WASHINGTON By Paul Mallon Facts—Economists have been barred from the early Harrison hearings to date because nearly everyone here is sick of theories.

Most of the suits of commerce and finance have already privately requested the committee to close its doors.

The Harrison hearings did not make much of an impression on Owen Young. He advised the committee privately by telegraph that his associate Gerard Spove was coming back today and that he had planned a long vacation for himself.

Committeemen surmised Mr. Young recalled that certain senators raised a howl to Mr. Roosevelt while he was under consideration as Secretary of State.

Political acouts from out in the country have reported to the big boys here that the senate is in a disfavor with the people.

The basic fact in the legislative map in the absence of leadership in both parties. Mr. Hoover is sitting on his hands at the White House waiting until March 4.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN
Hitler and Mussolini

At this glance it is almost impossible to obtain a clear understanding of the events which have led to the elevation of Hitler. We know that in the November elections the growth of the National Socialist vote seemed to be arrested, but that in the local elections for the State of Lippe the Hitlerites increased their vote by about one-sixth of the electorate. We know, too, that this gain was made at the expense not of the parties of the Republic, but at the expense of the Nationalists; that is, of the conservative parties. It would appear, therefore, that the conservative portion of the German people continues to become increasingly Fascist in temper.

It was shortly after this demonstration in Lippe that the curious bargain was made by which Hitler became chancellor in a cabinet composed largely of his conservative opponents. Whether this means that Hitler has made concessions or the theory that he can step now in order to conquer later or that the Nationalists have adopted him on the theory that they would appear, therefore, that the conservative portion of the German people continues to become increasingly Fascist in temper.

Under The Dome At Austin

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, (UP)—Eight speeches out of ten in the legislature began by a declaration of the speaker that he is for strict economy. And seven out of the eight speeches continue with a "but."

After the "but," the speaker shows how essential it is that such and such an expenditure be made.

And legislators pledged to cutting out needless jobs apparently do not think any of their own places come in that category. A proposal offered in the house of representatives to cut its membership from 150 to 93 brought forth a loud shout of "No."

The proposal was that there be three representatives districts in each of the 31 senatorial districts.

With reference to salary cuts, state employees are in a peculiar position which no legislator so far had the temerity to discuss upon the floor of the house or senate.

Employees of private concerns, receiving drastic cuts and calls for economy, have the hope that if their organization can pull thru the trying days with their cooperation, they may again enjoy more prosperous days with the same concern.

The state employes faces the prospect of taking his cut and also the prospect that when times get better a change of administration will mean some one else has the job.

The questioning of F. L. Denison in a public hearing on his nomination for chairman of the state highway commission had turned to his policies.

"Three probably are too many highway employes now," Denison said.

"As a matter of fact," joking put in Senator Walter Woodward, Coleman, "didn't the last election show that there are not enough highway employes?"

The fight to prevent state highways skipping small communities has again been brought before the legislature.

A bill proposed this time would forbid the highway commission routing a state highway so it would miss any community of 350 population without consent of the county commissioners court.

Some of the bitterest fights waged before the highway commission have been on this subject.

The veteran senator from Benavides, Archer, is known as the quietest but closest worker in the senate. Upholding his reputation he introduced a measure at 10 a. m., pushed through all readings and before noon had it finally passed.

Actually he spent in all about 10 minutes getting the bill passed since he did not call it up until just before the session closed. The bill was to eliminate a hide inspector for Jim Hogg county.

A new wrinkle in legislative procedure was unworked in the house by Rep. Pat Dwyer, San Antonio. "I move that we do not adjourn" said Dwyer when a committee proposed to stop work for lack of a quorum.

Mrs. Iveta Culp Hobby, wife of W. P. Hobby, former governor, was called upon to exercise her old duties as house parliamentarian while attending a committee hearing on the child welfare bill.

Some one raised a point of order on procedure of the committee. Mrs. Hobby was appealed to and ruled that a committee is under the same rules as the house.

In senate argument over procedure on consideration of session rules, Senator George Puri, Dallas, gained the floor on a point of order and inquired:

"Mr. President, what's before the senate?"

