Northern Spain Isolated Revolt Gains Headway

1934 by Associated Press)
ASTIAN, Spain, Oct. 9.—Spain was completely isolated as a result of the French closing the French borders to foreigners and even foreigners were expected to be cut off from communication with the north. Lines to the north were expected to be cut off between strikers and the north. At Bilbao shooting was frequent all night. American employees of the Tire and Rubber Co. were on page 4.)

TIGERS ARE ROUTED AS ST. LOUIS CARDS WIN WORLD SERIES TITLE

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—Completely routing the Detroit Tigers, the St. Louis Cardinals became world baseball champions today as Dizzy Dean hurled a series record shutout, 11 to 0.
The game was wild and filled with excitement. In the third inning the Cardinals batted around once and a half, scoring seven runs on seven hits. Later Joe Medwick, Cardinal gardener, was taken from the game when fans threatened injury.
Dean allowed only six hits and was never in trouble until the final inning when two men occupied bases with only one out. However, he struck out the next batter and the third grounded to second.
Detroit, after starting Auker, used half a dozen pitchers, including Schoolboy Rowe, who pitched yesterday, with General Crowder finally getting the National Leaguers out.

ASKS JUDGMENT ON $28,000 DAMAGES

Judge Fires Promises Decision on Suit
Tomorrow

Request for judgment in the $28,000 damage suit of J. J. Kimbrough against the Fort Worth and Denver City railway company was filed with District Judge A. J. Fires yesterday and the court has promised a decision to be given tomorrow.
The suit alleged damages of $25,000 were sustained by Alton Kimbrough, 19-year-old son of J. J. Kimbrough, when the youth was injured in a train accident at Lelia Lake on December 23, 1933. The boy's left foot was amputated just above the ankle while he was riding a north bound Fort Worth and Denver freight train. He resides with his father on the Dial ranch near Memphis.
Judgment in the case was delayed until this week after the jury had answered 13 special issues given in the judge's charge. The jury deliberated the case more than 24 hours, after three days had been spent hearing testimony and attorneys' pleas.
A number of out-of-town attorneys have been here for the trial, which has attracted considerable interest among local members of the bar.

1,700 STRIKE AGAINST NEGROES IN CLASSES

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—More than 1,700 pupils of Morgan Park High school struck yesterday, seeming with parental support, in protest against negro attendance at classes.
Only 58 students, two-thirds of them negroes, were on hand.
More than 100 parents of students went to Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan last week and told him that unless the negro and white pupils were segregated they would keep their children at home.
Principal William Schoch said the teachers would report for duty and conduct classes as long as students were present.

SELECT ADULT TEACHERS AT MEETING

Instructors for Part Of 25 Classes will Be Named Today
Teachers of adult education classes in Hall county are to be passed on this afternoon by a central committee in session at the office of Mrs. Roy Guthrie, county superintendent. Instructors for only a part of the 25 or more classes being planned for the county are to be approved this afternoon, and efforts made to get a number of the classes underway within the next 10 days or two weeks.
H. A. Jackson, superintendent of Memphis schools, was selected (Continued on page 4)

A. W. Howard and Daughters Appear In Rotary Program

Rotarians were favored today at their regular weekly luncheon with music by a violin-piano trio composed of A. W. Howard and his daughters, Crystal and Phyllis. Dean Morgensen was in charge of the program.
President Roy Fultz announced the appointment of a committee composed of Jeff Watson, Horace Jackson and himself to develop a class to participate in the recently developed free adult education classes.
Jeff Watson spoke briefly on Fire Prevention Week, urging everyone to cooperate in the drive to lower Memphis' key insurance rate.
The meeting adjourned hastily at 12:29 to permit baseball fans to repair to their favorite drug stores and listen in on the final game of the World Series.

Fire at Sea Can Be Put Out

When fire broke out aboard the S. S. Koehnstein while 400 miles at sea en route to New York, it was promptly extinguished and no one was injured. The charred partitions and beddings pictured here show how the damage done was limited by the fast work of the crew.

MINISTER DIES OF WOUNDS

MARSEILLE, France, Oct. 9.—Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, died a short time after King Alexander was assassinated.
Barthou, shot in the left forearm and one leg, died as surgeons labored toward giving him a blood transfusion.
One assassin was killed outright by police. Another was wounded and captured.
First reports indicated that Barthou's wound was slight, but that of General Alphonse Joseph Georges, of the French Superior War council, also shot, was more serious.
The assassin captured was identified as Petris Kalemou, 35, Yugoslavian, born in Zagreb.

MARSEILLE, France, Oct. 9.—King Alexander the First of Yugoslavia was assassinated here today.
The king had just arrived here on a goodwill trip to France.

He was motoring through the crowded streets lined with cheering throngs when about 20 shots were fired from the crowd.
Surgeons announced he was shot three times.
The king was immediately carried to the prefecture.
Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, was riding in the automobile with the king. The automobile was spattered with bullets.

