87 Die In Hospital Collapse

Total Dead In Tampico Area May Be 5,000

Three-Fourths Of City In Ruins, Mexico City Is Informed

MEXICO, D. F.—Military authorities reported to the war ministry Tuesday the port of Tampico was virtually destroyed in Monday's hurricane.

Numerous persons, neck deep in the overflow of the Panuco and Tamesi rivers have been rescued.

The manager of the Tampico airbase said in a message 52 bodies were rescued by noon. Some 300 persons were reported rescued from flooded sections of the city Tuesday.

BROWNSVILLE (AP)—Eighty-seven persons were killed at Tampico when the Civil Hospital collapsed during the Sunday night hurricane, according to latest information via Pan-American Airways wireless.

MEXICO, D. F. (AP)—Mexico's resources were mobilized Tuesday to aid the storm-stricken, flooded city of Tampico where estimates placed the number of dead or injured as high as 5,000.

Thousands of homeless and enormous property damage were reported. General Eduardo Vasconcelos, secretary of the interior, said the number of dead "can not be stated exactly" but that the military chief of the district witnessed three-fourths of Tampico destroyed, with many victims. It was feared hundreds were buried alive under the ruins.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Vice-Congressman Carey at Tampico, Mexico, advised the state department Tuesday all Americans residing in the Tampico area, were believed to have escaped injury from the hurricane.

Aluminum

NRA meets up formally with its first complete monopoly Thursday. Advance rumblings forecast a merry time and possibly a little excitement.

Day after tomorrow Andy Mellon's aluminum trust is to show up in open hearing and talk over the little matter of signing a code.

Independents are loaded for bear and promise they will pull the trigger first and ask questions afterward.

The Mellon trust has shaped up a code to govern both production, which it controls 100 per cent, and fabrication, which it controls only 75 per cent.

That measly little 25 per cent of independent fabricators is kicking its heels higher than a barn and demanding there be two codes for the industry.

A sub rosa sentiment somewhat favoring the claims of the little fellows is apparent around the corridors of NRA headquarters.

The independents are going to tell the wide world that the Aluminum company is underselling ingots to itself for fabrication in such fashion as to make competition almost impossible.

Further if a separate code can be obtained for their end of the industry the independents are going to offer a better pay and working schedule than the trust proposes for processing.

The two advisory boards representing the consumers and labor will also have a few observations to make on the subject. They have

City To War On Reckless Auto Drivers

Frequency Of Collisions Brings Stern Warning Of Police

City police are preparing to war on reckless drivers and traffic law violators.

An unusually large number of automobile collisions within the past week had a bearing on the decision to wage a campaign against traffic violators.

It was learned that Chief J. T. Thornton and his men will especially watch for wild driving. Warning was also issued that automobiles must really come to a stop at all stop signs.

Home Town Talk by Betty

John Knott, the noted editorial cartoonist of The Dallas News, pictures Old Man Texas astride a bone, worn-out nag, trying his best to get a little more progress out of him. The nag is tagged "Constitution of 1876."

The News' editorial accompanying the cartoon pointedly repeats that great newspaper's contention that the Constitution of the State of Texas has out-worn its usefulness, is a relic of antiquity wholly unsuited to Texas needs of the present and bound to be a greater handicap to progress of the future.

Fewer counties, fewer offices, fewer intricacies in the law, less duplication of duties and authority—these are some of the things The News sees as pressing needs that can hardly be realized with the present constitution as the basic law of the commonwealth.

There is a lot of dead wood that ought to be whittled out of the constitution. The very principles of government aims to be preserved and protected by it are as sound as ever. But the framework upon which a better Texas might be built has become rotten and unsafe with age. The desire to move on the part of the old nag may be as strong as ever but his muscles won't obey, won't react to his impulses.

Some day a constitutional convention will be called. It may be many years, but the need will eventually become so great and so plain to the citizens of the state that they will demand it.

There will be opposition, much of it. As The News suggests, political bosses, local nabobs, court house rings and rabble-rousing stumpers without conception of statesmanship and incapable of unselfish public service will be expected to oppose such a move.

Knowing that opposition will come from such sources the people of Texas ought to forget they ever voted for anybody when they begin setting up machinery for the writing of a new constitution. It will

AUSTIN (AP)—Charges that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce improperly used disbursement of unemployment relief funds as a weapon to increase financial subscriptions to that organization were made Tuesday as the senate continued an inquiry into the past administration's of funds to the needy.

Four Added To Board Of Local C Of C

King, Robbins, Thomas And Robertson Selected Tuesday

Four men were elected to the Board of Directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning at a breakfast meeting of that board.

The new members are: W. Rance King, manager of the Montgomery Ward and Company store; B. F. Robbins, city property owner and oil lease and royalty dealer; Clyde E. Thomas, attorney; and W. A. Robertson, proprietor of Robertson's Men's Wear.

The men fill vacancies on the board. King and Robbins will occupy two of five places that may be filled annually by appointment of the 20 directors who are elected.

Thomas will fill the unexpired term of George White, who retired from the board, and Robertson will fill the unexpired term of G. R. Porter, who has moved from the city.

The board heard reports from several members on results of solicitation of various firms and individuals in an effort to enroll additional members. Assignments recently given individual directors will be continued and additional assignments will be made from time to time.

