

It's Football Time Once Again!

By BUD IRVINE

The Springlake Wolverines open the 1959 football season Friday, (tomorrow) night at 8 p.m. against Portales, N. M. in the Wolverine Stadium.

After almost three weeks of rugged practice coach Townsend's charges seem ready and anxious to get the season underway. There are no serious injuries on the squad, and the boys seem in exceptionally high spirits, with a fine attitude. They scrimmaged against Hale Center last Friday night at Hale Center and did a good job, the teams tying with two touchdowns each. The boys were hitting very hard this early in the year, and running with power. But probably more important than any other one thing, they seem to have great determination, fight and hustle. All of this adds up to team spirit. With it, a team can go far. Without it, no matter how much ability a team may have, it won't go far.

The boys really want to play football, and they are going to give any club they play all it can handle, and then some.

Not much is known about Portales. It is thought the material might be comparable with Hale Center, with a little less experience. They will be tough to handle, and the Wolverines will have to go all out to score a victory.

Coach Don Townsend has incorporated a few changes in his offensive set up, though still running basically from the split "I" formation. You will notice Friday night that on offense the boys will be on the first count a lot of times, thus getting in more plays, and also keeping the defense off stride. Our center never goes into the huddle but gets the play from the quarterback as the boys get up from the previous play. The center immediately goes over the ball while the rest of the boys are in the huddle. The boys break the huddle altogether, running up to the line, and without a set signal, go on the first sound.

After several plays of this at a crucial time, and when the opposition becomes used to the first count move, the boys can then hold for two or three counts. This sometimes draws the defensive side off-sides, and always catches them off balance. Another innovation you'll notice is that all the players, both linemen and backfield men, go to a four point stance when they line up.

Springlake will likely throw more passes than in the past with three boys who can throw the ball well, Joe Ellis, Hal Hudson and Robert Cortez. Enis Tom Messer and Bill Starkey will likely be targets, with halfbacks Hal Hudson and Ronnie Haberer also on the receiving end. In practices Ellis, Hudson, Haberer and Norman Clayton have been forming the first unit backfield, and they have been performing well.

The probable starting line Friday night will be Tom Messer and Bill Starkey at ends; Rayburn Ott and Dale Montgomery at tackles; Carl Sanderson and Johnny Anderson at guards and Sandy Sanders at center.

Two major rule changes have been made in Texas interscholastic play this year. First, the width of the field goal posts have been increased to 34 feet, giving a better opportunity for extra points by kicking. Second, there will be free substitution again, whereby a coach can send boys into the game at any time between plays if does not interfere with play or if it does not take more than 25 seconds for the offense to get the ball into play. Before, a substitution could be made only during a time out or when the ball was dead.

Coaches Townsend, Dave Allen and Eldon Davis have done a fine job with the boys, and the boys have all worked hard, and both deserve our support. So, let's all be at Wolverine Stadium Friday night to root our Wolverines on to victory. Let's let them know we are with them all the way.

A CONSOLIDATION OF THE EARTH NEWS and EARTH SUN, OCTOBER 12, 1956

VOLUME 6 TEN CENTS EARTH, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1959 10 PAGES NUMBER 4

IT DOES MAKE A DIFFERENCE

J. J. Coker brought his son into the office earlier this week to buy him some Landmark Story books. His son selected three books, and mentioned while making his selection that he had read several of the other books.

I was truly impressed with the lad's desire to read, and remarked that I bet he was proud that his son loved to read so well. Mr. Coker stood thinking for a second, then said, "It all depends on whether or not I'm trying to get him to hoe or pot."

Friendliness toward one's fellow-man is definitely a wonderful trait, and we here at the office want always to stress friendliness and our appreciation for you dropping in, and for you calling in the news, and all those nice things that people in this area have, and are doing for us.

Now, I won't say that Anna's friendly personality was developed here in the Earth News, but we are told she really goes all out for friendliness.

Seems that while she and her family were away last week with a group of families from Earth, who vacation annually at Blue Haven Motel in New Mexico. She went ALL OUT to display a friendly disposition.

