wanted to get back to western Canada, to his ranch and the open country; and when his father died, and he himself became the earl, he promptly did so, marrying a Canadian girl who had been working as a dentist's assistant in Calgary. And most of us, no doubt, will feel that the young man has been eminently sensible. Between an English earldom and a ranch in Canada's northwest—who would hesitate in making his choice?

THE KEY MAN IN CANCER CONTROL
 The family physician is the key man. Upon his reliance must largely be placed to prevent suffering and loss of life through cancer. Because of the highly developed technique required and the special equipment often necessary in the diagnosis and the treatment of cancer, the family physician is not usually equipped to treat the patient himself. In this event, he should be prompt to call in one who has had more experience in this specialized field of medicine. The more capable he is the more prompt he will be in doing so. The private physician should be familiar with all the resources in personnel and hospital equipment which can be used for his cancer patients. He should be guide, philosopher and friend. Because he is often the first person to whom patients apply, the final result in cancer frequently depends upon his judgment. The cure of cancer depends much upon an accurate diagnosis and proper treatment from the very beginning of

Forsaking An Earldom
 The eleventh earl of Egmont, who holds one of the most distinguished titles in Great Britain, has decided that being an earl isn't nearly as much fun as being a Canadian rancher; and so the ancestral estates of Egmont are up for sale, and the above-mentioned earl is back on a ranch at Frida, in the province of Alberta, where he wants to be.

The earl was brought up on the ranch, in the days before his father had succeeded to the title. When he was taken to England, on his father's accession to the earldom, he found that being a member of England's nobility wasn't all that it had been cracked up to be. He

Washington Beats New York 11 To 10; Foxx Hits Third Homer

CHICAGO—Chicago's White Sox broke up a ninth inning rally by Cleveland Monday to win, 5-4, and sweep the three game series. Coupled with the New York Yankees' defeat by Washington, the victory put the Sox in a won-and-lost tie with the Yanks for the American league leadership, although they still trailed by percentage points.

REDUCE
 As Much As 1 Lb. A Day OR NO COST!

No pills or tablets, no starvation diets, no strenuous exercising, no salts, no sweet baits.

All you need do is drink a cup of delightful Dain Tea (made from ten especially selected herbs) with your meals instead of the tea or coffee you are now drinking.

In taste, Dain Tea is like a fine Orange Pekoe. You can drink it hot or cold with sugar, cream, lemon or orange. Yet the simple drinking of this remarkable tea with satisfying eating should cause you to lose from 3 to 8 pounds of ugly, unhealthy fat a week.

Dain Tea not only enables you to lose weight but also makes you look and feel years younger. It is the safe, sane, sensible, economical way to delight the slenderness.

Mrs. Frisch lost thirty pounds from one package. Mrs. Strain reduced four pounds the first week. Mrs. Marks who was so stumpy that size 4 dresses were tight on her can now get into a size 24 model.

FREE TRIAL
 Right now—before you forget—mail a letter or postcard for free trial of Dain Tea. Your request for free trial brings you a supply by return mail and full $1.00 treatment which you may try under our 10 day refund guarantee. Try Dain Tea at our risk. DAIN TEA CO., 202 S. CHAPTER XLIII

The room was in darkness and there was no sound except a low, muffled sobbing. The sobbing ceased only to be resumed. They stopped, began again.

Three raps sounded on the door and the sobbing was hushed abruptly. After an interval of quiet there were three more raps. A figure hidden in the darkness moved and then went toward the door.

"Who is it?"

"Can I come in, Janet?" It was Mrs. Curtis's voice.

The door moved inward slowly. Mrs. Curtis stood on the threshold carrying a lighted candle. It was the candle that always stood on the table beside her bed. A loose blue negligee fell to the floor over her white nightgown. Her gray hair was screwed into a tight knot on top of her head.

"I couldn't sleep," the woman explained. "I was afraid I'd find you like this. Get back into bed, my dear, or put something on so that you won't take cold."

"I'm all right," Janet mumbled, but she picked up a flannel bathrobe and slipped it about her.

"Oh, Mrs. Curtis," she said, turning quickly. "I want to go away. I can't stand it here with you thinking what you do about me. I'd rather be anywhere—in jail if they want to put me there. I can't care!"