"The senators from Fort Worth and Red River," replied Senator Tom DeBerry, Red River, before the presiding officer could answer.

Senator Wilbourne B. Collier, 31, Eastland, now is the youngest state senator. He took the title from Senator Cecil Murphy, Gainesville, who in turn took it from Senator W. E. Pogue, Waco. Mr. Murphy became a member at a special session of the 42nd legislature.

Dr. Houston, Member Of Wilson Cabinet, Is Not Dead, Despite Report

AUSTIN—(UP) A New York newspaper article listing D. David P. Houston, former University of Texas president, among the deceased members of Woodrow Wilson's cabinet brought much concern to his friends here.

Dr. Houston, who served as secretary of agriculture and secretary of treasury under Wilson, was located in New York, very much alive and enjoying good health.

Collingsworth Urges Using Cotton Goods

WELLING ON, (UP)—County officials of Collingsworth county, one of the largest cotton producing sections in West Texas, have put into practice the idea of using cotton goods to help the farmer.

Luther Gribble, county judge, announced cotton content paper would be used in all official stationery printed in 1933. Across the bottom of each letterhead will be blazoned:

"Collingsworth County Doing Her Bit to Aid the Cotton Industry—This paper is made from Cotton grown in Texas."

University Cage Meet Dates Set

AUSTIN—(UP) The University of Texas will hold its annual high school state basketball tournament here March 10 and 11, it was announced by the athletic council.

Fourteen teams will compete for the state interscholastic title.

It also was announced that the Athletic conference of American College Women will meet here April 18, 19 and 20. It is sponsored by women from universities and colleges throughout the nation.

The state meet of the interscholastic league has been set for May 4, 5 and 6.

SCHOOLS CONSOLIDATED

MISSION—(UP) Consolidation of three public school systems in the Mission territory has been suggested here in an effort to reduce operating expenses and centralize affairs of the systems.

The move would unite the Mission, Alton and Sharyland systems under one head and remove the necessity for operating the three as separate units.

Silica Mine Near Tahoka Arousing Unusual Interest

TAHOKA—(UP)—Unusual interest is being shown in the new silica mine opened recently six miles south of here. The first car load of crude silica sand has been shipped to Dallas.

The mining operations will continue in a small way, said J. C. Blackburn, who holds a lease on 80 acres of the land bearing silica.

Plans are under way to install refining machinery. Silica is used as a base for floor sweep compounds; as a filler for paints, and as a base for cleansing compounds.

Livestock Committee Given Chiropractors' Proposal For Licenses

AUSTIN—This is the cow's backbone.

The Texas house of representatives referred to the committee on live stock and stock raising a bill to regulate and legalize the practice of chiropractic.

It was not, however, a blow to the chiropractors. It was a distinct victory—the first, in fact, that they have ever scored in the Texas legislature. Their object was to keep it out of the committee on public health, which is dominated by medical doctors. And they succeeded. It so happened that the committee on live stock had no business pending before it.

Chiropractors now practice in Texas, but against the law. No convictions are obtained because jurists refuse to convict. Followers of the profession want the bill to weed out unworthy practitioners.

City League To Play Important Games This Evening At B. S. H. S.

Results of the city basketball league games this evening beginning at 7:30 o'clock will have an important bearing on the outcome of the race.

With only four games remaining, the league is knotted up with each of the four entries boasting two victories against as many defeats.

Acres, flushed by a timely victory over Collins Bros., will appear in the opener against the Baptists, somewhat deflated by a loss to the Christians in the last game.

Christians, with a reinforced lineup, will tackle the vicious Collins Bros. squad, which, incidentally, has grown victory hungry after losing its last two starts, one by single point margin and the other by two points.

Games will be played in the high school gymnasium and a small admission will be charged.

Our Jobless Millions

The estimate that there are now fully 11,000,000 jobless workers in the United States, made recently by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, is a point to bear in mind while Congress discusses proposals to appropriate vast sums for direct federal unemployment relief.

Those out of work are in greater need now than ever before for after three years of depression their resources are exhausted," Mr. Green points out. "Mental and physical wreckage caused by depression is driving families to seek relief in constantly growing numbers. Relief need is increasing much faster than unemployment."

