at the regular time, 6 o'clock, Sunday evening with worship services at 7 o'clock.

County S. S. Checks Reach New High

The number of Lamb County residents who are receiving Social Security payments has reached a new peak. According to recent government figures, there were 2,008 county people receiving monthly retirement checks, as compared to 1,242 in 1960. Too, the total amount received by them was 78 percent greater than at the same time. These figures were given in a report released by the Social Security Administration. In the report, the number of people on retirement rolls and the payments to them as of Jan. 1, 1965, for each county in the United States, is given. Nationally there are twenty million men, women, and children who receive benefits. In 1960 there were thirteen million and seven tenths. This reveals the extent to which the amendments written into the Social Security Act by Congress, have added to its scope.

Most are retired workers or widows, parents, or children. The others are disabled workers and their dependents. Pension payments in Lamb County are presently $677 yearly compared to $616 for 1960. The county rise 10.0% compares with an 8.5% gain in the U. S. and 8.9% in the State of Texas. Payments are based on amounts paid into the Social Security fund by workers and their employers during their active years. Lamb County residents are receiving $1,360,000 yearly at the present time, as compared with $765,000 in 1960. It is found that Americans are retiring at earlier ages. Better company retirement programs, larger benefits under Social Security, and a revision in the law which permits pension payments, from age 62.

Vets Failing To List Current Beneficiaries

Thousands of veterans are neglecting to keep up to date their listing of a beneficiary for their GI Insurance policy proceeds, Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco, warned today.

Because of this, the insurance proceeds may not be paid to the individual nor in the manner the veteran would wish he pointed out.

A divorced wife or wealthy parent may take precedence over a present wife or children since the VA must pay the proceeds of the insurance policy to the beneficiary designated by the veteran himself, Coker said.

A recent sampling indicated that six out of ten veterans had failed to change beneficiaries or payment options to meet changing family conditions, the VA Manager said. Necessary forms for these changes may be obtained from any VA office or by writing directly to the VA Insurance Office where the veteran pays his premium.

Low Cost Control Of Anaplasmosis Result In Losses

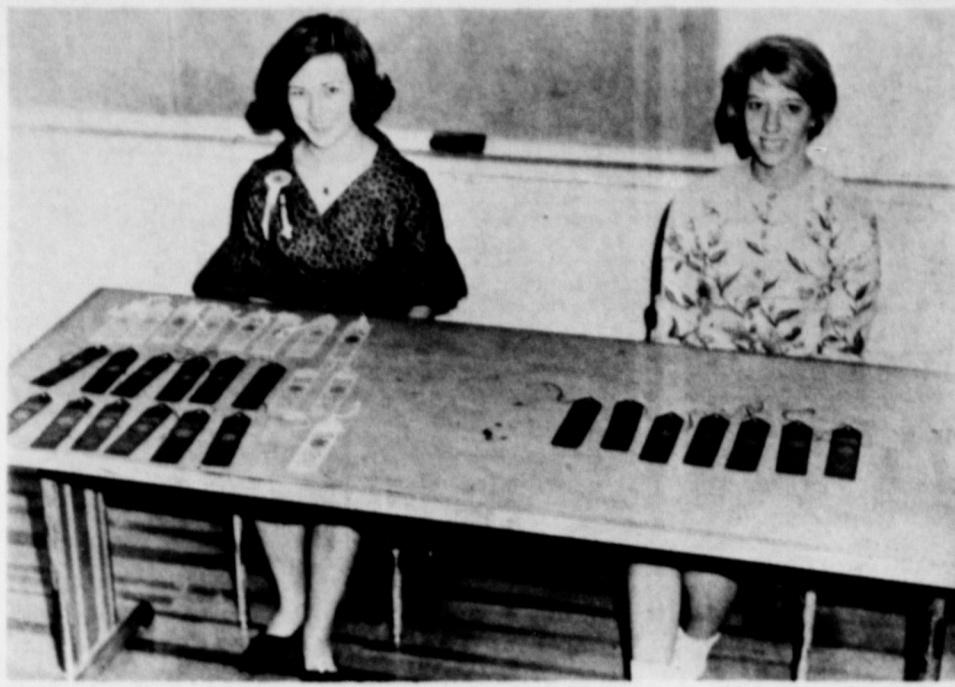

College Station, --Nine Southern States, including Texas and several western states, share the bulk of a $35 million loss each year from Anaplasmosis. Anaplasmosis is a blood destroying disease of cattle caused by microscopic organisms which invade the animal's red blood cells. The blood cells are destroyed faster than they can be replaced and the animal soon weakens and often dies from asphyxiation or fever damage to vital organs. The disease is spread by biting insects, vaccination needles or any surgical procedure.

The picture is brightening for cattlemen, however. Recent experimental results indicate feeding a low-level antibiotic to range cattle will eliminate anaplasmosis from infected (carrier) cattle at a low cost, according to Dr. T. E. Franklin of Texas A&M University's College of Veterinary Medicine.

The test was directed by Dr. Franklin and Dr. J. W. Huff of A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine and Dr. Ray Cook, Dallas, and Dr. Charles E. Deyhle of Clarendon who supervised the feeding tests.