Manager Watson was directed to go to Austin to confer with officials in an effort to get the governor to ask the legislature to change the statute governing condemnation of land for highway right-of-way and channel purposes.

Through a quirk in wording of an amendment passed at the last regular session authority to institute such condemnation proceedings was taken from the highway department and delegated solely to the counties.

The emendment was supposedly designed to give the highway department authority to condemn land for channel purposes as well as road right-of-way but was actually passed with such wording that the counties alone may file such suits.

The local Chamber is interested in this because the change in law has prevented condemnation of right-of-way across the northeast corner of Glascock county for Highway No. 9. If the change is not made the Howard county section of the road, already under contract, will lead to a "dead end" at the Howard-Glascock county line.

The Glascock county Commission-Court has refused to condemn the land.

Communications received with reference to an effort being made to eliminate what are considered unfair differentials between prices of crude oil produced in West Texas and other sections, and on the status of the proposal to erect a post office building here were read.

Clifford B. Jones, regional advisor in the Public Works Administration, informed the organization he had asked for information to determine whether the federal building can be placed under the Public Works Administration. The project has been ready more than two years and a contract was awarded, but this was found to be on a bid about $18,000 higher than the appropriation made during the Hoover administration, which was reduced 15 per cent at the beginning of the Roosevelt administration, before the Public Works program was inaugurated.

84 Additional Cotton Checks Enroute Here

Notice Of Transmittal Of $20,838 More Received By Griffin

Reception of a certified list Tuesday by County Agent O. F. Griffin foretold the early arrival of an additional $4 cotton benefit checks for Howard county farmers.

When this group of checks arrives, it will place another $20,838 in the hands of local farmers.

To date all checks distributed through Griffin have not been encumbered by government loans of any sort.

With the exception of a half dozen checks, all have been given to the farmers.

That they are placing the money back in circulation was evidenced in a marked increase of business activity locally Saturday.

Griffin said of the six checks he is now holding, five are ready for setting in north, probably within some time, the recipients lacking in interest to call for them.

With reception of the 84 checks, Howard county farmers will have received $135,017 through settlement of 514 or 782 contracts signed here.

Outlaw Goes Peacefully With Police

Wife And Two Men Also Taken In Memphis, Tenn., Rooming House

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—George E. "Machine Gun" Kelly, sought in connection with kidnaping of Charles Urschel of Oklahoma City, surrendered peacefully to officers who surprised him in a rooming house here early Tuesday. At the police station Chief Will D. Lee said Kelly admitted his identity.

Arrested with the outlaw were a woman Lee said was his wife, Kathryn, and two men described as J. E. Tichnor and S. E. Travis.

Kelly's capture was effected by a group of officers who surrounded a house in which he and the others were sleeping.

Officer Bill Raney entered the front door. As Kelly opened a bedroom door, revolver in hand, Raney ordered him to drop it.

Kelly complied, raising his hands. This morning police received a telegram from the Department of Justice saying the Kellys were hiding in Memphis.

His black hair was dyed yellow and his wife was wearing a red wig.

Kathryn Kelly agreed to return to Oklahoma City to face trial.

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—George Kelly and his wife, Kathryn, will be brought to Oklahoma City immediately for trial in the Charles Urschel kidnaping case.

CHICAGO, (AP)—It was an Oklahoma woman from whom the government learned George Kelly was in Memphis, Melvin H. Purvis of the investigation unit of the Department of Justice here, said Tuesday.

The woman is a Miss Arnold, Purvis said, a close friend of Mrs. Kelly, who left her Oklahoma home with the Kellys and accompanied them to Memphis after the Urschel kidnaping.

She returned to the southwest and the government, hearing she knew where Kelly was, gave her a thorough sledge of questioning.

At the police station Kathryn immediately agreed to waive extradition and return to Oklahoma City for trial.

Kelly was not as communicative as his wife, and not nearly so anxious to returning to Oklahoma City.

At the police station, Kelly readily admitted identity. He smoked numerous cigarettes but told Police Chief Lee, "I'm not talking about anything."

"I was going back to Oklahoma City tomorrow and give myself up," he wife said. "Kelly told me he would kill me if I did but I was going anyway."

She said she wanted to save her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon, now on trial in connection with the kidnaping.

Kelly, police said, was traced here by a telegram sent in code to Tichnor. The message's content were not revealed, but presumably it was a tip to Tichnor concerning movements of officers.

Tichnor, police said, is not wanted in connection with any of the crimes charged to Kelly, including participation in the slaying of the lieutenant Miles Cunningham, who attempted to capture five men who robbed a Federal Reserve Bank automobile in Chicago recently and fled behind an exhaust pipe smoke screen.

Rural School Teachers Get New Pay Basis

Instructors In 9-Month Schools To Be Paid On 12-Month Basis

A new salary schedule will be followed in paying rural school teachers this year, Mrs. Pauline C. Brigham, county superintendent, announced Tuesday.

Teachers in nine months schools will be paid their yearly salaries on a twelve months basis.

Eight months teachers will receive their salaries in ten equal installments.

All checks will be given the twentieth of each month and there will be no half checks allowed within the month.

