The Earth Medical Center, located in the former Faust Clinic, in the east part of Earth, north of LaCasa Motel will be open February 1.

The staff will include Dr. W. D. Holt and his office nurse, Mrs. Betty Parsons; Dr. L. T. Greene, Muleshoe, whose office nurse there will serve as his nurse here.

Roy Kelley, Muleshoe, is the staff technician and Mrs. Zou Wilson will be employed as receptionist.

Dr. Holt said the new Medical Center consists of a modern laboratory and X-ray room for complete diagnosis of cases.

He also stated that they will have an emergency room set up to take care of a good percentage of the emergencies that may arise in this area.

The Doctors also plan to do minor surgery and will also have facilities for caring for overnight patients.

Both Doctors will still have privileges in the West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe as they have been offered these facilities by the West Plains Hospital.

Dr. W. D. Holt opened an office in Earth October 23, coming here from McCamey.

He is a graduate of Gradwohl School of Medical Technology Association at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, Missouri. He is also a post-graduate there.

The Earth Medical Center will hold open House from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, February 12.

I took a four day vacation at home last week, fact of the matter I was supposed to be sick, really though it's an ideal way to take a vacation. I wasn't suffering other than I kept running high temperature and was so tired.

This vacation gave me time to think, tucked under an electric blanket that the lovely office personnel had given us for Christmas, and with a portable TV placed just at the right spot in my bedroom, leaving no stress or strain for viewing and with plenty of reading material, this one Polly Middleton was really taking it easy and living it up. Actually my fever would go down as long as I remained in bed. (How's that for amity cooperation, everything seemed to pull for my vacation in bed).

Ross I found is a pretty good chief cook, but not much of a bottle washer. He doesn't like dish-washing, however he stands high in my esteem as a nurse and doctor.

I remember reading that once annually Mrs. Charles A. Lindberg took a two week vacation from home and family and went away to her favorite beach resort and spent days basking on the beach and getting acquainted with herself. She stated in a book she authored that with her everyday busy life she lost herself, she never knew why she did the things she did, it became automatic, she seemed to lose her individuality, she began to not quite know what she believed until she took time out annually to be alone and quietly analyze herself and search her soul, acquaint herself with her beliefs and the reason for her believing as she did.

Actually, now the point is I didn't have that much time to get acquainted with myself, what with reading, watching the inauguration and the inaugural ball, however I did sneak in a peak at myself and decided I have neglected to be thankful for all that I have, like health, family, friends and the kind of luxuries that practically all we Americans take for granted, and I frankly was disappointed in myself for letting the sun rise daily, without remembering to live for today with thankfulness in my heart for having all these things we complaining Americans have.

—nosin—

Speaking of remembering to be thankful, I couldn't help but remember back to the old washday at our house many years ago. After reading this "recept" one mother in law gave to her new daughter in law on washday, I couldn't help but pass it on to you.

How many of you remember cutting up lye soap in a big black wash pot?

Actually, it is not called a recipe but in the language of an old Kentucky hill woman who wrote it off for her young daughter in law, it is a "recept." Here it is:

TO WASH CLOTHES

1. Build fire in back yard to heatkettle.
2. Set tubs so smoke won't blow in eyes if wind is pert.
3. Shave 1 hole cake of lye soap in boiling water.
4. Sort things. Make three piles, 1 pile white, 1 pile cufford, 1 pile britches and rags.
5. Stur flour in cold water to smooth, then thin down with boiling water.
6. Rub dirty spots on board. Scrub hard. Then bile Rub cufford but don't bile. Just rub and starch.
7. Take white things out of kettle with broom handel, then rench, blew and starch.
8. Sprend tee towels on grass.
9. Hang old rags on fence.
10. Four rench water in flower bed.
11. Scrub porch with sopy water.
12. Turn tubs upside down.
13. Go out on clean rench. Smooth hair with side combs. Brew cup of tea, set and rest and rock a spell and count blessings.