Previous experimental work of feeding a high-level antibiotic (five grams a day per 1,000 pounds body weight) has proved successful in controlling anaplasmosis, but the high cost made it impractical for cattlemen. Feeding a low-level of the antibiotic will decrease the cost per cow considerably.

The experiment was conducted on a Texas Panhandle ranch, in a herd of 300 cattle. When the herd was tested last fall, 60 percent of the cattle reacted positively to a complement-fixation test, the standard test for anaplasmosis. The antibiotic used was aureomycin One-half gram per day, for each 1,000 pounds of cattle weight, was incorporated into range cubes and fed to the cattle for 120 days during the winter feeding period. Test given at the end of the feeding period indicate anaplasmosis has been completely eliminated from the carrier cattle.

The significance of the test is that a low-level antibiotic, and resulting low cost will effectively control anaplasmosis, which is estimated to do $35 to $50 million worth of damage each year in the U. S.

Feeding a high-level antibiotic (five grams per day for each 1,000 pounds weight) for 30 days, will cost about $10.50 a cow. However, feeding a low-level (one-half gram antibiotic per day for each 1,000 pounds weight) for 120 days will cost only about $3.50 per cow.

Dr. Franklin said if cattle producers will adopt the practice of feeding a low-level antibiotic to cattle during the winter feeding period, anaplasmosis can be routed from herds in many areas of the U. S.

The month of October will be one of the most memorable and eventful 31-day periods in Texas Tech's history as the college pauses--as much as a bustling university with 15,000 plus students can pause--to mark its 40th anniversary.

$494,000 Tax Bill Mailed To Countians

Tax bills totaling $494,044, 71 were mailed to Lamb County residents Friday by the office of County Tax Assessor-Collector Herbert Dunn. The bills are for current 1965 taxes. The total is an increase of nearly $14,000 over last year.

The bill which is payable from now through the end of January before penalty and interest charges are added to the account, is on a 1965 tax valuation of $29,161,017 for all county taxable property.

This year's valuation is an increase of approximately $610,000 over last year's valuation of $28,492,729.

The county's overall tax bill includes state and county taxes along with three road districts and the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

A breakdown of the total tax levy lists $233,371.37 for the county, $97,010.55 for the state, $106,550.90 for highways, $43,299.57 for the precincts and $13,812.32 for the water district.

A savings of three percent can be made on all taxes by making payment in October, an advantage that most of the county's largest taxpayers take advantage of.

The discount drops to two percent in November and to one percent in December, with the full levy due if paid in January. Final deadline for payment before penalty and interest are imposed is January 31. Dunn estimated that in addition to the largest taxpayers such as Southwestern Public Gas, Pioneer Natural Gas and Santa Fe Railroad, enough individual taxpayers in the county take advantage of the discount in October that approximately two-thirds of the tax bill will be paid this month.

The Lamb County Commissioners court set the 1965 tax rate at the same as the previous year with the basic rate of ninety-five cents per $100 valuation of taxable property in Lamb County.

In addition they set the Road District 1A at eighty cents per $100, the Road District 3A at 75 cents per $100 and District 4 at 60 cents per hundred.

The ninety-five cents basic tax is broken down as follows: two cents to the jury fund, ten to General Road and bridge, 15 cents to Special road and bridge, 57 cents to the general and six and five cents respectively to the 1953 and 1953A interest and sinking fund on the courthouse and jail.

DEFICIT SPENDING—"It is one thing to engage in deficit spending to meet an emergency," says Rep. Catherine May (R-Wash.) "and quite another to continue deficit spending in a period of national prosperity. Such a fiscal policy weakens the value of the dollar, intensifies the outflow of gold and leaves us with little with which to meet possible emergency, be it an economic downturn."

Compensation Checks For Widows Of Veterans To Show Increase

The October dependency and indemnity compensation checks for widows of veterans whose death was attributable to service will reflect the increases in military pay recently set by Congress, the Veterans Administration announced today.

Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco, said that these increases, the third to be granted within the past two years, are based upon the grade and years of service of the deceased veteran.

The increases in compensation are comparatively small when the lower enlisted grades or a few years of service are the determining factors, but they grow larger as they reflect higher rank and total years of service of career servicemen.

The checks are expected to reach widows on or about October 1, the VA Manager said. Adjustment is automatic and there is no need to write VA, Coker added.

I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shall go.—(Psalms 32:8)

Every problem has its perfect answer in the Mind of God, but we must be quiet all our thoughts long enough so that we hear the answer. God is always speaking the perfect word of guidance for each moment as it comes, but we must listen for this guidance.

USDA School Lunch Program Reaches 31.1% Of Texas Students

What kind of lunch does your child have at school?

Around 30 percent--31.1 percent--of all students enrolled in Texas public schools eat in lunchrooms operating under the national school lunch program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This means your child has a wholesome and nutritious meal of meat, poultry or fish or other high protein food, fruits or vegetables, enriched bread, usually baked in the lunchroom; butter or margarine and a half-pint of whole milk.

To call attention to the value and achievements of this program, the President of the United States has proclaimed October 10-16 as National School Lunch week.

The President cited the national school lunch program as "an outstanding example of a local-state-federal partnership to protect the health and well-being of the nation's children."