As formerly, teachers will make their regular reports at the end of every four weeks.

Teachers forced to hold warrants because of insufficient funds will receive an additional 4 per cent interest. Previously they were required to hold the warrants without interest.

Applications For State Aid Schools Due By End Of Week

For The Love of Eve by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER XVII

Eve did not sleep well that night. She awoke several times, only to drift back into troubled dreams of Sibby's store, a stock exchange, and finally her old home. In the morning she was so quiet that Dick was worried.

"You've almost skipping about all over the place by 7:30," he said. "What's the matter? Don't you feel well?"

"I'm all right," Eve assured him. "It was just thinking. I mustn't forget to write to Mother today. It's almost a week since her last letter came."

Dick approved of the way in which Eve and her mother kept in close touch with each other. Once every week Mrs. Bayless wrote — long letters, painstakingly written in her cramped, handwriting, filled with news of the family, the relatives and Eve's old friends. And once or twice a week Eve dashed off a reply on her typewriter. Her father grumbled, "Eve's letters are too long for any man to read. Tell me in a few words what she said."

But when Kate Bayless received the letter Eve wrote that day she hesitated to tell her husband what it contained.

"Mother, dear," Eve had written, "I wonder if you could get from Dad the money he is keeping for me in the emergency fund? You know how Eather and I always saved our pennies and nickels and put them in the little red elephant banks until there was enough to deposit down town? Dad said that when we grew up we would have that money for an emergency fund in case anything happened. So I wish he would let me have the money now for something very, very special. I don't want him or Dick to know about it but I'll let you in on the secret. I'm not going to spend the money—I'm going to invest it."

Because her daughter had asked her to do it Kate did try to get the money. But Hank Bayless remained adamant as a rock. He refused to draw out one penny of the sum unless his wife told him what she intended to do with it. Finally Kate told him that Eve wanted it.

"Why should she want that money?" he thundered. "She's getting a good salary and she has a husband with a good job who would be glad to support her if she'd stop this foolishness about working and give him a chance! Now what does she need money for?"

"I'll bet she's up to some danged foolishness!" he went on. "Well, she'll get no help from me. I've gone into debt, likely as not, for something she doesn't need. Has she written anything lately about buying anything?"

Reluctantly Kate clutched at this straw. "She did write a while back about buying some furniture."

"Furniture?" Hank repeated, puzzled. "Why I thought they weren't going to buy furniture. Yet I thought they lived in a furnished apartment."

"They do," Kate answered patiently. "But this was something special Eve wanted. She saw it on one of their trips. It was—antiques."

"Antiques?" Hank groaned. "With my hard-earned money? Well, it'll be damned! No mother; tell her 'no.' Not by a jugful!"

So Eve received less than she had expected and the draft was made out to her mother from the little fund Mrs. Bayless had saved for so long. Kate had made one more sacrifice for her daughter and Eve had to be content with the amount she received.

She wrote her mother a long letter of appreciation. The money was to be considered as a loan, Eve explained and she promised to repay it as soon as she had made a gain of that amount. She would hold this for working capital. "You know, Mother," she wrote, "it's impossible to get a start without a little capital." Kate smiled as she read that. To think her quarters and half dollars, saved from the household allowance, and slipped into the cracked sugar bowl on the top pantry shelf, would have grown into "capital!" What would this enterprising daughter of hers do next?

She would have been surprised to know that Eve was about to be afraid she might have difficulty keeping her activities from Dick if she played the market through a broker's office. Eve had decided to operate through the bank. She felt, however, as though she were being cheated of the thrill supposed to be connected with playing the stock market. Eve enjoyed excitement and there was little to stimulate her imagination in the stock and bond department of the City Bank.

Mr. Brown suggested four stocks which were on the rising market. "For a quick turnover," he advised, "these are as likely as any to advance."

Eve's funds were so limited that it seemed advisable to concentrate on one as a beginning. She placed her money on Pure Soap Inc.

Eve glanced at the pretty young elevator girl in a parading manner as she rode up to the office floor of Sibby's. "One knows so little at that age," she told herself. "I wouldn't want to be a year younger than I am. For see the knowledge I gain all the time! Why only yesterday I didn't know what it was like to invest on the stock market and today I feel rich already!"

That afternoon she worked swiftly, deftly and happily. Ariens commented on her mood.

"I'm having a good day," Eve admitted. "I've turned out my copy in about half the time it usually takes."

"Well, I envy you!" Ariens grumbled. "It would take a million dollars to make me feel like that today."

"Oh, a few hundred thousand can do a lot!" Eve answered airily.

At 2:30 she sent the office boy to buy a copy of the stock edition of an evening paper. When it came Eve turned excitedly to the financial page. Pure Soap, Inc., had gone up two points.

Eve made a mental note of her profit. "When it goes up 10 points," she decided, "I'll sell and reinvest the profit in something else. Oh, this is going to be fun!"

That evening she watched Dick as he unfolded the final edition which was always waiting for them at the hall door when they arrived home. He scanned page one and then turned to the financial pages which he pursued thoroughly before turning back to read the local news.

Eve had not known before that Dick was interested in stock quotations. Was he playing the market, too?

After her return from New York Eve had tried to avoid Freda Carter. She blamed Freda for the unpleasant incident with Theron Reese.

