Boy Scouts Have Cook-Out

Thirty-five people, twenty-seven of them boy scouts, attended the hamburger cook-out at the scout house Monday night at 7:30 p.m.

Plans have been made for scouts tosell tickets at the Texas Tech football games this year.

Mike Tibbitts of Dodd, who was present, will be helping Jesse Green as assistant scoutmaster.

Wolverines Muzzle The Bulldogs 19-12

The Springlake-Earth Wolverines gave the fans a thrill Friday night, downing the Amherst Bulldogs 19-12.

The Wolverines defence and offence both showed more spirit and harder hitting than any we have seen in a long time.

John Cleavinger scored the first touchdown of the night from one yard. The PTA was kicked by Andrew Monreal. Jake Miller swept around end and scampered 43 yards for the Wolverines second touchdown, the try for PTA failed.

The Wolverines final score of the night was by way of a 75 kickoff return by Terry Hood. Amherst had two quick touchdowns for 12 points.

The Wolverines had 120 yards rushing in the first half and 260 yards in the second half for a total of 382 yards.

The Bulldogs only had 43 yards in the first half and 22 yards rushing in the second half for a total of 65 yards rushing. They also had 36 yards passing to a total of 101 yards.

In the rushing department Lee Brown had 15 yards, Terry Hood 75, Brad Barden, 2; Rodney Geissler, 87; Doug Jones, 72 and Jake Miller, 152.

The Wolverines had 16 first downs and the Bulldogs had 6. This week the Wolverines travel to Plains to take on the Cowboys.

- 1/4 cup Karo dark corn syrup
- 1/4 cup bottled Italian dressing

Stir together catchup, corn syrup and Italian dressing. Brush on meat or poultry during cooking. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.

Nonfarm Areas are Coming into Their Own

Farmers and rural America are one and the same. Believe that and you are 82 percent wrong. Farm people are now outnumbered better than four to one by nonfarm rural residents, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Here's the way the numbers stack up:

Census officials place the declining farm population currently at less than 9.5 million down from 15.6 million in 1960. Contrast this to the present 45 million nonfarm, rural population—up from 38.5 million in 1960—and you get the picture. Farmers are not only outvoted four to one by their nonfarm rural neighbors, but all rural Americans—farm and nonfarm alike—are outvoted three to one by city people. Figure it this way: Add the farm and nonfarm rural population together and you come up with roughly 55 million people. This is 26 percent of the nation's total population of 212 million.

And, according to Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Will Erwin, nonfarm segments of rural regions have, over the years, been largely overlooked. "These areas are vastly underestimated and often neglected by government," he explains. "Farmers," he said, "are mostly well liked and appreciated by nonfarmers. Food problems get the attention of Congress and Government officials. But the problems of millions of nonfarm rural Americans are often crowded out by other pressing matters.

For instance, from the beginning, national policies contributed to the development of the lion's share of the nation's nonfarm jobs in cities. This forced millions of rural people to uproot themselves from family and community ties—migrating there in search of employment. Only recently have rural job opportunities increased at a rate exceeding that of urban areas. "Per capita Federal outlays in nonmetro areas are likewise less than they are in cities. This is true in spite of the fact that rural needs are greater. Nonmetro areas, for example, have two-thirds of the nation's substandard housing. "Yet the need for better housing in rural areas has not resulted in larger Federal housing loan outlays there. In 1973 such loans in cities totaled $102 per capita, compared to only $60 in rural areas, including small towns."

Mr. Erwin, who is in charge of coordinating all Federal Rural Development programs, explains, however, that this rural disparity picture is changing. He says, "There is growing recognition of the values, opportunities, and problems of the nonfarm segments of rural regions."

CONTEST RULES

The teams that are playing in this week's contest games are listed side by side in the official entry blank on this page.

Use the handy entry and mark out the teams you predict to lose. Print the scores you predict in the tie-breaker game in the spaces provided.

Each week's entry must be turned in or mailed to the Earth News-Sun office. Contestants are given a week to prepare and turn in their entries.

Entries must be in by 4:00 p.m. Friday or postmarked on that date. All late entries will be discarded.

In case of ties, a coin will be flipped to determine the winners.