All of this is too obvious to need argument. The situation is profoundly serious, and its seriousness must be one of the determining factors in any debate on the new unemployment relief proposals.

CHAPTER XXX

Sheila's engagement to dance at Club Vesper came up and she again went job-hunting. This time the situation was more promising.

"How'd you like a part in 'Sky High,' my new show?" Craig Abbott asked her.

Sheila didn't think she wanted it. She asked Johnny Harrel, an agent, to try to find her a job in a traveling company.

He pursed his lips and looked at her over the tops of his spectacles. "When you can find a place in a Broadway show why do you want to do a thing like that?" he asked.

"The streets are full of men and women who would jump at the chance to get a part in 'Sky High.'"

"Maybe just the same I don't want it."

"Need any money?"

"No. If I did I'd take a job like this."

Jappy was dancing in a vaudeville theater near the Broadway district which could be reached by riding the subway. In her free time the two girls went shopping together.

"Not holding on to your money, are you?" Jappy remarked. "Well, when a girl has only one bean she has to have a lot of clothes. Give me four or five to take her places and one dress will serve nicely."

"Are you referring to Dick Stanley?"

"Of course. What's he doing now?"

Sheila laughed. Dick was writing a play. He was very serious about it but Sheila who had seen a dozen aspiring young authors give up in despair before the second act was finished, who knew how many plays were jockeyed away in safe in producers' offices—never to be produced—could not show much interest in Dick's efforts. She was not even excited when he told her that the title of the new piece was "Red Geraniums," and that she was to play the lead in it.

"Oh, he seems to be keeping busy," she said Jappy. "He's trying to write another play."

Mrs. Semper called Sheila to the telephone one morning. Someone from Harrel's office wanted to speak to her.

"Can you get down here right away?" asked Johnny testily when Sheila reached the wire. "I want to see you at 11."

Sheila was in the midst of a bath but Mrs. Semper and Eve helped her scramble into her clothes. She left the house in a few minutes and reached Harrel's office at 11:10. It proved to be 15 minutes before he was ready to see her.

Ten minutes later she had signed a contract to play the lead in "Fine Feathers," a musical show booked for a long tour of the country.

"I can't understand you," Harrel grumbled. "I could get you a job at more money right here on Broadway."

"Johnny, you know as well as I do it isn't what you earn but what you save that counts. I'll save more money on the road."

When Dick telephoned Sheila told him the news eagerly. He invited her to have tea with him at a famous hotel on lower Fifth Avenue. They emerged shortly before 6 to find that it was raining.

"We aren't hungry now, of course, but let's go one of those Italian gardens for dinner," Dick said. "Maybe later you'd like to see a show."

"Johnny, I did I'd take a job like this."

Jappy was dancing in a vaudeville theater near the Broadway district which could be reached by riding the subway. In her free time the two girls went shopping together.

"Not holding on to your money, are you?" Jappy remarked. "Well, when a girl has only one bean she has to have a lot of clothes. Give me four or five to take her places and one dress will serve nicely."

"Are you referring to Dick Stanley?"

"Of course. What's he doing now?"

Sheila laughed. Dick was writing a play. He was very serious about it but Sheila who had seen a dozen aspiring young authors give up in despair before the second act was finished, who knew how many plays were jockeyed away in safe in producers' offices—never to be produced—could not show much interest in Dick's efforts. She was not even excited when he told her that the title of the new piece was "Red Geraniums," and that she was to play the lead in it.

"Oh, he seems to be keeping busy," she said Jappy. "He's trying to write another play."

ing in love with him—at least a little. Jilly sang-covered arm encircled her. His soft voice murmured the words of the dance tune—the season's love song—in her ears. His eyes caressed her whenever her glance met his. Their steps matched beautifully.

"Blind Timmy wrote that song. Did you know that, Sheila?" Dick asked as they resumed their seats.

"Blind Timmy?"

"Blind Timmy?"

"Yes, he wrote it last year. Had to sell it outright because he needed the money and I understand he didn't get much for it. Now the publisher is cleaning up on it in a big way."