—nosin—

I watched the inauguration with high interest. As I watched I remembered being on the same premises. That of course was not my special interest, but to see the governmental heads in action was of deep interest. I noted Lyndon B. got the wrong hat after he was sworn in, and someone came up and exchanged with him. I also noted at the ball that night he referred to the President as Senator Kennedy, (so I guess we, no matter what exaulted position we hold will never be free from our little mistakes). This gives me courage to tackle another week of publication of the Earth News-Sun. Seeing as how others make mistakes too.

I listened to President Kennedy's acceptance address, and I was surprised at the confidence and ease that he delivered his speech, and his speed of taking a stand immediately in National and global affairs. I think he perhaps won respect for himself, and aroused hope in the nation on this his big day, the day he became our President.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Thommarson, Bula, visited Monday morning, with Mr and Mrs. G. E. Thommarson.

A NEW PROGRAM IN JUNIOR HIGH

By Laverne Sarradet

The SRA Reading Laboratory method, which has been incorporated in the sixth and seventh grade reading classes this year, grew out of six years of preliminary work by the author in Florida, North Carolina, and Westchester County, New York.

In a carefully controlled experiment, a group of seventh-grade students using multi-level material showed a 113 percent greater gain than a matched group using one-level materials.

The preliminary experimental work, supported by research findings across the nation, disclosed the following conditions as most conducive to the success of a reading development program:

(1) The student must start "where he is" in independent reading and be allowed to master the skills of that level at his own rate.

(2) A sequence of materials must be provided of gradually increasing difficulty so that the students can seek and attain progressively higher reading levels.

(3) Charts and graphs for recording have a higher motivational value and permit the student to compete with his own record rather than with other students.

(4) Procedures that are largely self-administrative give the student a feeling of responsibility for his own progress.

(5) Self correction of mistakes immediately after they are made and detected—the "feedback process"—guides the student's further efforts to improve the reading, thinking process.

(6) Materials varied in content are necessary for growth in flexibility of rate, in comprehension, and in vocabulary power.

The materials of the SRA Reading Laboratory consist of 150 Power Builder Cards—15 at each of the 10 grade levels, each level designated by a color, a key card for each Power Builder, 150 Rate Builder Cards—15 at each of the 10 grade levels, each level designated by a color, and 40 Key Booklets for the Rate Builders—each booklet containing all the answers for the 150 Rate Builder Comprehension Checks.

Each student has a Student Record Book which contains a Starting Level Guide—a separate four-page folder to help place the student at the right starting level in the SRA Reading Laboratory, a Power Builder Starter Selection which everyone in the class uses to become acquainted with procedures, Record Blank pages on which the student records all of his work, Graphs and Charts for recording both daily work and progress from day to day, and six Listening Skill Builder Comprehension Checks.

In the two months that we have been using the SRA Reading method, I find that the students are taking much pride in their reading and are very enthusiastic over their advancements. In my opinion, the reading program is proving very successful. It is helping the students to find their weaknesses and their strengths.

My Impression of Seeing The Inauguration

By Debbie Watson

Mrs. Sanderson's Class went to her house to watch the Inauguration. Some of the room mothers helped take us over there. We took our lunch and ate at her house.

We saw the Supreme Court march out of the Capitol. We saw Kennedy get sworn into office. Ethel Merman sang "Star-Spangled Banner." Three prayers were said. Cardinal Spellman said the first prayer, Archbishop said the second, Pastor of First Christian Church of Austin, Texas led in the third. Robert Frost read the poem he wrote. The name of it was "Dedication."

We enjoyed the program very much.

By Gay Upchurch

We appreciate Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Huff, and Mrs. Sanderson for taking us to watch the Inauguration.

Three prayers were given by Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop, and Pastor of the First Christian Church. Ethel Merman sang "The Star Spangled Banner," then the band played "America the Beautiful." Sam Rayburn swore Lyndon Johnson in as Vice-President. When John F. Kennedy was sworn in as President by Bill Warren he made a speech. One thing he said was to ask ourselves how we can help the United States.

Jimmy Lawrence

I'm glad Mrs. Sanderson thought of going to her home to see the inauguration. It gave us a chance to see the president, vice-president, and many other important people.

Sam Rayburn administered the oath to Vice-President Johnson. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court administered the oath to President Kennedy. Kennedy's home town is Hyannis Port, Massachusetts, Johnson's home town is Austin, Texas.