About 3,415 Texas public and private schools are operating under the national school lunch program, which provides federal funds, foods and technical assistance to help keep the price of meals low to students.

Texas students pay an average of 34¢ per lunch, according to Mr. Charles Hicks, chief consultant, school lunch program, Texas Education Agency. USDA-donated foods are distributed to schools by the Texas Department of Public

Leland Stephens, FBI Rep Speaks At Scout Meet

Forty-five boy scouts with their scout masters met at the scout building Tuesday night.

The guest speaker for the evening was Leland D. Stephens of Lubbock. Mr. Stephens is with the Lubbock FBI. He told the group about finger printing and the many responsibilities of the FBI. He climaxed his address with a brief history on finger printing and classification. Adults present for the program were Scout Master Travis Jaquess, Assistant Scout Master Jack Rylant, C. C. Goodwin, Oran Parish, James Lackie, and Mrs. Wilson Lewis.

SCS Recommends Cover Crop

There'll be less dust in the air next spring in this area if farmers will establish a cover on diverted acres and other idle land. Over 24,000 acres of unprotected land received wind erosion damage last winter and spring in the Lamb County Soil Conservation District. Poor moisture conditions and high winds are common conditions to our area each year.

Edward Mitchell, Chairman of the SCD Board, says, "now is the time to plant a protective cover on the land whether dryland or irrigated. I'd like to see our fields in better shape with protective cover crops prior to next year's blow season. No one wants a repeat of last year's dust storms."

Federal cost sharing assistance is being made available through the Agriculture Conservation Program for establishing a cover of forage sorghums on diverted acres and idle land. You may file an application with the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service Office by August 1st. The application must be approved before the practice has been started. The Federal cost share is $2.00 per acre.

The practice is applicable to out rows in the skip-row pattern of planting. The strips of sorghum interplanted with cotton reduce wind and sand damage to the soil, and at the same time protect the tender cotton. After harvest, the sorghum stubble can be maintained on the soil surface to control wind erosion during the winter.

Take Your Pick

Are liquid fertilizers as good or better than the solids? C. D. Welch, soil chemist for Texas A&M University's Agricultural Extension Service, says numerous comparisons show liquids comparable to solids when the same amounts of plant nutrients are applied.

And, adds Welch, liquids have advantages as well as disadvantages. They can be handled mechanically and this, says the chemist, is an attractive feature to many users. Because of water needed to produce the solution, more weight may have to be handled in order to supply the same amount of nutrients from solid materials.

Another disadvantage, most fertilizer salts when dissolved are corrosive to distribution equipment; thus requiring special equipment for shipping, storing and applying. Welch suggests that the cost per unit of plant food from liquids and solids be carefully evaluated. The chemist says one of the most frequently asked questions has to do with nitrogen solutions other than anhydrous ammonia. Several such solutions have been developed for direct application and have proved effective when properly applied, he says.

Solutions containing urea, he cautions, should not be sprayed on the surface of vegetation during the summer when temperatures are high. Spraying urea on dead or dormant plant material increases the chances of losses through little or no burning results, he adds. The best application method for applying urea-containing solutions is to put it into the soil and when this is not possible it should be dribbled on the soil surface. The least desirable method is by spraying.

Liquid mixtures of materials containing one or more of the major nutrients when used in recommended amounts and properly applied, have given results equal to solids, according to Welch. Since liquid fertilizers generally contain the same chemical compounds used in solids, cost and convenience of handling are major points of comparison.

Phil Bearden, Wiley Kimbell, Thomas Bryant, and Phil Middleton, all students at South Plains College, Levelland, were dinner guests of the Ross Middleton's Friday night. Phil spent the weekend at home.

Revival In Progress At Local Church

In progress October 10-17 at the First Baptist Church of Earth, is a revival, with Dr. Guy Bellamy, of Oklahoma City, as Evangelist, and Dr. James Cramm, of Wayland College, Plainview, as Revival Singer. Services began Sunday, October 10. Morning services are being held each day Tuesday, through Friday at 7:00 a. m., and each evening at 7:30 p. m., at the church. There are prayer meetings for all ages at 7:00 p. m.

M. B. Baldwin, pastor, extends an invitation to all to attend.

Dr. Bellamy is Secretary of the National Southern Baptist Convention. He came here following services in Philadelphia, New York City, and Washington. He is an author, preacher, and evangelist.

Services will continue through Sunday, October 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Fowler, of Pie Town, N. M., are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Higgins.

All leases, except four river and bayou tracts, were awarded by the School Land Board for five-year terms and a one-sixth royalty on production. River and bayou tracts were leased for two years.

New income boosted permanent public school fund to over $652,000,000. COTTON PACT SIGNED. Threat of a Texas embargo on Mexican cotton was ended last week with the signing of a new agreement by U. S., Mexico, and Texas regulating planting on both sides of the border.

The Earth News-Sun, Thursday, October 14, 1965--Page 9

Agreement, reached in two-day conference at Brownfield and Matamoros, set planting dates of February 1-March 31; stalk destruction deadline at August 31; and plow-up by September 15. Experimental late planting would be permitted only at agricultural experiment stations in Matamoros and Rio Grande Valley Areas.