The story goes that Anna took a nap one afternoon, awoke feeling refreshed she bathed and dressed and walked down to the playground, where some of the ladies in the group were playing horse-shoes. While down there the caretaker came by in his pickup accompanied by a man wearing a hat and dark glasses, and resembling Perry Martin, who had at various time earlier in the week been riding around with the caretaker some.

Anna stopped, took one look and waved like a person who was taking a last glimpse at his family before going to the death chamber, and "yelled," "Where are you going?" and hurry back.

She felt just fine the rest of the afternoon, having a good time with the ladies. That night the group had secured a minister, much to her surprise, who had registered early in the afternoon to speak for them that night. Anna was already cleaned up, so she went in to the large living room, where they had placed chairs and she set down on the front seat.

The fellow arose and was with-out his hat or dark glasses, immediately began his message with an apology of being late, having gone into town with the caretaker and didn't get back until late.

Anna suddenly turned a deep reddish glow and began to squirm. She realized the fellow she had waved at, displaying much vim and vigor earlier in the day, was not the old friend of the family, Perry Martin, but this total stranger.

The longer he talked, Anna began to remember she hadn't changed her clothes, so he couldn't miss knowing it was she who had done all that waving exercise earlier and now she was sitting right on the front seat.

As soon as the minister stopped speaking, she dashed for the dining room. Finally feeling the need to explain her hysterical laughter to the other ladies who filed into the room, she began to tell them of her display of friendliness to this minister, whom she had never

New Horse Show Fertilizer Tests To Be Featured Show Value Of At State Fair Soil Testing

DALLAS — An entirely new horse show, offering a total of $34,840 in dash premiums and featuring most of the fashionable light horse breeds in the United States, will be inaugurated at the 1959 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9-25.

The State Fair of Texas Horse Show, as it is officially titled, will present three different series of shows, with judging scheduled almost every day of the fair.

The new attraction will bring together in one show for the first time at the State Fair such as the American Saddle Horse, Tennessee Walking Horse, Thoroughbred, Standardbred and Arabian. The popular Quarter Horse, Palominos and Shetland Ponies which have been featured in previous State Fairs will also continue to be spotlighted.

The Horse Show will be presented in the new, modern $2,000,000 State Fair Livestock Coliseum, which will seat more than 7,000 spectators. With its adjacent stables and exercise areas, the new Coliseum is considered to be an ideal setting for such an elaborate horse show. The Coliseum will be put into use for the first time during the 1959 State Fair.

The show's opening Series I, Oct. 10-13, will feature 3 and 5-gaited horses, fine harness horses, Futurity of Texas, walking horses, road and parade horses and hunters and jumpers.

Series II, Oct. 14-18, will star the ever-popular Open Cutting Horse Contest and Quarter horse conformation and performance classes.

The third series of the horse show, Oct. 20-25, will present Shetland Ponies and Palomino and Arabian horses in halter and performance classes.

The new show is a member of the American Horse Shows Association. Series I and the Arabian show of Series III will be conducted in accordance with AHSA rules.

Ray W. Wilson, the State Fair's livestock manager, is manager of the State Fair of Texas Horse Show. Douglas Mitchell of Fort Worth, longtime State Fair horse show official, will be assistant manager, and J. Glenn Turner, a vice-president of the State Fair, is chairman of the Coliseum Horse Show Committee which is planning the attraction.

On one farm the soil test showed that a 50-60-0 fertilizer was needed. The highest profit rate on this farm proved to be 45-60-0. On another farm the recommendations called for a 50-60-0 fertilizer. The highest profit rate here proved to be a 50-60-0 fertilizer.

Results on two farms showed that a rate higher than recommended by the Soil Test was the most profitable, but the soil test was the second highest profit rate. Only on one farm did the soil tests not closely predict need. In this demonstration, there was no profitable response to any fertilizer application.

Bennett points out that there were many factors that affect drop yields which a laboratory cannot analyze. But a farmer can put a soil test recommendation together with these factors and come up with a better decision on proper fertilizer rates, said Bennett.

NOT JACK AND THE BEAN STALK — But, Butch and the marigold stalk. This marigold is over five (5) feet tall, and was grown on the Clarence Hamilton farm five miles north of Earth. This is, by the way, the dwarf marigold species, not the regular size marigold. (In West Texas, around Earth, folks don't dare plant the regular size seeds in flowering plants. Afraid they'll lose their youngsters, amid the plants). And, Mr. Hamilton who is a member of the faculty, kinda had ambition for Butch, who is now six years old, and wanted to see the young lad begin his schooling this year. tons annually in recent years. California, at the present time, is the largest market for the improved cottonseed meal, where in 1958 an estimated 200,000 tons went into poultry rations.