"There, Dick! That's just what I've been telling you," Sheila said. "That sort of thing is considered fair enough on Broadway. It wouldn't be anywhere else. That's Broadway for you!"

They danced again. Dick humming the words of the tender little love song dreamily. Sheila was dreaming, too. She thought of a time to come when she would be mistress of her own home far from Broadway. She would see to it that Blind Timmy should end his days in peace and security.

Sheila was young and bitter. She had not yet learned that struggle and not attainment, is the breath of life for many thousands. Blind Timmy was one of those.

Four days later Sheila packed to depart for the road tour. This time she went as a featured principal. She was not a star, although there was little difference except in her salary and the billings. Announcements read, "Fine Feathers with Sheila Shayne" instead of "Sheila Shayne in Fine Feathers."

She had six specialty numbers in the new show and liked them all. The chorus was clever and attractive. Skillful dancers were plentiful on Broadway that year and easily selected.

"Don't be upstage with the girl's now will you?" Jappy cautioned Sheila, as she folded her belongings, slid into slippers, and tossed skirts.

"Of course not. My memory is too good."

"So is your heart, honey," Jappy paused. "I wish," she said, "it could be a little kinder toward Dick Stanley."

She wanted to ask about Jerry Wyman. Was Sheila's eagerness

Junior Hyperion Discusses Three Plays Saturday

The Junior Hyperion club met with various McNew Glenn Saturday to discuss three plays by George Bernard Shaw.

"Candida," "Getting Married," and "The Doctor's Dilemma" were the three of the Irish satirist's plays studied.

A contrast of Shaw's Caesar and Cleopatra and the same character, as presented by Shakespeare was made by Eleanor Antley.

Shaw's attitude towards divorce and getting married was discussed by Clara Secrett. Mrs. E. A. Stegler reviewed the play from which Miss Secrett drew her conclusions.

Ethel Evans spoke of satire upon medical men in the drama, "Doctor's Dilemma" and also furnished a review.

to return to the road because it might mean an opportunity to see Jerry again? The show would play in Jerry's home town, Jappy knew. She had looked up the routing. She wished somehow that she could say just the right thing to her friend. Desperately she tried.

"You aren't keeping a little corner in that heart for Jerry, are you?" she said, trying to keep her voice casual.

"Maybe it was his sister, Jappy."

"If you see him in Spencer are you going to be friends again? You know—talk to him, have dinner with him?"

"I might."

That was all that was said but in her heart Sheila knew she longed to see Jerry. Somehow she would find a way to bring about a meeting.

Former Texas Woman Says She Will Hold Husband's Hand When He Goes To Chair If Clemency Not Obtained

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Mrs. Sam F. Aiken, former Houston, Texas, woman, will go to the electric chair with her condemned husband if efforts now being made to save his life fail, she says. Mrs. Aiken, who married Sam F. Aiken in Houston while the latter was a fugitive from the Fulton county tower here, is bending every effort to save the life of her husband. She has directed circulation of a clemency petition which now has over 5,000 signatures.

Although she did not know Aiken at the time he shot and killed his former wife and Boyce Hunter, a neighbor, here, June 15, 1929, her romance with the Georgia fugitive in Houston during 1931 and their subsequent marriage there Nov. 6, 1931, binds her affections to him. "If Sam has to go to the electric chair, I am determined he shall not go there alone," Mrs. Aiken sobbed. "I am going to hold his hand if they will let me."

The fate of Aiken rests with the Georgia Supreme Court. The court has under consideration mandamus proceedings filed against Judge J. D. Humphries' refusal to grant a new trial on the grounds of newly discovered evidence. Judge Humphries of the Fulton county Superior Court, denied Aiken a new trial Feb. 24, 1932, and two days later re-sentenced him to the electric chair.

Having first evaded death on a new trial motion, Aiken escaped in August, 1930, shortly after his request for the new trial had been denied by Judge Humphries. The escape was made with Fred Fair, sentenced to die for the murder of Policeman J. E. McDaniel here. The two, using back saws passed to them in leaves of bread, sawed their way out of the cell and escaped by means of a rope made from bed furnishings. Fair is still at liberty.