AG RULES. Attorney General Waggoner's Car has ruled a Commissioner's Court may not lease a county hospital if the lease allows the lessee to encumber the land, buildings, and equipment. The court may not create debts in any manner other than time warrants or bonds duly voted upon by the property holders of the county.

In other rulings, Carr said: Commission for Indian Affairs may execute long-term leases with federal agency for public housing on tribal land, but only with approval of a majority of Indians on Alabama-Coushatta Reservation.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Campaigns now are underway for and against the 10 proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on November 2.

However, little is being said on behalf of perhaps the most controversial of all the proposals, extending the term of office of the governor and other state wide officials to four years. Gov. John Connally promised an all-out drive for it. Organized labor strongly opposes the term stretch-out.

A 46 member committee of leading citizens, headed by Dallas banker, Ben H. Wooten, is pushing Amendment 1 to increase the state college property tax levy for college building purposes from five to 10 cents. Opposition to the tax increase is developing in San Antonio.

State Bar Association is battling for Amendment 8. It provides for automatic retirement of over-age judges and sets up a commission to recommend disciplinary action against misbehaving judges.

A variety of groups have kind words to say for Amendment 2 to increase the Veterans' Land fund to $200,000,000 and revive the program of long-term, low-interest loans to veterans for farm-ranch land buying. But there is opposition here, too.

Other amendment proposals are as follows:

Permitting Texas' participation in cooperative federal-state programs of assistance to and medical care for aged, needy, and handicapped; clarifying investment authority for the board of trustees of the teacher retirement system; authorizing the Legislature to set up an $85,000,000 student loan fund, exempting certain hospitals from property taxes; permitting the Legislature to raise salaries of Speaker of the House and Lieutenant Governor and to increase law makers' expense allowances from $12 to $20 a day; and lengthening terms of state representatives from two to four years.

Many observers have expressed concern that opposition to the four-year-terms amendments may spread over to other less controversial measures. A light voter turnout is forecast. ILLNESS STRIKES GOVERNOR. Flu confined Governor Connally to his bed all last week. On advice of his doctor, he cancelled speeches in El Paso, Paris, Houston, and Dallas. He is taking no chances on a relapse, since he is scheduled to leave the country for Japan and Viet Nam on a State Department-sponsored tour for governors late this month.

TEXAS BUYS PLANE. State is buying, for $85,000, a used, 11-passenger twin-engine airplane for use of the governor and other state officials.

Legislature this year appropriated $275,000 for purchase of the plane and allotted another $150,000 to maintain it. But Connally elected to save money and invest in a time-tested used model which has been completely reconditioned and equipped with latest safety and communications equipment.

COURTS SPEAK. State Supreme Courts, reversing lower courts, threw out State Comptroller, Robert S. Calvert's cancellation of Houston tobacco wholesaler, Mair J. Schepps' ("House of Tobacco, Inc.") state permit.

Court, in one of its 114 rulings opening day of its 1965-66 session, said Calvert's cancellation was unconstitutional because he held no hearing on case.

Harry M. Harrington, Jr., Longview oilman, asked court to throw out as unconstitutional the law under which attorney general has brought more than $1,600,000 in penalties for state. Harrington, with three others, was assessed $304,800 in penalties.

High court in other cases.

Agreed Shell Oil Company should be permitted to install its trademark on seven service stations leased from El Paso Natural Gas Products Company. Declined to review lower court dismissal of Lower Neches Valley Authority suit against City of Beaumont. Set a hearing December 1 in controversy over Hurricane Carla insurance claims. Rejected effort of Corpus Christi lawyer to get two other attorneys disbarred.

RECORD LEASE SALE RE-

PORTED. Land Commissioner, Jerry Sadler, said addition of $6,800,000 from last state oil and gas lease sale of 1965 brought the year's total to a record of $85,000,000. Sale covering 131,660 acres of land located throughout the state

Cotton Harvest Off To Slow Start

The South Plains Cotton harvest is off to a slow start this year. The Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the U. S. Department of Agriculture classed 4,700 samples during the week ending Friday, October 8, according to W. K. Palmer, Chairman of the office. This brought the total samples classed for the season to only 7,200. At this date last year, 13,000 samples had been classed.

Virtually all of the South Plains cotton harvested has been hand pulled. The clear weather from mid-week enabled farmers to resume harvesting and the volume of cotton received at the Lubbock office increased daily. It is expected to continue to increase.

USDA Revises Official Cotton Standard of Micronaire Reading

It will be this time next year before we begin using the revised official U. S. cotton standards for micronaire readings recently announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This was pointed out today by W. K. Palmer, Officer-in-Charge of the USDA's Lubbock cotton classing office.

He said the effective date, June 1, 1966, conforms with the U. S. Cotton Standards Act. It requires a waiting period of not less than one year for changes in standards.

"This revision will provide an official standard for a third factor of cotton quality," Palmer said.

Official standards for grade and staple length were both established prior to 1920. Micronaire readings were first made available in 1946 at USDA cotton laboratories and now they are available at all cotton classing offices of USDA Consumer and Marketing Service.

In 1956, official cotton standards for micronaire readings were established for cotton certificated for delivery on futures contracts.

The new change will make the micronaire standards available in all grades in the Light Spotted category with 17 per cent. Staple length continued to average about 31/32 inch. During the week, the Lubbock office classed 69 per cent 31/32 and longer.