The crowd turned upon the assassin with fury. He was a heavy set man about 40, poorly dressed.
Police fought through the crowd, defending the assassin, but he was reported dying in a news stand at the stock exchange.
The shooting occurred at 4:10 p. m. as the automobile passed near the stock exchange.
Barthou was shot in the left arm.
An opinion was expressed there might have been others doing the shooting for a veritable hail of bullets suggested it was unlikely done by one man, unless he were armed with a submachine gun he could not have fired so many shots.

Tax Exemptions on 867,285 Pounds of Cotton for Re-Sale

Surplus Bankhead tax exemption certificates from Hall county for cotton totaling 867,285 pounds were forwarded to Washington yesterday by County Agent James A. Jackson for re-sale to eastern producers. The certificates mailed yesterday represent the first quota of surplus certificates in this county being listed in the government pool for sale to producers in other sections.
Out of the almost 5,000 cotton farmers in the county to receive Bankhead certificates, only 175 had listed surplus certificates for re-sale in the government pool at the close of business yesterday afternoon, according to Mr. Jackson. The certificates mailed yesterday will total approximately 1,735 bales of cotton.
The purpose of the pool, according to Mr. Jackson, is to furnish a market for surplus certificates in this county. By placing unused tags in the government pool, the farmer is assured four cents per pound or approximately $20 per bale for all certificates sold. Those unsold will be re-issued for use next year, he said.
Local cotton farmers who wish to place certificates in the government pool should do so at once, Mr. Jackson said this morning. Eastern producers who have ginned more than the amount allowed on the Bankhead bill will pay the 50 percent tax on their cotton, rather than delay sales because of lack of tax-exemption certificates, he pointed out.
Plenty of blanks are on hand in the local office in the basement of the court house, and certificates placed in the pool are forwarded immediately to Washington for re-sale. Shortage of surplus certificates is creating a demand at the present time, and local farmers (Continued on page 4)

THREE-FOURTHS OF COTTON IS GATHERED

Texas Output Estimated at 2,345,000 Bales

Almost three-fourths of Texas cotton crop has been ginned to date, according to figures issued yesterday by government officials. Of the Texas crop estimated at 2,345,000 bales, 1,718,983 bales had been ginned by October 1. The estimate places Texas production 47 percent of normal.
A little over half of the nation's output for this season has already been ginned, the figures show. Of the production estimated at 9,443,000 bales figures show that 4,958,346 bales have been ginned. Condition of the nation's crop has been placed at 55.9 of normal.
The government figures set production figures for Oklahoma at 370,000 bales, and Arkansas at 810,000 bales.

Governor Calls 4th Special Session of Texas Legislature

AUSTIN, Oct. 9.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson late yesterday called the forty-third legislature to convene in extraordinary session at noon Friday.
It was the fourth time Governor Ferguson had called a special session of this Legislature. The last session adjourned Sept. 25.
The Governor's proclamation listed the following matters as subjects for legislative consideration:
1. Remission of penalty and interest on delinquent taxes; development of the Brazos and Colorado rivers projects; provision of funds for the Texas Centennial; provision for additional relief money; any other things the Governor might submit.
The text of the Governor's proclamation follows:
"I, Miriam A. Ferguson, Governor of the State of Texas, do by virtue of authority vested in me by the Constitution of this State, hereby call a special session of the Forty-third Legislature to be convened in the City of Austin at 12 o'clock noon on Friday, the twelfth day of October, A. D., 1934, for the consideration of the following matters:

LEGISLATURE TO RE-CONVENE

GOVERNOR Miriam A. Ferguson has called the fourth extraordinary session of the state legislature to convene on Friday for the purpose of passing upon five outstanding problems, and perhaps upon others that the governor might present later.

Although these five points are of more or less importance, only one is likely to bring about a battle in the two houses—the question of additional relief funds. The others concern the remission of penalty and interest in delinquent taxes, authority for river projects on the Brazos and Colorado rivers, and provision of adequate funds for the Texas Centennial.

After the two legislative bodies had so much difficulty agreeing upon any measure of relief during the last extra session, there is no way to anticipate what might come of the question this time. Mrs. Ferguson favors the provision of more relief funds (she listed it as "for additional and necessary relief for indigent and unemployed people of Texas as is now required") but this does not mean that the legislature will be of the same mind.

The river projects will meet some opposition, but they are not likely to prove important enough to cause a rift.

However, Governor Ferguson indicated that she might bring up the oil and gas situation in the state, and thereby may lead to a battle well worth watching. She likely will favor the formation of a separate oil and gas commission to take over part of the duty of the present railroad commission, but she gave no further information except to say that there may "be developments".