Aiken was re-captured in Houston in early February, 1932, and again placed in Fulton tower. It has been since his return here that efforts for a new trial on the grounds of new evidence have been made.

A decision by the Supreme Court on the mandamus proceedings against Judge Humphries' refusal to grant a new trial is expected by March 4. If the court decides that Judge Humphries erred in not granting a new trial on the basis of the new evidence submitted, Aiken will be granted a new trial. If decision, Aiken will face electrocution with Judge Humphries.

How To Live At Home Short Course Topic

Howard County Women Attend Lectures In Good Numbers

"You don't need your rolling pin to make a fruit pie," said Miss Gladys Kimbrough, home economist of the Ball Bros. Co., Muncie, Ind., at the women's short course given at the Settles Hotel Saturday. More than 30 women attended the Saturday meeting which was arranged by C. T. Watson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The women expressed their interest in the talks in an emphatic degree and their regret at the men's indifference.

Miss Kimbrough demonstrated how to make whole meal dishes from canned goods to be found in the pantry of women energetic in summer canning. Miss Sallie P. Hill, district home demonstration agent, discussed in detail the plans for the "live at home" movement for 1933. She also told how to irrigate a vegetable garden by hollow tile and insure a greater variety of vegetables than would be otherwise possible in West Texas.

Some of Miss Kimbrough's recipes are given as follows: Hurry-Up Pie 2 cups blackberries or other home canned fruit, sweetened to taste. 3 tablespoons butter. 1 tablespoon flour. 1-2 cups flour made into a soft biscuit dough. Melt the butter in a deep baking dish; add the flour; stir until blended; add the fruit; cover with the soft biscuit dough; sprinkle 1 tablespoon sugar over the top; pop into hot oven (400 degrees); bake 20 minutes. It takes less than ten minutes to prepare this pie for the oven and

Cramps and Pains In Side and Back

"I had suffered with cramping and pain in my sides and back," writes Mrs. J. V. Bourque, of Gonzales, La. "It was so weak I could hardly walk. Cardui seemed to build me up, and after about twelve bottles I was better and stronger than I had been in years." Women who find themselves in a weak, run-down condition can hardly expect to be free from troublesome, painful symptoms. Where the trouble is due to weakness, Cardui helps women to get stronger and thus makes it easier for nature to take its orderly course. Painful, nagging symptoms disappear as nourishment of the body is improved with the assistance of Cardui. Sold at drug stores here.

Cramps and Pains In Side and Back

the pie is far superior in flavor to the average fruit pie. Creole Dinner 4 tablespoons fat—any kind. 2 cups, chopped. 1 small green pepper. 1 tablespoon parsley. Cook together until the onion is tender but not brown; then add: 1 1-2 cups home canned tomatoes. 1 cup home canned string beans. 1 cup home canned corn. 1 cup chopped meat (any kind). Salt and pepper to taste. Boil all ingredients together 5 minutes; turn into a baking dish; cover with buttered crumbs and brown in moderate oven 250 degrees. Canned Peaches—Spiced One quart home canned peaches. Boil 2 minutes in syrup made as follows: 3 cups brown sugar. 2 cups water or fruit syrup. 1 cup vinegar. 1 ounce of stick cinnamon. 1-2 ounce whole spices. 6 whole cloves. Mix in order given and boil one minute before adding fruit. Pack into hot jar, partially sealed, process in hot water bath for 10 minutes. MARY LOU GOES SHOPPING

She is only eight, but, even at this tender age Mary Lou is a daily customer at the neighborhood stores. Perhaps it is a package of crackers, and a pound of coffee at the grocer's. Perhaps it is some tooth paste or toilet soap at the drug store.

Of course Mary Lou doesn't decide on what she is going to buy. Her mother writes a list—this brand of crackers, this brand of coffee, this make of tooth paste, this kind of soap. She knows the prices, and gives Mary Lou just enough money, with an extra penny or two, perhaps, to spend for herself.

Buying is just as simple and easy as that because of just one thing—Advertising.