Micronaire readings continued to be very good. Ninety-five per cent milled 3.5 and better. The Consumer and Marketing Service of the U. S. D. A. reported very light trading in the new crop cotton. Prices for the white grades ranged from loan levels to $2.50 per bale over the loan. Light Spotted grades were in greater demand and prices ranged from $1.00 per bale over the loan to $5.00 per bale over the loan.

Average prices for the most predominant qualities were: Middling 15/16-27.70, Middling 31/32 - 28.30, Strict Low Middling 15/16-26.30, Strict Low Middling 31/32-26.80, Middling Light Spotted 15/16-26.70, Middling Light Spotted 31/32-27.20. Prices paid farmers for cottonseed ranged from $45.00 to $47.00 per ton.

for general use without restriction, Palmer explained.

Also, the revision will incorporate developments made since 1956 in airflow instrument and in testing procedures used to make micronaire readings of fiber fineness and maturity.

Since micronaire readings provide an accurate measure of fiber fineness and maturity, they are recognized throughout the cotton industry as an important quality factor in merchandising and processing cotton.

Also, cotton farmers have in micronaire readings a valuable guide to best varieties to grow, management practices and to the best outlet for their cotton, Palmer pointed out.

About 63 percent of the cotton classed by the Lubbock, Lamesa and Brownfield offices last season also received a micronaire reading.

"We will offer cotton farmers this making service again this season," he said.

Wolverines Down Stubborn Bulldogs 20-2

The long delay, due to power failure Friday night, really cooled the Wolverines off to the point where the local boosters were wondering if they would ever really get rolling.

It always seems to be harder for a team to get started, after being off a week. The timing was really off, with the backs unable to find holes to go through, and the linemen having trouble opening up the line.

Amherst really put up a good battle, and showed speed, with their ground attack. The Bulldogs compiled 154 yards rushing, 6 yards passing, and had 10 first downs.

The Wolverines gained 184 yards rushing, 84 yards passing, and had 16 first downs.

Jerry Don Sanders had a fine night on points. The wind was calm and Jerry demonstrated to perfection his talent for booting that pigskin. On 5 punts, Jerry had a total of 228 yards, which gave him an average of 45.3 yards per kick. Colleges that need a kicker would do well to look this boy over.

Defense dominated the game Friday night with both teams unable to come up with that long play.

Late in the first quarter, Richard Mitchell, running from the fullback position crashed over from the one yard line for the first touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

In the second quarter, the Wolverines struck through the air, with Messer connecting with Floyd Henderson on a slant pass from the right side up the middle for 21 yards and pay dirt.

Messer rolled out on a Keeper play around left end for the 2 points, and at halftime, the Wolverines led 14-0.

The entire third quarter found both teams battling to score but neither one could muster enough power to score.

Penalties really hurt the Wolverines during this second half, a total of 60 yards was stepped off, and several of these, stopped what looked to be touchdown drives.

Midway in the fourth quarter, the Wolverines scored their final touchdown on a 7 yard run up the middle by Jerry Don Sanders. The try for extra point failed.

Amherst scored its 2 points on a bad snap from center that sailed slightly over Jerry Don Sanders' head, and rolled out of the end zone for a safety.

The Bulldogs, threatened twice during the fourth quarter, were stopped when Jerry Don Sanders recovered a fumble on the 10 yard line, with 2:06 minutes left to play and on the last play of the game, Randy Washington stopped a passing attack on the 12 yard line.

This week, district play begins and all teams really get down to business. The Wolverines, the only team in the district with an undefeated record, enters Sunday for the big Homecoming game. Farwell goes to Kress for a tough battle. Both squads possess 4-1 records. Hale Center (3-2) is at Silvertown (1-4) in the other 3-A meeting.

RICHARD MITCHELL goes over from the one yard line early in the first quarter. Richard has just been shifted from the tackle position to fullback, and played a real good offensive game.

DOUG MESSER, on a Keeper around left end, came up with a first down, that kept the drive alive to give the Wolverines their final touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

JERRY DON SANDERS, up the middle for 7 yards and a touchdown. Action took place late in the fourth quarter and the Wolverines went on to win 20-2.

ALMOST INTERCEPTED. However, the Bulldog drive was stopped on the 12 yard line by Randy Washington, the safety man for the Wolverines. Action took place on the last play of the game against Amherst.

Thomas Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bryant spent the weekend with his parents.

Norman Ellis and Claude Ellis spent several days recently in California on a business trip.

Underground Wiring Circuits Eliminate Poles

More and more farmers and homemakers are finding that underground electrical circuits to buildings, light posts and equipment are practical, says W. S. Allen, Extension Agricultural Engineer with Texas A&M University.

"Electrical cables that are especially designed for underground installations have been on the market for many years," he points out. "These cables will withstand the moisture and corrosion present in wet soil."

Allen cautions that cables intended for dry locations in residential construction should never be used for underground circuits.

Since more wire resistance heat is contained within the cable, he adds, it is necessary to increase by about 20 percent the size of underground cables. Or it could be said that a cable used underground would carry only 80 per cent as much electrical current as one used in open air.