Mrs. Curtis placed the candle on the table. "There, there," she said. "You mustn't go on this way. Of course you're not going to jail. You're not going anywhere."

"But I want to! I'd rather!"

"Sit down," Mrs. Curtis said. She moved toward the bed and turned on the pink-shaded lamp that stood there. "A little light will make the room more cheerful," she said. And then, "There's no use in letting yourself go to pieces, Janet. I don't think you took the necklace. I've already told you that."

"But Mrs. Curtis thinks so and those men—"

"They can't prove it if you didn't. The thing for you to do is to settle down and get some rest. You'll make yourself sick if you keep this up."

Janet was silent. The older woman reached out and took her hand. "There's nothing for you to seem, leaving Janet weak and in tears. It had been Mrs. Curtis who had insisted that the girl should spend the night in her own room. Mrs. Curtis had said until the end that she didn't think Janet was guilty.

"But she thinks it now," the girl told herself wearily, "because I wouldn't say why I was going away. Oh, what's the use? No one will believe me. They'll make me say I did it! They'll make me!"

She began to weep silently. Mrs. Curtis stroked the girl's arm. "I don't think anyone will hear about there were three more raps. A figure hidden in the darkness moved and then went toward the door.

Mrs. Judd Is Unconcerned

Says Nothing About Insanity Verdict On Eve Of Trip To Asylum

FLORENCE, Ariz., (AP) — While Winnie Ruth Judd was spending her last day Sunday in Arizona State prison, attendants Sunday announced from her demeanor that she knew her life had been spared by a insanity jury verdict, but she said no word about it.

Her transfer to the State Hospital for Insane in Phoenix, planned for Sunday, was delayed because Superior Judge E. L. Green, who presided over the sanity hearing, did not sign the commitment papers after the verdict of insanity was returned Saturday night. Efforts were being made by prison officials to complete the formalities Monday so Mrs. Judd may leave the prison and be placed in the care of physicians and psychiatrists at the State hospital.

The convicted slayer of Agnes Anne Lero spent most of her time Sunday in her cell with her black kittens.

Prison attendants said Mrs. Judd appeared to be in high spirits, but that they have been unable to elicit any comment from her to indicate whether she understood she is to be transferred to the asylum and is not to die on the gallows Friday.

The formal death watch, established two weeks ago, was removed, but Mrs. Judd was not allowed to receive visitors. Prison officials were flooded with requests of persons who desired to visit her, but except for her parents, no such permission was granted.

The hangar will be 125 feet by 200 feet, with an office building 25 by 142 feet attached. A Epstein, Chicago structural engineer, designed the building. Seymour said the new terminal construction was evidence of the growing importance of the Southern division of the airways and indicated the company's confidence in the future commercial air transportation.

DIME OIL

 situation created by a potential oil supply much greater than the market could absorb troubled not only the present administration of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson but also of Ross S. Sterling, her predecessor.

Early in the fight to maintain proration in the field, Sterling found it necessary to declare martial law to forestall what some oil operators termed "riot and insurrection." In the year since military rule was lifted, commission employees have been kept busy locating and reporting violators of the then existing proration orders. Frequently reports of violence were heard.

Key-Well Gauge
 During the 18-day shutdown, the commission gauged what were termed as "key-wells" selected in the center of each section and at the intersections of section lines. Figures obtained from a two-hour wide-open test of almost 300 such producers indicated the field potential was approximately 100 million barrels per day.

It was estimated that the average per-well production under the order put into effect today would range from 40 to 150 barrels per well, compared with the 80 to 35 barrels permitted previously. The commission described the new order as temporary, to remain in effect until May 10.

"The federal court had repeatedly said the commission, in the promulgation of its orders must look with an 'eye single' to the purposes of our conservation statutes and the powers granted to the commission by law," said a brief statement accompanying the order. "We have done that."

Rebuffed by a three-judge federal court, which invalidated one of its orders, the commission determined to close the field and take the potential tests about a month ago. Many independent operators protested against such action and the Lucey Petroleum company of Dallas, et al, obtained an injunction from Randolph Bryant, federal judge at Sherman, restraining the commission from pursuing its announced course.

Powers of the attorney general's department, later was instrumental in having the injunction revised so the commission could proceed.