In the past, even when fed to laying hens at low, nontoxic levels, gossypol in unimproved cottonseed meal caused egg yolk discoloration. The improved cottonseed meals, however, can be fed at levels up to 10 percent of the total diet of hens with no adverse effect on yolks of eggs produced for the fresh egg market.

USDA's Agricultural Research Service began work early in the 1940s to improve cottonseed meal. Studies of the chemical and physical properties of cottonseed and the pigment glands containing gossypol gave scientists of the ARS Southern Utilization Research and Development Division, New Orleans, an understanding of the role played by gossypol and laid the groundwork for producing cottonseed meal with a low gossypol content.

Further work indicated that the glands containing gossypol could be ruptured during processing by several means, and a large part of the freed toxic material could then be inactivated at a much lower temperature than was previously thought possible. Also, low processing temperatures favor high protein quality in the meal. However, achievements to date do not complete the research required to realize the full feeding potential of cottonseed meal, the USDA added.

 COLLEGE STATION — Cottonseed now has a market as a high protein feed for poultry and swine, says the USDA. Improved processing techniques have made this new use possible by lowering of the free gossypol content in the meal. Prior to 1947, says the USDA, use of cottonseed meal for livestock rations was limited largely to cattle because of the gossypol, a pigment that is toxic to poultry and swine. Although variable from year to year, the new market for cottonseed meal has been estimated by the USDA to have reached 300,000

THIS IS WHY CO-OPS GROW!

Here's another of the basic principles behind co-op progress

SAVINGS ARE DISTRIBUTED ON BASIS OF PATRONAGE

Co-ops are organized to serve their patrons with goods and services at lowest possible cost! Any savings made by the co-op during the year, therefore, belong to patrons. At the end of the business year, after all expenses have been paid, these savings are distributed to patrons in proportion to their purchases.

Co-ops are far out front in spreading ownership of American business!

More and more people are buying stock in American businesses these days. Spreading ownership in this way is a good thing. When millions of people have a vote in the affairs of a business, they help make sure that the business will be operated in the interests of the people. In a cooperative, every customer is an owner and has a voice in shaping the policies of his cooperative. Each co-op member has but one vote regardless of the number of shares he owns, and he makes good use of his voting privilege. Co-ops lead by a wide margin in making business really democratic.

Everyone shares in CO-OP BENEFITS

NEWSPAPERS and TV —

Last year was a very bad year in the U. S. automobile industry. Sales were far under both past and anticipated levels. There was but one exception . . . American Motors, with its Rambler car, whose sales zoomed an astonishing 80 per cent.

So something reported by Editor and Publisher in a late issue is of great interest.

The television people claim the world for their advertising medium. But American Motors, in setting its 1958 record, spent more than two-thirds of its $6 million advertising budget in newspapers, and absolutely nothing on TV.

The other makes all spent large parts of their ad budgets on TV.

Editor and Publisher says: "It will be argued, of course, that 1958 was an unusual year, that too many other factors enter into automobile sales, and that these figures are meaningless. We disagree.

"It seems to us that the coincidence . . . the manufacturer placing the largest percentage of his advertising appropriation in television and having the largest percentage drop in sales together with the fact that the only manufacturer who spent no money in TV but had the only increase in sales . . . too great to ignore."

TV is a great medium but nothing can supplant the newspaper.

"LET PRIVATE ENTERPRISE DO IT"

The American people can expect no slackening in the growth of the federal government's size and cost of operation, and, correspondingly, no relief from heavy and multitudinous taxes until they say no to useless government spending. The issue carries right down through state and local government. Iowa provides a current example at the state level where officials have requested that the Federal government build lines for the transmission of Missouri River power in their area.

The Newton, Iowa, Daily News, had this to say: "The job does not need government aid. It can, and should where possible, be done by private enterprise. In this particular case it can be handled by Iowa's Power Pool . . . a combination of five electric power companies . . .

