Asserting that he was not ready to say anything about it at this time, the president said he did not know whether any announcement on the subject might be expected later in the day, after an afternoon conference with members of the

Mothers Note: Army To Teach Housekeeping

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 20. UP Schooling in the art of housekeeping to a degree seldom learned at home is going to be gained by selectees as one of the incidents of their year of military training

When they complete their year of service in the army, they are going to be qualified to go home and show Mom and Sis some of the finer points of homemaking.

No matter how careless they may have been before being called into the military service, they are going to change the habits of a lifetime overnight.

At home they have scattered shoes and clothing, towels and other articles promiscuously about the place and left the straightening of their rooms and beds to someone else.

They won't do that in the army. They will have a place for everything and will learn, by compulsion if necessary, that things are to be kept in place.

as newspaper stories. When a reporter asked a question about stories that approxi-mately 30 Danish ships tied up in American waters would be taken over by this government for turnng over to Britain, Mr. Roosevelt said it was a new one on him.

The chief executive repeated what he had said last Tuesdaythat congressional action would be needed, but that he did not believe repeal of the Johnson law would be necessary.

BERLIN, Dec. 20 (AP) - The French cabinet shakeup of last Saturday, known here as "the putseh of Vichy," has taught the lerman government one great les-on, men in the know here say.

That lesson, they assert, is that there is an influential group at work within the French ment to scuttle, if possible, atprochement such as planned be-tween Reichsfuehrer Hitler and the French former vice premier, Pierre Laval.

German government circles, they reported, long had suspected that not all who were giving lip service o the plan for a "new order in Europe" under German leadership vere sincere about it.

Laval's sudden removal uncovered the hands of these counterforces, it is said here. There no longer is even the slightest dougt but that the Wilhelmstrasse was completely surprised by the Vichy upheaval. The French chief of state, Marshal Philippe Petain, it is argued in well-informed circles in Berlin

But, so the story goes, no soone towards Germany thought their opportunity had come.

The former allied generalisal-mo, Maxime Weygand, was dispatched to Africa in the knowledge that he could hold the French African empire together and possibly even act indepen-dently of Vichy should the "putsch" fall, it was said. Germany would be in no position to object to Laval's removal from power at this time for fear of what Weygand might do, this

BIG SPRING STEERS BEAT TWO STANTON Lew Jenkins' TEAMS BY THE SAME SCORE 34 TO 9

Cagers Show More Power

Big Spring's basketeers put on an exhibition of "you take this one its destruction. and we'll take that one" at Stanton Thursday night in their initial showing of the current cage sea-

Coach John Daniels' "B" team opened the evening's festivities by ropean catastrophe. scundly walloping the "B" Stantonites with a 34 to 9 score. Not to be outdone, the "A" Big Springers rolled over their opposition, Stan-hardest blow of any sport, lost its ton's "A's," with an identical tally, international flavor.

Big Spring's Herd had not shown too much craftsmanship in train-Riggs dethroned after a one year the ball when it moved out on the hardwood for its first official dem onstration of court tactics.

James Fallon, forward, and Peppy Blount, center, split scoring honors for the Steers with a sextet of baskets each. R. H. Weaver, guard, came next on the list with a trio of loop shots, while Blake Talbot, forward, and Reese Stuteville, forward, chalked up a counter each.

Stanton moved into scoring row with two completed flips by Mash-burn and one each for Thornton and Heaton, while Turner racked up a free pitch.

Although it ws his first performance as a Longhorn starter, Fallon played a standout game with a classy band of ball-handling and necurate aiming.

Blount fired at the basket with series of shots from every angle of the floor, coming through with consistent style of dropping the ball in the ring.

The Big Spring little giant, Talbot, took a leading part in the roundelay with his shifty and enemy-confusing footwork. Being the most agile man on the court, Talbot was able to maneuver through the Stanton defenses in such a manner as to ssen the disadvantage of being the man next to the floor in a mob of timber-toppers.

A good share of the credit for the Herd's win last night goes to Weaver, a lad who can not only keep the opposition from doing anything other than looking at the backboard, but can get in a few licks for himself.

In the lower bracket session Talbot took the top-spot in a scor ing spree when he hung four cracks at the basket on the completed hook. Billy Womack marked three field throws and a free pitch on his side of the ledger. Weaver Basketball In made five points for his share of the night's offering, and Lamun and Bennett Reaves came out of Midwest League the game with six counts each.

As yet to be put to a cold steel Is Suspended test, Big Spring's cage prospects for 1941 are looking extremely Jsy at this point, according to Coach Daniels' estimate, but he refuses to get out on a limb and make any definite prediction as pension of the Missouri Valley A. to what Big Spring might have. Editorial

"The people of the United States are betne 45 million people in the United States are not getting the proper food."