WHIRLIGIG

 in the Republican insurrection against the Roosevelt program. His Messrs. Mellon and Mills came trooping down here on the run. They did not appear before committees or issue statements but buttonholed their old pals in Congress. It was done with Mr. Hoover's encouragement.

They put the former Mellon attorney, Senator David Reed, up to trying to organize a filibuster. A year ago they could have killed the plan, but not today.

Times have changed in Washington as elsewhere.

Half the New York bankers came running also. They were not trying to kill the plan so much as to find out what was happening. Their friendly officials in the Administration whispered that they need not worry—Mr. Roosevelt was only fooling the inflationists in Congress.

That was largely true. The President himself told at least two of his associates confidentially he intended to use but one feature of the plan. That was the first one, his own, the provision for three billion in currency to offset the coming three billion dollar public works bond issue.

The gold revaluation and silver items were just tinned in to get a majority in Congress. The whole thing is discretionary. He could use any part or none of it as he chose.

The Republicans and the bankers had heard that story before. They did not question the President's sincerity. They were skeptical that if he once got the authority he would use it, not now perhaps but a few months hence. Mr. Hoover once had an idea he would not use the price stabilization features of the Farm Bill, but he did.

The bankers bowed out more or less gracefully. The Republicans decided to make a record of opposition anyway, something which could be pointed to in the next election if the thing did not work. That was good strategy. It performed the patriotic duty of letting the President have his way. It also safeguarded any political advantages which might accrue from failure of the plan.

Mid-West

New York understands that a group of mid-western bankers and business men helped provide the impetus for the embargo and inflation measures. They have been spreading the word in high quarters that there was no time to waste before aggressively attacking the depression. They represented that popular discontent in that section could not be held in check much longer.

Backfire

A large tinplate concern is swearing mad that the embargo came just when it did. They had recently landed an Argentine order for 300,000 British pounds' worth of tinplate. The Argentine stipulated pounds because they thought sterling was due for a drop. The order was cancelled the minute the embargo was declared.

The embargo also placed Columbia in an awkward spot. That country had placed a $3,000,000 order for airplanes in France to help along her informal war with Peru. The Colombian Treasury is not in such hot condition but by scrapping the pot they had raked up just enough dollar exchange to cover the transaction. Now they can't find enough additional dollars to make up the exchange difference and it's a bet they will have to do without the planes.

Now they can't find enough additional dollars to make up the exchange difference and it's a bet they will have to do without the planes.

Dollars

The decision for the break in inflation came swiftly backstage. The Treasury was authorizing gold withdrawals until the last moment. It was fully embarked on a new policy of pegging the dollar. The larger New York banks were also wedded to that idea. Both began to realize after three permits to France had been issued that the course entailed probably a bigger job than they cared to go through with.

The Morgans were the outstanding leaders for pegging the dollar. Their about-face came as swiftly and as gracefully as the Administration's.

It cost the Morgans plenty on their dollar investments.

Bonds

The Federal Reserve Board pulled the wires which held the government bond market up. Their private purchases of long term governments are figured to keep that market from finding its natural level. The experts confidentially expect no trouble from that source. There is no possibility that any issue will get down to 80 which was the low for Liberties after the war.

The depreciation of governments will hurt some larger banks and insurance companies but not as hard as you may think. They all have large holdings in other things which will be benefited materially. This will more than offset the drop of government paper.

Two Republicans who hated the Roosevelt program most were Under Secretary Ballantine and Assistant Secretary Douglas. They threatened to resign as soon as they heard about it. They learned their Treasury morals from the Old Masters, Mellon and Mills.

The Democratic schedule called for them to be booted out anyway in favor of deserving Democrats as soon as things settled down.

Notes

Putting the Inflation Bill on the Farm Bill as an amendment makes it the biggest tail for the littlest dog that you ever saw. Foreign nations received no advance hint whatsoever concerning Mr. Roosevelt's gold embargo. It was really as big a surprise to Mr. MacDonald as it was to you.

It was bigger one for ex-Premier Herriot. They say he wanted to turn the ship around and go home. Senator Huey Long is maliciously called "The Whispering Baritone" by Senators whose ear-drums have been shattered by his raucous voice. MacDonald looks as well as he did three years ago. And talks as glibly.

He delivered one of his best international sermons for 15 minutes to newspapermen the day he arrived. Nobody yawned but nobody took notes either.