Underground cables should be buried deep enough to avoid the risk of being contacted by farm implement such as a plow or cultivator. Where these buried cables may be run over by heavy loads, a board laid over the cable before the trench is backfilled will help distribute the weight above the cable.

In planning for unusual installations involving long distances, expensive equipment, an engineer, or a qualified contractor, the engineer advises.

Texas Youth Must Help Plan Own Future

Texas youth must be allowed to have a hand in planning their own future, for the answer to juvenile problems lies not in corrections, but in prevention.

Texas Attorney General Waggoner Carr, addressing the annual meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association in Austin recently, emphasized that "by the time a child reaches juvenile court, most of the damage to him has already been done."

"What we as leaders must do is to reach the child before he becomes a delinquent. To combat juvenile delinquency, it is necessary to involve young people themselves," Carr told the group of almost 1,000 home-makers.

He said that the Attorney General's Youth Conference on crime, which brought together more than 1,600 young delegates this year, is concentrating on three basic concerns of Texas youth: the organization of projects designed to build respect for law enforcement among our young people, the undertaking of projects to better qualify youth for the opportunities and challenges of today's living, and projects to combat drop-outs in Texas schools.

"Current projects include such programs as the teenage jury system now in operation in over 10 Texas cities, and the unique Tutorial Program begun in 1964 by high school students who tutor sixth graders in an effort to keep them in school," Carr said.

Despite current efforts to help youth, Carr said many more are needed. "The urbanization of Texas has made it difficult for the people of a city to supply guidance to each child, yet we know that unless the trend of youth crime and delinquency can be changed, the future will be an era of internal violence the like of which we never have seen," Carr warned.

Mrs. C. R. Berkley of Odessa, president of the THDA, has announced that Corpus Christi will be host for the 1966 meeting of the women's organization.

STARS OF THE WEEK*BACKFIELD

THE BACK OF THE WEEK Honor goes to the hard running full-back, Richard Mitchell. Richard is a senior and tips the scales at 186 pounds, and is the type of player that a coach can play at almost any position and not worry about the job being done right. Friday night was the first night for Mitchell to play in the backfield position, but he made it look real easy as he scored one touchdown and made several runs for good yardage. All previous games this year he has played at the tackle position.

LINEMAN

LINEMAN OF THE WEEK Honor goes to the hard hitting guard, Jose Triana, who tips the scales at 180 pounds, and only a Junior. Jose is the type of player that moves all over the field and does everything well. Friday night was a good example of his ability to work into the opponent's backfield and keep the ball carriers from picking up large amounts of yardage. We are bound to see a lot out of Jose before he graduates from Springlake-Earth High School.

Double-Row Planting Of Grain Sorghum Boost Crop Yields

COLLEGE STATION -- Most people agree narrow rows of grain sorghum will outyield the standard 38 or 40-inch rows. Narrow rows of grain sorghum are usually planted with a standard small grain drill, with every other hole stopped up. There is a better method, however, says Robert Lynch, assistant agronomist at Texas A & M University's Livestock and Forage Research Center at McGregor that method is double-row planting of grain sorghum. Double-row planting is centering two, 12-inch rows on a 40 inch base. This means it is 40 inches from the center of one set of double-rows to the center of the next set of double-rows. Several years of research at the McGregor Station have proved the worth of double-row grain sorghum. Already, a few farmers in the Blacklands area are adapting the double-row planting to their land and machinery. Double-row planting uses the same amount of seed as regular single rows. The only difference is each of the double-rows gets one-half the seed. This is accomplished by adding an inverted Y shaped tube for the seed to drop through from the planter box to the two shoes that run in the ground. Above the Y is a divider to cause half the seed to drop on each side. The only other alteration to the planter is adding a third covering shovel to cover the grain, notes Lynch. An extra wide roller may be used on the rear of the planter, or rolling may be done in a separate operation. Records at the McGregor Research Center from 1959 to 1965 indicate a substantial increase in yield over single-rows by the double-row plantings. The average yield of the 7-year period for single-rows was 3,548 pounds per acre. The average yield of the same period for the double-row planting was 4,278 pounds per acre, an increase of about 25 percent. Neither of the tests were irrigated. Both were fertilized with the same rate of 16-20-0 fertilizer. Usually the plots were cultivated twice. Lynch says the advantages of the double-rows are: (1) A narrow-row type planting that can still be planted and cultivated with conventional equipment, (2) Increased yield over single-row plantings, (3) Planting in double-rows conserves moisture since the ground between rows is shaded more, and (4) The planter is crowded since the same amount of seed is spread into two rows instead of one. This means bigger heads. Some tests indicate that drilling grain sorghum increases yields even more than double-rows, but Lynch believes farmers will have consistently higher yields with double-rows. "Most farmers have weedy ground," said Lynch, "so it's better to plant in double-rows that can be cultivated instead of drilling grain sorghum and letting weeds take over." The only modification to a conventional cultivator is moving one of the front shovels in, so it will clean the center of the 12-inch rows. At the McGregor Station a four-row planter and cultivator were used with only minor changes. Lynch says double-row planters are not available yet from major implement companies, but a machine shop can make the change in a short time and at a fairly low cost.

