

Air Service Improvements Sought Here

Croehl, Greene Go To Washington To Attend Hearing Two men prepared to leave tonight for Washington aboard American Airlines to present the Big Spring case for north-south airline service as city officials dug in to work up a project for extensive improvements of the municipal airport.

Details of the brief which was prepared under supervision of Greene and the chances for securing a service were discussed at the regular chamber of commerce directors meeting Tuesday noon.

Meanwhile, the city engineering department was busy drawing plans and drafting estimates for board improvements to the airport which would bring it class four rating, maximum CAA designation.

New plans are being drafted on the basis of enlarging the length and number of runways for the port. In turn, this would require more acreage for the port, a detail covered by options. William Grant is assisting in preparation of estimates.

Farm Finance Program May Be Altered

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Large financial requirements for the national defense program, federal farm officials said today, may necessitate a shift in the administration's methods of bolstering the income of producers of major agricultural crops.

The shift, they said, may entail a reduction in cash subsidies and an increase in government loan rates on crop surpluses.

During the past few years the administration has sought to improve and stabilize farm income mainly by distributing benefit payments among producers cooperating with crop control programs. Funds appropriated for such payments this year amounted to about $775,000,000.

Officials said the present disparity between prices of farm and non-farm products may be widened by an industrial boom they anticipate from government defense spending. They explain that existing surpluses of major crops and reduced foreign market prospects would tend to keep farm prices from advancing along with other price increases.

As a consequence, officials said, it might require $1,000,000,000 or more of benefit payments to keep farm buying power at present levels. Officials feel, however, that with a heavy drain on the treasury for rearmament, there would be little chance of securing necessary funds for agricultural aid.

Crops most likely to lag behind a general price advance, they said, were cotton, wheat, tobacco, rice and others dependent on foreign markets. Exports of these products have been sharply reduced since the European war started.

'Hams' Ride The Short Waves Hunting Down Outlaw Stations

WEST HARTFORD, Conn.—Every hour of the day and night sharp ears are listening in on the shortwave radio bands, searching for the voices of spies and traitors. The ears belong to members of the American Radio Relay League, which has headquarters here. The league has 25,000 active members among the nation's amateur radio operators.

Once a "ham" overhears an illegal station communicating with foreign agents it can be easily located with directional equipment. League officials cautiously concede they have an "understanding" with the Federal Bureau of Investigation under which members report suspicious stations, but the extent of such counter-espionage remains a secret.

Work With FCC
The league's chief activity is in a close relationship with the Federal Communications Commission, which works with the FBI. Many FCC field observers are former A. R. R. L. members.

Counter-espionage work of the league is chiefly by "official observers," some 200 highly experienced "hams" with elaborate equipment whose "self policing" is on a volunteer basis.

They watch for violations of the amateur's code of conduct which the League recently summarized thus:

1. Do not talk about the war over the air, or discuss any happenings that might have a military significance.
2. Do not use any code or cipher.
3. Do not permit anyone except members of your immediate family or other licensed amateurs to use the microphone.
4. Sign each transmission with your assigned call.
5. Scrutinize domestic traffic offered you by strangers; if you are approached by any agent of a subversive group or an agent of a foreign country, communicate immediately with the FBI or A. R. R. L.

There's A Law
Incidentally, League officials point out that any member who reports hearing suspicious signals, while he may be performing a patriotic duty, technically is violating a law punishable by a $10,000 fine.

This law makes it an offense to report anything heard over the air except broadcasts intended for public use or the distress calls of ships at sea.

Many of the "hams" in the league are members either of the Naval Communications Reserve or of the Army Amateur Radio System.

This is a typical radio "ham."

British Count Losses At Sea

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Britain lost 13 merchant ships totaling 65,609 tons in the week ending November 3-4, the admiralty announced today. Other shipping losses that week were reported as four allied ships totaling 5,403 tons and one neutral ship of 1,583 tons.

The total of 72,595 tons included the Empress of Britain, the admiralty said, adding that excluding that large liner British losses amounted to 23,261 tons—"whereas the enemy, with their usual exaggeration, claimed to have sunk in the week under review 134,900 tons of our merchant shipping."

Announcement of the shipping losses was followed by an admiralty statement denying German claims that an entire British convoy of 15 to 20 ships totaling 20,000 tons had been sunk by German surface raiders in the Atlantic.

"It can now be stated," the admiralty said, "that a substantial majority of the ships forming the convoy attacked by an enemy surface raider last week eluded the raider."

Byrnes Looms As Democratic Senate Leader

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Senator James F. Byrnes (D-SC), one of President Roosevelt's chief legislative advisers, was advanced today as a likely candidate for senate president pro tempore in a projected reorganization of the chamber's democratic machinery.