One of Peck's Bad Newspaper boys of Washington who has made a national reputation exposing deceits in the government has joined the Havas (French press) Agency to get some of the hundred million francs they are going to spend here for propaganda. You will know who shortly.

NEW YORK

Embargo
 Informed New York attaches special importance to two angles of the gold embargo only one of which has been publicly discussed. First, it spikes Europe's depreciated currency guns neatly and thoroughly. Second, it protects our ample gold reserves against foreign drains. They will come in handy both in preserving a sound domestic currency and in providing a firm foundation for the support of government bonds.

You can still find plenty of Wall Streeters who do not agree with J. P. Morgan that the move was a wise one. Mostly they are the older bankers with large holdings of governments who get scared at the slightest wavering of bond prices. There is a sort of determined pessimism in their attitude which only a blast of T. N. T. will cure. But these men are a shrinking minority.

Disarmament

They are calling Roosevelt the big disarmament man. He is likened to the tenderfoot who calmly grabbed the bad man's six-shooter and told him it was his turn to dance. "If he could disarm armies and navies the way he disarms MacDonaldis there wouldn't be any more war."

The Nelly Don Style show, conducted at the Albert M. Fialer Company department store Monday afternoon was attended by more than 150 women.

The show was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Martin, representative of Nelly Don, of Kansas City, who gave a complete description of each dress as it was modeled on the promenade deck in the center of the store.

There were thirty-five models, showing the entire line of new summer Nelly Don frocks, including cotton lace, matelasse, dimities, volles, batistes, dots, stripes, and exclusive prints.

Miss Martin skillfully and effectively gave a description of each of the models, showing especially the benefits and effects of the broad shoulders, stem-like skirts, the feminine trims and air line trucks of the Nelly Don garments.

Those acting as models were as follows: Mrs. George Gentry, Mrs. Harry Williamson, Misses Mary Alice Wilks, Marie Faubion, Lula Ashley, Modesta Good, Jeanette Pickle and Mary Happel.

Boys Outnumber Girls In School Units Of County

Boys outnumber girls in twenty-one common and two independent school districts of Howard county. However, the margin is very slight, 1142 boys being registered in the original census poll as against 1120 girls. In the two independent districts girls were in the majority but the total balance of boys in the twenty-one common school districts caused the margin. Twenty-one districts have listed 1724 on the original census, Knott 228 and Coahoma 310. Transfers and supplements will likely swell the number.

In all common school districts there were 894 boys and 830 girls; Coahoma, 147 boys and 163 girls; Knott, 101 boys and 127 girls.

Three Districts Graded For State Standardization

Mrs. Pauline C. Brigham, county superintendent, scored three common school districts for standardization Monday and application for certificate of standardization will be made for one of the three soon, she said.

Green Valley, with 842 points and all absolute requirements satisfied, will likely be awarded a certificate by the state board. Vincent, with 801, and Morris, with 838, has sufficient points for standardization but school terms are under eight months.

NEW YORK, (AP)—Bitterly denouncing "racketeering activities" in the oil industry and criticizing some interests in the trade for their reluctance to oppose the evils, R. C. Holmes, president of the Texas Corporation, asserted in an annual stockholders meeting Tuesday oil companies can not long survive if illegal production and evasion of gasoline taxes exist.

"I say to you frankly," said Holmes, "that this company is losing more money today than it has ever lost in its history."

What have you learned today in the New University?

Talk with almost any woman and you will find her amazingly informed on vitamins, balanced diets, refrigeration, household sanitation, labor saving, family hygiene, table and home decoration. Watch her during her day and you will find her employing this new knowledge for the improvement of living.

Talk with almost any man and you'll find him technically informed about motor-cars and adding machines, aeroplanes and radios, telephones and oil burners—materials, designs, uses, processes in a dozen fields.

What has happened? It seems that people know more than they used to and that they use their new-found knowledge to their comfort and happiness. Perhaps this is the explanation: There is today a New University—the University of Advertising. Its doors never close, it is open to all and the fees of admission are the daily price of a newspaper. The subjects taught are ways to make life better and more enjoyable. Eminent authorities in the various fields work with skilled writers and illustrators to prepare the daily "lessons"—the advertisements. They are admirably printed and illustrated. They are studied and applied, as needed, by the youngsters and grown-ups of all ages.