But when Freda invited Eve to a party in her apartment the next evening there seemed nothing to do but accept the invitation. The buyer had come to the advertising office with some frocks for Marya to sketch. As she was leaving she turned abruptly toward Eve.

"Oh, I almost forgot!" Freda said. "I'm throwing a party tomorrow night and I'd love to have you girls come."

She had only a slight acquaintance with Mona Allen and her fiance was for Eve and Ariens but before either of them could reply Mona gave Freda a melting smile and exclaimed, "Oh, how perfectly sweet of you! I'd simply adore a party!"

Mona paused expectantly. Eve was thinking. "Freda didn't mean to include her. In she going to let Mona get away with that?"

Without particular cordiality Freda assured Mona that she was glad she could come. Ariens also accepted the invitation.

Eve liked Freda but she could never be sure about Freda's friends. There was Theron Reese, for example. But Eve was certain he would not be at the party. This was February and he had told her that he was not due in Lake City until the week before Easter. Reese had mentioned his itinerary in detail at dinner that evening in New York. Going to this party, Eve assured herself, would make it easier to refuse a later invitation that might include Reese. Furthermore, Dick had announced that he would be home to dinner the following evening.

And so, with feelings that mingled both satisfaction and uneasiness, Eve assured Freda Carter that she would come to the party.

YWA Officers Are Installed

Mother Goose Theme Used In Ceremonies, Good Attendance

The Y.W.A. of the First Baptist Church met at the church Monday afternoon for installation of officers. A clever Mother Goose rhyme plan was carried out in the installation. The following took office:

Lillian Rhoton, president; Lillian Crawford, vice-president; Lola McAdams, secretary; Jane Blank, pianist; Hazel Brown, chorister; Wynne Del Rhoton, personal chairman; Gladys Smith, program chairman; Mammie Leach, treasurer; Mrs. Della K. Agnell, leader; Mrs. J. C. Douglass, councillor; Angellea Russell, reporter.

Group captains will be appointed later. The members brought many nice gifts to send to Frances Cotton at Baylor College.

Out of an enrollment of 50, the following were present: Misses Bertie Edwards, Hortense Pittman, Angellea Russell, Mammie Griffin, Gertrude Martin, Wynne Del Rhoton, Letha Whitmore, Mammie Leach, Lillian Crawford, Lillian Rhoton, Gertrude Griffin, Floy Yeastman, Irene Barnett, Alla B. Collins, Josephine Tripp, Christine and Hortense Brown, Gladys Smith, Taylor; Mmes. Della K. Agnell, J. C. Douglass.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Carpenter and two guests from Toledo, Ohio, Mmes. Overcamp and Jack, spent the week-end at the Carlsbad Caverns.

Mrs. Marvin K. House has returned from Abilene, where she spent several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Gene Morrison and infant son, Billy Marvin Morrison.

Mrs. Joe Cleve Hostess For Very Pretty Party

The members of the Ski-Hi Bridge Club met with Mrs. Joe Cleve Monday afternoon for a very pretty party. Four tables of play-ers participated in the games, in rooms decorated with roses and cosmos.

Mrs. Rush won high for club members and received a novelty laundry bag. Mrs. Logan won high for guests and was favored with a mayonnaise dish. Mrs. Kuykendall, who was lucky in cut, was given a novelty purse.

At the refreshment hour a delicious salad was served with all-day suckers dressed up with ladies' faces as plate favors. Mrs. R. E. Blount was a tea guest.

Three new members were received into the club, Mmes. Bill Hittson, F. J. Gibson and Sam Goldman. Guests of the afternoon were: Mmes. V. M. Logan, L. R. Kuykendall, W. W. Pendleton, R. C. Pysatt, A. M. Underwood, and Miss Hazel Underwood.

Members attending were: Mmes. H. L. Bohannon, Bill Hittson, D. C. Hamilton, F. J. Gibson, P. W. Malone, R. E. Lee, Alton Underwood, Raymond Winn, Jimmie Mason and J. L. Rush.

Mrs. Gibson will be the next hostess.

First Baptist W. M. S. Meets For Business And Missionary Study

The W.M.U. of the First Baptist Church met Monday morning at the church for its monthly business meeting with Mrs. Libbie Layne presiding. Mrs. Fuller gave the devotional reading from Psalms.

Mrs. J. C. Douglass gave a talk on the NRA urging support and cooperation of the members. Plans were made to entertain the district meeting on Thursday and to prepare a luncheon at noon for guests and members.

After the covered dish luncheon was served, the Florence Day Circle gave a missionary program in the afternoon, beginning the week of prayer for state missions. Mrs. Grant opened the meeting with a devotional. On the program were Mmes. Hatch, Fuller and Dodge.

Present were: Mmes. Libbie Layne, Homer Wright, R. V. Hart, I. A. Fuller, R. C. Hatch, Jesse H. Andrews, B. Reagan, J. C. Douglass, K. S. Beckett, D. J. Dooley, F. F. Gary, H. C. Jenkins, B. F. Robbins, Nat Shick, Roy Lay, W. W. Grant, A. L. Sanders, J. W. Aderholt, R. E. Nunnally, C. E. Penney, John A. Bode, C. S. Holman, R. E. Day, Viola Bowles, W. D. Cornelson, and C. W. Miller.

