

Forsan Students Given Tuberculin Skin Tests; Association Stresses Campaign During Special Month

Members of the Howard County Tuberculosis association today expressed gratification over another forward step in their campaign against the disease, after tuberculin skin tests had been given to a large majority of students in the Forsan schools. Tests were given Tuesday by Drs. Frank Boyle and Preston Sanders to 192 of the Forsan schools' 243 pupils, and the physicians will return to Forsan Thursday to read results of the tests.

They were assisted in the work by two association officers, Mrs. J. C. Douglas and Mrs. C. W. Dickerson.

The association plans to give the tests in the Big Spring schools the latter part of this month. Last year, some 300 students in Coahoma were given the tests, and sanatorium or home rest cures were provided for some who showed positive reactions.

The association at the present time is stressing a program of providing milk for youngsters being treated for tuberculosis, and is inviting the public to aid in the work. A quart of milk daily is being sent to each of three children; to a 14-year-old Mexican girl who is recovering from the disease; to a boy, 14, who is taking the rest cure at his home; and to a girl of 7. The association is getting calls each day to provide milk for others, officers said, and an appeal is being made by individuals who will assist in supplying the milk.

The local organization is especially active this month, since April has been proclaimed by Governor Allred as "Fight Tuberculosis" month. During the period, the governor is calling upon "every man, woman and child in the state to learn the basic facts about this disease and its prevention, and to cooperate in the statewide effort to eradicate it from within our borders."

The Texas Tuberculosis association, during the month of April is sponsoring an educational campaign emphasizing the responsibility of the individual to ascertain that he and his family are free from tuberculosis disease; that community facilities are available for the discovery of early cases;

U. S. TO RETAIN AN INTEREST IN THE PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—A stronger United States policy for the Pacific, appeared today to be an inevitable outgrowth of an agreement between President Roosevelt and Philippine President Quezon to postpone Philippine economic independence until 1963.

The agreement leaves unchanged the date for Philippine political independence—July 4, 1946—but informed observers believed that date, too, eventually might be affected.

At any rate, they said, for another 22 years the United States will have a direct interest in the Philippines and responsibility for them.

STEEL FIRM TOLD TO DEAL WITH CIO UNION

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—The labor relations board ordered the Inland Steel Corporation today to deal with the steel workers organizing committee (C.I.O.) and to sign a wage and hour contract if they reach an agreement.

If the company complies with the order, the John L. Lewis union will have won by labor board action what it lost in a long and bitterly fought strike last summer.

The board expected the company to test the order in court, however.

HEAVY RAINFALL IN THE JASPER AREA

JASPER, April 6 (AP)—Twelve negro families were driven from their homes by flooded Sandy creek, and crops, roads and homes were damaged by rain here early today.

GOOD EXAMPLE for his order to fingerprint 300,000 CCC enrollees was set by Robert Fechner (left), director, with S. Sacco taking impressions.

FOR A PERMANENT CCC pleaded Director Robert Fechner, testifying before senate employment committee, citing need of supplying work for youths. Included in work of CCC—which succeeded agency known as Emergency Conservation Work established under act of March 31, 1933—is preservation of country's natural resources. Improvement of these resources embraces construction of wild life refuges such as this artificial duck marsh being built at Great Salt lake.

TAKE A TIP FROM WAITRESS Marie Wilson, screen actress who's to play a waitress in film version of "Boy Meets Girl," table-waiting has its ups and downs. She took a job in a Hollywood cafe to get an idea of what a real waitress has to do. The costume is a regulation one.

WOODS FRAME typical CCC camp in Cumberland Falls state park, Kentucky. As stated in government manual, CCC purpose is to give employment and vocational training to youths (17 to 25 years) and, to limited extent, to war veterans and Indians through the performance of useful public work.

ROCKY ROAD for CCC enrollees ran, not to Dublin, but across rocky regions throughout the country. Here, a rock-crusher pounds along in Shasta national park, West Virginia, with CCC enrollees supplying the man power. CCC enrollees are made for periods of not less than six months.

THESE BARRAGES OF TELEGRAMS

A great many people in this country are sincerely and thoughtfully opposed to the departmental reorganization bill now pending in the house.

The congressman knows that his desk can be piled high with messages that are not indicative of the sentiment that many of them may be ostensibly signed by those who permitted their names to be used to accommodate somebody, and that in some instances the names are fakes or forgeries.

There is a very real danger in that sort of thing. The right of petition is a tremendously important one. It is a basic factor of democratic government.

The citizen himself can help prevent the misuse of it. He can refrain from signing any petition unless he is fully aware of the purpose of it and of the motive, selfish or otherwise, that prompts the circulation of it.

FLASHES OF LIFE

GREENVILLE, Pa. — Halfback Joseph Marzano plunged through the line for two years with Penn high school's football team and was never injured.

"HOME, JAMES" NEW YORK—Herbert Bendon, 65, conducts his relations with the law with politeness and dignity.

"ONE MOMENT, PLEASE" CHICAGO—One of former President Hoover's most embarrassing moments!