Each week the number of games correctly predicted will count toward each contestant's season total. The person picking the most games correctly for the entire season will receive the grand prize. In the event of a tie on the season total, a coin will be flipped to determine the winner.

The weekly prizes will be given to the persons picking the most number of games for that week. The tie-breaker will count as one of the games picked, and the predicted score will be used to determine the top three places in that week's contest, if necessary.

Only one entry per person is allowed.

ENERGY SENSE

Life Saving with Your Speedometer

by John C. Sawhill
 Federal Energy Administrator

Have you been cheating on the nationwide 55-mph speed limit?
 Sure, these days there are lots of reasons to be in a rush. Who doesn't have too many things to do and not enough time to do them?
 And there's plenty of gasoline at the pumps now that so many Americans are conserving energy and the Arab embargo is a thing of the past. So who's going to care if your speedometer slips up to 60, 65, or 70?
 The Federal Energy Administration cares. We know that America is still consuming far more petroleum products than it can produce at home.
 We know too, that passenger automobiles account for about a third of the Nation's petroleum product consumption. One third is a large chunk out of the single most important energy source the Nation uses.
 In the near future, as part of Project Independence, we are going to try to switch as much of the Nation's economy as we can from petroleum energy which must be imported at high prices, to coal energy which we have in abundance under our own soil. In the more distant future, we shall move even farther away from dependence upon petroleum energy to nuclear and solar power.
 But for today, and tomorrow, petroleum remains our chief energy source. So we must not only expand America's supply of petroleum--by building the Alaska Pipeline, promoting offshore drilling, and oil shale production--we must also continue to conserve what we already have.
 And this brings us back to the number 55 written on speed limit signs throughout this Nation. 55 miles per hour is the law, and we should obey it for that reason alone. But if each day, every car, bus and truck in America remained under 55, the Nation could save more than 8 million gallons of petroleum products daily!
 Think about your share of these savings at today's higher gasoline prices, since the average car gets about 21 percent more miles per gallon at 55 mph than at 70 mph.
 But more important, if your speedometer starts to edge above 55, think about the lives we have saved with the 55 mph speed limit. Think of the 29 percent reduction in fatalities during this year's Memorial Day weekend as compared to last year's. Think of the 28 percent reduction in fatalities during this year's Fourth of July holiday weekend as compared to the last comparable period (1972).
 In the first six months of 1974, traffic deaths have been nearly 25 percent below figures for last year. That's 6,000 traffic deaths less at 55 mph than at the 70 mph rush we were all in before the energy crisis.

ONE OF OUR OWN

American officials have declared that Simas Kudirka, now languishing in a Soviet prison camp, is a U.S. citizen because his mother was born in Brooklyn.
 Kudirka is the seaman who leaped from a Russian fishing trawler to a U.S. Coast Guard patrol boat in 1970, seeking asylum. To its shame, the Coast Guard permitted him to be dragged back aboard the Red craft by a gang of Communist bullyboys.
 With the new ruling, U.S. diplomats have an opportunity to redeem the nation's honor, and we hope they make the most of it.
 Let's pull out all the stops, play on detente, wave the United Nations Declaration on Human Rights--which Moscow signed last fall--or do anything else we can to win freedom for Kudirka and his mother.

Girlstown, USA Project for "Caprock District Education Fund"

Girlstown, USA, will be the project of Caprock District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, for 1974-76 announces Mrs. Harold Green of Tahoka, the district president. The 67 clubs of the district, which covers 20 counties, will join together in this project.

Mrs. Bill W. Davis of Lubbock has been appointed chairman of the project, which is called "Caprock District Education Fund." This will be a permanent fund, using only the interest each year to help with the educational needs of the girls. Contributions, gifts, memorials, honorariums, inheritances and life insurance may be given now or any time in the future. The girls will receive the benefits for as long as there are girls at Girlstown. All gifts are deductible for income tax purposes. Checks should be made out to "Girlstown, USA, marked for "Caprock District Education Fund," and mailed to Box 1305, Tahoka, Texas 79373 or to Girlstown, USA, at Whiteface.

For honorariums and memorials received, an appropriate card will be sent to the designated persons.