What have you learned today in the New University? Study the advertisements. Useful knowledge is waiting there for you.

Enforcement Not Repeal

A DECLARATION AND CALL TO ACTION
By the National Conference of Organizations Supporting the Eighteenth Amendment, Washington, D. C., December 14, 1932

In this hour when the industrial systems of the world are strained to the breaking point, when the social order is being shaken to its foundations, when our country is at the heights of the struggle to make effective its outlawry of the liquor traffic, the opponents of that policy emboldened by the tragic conditions surrounding all countries, are moving not only for the early repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment but even prior to action on repeal, for the restoration of the beer traffic despite the known evils always accompanying it.

We are for the maintenance of the Eighteenth Amendment. We are unalterably opposed to all proposals for its repeal. We are likewise opposed to any proposal for modification or change which will give any legal standing, permission, aid, or comfort to the liquor traffic.

Against these we will battle without compromise or evasion. We will fight to hold every state line for the Eighteenth Amendment regardless of what may happen in any of the other states.

We offer the liquor traffic no olive branch. We hang out no white flag. In supreme confidence in the justice of our cause and in faith in that Higher Power which has never failed our country, we gird ourselves for the conflict.

We call the people to witness the sight of brewers and their agents sitting in conference with the House Committee on Ways and Means, planning the re-establishment of their forbidden business, the only excuse for their presence being an expressed willingness to share their profits with the government, knowing that all such gains must be coined from the misery and degradation induced by the greed and appetite which inhere in the liquor traffic.

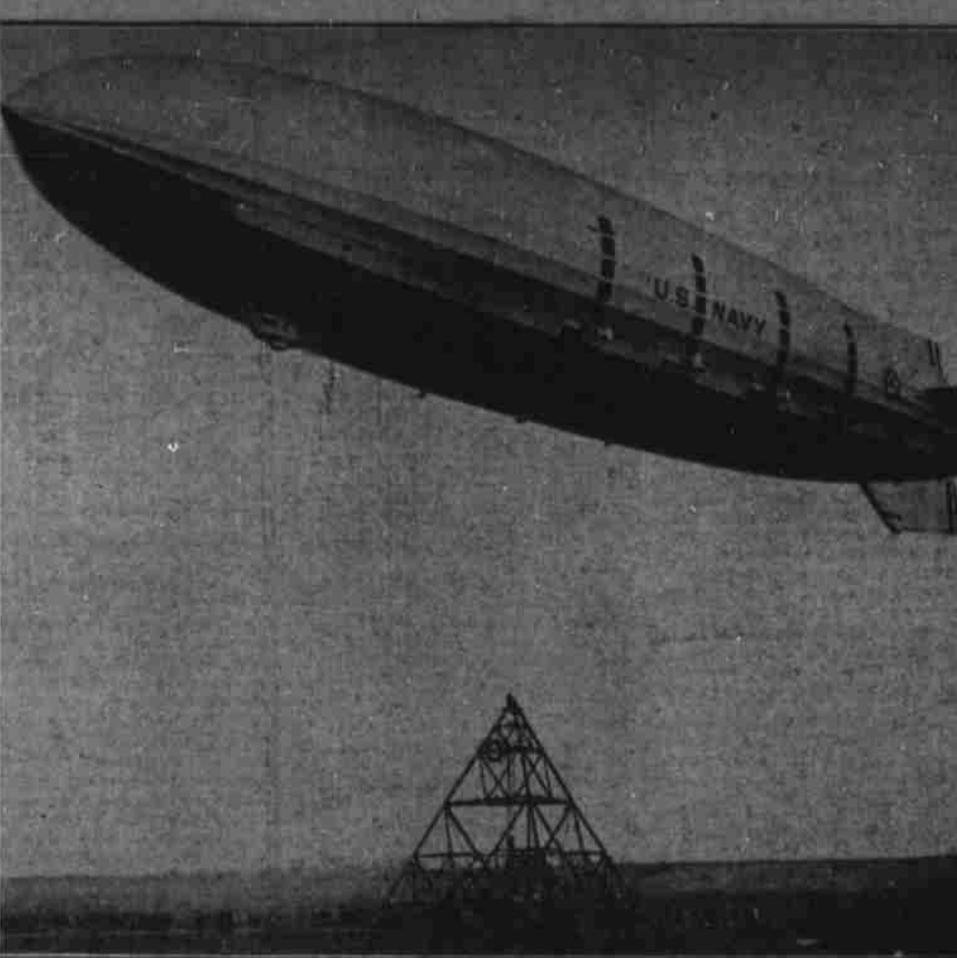

We point to the shameful haste with which the House of Representatives was rushed to a vote on a proposal to submit a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, with less than an hour for discussion—a haste not less censurable because a sufficient number of members moved by a sense of obligation to the country, rallied to the defeat of the proposition.