Within 20 feet of the Northwestern station train gate, Mr. Hoover stopped, disconcerted, and searched his pockets for the tickets. He couldn't find them, and started again.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hopkins have returned from Mineral Wells, where they have been vacationing the past week.

Today And Tomorrow

By Walter Lippmann

(Mr. Lippmann's column is published as an informational and news feature. His views are personal and are not to be construed as necessarily reflecting the editorial opinion of The Herald—Editor's Note).

THE DEVELOPING CRISIS Though we are living through one of the most critical moments of modern history, what do we see? We see the French democracy divided within itself, so torn with factional fury that it does not pull itself together.

partisan politics and falling to agree on any national program to deal with an increasingly grave economic crisis. It is all very well to denounce the ruthlessness of the dictator and to weep for their victims. But if anything is to be done about anything, what we must do is the demoralization of the greatest democracy, and that we must weep about is the spectacle the champions of liberty are making of themselves.

It is a serious hour in the history of western civilization. The aggressor states are on the march. In the large free states of the west, the thing which has so completely been described as "the recession" is now entering a much more dangerous phase.

Let us not forget how little we thought that the financial collapse of Austria in 1931 was to be the first event in a series of events that shook the world.

And what are we doing about it all here? We are doing nothing. Incredible as it sounds, the New Deal does not have any program, good, bad or indifferent, which even pretends to have any relation to the economic crisis.

There is a very real danger in that sort of thing. The right of petition is a tremendously important one. It is a basic factor of democratic government.

The citizen himself can help prevent the misuse of it. He can refrain from signing any petition unless he is fully aware of the purpose of it and of the motive, selfish or otherwise, that prompts the circulation of it.

The crisis has now become intensified to a point where ordinary remedies will not cure it. Three months ago a few fairly simple measures, taken promptly and unhesitatingly, might have been enough.

There must be something more, and that something is a general recognition that there really is a critical emergency, and that for the duration of it, there must be reestablished once more the kind of national unity which was achieved in 1933 and the kind of energetic leadership which Mr. Roosevelt gave to the nation in his first hundred days.

We cannot afford to waste our time and our energy at this time on such comparative trifles as the reorganization bill and on the question of who is to investigate the personal quarrel in T.V.A. We can afford to do nothing less than to fix our whole attention upon the serious crisis which is in the making and to forget all other issues until the crisis is resolved.

Man About Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Hendrik Willem Van Loon, geographer, historian, and chronicler of the arts, is expecting a dinner guest.

Another guest descends the stairs. As an after thought, he says, "He is looking for a collar button."

It is Van Loon. It is not polite to ask a man how much he weighs, but you easily ascertain that he is six feet, two-and-one-half inches tall.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A gentleman of parts—even besides those he plays in pictures—is Maxie Rosenbloom who glories in the nickname of "Slapsie Maxie."

Drinks For The House The other evening Claire Trevor came in, escorted by a young man from the radio station where she'd been doing a broadcast.

Persistent Admirer For Maxie he has no secret of the fact that he admires Miss Trevor exceedingly and with tenderness. Everyone on the set knows, or could if interested, that seven times Maxie has invited Miss Trevor to accompany him to prize fights, night clubs, theatres, movies, or anywhere she'd like to go.

Maxie is more interested in his new career than in the old one. Reason: in the past 17 years he's fought 360 matches but seen about 100; in the same time he figures he's seen about 2,000 shows—indicating that his heart is in the show business even though the ring left its mark upon his cauliflower ear.

The Boxwood Barrier

Chapter 20 GENTLEMAN'S AGREEMENT

Reuben's failure was as complete as the darkness which follows the blowing out of a fuse in a high powered electric light. If he went whipped dog with a tail between his legs—but he wouldn't go. He'd stay here—pick up a chance!

"I'll go with you." "Won't it make you feel terrible?" "No." "I'll take you everywhere some day."

She had never been on a big boat before. She was childishly delighted with everything she saw—the great wall of the ship's sides, rushing stewards, laughing, chatting groups of people.

Reuben glanced at it critically. "A cheap party!" "But pretty." "Quite. A duplicate of the one Clissy wore at our wedding."

Forty-eight hours in New York convinced Reuben that he could not come back without ready cash. A man with more background could undoubtedly have staved off dire poverty, but Reuben had flashed meteor like from nowhere.

"I won't need it long." He was suppliant. He should have been dominant but it was impossible to feel anything but a worm under the scorn of her eyes.

"You're asking me to recall—a gift?" Another code rearing its serpent-like head between them. "What would Gran think?"

"I wish it meant more." "Perhaps it's just as well since things have turned out so badly." "That's the point. You can turn the tide. Saving your husband,"

"I refuse to stoop to something I'd be ashamed to remember all my life." "So that's it?" "I married you, that's my part of the bond. I'll live up to it as best I can. The money was your part—now you want it back! Well, she raised defiant eyes to his, "you won't get it! I'm going to keep them—safe."

"Then go home and be safe with them," angrily. A breathless moment ticked away. "I'll make all allowances for you, Reuben. You're worried."