A plaque will be presented to Girlstown, listing every club, individual and business that contributes a minimum of $50.00. An appropriate book will be given listing those who give less than this amount; therefore, every donor will be recognized and the name on display.

Mrs. Phil Neinst Hosts Artex Paint Party

An Artex Paint party was given Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Phil Neinst.

Mrs. Billy Garner had on display the very creative items she had made with her paints. She then instructed the group on how to be just as talented. Coffee, tea, lemonade and cookies were served.

Those present were: Hazel La Duke, Sue Smith, Mrs. David Metcalf, Mrs. Wayne Davis, Mrs. Hazel Whittington, Mrs. Robert Geissler, Mrs. Herman Cooper, Mrs. Myrtle Steinbock, Mrs. Sam Barden, Mrs. David Bradley, Mrs. Carl Coty and Mrs. Billy Garner.

To try to curb inflation by raising taxes is like giving a drunk another drink to sober him up, says Governor Reagan of California.

Displaying Works of Art

The way a work of art is prepared for display can enhance its appearance, according to Anna Marie Gottschalk, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Works of art should be enjoyed and used to create more pleasing surroundings--never display anything which you do not care to view," the specialist said.

Watercolor paintings, drawings and prints are usually framed with a mat and glass, she noted.

Oil paintings do not need glass and usually the mat is omitted and only a wide frame used.

Textile hangings can hang from a rod to allow the textile to drape at its own will.

Sculpture is usually mounted on a base.

"Methods of finishing artwork become a part of the piece. They should be pleasing and harmonizing with it, but never become so important that they distract from the work itself," she said.

Some suggestions for display-works of art are:

--Allow plenty of space around important art objects so they keep their importance.

--Be careful to allow sculpture to be seen from all sides.

--Smaller art objects can be grouped together and even grouped with personal mementoes or interesting shapes, colors and textures.

--Objects or groups of objects hung on the wall should have their horizontal centers approximately aligned around the room. The level should be at the eye level from which the works will be seen most frequently, in a hall, eye level standing; around a conversation area, eye level seated.

--Shapes of art work should harmonize with other shapes in their presence and should be arranged in relation to the other shapes.

Birth Rate Slows As Affluence Grows

The more developed the country, the more likely it is to have low population growth rates, according to the World Population Conference.

Most of the world's highly industrialized nations, including Western European countries, Canada, Japan and the United States have low growth rates. They are expected to maintain an overall downward trend.

The USSR, Eastern European and Scandinavian countries have government policies encouraging family planning, with resulting lower birth rates. In the U.S., birth rates reached the lowest rate ever in 1972, with an average number of children per couple at 2.03 and population growth rate of .7 per cent per year.

Completion Date For Coal-Fired Unit Advanced

Roy Tolk, chairman and president of the Southwestern Public Service Company, announced today that the completion date for the second 350,000 kilowatt coal-fired generating unit at the company's Harrington Station, near Amarillo, has been moved up from 1979 to 1978.

"The area we serve continues to grow and this means more industry and more people. In order to continue to provide our customers with the electric service they need, we found it necessary to have the second unit at Harrington Station ready a year sooner than we had first planned," Tolk said.

The first coal-fired unit at Harrington Station is now under construction and is scheduled for completion in mid-1976. It is also a 350,000 kilowatt machine and construction is on schedule.

When both units are completed and on the line, the SPS system generating capability will be increased to almost 3-million kilowatts, with the coal-fired units representing 22% of the total.

The turbine-generator for the 1978 unit will be made by Westinghouse and the boiler by Combustion Engineering, Inc. and these manufacturers have assured SPS that the equipment will be available.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hamilton of Clarendon, formerly of Earth, attended the opening of "Las Tiendas de Amarillo" (The shops of Amarillo). Thirty individual shops of creative artists in their unique specificity, Mrs. Carol (Hamilton) Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hamilton is co-owner and designer of "decor, Ltd." The opening was held last week-end.

You Can Do It, Series To Premiere

Lamb County "do-it-yourselfers" will have "their own" television series with the start of a new program on KLBK-TV Channel 13 at 4:30 p.m., Saturday September 21.