Teenage Marriages On Increase

Parents of pre-teens, here's a question for your consideration: Will your youngster soon join the ranks of married teenagers? Not much chance with your youngster, you may say. But you had better look again if your teenager is a girl, says Mrs. Patsy R. Yates, Extension family life specialist at Texas A&M University. "Studies show that you have almost a 50-50 chance of a teenage daughter marrying before she is 20," says Mrs. Yates. In 1960, 48 percent of all Texas girls--or some 156,000 young women between the ages of 14 and 19--were or at some time had been married. This high rate of teenage marriage isn't likely to go down a great deal, Mrs. Yates predicts. "You can help prepare your daughter or son for the responsibilities of marriage and a home by encouraging them to enroll in high school home economics courses which teach management in the family and consumer buying. You can also urge them to take courses which teach management in the family and consumer buying. You can also urge them to take courses which may be offered in family relationships or family living. These courses may not prevent teenage marriages, but they do afford a chance to prevent some teenage divorces. A frequent cause of marital problem is money. Parents can give their youngsters sound preparation for the future by teaching them to do the family grocery shopping or keeping the family business records or paying the family bills, Mrs. Yates adds. Mrs. Leon Middleton, who was a house guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bull, returned her home in Amarillo last week.

Rev. Albert Lindley is attending a Pastor's School at McMurry College in Abilene this week. Dr. and Mrs. George B. Benson, Director of Rehabilitation Therapies, and Mrs. Florence Reilly, Volunteer Coordinator of McKnight State Tuberculosis Hospital at Carlsbad, Texas, were house guests of Mrs. Myrtle Clayton of Springlake Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Brown and Dickie, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morris attended the "Aspenade" in Rudosa, N.M., last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. M.R. Burton were dinner guests, Sunday, in Sudan in the home of their daughter, Mrs. S. A. Farmer. A birthday dinner honoring Mr. Burton was given. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kelley spent several days last week in Amarillo with their daughter, Mrs. Freida Thornburg and children.

Make Your Present Money Go Farther

There are two ways to live better on your present income, says Mrs. Elsie P. Short, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University. One is to get more for your money and the other is to put your money where it counts most. To live better on your present income, avoid impulse buying and throwing your money away. Look around your house. How many things can you see that you haven't used or could have lived without? Are you guilty of buying "white elephants" which are now virtually useless? If you answer yes, start planning better money management. Use some of these suggestions: Buy the best, rather than the most expensive. Learn to judge quality by an item's value to you. Consider discontinued models of well-known brands that have guaranteed replaceable parts. Second-hand items may also be good choices. The new models may not be essentially changed from the older ones, and the added features may not be so important to you. Buy merchandise on sale, but be sure it is a real reduction in price and not special merchandise brought in especially as a sale drawing card. Save money by paying cash. This enables you to avoid the extra carrying charge. Keep what you have in good repair. Develop the ability to see needed repairs before breakdowns occur.

Let's Take More Small Game!

Here's news of exciting interest to upland and small game hunters, especially at this time of year. According to the Wildlife Management Institute, small game hunters traditionally harvest too little game, not too much. By shooting wildlife on experimental areas at rates three or four times higher than those known to be achieved by hunters, scientists have shown that much larger bags of game could be taken.

Another organization, the Midwest Pheasant Council, reports that failure to harvest a full quota of cock pheasants in the Midwest has resulted in a years-long waste of game resources.

"Liberal bag limits, adequate shooting hours and sufficient season lengths, along with judicious season timing, are inexpensive tools which may result in a more adequate cock harvest and benefit pheasant hunters," the Council advises. "There is little likelihood of over-harvesting wild cock populations under natural conditions."

Such well-established facts have caused many states to set the longest possible small game seasons. If your state isn't among them, it's high time you and your hunting friends let your game authorities know that you're aware of the facts and want action!

Study on Possible Relationship Between Health Patterns, Use of Pesticides Begins

An intensive study of possible relationships between human health patterns and the use of chemicals, particularly pesticides, in agricultural practices is progressing on schedule in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

This task, expected to require a minimum of five years, is set to get underway this month. Equipment and technical personnel are already in San Benito where the community pesticides study laboratory is located.

The Texas investigation is one of 11 such studies planned for the United States. Uniformity of analytical procedures, sampling techniques and data processing between the areas under study laboratory is located.

The Texas investigation is one of 11 such studies planned for the United States. Uniformity of analytical procedures, sampling techniques and data processing between the areas under study laboratory is located.

Public health representatives point out that the program is aimed strictly at fact-finding and not as a regulatory or enforcement measure. The prime interest lies in safeguarding the public health.

A more thorough understanding of health hazards as well as the benefits associated with use of agricultural chemicals in the environment is deemed necessary by health personnel.

This feeling prevails since little is known about the possible effects on man's health of long-term, low-level exposure to hazardous substances and the extent of environmental contamination.

Instances of persons receiving heavy chronic pesticide exposure will be scrutinized with attention being given to liver and kidney ailments, neurological disorders, allergies and other health disorders. Deaths from unknown causes will be checked to determine if unrecognized fatalities brought on by chemicals occur.

The study is aimed at discovering what pesticides get into the environment, by what routes they affect people, the way in which they are handled by the human body and its tissues and organs, and whether chemicals are making people sick or shortening their lives.