We invite the attention of the people to the spectacle of the opponents of prohibition, in this hour of crisis, blocking consideration of measures of relief by demanding prior consideration of their proposals for the restoration of the liquor traffic. As in the past, this business is insensible to the woes of the people and willing to take every possible advantage.

We deny that the recent election was a mandate for repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment. Their platform declaration gave the voters of the nation an opportunity for the expression of faith in the nation-wide prohibition policy enacted by the Eighteenth Amendment and supported by the laws for its enforcement. No mandate can exist where no such choice is possible.

We warn political leaders that in committing the dominant parties to the liquor traffic they do not assure that traffic's restoration or perpetuation. They place the existence of the political organizations which they lead on an unsafe foundation. As in the past, so in the future, the American people will know how to call into existence such political organization as will effectuate their will. The maintenance and enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment must not fail as a result of betrayal by the conventions of both dominant parties. Great constitutional struggles for the vital principles of government have produced whatever new political alignments were necessary. They can do so again. The battle is on. It can not be

Whether Beer May Be Counted Upon To Balance City Budgets Discussed

By VERNON A. MCGEE
United Press Staff Correspondent
FORT WORTH, (UP)—Whether beer apigots may be counted upon to balance the budgets of Texas cities and towns was a major topic considered by councilmen throughout the state today.

The Anderson-Mathis beer bill now before the legislature would grant specific authority to Texas municipalities to regulate and license the sale of beer if legalized. But old city ordinances governing liquor traffic must be scrapped along with other designating hitch-post. New ones must be drafted to fit the thirst, the moral code, won by leaders alone. Soldiers must be enlisted, equipped and strategically placed.

We urge the people, out to the remotest precincts, to enroll and organize the largest possible number of supporters of the Eighteenth Amendment. We also urge their cooperation and coordination by counties, districts and states, and in the nation to the end that a united army for prohibition may successfully repulse the attack upon the Eighteenth Amendment.

To this high purpose we dedicate the organizations we represent and ourselves, believing that, with the help of Divine Providence, the cause of prohibition will withstand the attack made upon it and win that final support in the court of public opinion which will assure its permanency. ## Girl Who Left With Preacher Parts From Him

SANFORD, (UP)—Gone is the romance between pretty Elia (Pat) Holdridge, girl student of a Springfield, Mo., college and the Rev. Sharon Inman, church man with whom she fled more than two weeks ago.

The girl is living in seclusion here with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Okera. She left Rev. Inman at Amarillo last April 15 and has not corresponded with him since and does not know his whereabouts, her uncle said.

"Pat is just a sweet girl and she had not heard or written to the minister since they parted at Amarillo," Akers told the United Press.

Akers said his young relative telephoned him from Amarillo early April 15 asking that he meet her and return her to his home. Sanford is about 50 miles northwest of Amarillo.

"I drove down there immediately," said Akers, "and talked with the two. The Rev. Inman was not apologetic. He said he was acting the part of a man after getting Pat into a jam and he was very honest in explaining that since they left Springfield they had not been together as man and wife. They traveled here by bus. Inman had a suitcase and a little money and I gathered from his conversation he planned to strike out west."

The girl's uncle is a chemical engineer employed by the Phillips Petroleum company. The house where he resides is more than a mile from Sanford, a village of 300 persons.

"Pat communicated with her parents who reside at Hoyt, Okla., right after her arrival here," Akers said. There is no connection whatever between the two and she is not going to have anything more to do with him. The whole thing is over as far as she is concerned and she is going to begin life anew here."

Akers explained Miss Holdridge had planned to visit in Sanford this summer and that now she expected to get work and reside with him and his wife indefinitely. She visited the couple last summer when Akers was stationed at Berger, Tex. She was a popular member of the young set of that city, Akers said.