Advertising has given all of us a lot to be thankful for. Because of advertising, people in Texas know about and buy Michigan motor cars. People in New Hampshire buy oranges raised in Texas and California. Because of advertising, merchants and manufacturers are forced to improve their products. It has standardized quality. It has also increased very much world consumption and thereby lowered costs. It promotes competition and thereby keeps dealers and merchants wide awake to make secure for you the most for your money.

But best of all it writes "Finis" on the business career of any merchant or manufacturer who attempts to fool the public or give them less than value received.

cause that is the only measure which can become law. Consequently Congress is acting like a class of school children after one teacher has been fired and before the new one comes in.

Fear of public disfavor did not prevent the House from rejecting another salary cut for itself. Nearly every Congressman you talk to here really believes another cut is not justified. That same conviction is held by most of the daily neutral observers of Congress in the press galleries.

The attitude is generally around the town that $9,000 a year is little enough pay for legislators. Washingtonians seem to think a reduction would bring a consequent reduction in caliber of office holders. They also point out Congressmen have many necessary expenditures—heavy contributions to charities, campaign charges, etc.

That is all true. Yet there is probably no other class of workers in the country who have been let off with 8 2/3 per cent cut. That is all Congress has had to date.

The man who led the fight for another salary cut in the House is quite wealthy. His associates say he could probably get along without the salary. They were also around planting among their friends the idea that he had relatives on the payroll when that subject came up some time back. Anything to help a pal along.

Glory—

Senator Hull has suddenly become the most popular man in Congress. Drove of newsmen wait outside the senate door to get his views on international subjects since his appointment as Secretary of State has become a foregone conclusion.

One newsmen secured his promise of an interview on the British debt situation. Later Hull came back and said perhaps he had better write it out so there would be no misunderstanding. Still later he returned with the thought that perhaps he had better not do it at all because "it might be misconstrued."

That was a strong indication that

No Woman Can Have A GOOD COMPLEXION With Intestinal Stasis

Don't Force Nature To Eliminate Poisons Through The Skin—Ruins Complexion

"No woman can have a good complexion or be physically at her best who is an habitual sufferer from Intestinal Stasis." This statement by a practicing physician tells the real reason why so many women cannot clear up their complexions, and get the velvety skin men so much admire. Poor complexions, in most every case, are caused by poisons within the body which nature is trying to force out.

GET A SMOOTH, CLEAR SKIN
 So, if you have a "blotchy" complexion that does not seem to get better, get at the cause. Get rid of body poisons. Adierika does that in a thorough yet gentle and safe way. It gives a complete intestinal cleansing, acting on both upper and lower bowels. Its mild tonic effect strengthens digestive organs and helps to prevent the return of Intestinal Stasis. Adierika has been on the market for over thirty years. It has helped thousands of women get smooth clear skins by keeping their blood free from waste food poisons. CHANCELLOR ADOLF HITLER AND HIS CABINET

Notes—

The general run of Government workers here have received more than the 8 2/3 per cent cut, some as much as 17 per cent. That is done by forced layoffs ordered by department chiefs.

Congressmen get paid when they go on a furlough. A Congressman from Missouri says he gave $200 to the Community Chest at St. Louis and they called him long distance asking $100 more, saying the original contribution was not enough. The cost of living in Washington has not been reduced to anything near the extent prevailing in other sections of the country. Experts say the cost, outside of clothing, is only about 5 per cent less than 1930. That is an item to be considered in connection with Congressional salary cuts.

NEW YORK
 By James McMullin

Sterling—
 The spectacular rise of sterling is due to three factors: speculation in Kaffir gold mines, a flight from the franc because of France's bad budget condition, and an increasing volume of British investments by New York financial interests.

Commodity speculators are delighted with the rise. They figure that every cent increase in the price of the pound adds a quarter of a cent to the price of wheat. The British have temporarily abandoned all effort to depress the pound. If a lump sum payment goes through the higher the pound the better for the British. A quick slide off afterward could easily be arranged.

England—

Neville Chamberlain's drastic remarks are interpreted here as due to a persistent conflict of opinion in England. One school of thought holds that the June installment of the debt must be paid regardless because of the effect repudiation would have on England's debtors. Another group advocates no further payments to the United States under any circumstances. Chamberlain belongs to the latter group and is evidently trying to commit his government as far as possible in that direction.