"For the federal government to do the job it would mean an outlay of $8,000,000. The private companies could supply the power at reasonable prices . . . saving the taxpayers of the nation $500,600 each on the over-all project for fifty years, the expected life of the lines. That's a whopping $25,000,000 saving . . .

"There is another advantage to the program offered by the private companies. By being a part of the Iowa grid . . . which this would be . . . service will be assured of better continuity through looped two-way feeds as contrasted to the one-way feed from the radial Bureau of Reclamation (federal) lines proposed . . .

"The private plan is cheaper and better . . . what more could we ask?"

"Let private enterprise do it. Private enterprise pays taxes."

This is the kind of thinking that can curb government spending and stop government competition in purely commercial enterprise where it is not needed, and where it inherently has no right to be. It is up to the people to teach the politicians.

No Problem With Pots And Pans

When day is done . . . and dinner has been eaten . . . the most unusual noise to be heard in the typical home would be the sound of silence. Between the chatter of dishes being cleared and prepared for washing, discussions over whose turn it is to wash and to dry, debates over which TV program is to be watched, instructions on the necessity of doing homework first, the possible ring of telephone or doorbell to announce the call of a friend, the impatient sounds of pets waiting to be fed . . . none of this has any bearing on the peace and calm that the singers of songs romanticize as "twilight."

Strangely enough, however, there is one thing in particular that strikes the strongest note of discord and, like chain-reaction, echoes throughout the other activities, adding to the seemingly complex confusion or after-dinner settling down.

And that is the least-loved chore of all . . . washing dishes.

First Small Watershed Protection Loan Made

College Station — The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced in mid-June the first Government loan to enable a local public improvement organization to participate in a small watershed development project, said Jack Barton, extension soil and water conservation specialist.

The loan will be made by USDA's Farmers Home Administration to the Thorofare Creek Meadow Co., Salem County, New Jersey. The $5,000 loan will help finance the non-Federal share of the cost of rebuilding a 5,100-foot dike and installation of three tide gates. Another 7,300 used for flood prevention purposes will be rebuilt with Federal funds, Barton said.

Under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act, local organizations and the Federal Government share the cost of small watershed development. Participating organizations that need to borrow funds to pay their share of the cost, and cannot obtain the needed credit elsewhere under reasonable terms and conditions, may apply to the FHA for credit assistance, he said.

The loan will be amortized over a 35-year period at an interest rate of 2.67 percent. Under the 1956 amendment authorizing loans in the small watershed program, the interest rate is the average rate paid by the Treasury on certain of its outstanding obligations at the beginning of the fiscal year in which the loan is made. The maximum term on loans of this type is 50 years.

Watershed loans, said the specialist, may be used to install, repair, or improve approved facilities for water storage, drainage, and similar measures needed in small watershed development.

Applications for loans are made to the State directors of the FHA through the FHA representative. Loans are made only for projects approved by the Soil Conservation Service, Barton added.

Pre-Vacation Checkup

If you are one of the millions of women planning family vacation trips, be sure your plans include a check on the mechanical condition of your car.

Obvious? Yes, but many forget it. Thousands of motorists on the road today are driving cars that should be repaired for safety.

A recent survey reported by the National Safety Council showed that in seven states and the District of Columbia almost 45 per cent of all vehicles inspected were rejected for mechanical defects.

Worse yet, of the more than eight million vehicles inspected in ten states and the District, 1,722,400 (one out of five) had substandard brakes. About the same number of cars had defective rear lights. The third most frequent violation was substandard headlights.

Every seventh car inspected had a faulty exhaust or fuel system.

Shell Oil Safety experts suggest you have the following points checked: brakes, headlights, rear lights, tires, steering mechanism, exhaust system, windshield wipers, horn.

Protect your family—and everyone who shares the road—by having your car checked NOW. Your local service station is a good first stop on any vacation trip.

Attention Farmers!

New law effective September 1 affects you if you use butane, propane, and deisel or kerosene. Taxes will be collected generally at the wholesale level by suppliers under the terms of the law.

points of the law (Chap. 10, House Bill 11, Third Called Session of the 56th Legislature) that affect use of these special fuels:

★ Every person who delivers special fuel (a) into fuel supply tanks, or (b) in bulk quantities for redelivery into fuel supply tanks or motor vehicles must secure a permit as a supplier, dealer or USER.