Mrs. J. B. Pickle is recovering from severe burns received from a canning explosion.

When a jar of vegetables she had removed from a pressure cooker exploded.

D. J. investigation into the Aluminum company's books will be in Attorney General Cummings' hands any minute now. It was to have been ready in mid-July but a further probing around was decided upon.

Similar investigations in the past have wound up in a large bucket of whistles. Those on the inside insist that this one decidedly will NOT.

Deputy Administrator Phillip C. Kemp will preside over the aluminum hearings. Kemp is a former utility lawyer who sat on two boards with Arthur V. Davis, chairman of the board of the Aluminum company.

"The independents haven't squawked about this set-up yet. They have a funny little feeling NRA is going to listen to their claims. Also they have no desire to challenge Kemp's integrity."

Shaving

R. H. Macy and Co. of New York, controlled by Jesse Isidor Straus, our Ambassador to France, apparently has decided to make a knock-down, drag-out fight of the retail code.

The hitch of course is over the provision which would prevent a retail merchant from selling goods at less than cost plus ten per cent.

The policy of Mac and other stores throughout the country of advertising that by selling for cash they are able to shave this figure is a fighting tip-off.

A campaign to "educate the public" to their way of thinking is now in progress.

They have retained one of the nation's outstanding publicity men to carry the message home. He will make it burn in your ears. The burden of it is that price-fixing will hurt the consumer and the worker engaged in production and point toward monopoly through destruction of competition.

The theme you will become familiar with is that the American manufacturer and retailer should appear just as much vim and vigor to the problem of furnishing customers with good low-price merchandise as they have shown in fighting for their profit sheets.

In this the cash-and-carry boys have the support of the Consumers Advisory Board.

Policy

NRA again presents a rather unusual set-up in dealing with the retail problem.

Robert Straus is secretary of the policy board of NRA. Poppa's store is responsible for most of the shooting so far.

Kitchenette

The business of having a lady in one's Cabinet at last has raised a real problem for President Roosevelt.

A new and imposing structure to house the Labor Department is rising on Pennsylvania Avenue. Madame Secretary Perkins had her own ideas as to how the Secretary's office should be constructed.

It wasn't so bad when she demanded that living quarters including a bath and kitchen be built in. That could be done without much added cost.

Then she decided on a private elevator. Again the plans could be changed without undue expense.

But Miss Perkins wants the elevator to go a floor lower than the others so she can have a private entrance. That would cost about $1,200 extra.

Those in charge are in a quandry. Decision ultimately probably will rest with the White House.

Notes

Deputy Administrator Sol Rosenblatt in charge of the movie code is still trying to explain away one one he pulled last week. He called a hearing of the movie producers on the day that happened to open the ten-day observance of Jewish New Year and of course had to call it off. When President Roosevelt was confined to his room with a cold recently he sent word to his Secretary, Marvin H. McIntyre, convalescing in a hospital offering to bet on which would be back at work first.

The wag declines unless the President promised not to impose any executive order on Mac's doctor, a Navy physician.

 A circus trouper straddling two fractious nags—that's the government's dilemma on inflation as seen from here.

DEATH THREATS STIR URSCHEL KIDNAPING CASE

Attorney-General Cummings' in Washington said fingerprints found on a death threat letter sent to Charles F. Urachel, whose alleged kidnapers are on trial in Oklahoma City, had been tentatively identified as those of George "Machine Gun" Kelly (left), who is still sought in the case. Kelly was called a "human rat" by Joseph B. Keenan (center), assistant attorney-general directing the federal campaign against kidnapers. Kelly and Albert Bates (right), were branded by Urachel as the machine gunners who kidnaped and held him last July. Keenan said Bates faced a state charge of robbery with firearms, punishable by death, immediately after the kidnap trial. (Associated Press Photos) business progress.

 The other amount is opposed to inflation—conservative bankers, many business men and—off the record—labor. Displeasure from this source takes the form of a collapsing bond market, flight of capital and strikes, jeopardizing government finances and financial stability.

Lately both sides have been nervous, so we have had a joint depression in bonds and speculative equities. Lower bond prices are less significant than the almost complete absence of bids from usual buying sources. This state of affairs is no help to the rider at all and—something has to be done quick.

What will it be? Inside New York thinks it knows the answer.

Pro

Professor Warren had something up his sleeve that the public didn't see when he visited the White House the other day. It was a plan to have the Treasury offer to buy gold at a fixed price—not necessarily the world market price. Whether it actually bought gold wouldn't matter. The idea would be to set an official seal on de facto devaluation and thereby stabilize prices at whatever level is desired.

But bear in mind that it wouldn't be irrevocable. On the contrary the fixed price would be changed from time to time to keep prices in line. We would not be committed to permanent devaluation at a specific rate.

This is a rouse-house method of backing into the Irving Fisher-Cashe commodity dollar without calling it that. It closely parallels the method by which Sweden has been regulating its currency in terms of the French franc.

But the main point is that the government could then say to the inflationists: "Look, the Treasury itself acknowledges devaluation. What more do you want?" I might keep them quiet for a while without making a commitment that could not be recalled.