These two statements were made about the same time, by two well-informed and responsible people. They are not as contradictory as at first plance it appears.

Prof. Bernard Ostrolenk of the City College of New York says we are better fed, because while the population grew 7 per cent in the 10 years, the consumption of milk went up 9 per cent, fruits and vegetables 33 per cent, butter 46 per cent, canned corn 51 per cent.

Bureau of Home Economics staff members my we are not well enough fed, on the basis of alaborate studies of actual diets of actual famlies not merely by dividing the population total by three to get President Roosevelt's "one-third

The scientific knowledge of proper nutrition has increased enormously in the last 50 years, so that theoretically there is no longer any excuse for civilized men to eat less healthfully than savages. But two difficulties remain. Eating habits are slowly changing in the direction of more "protective foods"-milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables-in place of the traditional overemphasis of sugar, meat, and potatoes. But it takes time. It also takes money.

lished a year ago, based on the diets of 4,000 sample families of wage earners and clerical workers in all parts of the country, showed that there was a limit below which no family could buy anything but a "poor" diet.

This did not mean outright starvation, but gradual damage to teeth and bone structure. loss of vitality, and added susceptibility to disease. The minimum for southern negroes was 95 cents per person per week, for cities on the east.

or west coasts, $1.60 per person per week. Above these limits, "fair" or "good" diets were rossible but only became probable as income rose, "Good" diets took at least $1.90 (in the South) to $2.75 per person per week, and even at that figure only from 2 to 4 families out of 10 selected "good" diets.

Part of the impetus for the food stamp plan came from such studies as this one. Roosevelt's "one-third ill-fed" speech was made with these basic facts in mind. The tremendous expansion of social security and relief measures in the last decade has begun a fundamental alteration of them. The gradual popularization of the new findings of nutrition science is having its effects.

But until the process is complete, we are still in the paradoxical position of having (1) a better average diet than formerly and (2) a huge block of people whose diet, through poverty or lack of knowledge, don't get the food they need for real health.

NE.. YORK

time there was a serious accident. T. L. T., Ponca City, Okla.-I believe the first bill for reapportionment of congressmen under the 1940 census has already been filed. It is authorized by Rep. John E. Rankin (D.-Miss.) and provides for increasing the size of the house from 435 to 450 members.

Mr. Rankin says that under his bill (calculated on the so-called method of equal proportions), only Oklahoma and Kansas would lose representatives (one each), while California would gain three, and one additional would be allotted to each of the following: Alabama, Arlzona, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Oregon, Tennessee, Texas and Wisconsin.

The way I figure it (counting California and New York as usually democratic in recent years) that would mean a net gain of seven democrats under Mr. Rankin's bill. That should explain further why there is going to be such a congressional fight over this proposition of re-apportionment.

M. M. J., Abilene, Texas - Thank you for the little calendar that spots dates and days of the week clear back to 1 A. D. and so far in the future. It's the first time in all these years that I have known that I am one of "Saturday's children," being born on that day, and it's absolutely fascinating to figure out that in the year 2000 Christmas and New Year's will fall on Monday and that on both Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve in Washington, D. C. the saloons and liquor stores will be closed all day . . . unless congress does something about it in the meantime

Man About Manhattan By George Tucker

NEW YORK-Sometimes on my wanderings at night I encounter my friend and police doctor. Such encounters are fortunate, for then I go with him on strange calls that lead into little known byways and alleyways of New York, where life is not always the same as that known to the dwellers of the main thoroughfares.

Sometimes it may be an automobile accident. again it may be a shooting. Once it was a gangster who turned out to be a bookworm. He had been shot. As the police doctor bent over him to ascertain his wounds, he murmured, "They're all wrong about life just beginning at 40. Doc, it's over by 25. After you reach 25, nothing really matters at all."

Last night we hurried to the vicinity of the second arch of the great Brooklyn Bridge. On ose street, it was. We found an old woman who had fainted or at least she had collapsed on the torn sidewalk. At the hospital they said she had. . . . It was one of those long Latin names and I can't remember it, but from what the doctor said she was a victim of hallucinations and fainting spells. It had something to do with thinning blood.

In one of the wards we saw a pretty girl, about 22. She seemed perfectly normal, except that she craved paper bracelets. She had scores of hand-made bracelets on her arm, and her found was filled with them. When the doctors found her in her apartment, she had thousands A Cof paper bracelets lining the walls and stacked her dresser. The neighbors said she sat all day, murmuring funny words and cutting out paper bracelets. She will be held at the hospital for a long period of observation. The doctors

A week or so ago this column lamented the fact that not a single serious drama was to be observed on Broadway today-a phenomenal state of affairs for so late in the season. Fortunately, Miss Ethel Barrymore and a worthy supporting cast of players have made a liar of us with "The Corn Is Green," an exhilirating event and one that does much to lessen the sting of disappoint-, ment over the season's many failures.