According to Mrs. Dorothy Powell, Lamb County Extension Agent, the new series, "You Can Do It!" is a 13-part, educational series on home care and repairs.

"It is designed to teach viewers simple, money-saving care and maintenance techniques," she said.

Locally, the half-hour programs each Friday will be sponsored by Lamb County Family Living Committee and KLBK-TV.

Created and produced by home economics specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, through a special United States Department of Agriculture grant, "You Can Do It!" is being aired statewide on an alternating basis.

During the 13-week series hostess Cindy Kidwell will teach lessons on how to repair leaky faucets, how to caulk and weatherstrip, and how to paint interiors and exteriors, Mrs. Powell said.

"On the first program, viewers will learn how to do simple electrical repairs.

"Other lessons will teach viewers how to make toilet repairs and adjustments how to repair walls, and how to care for wood finishes and carpets."

"The Series also will include a lesson on care and maintenance of ranges and refrigerators and a lesson on how to make storage space," Mrs. Powell added.

Viewers are urged to check local program listings during the series for any change in programming.

Field Day To Underscore Narrow Census Here On Row Cotton And Pest Management Immunization

The role of greenbug resistant grain sorghum hybrids in a pest management strategy will be underscored Tuesday, Sept. 10, as the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) commemorates its 65th Annual Field Day.

Activities also will highlight some of the extensive research efforts being conducted on narrow-row cotton production, says Dr. Darrell Rosenow, field day committee chairman.

Dr. George Teetes, TAES entomologist, is in charge of the field day discussion about pest management and Dr. Levon Ray, cotton geneticist, will be on hand to discuss recent developments in narrow-row cotton breeding.

Kick off for the event is set for 1 p.m., with tours around the research plots leaving every 15 minutes, say Rosenow. Special evening tours will run from 5:30 to 6:30.

According to Teetes, greenbug resistance mechanism of sorghum hybrids and how they can be expected to perform in the field will be a primary topic of discussion along the tour route. Discussing the genetics of the greenbug resistant hybrids will be Dr. Jerry Johnson, TAES sorghum breeder, Dr. Robert McIntyre, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will review Extension's role in implementing a pest management system and educating producers about the pest management concept.

Field Day guests also will review studies that compare double-row cotton planting to the conventional 40-inch row. This research includes newly released and experimental short season varieties. Increased yields and extra early maturing qualities are among the advantages of some of these new varieties.

In addition to a comprehensive review of research developments, guests will be able to survey a large display of the latest farm equipment sponsored by area implement dealers. They will also have opportunities to visit with agricultural scientist and specialist as well as their neighbors and friends, says the field day chairman.

The Bureau of the Census will survey a sample of households in this area the week of September 16-20 to determine the extent people have been immunized against selected diseases, Percy R. Millard, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Dallas announced today.

The immunization survey conducted nationally every year provides information on immunization against measles, influenza, smallpox, polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, rubella, and mumps. This information is needed for administration of health programs geared to disease prevention.

These health questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly employment survey provide data on conditions in the labor force, prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, the Nation's unemployment rate was 5.3 percent in July; it was 5.2 percent in the previous two months and had held in the 5.0 to 5.2 percent range since the beginning of the year. Total employment was 86.3 million in July, essentially unchanged from June but up by 500,000 since April.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is held confidential by law and is used only to compile statistical totals.

Census Bureau interviewer who will visit households in this area is Rosemary McNeese of Amherst.

Wear Your Baby Only When He's Ready

Weaning, your baby's first step toward independence, should happen only when he's ready, according to one authority.

"Infants vary widely in their readiness for this step--moving from the bottle or breast to a cup or spoon," Mrs. Jane Fleischer Moss, family life education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, pointed out.

Bottle babies usually approach this stage near their first birthday.

Breast fed babies are earlier, often at six or seven months. "At this age, there is a shift of interest from people to inanimate objects. The baby is now ready to move away from the close relationship with mother," Mrs. Moss said.

Your baby may start sucking his fingers, toys or blanket at this time to satisfy his desire to suck, she said.

She reminded that babies still need to suck--even when they have left the bottle or breast completely.