Anti

How are the anti's to be appeased?
 Some months ago the Federal Reserve Bank of New York worked out a system for unofficial co-operation with British authorities to stabilize the pound and the dollar in terms of each other.

The crowd for the 11 a. m. service Sunday half filled the large tabernacle. The speaker's message on "When Jesus Washed the Disciples Feet" was well received. At 7:45 p. m. Sunday the pastor, Horace Goodman, opened the service with a beautiful baptismal service.

Fourteen were baptized, bringing the total to 28 baptisms with 10 others yet to be baptized. The tabernacle was filled Sunday evening by Dr. Copeland on "The Great Tribulation." Five conversions and 8 additions occurred at the close of the service.

Program For WCTU Meeting Announced

A called meeting of the local chapter of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held Wednesday afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock at the First Methodist church. Following the devotional and business session Mrs. Fox Stripling will speak on "The Importance of Signing the Pledge." Mrs. J. R. Creath's topic will be "Who Will Pay The Beer Bill?" Committee reports also will be heard.

Mrs. C. E. Holmes will lead the opening prayer. Psalms 146 will be the scripture reading. The opening song will be "Master Let Me Walk With Thee."

PIONEER ILL

C. H. Simmons of Eastland, Tex., is independent of Tammany as beer is of hops.

Then Whalen would draw votes from anti-Tammanyites who distrust La Guardia as too radical. But the Jimmy Walker contingent who hate Whalen would vote for O'Brien as the lesser of two evils.

O'Brien would probably skin thru to victory as a result. This is the Tiger's best chance to keep his pickings. Whalen's candidacy is the only 3-wheelers layout the fusionists fear.

In any case the Tiger's claws will be clipped. He isn't likely to live dreams of controlling upstate New York again for a while.

New Orleans Beats Santone

Pelicans Ahead First Time, Need One More To Take Series

NEW ORLEANS—The championship Southern Association New Orleans Pelicans went out in front in the Dixie series for the first time Monday by winning their second straight victory over San Antonio in Heinemann park by the same score that marked Sunday's win, 5 to 2.

Going into the contest all square at two-games all, New Orleans came out with a series lead of 3 to 2 and a three-quarter claim on the all-south championship. Four wins are necessary for the title. In the four previous games, San Antonio had twice moved a game in front, only to have New Orleans come up and tie it in a knot.

With the series already far from being a financial success, only about 2,000 turned out for Monday's game.

As was the case Sunday, San Antonio outdid the Pelas 12 to 7, but the Pelicans were clicking behind the steady hurling of Andy Messenger and the Mission bingles were for the most part well scattered.

New Orleans won the game in the second inning when they fell on the offerings of the veteran seriously ill with double pneumonia at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. W. Rankin. The following children have been called to his bedside: Mrs. Gene Andrews of Longview; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Fairbairn of Gladewater; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Martin of Eastland; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Day and daughter, Dorothy, of Eastland; and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Simmons, Jr., of Arlington Heights.

PILES

Relief so rapid! Here's real relief at last for all forms of Pile—Bleeding, Itching and Protruding. Pass Ointment does all the things necessary, in the manner necessary. First, it soothes—relieves the acute pain and inflammation. Second, it heals—repairs the torn tissue. Third, it absorbs the excess mucus and reduces the swollen blood vessels which are the cause of the trouble.

In other words, Pass doesn't merely relieve—it heals to complete—restores the normal condition of the area.

The method of application is simple and effective. Apply the Pass Ointment to the affected area in a thin layer. It will reach all affected points. It is so easy to use that you can apply it in the privacy of your home. It is so effective that you will see relief. Thousands use it every day. Get Pass today and suffer no more.

WHY Schlitz IS FIRST

THE answer is short. It has a flavor superior to that of other beers.

Why is it better? Because SCHLITZ scientists have solved a problem that puzzled the best minds in the brewing industry for many years. SCHLITZ has worked out a secret control of enzymes in beer.

What are enzymes? They are mysterious substances that exist in all living cells. There are many kinds of enzymes. Each kind has its own particular job.

Some enzymes produce a pure brew and some enzymes produce a brew which is actually injurious to health.

Never mind the details. It is sufficient to state that the enzymes digest the different ingredients until they go into solution—which we know as beer. But—the enzymatic activities must be controlled. How to control them is a SCHLITZ secret.

You know that any brewer can put malt, hops, yeast and water together—but unless the enzymatic action is skillfully controlled the result is a rank, roapy beer that may produce indigestion or be harmful otherwise.

But SCHLITZ in Brown Bottles—The Beer That Made Milwaukee Famous—is healthful, uniform, sparkling, brilliant. It is a health giving, predigested food.