Oil—

The proposed merger between Standard Oil of New Jersey and Standard Oil of California is still on the fire. Auditing complications have held up an agreement. But the real reason for the present delay is the probable appointment of Senator Walsh as Attorney General. The interests involved expect that he would step on it hard.

Mines—

A number of mining properties, with emphasis on iron and copper, are kept in operation at a tremendous loss simply because it would cost so much to reopen them once they were shut-down. Some of the Anacosta properties come in this category.

Rails—

I. C. C. efforts to get the railroads to reduce passenger fares by moral suasion are getting nowhere. Some of the smaller roads are in favor but a number of the bigger fellows—led by Pennsylvania, New York Central and New Haven—are trying to organize unanimous opposition to the commission's suggestion. If anything is done the Commission will have to do it and that seems unlikely.

Commissioner Eastman's advocacy of bigger and better R. F. C. loans to railroads at a Congressional hearing gave Wall-Street a laugh. Eastman is known to favor direct public ownership and to figure that the deeper the roads get into debt the quicker public ownership will come.

In spite of the railroad's woes the average price of railroad shares listed on the Stock Exchange is still above the average for all listed stock. The latter figure is $17.71. The railroad average is $22.88.

Bureau—

The Bureau of Mines in Washington, assigned to the Department of Commerce and headed by a friend of Mr. Hoover's, may be abolished or merged when the new Administration comes in. Direct lobbying by a Government bureau is forbidden by law. But neatly phrased resolutions commending the Bureau's work have begun to filter in from trade organizations associated with the mining industry—and there is reason to believe that the Bureau had something to do with their concoction. It looks like wasted effort.

Cuba—

The lid can be expected to blow off in Cuba very shortly now. The anti-Machado element would like to get it over with before March 4th as they figure the chances of American interference would be less. The leader of the movement may come from the ranks of Machado's present lieutenants.

Emigration of a group of Cuban political exiles from Miami to Mexico is significant. Mexico could be a useful and sympathetic base of operations.

This will be in with Mexico's ambitions to become dominant in the Caribbean. She has already gained prestige in the Central American countries by representing herself as the only bulwark between them and American imperialism. Unofficial help in unseating Machado would boost the cause.

Canada—

New York is not so sure that Premier Bennett of Canada will be able to get away with his sound money policy. Pressure for inflation from both raw material and manufacturing interests is very strong.

The plight of the raw material producers will hamper Canada's recovery considerably, whether wheat nor copper has a chance of coming back for a long time. The gold mines will help but not enough to turn the tide.

 games. Twenty-six were tallied in the final clash.

Results
 The results of the games follow: First round preliminaries: Coleman 41, Conoco 29; Zokah 45, Rankin 23; Cosden 43, A. 30; Eola 42, Ft. Stockton 21. Busby of Roby forfeited to Christoval, and Crane drew a bye.
 Second round preliminaries: Roby forfeited to Water Valley; Christoval 41, Coleman 34; Knights of Zokah 57, Crane 25; Cosden 52, Eola 28. Water Valley and the Roby Independents drew a bye for the first round.
 Semifinals and final: Christoval 30, Knights of Zokah 21; Cosden 43, Water Valley 35. Cosden took Christoval 55-41 for the final.

The championship Cosden quiet was the only entry in the tournament to land two players on the mythical all-star five selected by the officials. J. Smith, forward, and P. Smith, guard, were the Refinery cagers selected, while Chapple, Christoval forward, Close, Coleman, center, and Stanford, Zokah, guard, composed the rest of the team. Howard Houser, Christoval guard, was awarded a beautiful trophy for the most valuable player.

Women Golfers Plan Matches Saturday

The Big Spring Women's Golf Association will hold an all-day tournament Saturday on the Country Club links. Mrs. Ralph Pitts, member of the sports committee, announced Monday.

The meet will be in the form of a handicap tournament. Each woman will be expected to file 115 scores for nine holes each before Saturday, that her handicap may be set. It was pointedly announced that no one will be allowed to enter the play who has not thus met requirements for fixing her handicap.