Much pressure has been brought to bear on the governor to call the fourth special session in order to clear up points that were not considered previously, and evidently this same pressure was also placed upon a number of legislators. When they left Austin on September 25, Mrs. Ferguson doubted if she could get the approval of the two houses for a fourth session. However, a telegraphic vote of members showed them overwhelmingly in favor of another session.

May Take Weeks In Insull Case

By Associated Press
CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Prosecutors last night said it might be necessary to hold night and special Saturday sessions of the Insull trial to speed the case out of the legal trenches before next year.

prosecutor of Samuel Insull, and his associates in mail fraud charges as a result of the collapse of the Insull Utility Company, said the case would continue for several weeks unless speeded up. Already 26 witnesses appeared the first week of the trial for the government and Green had 50 more on hand when the trial reopened. Leek is the national symbol of Wales; the Welsh wear it in their hats on St. David's Day.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BOOTS RAEBURN, 18 and pretty, elopes with RUSS LUND, handsome swimming instructor, Russ goes to Miami, promising to end for her later, and Boots gets a job in a New York department store.
Russ does not write. Months pass and then word comes that he had been killed in a motor boat accident.
Boots meets DENIS FENWAY, young author, and EDWARD VAN SCIVER, wealthy and socially prominent. She is in love with Denis and jealous of beautiful KAY CHILLINGFORD.
Boots gets a job in a book store and goes home to live in order to help her parents financially. Edward repeatedly urges her to marry him and finally she agrees. On Christmas Day they go for a walk in the fog. Edward is badly hurt saving her from a reckless driver.
Mrs. Raeburn learns she has a winning ticket in a lottery. She plans to take her husband to California.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLV
Veronica Kerrigan twitched a fresh pillow-slip in place and glanced down the hall in the direction of the hospital sunroom from whose open doors echoed gusts of merriment. Young Mr. Van Sciver's wheel chair was established there, cheek by jowl with the Boston ferns and the old lady in 316, who was convalescing from a gall bladder operation and who enjoyed a good story when she heard one.
Veronica was on duty days now, taking care of Mr. Van Sciver. His day nurse, Elsie Goff, had been called from home by the illness of her father—providentially, Veronica thought. She had never had a patient she liked so much as Mr. Van Sciver. Good-looking, rich, considerate, a perfect gentleman, she said to herself, if there was one.
Just why that fiancee of his, that blond girl from Larchneck, didn't sing for joy because she'd been so lucky as to snag him Veronica simply did not understand. She herself got down every night on her knees and prayed to St. Joseph to find her a good husband. She had a small metal image of the saint strung around her neck this very moment, on a thin silver chain. And all she'd ever got for it (up to date) was the attention of Will Schultz, who ran a garage in New Mart, and wasn't half bad if you overlooked his grimy fingernails.
Miss Raeburn (if you asked Miss Kerrigan about it, although nobody would!) was pretty keen on that dark chap who ran her up to the hospital in his ratty little roadster. Mr. Van Sciver had a long greyhound of a car. Maybe Will wouldn't like to get his fingers on it, some day! She'd told him about it and he'd been interested in—gadgets and differentials and spark plugs and such stuff. Hardly ever read a book and didn't know Joan Crawford from Norma Shearer. Miss Kerrigan harbored the secret conviction that she, herself, was a discreet combination of the two. She and to rent the house for whatever she can get and pack off to California. She has a cousin in Palo Alto. She's already written to ask them about finding her a small house. Miss Florida may go with them. Father's attitude is funny. He's never thought Mother had any business sense and of course this is a freak thing but he is treating her with the greatest respect. She's the wizard of the family now. They've been simply wild, though, with newsreel people and tabloid photographers swarming all over the place.

"Fun!" Edward gloated, grinning.
"Well, it's all right for a while," she conceded, "but I'll be glad when things settle back to normal."
"Then you and I start on our travels..." he mused.
"Yes." She looked at him with an odd pathos.
"You're walking well now, Edward? Miss Houghton said you'd be leaving this week."
"Yep. Got the old pep back."
"Well, then..." she hesitated. "We may as well go ahead with our plans..."
"Sure you want me now?"
She stared at him, frankly puzzled. "Why, Edward, what do you mean?"
His big laugh was tinged with embarrassment. "I thought maybe you wouldn't want to string along with me now."
"Nonsense." She couldn't accept this loophole, just when he was helpless and needed her.
On the threshold Miss Veronica Kerrigan, listening, froze to attention.

Two Children Killed In Kerosene Blast
By Associated Press
OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 8.—Two children of Robert Erdelt, 27, of Chalco, Neb., near here, were burned to death, a third probably will die, and Erdelt was seriously injured when a kerosene barrel exploded and fired the Erdelt home yesterday.
The dead children are Harold, 4, and Roberta, 3, Lola May, 1, was so gravely burned an immediate blood transfusion was ordered.
The father is expected to live.
Failing to get oil out of a barrel in the Summer kitchen, Erdelt lit a match over the top cap. The blast followed.