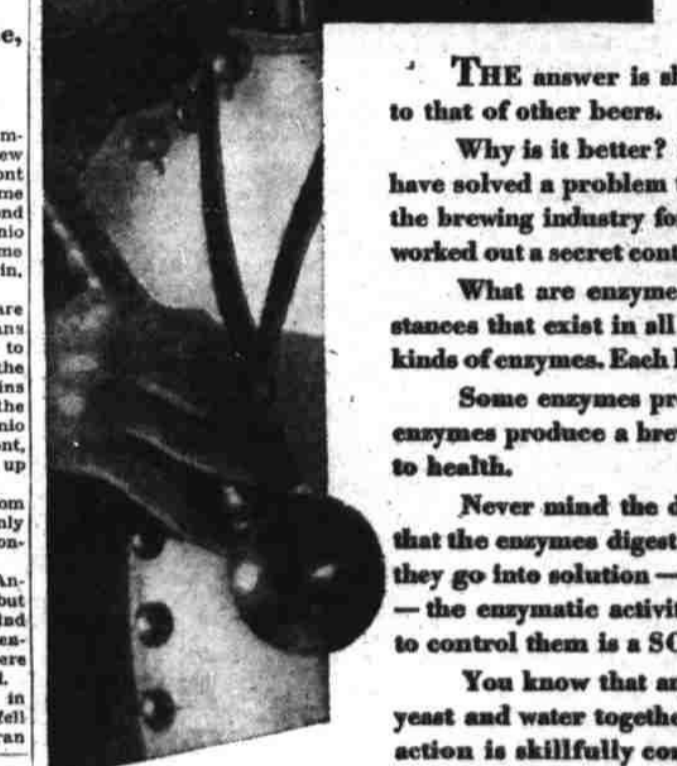

Drink SCHLITZ freely. It is good and good for you. It is fully fermented at the brewery—it will not make you bilious because it is brewed under perfect enzymatic control. The Brown Bottle protects its goodness from the brewery to your glass.

By the case or in the attractive SCHLITZ Handy Six.

Death Of Governor Seligman Of New Mexico Places Hockenhull, Clovis Banker, In Executive Post

ALBUQUERQUE—Twice elected lieutenant governor of the state, A. W. Hockenhull, banker and lawyer, became the state's 128th governor since 1928, with the death of Governor Arthur Seligman Monday.

Born in Missouri 56 years ago, Mr. Hockenhull attended Missouri university and later graduated from Texas university. He came to New Mexico more than 25 years ago, locating in Quay county, south of Tucuman.

Always quiet and unassuming, Governor Hockenhull is widely known about the state capital as "Aldy". A fellow banker with the governor, he was in Albuquerque when the governor died. He had attended the meeting of the bankers' association and had heard the governor's talk on "General Banking".

He was in the lobby of the San Francisco hotel and was just ready to leave, when Dr. W. R. Lovelace, who had just come from the governor's bedside, advised him of the death. Hockenhull immediately prepared to leave for Santa Fe.

Hockenhull's succession immediately gave rise to many questions which have been perplexing politicians for months. What would Hockenhull do, it was asked about the senatorial appointment to fill the vacancy brought about by Sam Bratton accepting a judgeship?

What would Hockenhull do about the national guard in Gallup? Would he disturb Seligman appointees in the state? What part would he take in national affairs, if any, and what course would he follow in the remaining political federal plum—the U. S. marshal?

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Taken suddenly ill, after addressing a meeting of the New Mexico Bankers' association, Governor Arthur Seligman of New Mexico died here shortly before noon Monday.

The 60-year-old governor, apparently in the best of health, motored here from Santa Fe Monday morning. He had just completed his address and was listening to another speech, when he complained of feeling ill.

On complaining of a sharp pain in his chest, the governor left the convention room, accompanied by Oscar Love, Albuquerque banker. At the time, Governor Seligman remarked that he thought he would be all right in a few minutes, but Love, sensing he was in a serious condition, advised him to lie down.

While walking in the hall of his hotel, the governor became weak and sat down on a settee. Love assisted the governor into a nearby room and helped him lie down on a bed. He then called a physician.

The doctor examined the chief executive and immediately announced he was suffering from angina pectoris. Governor Seligman rapidly grew weaker and died about 15 minutes after his physician's arrival.

He was too weak to talk, except to tell the doctor that he felt an acute pain in his chest and arm. George Bloom, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Santa Fe, of which the governor was president, said Governor Seligman had complained this morning of feeling indisposed, after a long automobile drive Sunday.

on the cured, 2.8 cents on fire cured, and 3.3 cents on dark air cured. Cigarettes are made from the flue cured and the tax will amount to 7.586 cents per 1,000. There is an existing Federal tax of 6 cents and a State tax of 3 cents on the package of 20.

The new tax on cigars will amount to 87.675 cents per 1,000, and on little cigars is computed at 13.777 cents per 1,000. Existing taxes on cigars are computed at $2 per 1,000 on cigars selling for 5 cents or less, $4 on 11 to 15 cents, and $5 on cigars retailing for more than 15 cents.

The processing tax on granulated smoking tobacco is to be computed at 3.866 cents per pound, and other than granulated, 1.18 cents. On chewing tobacco, the tax will be .9 of a cent on the plug type and 2.673 on other than plug. Snuff will be taxed 2.858 cents per pound.

In order for a retailer to avoid paying the tax for 30 days, his stock must be stored at the place where it is to be retailed as the exemption does not apply to stocks held in warehouses.

The other day a truck ran into Mrs. T. C. Gardner's car. The driver was of the hit and run variety. But Mrs. Gardner's son and another man got the license number on the truck and the police got the driver. He was intoxicated. T. C. Gardner, Mrs. Gardner, their son nor the police cared what the driver had been drinking that was not intoxicating. But when he drank something that made him smash their car and greatly endanger their lives, then an issue was raised.