It was so cold that it looked like smoke came out of people's mouths when they breathed! Kennedy's speech was a good one. In it he said, Don't ask what the United States can do for you. Ask what you can do for the United States.

I liked it very much and I'm sure the rest of the class did too.

Mrs. Dee Lott, Springlake has been ill, suffering from a throat infection.

HONESTY IN WORK

By Danny Byers

Honesty is the basic principle on which we should base our work in school. If it weren't for honesty there wouldn't be any use in our getting assignments or taking tests. When one person gives the questions on a test to another person or when he lets someone borrow his assignment it ruins the chance for the other person or persons to show their real ability in that subject. The person who lets another person borrow his assignment is as guilty as the one who uses it. Honesty and sportsmanship in athletics are very essential to the winner as well as the loser. Honesty is being trust-worthy and reliable. It is an honor to be called an honest person. You may get into college by cheating, but you won't be there long. You have to prove your real ability in college. Here are some comments about honesty in school by some teachers and pupils.

"I'd rather make an honest zero than a dishonest hundred."

Someone once said truth and honesty are stranger than fiction and much rarer. Be this as it may, the youth of today can change that idea if they are willing to except the responsibility of standing for what is right, even though they stand alone.

Those who cheat on tests, daily work, or any phase of school life are not cheating their teachers. Teachers have a way of knowing when these things happen. These students are cheating themselves.

"Honesty is treating other people fairly and being fair to yourself. Cheating on a test is not only wrong but you are hurting yourself in a way that might cause us not to be the respected citizen we would like to be in adult life."

"If you are honest with yourself and with other people they can trust you and most of all you can trust yourself."

Hi-Plains Hi-Lights

NEWS from the High Plains Research Foundation

We are wasting our valuable irrigation water by applying the water to land with 1 percent to 3 percent slope. James Valliant, Water Engineer at Halfway, said today. Mr. Valliant is completing the first of several years' testing at the High Plains Research Foundation to determine the value of water applied to grain sorghum on a level bench and on sloping land.

Three plots of the same area were planted in grain sorghum, one on a bench and the other two were planted directly down the slope varying from 1 percent to 3 percent.

The level bench received 16.9 inches of irrigation water per acre with no run-off. The grain sorghum yield was 5,800 pounds per acre.

One of the sloping areas received the same 16.9 inches of water but 2.5 inches per acre or 15 percent of the applied water was lost in run-off. The yield on this plot was 3,900 pounds per acre.

The second area on the slope was irrigated both pre-plant and during the growing season so that the soil contained adequate moisture at all times. This irrigation procedure required 21.5 inches of water per acre with 5.9 inches lost by run-off. Grain sorghum yield on this area was 2,700 pounds per acre. The loss in water run-off and

Scout Leader Finds Skeleton

A girl scout counselor discovered the "Skeleton of Yellowhouse Canyon" just 12 miles east of Lubbock in Northern West Texas.

The skeleton was that of an Indian who had died between 1858 and 1875. He was buried with a Remington-Beals, .44-caliber cap and ball revolver (such as used by the U. S. Army), an Army officers metal belt, buckle, a scalping knife, a leather saddle bag, remnants of a bride, an iron bit, an antler flaking tool, and a two-quart Army issue kettle of copper or brass.

This young adult male Indian was buried Comanche style, with his valuables and ornaments. These included a copper ring, ornamental bone breastplate, and a pouch of cinnabar (mercury ore) for painting the face and body.

There is much debate whether the Indian was an Army Scout or was with a hostile tribe.

top soil erosion alone would be enough to justify benching, Mr. Valliant said. However, the additional profits from the 2,000 pounds per acre increase on the bench yield makes benching profitable. Weeds were controlled and the borders on the benches maintained with a custom-made bordering machine and by use of a propane burner.

EDITORIAL: WHAT CAN TEENAGERS DO?
 By Peggy Stansell

"Go Home!"
 Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teenager: What can we do? Where can we go. The answer is "Go Home!"
 Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub the floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job. Help the minister. . . . Visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons. And then when you are through, and not too tired—read a book.
 Your parents do not owe you entertainment. The world does not owe you a living. . . . You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and your talents so that no more will be used at war nor folks be in poverty or sick or lonely again.
 In plain simple words, grow up: quit being a cry-baby. Get out of your dream world and be like a man or lady. Develop a backbone, not a wishbone. You are supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibility your parents have carried for years.
 Teenagers grow up and "Go Home!"