"None of her friends hold anything against her," Akers declared. "She was a victim of circumstances and she and Inman have separated and left Springfield where both would have been embarrassed had they remained there."

Branch Banking, Membership In Reserve, Possibly Guarantee Of Deposits Needed Says Florence

JACKSONVILLE, (UP)—Branch banking, federal reserve membership for all banks and possibly federal guarantee or insurance of deposits constitute three major points in a "new deal" to bring banking system in the United States, Fred F. Florence, Dallas banker, said in address prepared for delivery to the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Florence, who is president of the Republic National Bank and Trust company and the Clearing House association at Dallas, was the first speaker as the chamber began its seventh annual convention with the "New Deal" in America as the general theme.

The Dallas banker had a large part in shaping emergency banking legislation in Texas during the recent financial crisis. Looking back on that period and the banking holiday that followed he listed as some of the major considerations for bringing about a safer and more effective banking system:

- 1. Bringing all banks into membership in the federal reserve system.
- 2. Insurance of guarantee of bank deposits by the federal government unless supervision can immediately and unquestionably guarantee the safety of banks.
- 3. Complete divorcement of security affiliates from commercial, savings and trust banks.
- 4. Limitation of the number of directors for any bank of 25.
- 5. Authorization for branch banking under proper supervision.

"A reform which would most directly strengthen our banking system, and which could be accomplished with minimum difficulty and disturbance, would probably be a measure to bring all banks into the membership of the federal reserve system, as a thoroughly unified banking system," Florence said.

Various state and national banking laws, he explained, present a varied and unsound system of general operation under which casualties have been tremendous and losses to investors and depositors stupendous and wholly unjustified. Absolute regard for intrinsic soundness should be required for entrance of all banks into a single national system, he declared.

Of deposit protection, Florence said "it is necessary that our banking system should provide absolute safety for depositors, and unless supervision can immediately and unquestionably guarantee the safety of the banks, it will fall to the responsibility of our government to design a form of insurance or other guarantee that will afford full protection of depositors and create absolute confidence in all banks licensed to transact business."

"The recent action of the Italian government, limiting the number of banks directors to not more than 11, should appeal to congress as a timely and worthy suggestion," Florence declared, explaining many banks have increased their directorate to an "unwieldy number."

But the chief thing to be desired, the Dallas banker said, is elimination of the large number of banks and the weakness and unwarranted competition resulting therefrom.

"Branch banking, certainly when confined to state lines, or federal reserve districts, probably offers more hope as a constructive and sound step in safer banking than any other single measure," Florence said. "By proper supervision, branch banks can be made safer than a large number of individual banking institutions, entirely dependent upon their own resources."

The fact that he discovered his actual condition, resolved to turn his back upon such surroundings, surrendering his pride and put his resolution into practice were his redeeming characteristics, declared Rev. Shetlerworth. He also discovered that the world as a practical task matter puts a man to doing just about what he is best prepared for, he said.

"In his case he was assigned to feeding hogs, which was an undesirable task as well as a mighty poor pay," said the speaker, who urged that youth should profit by experiences they see about them daily and determined to fit themselves for more than just the ordinary places in life.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, allow complexion, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Boy! it's great! Congratulations!

First Baptist WMU In Business Session
The W. M. U. of the First Baptist Church devoted the afternoon to matters of business Monday when they met at the church. So many matters of business had to be transacted that no time was left for a program.

Mrs. R. C. Hatch presided in the absence of Mrs. Layne. The various committee chairmen made reports.

There was a good attendance. The next fourth Monday meeting, which will occur on May 22, will be an all day meeting at the church commencing at 10 o'clock. A Baylor college program will be given at the noon hour, during which a covered luncheon will be served. The morning will be devoted to business and the afternoon to a missionary program.

Monday Night Revival Crowd Is Encouraging
The fact that it was Monday night did not mean much when a fine crowd came to the church for the services at the Christian church. It was an enthusiastic audience, fully well attended by the excellent song service.

The male quartet sang a special number and join in an echo number with Mr. Jacks, singing the quartet echoes from one of the robing-rooms off stage.

The subject of the sermon was the parable of the "Prodigal Son", and the high quality of decision shown in the life of this young man, who realizing the folly of his way determined "to arise and return