In terms of Valley specifics, one of the first tasks of researchers will be to determine the kinds and amounts of pesticides used and the methods of application; pesticide retention characteristics of the soil; local weather features; methods employed for farm, garden, household, public health and commercial pest control; disease incidences and mortality rates. The Valley staff includes a project director, three chemists, three sanitarians, an office assistant and a lab worker. As work progresses, however, additional personnel may be employed as required to achieve the aims and objectives of the project.

The study, sponsored by the U. S. Public Health Service in conjunction with the Division of Occupational Health of the Texas State Department of Health, will work on a first-year budget of about $100,000. Funds for the second year may be increased.

The valley area was picked for the long-term project because of the extensive use of chemicals in the area. There has been no long-term comprehensive study of this type made in the area before.

Shred And Plow Grain Stubble Under

Farmers in the Blackland area of Central Texas have a valuable by-product of grain sorghum harvest which, when properly utilized, could mean more money from next year's crop, says John Box, associate Extension agronomist, Texas A&M University.

Referring to crop residues, he makes this statement as harvest is beginning, on what appears to be a bumper grain sorghum yield in the Blackland region.

In order to derive the most benefit from residue, (primarily stubble) it should be shredded and mixed into the top six or eight inches of soil promptly after harvest. The moist leaves and stalk will provide a good source of food and energy for soil organisms and will be converted into soil organic matter prior to the 1966 growing season.

If the land is to be fallow until mid-April, there is little advantage to adding chemical nitrogen fertilizer when residue is turned under. Decomposition processes are normally very rapid in most Blackland soils, and nitrogen added to "speed-up" rate of decomposition will be of more value if applied later to feed the following crop, Box explains.

However, if a crop such as small grain is to follow within 60 to 75 days after harvest, added nitrogen will likely be a paying proposition. Stalks that are left standing until late in the year (November-December) may require additional nitrogen to aid in natural rotting processes when they are turned under. About 15 to 30 pounds of nitrogen per ton of air dry residue is usually sufficient for this situation.

Farmers who are tempted to graze, bale, or burn sorghum residues should think carefully before using them for anything other than a source of raw materials for conversion into soil organic material, Box concludes.

Trees, Shrub Can Be Grown On A Trellis

Want something different in your home grounds landscaping? A tree or large shrub trained to grow on a trellis or wall may be the answer, says Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist at Texas A&M University. Advanced gardeners may spend years developing a large espalier tree or shrub, but the results are worth the effort, adds Janne. Fruit trees are especially adapted for use as espaliers and many of the ornamental plants with colorful fruit such as the pyracantha are also very effective, he adds. The training is started when the plant is very young, preferably a 1-year old whip or at most a 2-year old budded or grafted fruitstock. Start it before the plant has produced a stiff trunk and large side branches, advises Janne. Usually the whip is pruned back to within a foot or two of the ground by heading back the main stem. Allow only those side shoots to develop which are growing in the proper position and direction to produce the desired effect. The selected lateral shoots are tied to the trellis or post as they grow and the side shoots developing from them are pinched out except those wanted for additional arms in the framework or for fruiting spurs. In most cases, espaliers are trained to grow so all branches will form a vertical plane. The plant may be trained to a single shoot, or to two shoots lying in opposite directions, usually horizontal, and is known as a cordon. The cordon, explains Janne, is usually trained along a horizontal wire or low wooden fence. Other methods include the fan-shaped and grid-iron espaliers and both are suitable for growing along a wall, the horticulturist says. The espaliered plant requires less room than a free standing plant and is an effective way to screen or protect a wall from the full heat of the sun. The plant can be fastened to a masonry wall, but it is better to use a wood trellis to hold the plant 4 to 6 inches from the wall for air circulation and less heat damage to the plant. East and north exposures are best, says Janne. To be effective, a uniform balance of growth must be maintained over the entire plant. This requires constant observation and careful pruning, says

Double Cropping Of Grain Sorghum Has Proven Successful

COLLEGE STATION. -Recropping grain sorghum is proving successful in experimental tests and in farmers' fields, says James C. Smith, superintendent of Texas A&M University's Gulf Coast Pasture-Beef Cattle Research Station, Angleton. The usual practice is harvesting the first crop with a combine, followed by conventional mechanical cultivation and fertilized by sidedressing, said Smith. With the recropping method, the five-year average yield, under dryland conditions at the Angleton station is over 7,000 pounds of grain per acre. In two of the five years, the second crop out-yielded the first crop. Usually, however, the amount of rainfall on the second crop determines its success. Around 180-200 days from planting time, to harvest of the second crop is required. If the first crop is planted in March, harvested in June or July, then the second crop should be harvested in October. After the first harvest, the stalks should be shredded to a height of three or four inches, said Smith. The shredded stalks after cultivation, act as a mulch, and help conserve moisture and gives additional weed control. The stubble should not be removed from the field. The organic matter from the shredded stalks is worth more than if it is used as feed for livestock, he continued. Smith cautions stubble cropping of grain sorghum should not be attempted unless adequate fertilizer is used. Selection of the correct hybrid for stubble cropping is also important, since there is a variation in the ability of hybrids to produce a second crop.