FACULTY SPOTLIGHT

By Margaret Meadows
 The science department of Springlake High School has grown amazingly since Mrs. Bob McCaskill, the science instructor, came to us in 1951. She says that at that time it was quite small and had very little equipment, but now, of course, it is well equipped and includes two classrooms, one laboratory, and a storage closet. Much of this can be attributed to the planning and untiring efforts of Mrs. McCaskill.

Born in Klondike, Texas to J. S. and Lucy Henderson, our science teacher entered sub-college during her junior year of high school, and later, East Texas State Teachers College, both of Commerce, Texas. Part of this time she was on the debating team, and also the basketball team, and because of her ability in sewing, she was honored once by the president of the college at a tea. When she was graduated, she had earned her B. S. degree with a major in homemaking, and a minor in science. Mrs. McCaskill at one time really wanted to be a Pediatrician, and though she is still a little sorry that she didn't get too, she says without hesitation that she loves teaching. "I enjoy working with young folks," she says, and claims that high-schoolers are just the right age. The most rewarding aspect of this career for her is "the lasting acquaintances that I form with the young people." She has served as senior sponsor for several years now, and about it she says, "I love it."

In all, she has taught about nineteen years, two of which were in the home economics department. One of Mrs. McCaskill's hobbies is "visiting the sick and encouraging and helping them as much as I can." Another interest of hers is home planning, or interior decorating. She enjoys pets—has two or three all the time, "but I prefer dogs," she adds. Her other hobby is traveling. She had always dreamed of a world tour until the summer of '58 when her globetrotting dream came true. Her two-months tour took her to twelve foreign countries. Some of the most interesting things she saw were: the many cathedrals and palaces, Longfellow's home and birthplace, the jewels of the Queen of England, torturing towers, and the leaning tower. She felt that the most unusual place was Venice, and she thoroughly enjoyed Rome and the lovely Isle of Capri. She also had the distinction of flying over the top of the world, the North Pole, the first summer this route was opened; and it was flown only weekly. Besides this spectacular trip, she has also done some traveling in the United States.

Her husband, Bob McCaskill, was formerly in the auto parts business, and is now selling welders' supplies. Their daughter, now Barbara Lewis of Earth, and her husband have a new little daughter of their own, and their son, Richard of Lubbock, is presently working for the Southwestern Public Utility Company. He also is married, and they have one child.

 Mrs. McCaskill believes that the most admirable quality in a student is attention in class, "for," she says, "if you have their interest, you will have their interest." Besides contributing to the development of the science department, Mrs. McCaskill has contributed to each one who has been under her. She is the kind of person who is really interested in young people, and who is ready to help them as much as she can.

FORMER STUDENTS VISIT SCHOOL

By Ralph Wisian
 On Monday, January 23, Cheryl and Lana Gay Axtell attended school and visited with many former classmates and friends. The former students plan to stay until Wednesday and have been staying with their cousin, Charles Axtell. They attended Springlake School five years ago. Now they attend Durango High School in Durango, Colorado, where they are classified as Cheryl, a senior, and Lana Gay, a sophomore. All their friends enjoyed seeing them and visiting with them again.

"DID YOU KNOW?"

Julia Chance
 Did you know the requirement for a high school student to graduate has been raised in the last few years? This year sophomores, juniors, and seniors of Springlake High School must have eighteen credits to graduate. These eighteen credits must consist of four units of English; three units of mathematics; three units of history which must consist of world, American, and Texas Histories and Civics; two sciences for which two years of homemaking or vocational agricultural can be substituted for one year of science. The other six necessary credits are selected by the students. By this requirement our school provides a better foundation for the students after they graduate. They will have enough English, mathematics, history, and science that they will have a section of four fields instead of one for their further education.