★ UNLAWFUL TO SELL — Except for tax paid deliveries into fuel supply tanks of motor vehicles it will be unlawful after Sept. 1, 1959, to make bulk sales of special fuels to any person who (1) is not a licensed supplier, or (2) is not a licensed dealer or user or (3) who does not furnish a signed statement that none of the special fuels purchased tax free from date of such purchase to the end of the calendar year, will be delivered or permitted by him to be delivered into the fuel supply tank of a motor vehicle. ONLY ONE STATEMENT FOR THE CALENDAR YEAR NEED BE FURNISHED.

★ The Supplier may sell tax free to non highway consumer, including farmers, when the purchaser signs the above statement that none of the special fuel purchased tax free will be delivered into fuel supply tanks for taxable use. A TAXABLE USE IN VIOLATION OF SUCH PROMISSORY STATEMENT WILL FORFEIT THE RIGHT TO PURCHASE SPECIAL FUELS TAX FREE FOR ONE YEAR.

★ BONDED USER — Whose use of special fuels is predominantly off the highways — with lesser quantities used in motor vehicles owned or operated by him on the highways — must furnish bond and secure a users permit and pay taxes directly to the State on the highway use only. He will keep accurate records and report all uses, whether taxable or not.

★ NON HIGHWAY USERS — Including farmers, who will use all of the special fuels off the highway, may purchase tax free without securing a users permit by furnishing the signed statement described above, that none of said product will be delivered into fuel supply tanks of motor vehicles.

★ If such user owns or acquires a pickup or other highway vehicles propelled with special fuels he must either (A) have his highway vehicles serviced elsewhere by retail dealers who will issue him an invoice showing the date, quantity, highway license number and speedometer reading on each fill-up, or (B) he must secure a bonded users permit to use special fuels purchased tax free in such highway vehicle and pay taxes on the highway use only, as provided in paragraph above.

★ UNLAWFUL OPERATIONS — After September 1, 1959, it will be unlawful (A) to transport special fuels in a cargo tank which has a connection by pipe, tube, valve or otherwise with the carburetor, or fuel supply tank of the motor vehicle transporting said products, or (B) to operate with special fuels any motor vehicle licensed for highway travel, on which a speedometer is not kept at all times in good operating condition to correctly measure and register the miles traveled by such vehicle.

★ NEW APPLICATION AND BONDS — The bond fixed by law at not less than three times the amount of taxes that will accrue during any month, but never less than $1000 if piped by a supplier, nor less than $500 if filed by a dealer or user—must be executed and filed with the Comptroller as soon as possible and not later than September 1, 1959.

1. If you are a farmer using butane, propane, or diesel you must sign a blank promising that you will not use any of these fuels delivered to your tank for highway purposes in any vehicle licensed for highway travel; or

2. Post $500 Bond with the Comptroller and keep record of the amount used for highway travel and pay taxes directly to the State.

TOMMYE LILLEY HONORED WITH BRIDAL SHOWER

A bridal shower honoring Tommye Lilley, bride-elect of Don McMillan of Amarillo, was given at the community building Wednesday afternoon. Twenty-eight guests were registered. The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth centered with a bride and groom in an outlined white heart topped with a royal blue ribbon.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames J. Paul Waggoner, Hubert Lilley, Alton Loudder, E. R.

Just how well the mechanics of the new cotton program will work when the country starts to move over the country in volume is a question foremost in the minds of many cotton men . . . it may be expected that there will be considerable disappointment early in the program with the large amount of paperwork and the large number of errors that are certain to crop up . . . anyway, cotton and cotton men certainly are tested this season with an untried program, lots of red tape and the largest crop in six years, if the August forecast is accurate . . . in case you haven't seen the government forecast it's for 14.8 million bales . . . that's up 29 per cent from last year and up 5 per cent from the '46-'57 average . . . and, if the forecast is right, the record yield per acre of last year will be topped by eight pounds . . . that means the crop will climb to 474 pounds per acre or 145 pounds above the average 10-year yield.