Why not tell the truth? The whole wet argument is based on hypocrisy and lies. The liquor dealers do not want to sell intoxicating drinks to enrich the government, but themselves. Those who want to buy want to get intoxicated. The drys do not oppose drinks that are harmless. Science has not been lying all these years about alcohol and its effects upon the human organism.

The history of intoxicating drinks was not forged by preachers and school teachers. It is time for advocates of intoxicating drinks to tell the truth and quit trying to deceive intelligent people by thin-veiled hypocrisy.

A GREAT STORES POSITION It is gratifying to those who oppose the use or sale of beer, when a great store like Sanger Brothers in Dallas hands to its employees a notice like the following. Permission to print this notice was requested of Mr. E. P. Simmons by the editor. It is in no sense an advertisement, but since it supports practically what the Baptist Standard is advocating we are glad to have permission to print it.

"September 14, 1932. "IMPORTANT: "Notice to Everyone: "On account of the matter at the present time being one that is highly controversial, this store will not have for sale or carry in stock, or have on sale at the fountain the 32 beer.

"Also we are obliged to request that all of our employees refrain from the drinking of the 32 beer during store hours, or at a time just prior to coming to the store. This means that 32 beer must not be consumed by you in the morning just before coming to the store, or during the lunch time. In other words, we must protect the store against any criticism from our customers as the after effects of drinking beer are sufficiently strong as to be just as offensive as the eating of onions or garlic or certain kinds of cheese, or other kinds of strong foods or drinks.

"We make no request nor do we offer any suggestions as to what you should do about the matter after store hours, as after store hours is your time and you must decide for yourself.

"Please see that our request as regards the matter during store hours, or at a time affecting store hours, is carefully observed."

Answers To NRA Inquiries

Q.—What can be done with a contract for services made prior to operation of NRA? (See paragraph 12 of President's Reemployment Agreement).

A.—Paragraph 13 provides that "appropriate adjustments" be made in all prior contracts of any nature to meet direct increase in costs caused by having signed PRA or coming under a code.

Q.—Are employees of beer parlors, road houses, dance halls, or gardens governed by modified agreement applied to restaurants?

A.—Yes; if food is served. Q.—Explain status of outside claim adjusters of service companies who are subject to emergency calls at any hour.

A.—They are subject to minimum wage but no maximum hour provisions of PRA if receiving more than $35 a week.

Q.—May the new owner of an establishment which has gone out of business continue to use Blue Eagle of former owner?

A.—No; new owner must sign PRA and Certificate of Compliance. Q.—Are Jewish holidays considered legal holidays in computing wages and hours?

A.—No; only holidays proclaimed under statute by National, State, or municipal government are legal holidays.

Q.—May script be used to pay employees under PRA?

A.—No; only cash or readily convertible checks. Q.—Does NRA require a new establishment opened since enactment of the Recovery Act to have a license?

A.—No. Q.—A concessionaire in a store has the Blue Eagle, but the store has not. What is procedure?

A.—The concessionaire displays Blue Eagle in his own specific department only.

Birdie Bailey Missionary Society Holds Monthly Social Session At The Church

At the social meeting of the Birdie Bailey M.S. of the First Methodist Church Monday afternoon, the following were hostesses: Mmes. Morris Burns, H. G. Keaton, O. M. Waters, A. Wentz, C. C. Carter, G. T. Hall and Bob Galbraith.

Mrs. Waters, vice-president, presided, and gave the devotional. The parlor was decorated with baskets of immense roses. Miss Doris Smith gave a humorous reading, after which Mrs. Wentz read a paper on "Christianity in Japan." Mrs. Keaton gave the three-minute talk on NRA. Mrs. Flewellen gave a vocal number, accompanied by Mrs. Keaton. Volunteers offered to call on visitors.

At the close of the social hour the hostesses served ginger cake topped with whipped cream and tea to the following members and visitors:

Mmes. Hayes Stripling, Jack M. Nail, L. M. Fyess, J. F. Hair, J. P. Johnson, W. H. Remel, V. W. Latson, C. S. Ditz, G. H. Wood, R. H. Miller, Tom Slaughter, Calvin Boykin, M. E. Tatum, E. D. Better Light-- Better Sight! Although you may not realize it, many of your favorable impressions are formed because of light. You notice that the home of a neighbor seems to radiate friendship and hospitality because it is well lighted. You look in the downtown show windows that are best illuminated. You trade in stores where everything is bright and cheerful and merchandise is fresh and plainly visible. You may not know that light attracts, but scientists do. Use light to make your home radiate the cheerfulness and friendly welcome you wish to extend. Arrange lamps in your home to display the individuality of your furnishings. Make the illumination in your home do the two-fold job of bringing out the attractiveness of your rooms by night as well as by day, and also provide ample illumination for reading, sewing or bridge. Attractive Table Lamps Children who study should have a special study lamp for their personal use, and not have to wait until the rest of the family has finished reading the evening newspaper. Here is a table lamp that is fine for reading and studying. $10.95 $3.45 Down $2.50 a Month Few homes have enough table lamps, whether for reading or decorative purposes. Every chair in the living room should have a light that can be used for reading.