A C T TEST

By Dixie Phillips
 Six students from Springlake went to surrounding colleges to take the A. C. T. test in November. Those students taking the test at West Texas State in Canyon were Glenda Williamson, Janette Ray, Joan Sawyer and Camilla Wheatley. Those at Tom S. Lubbock High School were Margaret Meadows and Johnny Bob Lawrence. It was reported that all 6 of these students made above the average of all the students taking it. The test will be given again in February and April for those senior students wishing to take it then. Almost all colleges require their students to take this test on entrance to college both in denominational and state colleges.

The Wondering Wolverine

By Patti Mann
 Question: Do you think that television has an effect on school-work or grades?
 Rene Angeley: I think television is educational in some ways but it also keeps you from getting your homework.
 Leslie Lewis: I don't think it has any effect on my grades because it doesn't keep me from getting them.
 Phil Bearden: It does, because when you should be getting homework there is a good show on television and you watch it instead of getting your homework.
 Joan Gover: It doesn't have any effect on mine because I don't ever watch it but I think you learn a lot by watching it.
 Dale Dent: I know it does. I watch it instead of getting my lessons.
 Treva Connor: If you set a time for study and a time for watching television, it should not effect your homework.
 Charles Axtell: It can have either a good effect of a bad effect depending on how you use it.
 Carolyn Gregory: Yes, it has an effect because it is educational if you watch the right programs.
 Ronnie Johnson: It does because you watch instead of getting your lessons.
 LaDon Messer: I think television is a temptation when you should be getting your homework, and everyone yields to temptation.
 Jackie Scheller: It does because most of the time I had rather watch it than get my homework.
 Norma Hamilton: It affects some people and it doesn't affect others. It just depends on the person.

Colored Scouts Of Springlake School Raise Funds For March of Dimes

Ten dollars and fifty cents was the total amount of money turned in for Springlake School Negro Boy Scouts, Cubs and Explorer Post. This was started last year as a training in local civic responsibility. They influence their parents or the Negro population of Earth and Springlake to contribute at least fifty cents per family to the Earth March of Dimes Fund. Mrs. Gus Parish, Earth a white friend, contributed two dollars; Negro parents contributing fifty cents by families: Mesdames Rohelen Johnson, Lois Jarvis, Loretta Spraglin and Goldine Allen of Springlake; Mesdames Arnell Becks, Stella Thomas, Mildred Willard, Juanita Renfro, Exlie Mosley, Alice Brown, Joe Hill, Julia Mae McFadden, and Eller Weise Norman; Deacon L. B. Coleman and Miss Albert Washington, Sr. and Ernest Chance, Jr. and the U. S. Osbornes.

The theme for the local Boy Scout Program for January is "Citizenship Participation, A Knowing and Doing Process." They are attempting to develop some competence in the study of the "Constitution of Our Nation" as an instrument of our democracy. They have noted its checks and balances, the legislative branch, executive, the supreme court and the referendum. The referendum is the voice of the people of our nation. This voice is a direct rule in our government if enough qualified voters will vote for or against a bill to their liking. For the past three years our Boy Scouts have been sponsoring a dramatized poll tax registration with play money after a lecture on why we pay the poll tax.

As the school listened to the inaugural program over the radio last Friday, January 20th, they did not listen passively but dramatized the whole proceedings of the swearing-in ceremony of President Kennedy from Justice Warren administering the oaths to the Vice President's oath to Mr. Frost, Poet Laureate down to Marion Anderson, internationally famous Contralto. They repeated every oath and sang all the songs while it was happening. The boys are told that their school study, done diligently, is an act of good citizenship. Lazy use of school study time helps to break down our democracy and our local, state and federal economy. "Family Togetherness" is also stressed in work and play. The Ernest Chance Family is the "Togetherness Family" of the month. The whole family including the father are noted for their family fun.

Four Cub Scouts were made since September: Curtis Lee Norman, Sammie Earl White, David Earl Franklin and Ray Charles Mosley.

The Boy Scouts only have two money raising projects a year, the "March of Dimes" and "Scout Exposition" held annually by the South Plains Council in Lubbock. Price of the tickets fifty cents. All of the boys selling tickets or collecting Dimes will be uniformed each year and carrying identification cards.