What's going to happen to all this cotton? . . . feeling is that most of it will be consumed . . . the experts say that domestic mills will use more than nine million bales and exports will range between five and six million . . . last year the U. S. mills used about 8.5 million bales and exports were only about 2.8 million.

Apparently cotton was the only domesticated plant common to both the Eastern and Western Hemisphere in prehistoric times . . . all other plants grown by the Indians were not known in Europe . . . and the people who don't know how to explain this should have any explanation!!

Mill Record
U. S. textile industry thinks it has an anti-inflation record . . . the average textile item that cost $1.00 in 1947-'49 now costs only 91 cents . . . on the other hand, the averaged other manufactured item that cost a buck in '47-'49 now costs $1.28.

Weekly Stock Market Round-Up

Prepared by The Investment Research Department of Hemphill, Noyes & Co., 15 Broad Street, New York 5, N. Y. Members of the New York Stock Exchange

August 26, 1959
AN APPRAISAL OF TODAY'S STOCK MARKET
Recently the stock market sold off sharply registering the worst decline for any one day since November 24, 1958. At that time in 1958, following the sell-off, the market rallied sharply and within a month moved into new high ground. It is now a matter of history that the advance continued to substantially higher levels. The question now rises as to whether the recent sell-off signaled the beginning of a major decline or was merely another slight correction in the market rise that has taken place during the past sixteen months.
By any accepted statistical yardsticks the stock market is high. Dividend yields are the lowest they have ever been and the bond-stock yield relationship is the most favorable to bonds for a high level in the market. Price/earnings ratios are traditionally high. To use any of these established yardsticks one would draw the conclusion that stocks are overpriced at current levels and that a correction of some significance might be forthcoming.
On the other side of the picture, however, there has been an increasing demand for stocks by institutions and individuals. Many institutions are buying common stocks today that did not buy them fifteen years ago while individual owners of common stocks have grown from approximately six million to twelve million. New offerings of common stocks have been insufficient to meet this growing demand while corporations because of the tax advantages have done a great deal of their financing through issuing bonds and consequently built up an over-supply of these issues.
Nevertheless we are approaching a point where bonds are becoming better values than common stocks in spite of the fact that they do not offer protection against inflation nor do they participate in the growth of the economy.
Current events may play an important part in the future trend of the stock market. Past history has shown that in previous steel strikes a work stoppage of eight weeks' duration will have no serious repercussions on either the economy or the stock market and it is quite possible if the strike were to be of much longer duration it could have very serious effects. The planned visits of Khrushchev and Eisenhower have had some psychological effect on investors who fear that these meetings might result in a cutback in the defense program, one of the strong motivating forces in the economy. However, it seems unlikely that anything will be accomplished from these meetings to establish a peaceful atmosphere between Russia and the United States. This is a remote possibility however not to be ignored.
Technical factors, such as the reading of charts, price volume studies, etc. have sometimes been important in determining the future course of the stock market. To date there has been an upward trend line established since March 1955 that has not been broken. Until this is broken there should be no real concern. Volume of trading, however, has been rather discouraging. Since May, each succeeding rally has been accompanied by less activity indicating somewhat less enthusiasm on the part of investors.
Seasonal factors also merit some consideration and historically the early fall has not been a favorable time for higher stock prices. In the final analysis from all the facts we have mustered we feel that the evidence points towards lower stock prices in the not too distant future, although it is recognized that the current buying pressure developed by institutions and investors could carry stock prices higher temporarily. FNS met before, and just as she was demonstrating to the ladies with her arm up in the air waving as though she was fighting fire, he walked the minister through the dining room making his way to his sleeping quarters, he saw Anna waving again.

I'm not sure just what mark this has left on Anna, she may refrain altogether from displaying emotion and only speak casually to her best friends. (But it's for sure the group won't let her forget it, and I'm sure since the group has passed it on, she will be the official welcome at the church from now on.)

Mr. Stockard was truly impressed with the message he heard Sunday, and with the friendliness of the congregation attending the church. Stockard, who is himself, one of the kindest, most gentle fellows I have ever had the privilege to meet, said it was truly an experience that he, his son and wife, all enjoyed, an experience that supplies one with the necessary ingredients that is satisfying to the heart and soul. (Friendliness, such as he described is always appreciated.)