An active supporter of Mr. Roosevelt for a third term, Byrnes was expected to receive strong administrative support for the post if a contest materialized.

Besides Byrnes, Senator Clark (D-Mo) also was mentioned as a possible contender for the temporary presiding officer's post left vacant by the death of Senator Pittman (D-New) Sunday.

Extensive changes in senate standing committees also are in sight, when the new congress meets. Senator George (D-Ga) was considered the probable successor to Pittman as head of the powerful foreign relations committee.

AN ANALYSIS OF THE WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT The Italian reverse in the Greek adventure—the Greeks call it a rout—permits speculation on these interesting possibilities: 1. It may be the last time Mussolini's troops march alone, and it may be the end of his dream of a Mediterranean hegemony all of his own.

Willkie Asks Loyal Party Opposition

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie had rejected as a "totalitarian idea" an suggestion that the minority "surrender its conviction" and join the majority for the sake of a united front.

The defeated republican presidential candidate counseled his followers in a radio address last night to constitute themselves a "loyal opposition" during the next four years, but cautioned against "opposing things just for the sake of opposition."

ROMANCE—War called, and Doris Miller, 17, a "peach" from Atlanta, Ga., answered, but indirectly. She followed her sweetheart, A. M. Hargrett to Canada, where he's enlisted in the air force. They were married in Toronto recently.

Concluding his remarks by quoting Lincoln's famous "with malice toward none" address, Willkie preceded this with a departure from his prepared text affirm his belief that President Roosevelt would keep the nation out of war unless attacked.

"Mr. Roosevelt and I both promised the people in the course of the campaign that if we were elected we would keep this country out of war unless the thousands of organizations Roosevelt was re-elected and this solemn pledge for him I know will be fulfilled and I know the American people desire him to keep it sacred."

Taking cognizance of post-election speculation that he might be offered a federal post in the interest of national unity, Willkie made it plain that the American form of government was not designed to embrace such a conception.

Bomb Buries Women But Leaves Coats Hanging On Wall

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Four stories up, stirred occasionally by the rain-laden wind, two women's coats still hung on their pegs today on what was once the wall of a blueprint shop.

Below, a squad of workers dug through a huge pile of bricks, charred wood and tangled steel trying to find their owners.

Early last night, axis bombing planes struck the building with three bombs, killing many of the shopgirls who huddled there.

Fifteen persons—seven of them girls—escaped from the wrecked building alive. But the workers who toiled through the long night hours had little hope of finding alive any of the undetermined number still buried.

Once the workers shouted for a stretcher, but it was half an hour before they were able to extricate the crushed body of a woman. A crane was needed to drag a metal cabinet from her body.

Chamberlain Gets Plaudits

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons today that Neville Chamberlain died "with confidence that we had turned the corner, his only grief that he would not be a spectator at our final victory," although "long hard and hazardous years are ahead."

Texas Population Gain Means Larger Number Of Aged To Be Aided Under Security Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Texas may expect an increase in its problem of caring for the aged proportionate to its gain in population.

Unofficial figures released by the census bureau placed the present number of Texans 65 and older at 256,000, as compared with 232,459 counted in the 1930 census.

In the task of breaking down the data obtained in the 1940 check, the census bureau has not yet tabulated the exact number of persons 63 and older in each state. However, the estimate of 256,000 for Texas was reached by assuming that elderly people in 1940 comprised the same percentage of the state's total population as they did ten years ago.

The population in 1930 was 5,821,715, in 1940 it was 6,418,321.

A check with the social security board disclosed that 121,225 Texas men and women 65 and over received old age benefit payments during September.

Those who received old age assistance payments totaled 118,299. They had to show financial need to receive their checks, which averaged in that month $11.16 each. Half of this was put up by the federal government, half by the state.

Texans who received old age insurance payments, under the program which actually began only ten months ago so far as disbursement of funds was concerned, totaled 2,926 in September. These included 2,457 ex-workers who had been employed in industries covered by the old age insurance law, 451 wives of ex-workers (wives of insured ex-workers become eligible for payments on reaching 65, even though they themselves may not have been employed and 18 parents, 65 or older, of children who died while working in industries covered by the insurance act.

In addition to these, under later amendments which broadened the scope of the old age insurance program, 2,094 Texans received compensation in September. These included 1,492 dependent children of deceased insured workers, and 602 widows.

Payments under the old age insurance program varied widely in amounts. They depended on several factors, including the length of time in which the worker had been in employ which covered by the act, and the salary he earned. The maximum one possibly could draw was $83 monthly, the minimum $10. The 5,920 Texans (including young and old) receiving compensation in September drew a total of $84,582.