One had hoped that with Miss Barrymore showing the way, others would take the cue, but unfortunately Broadway has not seen fit to mend its ways further. Subsequent openings have been dreary affairs with the less said about them the better. With two notable exceptions, 1940 has been a lean one for the drama. Maybe after New Year's the old street will take a new lease on life.

"Some of you guys ought to tip the SPCA off about the facts of life as regards us fiddle players," suggests Vladimir Selinsky, the violinist and concert master. "Take this fiddle here, Every time I draw my bow across the strings three dead sheep and one equally dead horse turn over in their graves."

Selinsky explained that fiddle strings were sade from the intestines of sheep, not cats; that 150 hairs from a horse's tail were required for one bow: that the stringed instruments of most symphonic orchestras necessitated the mass demise of more than a hundred sheep; that for every tom-tom a pig had to die, and for every drum an innocent little baby calf had to be snuffed out. It's enough to make one lose faith in the fundamental goodness of human nature.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD-It's the men's turn now. Chivalry is back to gtay at least for a few reels. The girls are on the sidelines once more, composed and sweet and laughing like beck at the boys who used to stand on the sidelines and laugh like heck at them.

Remember? A few years ago we had, in this corner, Battling Dietrich-in THIS corner teeth and claws bared, Unruffled Una, the pride of the Merkels. They had at each other, slapping, scrapplug, scratching, wrestling on the floor for a no-decision finish. And over here was Rass'lin Russell and Punchy Paulette, the Goddard Kid.

They were great days for the ladies, especially the gals with two-inch fingernails. They were great days for the beauty pariors, too, repairing rmanents and pasting over cracks in the enamel. Great days for the masseuses, doctoring Charley horses and massaging the kinks out of muscle-bound glammer. Looked for awhile as if a gal's left hook would be a more important screen asset than her profile.

But that sort of thing has been tapering off. True, Dietrich got in one good punch in a freefor-all in "Seven Sinners," but the men of the crew took the real beating.

Alice Faye, who last year got accustomed to custard pies in the face, went through "Tin Pan Alley" without getting a hair out of place. John Payne did all the scrapping, and Jack Oakie was the victim of the Sennett stuff.

Barbara Stanwyck, who used to slapstick with the best of them, and once had a walloping movie fight with Katherine DeMille, is leading a quiet screen life in "The Lady Eve." It's Henry Fonda who gets the dirty work, which is largely sponsored by Barbara herself. She's the cause when he splatters over a platter of food, when he gets himself soaked with gravy, when he jumps from a train and sits in a puddle of mud during a rainstorm. Funda's the current champlon martyr.

A few of the gals are doing the man-handling in person -like Hedy Lamarr in "Comrade X" who slings a telephone at Gable, conks him with a chair, and attacks with fingernails and kicking feet. In "Love Thy Neighbor" Virginia Dale becomes champion male abuser by kicking three different actors including Fred Allen.

And what does it mean? Simply that feroclous women have had their day on the screen for awhile, and probably won't be back until the men have had their turn.

Import Control Studied In US

The possibility of import control by the United States—a hitherto un looked for step in foreign trade regulation — aroused considerable speculation today.

The first guarded hint that any ich idea was under considerati came from Colonel Russell L. Maxwell, administrator of export control, during a review of the work done by his six-months old agenmaterials from being shipped out of the country. "Many students of the situation experts in their fields, have point ed out," he said, "that the control of imports as well as exports, is a major problem requiring early so-lution."

This bare one-sentence reference to the subject occurred at the end of the 2,000 word progress report he delivered last night. There was no amplification and, with one ex-ception, available government officials professed lack of knowledge on any plans to impose import con-

One source, however, said the matter was being given serious study and that, while action should ot be considered imminent, so thing might be done in the future.

Hawk added that in event of a campaign, he could secure a floubarrel from several merchants "afraid of the sales tax." More over, he had no friends to reward or enemies to punish, except that if appointed he promised Nall "a quiet cell in the county jail where those who voted for you will have no chance to get even nor moles you in any way." He signed-Politically yours if you act right.

It takes a 14K stamp to do well in the ring business. At least an Indian, whose temporary residence is the city jail, did well at it, according to officers. Released pre-viously from the bastile and told to eave town, the man instead bought a supply of 10-cent rings and en nanced their value with a 14K stamp. Sobbing a story of a break up at home, he sacrificed the rings for a couple of bucks. Meanwhile his record came back and it was ong as your arm.