K. B. Parish and wife Dot, took the train to New York City, and upon arrival at the Grand Central Station, they slid into a taxi (with the air of grabbing a taxi many times a day in Springlake). They rode through the tunnel and upon seeing daylight, K. B. said "Commodore Hotel, please" with the ease and importance of Gregory Peck. The taxi driver slammed on his brakes right in the middle of the street and said in a loud voice, "There, x!x!x!x!" (Explanation: The Commodore is just nine stories straight up from where he arrived below ground.)

Had you ever thought about how easy the other fellows job looks? Generally speaking, it looks like a snap, and could be accomplished with practically no effort at all. However, most of the time beneath the surface the other fellow has his hands full. Take Mrs. Jess Goode for instance, she says most women go to bed at night and curl up with a good love story, but not her, she has to read books on "A" and "B" Plans for farmers.

Savings Are Not To Be Sneezed At

Pots and pans always stimulate a number of questions from new dishwasher-owners, or those who'd like to join this ever-growing group of homemakers with more time on their hands. A few tips from the "old hands" . . . Don't load pots and pans in the machine so fast that they block the washing action from dishes. If preparing a special meal for more than the usual family members, it's a good idea to do all utensils and equipment other than the dinner service at a separate time . . . perhaps before the meal so that the dishwasher will be ready for prompt washing of dishes, silver and glassware.

Party Line.....

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hardy of Dimmitt visited Saturday night in the home of her sister Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walker and daughters visited in Lubbock Sunday with their aunt Mrs. Eanis Arthur and Mrs. Anna Mae Sturman.

Tips on Touring

The Last Word

Are you a nagging wife who gets the last word in every argument?

Of course not! None of us is. But—if you suspect that some of your friends might be, watch for a chance to drop this hint. The last word in any argument held while driving might really be the last.

A moving car is no place for an emotional flare up. As a top traffic safety official put it, "Nagging wives, burnt toast, oversleeping, all fall into the same category. They all tend to take the driver's mind off driving, to make him more susceptible to an accident."

His advice: "Don't let your husband drive if he's hot under the collar. Try to save discussions that could become heated for a later time. You'll be surprised how many troubles a few hours can cure. This doesn't mean that we women can't speak up. The wife who gently points out that the speed limit is 45 and her husband is driving at 55—and who helps him watch out for road hazards—this woman can be a real benefit. "Women can be life-savers if they'll help hubby copilot the family car," says the safety official. What advice does he have for drivers—both men and women? "Keep tempers down before driving. Don't let a traffic accident spoil your life!"

Long Dreamed Of Trip Comes True For Earth Miss

A long dreamed of trip abroad came true this summer for Misses Janabeth Laing and Carolyn Bell of Houston.

For two years the two made such study and preparation for this long awaited European trip.

Miss Laing and Miss Bell left Houston by jet plane to New York City. They sailed June 8 on the S. S. Atlantic and landed at Amsterdam June 16, after they had seen the sunrise over the ocean and the White Cliffs of Dover.

The two studied the history of the Peace Palace at the Hague. They toured the flower center of the world, the farming land and fishing villages.

They went by train to Copenhagen and by ferry to Sweden. They toured the castle where Shakespeare wrote Hamlet.

Miss Laing said the people of Holland are great, but her favorite were the Danish people, as they seemed so happy. She said, she believed they did not suffer so much during the last war.

Miss Laing, closely observed the people in Hanover, Germany, how they seemed to be carrying a heavy burden, still deep scars from the war.

The two flew to Berlin to hear a minister from the Eastern Sector speak to a group of University students. They studied customs, religion, politics, history and everyday life. They met teachers from all over the world.

They went to Frankfurt and on to Weisbaden to visit friends from Crowell, Texas, then on to Austria and Rome. They rested a few days at Barcelona, then on to Madrid, Spain and Paris, France, where educational tours were made. They planned for Brussels and a tour of the British Isles.

Both planned for New York and on to Houston in late August.

Miss Laing was accompanied from Houston to Earth by Don Lakenmacher for a few days.

Miss Laing will resume her teaching at Springbranch School in Houston. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Laing.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Brown and Randy of Springlake and Mr. and Mrs. George Hicks of Odessa spent the weekend in Ruidosa N. M.
